Seventy-Eight Million Dollar Property Turnover

MORE HARMONY AMONG UTILITIES

Director Still Urging That Government Competition Remain Within Tennessee Valley

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The possibility of a more cooperative relationship between the Tennessee Valley Authority and private utilities was foreshadowed today as Commonwealth and Southern Corporation turned over $78,425,000 of its Tennessee Electric Power Company properties to the federal government agency and municipalities in the valley.

David Lilienthal, TVA director, in a statement accompanying the huge transfer of property to governmental bodies from private hands, said: "This would seem to be a good time for the utilities and TVA both to devote all of their energies to the common work we each have to do. The TVA will now be able to concentrate on its main purpose—the development of the great Tennessee Valley region.

"With the growing demand for the benefits of electricity, the future of the electric supply in this country looks very bright for both private and publicly operated agencies."

Walter W. Rorer, president of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, in surrendering the properties, said:

"I ask... as I have asked many times before, that the government discontinue its competition with private business outside the Tennessee Valley. It now has its yardstick and it should be content with this yardstick in other areas of this nation. The utility industry may make its vital contribution to American business recovery."

Wilkie declared the government was acquiring the electric property "at about 80 per cent of its real value."

"I sincerely hope," he said, "that our former customers in the state of Tennessee will continue to enjoy the benefits which the Tennessee Electric Power originally made possible."

Whether or not the quality of service is maintained, these customers will, of course, enjoy the low rates made possible by government subsidy, but they and all the people in the United States will pay the higher taxes which tax-exempt and highly subsidized government operations inevitably require."

Scientific Study For Murder Case

Raleigh, Aug. 15 (AP)—Fred C. Handy, director of the State Bureau of Investigation, said today that scientific investigations into the shooting of Emily Fletcher Case at a Granville county filling station August 6, indicated the woman had been slain rather than killed herself.

James W. Powell, scientific researcher of the bureau, said he made the test with the gun, cloth worn by the woman when she was shot and other articles including a drawer in which the bullet spent itself.

Immediately after the shooting, the death was termed as suicide, but Friday the mother of the dead woman swore out a warrant charging that Jack Chappell murdered her daughter, Handy said. A coroner's jury will hear evidence in the case at Oxford tomorrow afternoon.

Heavy Lint Surplus

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—The census bureau reported today the cotton carry-over at the beginning of the cotton year for 1939-40, on August 1, was 13,032,000 bales of cotton held at this time of the year in the history of government statistics.

A cotton crop of 11,412,000 bales this year was forecast earlier this month by the agriculture department. That will be added to the carry-over to make up the year's supply.

There was a carry-over of 11,533,439 bales a year ago and 4,429,848 bales two years ago. The average carry-over for the 10 years 1929-38 was 6,744,800 bales.

LENGTHY MEET BY CITY BOARD

Aldermen Take Action in a Number of Matters

The Greenville Board of Aldermen in session last night adopted permanently the budget adopted tentatively some time ago; passed a bond loan resolution authorizing the Water and Light Commission to borrow $58,000 from the Rural Electrification Authority, and heard representatives of the North Carolina League of Municipalities relate what had been done in the way of recodifying city ordinances.

No obligation is placed on the taxpayer as a result of the loan resolution, which is merely a pledge to be derived from revenue of the 110 miles of extra rural lines to be added in the county. The loan is being made with an interest rate of 2.73 per cent.

Pitt County now has nearly 30 miles of rural lines in the county, serving approximately 1,100 rural customers. The new addition will enable the commission to serve nearly 600 additional families outside the city limits.

After listening to the representatives of the League of Municipalities, the Board of Aldermen instructed various governmental departments of the city to study the manuscripts that were left at their disposal to determine if any additional changes are necessary.

The John Flanagan Buggy Company was the low bidder for a new garbage truck to be purchased by the city. Bids of each of the three bidders were: The John Flanagan Buggy Company, $718.50; White Chevrolet Company, $749.16; and Stafford Oldsmobile Company, $795.

Bids were received also on a motor grader, but were left open after being submitted to the Street Department for study. The department will make its report at the next meeting of the board.

City Clerk J. O'Duval was instructed to advertise taxes this week in accordance with the law.

Chief of Police George Clark was instructed to investigate the stray dog situation prevailing in the city and a redraft of the weed ordinance was ordered for the purpose of making it more drastic.

A resolution also was passed last night governing parking zones for trucks. The proposal was worked out by Chief of Police Clark.

Truckers Work Actively Against 'Light Traffic'

Reflector Bureau

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Proposal of Tom Cooper that some or all of the North Carolina highways be designated as "light traffic" roads has put truck owners and drivers throughout the state actively to work against the colorful Mayor of Wilmington.

That was completely obvious to any and all who attended the convention of the North Carolina Truck Owners Association at Wrightsville Beach last week-end.

Here was one convention the chief executive of New Hanover's city-by-the-sea wasn't even invited to welcome or to address. Throughout the two days of the session he was conspicuous by his absence; and although there was adopted no official, or even semi-official, condemnation of his plan only a completely deaf man could fail to overhear at

VALUE PLACED ON WAGE-HOUR LAW IN SPEECH

Fletcher Urges Fight Against Attacks On Law

N. C. FEDERATION IN ANNUAL MEET

Resolution Passed by Organization Directs Officers to Oppose Rep. Graham Barden

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Major A. L. Fletcher, assistant wage-hour administrator, told the North Carolina Federation of Labor today that the federal wage-hour law "is of the utmost importance to every man, woman and child in America who has to work for a living," even though it is not a "cure-all."

"Vicious counter attacks" against the law, Fletcher said, "demand that labor fight in its defense."

"Maintenance in the nation of a large group of workers whose wages are at or below the low-water mark of bare subsistence is continuation of a constant menace to workers of higher skill and higher wages. For this huge group of underpaid, unorganized workers constitute a ready supply to which certain employers always may turn in their attempts to beat down the legitimate demands of the organized."

Fletcher a former North Carolina labor commissioner, was principal speaker for the second day of the Federation's annual meeting. Elections will be held tomorrow.

The wage-hour official pointed out as long as 3,000 years ago top wages were limited and that 10 years after the Mayflower reached Massachusetts colonists ruled that artisans could not receive pay in excess of two shillings a day. It was not until 1937, however, that Congress enacted a law for shorter hours and minimum wages.

"Enactment of this law became both a victory and responsibility for organized labor," Fletcher said. He discussed details of the act and emphasized that "the well being of all workers." He said the union man making $40 for a 40-hour week should bend every energy to raise the wage standard of all workers to 40 cents an hour, or more, to remove the threat of being replaced by unorganized low-paid workers.

Raleigh, Aug. 15 (AP)—The North Carolina Federation of Labor adopted a resolution today directing its 1939-40 officers to try to prevent reelection to Congress of Graham A. Barden, democrat from the Third District, due to his "uncompromising stand on the question involving the wage and hour law."

The resolution set forth that the New Bern congressman led the fight to "wreck the wage-hour law through amendments intended to take two millions of lowly paid workers from under the protection and provisions of the law" and "has manifested a spirit not in keeping with humanitarian thought or the trend of the times which call for advancement of human interests."

The officers were directed to wage a campaign against Barden's reelection or election "to any other position of trust where he would have opportunity to work and vote against the people of this state and the United States."

Where 19 Perished in Train Wreck

Taken from a mountainside, this picture shows the twisted wreckage of the derailed steamship "City of San Francisco." Nineteen persons were killed, nearly 60 others were injured. Railroad officials and a coroner's jury charged the crack million-dollar train was deliberately wrecked.

City Ordinance Passed To Aid Traffic Problem

In an effort to relieve traffic congestions on Evans street and Dickinson avenue caused by trucks parking double or on the wrong side of the street during loading and unloading operations, the Board of Aldermen last night passed an ordinance setting aside certain zones for these purposes.

The ordinance, effective upon its ratification last night, also makes it against the law for a person to park in the designated zones for any purpose other than loading or unloading.

The system was worked out by Chief of Police G. A. Clark, who has been studying various plans to relieve the congested situation in the business sections of the city.

Chief Clark also announced that he was going to "crack down" on the one-hour parking limit in the main business section.

"Our narrow streets present a serious problem and we must do everything in our power to relieve the situation," declared Chief Clark. "We must have the cooperation of the motoring public and we feel that most of the citizens are with us, but those persons who insist on over-time parking or violating the new ordinance regarding loading and unloading and reservation of the designated space for these purposes will find themselves facing prosecution," he added.

The loading and unloading spaces, 50 feet long and seven feet wide to take care of one large truck or two small ones, are located on convenient corners in the zone areas. Evans from Third to Five Points and Dickinson avenue between Five Points and Washington street.

The spaces are provided at the following places: South side of Third street and on the East side of Evans street (beside the Proctor Hotel); South side of Fourth street and on the West side of Evans (beside Pender's store); North side of Fifth street and West side of Evans (beside the A & P Store); South side of Dickinson avenue, just opposite the present office of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph company.

In commenting on these reserved spaces, Chief Clark said they should be sufficient for loading and unloading, but added that the trucks could use the back alleys for such operations.

The ordinance does not forbid trucks from parking in regular parking space and loading or unloading, provided the time limit is not exceeded and provided the vehicle does not extend more than 16 feet into the street, measuring perpendicular from the curbing of the side of the street upon which the vehicle is parked.

The new law applies alike to motor vehicles and horse-drawn vehicles used in loading and unloading.

Shut-Down May Be Ordered to Aid Prices

Oklahoma City, Aug. 15 (AP)—A shut-down of 177,800 oil wells producing two-thirds of the crude oil that provides the nation's gasoline was debated today by representatives of nine states here as a remedy for a toppling price structure.

Two schools of thought predominated at a meeting of the Interstate Compact Commission, organized to prevent waste in the giant industry.

There were those who believed the shut-down already in effect in the vast Texas fields, would be recommended throughout the entire mid-continent area.

Others advanced the theory the meeting would collapse with each state adopting "after-you" attitude which might eventually end in a stalemate.

The eyes of both sides were on Texas, where the Railroad Commission, governing body, ordered a 15-day shut-down of 87,000 wells, effective at 7 a. m. today.

Whether Oklahoma, Kansas and possibly others of the compacting states would follow Texas' order hinged on legality of the decree.

Observers said it would be futile for other states to shut down unless the vast Texas fields would close. The supply of crude from Texas alone, they indicated, would defeat their purpose—to push down existing stocks so the price would rise.

Texas alone produces 1,300,000 barrels a day, average as much as all the other mid-continent states combined.

A fight loomed in Texas to further confuse the issue.

SEN. BARKLEY ASKS STAND ON NEUTRALITY

Proposes Early Action in Next Session

SUPPORTS FDR'S BELIEF ON ARMS

Asserts America's Neutrality May Have Bearing on European War Possibility

Washington, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) the majority leader, said today that Congress should enunciate a neutrality policy early in the next session, "so that we will not be charged with changing the rules of the game while the game is in progress."

He added that a definite statement of this country's neutrality may "have some bearing on whether there will be a war" in Europe.

Barkley strongly supported President Roosevelt's view that the sale of arms and munitions should be on a cash-and-carry basis.

"As long as the materials are shipped on the buyers' own vessels," he said, "then there is no obligation on our part to protect either the shipments or the ships. The principle minimizes our chances of getting into a war."

Meanwhile, Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said the incident involving introduction of films in the United States in French diplomatic pouches in violation of customs regulations was now closed.

Welles said he had received a note from Count de Saint Quentin, the French ambassador, telling him the French government has begun an independent investigation of the case last March and expressing his regret for the occurrence.

At his press conference, the acting secretary said he was glad to accept the ambassador's assurance that in the misuse of the pouch no French official was motivated by a desire to evade the customs duties.

Also, government red tape is unwinding slowly, a President Roosevelt reorganization program, but officials expressed the opinion that the twin objectives of economy and efficiency would be obtained.

Many Cases Aired In County Session

Action was taken in a number of cases appearing on the docket in the regular Tuesday session of Pitt County court.

Windsor Joyner, Negro, charged with transporting and having liquor in his possession for purpose of sale, was fined $25, costs to be deducted.

J. E. Williams, convicted on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was fined $25, costs to be deducted.

Herman Reeves, Negro, charged with operating a motor vehicle in a careless and reckless manner, was fined $25, costs to be deducted.

Lonnie Mills was taxed with the costs of the court after being adjudged guilty in a case charging him with being drunk on the highway.

A nolle prosequi with leave was taken in the case charging J. P. Harrell with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

John Wilson and Alma Wilson, both Negroes, were taxed with the costs growing out of a case charging them with assault.

J. E. Buck, charged with assault with a deadly weapon and being drunk and disorderly, asked for a trial by jury, as did Jesse Mills, charged with driving an automobile.

WAGE DISPUTE OVER HOLIDAY

Pros and Cons of Early Thanksgiving Greet FDR

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Both approval and disapproval today greeted President Roosevelt's decision to advance the observance of Thanksgiving Day one week.

The pros and the antis were thus roughly grouped:

The antis, the traditionalists in general, heavily represented in tradition-heavy New England, the football people, coaches, players and fans, and the turkey people who feared it would hurt their sales.

The pros, those who thought one Thursday as good as another; those who thought the earlier Thursday this year would be even better, particularly for business, since it would give more time for economic recuperation before Christmas.

As the uproar mounted across the country, with some governors saying the president's notions were okay with them and others announcing coldly they would stick with the old date of November 30, president or no president, the state department in Washington cautiously intervened with this soothing reminder:

"The presidential proclamation in re Thanksgiving actually is binding only in the District of Columbia and territories belonging to the United States."

"It has been the custom for governors to conform to the president's proclamation, but of course they need not do so."

The president himself sat quietly away from it all, a guest in Halifax Canada.

He said at Campobello Island yesterday that he had decided the traditional last Thursday in November was too late for Thanksgiving so he was advancing the date from November 30 to November 23 this year.

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—(AP)—North Carolina law stipulates that Thanksgiving Day shall be observed each year as a legal holiday on "the day appointed by the governor as Thanksgiving Day."

Governor Hoy is out of the city. This state also by statute declares November 11th Armistice Day as a legal holiday.

Five Armed Men Hold Up Messenger of Bank

Long Beach, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Five men, one of them armed with a machine gun, today robbed a bank messenger of approximately $70,000 on the main street of this city.

The messenger town and apparently made a clean get away.

Land robbery precipitated a search by land, sea and air. Directed by United States Coast Guard vessels and a police plane, over the Long Island mainland and ocean front.

Land police delayed in their pursuit of the bandit car by a parked truck with its rear tire punctured, blocked off the three bridges connecting with the Long Island mainland, but expressed fear they were too late.

Radio police cars halted an automobile 20 miles from here on the showed it was not their quarry.

Early reports, lacking official confirmation, spread that police had engaged in a running gun fight on Sunrise highway, one of Long Island's busiest parkway thoroughfares. Nassau County Police Inspector Harold King said he had heard nothing about it.

Greenville Officials Will Attend Sessions

Those who will attend from Greenville are Mayor Jack Spain, W. L. Patrick, assistant tax collector, W. C. Harris, city treasurer, and probably four members of the Aldermanic body.

MAY ABANDON PROTECTION IN CITY OF DANZIG

Action Is Hinging on Nazi-Polish Settlement

CONCLUDE TALKS ON COMPROMISE

Osservers Believe Any Settlement Will Involve League's Withdrawal From Free City

Geneva, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The League of Nations is ready to abandon its protection over the Free City of Danzig, League sources said today, if Poland approved such action as steps toward solution of its quarrel with Germany.

Prof. C. J. Burckhardt, the league commissioner to Danzig, has returned to the Free City after consultations last week with Hitler.

A former report by Burckhardt on his talks had not been received by the league secretary but unofficial reports indicated that negotiations were under way for a Polish-German "compromise."

Weight was lent to these indications by conference Burckhardt had with Nazi and Polish officials upon his return to Danzig.

Any settlement, it was assumed in these quarters, would involve the league's withdrawal from Danzig and its replacement by a joint German-Polish authority.

The question of league abandonment has come up twice before the council, once last January and again last May, but each time Poland opposed it.

Now, league officials said, a proposal to take the league out of Danzig would certainly be adopted at the coming council session, September 8, if supported by Poland.

The procedure, they said, would be for Burckhardt to file a report requesting abolition of his post as high commissioner and severing the league's power over Danzig as set up by the Versailles treaty.

London, Aug. 15 (AP)—Dr. C. J. Burckhardt, League of Nations high commissioner for Danzig, sent the British government today a report on "the general tenor" of his talk with Hitler at the latter's retreat Friday night.

Official circles, however, refused to discuss the report, declaring that this and any further communication arising out of the Burckhardt-Hitler conversation would be treated in strict confidence.

The situation was made even more puzzling by an official statement by a government official that Britain had not received either from the high commissioner or any other quarter any proposals for the settlement of the Danzig question.

Reports from abroad have hinted that Hitler and Burckhardt discussed a "peace" plan. If these reports are true Burckhardt's report to the British government naturally would have outlined the plan.

'Stray Dog' Situation Under Investigation

Chief of Police George Clark last night was instructed to investigate the "stray dog" situation in Greenville when the Board of Aldermen disclosed that the situation was getting worse throughout the city.

Persons violating the weed ordinance in the future are liable to subject themselves to more severe prosecution than has prevailed heretofore, in that the Board ordered a revision of the present weed ordinance with the view of making it more drastic.

Beautiful nuptial music was played by the organist, Miss Opal Claire Harris. Mrs. Helene Higgs Kirkpatrick sang "Oh, Promise Me," and "Because."

The Reverend Clarence Patrick performed the ceremony. Mr. Kennerly was attended by his brother, James Kennerly. Groomsmen were Jack Follow, and Kelsey Cash of Washington, D. C.; John Tulloss of Hay Springs, Nebraska, and George Thompson of Greenville.

The bridesmaids, dressed in pink silk net trimmed in blue, wearing nose-tip veils and carrying bouquets of Better Times roses, were: Miss Ann Askew of Greenville, Miss Dorothy Bailey of Fayetteville, Miss Katherine Thompson of Canton, Ga., and Miss Hazel Tunstall of Wilson.

Miss Jean Vickery Rush, sister of the bride, followed the bridesmaids as maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue silk marquisette with a sweetheart neckline and a pink nose-tip veil. Miss Rush carried a soft bouquet of Briarcliff roses and plumosa fern.

Following the maid of honor was the little flower girl, Carolyn Barnhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barnhill, who was dressed like the maid of honor and carried a basket of pink roses.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. William Gurthie Rush. Her wedding gown was of white chenille lace and silk marquisette. She wore a finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses tied with white ribbon and sprinkled with wiles of the valley and plumosa fern.

She was met at the altar by the bridegroom and repeated with him the marriage vows of the ring ceremony.

The bride was beautiful in her princess trained gown with a becoming sweetheart neckline. Her costume was completed by long marquisette sleeves which finished in a point over the hand.

The bride's mother wore a lovely gown of dusty pink chiffon and a large dusty pink picture hat trimmed in blue velvet ribbon. Her corsage was of Better Times roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore a becoming navy blue chiffon dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of Better Times roses.

The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rush of Greenville. She graduated from the Greenville high school and for the past two and a half years has been employed with the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The bridegroom is the younger son of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Kennerly of Camden, Arkansas. He is a graduate of the Bearden high school, Bearden, Arkansas. He completed his four years of college at the University of Arkansas. For the past three years he has been employed in the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

After an extended trip to Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Kennerly will be at home at 2121 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

For traveling, Mrs. Kennerly wore a navy chiffon dress. Her hat was of white straw with navy ribbon, white gloves, navy slippers and navy bag completed her ensemble. Her shoulder corsage was a white rose and valley lilies taken from her bridal bouquet.

Among the many out-of-town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Kennerly, Camden, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Foy, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Foy, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Ransom Etheridge, Tarboro; Mrs. W. A. McAdams, Mrs. L. R. Jones, Farmville; Mrs. Robert L. Harris, Mrs. Leslie Hart, Ayden; Miss Dorothy Bailey, Fayetteville; Miss Hazel Tunstall, Wilson; Miss Katherine Thompson, Canton, Ga.; Mr. John Tulloss, Hay Springs, Neb.; Messrs. Kelsey Cash, Jack Follow, and James Kennerly, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. J. D. Askew and daughter, Dorothy, and son Harold, of Roanoke Rapids.

Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, Mrs. J. R. Askew and Miss Ann Askew entertained the bridal party and a few guests at a buffet supper at their home on Meade street. A delicious three-course supper was served.

Immediately following the Kennerly-Rush rehearsal Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rush entertained informally for the bridal party, at their home on West Third street. The beautifully decorated bride's cake was cut by Miss Margaret Rush and Miss Opal Claire Harris. Mrs. W. G. Rush served orange ice to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rush entertained at a lovely reception following the wedding, at the home of Mrs. J. R. Askew. The guests were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woodard. Miss Margaret Cone introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kennerly, Miss Jean Rush, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Kennerly, Misses Dorothy Bailey, Ann Askew, Hazel Tunstall, and Kathryn Thompson. Receiving in the living room was Mrs. "Boss" Sumrell, directing the way to the bride's book. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Whichard and Mrs. C. B. West served from either end of the dining table, which was spread with a beautiful Madeira cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, asters and plumosa fern in a silver bowl flanked by six tapers burning in silver holders. The ices carried a wedding bell motif and the decorated cakes the chosen colors of pink and white. Miss Pauline Abeyounis served green and white mints and assorted toasted nuts. The guests were then invited into the sun parlor, where they were served punch by Mrs. Penrose Perkins, assisted by Misses Gladys and Brathie Reagan.

Goodbyes were said by Mrs. Graham McAdams.

MANAGER BILL SOME PITCHER

Turns in His 18th; Two Games Rained Out

Only one full game was played in the Coastal Plain League last night, one went five innings, and two others were drowned out by a downpour that came at game time. Kinston defeated Snow Hill 6-2 in the nine-inning affair. Goldsboro and Wilson played to a 5-5 deadlock in five innings of the regulation distance. Greenville and Williamston were rained out, as were Tarboro and New Bern.

Bill Herring, Kinston manager, last night put himself in the race with Don King and Red Swain by turning in his 18th pitching triumph of the season. King of Greenville and Swain of Williamston have 19 wins apiece.

Those Billies were unable to do anything with Bill Herring's six-hit hurling, except for the fourth and fifth innings, when they sent a pair of singletons. Kinston got its early scores off Johnnie Cummings, a rookie.

Goldsboro went to bat in the fifth with Wilson ahead 5-4, but produced a run to deadlock the score at 5-5. This game will not have to be played off unless it stood a chance to alter either team's chances of participating in the play-off.

Here Tonight

Greenville will play Tarboro at Guy Smith stadium tonight at 8 o'clock, and will play New Bern here Friday night at the same hour in what will be known as "East Carolina Teachers College Night." All students now in school at the college will be admitted free as guests of the local club.

Rain thwarted a game between the Greens and Red O'Malley's Williamston Martins last night. This was the last scheduled home appearance of the season for the Martins, so fans will not be able to see a twin bill as a result of last night's rain. Rain checks on last night's game will be good for the home game tonight.

'DONKEY' BALL SET FOR CITY

Lions Club Sponsoring Unique Baseball Game

Donkey Baseball, one of the funniest games ever conceived, is coming to Greenville on Thursday night, August 24th.

The game is being sponsored by the Greenville Lions Club and will be played under lights at the Third Street School Park.

In selecting the players for the game the committee in charge has used great care to pick men who know "Donkey Psychology." One team is to be made up from members of the Greenville Lions Club and the other team is to be picked from the Greenville Softball League.

The Bar-X-Ranch team of Mountain Donkeys have been trained to play in their respective positions and the spectators are guaranteed the laugh of their lives in watching the players try to score. The game is scheduled for Thursday, August 24th, at 8:00 P. M. sharp and will be played at the Third Street School Park.

Husband Held

The New York Daily News quoted Jay credit (above) 22-year-old radio actress, as saying she is the estranged wife of Charles Jefferson, who is held at West Palm Beach, Fla., on a murder charge in connection with the saying of Ruth Frances Dunn, 17, of Miami.

RAIN HOLDS UP ALL SOFTBALL

Two Engagements Scheduled for Tonight, However

Rain blocked the first round play in the softball series last night, but, weather permitting, two contests will be run off at Third St. park tonight, the first engagement starting at 8 o'clock. Water & Light is slated to engage Carolina Dairy in the initial encounter, with the second game being between Royal Crown and Tadlock.

The two games rained out last night, Double Cola vs Gulf, and Blount-Harvey vs Carolina Sales, will be played tomorrow night.

APPEAR IRKED OVER MEETING

Young N. C. Demos Not a Bit Enthusiastic

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Aug. 14.—North Carolina Young Democrats are not very highly pleased with events at the national Youth Democratic Convention at Pittsburg, according to some of the leaders living or visiting in the Roosevelt "purge."

There has been evident in the conversation of Young Dems who could not go to Pittsburg some resentment to the wholly New Deal and almost "third term" complexion of the convention. One sweet lady wanted to know what the North Carolina delegation was doing not to let it be known.

There isn't much likelihood, according to these dissatisfied youngsters, that the state convention in Charlotte next month will blow up or that it will turn out to be an ultra conservative session. But they would not be at all surprised to have resolutions offered opposing any third term candidacy.

What they really expect is a hot enough scrap over the state presidency to leave all other issues in the shade. The one time accepted idea of alternating presidents between men and women and between east and west has definitely been abandoned in the pre-convention maneuverings and unless some trading is done before hand a free for all is expected.

ing in Raleigh. The state organization has for years claimed to be "liberal" and "progressive" but it has not been even mildly "radical." In fact, there have been times when the youngsters seemed far more conservative than their elders in the regular party conventions.

Two years ago at Winston-Salem and last year at Durham the State Convention of Young Democrats refused to pass resolutions highly lauding the New Deal, but instead adopted rather pale generalities endorsing the state and national administrations. In fact, it required some skill on part of level headed leaders last year to prevent adoption of resolution definitely con-

BETTER THAN BAUGH?

Washington (AP)—The Washington Redskins have announced the acquisition of a forward passer heralded as the superior of even sensational "Slinging Sammy" Baugh. The newcomer is Lyn Warren, a former Stetson University boy recommended by a former Redskin, Dale Waters, as potentially a greater passer than Baugh or Ed Danowski.

THE MOVIES ARE 50 YEARS OLD

(By The AP Feature Service)
In August, 1889, George Eastman, an American, began to make a new nitro-cellulose photographic film to meet the problems of "roller photography." Eastman and a Frenchman, Lumiere, were responsible for the invention of the film.

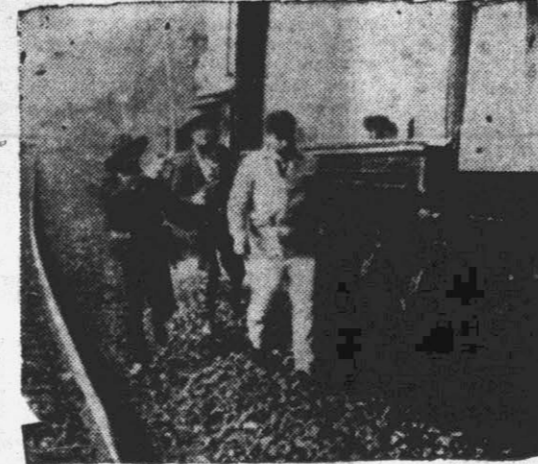

From that film came the movies. A man named Thomas A. Edison heard of the film, bought 50 feet of it for $2.50, and created motion pictures with a machine called a kinoscope.

Moving pictures may be grown up, but they are still young. That is shown by the fact that the first sound film, "The Jazz Singer," starring Al Jolson, was released as recently as 1927.

Other "firsts" that were milestones in movie history are shown in these pictures:

FIRST KISS in the movies (1896) was an affair between May Irwin and John C. Rice. It scandalized audiences.

FIRST STORY to be told in the movies (1903) was "The Great Train Robbery." An Edison film, it ran 10 minutes.

FIRST STAR was little Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart." She played in "The New York Hat" in 1912.

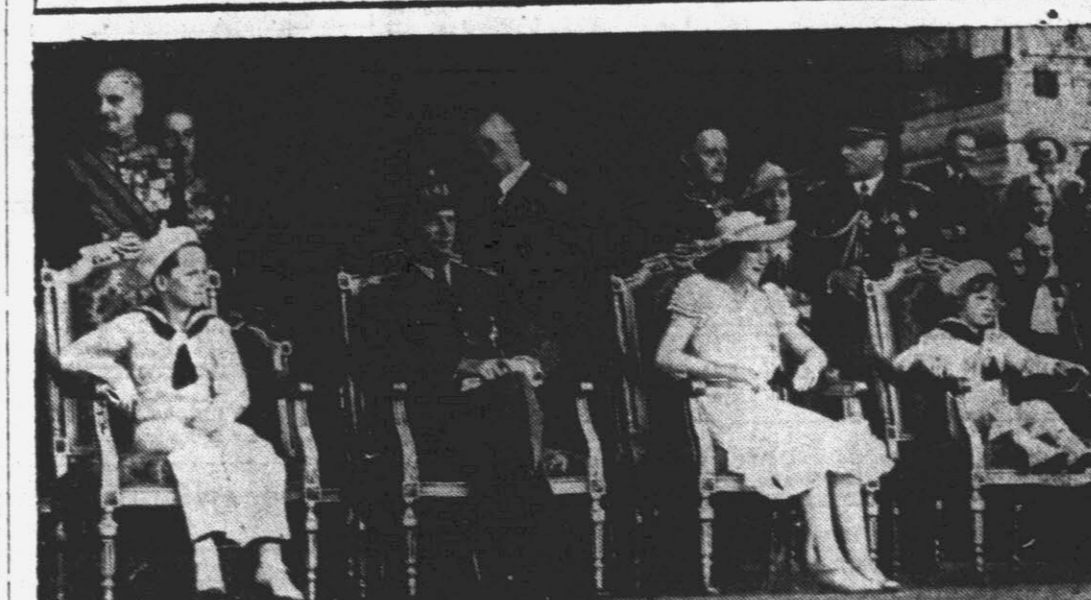

THE FIRST COWBOY of the screen was William S. Hart, who is shown in "The Fugitive" (1914).

FIRST SPECTACLE was David Wark Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation" (1915). Lillian Gish was featured in the film.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Groover

Washington — The last-minute legislation jam in the senate stopped the war and navy departments from extending our hemispherical defense network down along the coasts of South America.

Legislation was proposed to let Latin American republics buy our most modern air and coast defense weapons direct from the army and navy. The law already permits them to buy munitions here from private concerns. But private U. S. concerns don't manufacture heavy-caliber coast defense weapons nor the speed-firing and sighting devices for anti-aircraft operation.

The only place the Latin American countries have been able to buy such equipment is in Europe. They are buying it extensively. Prices are much lower than for American stuff. Only recently Brazil placed an order for $60,000,000 worth of German artillery and other war material. Germany took cotton, coffee and other raw products in exchange.

Brazil is building three destroyers from American steel, but now that they are about finished, she can't buy U. S. guns for them although the U. S. navy has large stocks.

AMMUNITION MUST FIT
The army and navy have an equal interest in the thing. In case of a world war, the U. S. and the other American republics likely would be shoulder to shoulder in defense of this hemisphere. If the republic to the south were equipped with European weapons they could buy no fresh supplies of ammunition during the war. And nothing made by the U. S. would fit.

The army and navy hoped—and expected—that orders for anti-aircraft and coast defense weapons would come from a number of South American nations. Although the bill permitted them also to buy battleships or smaller craft, the navy people don't expect they will. The navy does not look for much hemispherical defense from the Latin American navies. One modern battleship and a few heavy cruisers could put all the South American navies to rout.

But of special importance to the navy are bases and safe harbors along the American coast. In a war these bases would be of tremendous importance. Rio de Janeiro, for instance, would need anti-aircraft weapons to shoot away from the coast defense weapons to protect the docks and war stores for the fighting forces.

Altogether six American republics have indicated they would like U. S. weapons. Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state has told committees that all the Latin American nations approve the legislation.

THE OTHER SIDE

The house passed the bill late in the session but opposition in the senate foreign relations committee held up the legislation until the final hours of the session. By the time it was released from the committee, it was too late. Four Republican members of California, Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, White of Maine and Vandenberg of Michigan, said the bill would do far more harm than good.

Instead of promoting hemispherical good feeling, they said it would breed discord and rivalry in Latin America. If the U. S. agreed to

Shot By Admirer

Mrs. Elizabeth Greve Caldwell, 31-year-old mother of two children, was critically wounded by Lawrence Sprague, a North Shore Long Island, N. Y. residence to first threaten and then shoot the socially prominent Mrs. Caldwell. He wounded a state policeman before committing suicide. Mrs. Caldwell told Sprague they "just couldn't make up," she later advised police.

American country, they said, all others would get panicky. After all, build a ship or two for one South Africa is almost as delicate as in Europe.

Further, they argued, there is a genuine dislike in America for putting the U. S. in the munitions business. "The U. S. shouldn't be huckstering military weapons and battle-ships to our neighbors to the south," said Johnson.

The army, navy and state departments answered that the countries can already buy whatever they wish abroad, so discord would not result just because they bought America.

The things will come up again next session and probably will skid through like a wet duck.

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, Aug. 15—It's not the heat but the stupidity that is responsible for some of the fantastic political reports being circulated nowadays.

Your correspondent drew a laugh and an apt answer from Governor Clyde Hoy when he jokingly approached the chief executive about one of the most fantastic of them all:

"Governor, I'd like to get confirmation or denial of one of the reports I've heard lately," quote v. c. in mock seriousness. "It is being said that your disinclination to commit the so-called Administration to any candidate to succeed you and also your frequent speech making are both due to the fact that you are now conducting an active campaign to succeed Bob Reynolds in the Senate."

"Now, Henry, you know all the papers of North Carolina have committed me officially against long campaigns—and it's five years until Bob runs again," he replied right off the bat.

Perhaps even more wild-eyed, however, is the suggestion, made recently in all seriousness, that Governor Hoy is holding off all announcements by others because he plans to call a special session of the General Assembly this fall to submit a Constitutional amendment making it possible for him to succeed himself as Governor.

Only the most glibly or the plain, unadorned insane, would fall for that one.

But if you are looking for a two-time Governor of North Carolina, why wouldn't it be Blucher Ehringhaus? He's still in the prime of life and would be completely eligible come 1948, without any change in the organic law.

Just give the Raleigh News and Observer time enough and it'll find things out.

Papers which are served by this Bureau carried on Wednesday afternoon August 9, the fact that Senator Robert R. Reynolds had sailed for foreign parts and would not speak before the state convention of the Federation of Labor.

On Friday August 11, the N. and O. heralded under a two-column head that "Our" (or at least Somebody's) Bob would speak; but on Saturday August 12 got round to setting the straight of the situation.

The front page of one Monday morning paper chronicled the death in ten distinct and separate tragedies of 60 persons and the injury of at least 131 others.

There were two railroad accidents which claimed 34 dead and 100 injured; a subway crash which hurt 21; a murder-suicide orgy fatal to three; a drowning; a fall from an infant; wiping out a half dozen by a "dud" which wasn't one; a plane crash which exterminated 14; and passing of the freak "outside-heart" baby.

get on the front page unless enough are killed in one bunch to make the incident something of a holocaust.

Incidentally Director Hocutt is today conferring with representatives of the truck owners in an effort to secure even more cooperation than in the past regarding safety measures. The conference is being held in Greensboro.

HAND-HOLDING HIGHNESS—That soft light in the eyes of His Highness Sheik Mohamed Bin Isa Al Khalifah may be nostalgia for his homeland, Bahrain, "Isle of Pearls," of which the jewels worn by these girls in New York remind him. Jane House (left) and Peggy Caubourne of Washington, D. C., are wearing pearls from Bahrain, which is in the Persian gulf.

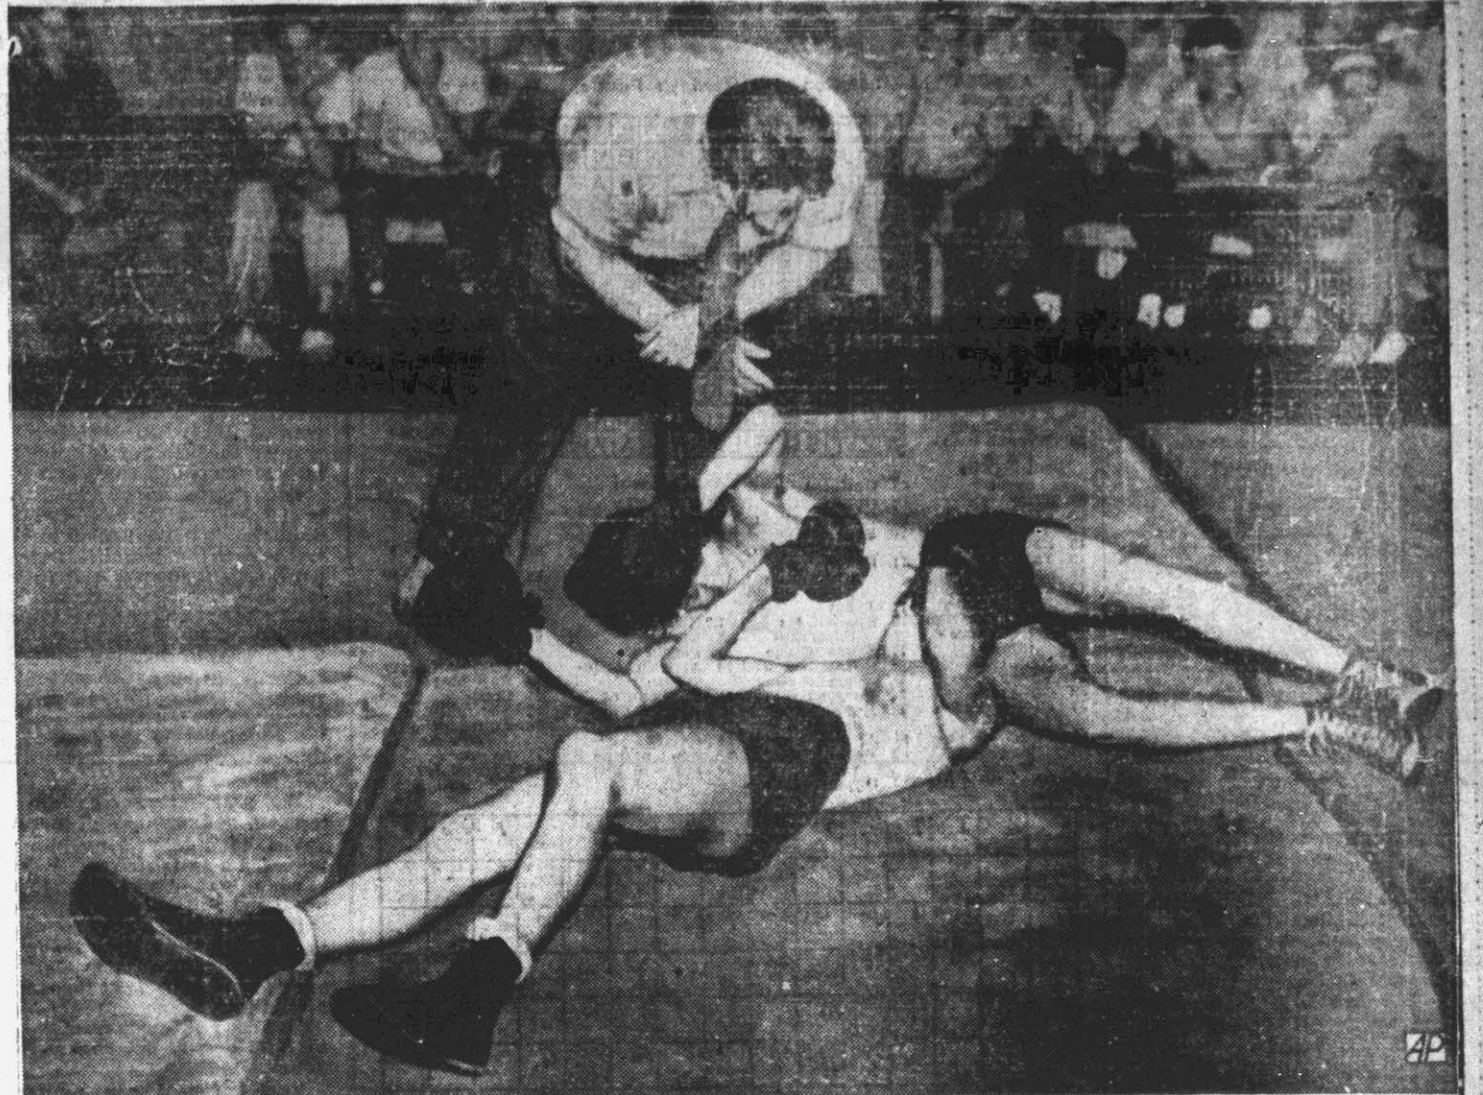

WHEN LOVE CAME—This gives you a rough idea of how love comes (theoretically) to Buddy Ebsen and Dixie Dunbar, the southland's contribution to Broadway entertainment in a new show, "Yokel Boy." They're shown at one stage in their dance, "Viene El Amor," which means, says Dixie, "Come Love." In it the man woos and wins the maiden with some fancy footwork.

'DOWN TO THE SEA'—To the memory of mariners lost at sea, a fisherman grips the wheel at Gloucester, Mass., where a hushed throng of 15,000 recently attended the annual memorial service. Above, men from the U. S. navy join the Gloucester friends and relatives in paying tribute at the famous statue to five men lost since last year's ceremony at fishing port.

REPUBLICAN OMEN?—Political fortunes of the G.O.P. party haven't anything to do with the miniature elephant collection of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of Idaho's veteran Republican senator. She's been collecting them for 20 years, the figures ranging from tiny ivory elephants to this sinister beast (left) whose name is Ferdinand. Ferdinand is 500 years old.

WINNER BY A KO . . . BUT WHICH ONE WON?—The battle between Joe Morgan and Buddy Yocum was so fast in an amateur card for a Washington, D. C., junior high that both boys were knocked out—by exhaustion.

HARD-BOILED—An investigation of Nazi egg-laying traced this egg, received by an English grocer near Aldershot, to Vamdrup at the Danish-German border, where Nazi sympathies are strong. Indelible ink was used for the lettering.

TOPS—Canadian-born Frances Carroll, clarinetist, is one of five top-rank girls directing dance orchestras in U. S.

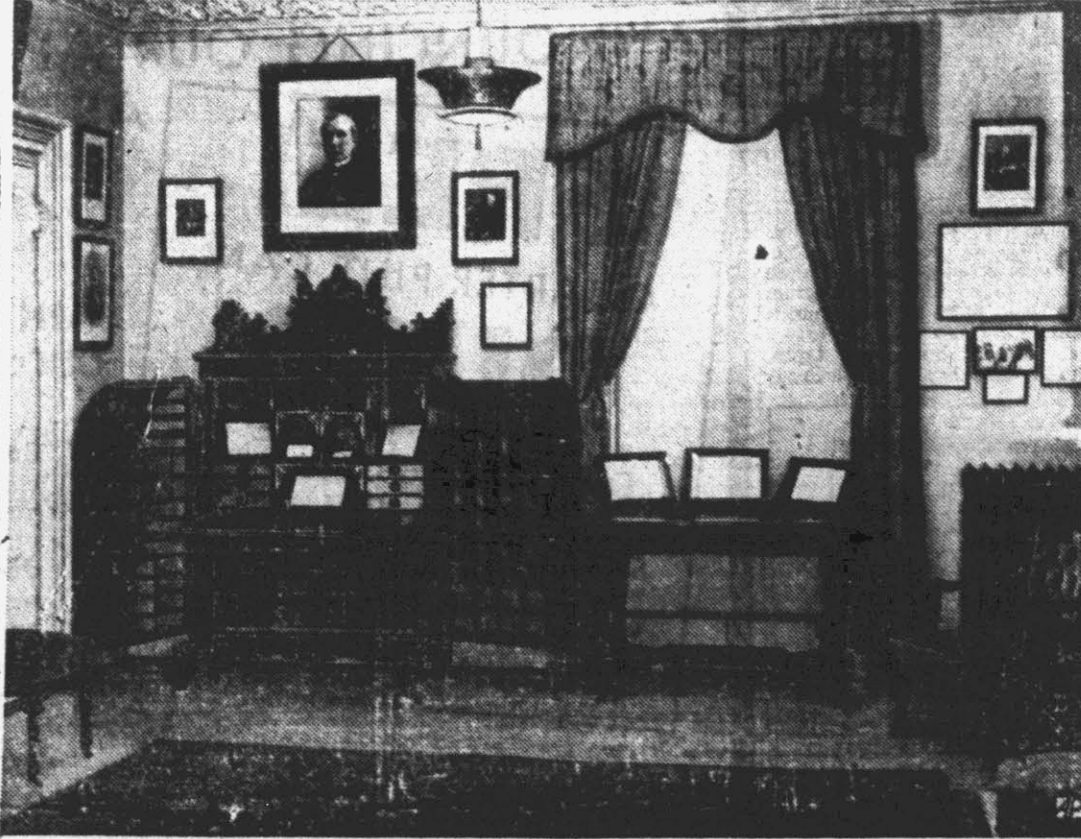

LIKE FATHER—Manilal Gandhi (above), son of the Indian mahatma, addressed trading license protest rally of 6,000 Transvaal Indians at Johannesburg, South Africa.

CHANGING OF THE (AIR) gather

ALLY—Assurance of Britain's military strength was given by Max. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside (above) on visit to Poland.

HISTORY, COULD YOU SPARE A DIME?—Visitors to above newly opened "Neighbor John" room at Tarrytown, N. Y., turn quickly to the ornate desk (left) used by the late John D. Rockefeller and to the dimes (right corner) framed along with statements by the recipients. On the desk is a photostatic copy of John D's famous "Ledger A" recording his first earnings, gifts.

The Highway Commissioners should ascertain, as an illustration, the weight of a gasoline truck carrying a cargo of, say, 2,000 gallons of gasoline, as such truck and cargo should, as an example, weigh ten tons, then class as highways as light traffic highways for all trucks carrying ten tons or over.

"My understanding is that the Highway Commission has the power to designate any and all highways as light traffic highways. I believe that the Honorable Frank Spruill is general counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line in Rocky Mount, and I suggest you take this matter up with him and ascertain his views."

"My personal opinion is that these hazardous gasoline trucks should be removed from the highways of North Carolina and if I can be of any assistance to you or your friends at any time do not hesitate to call upon me, as any service I can render will be rendered most gladly and without a charge."

Truck owners were particularly caustic in reference to the Mayor's "generosity" in offering his services "without a charge," wondering what charge Mayor Cooper could conceivably make in connection with the "assistance" he might be called on to render the railroads.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Bizard
YESTERDAY: TOM, a girl friend of Cecily's, thinks it's funny that Cecily is engaged to Philip, because Philip looks like a phoney. Meanwhile, Cecily suddenly wonders if Locke is married.

Chapter 22 In Love With A Shadow

WHY couldn't it be? What right had you to assume that things were going to be the way you wanted them just because you wanted them to be? Did the man pursue you or did you pursue him? Or, Cecily Stuart, you proud head, and remember how deliberately you set about to bring Locke back into your life. Remember how you planned a party hoping he'd come. Remember how shameless you were about inviting him, to supper. Remember that it was always he who left you.

Cecily, in an agony of embarrassment and no little shame, dug her toes into the hooked rug, but she couldn't stop the flow of her thoughts, or change their brutal honesty.

You practically forced him into inviting you to that first picnic. Yes, but I didn't force him into taking me to the circus. I didn't ask him to drop into the shop that night and talk and talk.

Didn't you? Isn't it an invitation to have little suppers ready for him, to show him how glad you are to have him? Isn't that an invitation for the next time? You can't get away from the fact that he doesn't act enamored of you.

Yes, I can. I can remember things that can't be put into words. You can't describe the way that a man looks at you and makes you feel as though he thought you were something precious and rare.

Locke has made me feel that way. Locke? What's the rest of his name? Why doesn't he tell you? Why does he turn off your questions with nonsensical answers? Have you asked him that one? He might have a good reason for not wanting you to know who he is. He might have a wife.

"And I might as well forget him right now," Cecily said aloud. In the most matter-of-fact way, as though she hadn't suddenly gone completely flat inside, she hung up the yellow dress, unpacked her brown satin slippers from the drawer in her trunk, rummaged around for a piece of brown velvet ribbon.

She did all of these things as though she were really looking forward to the Brewster dinner-party, as though instead of being bright and gay and to be anticipated, tomorrow was now to be different from the enchanted morrows she had known since Locke had first walked into her shop.

This Locke business had gone far enough. It was like being in love with a shadow on a silver screen, like trying to make an impression on a piece of India rubber. It was, in a word, unsatisfactory.

If the man was married... No Future
EVEN if he was not, what kind of a man was he? No ambition. No future. Just content to sell mushrooms, make a book-shelf, sell a mess of fish, a bucket of berries. He might as well be a beach-comber. Undoubtedly he was at one time. That was the only role he hadn't claimed. Was a Cecily Stuart, of the Boston Stuarts, to lose her head over the first man that came along with a drawl in his voice and a cavalier manner? Mr. Lochinvar, indeed!

Suppose he hasn't a wife? Didn't he say once that he would make a very bad husband? Had he said then that he had been a bad husband? Cecily knit her brow with the effort to remember.

He was right. How could people live in a shack and subsist on the proceeds from the sale of fish, or shelves or mushrooms?

Try as she would, Cecily couldn't convince herself that fish and mushrooms and berries were Locke's métier. It meant something, but what? For a moment, her thoughts darting over the complete picture of him, halted briefly, and had she not gone on she would have had the solution.

What kind of a future would I have? She said the words in her mind with cold condemnation but the pictures that rose with them were warm and bright, blinding in their beauty. What kind of a life with Locke? Would it matter if their lunch was a bit of bread and cheese if they were together on an English hillside watching the changeable greens of the grasses blowing in the breeze? Would it matter that he was not a successful stock-

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 15, (AP)—Apprentice inspectors by a further bill in European war worries and generally heartening domestic prospects, the stock market today chalked off a few more yards on the upward path.
Profit taking barriers were encountered on the resumption of yesterday's advance, however, and gains running to two points or so in the forenoon were cut down in many instances at the close.
Transfers approximated 650,000 shares.
