REDUCTION IN LEAF CROP FOR '40 PROPOSED

Suggestion Made for Cut of Twenty Per Cent

AT CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON

Delegation of Farmers to Discuss Problems with Buyers of Bright Cigarette Tobacco

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A delegation of Southern flue-cured tobacco growers, preparatory to a meeting with buyers of the bright cigarette leaf, called in an effort to stabilize prices, considered today a suggestion that next year's acreage be reduced more than 20 per cent below the 1939 acreage.

Although the acreage allotted for this year under the Soil Conservation act was only 880,000 acres, an estimated 1,100,000 acres were planted, yielding a record crop in excess of 1,100,000,000 pounds.

Under the proposal, the 1940 allotment would be set at 800,000 acres with the marketing quota based on acreage in order to encourage compliance. If usual yields resulted, a crop of about 700,000,000 pounds would be produced.

J. E. Thigpen of the AAA tobacco section, said the growers' proposal would be submitted to the buyers with a hope some agreement could be worked out as to how large the 1940 crop quota should be. He said any agreement should be beneficial to this year's prices.

Meanwhile, the White House announced President Roosevelt had signed amendments to tobacco provisions of the 1938 farm act authorizing Secretary Wallace to compute marketing quotas on the basis of acreage instead of pounds.

Under the old law, when the marketing quota was invoked, a grower could sell only a specified amount of tobacco. The new method would permit him to sell all the tobacco he produced on his acreage allotment. Growers rejected poundage quotas for the 1939 sales in a referendum last winter.

Under the amendment, Secretary Wallace is authorized to call a marketing quota election anytime during the selling season which began in July, instead of waiting until November 15.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Men who grow and sell the South's flue-cured tobacco and men who buy the yellow cigarette leaf gathered today for a conference to discuss the 1939 price situation.

The conference was arranged by the Agriculture Department at the request of grower-representatives who met here last week to see what could be done to improve prices for this year's record crop.

"Unsatisfactory prices" on the Georgia market prompted the call. J. E. Thigpen of the AAA tobacco section said the main question was how large a crop the buyers could take next year at a satisfactory price to the growers and how some of this year's production could be held off the market.

Grower-representatives have suggested that some of the poorer grades be withheld from auction floors.

Well, It WAS a Battlefield! Petersburg, Va.—(AP)—If a champion of commerce had a face, it would be red in this city.

A Lynchburg reporter scanning the chamber's new directory glanced at what was labeled an air view of the Crater battlefield, which attracted thousands of visitors and students of the history of the War Between the States. Gradually, these white spots on the picture brought visions of a midget and the reporter wrote a story—about the air view of a Virginia Beach golf course. The chamber blamed the directory company for the error.

Serious Turn

Hongkong, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The anti-British movement in South China took a more serious turn today with Japanese presentation to British naval and consular authorities of five demands growing out of injury of a Chinese at Swatow yesterday.

The Chinese was one of a crowd engaged in an anti-British demonstration before the British consulate. Both British and Japanese versions of the incident said that after the demonstration started a party of sailors from the British destroyer took up positions before the consulate.

HEAVY DAY IN COUNTY COURT

Large Number Cases Disposed of by Tribunal

Getting down to business following the morning session which followed several weeks of recess, County court yesterday afternoon and this morning disposed of an unusually large number of cases.

Cases tried were Moses Noble, Negro assault, carrying a concealed weapon, 90 days suspended upon payment of $50 fine and costs; L. E. Allen, driving careless and reckless, 30 days or costs, license suspended 60 days unless property damages are paid in the meantime, in which case suspension to be terminated; Sam Holloway, Negro, driving careless and reckless and assault, 30 days or costs, license revoked four months unless property damage settled in meantime; James Kinsey, Negro, assault, 60 days or $25 fine and costs.

Robert Harrell, Negro, larceny, 90 days or $25 fine and costs, $5 of fine to go to prosecuting witness; William Henry Jones, driving drunk, four months, and driving without a license, four months, sentences to run concurrent, defendant appealed and bond set at $300; D. I. Lantz, larceny, and leaving motor vehicle on main highway, not guilty; William Arthur Ward, Negro, driving without a license, judgment suspended upon payment of costs; Luby Worthington, abandonment, 12 months, suspended upon payment of $2 weekly to his wife; Tom Exam and John Suggs, Negroes, assault, pay one-half of costs each; Babe Brown, manufacturing and possessing untaxed liquor for sale, transferred to Superior court.

Reynolds Abandons Meet State Federation Labor

By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Aug. 9.—North Carolina's roving United States Senator, "Ramblin' Robert" Reynolds, has run out on the State Federation of Labor's annual convention here next week and is, it appears, now somewhere on the bounding deep between New York and foreign shores, reportedly those of Mussolini-bound Italy.

Something like three weeks ago, the junior senator accepted an invitation of the federation to make

President Directs Survey Departments Be Made

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt directed heads of government departments today to start a survey "for the purpose of effecting improvements in administration and economies in operation."

In a letter to department heads, made public by Budget Director Harold Smith, the President said economies in operation "unquestionably" could be put into many government units.

"I believe that substantial savings can be effected in the cost of government for this fiscal year and for succeeding fiscal years," Mr. Roosevelt said, "and I wish to see such savings reflected in the apportionment of appropriations for the current year and in the submission of estimates for the fiscal year 1941."

"Improvements in the administration of government agencies," the President said, "can be effected quite aside from the ultimate need of further basic reorganization."

The letter was dated August 7. Other Washington developments:

Efforts to raise funds for construction of a Roosevelt historical library at Hyde Park, N. Y., were under way among federal employees in Washington under the leadership of Commissioner G. Allen.

Allen, commissioner in the District of Columbia government, said, however, that "I want to emphasize that no pressure is being brought anywhere."

The United States Housing Authority approved three bids totaling $715,715 for construction of 246 low-rent dwelling units in the Wilmington, N. C., slum clearance program. The bids include general construction, including electrical work and site improvement, T. A. Loving and Company, Goldsboro, N. C., $545,900.

Meanwhile, at Hyde Park, N. Y., having sent a parting shot at those legislators who blocked his neutrality, lending and housing programs, the President tackled a pile of bills which Congress approved in its closing days.

an address at the opening session of the convention to be held at the Carolina Hotel here next week. As late as Tuesday morning, Salisbury's President C. A. Fink had received no notice whatever from Reynolds or any of his staff that the senator had decided to go elsewhere.

Four Fliers Believed to Have Died in One Crash; Another Five-Man Bomber Missing in North Sea and Four Other Airmen Forced to Bail Out of Disabled Craft

London, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Britain's big show of air, sea and land power was marred today by aerial casualties—a five-man bomber vanished in the North sea, four fliers died in a flaming crash and four were forced to "bail out" of a third bombing plane.

A check-up established that a Wellington bomber disappeared at 2:30 a. m. today and was believed to have plunged into the sea east of Yarmouth.

It was in rural Yorkshire that the four fliers died in a crash. The four airmen who took to their parachutes over Theford were slightly bruised. They had been ordered to jump by a flight sergeant who himself stuck to the controls and landed the bomber with damage only to the under-carriage.

The aerial exercises, a mythical struggle between "Eastland" and "Westland," were resumed at dawn today with about 1,300 of Britain's best war planes in action. Waves of "fighters," about 500 planes in all, approached a secret target from the east.

Weather conditions which favored the defenders last night, turned highly advantageous for the invaders, some of whom found concealment above low clouds.

New Bus Stations Planned in State

Raleigh, Aug. 9.—(AP)—An extensive program of building and remodeling bus stations is underway in this state, mainly in Eastern North Carolina, Utilities Commission officials said today.

R. O. Self, chief clerk, said the commission had approved plans for three eastern stations and one in Salisbury.

A newly completed bus terminal at Elizabeth City will be dedicated tomorrow, he added. It represents an outlay estimated at $10,000 to $15,000.

At Hertford and Edenton plans call for remodeling of the stations to cost $3,000 to $4,000 each.

At Washington plans for a new terminal call for about $10,000 to $12,000 expenditure.

Self did not know how long the work would take at Washington, Hertford and Edenton.

Some time ago plans were approved for a new station at Beaufort. Construction has not been yet completed.

Negro Accused of Whiskey Charges

Harry Atkins, Negro, was taken in custody yesterday afternoon by local ABC officers on a charge of transporting illegal whiskey.

Atkins is alleged by officers to have been the driver of the car which was wrecked in a chase Saturday afternoon.

Nineteen gallons of bootleg whiskey were found in the vehicle, which turned over in a ditch about a mile from Bell's fork on a dirt road, after the officers had chased it from Greenville. The driver jumped out and ran, but officers said they recognized him and yesterday afternoon took Atkins in custody.

Atkins was quoted by officers as denying he was the driver of the car, which was not immediately identified by license because it had been sold and the transfer of title had not been effected.

United States snuff sales in 1938 were 32 times those of 1870.

PREPAREDNESS STEPPED UP BY NAZI GERMANY

Comprehensive Survey of Civilian Power Conducted

SEEKS TO MEET ANY EMERGENCY

Only Persons Less Than Five and More Than 70 Years Excluded from Official Order

Berlin, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Germany today directed a comprehensive survey of her civilian power, men, women and children, to meet any emergency that may menace the nation in the critical days ahead.

While the program to establish a bank of preparedness by mid-August was stepped up, a gigantic card index of special talents of Germans was being prepared for the new civilian registration, ordered last night for next week.

Only soldiers, reservists and persons less than five years old and more than 70 were excluded in the orders for a vast survey of abilities and capacities of Germans.

"We are squeezing the last drop of efficiency out of a nation which has attained an impressive degree of all-around competency," one official commented.

"Should there be an emergency calling on the Reich to exert itself to the utmost every German man, woman and child will be at the post where he or she can perform the most effective service."

Border Offerings Of Better Grade

Florence, S. C., Aug. 9.—(AP)—With four days of the 1939 sales season behind them, farmers of the Carolina Border belt voiced satisfaction with the tobacco market today and placed even better grades on the floors.

Many of the growers in the belt were able to put more time on grading and curing, two factors which usually add to the price paid for the weed.

A glimpse at the markets: Fair Bluff—90,620 pounds; average 18.72.

Fairmont—439,984 pounds; average 19.05.

Chadbourne—133,066 pounds; average 18.09.

Tabor City—186,230 pounds; average 18.52.

E.C.T.C. Will Open On September 29

East Carolina Teachers College will throw open its doors for the 1939-40 session September 29, Dr. L. R. Meadows, president, announced today.

Freshman orientation will be held September 26 and 27. Upper classmen will register September 28 and regular classroom work will get under way the following day, September 29.

One day after classroom work begins, the student body will have its first fall entertainment. Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University will appear at the college. Dr. Phelps is conceded to be one of the most popular teachers of literature in America.

Rural Line Work Will Begin Soon

Martin Swartz, Water and Light Commission superintendent, said today that work will begin within the next few weeks on 110 miles of additional rural electrification lines in the county.

A project was authorized some time ago following a $78,000 federal loan, which was procured for the purpose of "meeting the growing need of additional electrical facilities in the rural areas of the county."

When the project is completed, at least 600 more families can be served in Pitt. The city power plant already serves 1,080 rural customers, Swartz said.

Job-Hunting Girls Missing

Hours after two Miami, Fla., high school girls, Jean Bolton (left) 16, and Ruth Frances Dunn (right) 17, left home with a man who said he might get them a job in a radio theatre of the air, no trace had been found of them. Police launched a search for the pair and their companion, whose name was given as Chas. Jefferson, 34.

TWO AVIATORS DIE IN CRASH

Army Plane Plummets to Earth Following Collision

Round Lake, N. Y., Aug. 9.—(AP)—A spectacular collision 2,000 feet in the air sent one of two United States Army observation planes en route to forthcoming war maneuvers plummeting into a clump of trees near here today, killing two aviators.

Army aviation officials identified the victims as Second Lieut. M. E. Thompson of Hempstead, L. I., of the army reserve, and Private A. R. Gerrity of Scranton, Pa.

Eye-witnesses said the ships were flying in formation with one other when they sideswiped in mid-air.

They left Mitchell Field, N. Y., this morning for Malone, N. Y., where the army's planes are bivouacked for the maneuvers, scheduled to begin at Plattsburg this weekend.

The ship which figured in the collision was piloted by Lieut. W. M. Prince, commanding the flight. He landed his disabled plane at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., 10 miles north. Neither Prince nor his co-pilot, Lieut. B. W. Beach, was injured.

Freshman orientation will be held September 26 and 27. Upper classmen will register September 28 and regular classroom work will get under way the following day, September 29.

Greenville Officials In District Meeting

Mayor Jack Spain and J. O. Duval, city clerk, attended a district meeting of the Institute of Government held at Windsor yesterday, at which a number of towns were represented.

Attending the district meeting followed a business meeting with officials of the Local Government Commission in Raleigh.

Directors Paving A Way For Mullet Road Plans

Raleigh, Aug. 9.—This week's meeting of directors and officers of the Atlantic and North Carolina (Mullet) Railroad will, in the absence of unlooked-for complications, clear the way for the interests headed by H. P. Edwards of Sanford, to take over operation of the line on the September 1.

The lease whereby the Mullet will pass from state to private operation has been signed by the lessors but not by the lessee (Edwards' corpora-

FBI Agents Investigating Lovett Case

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger today expressed the belief that Private Sam L. Lovett, whose body was found floating in Tar river yesterday, was not murdered, although "it could not be determined through an examination of the body if there had been foul play."

Meanwhile, F. B. I. agents, along with Sheriff J. Knott Proctor and his deputies, are seeking to determine if there was any foul play. The Federal investigators arrived around noon today and began an investigation into the case, even though no definite clues have been established.

While reiterating the comment that no water was found in Lovett's lungs, following a preliminary examination made after the body had been removed from the river, Ellwanger declared, "The process we use would not determine authentically if there was water in Lovett's lungs."

Ellwanger's belief that Lovett was not murdered was expressed when he revealed that a thorough examination disclosed that there were no signs of foul play. He explained that the body was badly decomposed.

A theory advanced yesterday that the foul play motive can be developed only through an adequate check on Lovett's activities from the time he left Fort Bragg was the procedure being used today by Pitt authorities and federal investigators, in that they had no alternative.

Fort Bragg officers expressed the belief that Lovett could not have had more than $10 on his person, after revealing that Lovett usually carried money. When Lovett's body was removed from the river yesterday he had only 21 cents in his pockets.

Investigation of Private Lovett's activities in the county has merely produced conflicting reports, but officers are trying to analyze every report to "get to the bottom" of the case.

PACT FAVORED BY ARMY MEN

Informant Declares Lives of Cabinet Ministers Threatened by Proponents of Outright Alliance with Rome and Berlin; Ministers Reportedly Against Treaty

Shanghai, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A bitter internal struggle in Japan over whether the empire shall conclude an outright alliance with Germany and Italy which may cause the fall of the Japanese cabinet was described today by an informed traveler from Tokyo.

This informant, in close touch with government and diplomatic quarters in Tokyo, said the situation there was extremely tense. Rumors were current that extreme nationalists had threatened the lives of cabinet members, including Premier Baron Hirota, who were believed to be opposing the alliance.

Its proponents were described as "young army officers," majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels who demanded an outright alliance with the totalitarian powers. This "open revolt" was expected to compel a showdown from which results even more startling than the fall of the cabinet might come.

The "young officers" have been credited with dictating several major decisions in Japanese policy in recent years including the conquest of Manchoukuo, the invasion of China and the changes in domestic policy to put Japan on a war basis.

A Tokyo dispatch today said Lieut. General Itagaki, war minister, had arranged to report to the Emperor tomorrow concerning the army's attitude on current European developments.

(Tokyo messages for the past week have told of a recurrence of army and extremist agitation for Japanese adherence to the Rome-Berlin alliance.)

The cabinet as a whole was described as strongly against the alliance.

Voters Favor Betting And Racing On Coast

Morehead City, Aug. 9.—Residents of this coastal town marched to the polls yesterday and ushered a race track and pari-mutuel betting into the city's activities, official returns revealed today.

Over 800 residents registered for the election began casting their ballots accepting or rejecting the proposal yesterday morning at 7 o'clock and the polls were closed last night at the same hour.

Proponents of the proposal had contended that it would be instrumental in bringing new people to Morehead City as well as improve the economic condition of the community. Opponents contended it would work harm to the moral and spiritual side of life.

for themselves. Fifteen years ago Arnold was a newspaper photographer in New York. He noticed that many of his assignments had to do with aviation. He either was photographing airplanes, or he was called upon to make his shots from a plane high over Manhattan. This gave him an idea.

He quit his job on the old New York American to set up shop and specialize in aviation pictures at Curtiss Field out on Long Island. He started with a couple of second-hand cameras and an improvised darkroom. Business was only so-so. But Rudy hung on.

Then, in a very few years, aviation progressed to the point where many transatlantic flights were planned. Many materialized. Floyd Bennett Field, a natural hopping-off place, was established in Brooklyn, and newspapers and magazines all over the world were impatiently calling for air views.

Rudy moved to Floyd Bennett. He added movie equipment to his shop. He made action pictures of Charles A. Lindbergh, Clarence Chamberlain, Dick Byrd, Bert Acosta, Charlie Levine and all the rest of the early boys. Since then, he's nudged every aviation celebrity—both men and women—in the books. He snapped the only pictures of Douglas "Wrong Way" Corrigan's famous sneak take-off to "California." He has a swell lot of exclusive pictures of the flying Bernard Macfadden, one of America's oldest active pilots.

Rudy has a staff of photographers and photo salesmen working for him now. His man Friday has been with him since the beginning. Friday is a big Irishman named Joe Lane.

Joe can do anything. He's a former Brooklyn taxicab driver, if that'll give you an idea. The other day, when an amateur pilot's plane crashed against the roof of a lamp-house at a far corner of Floyd Bennett, Joe was the first to reach the spot. He had a fire extinguisher in one hand, a camera in the other. He used both.

We are disturbed. We have unwittingly brought anguish to a young woman who dances in New York but lives in Hawaii. The other night she cornered us in a restaurant and said, "A fine thing, you printing that story about the missionaries. They think I meant that. It was only in fun, and you know it."

She referred to a half-minute interview which went something like this, "When the missionaries went to Hawaii the Hawaiians had the land and the missionaries had the prayer books. Now the Hawaiians have the prayer books and the missionaries have the land. I'm going to dance until I earn enough money to buy back the land and give it to the Hawaiians."

That was Pualani Mossman speaking. She spoke in a spirit of fun at a party where Olsen and Johnson, Ray Kinney, and many, many others were celebrating a private little inter-family Mardi Gras for members of Helzapoppin' and the Hawaiian show at the Lexington. You'll just have to take my word for it. Everybody said crazy things over the amplifiers. Everybody had fun, but nobody meant anything by it. There!

THEY'RE FLYING MODEL SEAPLANES, NOW

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — Sea gulls these days share the air and water with seaplanes only a little larger than themselves.

Model airplane builders here, not content with sending their miniature machines aloft from airport runways, have equipped them with pontoons and fly them from Biscayne bay.

They learned from experience that the quiet waters of early morning are the best. Each Sunday at 6 a. m. weather permitting, they try out their wings.

Tiny gasoline engines propel the models to perfect takeoffs. If all goes well, the planes circle upward until motors sputter and die, they glide to perfect landings. Sometime a landing isn't so graceful and the crash boat hurries to the rescue.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood.—Those two foxy play-boys of screen literature, Gene Towne and Graham Baker, caused

Except for one new, original subject, "African Intrigue," the boys had pulled from the dusty shelves a parcel of stale goods, stuff that Hollywood hadn't thought of touch-

What else could you expect of Towne and Baker, the town's court jesters? Hadn't they also announced that their company would be known as "The Play's the Thing" production?

Gene and Graham, as everyone should know by now, are crazy like Solomon. Their monkey-business—the pictures you see of them composing

And it has paid handsomely. In a business where many writers starve, Graham and Baker get more

They chose their productions, sagely, by a very simple scheme which few in Hollywood consider.

"The Deerslayer" and "The Swiss Family Robinson," of course, were high on the list.

"You can't take me, and you can't go. You've got to have an operation—right now."

Stumped, Gene changed his flight to a later plane, called in 10 more doctors. They all agreed. Gene was on the operating table when his plane took off.

Two days later the hospital desk clerk got a call from the convalescent floor. "Order me an ambulance—I'm going home," said Gene Towne.

Next day he was propped up in bed, at home, surrounded by studio associates, going over scripts, reading them aloud.

Five days after his appendix dropped on the cutting-room floor, Towne was having lunch at the RKO commissary with Little Mes-

I saw him the next day, chipper as ever, regaling Loretta Young with the details, acting out his operation the way he does a screen story.

Appendicitis, too, is just "one of those things" to Gene.

REYNOLDS ABANDONS MEET STATE FEDERATION LABOR

(Continued from page one) that Reynolds is headed for Europe, but added that he had received no notice whatsoever from Reynolds or his office that Buncombe Bob wouldn't be present in Raleigh next Monday.

And so it appears that Reynolds is quite likely to lose some of the esteem in which he has been held by the labor forces—an esteem which led to his being invited to be a convention speaker and which got his picture on the front page of "The North Carolina Federationist," monthly organ of the state labor group, together with a laudatory notice on the inside of the cover which bore his likeness.

But whether Reynolds appears or does not appear, gains or loses support in the labor ranks, there is going to be plenty of politicking in connection with next week's gathering of the working hosts.

The federation's membership is as large as ever before in its history and its officials have announced in not-to-be-overlooked terms that the unionists are going into the political arena in North Carolina on a scale never previously attempted.

There are no prominent political candidates apparent on the list of speakers, but there are such billings as "Introduction of international representatives and invited speakers" there are several aspirants with political ambitions.

There will be a lot of politics played in trying to get on that "invitation" list; but above all there will be quiet, insistent efforts on the part of 1940 gubernatorial candidates, through their agents, to get endorsement for themselves, or, at least, to head off endorsement of others.

Reports are that the convention officials themselves will invite no particular candidates, but that some, at least, will get before the workers through the medium of invitations extended by locals or central labor unions in their own bailiwicks.

There won't be so much politics talked at the public sessions on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, but if the "buzz, buzz" of private and confidential wood-beating could be compiled there would be several volumes of quite interesting reading matter.

Weather conditions have been highly favorable this year for a good corn crop in most sections of the state, report farm agents of the State College Extension Service.

BELK - TYLER COMPANY Greenville, North Carolina

N. C.'S PEACH EXPORT DROPS

Shipments Only One-Fourth of Last Year's

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Aug. 9.—North Carolina commercial shipment of peaches this season has been only slightly more than one-fourth that of last year, according to Harry T. Westcott, marketing specialist of the State Department of Agriculture.

So far this season, with the shipment practically completed, there have been shipped this year 295 cars of commercial peaches compared with 1,139 last year, Westcott said. "Frost, hail damage and other weather conditions gave the state its smallest crop in many years, but the peaches were sold under favorable conditions and brought growers fair prices compared with the season's average," he added.

Price reports revealed that the Hilly Belle variety moved mostly at $1.15 to $1.25 during the week of July 3, with prices advancing to $1.20 to $1.40 at the close.

As chairman of finance and appropriations, respectively, they were very big cogs in the state's legislative and financial machine during the 1939 legislature and worked shoulder to shoulder throughout a long, hard session.

Yesterday Senator Pat passed through Raleigh on the way to visit Senator Bill, and the pair of them will combine forces for a joint attack on the fish out in the Gulf Stream, using Senator Rodman's boat for the purpose.

The Wadeboro legislator, incidentally, had exactly nothing at all to say for publication about his reported candidacy for lieutenant governor, though he would admit, on close questioning, that he has not completely abandoned any thought of making the race.

Representative Gideon Boswood of Currituck seems to be more of a success at "running things" in his home county than he was in the legislature. Reports from Currituck are that one county commissioner quit in disgust because "Representative Boswood is coming down to tell the commissioners what to do."

But here in Raleigh, Gideon C. could not prevail upon his colleagues to permit Currituck to secede from the state game and fish laws; nor to authorize the roaming at large of cattle and other stocks on the Currituck "Banks."

Tom Cooper, in an address to the food dealers at Wrightsville Beach, confirmed published reports that he will not be an out-and-out anti-sales tax candidate for governor. He would reduce the tax one-half of one per cent, biennially; in other words, abolish it altogether in 12 years.

Which means that Paul Leonard and his Fair Tax Association will undoubtedly look around for someone else to support; as such lukewarm opposition to the sales tax will certainly not sit well with them.

North Carolina cities competing for the title of "The Friendly City" have made discrimination in color of tickets received for small parking violations. Out-of-town cars receive colorful green tickets while home-owned vehicles, advertised by their city plates, receive bilious yellow ones.

Difference is that green tickets welcome visitors to the city for a long stay and a safe homeward trip, with a courteous reminder of traffic violations. Yellow pasteboards simply state in trite form that the car has been parked overtime, or too near a fire plug, and that a reception is awaiting the owner at the police station.

A guidebook giving the location of 215 historical markers along North Carolina highways has just been published. The booklet gives the location of all places of historical interest in the state, together with the wording on each marker. It will give tourists and others a thumb-nail history of the state. Copies can be obtained by writing the North Carolina Historical Commission, Raleigh.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—At last comes a concrete demonstration that it is nicer to live in a democracy than in Germany, even though the weather is hot over here.

Almost on the same day came the German official warning that the people must eat less food and the American official pronouncement that people in 100 U. S. cities would be persuaded to eat more food.

Liberty and freedom of speech and the right to go to the First Baptist church are not very material things to talk about so long as you are free to have any one or all of them. But food is something else. You have it or you don't have it and you begin to know the difference in 24 hours. Loss of church privileges or the right to give or take a little soap box oratory goes on at a slow pace and may take years.

It is our personal impression that nothing will re-establish the virtues of democracy in Yankee minds so quickly as stories of Germany's cutting down the food supply to support rearmament.

In spite of the fact that we are wallowing knee-deep in military expenditures, nobody here has started to cut down the daily ration.

Stamps Are Successful
The Department of Agriculture has been troubled with food surpluses these many months and has been disposed to encourage farmers to grow less instead of more. That has been only partly successful in balancing crops against national appetite. More recently the system of stamp distribution among relief clients has begun to attack surpluses of particular varieties of food.

Congress put up $100,000 of good paper money to finance stamp distribution, so that a relief client will get an additional 50 cents for special health-building foods for every dollar he gets of relief payments for general expenditures. It has worked very well, or at least the Department of Agriculture says it has, in two or three cities to date and the department is reaching out to take in more.

Quietly the Department of Agriculture has been toying with the idea of permitting relief clients to use the stamps to purchase cotton goods. It would take an awful lot of stamps to make much of a dent in the cotton surplus, all of which the department knows very well. But a dent is a dent, and besides, the department suspects that a few more shirts a year wouldn't hurt the average family.

One Similarity

To date we have noticed only one similarity between the food programs in Germany and the United States. In Germany the government is trying to persuade loyal nazis to drink less beer, as beer uses grain and grain is a spare crop in Germany.

In the United States relief stamps cannot be used to buy beer. But there again the reason is different. The Department of Agriculture figures that beer in this country is all tangled up with moral issues instead of food shortages and it is just as well to work the safe side of the street.

lease. The coming session would, ordinarily, elect new officers for the coming year, but in view of the approaching lease to private interests there is some doubt whether this will actually be done. Even after the Edwards company takes over the operation, however, the old A. & N. C. company will retain its corporate existence and officers will eventually be chosen for it, though their duties will change from active operation of a railroad to mere supervision of the operations under the lease, with the purpose of seeing that the conditions are carried out.

Just one cloud looms on the horizon so far as completing the lease is concerned. There are reliable reports current that Edwards feels that recent maintenance of the road has been inadequate and it is said he may seek to have some of the agreed rental treated as an offset for increased maintenance expenses he will have to meet in view of recent inadequate expenditures along that line.

State College officials reported the Farm and Home Week just closed as perhaps "the most successful from every standpoint we have ever held."

Don King Fights Hard As Bruins Fade Greenies, 2-1

JENKINS GETS CIRCUIT BLOW

Kinston to Play Here Tonight at 8 o'Clock

Don King displayed the fight of all good hurling veterans last night in an effort to hand Doc Smith's New Bern Bears a defeat, but his mates failed to build up a scoring advantage behind his six-hit hurling and the Bears faded the Greenies, 2-1.

Jim McMullen, Greenies cast-off, who'd rather beat Greenville than any other team in the league, performed for the visitors. Jim allowed seven hits, whiffed eight batters and featured in each of the Bruins' runs.

Harry Jenkins, Greenie third-sacker, accounted for the locals' only run when he blasted a 330-foot drive over the left field wall in the seventh inning. The side was retired in the same verse with men on second and third. But this igniting, like others, failed to produce runs because of lack of timely hitting.

The Bears' first run came in the seventh verse when Red Harper singled to left, advanced to third on infield outs by McAbee and Helecksion and scored on Jim McMullen's double.

Another run was scored by the visitors in the ninth, which prevented the game from going beyond the regulation distance when the Greenies were retired in order in the ninth. This run came when McAbee walked, stole second, advanced to third on McMullen's single and scored when Vincent Smith errored the ball on the same play.

Red Christopher and Alex Daniels got two hits in four official turns to feature the locals' attack, while McMullen was the only Bear to get more than one safety.

Greenville will play Kinston in the Guy Smith stadium tonight at 8 o'clock. Tarboro will be here Friday night and all ladies will be admitted free as guests of the ball club.

Tadlock vs. Water and Light.

Gulf suffered defeat at the hands of the two bottler teams in the softball league last night, going down before Royal Crown Cola, 9-8, and the suffering of a 9-6 loss from Double Cola.

The win for Royal Crown enabled that team to get a bigger hold on the lead and Double pulled away from a three-way tie to take over the runner-up position.

In the other game of the evening Carolina Dairy defeated Carolina Sales, 8-7, and the winners pulled into sixth place, going ahead of Gulf.

HARRY SOUFAS GETS HIS 27TH

One Homer Ahead of Big Brother, Who Has 26

Harry Soufas, one of Snow Hill's home-run twins, went ahead of his big brother in circuit clouts last night by producing his 27th homer of the season against Joe Bistrot's 26 as his mates trounced Tarboro 11-5.

Snow Hill piled up 22 hits for half as many runs to defeat the Tarboro Goobers, who were backed by Hammonds' pitching. Breezy Beard did the hurling for the winners and was reached for eight hits.

Kinston lost little time in building up a five-run advantage at the expense of Wilson mistakes last night to win 7-2 over the Tobs. Pitching honors for the winners were divided between Ed Novak and Opie Pace, the latter relieving the former with two away in the ninth. Tally and Bissette did the work for the losers.

Williamston's 6-3 victory over Mule Shirley's Goldbugs was featured by Red Swain, who turned in his 18th win of the season last night. This puts Red and Greenville's Don King at a deadlock for most wins in the league. Swain hit a two-run homer in the fifth to smash a 1-1 tie.

Doc Smith's New Bern Bears turned back Greenville 2-1 last night, with Jim McMullen doing the hurling for the winners. He also led the Bruins' hitting.
