Flue Cured Tobacco Referendum Set For October 5th

HELP PLANNED FOR 1939 CROP

Arrangements "Practically Completed" For Use of Imperial Facilities and Commodity Credit Corporation Funds To Help Dispose of this year's Crop if Control Adopted

Raleigh, Sept. 25.—(AP) J. B. Hutson, assistant administrator of the Federal Agricultural Adjustment Administration, announced this afternoon that flue-cured tobacco farmers would vote October 5 on limiting 1940 production to about 660,000,000 pounds.

The date and quota were announced to 339 tobacco warehouses from Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida shortly after the warehousemen had pledged unanimous support to control.

Limitation of the 1940 crop would be secured by allotting acreage estimated to yield not more than 660,000,000 pounds. Each tobacco grower would be allowed to sell all the tobacco produced on the allotted acreage.

Hutson had earlier said that "plans have been practically completed" to use facilities of the Imperial Tobacco Company and fund of the Commodity Credit Corporation to aid farmers in disposing of their record billion pound 1939 crop if they approve control for next year.

Before the warehousemen's meeting Hutson conferred with the executive committee of the North Carolina Bankers Association and the committee and association officers adopted a resolution approving control for the 1940 crop.

A group of Eastern North Carolina business men also met to discuss the situation.

A conference of representatives from each group was arranged for this afternoon with Governor Hoy.

The plan to aid farmers with their 1939 crop has been discussed with the Imperial company, Hutson said, and the firm would make purchases and process the weed just as it does for its own account, but title would remain with the Commodity Credit Corporation. The Imperial company would be given an option to take the tobacco later for its own account.

Tobacco prices dropped after the Imperial and other British companies stopped buying when war started in Europe. Warehouses were closed in mid-September and details are now being worked out for the referendum.

Hutson pointed out that British buyers normally take one-third of the flue-cured crop and because the purchases are of the higher grade they usually pay farmers approximately one-half of all the money received for flue-cured tobacco.

"The withdrawal of the British buyers," Hutson said, "created a serious and immediate emergency, but even before their withdrawal the surplus of more than 200,000,000 pounds from the billion pound 1939 crop had already resulted in much lower prices than for the past several years.

The average price for the first six weeks of sales this year was approximately 14.5 cents a pound as contrasted with 22.3 cents a pound for the 1938 crop. The 1939 crop of one billion pounds compares with a consumption level of between 750,000,000 and 800,000,000 pounds.

"In our efforts to be of assistance in this situation we have sought the advice of farmers, bankers, merchants and business men throughout the flue-cured belt. These men have been unanimous in the view that it would be unsound business for the government to attempt to support prices unless farmers cooperate to regulate the quantity of tobacco marketed."

"In the referendum to be held on the question of marketing quotas, farmers will, in effect, decide the acreage of tobacco that will be marketed in 1940. This decision will have an important effect on the plans for marketing the remainder of the 1939 crop."

Senate Committee Gets Revised Neutrality Bill Embodying Aims of FDR

Draft Also Provides Powerful Congressional Checks on Discretion of Chief Executive; Two Provisions Curtailing Authority Agreed Upon By Democrats and President

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A neutrality bill carrying out President Roosevelt's recommendations for repeal of the arms embargo, but providing powerful congressional checks on executive discretion was submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations committee today.

A group of committee Democrats, meeting in closed session for more than five hours yesterday, decided to include two provisions to curtail presidential authority.

Committee members said they were designed to win support from opposition senators, some of whom have declared a "hell to breakfast" fight against removal of the embargo.

The first provision, it was learned, would permit Congress to invoke the neutrality law by a majority vote of both houses. The existing neutrality statute can be invoked only by the President.

The second would require the Munitions Control Board to advise Congress every six months as to the amount of war materials purchased by belligerents, the amount of credit extended by American companies and the total credits received by individual foreign governments and companies. The board now reports annually on purchases of war materials.

The new bill was said authoritatively to be acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt. It drew praise from Senator George (D-Ga.) and Van Nuys (D-Ind.), committee members who have been frequent administration critics on domestic issues.

Final Rites Held For Pitt Resident

J. Lee Wilkerson, 78, of Bell Arthur, died at his home late Saturday afternoon following three weeks of critical illness.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the Rev. E. C. Soper, pastor of the Bell Arthur Methodist Church. Burial was in Farmville cemetery.

Mr. Wilkerson was born in Granville county. He was married to Miss Laura Russell of Person county, who died in 1896.

Surviving this union are W. F. Wilkerson, Pittsburg; George W. Wilkerson, Wilson; Mrs. S. L. Miles, Farmington, Ind.; Mrs. I. W. Blawie, Chapel Hill, and Mrs. J. T. Smith of Snow Hill.

After the death of the first wife Mr. Wilkerson moved to Pitt county in 1906 and was married to Miss Rees Erwin of Bell Arthur. Of this marriage surviving are two sons and one daughter, John Erwin Wilkerson of Farmville, James P. Wilkerson of the home and Mrs. A. W. Carter, Jr., of the home; one brother, W. W. Wilkerson of Person; 17 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Active neighbors were Mack Erwin, Lawrence White, J. D. Jones, L. H. Nichols, Leo Askew and A. I. Joyner.

Pitt Man Paroled. The offices of Governor Hoy today announced the parole of R. N. Sutton, given 19 months in Pitt Superior court last October on charges of giving worthless checks.

Liquor Haul. Two hundred gallons of bootleg liquor was confiscated, a 100-gallon capacity steam still was destroyed and a white man, Snede Mills, was taken in custody shortly before noon today by Pitt county ABC officers.

TESTIMONY ON BUND OFFERED

Witness says Nazi Reserve Maintained In U. S.

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A former member of the German Reichstag said today the German-American Bund sought to provide a Nazi reserve here which Hitler could tap "for any kind of assistance."

Gerhart Seger, now editor of the New York German-American weekly, made the statement to the Dies committee while testifying that the bund was an official representative of Germany in this country.

He told the committee the Nazi party regarded all German organizations abroad as sources "from which it can draw for any kind of activity it would like to have."

He agreed with Chairman Dies (D-Texas) of the House inquiry into un-American activities that Germany, "with 100 posts loyal to the Nazi party, would have a potential spy system" in the United States.

In addition, Seger quoted a Nazi paper as saying: "The program of the young German-American is: We want to bring the Germans in the United States, who in past have become alienated from the German fatherland and from the German nation back to the great community of blood and faith of all Germans. To this end, the spiritual regeneration of the Germans after the model of the homeland is necessary."

The committee had decided to transmit to the State and Justice departments testimony which one member said proved that the Communist party and the German-American Bund had violated the registration and espionage acts.

Representative Thomas (R-N. J.) member of the House group, raised the point. "Based on testimony presented to this committee," he said, "there can be no doubt but that the officers and members of the Communist party, U. S. A., and the German-American Bund are violating both acts."

Three Being Held For Pitt Robbery

Ed Powell, Pactolus township young man, was lodged in the county jail today, bringing to three the number charged with breaking, entering and robbery in connection with the theft of canned goods, cigars, etc., from the store of Wiley Lansley, Pactolus township Negro, Tuesday night of last week.

B. T. Jones and Oia Jones were taken in custody last Friday, but officers withheld any information until Powell was "picked up."

The three are alleged to have broken into the Negro's store. Each is being held under bond of $500. All three live in Pactolus township.

City Will Undertake Garnishee of Wages

City tax officials today warned persons owing personal and poll taxes for the years 1937 and 1938 would face garnishee proceedings unless they paid the levies in the near future.

W. L. Patrick, assistant tax collector, declared today that a resolution had been adopted by the Board of Aldermen authorizing such proceedings and advising all persons owing such taxes to call by the tax office or mail a check in the immediate future in order to save embarrassment.

Joe Basmore, Negro, was convicted of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs.

Walter Smith, convicted of drunkenness, was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon condition he leave the city immediately.

German Sources Report British Destroyer Sunk In Nazis Undersea War

FRENCH STRIKE IN NEW AREAS

Troops Advance Under Cover of Artillery Fire

Paris, Sept. 25.—(AP)—French troops struck at German positions in the Haardt mountains today under cover of heavy fire by artillery, which French dispatches said was bombarding main fortifications of Germany's Siegfried line.

The entire Western front sprang to life. Military advisers said shells screamed across the Rhine for the first time since the first two days of the war. The Siegfried and Maginot lines are separated only by the river along the southern half of the German-French frontier.

French troops were hitting at a Haardt mountain road which winds through some of the most rugged terrain of the Western front. A continuation of the Vosges range, the Haardt covers a 20-mile sector between the German towns of Eirmans and Franch Wissembourg.

Apparently the French believed they had found a weak spot in Germany's fortifications where they had depended on rugged country as a protection.

Military dispatches from the Western front reported that French military had begun a direct bombardment of the main fortifications of the German Siegfried line.

Heavy French batteries, the dispatches said, were dropping large calibre shells on the west wall castments in an effort to blast German defenders from their positions in the heavily fortified zone.

Mrs. Maggie Lewis Claimed By Death

Mrs. Maggie Lewis, 59, died this morning at 6 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Emily Smith, at Shelmerville. She had been ill for the past two months.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home of Mrs. Emily Smith, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. J. C. Spry, pastor of the Holiness Church of Greenville. Burial will follow in the family cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Lewis was a member of Pleasant Hill Free Will Baptist Church of Shelmerville.

She was born in Pitt county and spent her entire life here. She was a daughter of the late Furnie and Phyllis Hudson Laughinghouse.

Surviving are her husband, D. L. Lewis; two sons, J. A. of Greenville and Odie Lewis of Grimesland; two sisters, Mrs. Victoria Adams and Mrs. Emily Smith of Shelmerville.

Active pallbearers will be Rufus Sedcock, Jimmie Adams, Thad Gray, Amos Haddock, Claude Gray Haddock and Roy Gaskins.

Mission Is Started At Catholic Church

Sunday evening the mission in St. Peter's Church was opened with a good attendance of parishioners. The sermon, "Jesus Christ, True God and True Man," was preached by the Rev. Father Ambrose Smith, O.P., of New Orleans.

Besides the doctrinal sermons of the missionary, there will be an explanation each evening of the Rosary, its History and Usage. An open discussion meeting will be held in the church each evening at 7 o'clock.

Berlin Also Reports Eight French Planes Shot Down During Air Fighting on Western Front; German Leaders Said to Be Preparing for Long War Against Allies

Berlin, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Sinking of a British destroyer by a German submarine was announced in an official communique today as German military leaders were reported preparing themselves for prolonged war on the Western front.

The communique did not identify the destroyer and gave no details of the sinking, but declared maritime warfare was "yielding good results."

The same announcement said eight French war planes had been shot down during an air fight in the west, where, it added, "there had been reconnoitering activity and artillery activity on both sides" at various undisclosed posts.

Circles close to the high command pointed with pride to the reported destruction of another British war vessel. They said this feat coupled with the sinking of the British aircraft carrier Courageous last week, had emphasized the effectiveness of Germany's undersea warfare.

Authorities said they had no further details of the sinking of a British destroyer by a submarine. They said a description would have to await the return of the submarine crew.

Adolf Hitler generally was expected to come back to Berlin tomorrow from the Eastern front for the state funeral for Colonel General Baron Werner von Fritsch, former commander-in-chief of the German army, who was killed in action before Warsaw last Friday.

(Reports reaching Paris from the Western front said Hitler was in that area Saturday.)

Deadline Reached On Slot Machines

With the deadline for the removal of all slot machines from public places in Pitt county having expired Saturday night, both Chief of Police George Clark and Sheriff J. Knott Proctor said today they believed the devices had disappeared almost completely.

The deadline was set Saturday, Sept. 16, by Judge J. Paul Frizzelle in Snow Hill, in setting aside a temporary injunction restraining the two local officers and their subordinates from interfering with the operation of the slot machines.

Chief Clark said he had not seen any of the machines in the city since the deadline passed and Sheriff Proctor stated that he had been out of the city on business and had not made a thorough check, but added he had not seen or heard of any of the devices being in operation in the county.

Both officers expressed the intention of "cracking down" on any of the devices found in the city or county.

One Automobile Fire Here Past Week-end

Fire Chief George Gardner today reported his department was called on only once during the week-end. The automobile of K. W. Conway caught fire on Fourteenth street while going up the red hill Saturday night about 7:30 o'clock and considerable damage was caused.

The upholstery was destroyed, the paint was ruined and the wires were burned. The exact cause was not known, but Chief Gardner said it possibly caught fire from defective wires.

Revival Starts Soon At Black Jack Church

A revival service will be held at the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Holiness Church, beginning Monday of next week, with the Rev. J. W. Norrie preaching.

The public is invited to attend the services and worship with members of the church.

Direct Hits Reported on Giant Plant During Raid

Despite Official Denial in Berlin, Dispatches From Switzerland Report Friedrichshafen Works Put Out of Action by Either French or British Bombardment

Romanshorn, Switzerland, Sept. 25.—(AP)—One of Germany's main airplane motor factories was reported to have been put out of action by bombs of French or British planes staging a raid on the Zappelin works at Friedrichshafen, Germany, last night.

(The German high command, a dispatch from Berlin said, flatly denied that there had been any air raid on Friedrichshafen.)

The first alarm in the area of the zeppelin works, five miles across Lake Constance from here, started searchlights sweeping the skies at 8:15 p. m. (2:15 p. m. EST) and a number of anti-aircraft batteries in the German side opened fire. Explosions of a few bombs could be heard here.

The main part of the raid apparently came when a second alarm was sounded at 11 p. m. Military observers on the Swiss side, judging by the dull roar heard here, estimated that at least 30 bombs were dropped by the raiders despite heavy anti-aircraft fire which included tracer bullets.

Reports reaching here said several direct hits on the factory were scored, but because the border was closed these could not be confirmed.

Ready to Conduct Weed Referendum

As a series of township meetings for the purpose of familiarizing farmers with proposals relative to the present tobacco situation and to present information and facts regarding the proposed referendum, County Agent R. R. Bennett said his office and the county committee was ready to conduct the referendum on a moment's notice.

The annual state-wide county agents conference has been indefinitely postponed so that the agents can remain at their offices, ready to start work at any hour.

Although no date has been set for the referendum, it is expected to be called for some time between September 30 and October 7, next week.

Meetings to explain the tobacco situation and discuss the forthcoming referendum are being held this week and the first of next in each township in the county.

Following today's meetings at Beaver Dam and Falkland, sessions are scheduled tomorrow as follows: Fountain high school, 2:30 p. m., and Pactolus high school at 2 p. m.

The Greenville meeting will be held in the Agricultural building next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

TOUGH DRILLS IN ECTC CAMP

Open Season In Pennsylvania This Saturday

Coaches O. A. Hankner and Gordon Gilbert were putting their East Carolina Teachers College Pirates through tough paces today, even though severe scrimmages will not become a part of the training program until later this week.

Practices this week are going to be tougher than ever in that the Pirates open their 1939 season with Kutztown Teachers College in Kutztown, Pa., next Saturday. Their opponents will be something hard to tackle and realizing this, the mentors are getting equipped for anything that happens.

Several boys have been placed on the hospital list, but should be ready for action when the bus pulls out of Greenville early Friday morning. Walter Rodgers and Paul Waldrop are nursing knee injuries; Bill Davidson, valuable powerhouse, is doctoring a pulled muscle and Floyd Hinton, outstanding regular of last season, has a slight shoulder injury. These boys were taking it easy in today's practices.

Backfield hopes today were identical to those of two weeks ago when the Pirates first launched their paces. However, the boys are in better shape and display the knack for more punch on the line of fire. Even many of the players of one or two seasons ago are confident that the 1939 edition comprises one of the best backfields that East Carolina Teachers College has ever produced. Plugging shaky loopholes in the line is one of the major tasks confronting the coaches at present. They are making a special study of every ounce of impetus that shines for any linesman and look forward to developing it. Much is still to be done with the line prospects, but it can readily be said that they're showing improvement.

RAMS TO FACE WFC DEACONS

Carolina and Wake Forest Renew Classic Saturday

Chapel Hill, Sept. 25. — The first game of football ever played in North Carolina was between Wake Forest and Carolina, who meet here Saturday in one of the headline contests of the 1939 season, but that first game, played at the State Fair in 1888, was a far cry from the football of today.

There were 15 men on a side, and the game was a rough and tumble affair. The player could advance the ball in any manner possible—run with it, pass in any direction, or kick it on or off the ground. And the ball carrier could be tackled, tripped, pushed, blocked or clipped—from front or rear. A goal was scored by passing the ball through and placing it on the ground behind the goal posts. This counted two points, and which ever team scored the first goal won the game.

Smith Barrett tells the interesting story of the beginning of football in North Carolina in his book "On Carolina's Gridiron."

The University, captained by Bob Bingham, won the first game. But Wake Forest caught on to its opponents' dodges and won the second and the third, and with it the match, 6-4.

No complete lineup of this first game has been preserved. Among those prominent on the University team, however, were Charles S. Mangum, A. H. Patterson, J. M. Morehead, George Graham, George Ransom, J. M. Holmes, and Henry A. Gilliam. The Wake Forest players included W. A. Devin, Carey Dowd, E. W. Sikes, John E. White, Hubert A. Royster and E. Vernon Howell.

Many of these men achieved prominence in later life, and three of the number, Dr. Mangum and the late Drs. Patterson and Howell, became Deans at the University.

Football — two words in those days—had had its start. But this was Association ball and soon gave way to the growing and more scientific game of Rugby.

Trinity College, now Duke University, went the honor the same year of organizing the first Rugby or modern football team in the State. President Cowell, a Yale man, introduced the game at Trinity and served himself as tutor. A team was quickly organized at Chapel Hill to accept Trinity's challenge, and the two met in Raleigh on Thanksgiving Day with Trinity winning 18-0.

Steve Bragaw captained the University team, which was made up of seven "rushers" and four backs, and Johnston led the Trinity eleven. In those days a touchdown counted four points, goal after touchdown two points, and field goals five points, and each half lasted 45 minutes.

The new game captured the student support at once, and after the contest delegates from the University, Trinity and Wake Forest met at the old Yarboro House to organize the "North Carolina Inter-Collegiate Foot Ball Association."

Since that first game at the State Fair in 1888, Carolina and Wake Forest have clashed on the gridiron 36 times and the major test between the two big elevens here Saturday will revive one of the South's oldest rivalries.

College Cures Co-ed Slump With A Poise-onality Course

Miss Spargo won a 1939 posture prize.

(By The AP Feature Service) Austin, Tex.—They go in for princesses on a wholesale basis at the University of Texas. The right to the title is earned in the university's $500,000 physical education plant. Two thousand girls compete each year for the honor of being named "princesses of posture." Nine are chosen. Only five per cent of the girl students have good posture when they enroll in the University of Texas, says Miss Anna Hiss, director of physical education. Therefore the university emphasizes the development of correct posture in its physical education courses, and stages the contest as an added incentive to co-eds.

"The average Betty Co-ed is 17 years old," when she enters college; is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 115 pounds, which is considerably underweight," says Miss Hiss.

"Ninety-five per cent of the girls have co-ed slump. This is a mild sort of S-shape, that tightens a girl's knees; curves her shoulders and throws her head forward. Her feet toe in and she steps in a slightly stiff manner."

The university starts right in to correct the situation.

"First we make a silhouette study of all the girls," says Miss Hiss. "This discloses the particular sort of co-ed slump with which each is afflicted, whether it is round shoulders, knock knees or some other fault."

"Each freshman gets eight weeks of intensive training in fundamentals of body mechanics, rhythm and toning abdominal muscles, to correct her particular faults."

"At the end of eight weeks a second silhouette study is made. Usually the girl has gained a few pounds; usually her shoulders are squarer; her head is where it belongs atop her body and she probably has improved her posture."

STATE HIGH IN GAS TAX PAID

Only Six States where Local Levy Is Exceeded

Raleigh, Sept. 25. — North Carolina stands high up the national list in rate, total amount and percentage of all taxes paid by its motorists through the state's 6 cent per gallon levy on gasoline, a recapitulation of official statistics shows.

There are only six states in which the combined state, federal and local gasoline taxes exceed the seven cents which Tar Heels pay to State and Federal Treasury.

There are only nine states whose citizens have paid more than North Carolinians have coughed up in gas taxes since their inception.

There are only fourteen states which derive a greater percentage of their entire tax receipts from gasoline taxes than does North Carolina.

Getting around to the facts and figures: As to rate North Carolina is topped by Alabama (6 cents state, 3 cents county, 2 cents city, 1 cent Federal for a total of 12 cents), Louisiana (7 cents state, 2 cents city, 1 cent Federal for 10 cent total), Mississippi (6 cents state, 3 cents county and 1 cent Federal for 10 cents), Florida (7 cents state, 1 cent city and 1 cent Federal for 10 cents), Tennessee (7 cents state and 1 cent Federal for 8 cents), and Arkansas (6 1-2 cent state and 1 cent Federal for 7 1-2 cents).

In addition Georgia and New Mexico have total 7 cent taxes equal to North Carolina's.

Lowest tax in the Union is in the District of Columbia which has only a two cent levy in addition to the nationwide cent a gallon tax.

As to total amount paid since beginning of the gasoline tax, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads lists North Carolina's total state gasoline taxes (this does not include the Federal impost) at $209,250,000 from its first imposition through 1938.

Peak year was 1938 with $23,300,000 listed for the calendar period. Detailed figures back as far as 1934 show a steady climb each year—$16,482,000 in 1934, $18,359,000 in 1935, $19,994,000 in 1936, $22,429,000 in 1937 and $23,300,000 in 1938.

Californians, though they have been passed in recent single years by New Yorkers and Pennsylvanians, have been milked for the greatest grand total of gasoline taxes, $492,839,000 in all. Other states which have contributed more than North Carolina are Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Texas.

The entire nation has paid in state taxes on gasoline the staggering sum of $9,924,262,000.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads furnished figures which the Tax Policy League has applied to total revenues to show that in the fiscal year 1938, North Carolina's total revenue of $89,596,637 was composed of almost one-third in gasoline taxes—the exact percentage reaching 32.85 and the amount of tax being $22,855,000 in round figures.

One state got more than half its revenue from gasoline taxes, Nebraska collecting $21,993,532 for a percentage of 50.05.

Other states with higher percentage (than North Carolina) were: Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Mississippi, Nevada, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Wyoming.

WINSTON CHURCHILL MAN OF DETERMINATION

Richmond, Va. — (AP) — Something of the determination of Winston Churchill, Britain's first sea lord, is illustrated by an incident here.

Harry P. Byrd, Jr., whose father was governor of Virginia at the time (1928), relates the incident in the Harrisonburg News Record. Mr. Churchill was guest of honor at a dinner in the governor's mansion. Virginia ham was served.

The British statesman, following the rule of "what you don't see, ask for," said he would like some mustard.

The butler visited the kitchen and found the cupboard bare. The hostess, somewhat dismayed, conveyed the sad news, but added laughingly that a grocery store was just a short distance away if the guest desired to wait. He did.

Harry scampered to the store and shortly afterward the dinner proceeded without further delay, Mr. Churchill showing his liking for Virginia ham—with mustard.

The job of preparing the New York World's Fair was equivalent to building an entirely new city of 800,000 population on an uninhabited spot.

POLICE POWER IS QUESTIONED

Several Traffic Bureaus Fix Tickets Without Trial

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL.

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—There are in numerous cities of North Carolina traffic bureaus which include among their functions collecting money from persons accused of violating parking ordinances.

The usual custom is for the offender to pay a fine of $1 without the necessity of being tried and taxed with the costs. The whole procedure is, ordinarily, a matter of convenience to the violator of the parking laws and there is seldom any complaint about it.

As a matter of law, however, there is a doubt, to say the least, about the constitutionality of this sort of doings.

The Attorney General's office, quite naturally none too quick to stick its neck out when there's doubt about a law, has recently declined to rule on the matter, contenting itself with pointing out that traffic bureaus, specifically the one in Raleigh, are set up under the general police power for the regulation of traffic. The opinion was quick to go a bit further, however, and assert with great clarity that no offender can be compelled to pay a dollar to the Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit Fund unless and until found guilty in a court of law.

"This office would not care to rule on the constitutionality of a traffic bureau to which persons accused of violating parking ordinances may pay a fine of $1 without the necessity of being tried and taxed with the costs," the Attorney General wrote Miss Susie Sharp.

"The Raleigh traffic bureau, however, is set up under the general police power for the regulation of traffic. You would not have to pay a dollar to the Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit Fund, as Sec. 9, Chapter 349, Public Laws of 1937, provides that the dollar shall be paid only where a defendant is found guilty."

Instructions for preparing appetizing school lunches may be obtained without charge from the home demonstration department, State College, Raleigh.

Washington - Yankee ship lines stopped foreign ships from raising prices for returning frantic Americans.

There was considerable growling among foreign lines as American stranded ships were hidden about the fair game for whatever foreigners can shake out of him.

During the World War, returning Yankees had little recourse. There weren't enough American boats. Now there are. It has been an expensive job to build up the American merchant marine but it seems now to warrant the trouble it took.

Since the shipping subsidization program was given new life about three years ago, the passenger and cargo vessels have been ordered. Of these, 19 have been launched. Others are far along in the building.

On completion, they will add more than a million tons to U. S. tonnage. That will double our present deep-sea tonnage. The 18 major lines now subsidized by the government operate 148 vessels of 1,028,000 tons total.

New Large Tankers
Of course that isn't all to which the U. S. would have access in time of war. U. S. deep-sea tonnage is only a minor fraction of the vast coast-wise tonnage, part of which is fully capable of diversion to deep-sea transportation.

In addition to the ships already ordered, bids were opened by the Maritime Commission late in September on an additional 34 vessels, including 12 "national defense" tankers.

These tankers are of 16,000 horsepower, compared to about 4,000 horsepower for the ordinary tanker. Their capacity is 150,000 barrels, about double ordinary, and their speed is 20 knots, which again is almost double that of tank-and-file oil carriers.

By agreement, the cost of extra speed facilities, gun placements, and other essential navy features are paid for by the government. Oil companies pay the balance of the cost of the ships.

The government owns outright about 40 commercial vessels now at sea and has an additional 119 collecting barnacles in various out-of-the-way estuaries. They are forlorn babies of the last war.

Narrow Lanes
As this is written two government-owned vessels leased to private concerns are in the Baltic Sea. Others pass in and out from time to time with permitted cargoes. We are informed at the Maritime Commission that none touch at German ports.

They carry on under exciting circumstances. Entering the Baltic they pass in the vicinity of the British home fleet stations in the North Sea south of Norway. A British pilot steers them through secret courses among the British mine fields laid to block subs.

They have a strip of free passage until they reach the German mine fields in the narrow sea passages between Denmark and Sweden. Then German pilots navigate them through secret clear channels.

They have equally exciting trips through the English channel, where British pilots must steer them. They round the shores of Holland and times really get tough. The British has laid mines to keep German submarines from getting out by themselves to house the criminals

After A Man's Heart
by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY, Tim learned that it was silly, sticky Iris who bought back the land she previously tricked him into buying. Iris tells Tim that Latsaw, not she, was to blame.

Chapter 19

Sweet And Trusting
" THERE'S not another girl?" For an instant the sweetness deserted Iris' voice, and it was merely sharp and a little shrill.

Tim shook his head. "If you mean by that am I in love with another girl, no. Not likely, after the jolt you gave me last summer. There is, however, a mighty good friend of mine—"

"Feminine gender?"
" It's Buff Carroll, the daughter of the cartoonist." In a few words he explained his renting the ranch, his motor accident, Buff's being in Boulder, "to take some courses at the University." Seeing incredulity deepen in her eyes, he went on:

"I give you my word there's never been a word of love-making between us. In fact, we quarreled rather sharply this very afternoon. She's very different from you, Iris. Small and self-reliant, and knowing her own mind on every subject."

"Meaning I'm helpless, and don't know my own mind? I suppose you're right, Tim dear. Most feminine women are more or less dependent upon men. I... you'll never know what courage it took to—to—well, I don't want to keep reminding you of it but after all I did get the money together and buy back your land so you and George... I suppose George hates me, too?"

"Don't talk like that," he begged. "He doesn't hate you, nor do I. I told you—I'm not sure just how I feel. You'll have to give me time to get my bearings. This all came out of a clear sky for me, you know, while all the time you were planning—"

"He stopped abruptly. The thought of Iris, sweet, helpless Iris actually planning to make what restoration she could, brought a lump into his throat.

Somehow he got away without taking her into his arms, though she came close to him when they said goodbye, not actually offering her mouth, but tilting her head in the provocative way he remembered.

Curiously enough his first thought the next morning was of Buff. He had an acute desire to tell her what Iris had done to win for Iris the girl's approval. Probably, he thought, George was out of town for a few days, therefore the news could be told first of all to Buff.

And over one of Webby's most delicious lunches he tried to explain. "She's a trusting, innocent sort of a girl... it's almost made her ill all these months—knowing that she's been the unconscious partner to a fraud, I mean. She—"

Buff, waiting for him to go on and seeing that he was unable to articulate politics, "Yes?" Something in the crisp monosyllable made Tim redder. It was as if a child had called the attention of an adult to a basin of water, proclaiming it the ocean. Amused agreement seemed Buff's sole comment on the story of Iris's nobility.

Nothing could have strengthened Iris' faith more greatly than the moment who was this child of twenty that she could doubt Tim's judgment upon the facts? True, he had been fooled—badly fooled last summer; but much of his self-respect had been restored by Iris's declaration that it was Latsaw, and not she, who had conceived the plot. Tim had barely laid eyes on the other man. It was no discredit to him that he had not been on the defensive against a danger he could not know existed!

"Sick With Misery"
" YES," he said firmly. "And you needn't look like that either. Buff, it's perfectly plain what you're thinking, and Iris tricked me once and will try it again. But I ask you to look at the facts. She did buy back those mines and all the land around them, she has nothing whatever to gain by remaining. Even with the money Nesbit now has for me, I'm not many jumps from actual poverty. On the other hand, it took a lot of moral courage to come back and face the town, after all the papers said about her."

"Did she see the papers?" Buff was slow to know. "I understood she was many miles from Colorado before the scheme in which she was an innocent participant was made public. Also she went with this man Latsaw, didn't she? I'm not a stickler for convention, Tim. You ought to know that! But surely a girl doesn't run away with a man who drove in his car, didn't they?—and not realize it was a trifle unusual, to say the least."

"She was so sick with misery when she found what Latsaw had done, that she didn't stop to think of anything but getting away. She—she wanted to get away, and she left that way. She felt it was the only way to—to help me; just to take herself out of my life and let me think the worst of her."

"So she's back now?"

who are convicted before him. It opens up a field hitherto unexplored in North Carolina, or so far as this column knows anywhere—and there are vast possibilities in it.

Seriously speaking, Judge Warlick seems to have been hoisted on his own petard, so to speak. Catawba county wanted to get rid of its old jail way back last year, and the Judge, willing to help along, contracted to bid $3,500 for it, apparently believing there'd be a higher bid.

But when Sheriff Ray Pitts put the structure on sale Friday nobody topped the judge's offer, and he seems headed for ownership. There is a possibility, of course, that someone will step in with an upset bid, raising the ante at least five per cent within the next ten days.

What Is Neutrality?

By The AP Feature Service
The nation's fiercest warriors—when it comes to wits and words—are pitted against each other in the debate over American neutrality. Nowhere on earth could there be found more adroit and seasoned veterans in the art of oratory. Nowhere are there statesmen better equipped with background facts. And nowhere is a more serious issue being debated.

The question: Shall we change the present neutrality law, which prohibits the shipment of arms to warring nations, to permit sale of guns, ammunition and airplanes to any nation that will pay cash and use its own ships to carry its munitions away? President Roosevelt says the law should be so amended.

President Roosevelt says the law should be so amended.

These Men Stand By The Administration

PONDEROUS in backroom strategy but a siege gun in debate, the Foreign Affairs floor leader heads the President's offensive. He trains his voice on "Wagon Wheels" a ballad of the range His home town is Paducah, Ky. Early in life a suit of store clothes was his sole ambition.

A ONE-TIME Alaska sourdough, the head of the powerful Senate Foreign Affairs committee is the tallest timber in Congress when it comes to foreign policy. He's the trickiest man in debate on the Senate floor, and equally clever behind closed doors. He's 67, a Democrat, and half-made man.

THE "JUDGE" as neighbors in Tennessee call him, served more than a quarter of a century in Congress. Tall, white-haired, slow spoken, he used to bore colleagues with ponderous debate on free trade. The secretary of state, No. 1 advocate of international law as the basis of American neutrality, is 69.

ADVOCATES OF A CHANGE ARGUE: (1) The present law is unneutral and partial because it helps Germany, harms Britain and France. Germany could not pay for and transport arms. Britain and France could. (2) The idea that an arms embargo will keep the U. S. out of war is a delusion because we can still sell to belligerents raw materials like steel from which arms are made. (3) Selling arms would not be into trouble because U. S. ships would not carry them. (4) All suggested changes are consistent with international law, which recognizes the right of neutrals to trade with belligerents.

And These Stand By The Neutrality Law

THE THUNDRBOLT from Idaho is a one-time frontier lawyer who became the nation's greatest "no-man." At 74, this Republican Senator has lost part of the lionine roar that marked his brilliant debate years. But he's still as quick on the trigger as in 1920 when he helped beat Wilson's League of Nations

THE SENATOR from Michigan can stand up and deliver more scathing invectives per second than any other members of Congress. Now 55, this Republican presidential hope launched himself in the push-cart delivery business in 10. He was publisher of a paper at 22. Heavy-set, piercing, he's the most vigorous of all the debaters.

DAPPER and smooth-voiced, the Senator from North Dakota became famous as committee chairman of the munitions investigation. Has bucked the sale of arms ever since. Talks same forces "that were at work destroying our spirit of neutrality and peace 20 years ago" and at it again. He's a Republican and 46.

OPponents OF A CHANGE ARGUE: (1) Repeal of the arms embargo would be taking sides in the European war. Germany, even if she had cash, could not obtain arms here because Britain controls the Atlantic. (2) Taking sides by selling arms would constitute intervention in the present con-

cell blocks, nobody bidding money enough to make it interesting—so "inde Warlick will probably have them in his private hoagewoo."

cell blocks, nobody bidding money enough to make it interesting—so "inde Warlick will probably have them in his private hoagewoo."

Today's Believe It or Not:—From Laurinburg comes the story that farmer W. L. Roper went to his barn recently to find his female setter mothering not five baby bird dogs, but a litter of foxes supposedly left in the barn by a wild mother fox. Latest reports are the foster mother and children are all doing well.

Let's see. Wasn't it just a few short weeks ago that Josiah's junior colleague, Robert Reynolds, predicted there'd be no European war.

Let's see. Wasn't it just a few short weeks ago that Josiah's junior colleague, Robert Reynolds, predicted there'd be no European war.

We learn from history that we learn nothing from history. That's an old adage, but it didn't deter Senator Josiah Bailey from flat prediction a few days ago that no Congress will vote a declaration of war.

Which suggests that leaf growers might find a way to make something out of their crops this year by charging admission to see their tobacco.

Quite obviously, too, Bill Sharpe, head of the bureau, is an optimist to say the least. With every tobacco market in the state closed much tighter than a padlocked speakeasy Bill's release says cheerily.

In the middle and new belts tourists may visit the auction warehouses and see the curious auction at first hand.

Maybe Bill's been listening too much to the short-wave broadcasts from foreign capitals in which "magnificent victories have been so freely and frequently described.

A recent statistical release informs that about 59 cents of the consumer's dollar goes to the services of distribution and only 41 cents for the services of production.

What with the dollar now worth only 59 cents, according to Anti-New Dealers, maybe that's why the producers are getting practically nothing.

Another gesture in behalf of neutrality is particularly noteworthy and calls for a hats off to Fredric March and the producers of his play, "The American Way," which is anti-Nazi in every line and castigates the German-American bunds.

The producers announced the play was being closed because it inflamed public opinion and, therefore, worked against the interests of peace. An unfortunate consequence of this, however, will be unemployment for a cast of actors and actresses which totals more than a hundred people. Thus they take their place with others who are the unfortunate victims of war.

I was thinking the other day when I read this notice in the newspaper: what a marvelous time O. Henry would have and what wonderful opportunities it would suggest to Jimmy Valentine, if he were around.

The notice I refer to was the advertisement of The Bank For Savings, and it stated simply that 356 persons had at one time or another opened savings accounts and forgotten to call about them. This must have happened a long time ago, for the bank suggests that the people who opened these accounts or their "heirs," put in their claims.

Now under state law these funds will revert to the state unless petitions are put through and authenticated. So if you have any long lost uncle who went to Australia a long time ago and disappeared, you'd better ascertain whether or not his name is on this list. It just might be that here in New York a tidy fortune is waiting for you.

If you live out of the city you would like a list of the names published in connection with this affair. I presume the Bank For Savings, New York, N. Y., would be glad to send you one.

FAST FIRE-FIGHTER—Runner Sydney Wooderson (right) and brother now belong to London's auxiliary fire service.

GO EAST, YOUNG MAN—Out of 700 girls in colleges east of the Mississippi, these were finalists in a N. Y. contest to find the "ideal college girl." Clockwise, starting with Catherine Rome (in striped dress) of Barnard, girls and colleges are: Selma Brach, Goucher; Blossom Rogers, Beaver; Mary Retsinger, Connecticut; Jean Miller, Brooklyn; Betty Hammond, Adelphi; Janet McCarthy, Manhattan (N. Y.) college of Sacred Heart; Helena McCann, Mount St. Vincent college, N. Y. C.; Mary Walker, Skidmore; Patricia Voils, St. Lawrence, the contest winner.

NO WAR RATIONS FOR THESE—Despite war fears, these London typists report as usual to the pigeons of St. Paul's during noon hour, to share their lunch. Note boxed gas masks.

SHIPSHAPE—Rear Admiral S. M. Robinson (above), new chief of the bureau of engineering for the navy, is slated to help coordinate ship-building. He's a former Texan.

SERVES, TOO—Wearing the uniform of Britain's auxiliary territorial service, Elspeth Ironside awaits orders. Among other things, she "chauffeurs" the car of England's chief of the imperial staff, Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, her father.

SPEED KING SPEEDS FOR KING—Sir Malcolm Campbell (left), England's famed auto and speedboat racer, wheeled out this motorbike for war service in London, and here he is, arriving at the war office to inquire about military service. The headlamp is equipped with a mask to black-out light rays. Sir Malcolm recently broke water speed records with 141.74 m.p.h.

A YOUNG 'OLD GLORY'—When Fort Mcherry, Md., recently observed the 125th anniversary of the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key, above 15-starred replica of the flag that inspired the national anthem flew over Fort Mcherry. Key wrote song when, aboard a British vessel in Baltimore harbor, he watched the Britons bombard the fort.

NATION'S NEW ART GALLERY—Here's a view of progress on the national art gallery in Washington, D. C. In rear are the apex, or trades, building and the archives building (left).

EVEN WITH HIS EYES CLOSED—That tongue of Johnny Peacock (right), Boston Red Sox catcher, took a lot of punishment when Johnny tagged out Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox in the fourth inning of Game No. 2 at Boston. And that tag really lifted Appling right off the ground. Appling had STILL BURNING KEROSENE—At the 85-year-old kerosene lamp of Point Conception light near Santa Barbara, Cal., one of the few remaining lighthouses not electrified, stands First Assistant Keeper Charles Hellwig. Point Conception sheds its faithful gleam over those waters often called "graveyard of the Pacific." In 1927 fog, seven U. S. destroyers piled up in 1927 fog.

WHAT'S THAT, AGAIN?—Said Prisoner Stewart O. Jacobson to Jail Superintendent Matt Starwich (left) at Seattle: "Sure, I made it so I could jump rope for exercise." And he demonstrated, how, right on the spot. But Superintendent Starwich somehow doubted that the eight-foot rope found in Jacobson's cell had any different purpose. It was made of blanket strips.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, Sept. 25. - (AP) - A little flurry of buying in steel, motor, rail and specialty shares turned a mixed market into a slightly higher one today and leading issues were boosted fractions 7/8 around a point. The pace was moderate at the beginning until traders could feel their way into the groups being supported. Later it picked up and near the final hour prices were about at their best.

United States government issues were a little lower in the bond market, but foreign dollar loans tilted upward. Domestic corporates were narrow. Commodities were mixed.

Alumni Speaker

COACH COOMBS

The feature of the annual fall meeting of the Pitt County Alumni Association, to be held at Greenville on October 10, will be an address by Coach John W. Coombs of Duke University. His subject will be "Duke University: Beginning the Second Hundred Years."

In addition to the address of the evening, there will be a number of other interesting features, including the election of officers for the ensuing year. There probably also will be brief remarks by one or two members of the local group, and a movie of Duke activities of last year.

This annual fall meeting here is one of many to be held in North Carolina and other states. These will reach a climax in a meeting to be held at Duke University in December, celebrating "Duke University Day."

The number of local Duke alumni groups has now reached a high mark of all time, and a large proportion of them will have meetings this fall during the month of October. In 1929, 17 meetings were held; in 1930, the number had grown to 38; in 1931, there was a total of 52 meetings, and in 1932, 1933 and 1934 about the same number. For the past three years the total has reached 65. In addition to dinners in leading cities in North Carolina, meetings were held last year in 15 other states, and the District of Columbia; one of these meetings being as far away as Los Angeles. A statement made from the alumni office of Duke University is to the effect that there are now in the office files the names of 12,500 located alumni of the institution. Every state in the Union is represented in the alumni list, and all the hundred counties in North Carolina. Names in the alumni files represent 29 countries outside the United States.

Still Is Located By Pitt Officers

Pitt county ABC officers, assisted by R. W. Tyson of the sheriff's office, Saturday afternoon located and destroyed a 100-gallon capacity steam liquor still about five miles from Greenville off the Washington highway. The plant, which was destroyed by dynamite, was about half way between the road and the river, in a woods. Officers expressed the belief the still had been run Friday. It was not in operation when found and no one was at the plant. The officers found two 50-gallon wooden cookers, one 75-gallon pre-heater, a 500-gallon fermenter and a 50-gallon oil drum. The still was said to have been the first one ever found in that section.

MIAMI GETS WAR BULLETINS DIRECT FROM ADOLF HITLER

Miami, Fla. - (AP) - Patrons of a restaurant in the shadow of the Daily News building assumed the proprietor had access to all the latest dope on the war situation. Wearied of answering questions about doings at the front, he typed a communication to himself and showed it to all interrogators. "Everything coming along all right, as expected, Adolf Hitler."

Offers Ox Family At N. C. Exposition

Raleigh, Sept. 25. - North Carolinians are going to get a chance soon to see a Maine lawyer offer proof that the proverbial saying "as dumb as an ox" is really dumber than the dumb animal upon which it casts aspersions. Of course ardent Democrats might offer in rebuttal that any one from Maine or Vermont must be too dumb to prove anything, but that's somewhat beside the question.

The barrister from way up in the northeast is William H. Robinson who took his law degree at the University of Maine but whose curiosity about the intelligence of the ox family led him into a field of endeavor far from the legal profession.

The upshot is that Lawyer-Ox Trainer Robinson will furnish one of the entertainment high lights of the North Carolina State Fair here October 10 to 14 with "Mac's Trained Steers," a group of animals educated to perform a variety of acts requiring more than modicum of intelligence.

According to advance notices, Mac's steers have been smash hits wherever they have shown, catching the fancy of audiences right from the start by their ability.

Two Negroes Held On Murder Charge

Henry Miller and Joe Gurganus, Pitt county Negroes, charged with the killing of another Negro, Jack Moore, two weeks ago, were apprehended in New Bern yesterday and returned here last night.

The two Negroes, said by the sheriff's office to have admitted the killing, probably will be tried at a session of Superior court next month.

Moore was slain with a blow on the head with an axe. He was found on the porch of a white man by the name of Byrd about a mile and a half from Cannon's crossroads. He was reported to have been chased to the white man's porch, where his assailants finally caught up with him and delivered the fatal blow. Although his head was split open, the Negro lived until Tuesday afternoon.

Patrolmen Nab Negro. Elijah Wooten, Negro, of Greenville route three, was lodged in Pitt county jail last night on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. State highway patrolmen, upon halting the Negro's car, saw him pull a pistol from his pocket and drop it to the floor of the automobile.

Seven Get Licenses To Marry In County

A total of 283 marriage licenses have been issued so far this year at the office of Register of Deeds J. C. Gaskins. Licenses issued during the past week included four to Negroes and three to white couples. White couples: Vance Whitehurst and Hilda Nelson of Carolina; W. Gordon Roberson and Melba L. Whitehurst of Robersonville; Warren E. Welks and Rebecca Ann Alzord of Durham. Negroes: Willie Parker and Lovie James of Belvoir; Roy Gilbert and Lizzie Holland of Greenville; Ernest Dabis and Annie E. Forbes of Greenville; John A. Smith and Naomi Jenkins of Greenville.

Pitt Sheriff Waging Drive on Immorality

Sheriff J. Knott Proctor and his deputies Saturday night waged a drive on allegedly immoral women who recently came to this county and were found at a number of filling stations throughout Pitt. "We told the women that they would have to leave this section," declared the sheriff, adding that he and his officers saw to it that they observed the instructions. Sheriff Proctor declared that he would continue his drive on immorality in the county.

SLIPPERY WHEN WET DANGER SHARP CURVE AHEAD SLOW ROUGH ROAD

No Need for Danger Signs on A MODERN CONCRETE ROAD

Concrete pavements, built to the standards developed by highway engineers of this state, are the last word in safety. Yet they actually cost the public less than so-called "cheap" pavements. Concrete is safe because it provides a better "track" for vehicles. From your own experience you know that its even, gritty surface reduces skidding, wet weather or dry. Its freedom from bumps, ruts and chuckholes gives you better control at the wheel. Concrete's light gray color and high reflection factor help you see better at night. Yet, with all these advantages, concrete is actually the cheapest road to have. First, because it costs less to build than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Second, because concrete costs less to maintain - saves hundreds of dollars per mile, every year, compared with less enduring surfaces. Urge public officials to build your roads with safe and saving concrete.

A GOOD JOB FOR THE CUB REPORTER
Waynesboro, Va. - (AP) - The News-Virginian has been proud of its window museum, where strange, unusual or freakish objects brought in by subscribers are exhibited. An identifying card was printed for each exhibit, and everything went well until a wag contributed a Mexican jumping bean.

"Since then," the bewildered editor announced, "it has been necessary to have someone constantly watching the bean so the descriptive card can be moved as it jumps. The bean simply won't stay put and it is too little to tie to the card. It hops around like popcorn. How can we keep card and bean together?"

SPARKS BEGIN TO FLY - DUE TO SHORT CIRCUITS

Mayfield, Ky. - (AP) - The question whether the wearing of shorts by men and women tennis players is "indecent and detrimental to the morals of the community" is one for the city council to decide. A complaint was lodged by two Baptist ministers, who said most of the players wore shorts while playing at Harmond playground's courts.

WANTED! A NAME

For America's Newest Daily Streamlined Train $650. in CASH PRIZES

America's newest and smartest streamlined train will begin operating DAILY between New York and Miami on a schedule of 25 hours or less on or about December 1, 1939. It will be operated by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and the Florida East Coast Railway in connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad. Now, in advance of the Florida Season, beginning in December, a name is wanted for this new Streamliner.

Here is a contest so "streamlined" itself, that even a child may win. A few minutes time - a fitting name - and a brief explanation of your suggestion. That's all! Literary style doesn't count. It's easy, simple, and quick. Get busy now. Enter your suggestion and mail it today.

With These Hints It's Easy To Win!

America's newest and smartest Streamliner. 7 luxurious, stainless steel, air-conditioned cars, each distinctly decorated. The comfort of large reclining individual seats - all reserved for your convenience. Comfortable dressing rooms, smoking lounges, hot and cold water, assure homelike convenience. Full-view windows for scenic visibility. Glass-paned lighting, dimmed at night for restful sleep. Observation-Taxi Buffet car with radio for recreational purposes. Club-like dining car with low-priced meals. Alert attendants to respond to your personal wishes. Diesel-Electric locomotive (South of Washington) for smooth speed. New record running time - 23 hours or less New York and Miami. The projection of automatic signals and train control over the only double track, rock ballasted route between New York and Miami. Low coach fares.

JUST FOLLOW THESE FEW SIMPLE Rules

- Suggest a name! Use the accompanying entry form, including not more than 25 words explaining reason for your suggestion. No suggestion will be considered unless reasons for that name are explained.
