

GERMANY ANNOUNCES CAPTURE OF POLISH CITIES

French Forces Penetrate German Territory Along Fortified Western Front

OFFICIALS SAY CONTACT MADE

Initial French Operations Understood to Be for Testing Out Nazi Fortifications To Find Weakest Point in Siegfried Line; Naval Battle Also Reported Under Way

Paris, Sept. 5.—(AP)—(via Radio)—The French government announced today that French forces had made contact with the German troops on the western front and had penetrated into German territory.

A semi-official Paris radio station reported trouble in Germany and said there had been disorders in Cologne, Düsseldorf and Essen, as well as the areas of all Czechoslovakia.

Discharges from Copenhagen reported naval fighting off the coast of Denmark.

Paris, Sept. 5.—(AP)—France perceived her second day of military operations against Germany today with the official announcement that "Movements developed normally for the entire land, sea and air forces."

Germany replied with an aerial invasion which brought an early-morning air raid alarm to Paris. Later, an official military source said the planes had come on a "scouting trip" without dropping bombs.

The three issued war ministry communiques had failed to shed any light on France's operations along her Rhineland frontier, beyond the fact she has gone to the aid of her ally, Poland.

Official advices reported "stubborn fighting," however, on the German-Polish eastern front.

France's operations were understood to be testing the German fortification to seek the weak point of the Siegfried line and divert German forces from Poland.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The official German news agency, DNB, announced two British scouting planes were shot down over Hamburg today.

The news bureau asserted that four British planes appeared over Hamburg during the afternoon and were promptly engaged by German scouting planes.

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Wall Street experienced one of the most spectacular upsurges in prices of stocks and commodities in its history today as resumption of trading after the holiday found a feverish urge to buy in expectation of "war" prices.

Stocks, particularly steel, non-ferrous metals, oils, chemicals and machinery makers, jumped one dollar to around $15 a share.

Athenia Recalls Lusitania

The torpedoing of the British liner Athenia recalls the Lusitania disaster in 1915 during the World War. This map shows the spot where each ship sank. Of more than 1,400 persons aboard the Athenia, 31 were known to be Americans. It was reported from London by United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy that all aboard had been rescued except "those killed in the explosion."

Officials May Abandon Warsaw at Any Moment

Warsaw, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Reports were current today that officials of the Polish government might leave Warsaw within a few hours.

German planes made two raids on the capital city today. The sky was clear and the September sunshine was brilliant.

Most of the staffs of the American, British and other embassies arranged to leave the city. Meantime John K. Davis, United States consul general, and his staff, assisted Americans in leaving.

The first raid of the day came while reports were being received indicating that Polish defense lines had been shortened to stiffer positions now held.

Several times during the morning attack, the German airmen flew directly over the heart of the capital without dropping bombs. They confined their activities to the suburbs and military objectives.

The alarm sounded at 8:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m. EST) and 35 minutes later an all clear sign was given.

The Rev. Mr. Fleischmann died Monday afternoon at his home on 316 Eastern street following an illness of several years. He came to Greenville and became pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church in 1929 and remained pastor of the church for eight years, when he ceased the duties of active pastor because of illness.

The Rev. Mr. Fleischmann was a native of Newark, N. J., and after graduating from the Pace and Pace School of Accountancy and Law, New York City, he attended the University of Richmond, Va., where he received his degree. He later attended the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary of Chicago, Ill., and his work in the home missionary field of Virginia came when he taught in the Union Theological Seminary of Richmond, Va.

After serving overseas in the World War as a member of the 87th division headquarters troops, he returned to the United States early in 1919, and later married Miss Elizabeth Hayes De Vine of Blountfield. (Continued on Page Six)

SIGNS ORDERS AIMED TO KEEP U. S. NEUTRAL

American Neutrality Proclaimed by President

ALSO EXPECTED APPLY EMBARGO

Travel of American Citizens in Europe Virtually Halted by State Department

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt proclaimed American neutrality today.

He signed and Secretary Hull countersigned a proclamation of over 4,000 words establishing an extensive list of regulations designed to keep Americans from projecting the United States into the European war.

Another proclamation, to be issued under the 1937 neutrality act, was scheduled for consideration at a White House conference later in the afternoon. It will put into operation an embargo on export of arms, ammunition and implements of war to the combatant nations.

The President penned his name on the document about 1 p. m. in the presence of Hull, acting Attorney General Robert Jackson, Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state; A. A. Berie, assistant secretary of state; and Stephen Early, presidential secretary.

Earlier, the State Department had virtually halted travel of American citizens to Europe.

Other developments: Earl Browder, general secretary of the American Communist party, told the Dies committee that the party was offered $250,000 by a group of anonymous individuals in 1936 to nominate President Roosevelt as its candidate.

The offer was made to him as party head, Browder testified, by a man whom he knew only as "Davidson." Davidson, he said, told him he was representing a group of six or seven "wealthy Republicans."

"The original proposition," Browder told the committee, "was to nominate Mr. Roosevelt as the candidate, but when I just laughed at that he made the modified proposition of withdrawing in favor of the President."

The government began gathering testimony to fix responsibility for the sinking of the liner Athenia with more than 300 Americans aboard.

The State Department announced the American minister to Ireland, John Cudahy, went from Dublin to Galway and cabled from the latter port that he had interviewed the captain of the Athenia, members of the crew and a number of American passengers.

Congressman Lindsay C. Warren, who with his secretary, Herbert Bonner, were Greenville visitors, today expressed confidence that President Roosevelt would call a special session of Congress at an early date.

Congressman Warren said he felt the President was 100 per cent correct in his desire to revise the present neutrality act.

More Ships Sunk In Ocean Warfare

Liverpool, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Cunard Line announced today that its steamer Bosnia had been sunk by a submarine and her crew of 23 rescued by a Norwegian tanker.

A message from the 2,470-ton Bosnia, interrupted before completion, gave her position as about 100 miles off the Scottish coast. The tanker was reported proceeding to Lisbon with the rescued.

One death aboard the Bosnia was reported, that of a fireman. Meantime, at London, information was received that the German ship Carl Fritzen had been sunk and that its crew was safe.

Recruits Rush To Join The British Navy

This was the scene at the British navy recruiting office in London September 4 as Britons hastened to enlist in the royal sea force the second day after war began between Great Britain and Germany. Among the first British war measures was the imposition of a naval blockade of Germany. Picture by radio.

Survivors of Athenia Land at Scotland Port

Greenock, Scotland, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Victims of the war's first great sea tragedy, 600 shaken and weeping survivors of the torpedoed British liner Athenia, arrived on rescue ships today with tales of horror.

Two hundred of those arriving here were injured. One survivor, John McEwan of Glasgow, said a submarine torpedoed the liner and then twice shelled the vessel as her lifeboats were being lowered.

German authorities in Berlin categorically denied that a German submarine was involved.

German Secretary of State Weizsaecker told the United States charge d'affaires, Alexander Kirk, that "German sea forces could not possibly have been responsible."

An undetermined number of Americans and Canadians were among the injured brought here.

A member of one of the rescue crews said the first SOS from the Athenia was received at 10 p. m. Greenwich Mean time, Sunday (5 p. m. EST).

"I saw the Athenia take a final plunge, stern first, the next morning," he declared, "I saw a group of five boats and in the water a number of young children who had been drowned. The boats were full, some of them badly flooded and some with people clinging to their sides."

Glasgow mobilized hospitals and nursing homes to accommodate the injured, while other agencies planned to care for other refugees, many of them thinly clad and weak from exposure to the winds of the North Atlantic.

Perhaps the saddest sight of all was nine-year-old Roy Barrington of Toronto. His mother went down with the Athenia. As rescue work went on, no one could say definitely how many had been killed, or drowned in the disaster.

One rumor said 90 had died. Some persons said the figure was far greater and pointed out that a score or more must have drowned when the propeller of the Norwegian rescue ship Knut Nelson shattered a life boat of women.

The Carl Fritzen, of 659 tons, was sunk from the Netherlands around Cape Girardeau. Herbert McCullough was replacing the glass bulb's eye that had been knocked from the center of a ranging range target when—bingo!—some one hit it again and knocked it right out of McCullough's hand.

DRIVE ON SLOTS HALTED IN PITT

A drive launched last week by the Pitt county grand jury to rid the county of slot machines was halted temporarily today when Sheriff J. Knott Proctor and Chief of Police George Clark were served with an order restraining them and their officers from seizing or interfering with the operation of such machines in Greenville and Pitt county.

Judge Leo Carr, conducting a term of criminal court in Wilson county, signed the order last night. The order is returnable before Judge J. Paul Frizzelle, resident judge of the Fifth Judicial district, Saturday morning, September 16, at 10 o'clock.

Today's action thwarted an extensive drive planned last week by law enforcement officers of the county to seize all slot machines not complying with the provisions of the Flanagan act this morning at 7 o'clock. Sheriff Proctor issued this declaration Saturday at the request of Solicitor D. M. Clark in behalf of the sheriff's department. Chief of Police George Clark of Greenville, and all other officers assisting in the drive.

County Attorney S. O. Worthington and Albin Dunn, attorneys for L. B. McCormick, trading as McCormick Vending Machine Company, plaintiff and petitioner, presented the order to Judge Carr.

Ten bills of indictment involving 15 defendants were served last week by officers of the county upon the order of the Pitt county grand jury. These cases have been docketed for the October session of Pitt Superior court.

In the restraining order served today, it was revealed that $695 in city taxes had been paid by McCormick, distributor, for slot machines now operating in Greenville.

Three U. S. Planes Found; Crew Safe

Cristobal, Canal Zone, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Army authorities today announced three United States army planes, previously reported missing over Costa Rica had been found with all personnel aboard safe.

The aircraft, pursuit planes of the new P-36 type, had become detached from a group of 30 being flown yesterday from March, Langley and Selfridge fields to Panama. Bad weather forced them to make emergency landings.

First army reports did not disclose where the three planes had been located.

Wilson, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Kenneth Cameron, 19, of Jonesboro was sentenced today to 10 to 12 years in state's prison by Judge Leo Carr after Cameron's plea of guilty to the holdup robbery of W. A. Lucas, chairman of the State Election Board, and his wife, a year ago.

Nazi Forces Push Deeper Into Poland

Two Highly Important Industrial Cities Fall Before Superior German Army; Nazi Officials Claim Ten British Bombers Downed While Attacking Hitler's Fleet

Berlin, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Germany today announced the capture of two rich Polish industrial cities, Katowice and Chorowz near the Polish-German frontier in Silesia.

Both towns, on the direct route to Krakow, Poland's ancient capital, virtually had been surrounded by previous attacks where the German border bulges into southwestern Poland, but the final thrust against them had been delayed.

Germany said they feared the Poles would blow up mines and steel rolling mills which they said were laced with explosives, but the Poles were said to have been surprised and fled without damaging the valuable property.

Capture of the two towns would give Germany control of the highly important upper Silesian industrial sector.

A United States concern, the American Silesian Company, owned six mines in Katowice.

At the same time, German authorities declared 10 British bombers had been shot down yesterday when they raided the German fleet near the entrance to the strategic Kiel canal.

Revising their previous statement that five of twelve British raiders were destroyed, German officials said more than half of the attackers were downed and declared no damage was done to Nazi warships, despite British statements to the contrary.

In London, officials claimed "severe damage" was inflicted on two German battleships by the British raiders.

Germany reported capture of the two Silesian cities, as Adolf Hitler, the Reich's "first soldier," followed his troops across the Polish corridor, and the German news agency announced triumphantly that East Prussia had been reunited with Germany proper.

Greenville Rotary Hear Local Doctor

Dr. C. F. Keuzenkamp was the principal speaker at a regular meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club last night.

Dr. Keuzenkamp painted a word picture of general conditions in Europe as he saw them a year ago, which helped the Rotarians correlate conditions then with those of today.

The Rev. T. McM. Grant, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and faithful Rotarian, presided at the meeting in the absence of Dr. Carl Adams, president, and S. G. Wilkerson, vice-president.

T. Y. Walker had charge of last night's program.

Raleigh, J. K. Adams, 52, of Angier, Route 2, was instantly killed and Essie Mae Tant of Raleigh was seriously injured early today in an automobile accident.

Coroner Roy Banks said a truck operated by Adams collided with a tree on a sideroad near here.

Prices Soar

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Wall Street experienced one of the most spectacular upsurges in prices of stocks and commodities in its history today as resumption of trading after the holiday found a feverish urge to buy in expectation of "war" prices.

Stocks, particularly steel, non-ferrous metals, oils, chemicals and machinery makers, jumped one dollar to around $15 a share.

What again bounded the limit permitted in a day's trading of five cents a bushel at Chicago, Wintzberg and Minneapolis, and raw materials generally surged upward, both food and industrials.

Washington—We have taken up with the National Institute of Public Health the problem of whether a strawberry-flavored football team will gain more yardage than a lemon-flavored team. While we get no final conclusions, we do get lots of information.

The thing grew up out of the fact that energetic scientists discovered that gelatine, taken in fairly large quantities under certain conditions, would enable a man to do more work before surrendering to that tired feeling.

The football season is approaching. We asked the Institute of Health and also the Public Health

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR Tuesday, September 5, 1899

FILES OF BRIGHTS New Rows of Them Every Day

This is going to be another big week on the tobacco market. Keep the good work going till the grass is gone from the streets.

The cotton buyers are whetting their knives ready to stick the first bale that comes along.

The water in the river is so low that the boat had to anchor some distance below town Monday, and send up passengers in a row boat.

Service what would happen if a coach fed his team on gelatine to help the boys beat the Terrytown Muddcats in that big Thanksgiving day game, November 23 or November 30.

Three learned savants of the two institutions agreed that experiments tended to prove that gelatine, taken in sufficient quantity, would permit a man to do a lot more work before fatigue set in.

It Might Be Harmful
Here, for instance, is a recent experiment reported in the proceedings of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine. G. B. Ray, J. R. Johnson and M. M. Taylor of the Long Island College of Medicine announced that man to whom they fed gelatine over a period of 49 days gradually built up resistance to a point where they could do 27 to 240 per cent more work before fatigue set in.

What happens? We asked. Would a group of high school boys be permanently injured if they were gelatinized up to a point where they could throw double-duty into a football game? Would the heart be hurt, even though the muscles were willing?

Views differed. One nutrition authority said he could foresee no harm if the gelatine did not substitute for other food. It should not replace eggs, liver or other protein sources carrying all the essential amino acids.

How It Works
The thing works this way. Gelatine contains 25 per cent of glycine. Glycine is associated with the generation of creatine in the muscles. And creatine seems to be the phosphate compound in muscles which prolongs energy. The more creatine in the muscles, the more work before fatigue sets in.

Other foods contain glycine, but gelatine contains it in large quantities and can be taken readily. The Long Island experimenters gave their subjects 60 cubic centimeters daily—about a half tumblerful, dissolved in water and flavored with lemon or orange. We were informed that the flavor doesn't matter.

We must add a discouraging word for the women. Experiments indicate that it doesn't work with women. They get tired just about as fast, gelatine or no gelatine.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—Still stunned by the news of Sidney Howard's tragic death while he was spending the summer on his rural Massachusetts estate, Broadway was reflecting what effects this would have on the newly formed and singularly successful Playwrights Company which began a year ago and produced such popular dramas as "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and "No Time for Comedy." Howard was one of the five men who pooled their dramatic and financial interests in a playwrighting-producing venture last summer, and his first contribution was to have been a comedy, "Madame, Will You Walk?" and he was putting finishing touches on a play based on the life of Benjamin Franklin.

Howard was a tall, loose-jointed free-thinker who won the Pulitzer prize in 1924, and who has participated in the writing of at least 50 plays. He dramatized the novel "Dodsworth," in which Walter Huston starred, and which became such a great Broadway hit.

His dealing with Hollywood and his long association with the theater made him a militant foe of censorship, and at times his outspokenness against various rulings of the Hays office, as regards motion pictures, was sensationally featured in the New York newspapers.

One of the bitterest squabbles with the people and the Hays office came when the Hays office banned "The Death of a Salesman" from the stage. Lewis novel, as a motion picture, Howard was working on the script in Los Angeles when the ban was announced, and he dropped everything and came to New York in a rage.

It happened to meet him at Grand Central station when he and Mrs. Howard got off the train, and his scolding appraisal of Mr. Hays' opinions were of a character that could not be printed in family newspapers.

The object of his anger were those rulings in censorship which to him were ridiculous, and at which he scoffed whenever he had the chance. In the "It Can't Happen Here" script, for instance, he was forbidden to use the word "Fascist," but it was permissible for him to say, "Democracy is no good."

Howard always contended that no reactionary school of thought (meaning film censorship) could possibly justify itself and issue such edicts as this.

The playwright had quite a war record, though he never spoke of it, and indeed to see and talk with him had been spent at typewriters in the business of dramatizing novels. In the war he was an ambulance driver, and later an aviator, and he is credited with having brought down three planes.

But the moment the war was over he slipped quickly back into the routine of the theater, and a few years later he had three plays running at one time on Broadway.

The baby girl who'll enchant you in "Honeymoon in Ball" is Carolyn Lee. . . She's different from other four-year-olds who make impressive movie debuts. . . She's cute and precocious — and she's going home.

Her parents signed a one-picture deal for her, no more. . . And seem to mean it. . . Therefore the Chamber of Commerce at Wheeling, W. Va., where Carolyn (Copp) lives, should erect a monument to them as Frantically Unique among Mamas and Pappas! Carolyn's father is vice president of a steel company, figures to be the family breadwinner regardless of what critics or public think of Carolyn.

Greased Pigs, Politicos On Program at Test Farm

Reflector Bureau, By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Politicians will compete with greased pigs, mules and rolling pins for interest and attention of the public and the annual field day, Sept. 14, of the Coastal Plain Test Farm at Willard.

The politicians are not on the official program. The pigs and the pins are. But inasmuch as there are always from seven to ten thousand persons at the Field Day, it's a double certainty that the politicians are not going to lose such an opportunity to mix and mingle, shake hands and build fences. So far none of the principals in the undeclared gubernatorial war has officially said he expects to be among those present; but it's ten or more to one that there will be no less than half a dozen of them trying to be as much in evidence as possible.

On the pig, pin and mule side, however, the announced program shows there will be contests involving each of the three. A rolling pin contest for women, a greased pig contest for 4-H club boys and a horse-mule pulling contest are listed.

On the formal speaking side there will be talks, one sort or another from F. H. Barrett, state administrator of the Soil Conservation Service; Dr. Clarence Fox, editor of the Progressive Farmer; R. H. Gordon, regional director of the Farm Security Administration; Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott; Dr. I. E. Miles, director of the soil testing division, State Department of Agriculture; Dean I. O. Schaub, acting director of the N. C. Experiment Station.

Mrs. Estelle T. Smith, district home demonstration agent, will preside over the women's program.

Herring's Hurling Calibre Defeats Greenville 6-2

EAGLE HITTING IS A BIG HELP

Christopher Drives In Greenies' Only Singleton

By JAMES WHITFIELD (Staff Writer)

Kinston, Sept. 4.—Bill Herring, popular Kinston skipper, exercised every ounce of his enviable pitching calibre here tonight while his proteges jumped on two Greenville hurlers for a dozen safeties and a 6-1 victory.

Fat Malone started on the mound for the Greenies with his usual acuity of confidence, but some of his punch dwindled in the third when the Lenoir county boys staged a three-run party for a lead they never relinquished.

A two-run spurge in the fourth inning, which sent Pat Malone down the dreaded trail that lead to the showers, was produced through the hurling of Morris Williamson. However, Willson took over the hurling assignment after Malone had yielded two consecutive safeties and a free ticket. Dot Morris, the first batter to face Willson, sent a single to left scoring Irving Dickens and Ralph Simpson.

Kinston's big third inning was featured by errors. Dickens reached second on Rusty McCall's error, which probably resulted from the ill-lighted park here, and scored as Morris reached second on Red Christopher's bad throw to first base. A wild pitch advanced Morris to third and he scored on Roy Kennedy's infield r.p. Kennedy scored on George Kapura's double.

Greenville equalled Kinston's first inning run in the eighth when Morris Willson, who did a commendable job as relief hurler, poled a powerful blow to the left field zone that was good for two bases and scored on Red Christopher's timely single to centerfield. Greenville has scored two runs in 19 straight innings and Christopher batted in both.

Dickens drew a walk to set the stage for the Eagles' first single in the opening frame. He advanced to third on Earl Hahn's single to right and scored when Morris reached first on a fielder's choice.

Tonight's defeat caused Kinston and Greenville to divide a two-game series in the semi-finals, which opened at Greenville Sunday, but Manager Wilson, and his boys lost fighting. Rusty McCall was caught at second in an attempted steal in the second inning and Grace Allen went out at second in the third on a similar attempt.

Dickens turned in the Eagles' longest drive of the game in the sixth inning when he tripled to right field and was the feature attraction in a well-executed double play in the first frame. Alex Daniels hit to short and Dickens had to fall on the ground to make the play, but he caught Black, who had crached first on a fielder's choice at second, and George Kapura's powerful right arm put Daniels out at first.

Kapura paced the Kinston hitting attack with three hits in four official turns. Dickens, Simpson and Morris collected two hits apiece in four trips.

Christopher featured for Greenville. He got two hits in three trips and batted in the Greenville singleton.

Kinston and Greenville will clash in the Guy Smith stadium in Pitt County Tuesday night in a game starting promptly at 8 o'clock.

May Hurls 4-0 Win for Dairy Over Royal Crown

Special Guest

Ray Goodmon, president of the Coastal Plain League, today advised D. C. Moore, Jr., secretary of the Greenville baseball club, that he would be on hand tonight to witness the third game of the Greenville-Kinston semi-finals to be played in the Guy Smith stadium at 8 o'clock.

President Goodmon also advised that attendance for the Greenville game Sunday, which opened after-season play, was larger than that of the other opener. Sunday's attendance was also larger than that of the game played in Kinston last night.

Winners Leads, However, One Game to Two

Reynolds May, hurler for the Carolina Dairy, was "right" last night and the Royal Crown softball team was held scoreless as the dairy won the third game of the series after having dropped the first two.

May allowed only four hits, so well scattered that the bottlers never were able to get their first marker.

The dairymen got off to a fast start, making three runs in the initial frame on three hits and a walk. The other tally of the evening came in the second inning and the scoring was over for the night.

The winners were not able to do much with the hurling of Dave Mosier, who allowed only seven safeties, one of which was a double by May. Harvey and Barrett each got two for three to lead at the plate.

MARTINS EVEN UP BIG SERIES

Swain Hurls His 22nd Triumph of Current Season

Williamston, Sept. 4.—Williamston's dizzy battle to obtain a berth in the finals produced a ray of hope tonight as Red O'Malley and his associates triumphed, 6-2, over Mule Shirely's Goldsboro Gold Bugs.

When the Martins opened semi-finals play with the Gold Bugs in Wayne county Sunday they were defeated and tonight's doings evened the series for both teams. Kinston and Greenville have also divided the two-game start.

Red Swain performed on the hill for the winners and turned in his twenty-second win of the season, but it was only after Williamston had staged a five-run party in the fifth after trailing, 2-0, over the stretch.

A single by Arnette, a triple by Peele and a two-base blow by Mullinax accounted for the Goldsboro runs.

Solly Myers acquired a personal dislike for Marvin Gramly's close throws in the eighth, so he threw his bat out on the diamond. However, the umpire threw his forefinger in the direction of the show-ers and halted the playing activities of both players.

Although he couldn't play any more, Myers was the top batter. He got three hits in four turns.

AMAZING FELLER:

By The AP Feature Service

Three years ago, a husky, naive country boy from Iowa, jumped from the cornfields to the major leagues and started baseball with the speed with which he could throw a ball. Bob Feller broke the American League strikeout record in his first year and a brilliant future was forecast for him. During the past two years, Feller hardly fulfilled those extravagant promises, but this season the youngster, a veteran at 20, shapes up as perhaps the most valuable pitcher in the game. He appears likely to win 25 games. The high spot of his still-young career came a few weeks ago when he dominated the All-Star game with his masterful hurling. Last season, the Indians' young fire-baller struck out 240 to lead both leagues. He was wild, though, walking 208. He's picked up a lot of pointers in his three years' experience.

- Feller learned to pitch by throwing to his dad behind the barn on their Van Meter, Ia., farm. He practiced every day. Bob was a crack sandlot tosser early in his teens, a major leaguer with Cleveland at 17. He struck out 8 of the first 9 men to face him in the same year fanned 17 Athletics for an American League record.

- His arm went bad in his second year. There was talk that he was just a flash-in-the-pan. But the ailing wing came around. Last year he won 17, lost 7; struck out 13 for a single game big league record.

- This is the sturdy right arm that has made Feller a star twirler. Farm chores gave him a strong body. The 190-pound Bashful Bob doesn't drink or smoke, gets $20,000 salary from the Cleveland Indians.

- Feller grips the ball like this for his fast one. His speed has largely accounted for the three one-hit games he has pitched, against St. Louis in 1938 and Boston and Detroit this year. A year ago Feller walked almost as many men as he struck out. This season he has had better control. In 200 innings he has fanned 173 and walked 102. At his present rate Feller is likely to again lead major league pitchers in strikeouts. Another reason for his increased effectiveness this year is his acquisition of a better curve.

- Feller stretches before the pitch and glances toward first base. Base runners used to run wild when Feller pitched, but Bob has learned how to toss quickly to the bag and hold the runners pretty close to the base.

'IT'S ROTTEN!'

When a man is hired for a task that should bring profit to the employer, has already been paid to perform the duty, and then the employer fires him on the eve of possible successful completion of the task, giving as the reason that he (the employer) takes such action to save money, it just doesn't make sense. Yet this is just what happened when the County Board of Commissioners yesterday fired Jesse A. Jones, attorney, who had been employed and already paid to prosecute the county's suits against former Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst for recovery of approximately $15,000 alleged to be due the county.

The action against Whitehurst was the result of investigations brought about during the administration of the county's affairs by the Board of Commissioners who were retired from office the first of last December. When the newly elected board came into office, one of their first acts was to employ S. O. Worthington as county attorney to advise the board in legal matters pertaining to the county's business. Prior to his appointment as county attorney, Worthington had been counsel in the bringing of various suits and restraining orders against the old board in efforts to put a stop to the Whitehurst case, and upon acceptance of appointment as county legal advisor one of his first steps was an effort to have the board compromise the alleged shortage of approximately $15,000 for around $1,300. At the time of his recommendation to the board only four members were present, two of whom voted for the compromise, one against, and the fourth not voting. Chairman J. N. Williams declared that the compromise move had failed because a majority of the board members did not vote for the measure.

The next step in efforts to compromise the case was a hearing before Clerk of Court J. F. Harrington, in which the county attorney is said to have advised that the commissioners had agreed to a compromise and the clerk of court rendered a judgment against White-hurst for $1,095 to close the case.

It was later brought out that neither Jesse A. Jones nor F. C. Harding, attorneys originally employed to prosecute the case, had been advised of any such hearing, and three of the commissioners denied they had been informed of the hearing or that they had given their consent for any such judgment.

The next move was that of the original prosecutors, when Jones filed an appeal from the action taken by the clerk and the matter was to have been heard before Judge R. Hunt Parker here last week. It was Worthington's next move, and he is understood to have had the matter deferred until next week, to be heard on the 11th. Then came yesterday's board meeting, when three members of the board, W. O. Jolly, G. H. Pittman and G. S. Porter, voted to fire Jones to remove him from the case, despite the fact that Jones had already been paid for his services, and stated openly that he was not demanding further pay from the county and would gladly continue to prosecute the case to a final conclusion.

In commenting on the board's action yesterday afternoon, Chairman Noah Williams said:

"I am not for persecuting anybody, but I feel that such action by the board is the wrong way to settle this matter. I believe it is up to the courts to hear the entire case on its merits and the reports of the auditors, and render their verdict accordingly. If Sheriff Whitehurst does not owe the county anything he should not have to pay anything, but on the other hand, if he does owe the county the $15,000 that he is said to owe, or any other amount, for that matter, he should be required to pay the amount he owes when the court decides. I do not feel that the board is rendering its duty to the citizens of the county when it takes such action entirely on the advice of an attorney who is known to have had interests in the other side of the case prior to becoming a county employee."

We feel that Chairman Williams has certainly taken the right stand in this matter and one that will have the approval of the great majority of the people of Pitt County. No one wants to see anybody persecuted, but we are sure that settlement of the long drawn out case in this matter is far from regular and will leave within the minds of the people of this county the feeling something is powerfully rotten in the handling of our county's affairs.

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Grandiose gestures of Republican leaders in North Carolina—such, for instance, as Jake Newell and Charlie Jonas—might fool a few unthinking folks into a belief that the G.O.P. big wigs actually entertain ideas about controlling North Carolina's legislature in 1941, or at some other future date.

A few facts from the past, however, will give some indication of how much solid basis there is for such thoughts.

icans have never recovered from the nearest they have come in the last fifteen years to having real strength in the General Assembly.

That was in 1929, when they had 35 Representatives and a dozen Senators as the result of the Al Smith debacle in Tar Heels. Previously they had sent 16 to the House in 1927 and 20 in 1925; but when 1931 rolled around the G.O.P. touched rock bottom to date in their legislative representation—a meagre five in the House, two in the Senate.

Since then they have done practically no better, with two their constant Senate quota and 13 their absolute tops in the House.

Looking over the legislative records since 1925, and including the Assembly of that year, the record is cited.

In 1925, the Republicans had three Senators, as they carried the 24th (Davie, Wilkes, Yadkin); 30th (Avery, Madison, Mitchell, Yancey); and 33rd (Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Macon and Swain).

In the House there were 20 "Radicals" from Alexander, Avery, Brunswick, Catawba, Cherokee, Clay, Davie, Graham, Henderson, Johnston, 2 Lincoln, Madison, Mitchell, Randolph, Sampson, Swain, Watauga, Wilkes, Yadkin.

Came 1927 and the Republicans held their own in the Senate, again carrying 24th, 30th and 33rd districts; but they had dropped to 16 Representatives, from Catawba, Cherokee, Clay, Davie, Graham, Henderson, Jackson, Lincoln, Macon, McDowell, Mitchell, Stokes, Swain, Wilkes, Yadkin and Yancey.

There was a real G.O.P. bloc in the 1929 Assembly, with almost a third of the House and a quarter of the Senate.

In the upper chamber there were Republicans from the Eighth (Johnston and Wayne), two from the 17th (Guilford and Rockingham), 23rd (Stokes and Surry), 24th, two from the 25th (Catawba, Iredell and Lincoln); 26th (Gaston); 30th, 31st (Buncombe) and 33rd.

In the House the 35 Republicans came from Avery, Brunswick, Buncombe, 2, Burks, Carteret, Catawba, Cherokee, Clay, Davidson, Davie, Gaston, 2, Graham, Guilford, Harpeth, Henderson, Jackson, Johnston, 2, Lincoln, Madison, Mitchell, Randolph, Rockingham, 2, Rowan, 2, Sampson, Stokes, Surry, Swain, Transylvania, Wilkes and Yadkin.

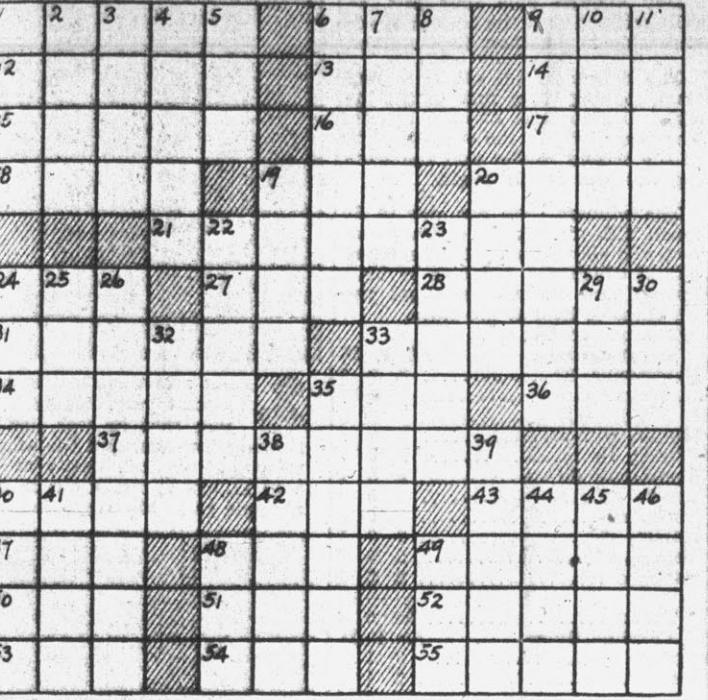

The 1933 Assembly had the 24th and 30th district Republicans in the Senate, as usual, and representatives of the minority party from Avery, Clay, Davie, Madison, Mitchell, Montgomery, Wilkes and Yadkin in the House.

Hollywood.—It's a little snow-white bungalow with baby-blue window shutters and you'd expect Shirley Temple to live there.

Then talk. Movie villains, especially the horror men, are charming people. That goes for Karloff, for Peter Lorre, for Lionel. They do not always tend their flowers personally, but almost invariably they love their children and dogs.

From all this it can be seen what an earthshaking upset would be needed to turn control of the North Carolina legislature over to the Republicans. Of course there have been miracles in the past, and there may be in the future—but that's what it would take. And so the Messrs. Newell, Jonas, et als, had best be taken with a barrel or so of salt.

grand piano fills one-third of the room. Bela has just done what every actor wants to do. He has worked with Garbo. A small role in "Ninotchka." Small, but important to him. This, he says, may be the role that will restore him to his lost past. He shares the scenes alone with Garbo. He plays a straight character, not a bogeyman. Producers, directors, will see the Garbo picture because they will see Garbo. Lugosi hopes also they will see Lugosi, playing straight.

Then a little theater in town tried an experiment. A full bill of horror films, "Frankenstein" and "Dracula" together. Lines waited outside to get in, night after night. The horror vogue swept the country. Universal promptly called Karloff and Lugosi for "The Son of Frankenstein." Lugosi's small role was expanded to equal Karloff's. After that Lugosi had "come back." was in demand again.

"The baby came," says Bela. "Just before that picture. There is a Hungarian proverb which applies: 'When the Lord gives a lamb, he provides a pasture for it.'"

After A Man's Heart

YESTERDAY: Buff Carroll, the daughter of a famous cartoonist, always thought her impractical parents couldn't get along without her. She is shocked to overhear them planning to go on a motor trip by themselves, to put her on her own.

Chapter Two The Ranch

BUFF was packing when her mother came to say they were going down to dinner.

"Already?" Eleanor's eyes widened. "You aren't starting for the ranch tomorrow, Buff dear?"

"Buff kept her back to the light. She had bathed and powdered her eyes, she had run a wet comb through her mop of bright gold hair. She hoped she looked as usual but there was no sense taking chances. A frown of displeasure knitted her brows at the note of hoarseness she heard in her own voice.

"Might as well! This gorgeous weather—!" She stopped, began again. "I may have to stay on longer than a week, Eleanor. We left things in a good deal of a mess, you know; and Lance told Mrs. Webb not to touch anything of his, even to dust it. You'll be—"

"What are you doing here?" yelled the strange young man.

was tired and ravenously hungry. A glance at her wrist showed it to lack a few moments of being five o'clock. There would be time for Mrs. Webb to make a pan of the fluffy little biscuits which were so good with wild strawberry jam.

"Can it be that while the cats are away—?" she asked herself. She slid from beneath the wheel and approached the veranda. "H'm! Asleep in Lance's own deck chair. 'Able man, Atkins!'"

"Hallucinations" HIS gaze, growing bewildered, roved from the snow-capped range to her small figure. "Hallucinations," he muttered. "Do tell me I'd have 'em if I didn't pull up. But I have pulled up," he went on aggressively, more to himself than to her. "I've been out here for three of the most confoundedly long days I ever lived through."

She removed the ghillie from her left foot, and rubbed an aching arch.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

PROBLEM Bob, the tow-headed youngster on the curbstone, is a sensitive little boy. Hardest thing in the world for him was to admit to his mother he'd done something wrong. He'd confide in the boy next door. His mother couldn't figure it out. So she got into casual conversation with the boy next door, and decided it was Bob's fear of punishment coupled with a sense of shame that kept him silent.

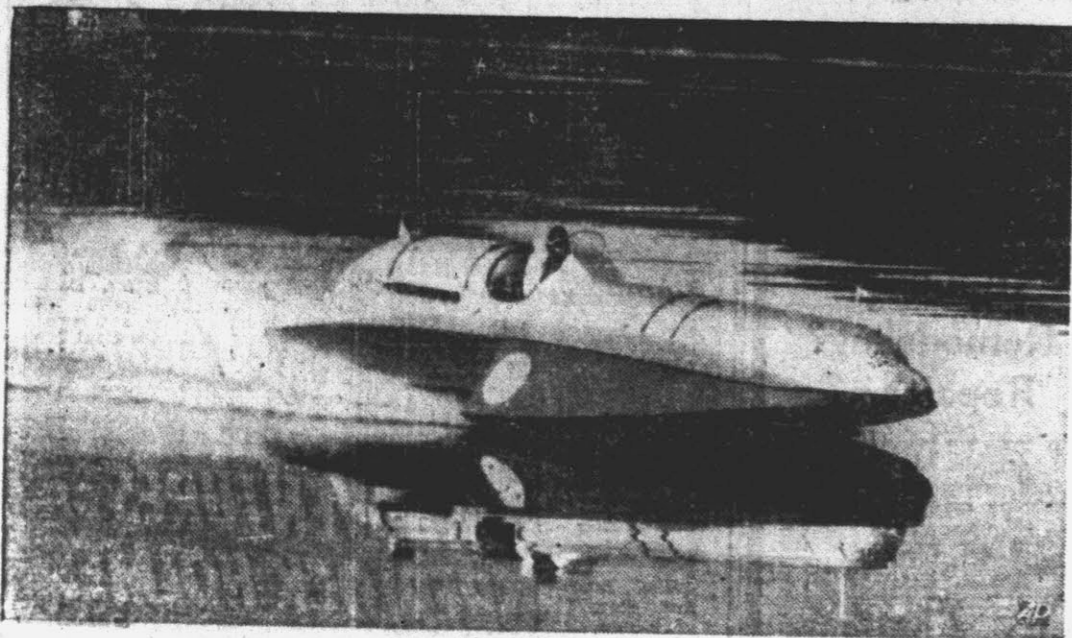

ANSWER Next time, when Bob's baseball broke a neighbor's window, explained there wasn't any punishment forthcoming, but the important thing was for him to admit guilt. Bob's fears were allayed—and once the confession had come out, he found he felt a lot better because he'd gotten it off his conscience. His mother thinks it will be easier for both of them from now on.

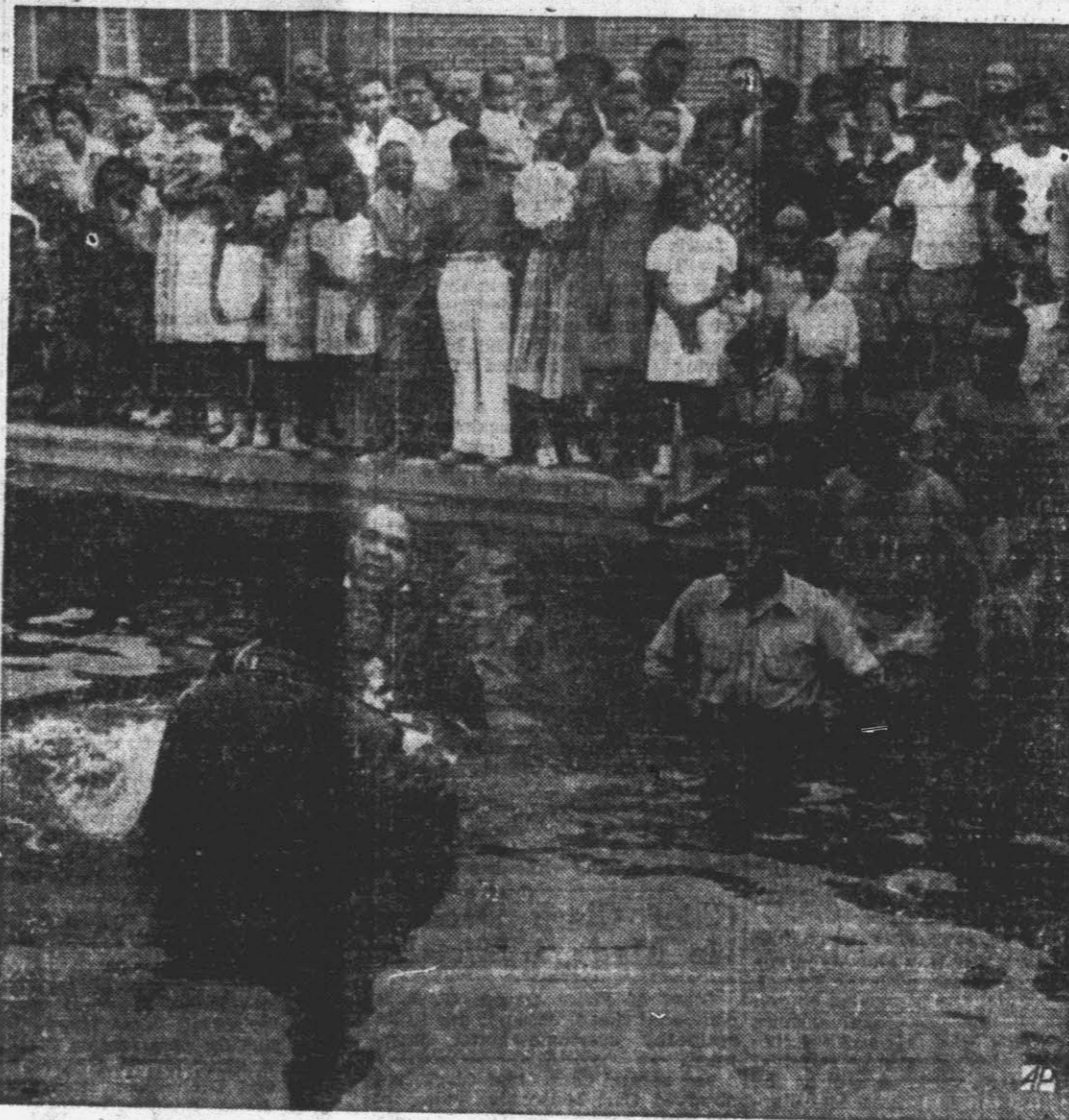

These three Texas girls were reported aboard the British liner Atheria which was sunk by a torpedo off the coast of Scotland en route from Liverpool to Canada. Left to right: Miss Betty Jane Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stewart of Dallas; Miss Katherine Underwood, daughter of Arch Underwood, wealthy oil man of Dallas and Akins, Texas; Miss Barbara Hull, formerly of Dallas, now of St. Louis. She was graduated last June at the University of Texas.

TWO OF A KIND—Tops among clay target marksmen are Jack Lindsay (right), of Okmulgee, Okla., the 1938 skeet king who cracked 200 in a row to top Class AA at the Grand American Trapshoot in Vandalia, Ohio; and E. A. King, president of the Amateur Trapshooting association, who broke 200 straight to win the Class A title. King is from Wichita Falls, Tex.

THE CAMPBELL'S A-COMIN—Over the glassy smooth waters of Lake Coniston, England, skims Sir Malcolm Campbell in the Bluebird II, in which he shattered existing speed records of water. He made an average of 141.74 m.p.h. for two trips along a measured mile, and hopes for 150 m.p.h. The Bluebird's engine is one used seven years ago by the late Sir Henry Scgrave.

SCHOOL POOL SERVES FOR BAPTISM—Single file into the pool of a Washington, D. C., school moved 175 Negro Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees for immersion, while friends watched from the pool edge. Credit for their conversion has been given Capt. William E. Marsh, who took an active part in the baptisms, along with the Rev. J. E. Morris of Washington.

Hitler Leaves For Eastern War Front!

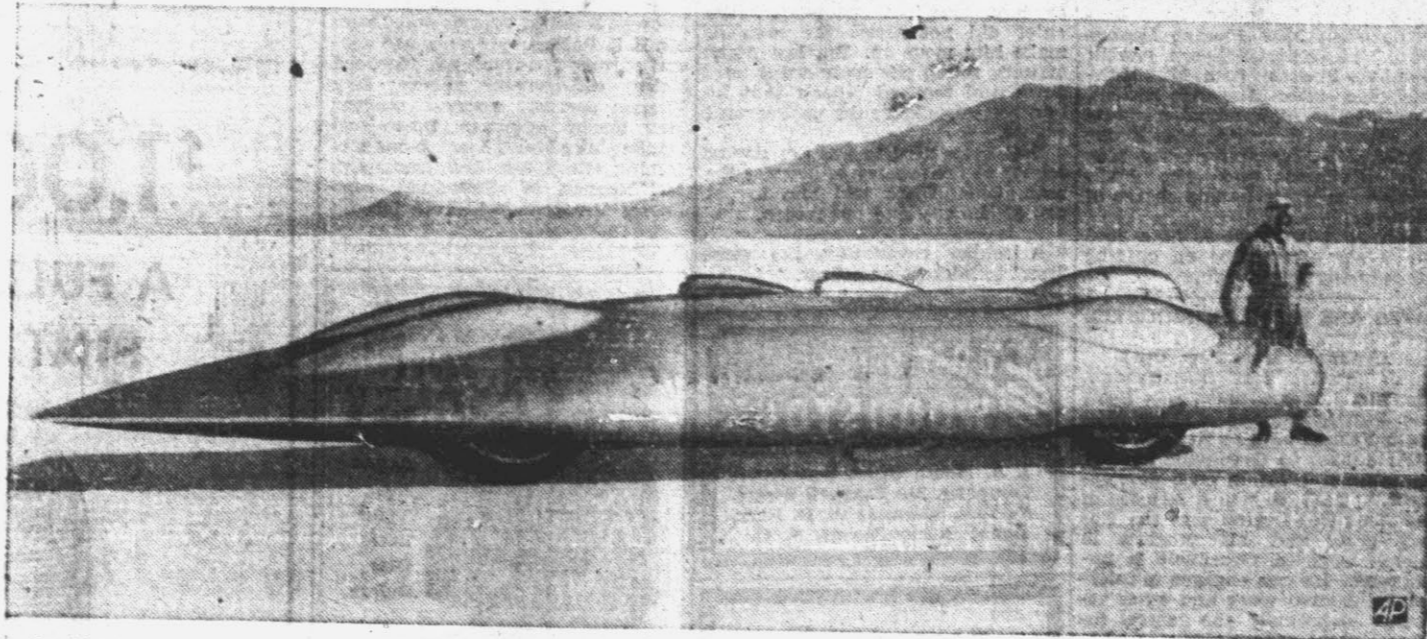

This radiograph from Berlin shows Nazi Dictator Adolf Hitler signing his proclamation to Germany's eastern army announcing his intention of leaving Sunday, September 3, to join the German forces invading Poland. At the right stands a uniformed aide.

SUCCEEDS BOOTH—Election in London of Gen. George L. Carpenter (above) of Canada as international head of the Salvation Army puts a man in charge of an organization long directed by a woman, Gen. Evangeline Booth, who is retiring.

Gen. Wilhelm Keitel (above), chief of the German army's high command, is a member of the "defense of the realm" cabinet chosen by Adolf Hitler in the midst of the European war scare. Keitel is known as the army's "mystery man."

A SILVERED STREAK STANDS STILL—With this slim stream-lined auto did John R. Cobb, who stands at the car's nose, shatter world speed records on the salt flats at Bonneville, Utah. Cobb, a Londoner, hoisted the land speed record to 369.74 m.p.h. and hopes to go to 400. He also set records for five kilometers, 326.66; for 10 kilometers, 238.01; for 10 miles, 270.35. "I hope ultimately to achieve 400 miles per hour," said Cobb, whose motored giant roared superbly across the saline lake bed to topple speed records.

'I KNOW THE HORRORS OF WAR'—Like Hitler, who wrote that in a message to Daladier, these grim-faced reservists in France know, or soon may know, the horrors of war.

WARNS AGAINST PROPAGANDA—Existence in U. S. of foreign nation's wartime propaganda, designed to mold American opinion, was charged in a report from the E. S. committee (above) probing un-American activities in U.S. Left to right, the committee includes: H. Jerry Voorhis (D.-Cal.), Chairman Martin Dies (D.-Tex.), Noah M. Mason (R.-Ill.), and J. Farnell Thomas (R.-N. J.)

IT LOOKS LIKE A SILO—But appearances are deceiving. It's a tower of reinforced concrete along Germany's Siegfried line on her western frontier, designed to give shelter to 2,000 people. Nazi military spokesmen say it's "invincible." They contend it will withstand any attack from the sea.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Prices of stocks and commodities shot skyward today in the fastest war boom buying upsurge in the history of the exchange.

The rush for heavy industrial shares that might benefit from extensive purchases of materials by England and France, as well as neutral nations, put quotations up to 19 points for leaders. There were one or two wide movers of around 25.

Closing quotations were under the best.

The turnover of about 6,000,000 shares was one of the biggest since July 1, 1933.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures (old) opened 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 higher today, responding to heavy war buying orders. American stocks abroad were seen to be exceedingly low and in great demand.

Active buying came from Bombay, Liverpool, the continent and Wall Street accounts, meeting small offerings.

The prices slid off over 30 points from early highs, the list still showing net gains of 30 to 35 points later in the morning.

The mid-day market was up 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 points and all active deliveries except October were at the day's best levels.

Futures closed 38 to 52 higher. Middling spot, 9.25, up 35.

Grifton School Opens For the 1939-40 Term

The 1939-1940 term of the Grifton school got under way Monday morning at 8:45 o'clock, with the Rev. G. B. Staring of the Methodist church conducting the devotional exercise and giving a brief talk and welcome to the faculty who have returned for the year's work, as well as the new members. Following Mr. Staring, Principal H. C. Oglesby outlined the work and some of the objectives of the year, the major one being obtaining a new playground.

He also introduced the members of the faculty, Miss Edna Laws, first; Miss Mildred Stephenson, second and high first; Miss Lucy Barrow, second; Miss Pauline Hooker, third; Miss Bertha Johnson, fourth; Miss Lucy Shearin, fifth, Miss Estlin Hardee, sixth; Miss Sara Nichols, seventh. The high school members are Miss Glenn Smith, Miss Elaine Bentley, Miss Josephine Essey, Miss Billy Williams and Mr. Fodie Hodges, the latter having charge of athletics.

This term promises to be a good one if the attendance on opening day is in any way a sign.

WRITES ARE SET FOR MINISTER

N. J. Besides Mrs. Fleischmann, surviving are two daughters, Betty and Jean Marie, and a sister, Miss Mark Fleischmann of Newark, N. J. After coming to Greenville he took an active interest in civic development, in that he was a member of the American Legion and the Rotary Club, and his progress in church work in Greenville is unsurpassed. He was engaged in interdenominational work and other activities to promote the general interests of the community.

Not only was the Rev. Mr. Fleischmann a former president of the Greenville Rotary Club, but he was also the only honorary member of the club. All local Rotarians will attend the final rites in body.

The Rev. Mr. Fleischmann leaves behind him a host of friends in all religious and social groups, by whom he was greatly loved for his outstanding Christian character.

He was a member of one of the oldest and most influential Baptist churches in America. His grandfather, the Rev. Conrad Anton Fleischmann, came to America as a missionary to the German settlers and organized the first German Baptist church in America and also founded the first German Baptist church in the United States. The Rev. Conrad Fleischmann organized Clinton Hill Baptist Church at Newark, N. J., and a Baptist church in Philadelphia, which later became known as the Fleischmann Memorial Baptist Church.

T. K. Fountain Family Making Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore K. Fountain and son, Theodore K. Fountain, Jr., have moved to Greenville from Raleigh and are making their home on 411 West Third street.

Fountain, a native of Pitt county, but a resident of Raleigh for the past 22 years, will open offices for the practice of law in the near future. He will also manage his farms in the county.

Fountain, former commissioner of safety, today declared, "I'm still interested in the development of safety," an indication that he probably would help local movements in safety development.

Chief Clark Decides He Made a Mistake

Chief of Police George Clark is convinced that it does not pay to let sympathy overcome better judgment.

For several days Chief Clark had observed Carl McDonald, white, on the street begging, contrary to a city ordinance. The man had lost both legs and had to resort to artificial limbs. The officer admitted that he felt sorry for the man and "did not have the heart to interfere with his method of securing a little change to buy food." Consequently, the chief did not arrest the man or make him move on. But last night officers found the man drunk and down and received reports that he had been drunk for the past several nights.

Seeing no need to put the city or county to the expense of keeping the man, Chief Clark told him to get out of the city and not return.

A soldier never uses the word "you" to address an officer.
