

COMMITTEE APPROVES NEUTRALITY ACT REVISION

Tobacco Sales To Be Resumed Tuesday, October 10th

DATE IS FIXED BY COMMITTEE

Auctions to be Resumed after being Closed Since September 12; Six-hour Selling day and 360-pile limit per hour will be Strictly Enforced; Full Corps of Buyers

Tobacco auction sales on all markets will be resumed on Tuesday, October 10, this decision having been reached by the Sales committee of the Tobacco Association of the United States, in session at Durham today.

The Reflector was advised of the action taken by C. S. Carr, secretary-treasurer of the association, immediately after the decision was reached.

Mr. Carr's message also stated that the six-hour selling day and 360-piles-an-hour limit would be observed and the rules strictly enforced.

All Eastern, Middle and Old belt markets will open with a full corps of buyers. Mr. Carr advised, while South Carolina will have restricted sales.

Sales were suspended on September 12 following the withdrawal of the Imperial and other British buying companies from the market and the subsequent drop in prices.

The time for reopening of South Carolina and Border belt markets was not immediately fixed.

Committee members said the market would resume regardless of the outcome of the October 5 crop control referendum.

George Burton of Rocky Mount, chairman issued the following statement after the meeting:

"Sales will be resumed Tuesday, October 10. A six-hour selling day and 360-pile selling limit per hour regulations will be enforced. Eastern, Middle and Old belts will open with full corps of buyers. South Carolina will have restricted sales."

The markets were closed more than two weeks ago after the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain, one of the largest buyers, discontinued buying because of war conditions.

If the federal control program is approved by two-thirds majority the national production next year would be limited to 660,000,000 pounds, and North Carolina's quota would be 400,000,000 pounds.

Plan Demonstrations On Tobacco Grading

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Tobacco grading demonstrations will be held during October in seven counties, with several meetings arranged in each county, it was announced today by Loyd T. Weeks, extension tobacco specialist of State College.

W. L. Bradsher of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, D. C., will conduct the demonstrations with the assistance of Weeks and county farm agents.

The schedule of meetings announced by Weeks follows: Oct. 2 to 6, Forsythe County; Oct. 9, Stokes County; Oct. 10, Surry County; Oct. 11 and 12, Yadkin County; Oct. 16, Davidson County; Oct. 17, Alexander County; and Oct. 18, Wilkes County.

British Explosion

London, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Ministry of Supply announced that 15 persons were killed today by an explosion in a munition factory somewhere in the north of Britain.

The location of the factory was not disclosed beyond the fact that it was in the north.

Four other persons were injured.

The communique issued by the Ministry of Information said in part, "the material damage will not seriously interfere with production."

Nazi Subs Driven from Main Shipping Routes

Britain Says Pace got Too Hot For Craft

London, Sept. 28.—(AP)—German submarines were said in an authoritative statement today to "have now been driven from thickly dotted shipping routes around the British coast."

"In less than a month," the statement declared, "they have found the pace too hot for them and have retreated from much-used shipping channels and are now forced to operate much farther out in the open sea where the 'catch' is bound to be a much smaller one."

The Ministry of Information announced during yesterday and last night Royal Air Force aircraft carried out further reconnaissance over Germany and the western front.

"In spite of opposition," the announcement said, "valuable information was obtained. All aircraft returned safely."

British sources, commenting on the contention that German submarines had been driven out to sea, said, "The position now is similar to the one that existed at the end of the last war when the U-boat menace was practically defeated."

Meanwhile, predictions that Adolf Hitler is working toward a spectacular "end the war" move, designed to force British and French acceptance of the "liquidation" of Poland, grew in diplomatic circles here.

The British government kept guarded silence on German-Soviet Russian negotiations at Moscow, but many informed observers expressed belief Hitler would make the talks a springboard for a "peace offensive."

The resolution adopted yesterday follows in full:

"WHEREAS, tobacco growers and all others, interested in and dependent on flue-cured tobacco are facing a crisis which is without parallel in the history of the flue-cured producing section of this country, which has been brought about by: (1) Wars in Europe and Asia which have caused the Imperial Tobacco Company and other foreign buying interests which represent more than one-third of the buying power on the bright leaf markets to withdraw from these markets; (2) The production of an enormous crop of bright leaf tobacco in 1939, which has added a quarter of a billion pounds of tobacco to a market already topheavy with a surplus, and

"WHEREAS, the conditions named above have brought about a condition which threatens the welfare of the growers of bright leaf tobacco and the collapse of business in the flue-cured growing areas of the states of North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, now therefore,

"BE IT RESOLVED that the board of directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, desiring to see such a calamity avoided, and believing that control of production of the 1940 crop is the only solution to this grave problem, does hereby go on record as wholeheartedly approving of control for the 1940 crop and it pledges its united support in an effort to secure a favorable vote in the referendum called for October 5, 1939."

PLANS PLANT OTHER THINGS BESIDES BOMBS

Tucson, Ariz.—(AP)—Airplanes now sweep over the wide open spaces of the Southwest, dropping seeds. The aim is to promote growth of food grasses on the range, thus improving grazing conditions.

HIGHER EDUCATION AT A LOWER COST

Austin, Texas.—(AP)—The cost of education at the University of Texas has declined from $275 a year per student to $200 in the past 10 years. University officials predicted that with added efficiency the cost may decline to as little as $140 in the near future.

Kelly Will Head American Legion

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Raymond J. Kelly, corporation counsel of Detroit, was elected national commander of the American Legion today.

Kelly was chosen unanimously to succeed Stephen Chadwick of Seattle after two other contenders for the office had withdrawn. The new chief of the organization of 1,028,084 ex-service men has been head of Detroit's legal department since 1933. He worked his way through the University of Notre Dame and Detroit, and served 10 months overseas during the World war as a lieutenant in the artillery.

Legislation to outlaw the Communist party, the Bund and similar organizations was advocated by the Legion.

Delegates attending the final session of the convention approved the report of the Americanism committee urging such action.

The pronouncement also asked the continuation of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, suggested registration of aliens and requested the Legionnaires to aid in efforts directed against subversive activities.

The Legionnaires also called upon Congress to enact legislation to "eliminate all profits from war" as well as to outlaw the Communist party.

SOVIET RUSSIA SAYS ATTACKS MADE ON SHIPS

Reports Second Submarine Assault In Two Days

ESTONIA FLAYED BY SOVIET PRESS

Moscow Becomes the Center of Intense Activity with Several Envoys in City

Moscow, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The official Soviet agency Tass today reported the second attack in two days by an unidentified submarine on Soviet shipping near Estonia.

The agency said the captain of the 967-ton Soviet steamer Pioneer radioed that an unknown submarine had forced him to run onto the rocks of a bank while trying to enter Narvik bay.

The bay is on Estonia's northern coast.

A salvage expedition was dispatched to aid the Pioneer, whose crew was reported in no danger.

Russia said yesterday a mysterious submarine had sunk the Soviet steamer Metallist in the general region. The announcement coincided with Soviet press attacks on Estonia, accusing her of harboring foreign warships.

Estonian relations received attention while Soviet negotiations were under way with Germany and Turkey.

In the presence of Joseph Stalin, German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop consulted with Premier Foreign Commissar Molotov and diplomats wondered about the possibility of another quick move to shift Europe's balance of power.

With two other foreign ministers here representing Turkey and Estonia, Moscow was the proud center of intense diplomatic activity.

For Von Ribbentrop this was his second visit to Moscow in little more than a month. On August 23 Russia and Germany negotiated a non-aggression pact.

Only a few hours after his plane landed the German diplomat entered the Kremlin last night for his initial conference with Molotov.

With Stalin sitting in the meeting, the length of the first talk four and a half hours, indicated that several problems were involved and the announcement that the conversations would continue today after the principals had slept, indicated that decisions still were to be made.

Four New Inmates Jailed In County

If the present increase continues, the population of the county jail will be up to or above the average by the time the next civil term of Pitt Superior court convenes October 30.

Four inmates already have been added this week three of them awaiting trial in Superior court.

Herbert Ward and Robert Lee Joyner, Negroes, were transferred here from Farmville, where probable cause was found on a charge of breaking, entering and larceny. The two, accused of robbing a jewelry store, are being held in default of $500 bond each.

Elisha Moore, who has just completed a 30-day road sentence for drunkenness, was returned to the county jail to await trial on a charge of forgery.

Clayton Williams, Negro, was brought to the county jail from Fountain, where he was arrested on a charge of stealing an automobile tire.

Negro is Accused of Larceny of Batteries

Lyman Price, Greenville Negro, was lodged in jail today on charges of breaking, entering and larceny in connection with the theft of six dry cell batteries from Jesse Johnson, Negro operator of a garage on Fifth street.

The batteries, stolen Monday night, were said by police officials to have been found at junk yards.

Price probably will face trial in Municipal court tomorrow morning.

The coldest place on earth is believed to be a remote point in eastern Asia.

HITLER VISITS AIRMEN

Wilhelmshaven, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler visited this North sea naval base today to congratulate submarine crews returning from cruises in enemy waters.

Announcement of the Fuehrer's visit said he came to laud submarine flotilla for "successful trips abroad."

Germany Claims Further Successes Over British

CLAIM DENIED FROM LONDON

End of Campaign In Poland Foreshadowed with Announcement that Fortress of Modlin Has Offered To Surrender Following Capitulation Of Capital City of Warsaw

Berlin, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The supreme army command, announcing for the second day, a success for Germany's air force against Britain's naval might, reported today a British heavy cruiser had been bombed off the east coast of Scotland.

A spokesman for the admiralty in London declared this was "all poppycock."

At the same time, the command foreshadowed the end of the campaign in Poland with the news that the fortress of Modlin, 15 miles northwest of Warsaw, had offered to surrender following the recapture of the Polish capital.

In describing aerial activity yesterday, the command's communique said, "Heavy British cruiser was successfully attacked off the Isle of May (at the mouth of the Firth of Forth) by one air force fighting unit. One 250-kilo (550-pound) bomb hit the prow."

The announcement failed to assess the damage, but added: "Of the heavy British naval forces which were attacked the day before (Tuesday), one airplane carrier was hit by one 500-kilo (1,100-pound) bomb and one battleship was hit at the prow and at mid-ship by two 250-kilo bombs."

"Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, announced yesterday in the House of Commons that 20 German planes had attacked a squadron of British ships, but without scoring any hits. He said one airplane was shot down, one was badly damaged and the crew of a third was captured upon alighting on the water."

The fortress of Modlin, stronghold of Polish forces at the juncture of the Vistula and Bug rivers, waved the white flag of surrender 24 hours after the Polish capital gave up resistance.

On the western front, the high command said, "there was no noteworthy fighting activities," but it did announce that "one enemy plane" had been brought down in an air fight over Saarbruecken.

Meanwhile, Adolf Hitler, after a two-day stay in Berlin for an unannounced destination, a government spokesman said.

Also, the belief was prevalent among Nazis that Germany's war would end tomorrow with the formal surrender of Warsaw by her 100,000 defenders.

Sermon on Marriage To be Heard Tonight

The subjects of the mission at the Catholic church of St. Peter on Second street are being followed with interest by the people of Greenville.

Tonight the missionary priest from New Orleans, Father Ambrose Smith, Order of Preachers, will explain the teaching of the Catholic church on the sanctity of marriage and the reasons for condemning artificial birth control. The topic will be "The Bulwark of Society."

Last evening Christians were advised to safeguard the priceless pearl of peace by avoiding a cowardly cringing pacifistic attitude and an unjustly belligerent aggressive attitude. Peace was defined by Father Smith as the tranquility of order.

Besides her parents, the little girl is survived by both her paternal and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Barrow of near the home, and Mr. and Mrs. Make Tripp of near New Bern.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the home by the Rev. Mr. Lewis, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church. Burial followed in the church cemetery.

Craven Girl Dies Of Poliomyelitis

Infantile paralysis proved fatal to a one-year-old Craven county girl in the local hospital at 1:15 o'clock this morning. The victim was Inez Belle Barrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barrow of near Epworth Church.

Meetings Held On Proposed Control

Township meetings called to discuss the present tobacco situation and the forthcoming referendum were scheduled for Bethel at 2:30, and Carolina at 8 o'clock today, to be followed by meetings tomorrow at Grimesland and Chicod high school.

The Grimesland meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock and the Chicod gathering at 8 p. m.

Meetings were held yesterday in Farmville and Ayden and farmers and business men continue to support crop control for 1940 almost unanimously.

The meetings will continue until one has been held in each township in the county. The Greenville meeting will be held in the Agricultural building next Tuesday at 8 p. m., at which time farmers and business men who have not attended any previous meeting will be urged to attend.

Homecoming for Pitt Church on October 1

The Winterville Baptist Church will observe homecoming day on Sunday, October 1. The day's program will begin at 10 o'clock with the regular Sunday school service. At 11 o'clock there will be a special service at which time Mr. I. C. Greer, superintendent of the Mill Home, will deliver the message. A basket lunch will be spread on the church grounds at 12:30. Following the lunch hour, there will be a special musical program, led by M. Lewis Sidney Bullock, director of the Eastern Carolina Choral Association. All friends and members of the church are cordially invited to be present on this day.

Senate Will Open Debate On Proposal On Monday

Vote of 16 to 7 Announced by Senator Borah, Ranking Minority Member; Several Voting For Measure in Committee Reserve Right to Oppose it on the Floor of Senate

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations committee approved today the administration's bill to permit the sale of American armaments to belligerent nations. Senate debate on the measure is scheduled to start Monday.

Senator Borah of Idaho, ranking Republican member of the committee, announced the vote as 16 to seven. He said several of those voting for the measure did so to get it to the Senate floor for debate. They reserve the right to oppose it later.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky said the committee had agreed to an amendment to permit American planes to land and refuel at their bases in the western hemisphere, even if the bases were situated on belligerent territory.

Senator Reynolds (D.-N.C.) and two other Senators were said to have voted for approval in order to get the measure to the floor. They reserved the right to oppose it later.

The bill was approved after a three-hour session. It would repeal the existing embargo on arms to belligerent countries.

Belligerents would be required to take title to all armaments and other goods purchased in this country before they were shipped, however, and would have to carry the purchases home in their own vessels.

Sponsors of the measure claim these provisions would serve to put all sales to warring countries on a virtual "cash and carry" basis.

The Senate, in a 12-minute session, voted unanimously to ask the attorney general on what power were made available to President Roosevelt when he recently proclaimed a state of national emergency. It later adjourned until Monday.

Paris, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Military dispatches reported today French scouting planes had carried out successful reconnaissance flights far into the interior of Germany.

The French airmen went "as far as possible" eastward, flying over railroads and highways to observe German troop movements behind the western front, the dispatches said.

Reliable sources asserted that activity on the west, where a general staff communique reported "a calm night" was confined chiefly to scouting operations, but that operations of a more extensive scale could be expected soon.

"Any enemy attack west of Saarbruecken failed," the communique declared.

Informed French quarters expressed belief that Hitler was preparing to advance peace proposals, backed by the threat of a possible German-Soviet Russian military alliance and new Nazi troop concentrations in the west.

These sources said they would not be surprised if Hitler made representations to France and Britain before the week-end.

Such representations, it was expected, would ask the allies to recognize the German-Soviet partition of Poland and raise consideration of Germany's colonial demands.

Refusal to consider peace on this basis, observers declared, might be taken by Hitler as justifying before the world a "complete war" upon France and Britain, even to the extent, they said, of a dash through neutral countries, in an effort to combat the British blockade. (Berlin officially has disavowed any such plan of attack.)

A communique issued this morning by the general staff said the night was "calm."

FDR Confers on Weed Situation

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave personal attention today to the plight of the Southern flue-cured tobacco farmer, hard hit by temporary closing of auction markets because of the withdrawal of British buyers.

The chief executive called in Senator Bailey (D.-N.C.) who had written Mr. Roosevelt asking him to intervene in efforts to bring the British buyers back, for a general discussion of the problems this afternoon.

"My main point will be that the United Kingdom needs the revenue it derives from tobacco taxes," Bailey said, citing a 37 per cent wartime income tax just levied by England.

"My faith that England will come back into the market is based on the fact that she can collect half a billion dollars in tobacco revenue by buying $40,000,000 worth of our tobacco."

He explained this amount of money would buy 250,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco on which England levies a tax of $2.50 a pound.

Asked whether England at the present needed tobacco because of a two-year supply in that country, Bailey declared tobacco had to be made that long before it could be manufactured.

College Y.W.C.A. Work Begins.
Y. W. C. A. work on the college campus has already begun, even though upperclassmen are only today registering. Led by their president, Miss Sarah Ann Maxwell of Pink Hill, the following members of the cabinet of the Young Women's Christian Association returned to the campus Monday afternoon to help with the freshman orientation program: Misses Virginia Whitley of Nashville, Lucy Ann Barrow of Snow Hill, Juanita Etheridge of Whitakers, Wilda Royal of Clinton, Annie Allen Wilkerson of Roxboro, Daris Blinlock of Black Creek, Nell Breedlove of Oxford, Celia B. Dail of Durant's Neck, Ora McHen of Almond, Margaret Lawrence of Tarboro, Rebecca Ross of Aurora, and Sara Gordon of New Bern.

The work got under way Tuesday with the "Y" helping new students to find and get settled in their rooms. On Wednesday afternoon the "Y" girls were at the Robert H. Wright building to assist the freshmen in registering for the full term. Under the direction of Miss Nell Breedlove, social chairman, the entire class enjoyed a social hour at the "Y" hut on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Dr. Phelps To Appear Here.
"No man in his time has done more to promote the love of books," was the praise given Dr. William Lyon Phelps by a New York Times book reviewer in his review of Dr. Phelps' "Autobiography with Letters."

Dr. Phelps will speak in the Robert H. Wright building Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock on "The Romance of Science and the Truth of Fiction," for the first fall entertainment at East Carolina Teachers College.

Residents from all parts of Eastern North Carolina are expected to hear Dr. Phelps' lecture, as his pleasing personality and ability as a speaker are known throughout the nation. Wherever he speaks, Dr. William Lyon Phelps makes new friends.

Then, too, much interest has been stimulated in Dr. Phelps on the ECTC campus, and the entire student body awaits his coming. Having spent forty years of his life as a teacher at Yale, no speaker could be more ideal for a teachers' college entertainment than Dr. Phelps. Not only will he be of interest to the students, but to their parents as well.

Dr. Phelps is a man who has lived an interesting and fascinating life from childhood through manhood, and his wholesome life is reflected in his enviable characteristics.

In his review of Dr. Phelps' "Autobiography with Letters," Lewis Gannett in the New York Herald Tribune declared: "An older brother of Billy Phelps had an extraordinary talent; he could remember on every day of his life after the age of five. Ask him what he did on February 17, 1868, and he would reply that it was a Monday (not Wednesday, as Billy suggests), that it was rainy (if it was) and would then recall some event of the day. Billy Phelps' memory is almost as well stocked."

Club Meets Tonight.
The Business and Professional Woman's Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Sheppard Memorial Library. Mrs. Jack Spain will be the guest speaker for the evening.

The new "double swing silhouette" appears in a black wool suit elaborated with scrolls of black braid. A slight stiffening causes its double-tiered skirt to swing out briskly below the nip-waisted cutaway jacket. Molyneux designed it, topped it with a chin-strapped "Grisette" bonnet.

N. C. GAINS IN NEW BUILDING

FHA Director Says Strides Made In This State

Greensboro, Sept. 27 — Despite the mid-summer seasonal slump in business experienced by the Federal Housing Administration in most states during July, North Carolina continued to show a gain in dollar volume for this month over the corresponding period of 1938, Aubrey G. McCabe, FHA Director, reported today.

During July North Carolina jumped to third place in the volume of business in Zone II, consisting of ten southeastern states, whereas in July, 1938, the state's totals ranked seventh. The states in Zone II are Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky.

North Carolina's $708,800 in insured mortgages on 169 homes which was approved during July, was exceeded only by the totals from Florida and Virginia. Georgia followed North Carolina closely in fourth place and the other states of zone were in the following order: Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, West Virginia, South Carolina and Mississippi.

The July volume also raised North Carolina to fifth place in the zone in the total of mortgages insured since January 1. On June 30, the state ranked sixth in this classification.

"The fact that North Carolina showed a gain in the July volume, over last year, and was one of the only two states in the zone to show such an increase, is plain evidence that North Carolina families are continuing to take advantage of the low financing terms available to them under the FHA program," McCabe declared.

"The average mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration since January 1, has been nearly $4,200, a figure much higher than the national average. This would indicate that there is a market for lower cost homes in the state which so far, has been un-touch. And from this source we expect a large increase in our volume of insured mortgages in the months to come."

Green Phantoms Complete Practice for Friday Tilt

TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Will Be First After-dark Contest For Local Eleven

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Guy Smith stadium the Green Phantoms will seek their first victory of the year at the expense of the Windsor raiders.

Today's practice sums up all preparation for the game, which will open the season. Today, the Phantoms had a light practice, polishing up different plays and drills in order to be in perfect shape tomorrow night.

Since tomorrow's is the first game of the season and the first one ever played under lights here, the Greens are anxious to prove that they are one of the best teams in this section of the state.

Coaches Bo Farley and Heman Fulkerson have for their probable lineup Larry James and John Collins at ends, Paul Scott and Warren Parrish will probably hold down the guard positions while Russell Rogerson and Earl Kittrell will hold down their old tackle posts.

Polly Williams will hold down the center position. He has played two years at this position.

George Tyndall, George Sakas, J. B. Kittrell and Marvin Stocks will make up the Phantom backfield. Possible substitutes are Noah Lee Edwards, Spencer Carroll, John Register, H. R. Goodall, Cecil Crawford, Roscoe Cox, Bill Taylor, James and Leonard Briley and John Spearman.

The high school band will parade tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock and will be at the game to add color and enthusiasm.

ECTC PIRATES LEAVE FRIDAY

Probable Lineups for Saturday Game is Announced

Twenty-three football players and Coaches O. A. Hankner and Gordon Gilbert of East Carolina Teachers College will motor from Greenville Friday morning at 6:30 o'clock for Kutztown Teachers College, Kutztown, Pa., where they will open their 1939 season Saturday afternoon.

Friday's trip will take the boys over 400 miles. They plan to stop in Washington, D. C., on their return. The Pirates will open their home schedule Saturday week with Campbell College. Campbell defeated ECTC, 19-6, last season, but this year's team is far superior to that of the previous season.

Registration has interfered with practices this week and the boys experienced their final pre-game practice this afternoon. Today's drills were light, consisting primarily of training in promoting co-ordination between the backfield and line. Much remains to be done in this particular phase of drilling.

Although the mentors appear to be satisfied with what is conceded to be one of the best teams the college has ever had, both are of the opinion that it will be two weeks before the boys can really display the necessary punch.

NEGRO ELEVEN FACES WILSON

To Play at Guy Smith Stadium Tomorrow P. M.

The Greenville Negro high school eleven will pry the lid off the 1939 season tomorrow afternoon in a game against Wilson High gridders. The game will be played in Guy Smith stadium, beginning at 3:15 o'clock, and a large number of fans, both white and colored, are expected to see the game.

Deacons Have Been Keeping Aerial Game Secret

By M. R. ALEXANDER

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 28.—The Carolina gridmen have done an about-face this week and are putting in as much work on their pass defense as on their own high-powered and sparkling aerial attack. Wake Forest's Demon Deacons, who invade Kenan stadium Saturday, have kept their passing game strictly under cover so far, but Polanski, Duncavage and Co. are expected to spring a surprise air raid. The outcome, which has the Tar Heels guessing and preparing for any eventuality, lends added interest to Saturday's headliner between two of the conference favorites, and heavy ticket orders indicate a near-capacity crowd.

The Demon Deacons are also expected to make Carolina open up wide and show the whole of their heralded and anticipated aerial circus. The Tar Heels gave only the barest preview of their aerial show in the opener with The Citadel. However, George Stirnweiss, Sweet Lalanne, and their helpers showed plenty of passing strength the 12 times they took to the air, completing five heaves for 53 yards and two scores.

The ground and air battle between Carolina's touchdown twins and Polanski, Mayberry and the Deacon aces should produce fireworks and thrills galore for the fans.

But it may produce just as many heart and head aches for the coaches. And Coach Wolf, who well knows the value and danger of the pass, is taking no chances.

Where their first thought last week was to see how many passes they could complete, Stirny, Jim and mates today are alternating at passing and knocking 'em down, and the word is out to "Watch Polanski and Mayberry."

"Mayberry is very fast," Coach Wolf warned the Tar Heels. "And Polanski is as fast as any back we have," which is saying a lot for the big fullback weighs 205. "And they have a big, hard-running team all the way through."

Tony Galovich, Jimmy Ringgold and Marshall Edwards are the other main guns in the Deacon attack. Supporting the brilliant Stirnweiss and Lalanne for Carolina are George Radman and Mike Bobbitt, two all-round halfbacks, and Sid Sadoff and Harry Dunkle, two driving fullbacks.

B.-L. Associations Home-Builder Aid

The building, savings and loan associations of North Carolina again loaned over two million dollars for the construction, purchase, repair and refinancing of 1,200 homes, according to reports of August loans compiled by the North Carolina Building and Loan League. It was stated today by Wheeler Martin of Williamston, president.

Loans for the construction of homes amounted to 40 per cent of the total of the loans, $840,000 having been loaned out for this purpose. In addition, he said that 264 homes were purchased to the amount of $418,000; 180 homes were refinanced amounting to $312,000; over 200 repair loans representing $174,000, and 192 loans, to the amount of $308,000 for miscellaneous purposes were made by these popular local home lending institutions, which derive their funds from the savings and investments of people in the same communities where the loans are made.

The two backfields will stack up about even at 181 pounds, but Carolina's line averages 188 as compared with close to 200 for Wake Forest.

The standouts in the Deacon stone wall include Louis Trunzo, All-Southern guard; John Jett, 215-pound end; Capt. Rupert Pate and Tom Tingle, 200-pound tackle and guard. Pate and Tingle are the boys who blocked a Carolina kick for a touchdown in last year's 14-6 thriller.

Heading the light but fast Tar Heel forwards are Paul Severin and Jim Mallory, two fine ends and pass receivers; Gates Kimball, slashing 60-minute tackle, and Capt. Jim Woodson, steady guard.

Wake Forest, whose 1938 "sophomore team" played Carolina to a standstill for 57 minutes and held Duke's Rose Bowl eleven to 7-0, will also hold the edge in experience, having 10 regulars back from last year to five for Carolina.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Washington Daybook

Washington—War news from far behind the front:

Is something wrong with the Siegfried line? Military men here say that German counter attacks against the slowly penetrating French indicate the Germans are afraid their west wall is not too stout. The Germans have launched heavy counter attacks in the Moselle region, although the French are not nearer than seven or eight miles to the main fortifications. That is not sound tactics unless the wall itself is shaky.

Sound tactics would be to wait until the French have penetrated within perhaps two miles. By then the lighter and more effective German artillery could get at them, and beat the French to soup. A counter attack then could be launched from behind the security of the Siegfried line with expectation that the French would crush the battered French advance.

Instead, the Germans are counter attacking to keep the French far away from the fortifications. Why? Swiss reports tell of large labor corps working behind the Siegfried line. After all, the Germans had barely a year to put their line in order.

Trained observers have suspected that a year was not long enough to build impenetrable fortifications. Now they feel that the premature German counter attacks support their views.

Good sources here are convinced the Germans have supply ships hidden in off-the-way islands in the Caribbean. The ships, presumably, refuel submarines. Shipping reports point to the presence of German submarines in the Caribbean and in the North Atlantic. It is known that the Germans bought a number of old ships in the Americas shortly before the war broke out. The ships have not been heard from since. They would make admirable fuel supply bases.

Doubtless they will be hunted out and destroyed by the British. The French in time. If the United States found any of them, or any submarines hiding in our waters, our navy would be obligated to capture or sink them. As a neutral we must not that no belligerent ships us our ports or territorial waters as bases of supplies.

Retired Marine General Smedley D. Butler shows into Washington bound for Boston. He is winning his way over the U. S. in a series of one-night stands speaking against repeal of the arms embargo.

"General," we ask, "what's your view on this business?"
"Why, bless you, boy, if a man came into your store and bought poison to kill his neighbor, you would have an interest in what he was doing. If he got the poison on credit, and if the sheriff got wind of it, you would try to protect your customer from the sheriff."

"We are like that if we sell arms. It is just the same."
The general's eyes are greener than our own and they bore holes like gimlets. That fellow is a dynamo. He leaves a trail of converts and a network of enemies as he swoops from town to town. He left the marines a few years ago in a blaze of fireworks. He is a military Savonarola, who sees the right as clear cut from the wrong.
In Washington he almost blasted his way into Senator Borah's office, overwhelming a stern-eyed clerk in transit. Five minutes later he was up to see Senator Clark, also a critic of repeal. Men on to a train, leaving Senator Clark in a corridor, grinning at such bewildering fury.

After A Man's Heart
by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY: George is convinced that Iris is still in league with Latslaw, and needs Tim for something. Until she can prove Iris is phony, Buff decides to be friendly.

Chapter 22

"YOU know, Buff, you're the first girl friend I've ever had," Iris said, one afternoon. "Truly I've never been popular with my own sex, for some curious reason."

"That reason," Buff remarked dryly, "would not be hard to find, d'you think?"
Iris laughed a little. "Men, you mean? I suppose so. But I can't help being attractive to them, Buff." It was said so simply, without boastfulness, that the young hostess took it at its face value.

"I suppose you can't now," she replied. "It's second nature with you. You have to have your daily dose of masculine admiration, or your nerves will blow up. I've known a lot of people like that, men as well as women. What I'd like to know," she went on casually, curling one foot under her in a fashion she had when she was interested, "is how you got started? And what you really got out of it? Take Van now. He's simply obsessed by you. He spends so much time doing soap figures of you that he'd starve if Webby and I didn't feed him. He's not talented, he has no money, he's not attractive personally. In other words, he's absolutely useless to you, Iris. And yet you fling him the word here, the glance there, that keeps him on a leash. Would you mind telling me why?"

"I suppose it's a hangover from my childhood," Iris said at last. "My mother was a famous singer, really great in her own way. We traveled about, and everybody sat and adored her because of her voice. I was hardly out of babyhood before I started enjoying her, started hoping I could sing, too, better than she could, even. But I hadn't a sign of a voice. I had something else, though—looks." She patted to smile reminiscently at the fire.

"Your mother wasn't beautiful?"
"No. Homely, in fact. She didn't mind—at first. No one cared what she looked like as long as she had that magic voice of hers. But as I grew older and—well, prettier, her voice began to go back on her. She resented me then—terribly. She tried to keep me a child as long as she could. I was having affairs with men when she was still putting socks on me."

"What do you mean by affairs with men?" Buff inquired casually.
"Nothing immoral, if that's what you're trying to find out." Iris's lovely voice was quite as light in tone as was Buff's. "Flirting with hotel clerks and traveling salesmen; with orchestra men as I grew a little older; finally with my mother's managers. That's what caused the rows. Oh, yes, we rowed—bitterly. She threatened to put me into a convent; to turn me out without a cent. It wasn't a pretty chapter in my life," she finished.

Buff swallowed. It was not indeed pretty, she thought; and unwilling sympathy for the lonely child stirred her heartstrings.
"You—ran away? Earned your own living?"
Iris lifted surprised eyes. "I? Work? At what, my dear? No, I did something a lot smarter. I played my game under cover after that. I kept in the background and helped Mother pretend I wasn't there. But I made up for it by getting as many men crazy about me as I could."

Repelling
THE younger girl gripped the arms of her chair. This cold-blooded confession repelled her, dispirited like mist, the newly formed city she had been feeling for Iris. Her scant knowledge of the psychology told her that the girl had done nothing more dreadful than build a defense mechanism against her mother's jealousy; that it was, at that time at least, entirely unconscious on Iris's part. Still, she could not keep a trace of hostility out of her voice when she put her next question.

"Are you still doing that? Trying to make men fall in love with you just to satisfy your vanity?"
Iris was not offended. She laughed, and turned her head a trifle to see her reflection in the mirror.
"You like to put things in plain words, don't you? But you're right, of course. It was sink or swim with me, those last years with Mother. If I hadn't taken refuge in a sense of my power over men, I'd have turned into a shrinking violet in the background. And where, I ask you, would that shadow have been when Mother died? She left me only a few thousand. I've had to make them go a long way."

Not even this blunt question of money did the girl flinch.
"Just any way I could find. If a woman is pretty and is willing to help out some man in a scheme that's not too—too scrupulously honorable, she can always make a nice profit. I suppose that horrifies you, but you asked me." She sent all.

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—State Senator Erskine Smith, a rumored candidate for lieutenant governor, was in Raleigh Wednesday.
"Do you plan to make a short campaign, too?" your correspondent asked him.
"With the situation what it now is—what with the war, the tobacco crisis and a budding football season, the politician who'd try to get into the news or to make a campaign just isn't much of a politician, that's

Buff her sweetest smile. "And I'm safe with you because you are just that—scrupulously honorable, I mean. You wouldn't take advantage of a confidence you'd wormed out of a guest!"

Buff swallowed again, with more difficulty this time. Iris had trapped her neatly. She had all the curious ability of a helpless and lovely thing to protect herself, it seemed. Where truth and honesty best served her, she used them; and relied upon the same qualities in those to whom she had confided, to protect herself. Buff attempted feeble protest.

"I didn't worm anything out of you! Whatever you've told me today was of your own accord!"
"No, dear. The sweet, drawing voice was like a bit of cotton soaked in ether, Buff thought. "You set out to find out about that business with Tim last summer. Oh, I've known all along you knew about it! Lots of people here in town have told me that he was ill at your father's ranch. I knew it was a sort of breakdown, poor Tim! I hated to let him down, but Buff interrupted her coldly. "You're confessing to me that you fooled Tim—Tim and George—deliberately. That you knew what you were doing when you obeyed Latslaw's instructions?"

"Confessing? Darling, no! Confiding is the word I used, I believe. And you're not the sort of person to betray a confidence."

"Nor," Buff told her pointedly, "the sort of person to stand by and see a friend tricked twice!"
Iris yawned, stretching her arms above her lovely head.
"Calm yourself, sweet! I come to paraphrase something I once learned at school, I can't remember just where, not to trick dear Tim but to marry him! There, does that make everything right?"

"Marry him? Iris, why?"
"You do ask a lot of questions, don't you, infant? Perhaps because I'm fond of him. Women often do marry for that reason, I've been led to believe. Perhaps because I think he has a future—a business future, I mean. And perhaps," she said in a changed voice, a white line appearing suddenly about her mouth, "because I'd be safe with him. Tim's wife would be safe from everything and everybody, don't you think, Buff?"

My Chosen Wife
AFTER that, things happened with terrifying rapidity. To be gin with, the next evening but one after Iris's visit to Buff, Tim appeared pale and grim.
"You asked me to wait a while, Buff, a few days, a week, before I asked Iris to marry me. Well, I waited." He scowled at her defiantly and something in his expression made the girl's heart tug over. Unconsciously one hand stooped to her heart as though to steady its pounding.

"And now you are going—?"
"No." He shook his head. "I've done it. Last night. We're engaged. I'll be in the paper tomorrow. I wanted you to know first. That's why I'm here."

The room was swinging in slow circles about her. She could not have spoken at that moment if her life had depended on it. With the superb self-confidence of youth she had counted on Tim's seeing Iris with new eyes; as George saw her, as Buff herself saw her, as everybody but Tim, in fact, saw her; a girl with beauty and charm but utterly without integrity; lacking in the fine honor which was the foundation stone of Tim's life.

Buff, sitting there dumb and sick with misery, knew now that her imagination had played her a familiar trick. It had run gaily on ahead of her mind, picturing events which would never come to pass. She thought grimly of certain bits of advice advocated by the "new" psychology: to "think success and not failure"; and thus "achieve success." Well, she had thought success—by success meant convincing Tim that Iris DeMuth no longer counted in his life.

"It's not," Buff told herself with anguish, "as if I'd been selfish about him. I love him, yes; I don't want to marry him; but I'd cheerfully have given him up if it seemed best for him. But this— but Iris..."

Tim was eyeing her narrowly. "My dear child, what's the matter? I thought you and Iris had grown to be good friends. Surely you're not going all pale and shocked because of what I've just told you?"
She spoke through stiff lips. "I am, Tim! And not for the reason you might think either. I mean—crimson suddenly replaced her pallor, clear to the edge of her low-cut frock—"it isn't because I... well, you know I'm fond of you, Tim. I've made no secret of it. But I don't want to marry any man unless—well, unless he's fond of me, too. But this—this is terrible, my dear, she went on more naturally. "Iris is... I can't put it into words. If you don't know by now, I suppose it's no use for any of us. George or all your friends, to try to persuade you that Iris is—she isn't."

"That's enough," he said sharply. "If you can't congratulate me, Buff, or wish me happiness, at least you can refrain from criticism of my chosen wife."

Continued tomorrow.

Let's see—Among good old abstract principles are common honesty, common decency and simple justice; but maybe the N and O wants no "emotional appeal" to such as they when they happen to conflict with its preconceived notions.

Flash! Flash! Flash! Willis Smith has refused to become Governor of North Carolina. The Raleigh attorney has definitely and positively declined to take the post even though he was guaranteed there'd be no opposition to him.

The Governorship he pushed aside however, was the role of Conservator and Development, in the American Legion's pageant to be staged here next week in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of North Carolina's ratification of the Federal Constitution.

John C. Baskerville, secretary of the Governor's Hospitality Committee of the Department of Conservation and Development, is in Rex Hospital, though his condition is not regarded as dangerous and he'll probably be out and about before many moons have passed. Before becoming a state employe, Mr. Baskerville was for a dozen years in charge of this bureau.

(THIS IS THE THIRD OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES ON THE TOBACCO SITUATION AND THE COMING REFERENDUM ON CROP CONTROL)

Restricted Production or Financial Disaster— Which Will You Choose?

This article is especially addressed to those tobacco growers who did not vote for control in the 1938 referendum. We know that many tobacco growers oppose governmental control of their farming operations conscientiously and honestly. They are fundamentally opposed to regimentation of their mode and method of farming, believing it to be a step towards totalitarianism, or Hitlerism. In the 1938 referendum there were enough tobacco growers of this school of thought to defeat control of the 1939 crop.

These growers, who defeated control in 1938, hold the fate of the coming referendum in their hands. The paramount question facing them at this time is, Can I justify a vote for 1940 control without violating my convictions? Is the present emergency so threatening as to justify a control program for one year?

Let's look at the record and see what the emergency is. The 1939 crop of flue cured tobacco is more than two hundred million pounds above the normal yearly consumption. This fact alone had resulted, before the outbreak of war in a drastic decline in prices. As compared with 22.2c per pound for the 1938 crop, the 1939 crop had averaged around 14c when the markets closed.

The Imperial Tobacco Company, and other British buying interests, almost without notice, withdrew from the auction markets, and it can be stated that these companies will not return to the markets during the selling season of 1939. The inevitable result of the withdrawal of these buyers was a complete breakdown in prices on their types and grades. The markets were closed by the buying companies, in good faith, because they realized that they could not carry the load, and that unless additional buying power was brought into the markets, a complete collapse in prices was impending.

The Commodity Credit Corporation, a Governmental agency, has agreed to substitute its power, to the extent of forty million dollars, and to buy Imperial grades at prices at least equal to those prevailing at the time the market closed, PROVIDED THE 1940 CROP IS CONTROLLED AND CURTAILED. If the referendum fails to carry, this corporation will not support the market with purchase of tobacco.

Without this added buying power it is certain that the 1939 crop, and the 1940 crop will be sold at a price below the cost of production. With this added buying power, growers will be assured at least a living price for the tobacco now in their barns and pack houses. We have an opportunity to save ourselves, but only on the terms of those who have the power to save us. When you go to borrow money, you borrow it on the terms of the lender. In this case the lender has stated the terms: CONTROL OF PRODUCTION FOR 1940. Shall we now deliberately incur financial disaster and ruin, rather than forego, for one year, the privilege of unrestricted production of tobacco.

REMEMBER, A VOTE FOR CONTROL IS A VOTE FOR ONE YEAR ONLY. You are voting for or against a temporary control for 1940 only. YOU ARE NOT VOTING FOR A PERMANENT CONTROL. Under the law, there can be no restriction of production in 1941, or in any other year, until and unless the growers approve such a control in a new referendum. Without a referendum each year there can be no control for that year.

The compelling argument for 1940 control is on the basis of an emergency which no sane man can deny at this time. When the emergency is over, those who oppose on principle a permanent control of production will have an opportunity to oppose such a control in the future referenda. On an emergency basis, just in war time our lives and liberties are restricted, we appeal to those growers whose convictions are contrary to a permanent policy of control, to vote for a temporary control in 1940.

Freedom is sweet, but not so sweet if homes are lost and people are destitute because that freedom was not curtailed for one year.

J. C. LANIER.

A Vote For The 1940 Control Program Is a Vote For The Financial Safety of Yourself And The Community in Which You Live

The following individuals, firms and institutions, realizing that a controlled 1940 tobacco production is necessary if our section is to overcome the financial disaster with which it is now faced, urge every tobacco grower to VOTE FOR the control program and work unceasingly to see that his neighbor does likewise:

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Cotton futures (old) opened two to three lower. Hedge selling and Southern liquidation offset trade price fixing and some buying from Bombay and Liverpool.

Prices were unchanged to one lower at the end of the first hour.
The midway market was one to two points net lower with October two down at 9 1/2 and December a point lower at 8 1/2.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Stocks backed away today and leaders dropped fractions to around three points.

Selling was heaviest at the start, then volume dwindled. Near the fourth hour prices were close to their lows after feeble attempts at a rally got nowhere.

In the bond market U. S. Treasury loans moved upward, rails were off, and domestic corporates were uneven.

HOEY PRAISES FAIR EFFORTS

Expects 1939 Exposi- tion to Surpass
All Others

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Governor
Clyde H. Hoey, inviting all North Carolinians to attend their State Fair in Raleigh, October 10-14, said today that he expected the 1939 exposition "to surpass all former efforts."

The 83rd exposition for the state is being operated this year for the third time by the N. C. Department of Agriculture under the management of Dr. J. S. Dorton.
"I warmly congratulate Dr. J. S.
Dorton and all those associated with him in the management of the Fair last year," Governor Hoey said. "It was a splendid success from start to finish. I am expecting the Fair for 1939 to surpass all former efforts."

"The State Fair is rapidly becoming representative of the whole state
The products of every section are on exhibit. The choice specimens of a great agricultural section may be found in the great diversity of things grown on the farms from Murphy to Manteo, and the extremities of the Commonwealth meet at Raleigh and mingle with the people from Central and Piedmont Carolina.

The cattle, hog, and dairy industry are well represented, indicating the great advance North Carolina is making in this important field of agricultural endeavor.

"It is gratifying likewise to notice the enlarged industrial exhibit and the fine display of manufactured products, together with the educational display, revealing a Commonwealth thoroughly educationally minded.

"I bid the whole State welcome to the State Fair of 1939."

COTTON LOANS ARE POSSIBLE

Farmers Holding On
To Crop as Never Before

Raleigh, Sept. 28, 1939.—North Carolina farmers are holding their cotton as never before, according to M. G. Mann, general manager of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association, who pointed out today that deliveries to the Association to date are more than four times as great as for the corresponding period a year ago.

"Many farmers realize the position in which they will find themselves if they sell their cotton on today's market and then have to buy feed, fertilizer and other supplies that go into the production of a new crop at the higher prices that are almost sure to come by next spring. They are holding their cotton and the expected increase in cotton prices will help offset the increased prices for things they will have to buy."

Mr. Mann said the Cotton Association is lending thousands of dollars daily to farmers who want to hold their cotton in a safe bonded warehouse for higher prices but who want some ready cash now. All cotton placed with the Association can be sold quickly upon the authorization of the grower and in such a way as to get him that highest possible price as well as full grade and staple premiums, Mr. Mann said.

The thinking farmer, Mr. Mann said, will recall that in October, 1914, the year the first World War began the price of cotton was only seven cents a pound but that by the following May it had advanced more than $10 a bale and that it continued to rise until it reached a high of more than $200 a bale.

The following warehouse and receiving agents in Pitt County have been authorized by the Cotton Association to make liberal loans at 4 per cent interest to farmers upon delivery of their cotton: R. L.
Moore; G. W. Lane, Jr.; Pitt RCX Service Co.; Gardner; A. W. Andrew; Bonded Whise; Bethel; Farmville Bonded Whise, Farmville;
and Stokes and Congleton.

WAR CAN HELP N. C. FARMERS

Food and Feed Ne- cessities in Time of Strife

Raleigh, Sept. 27.—"Adequate food for the family and feed for the livestock is the soundest farm policy at all times, but it is a necessity in war times," it was declared today by Dr.
I. O. Schaub, director of the State College Extension Service. "Farmers of North Carolina should benefit some financially from higher prices of grain, cotton, livestock, poultry and other products, and they certainly should be the last to feel the pinch of higher prices for food and feed," he said.

Dr. Schaub made it plain that he is not advocating large expansions in cotton plantings, nor is he suggesting a rapid development of commercial hog and poultry production.
"Large cotton surpluses must be used up before we can expect to increase the size of our crop, and it takes time to get into profitable hog and poultry production on a commercial basis," he stated.

However, the extension director pointed out that restricted plantings of tobacco will be necessary in 1940 to enable the government to sustain prices of the remainder of the 1939 crop. "Therefore," he said, "farmers will have more land available for other crops next year, and this land should be turned into the production of adequate food for the family and feed for the livestock."

Right now, farmers should turn their attention to winter grain crops, Dr. Schaub advised. "Emphasis should be placed on greater yields per acre, and this can be accomplished by using correct amounts and formulas of fertilizers. County farmers' agents will be glad to advise farmers along these lines, and a request to the agronomy department of State College will bring by return mail the most up-to-date fertilizer recommendations.

Pender Employees Report Fine Meet

Joe S. Norman, manager of one of the Greenville Pender stores, reported the celebration held in Norfolk, Va., yesterday, in honor of the 33 twenty-year men of the company, was a "most successful affair."

The meeting was presided over by Winder R. Harris, managing editor of the two Norfolk papers, and featured talks by the mayor of Charlotte, Pender Vice President H. C.
Phelan, David Pender, founder of the organization, and others.

Mr. Pender presented 20-year men with watches and 20-year women with silver sets, after completing his talk in which he praised Pender employees and traced the growth of the organization.

In turn, J. W. Wood, vice president and general manager, presented Mr. Pender with a watch, the gift of employees.

Sixteen hundred employees were present at the banquet, which followed a parade at least a mile long.
Eight Greenville employees attended the celebration.

Man About Manhattan

New York—If the other 95 per cent makes retellatory gestures in a manner that will be felt at the boxoffice, Pearl Buck "shouldn't be bewildered. For an explanation she will have only to go back to a speech she made in 1937, which went like this:

"In the theater only five per cent of the audience is intelligent. A good play fails because the rest aren't interested in it. They want the same thing over and over again.
They want everything to turn out all right in the end for the man and the girl. The average motion picture is abominable fodder in which Clark Gable makes love at a big salary."

It is to be hoped these words do not return like Banquo's ghost to the banquet, for Miss Buck has left off novelizing for the moment and written a play, "Flight Into China," which has had its first trial in a New Jersey playhouse. It is the story of a Jewish refugee who flees Nazi persecution and finds asylum in China.

This is Miss Buck's first journey into playwriting, although her novel
"The Good Earth," found its way to the theater through the careful rewriting of Owen Davis and his son Donald.

Miss Buck's great admiration for the Chinese is well known, and it is among these people that she knows so well that her hero finds the peace that comes with complete understanding with his fellow man:

Times change, and with them the face of the city, and so the site of the old Belmont, on Park avenue (Fourth avenue if you live below 42nd street), is to be reclaimed at long last by five major airline companies. Across the street from the Grand Central terminal will rise a new limestone terminal for American, Pan-American Airways, United Airlines, Eastern Airlines and Transcontinental & Western. This is a dream of long standing, and it comes at a time when the airlines themselves are planning to desert that Newark's great port is the North Beach Port on Long Island.

The Jersey authorities are stubbornly resisting efforts of the lines to put out of Newark, which would mean the end of the honest claim that Newark's great port is the world's busiest. It is said that New York has spent $5 million dollars in their Newark holdings, a large part of which must go by the boards if all the lines pull out.

There are in existence just 25 garments made of chinchilla pelts before trapping the animal was for-bidden. Most of the garments are in the possession of royalty. They are valued at from $80,000 to $150,- 000.

The demand for universal service

The organization opposed any change in the method of declaring war in the United States—an action aimed at proposals to put the question of war or peace in the hands of citizens through a referendum.
