SOVIET PRESS WARNS ALLIES ACCEPT PEACE

Echoes Implied Warning to Britain and France

ESTONIAN PACT MADE EFFECTIVE

Russian Negotiations With Turkey Again Delayed; Far-reaching Results are Expected

Moscow, Sept. 30.—(AP) Russia's official press echoed today the Moscow accords implied warning to the Western allies—to end the war or face joint German-Russian action—while the presidium of the Supreme Soviet ratified the new Russian-Estonian mutual assistance and trade pact.

Foreign Minister Selter of Estonia and his delegation, having signed the 10-year agreement which makes their little republic, former Russian territory, a virtual Russian protectorate, returned to Tallinn.

Russian negotiations with a third nation, Turkey, were reported further delayed because today was the "free day," the Russian day of rest. They had been suspended Thursday and Friday by the German and Estonian negotiations.

But from Ankara and Bucharest came indications that Russian leaders' talks with Turkish Foreign Minister Saracolu, now in Moscow, might yield far-reaching results.

Ankara reported the Turkish foreign minister was discussing a Black sea act which would close that sea to belligerent forces, which would be Russian-dominated and for which a precondition would be Rumania's return of territory won in the World War.

Bucharest announced that Rumanian Foreign Minister Gafencu would leave for Moscow Monday.

A Russian government organ sternly warned other powers not to interfere with the German-Russian pact signed Thursday because the signatories "do not recognize anyone's right to interfere with the affairs of two neighboring states which wish to live in peace and friendship."

The next step of the new Moscow-Berlin axis was expected to be a search for a neutral power which would place its "peace or else" proposal before Great Britain and France.

The United States was mentioned in some circles, but a request that it mediate generally was considered unlikely because Germany and Russia were believed to fear a rebuff by Washington.

Payments Made on Pitt County Debts

Checks totaling $23,611.25, representing principal and interest payments on Pitt county bonds, were mailed to New York banks today by County Treasurer J. Vance Perkins.

The total included only one payment on principal, $3,000 on county school funding bonds dated October 1, 1924, and bearing five per cent interest. A $1,700 interest payment was made on the same bonds.

Other payments, all on interest, were made as follows: $11,490 on six per cent county road bonds dated April 1, 1921; $1,638.75 on county road refunding bonds bearing four and three-quarters per cent interest and dated April 1, 1930; $5,782.50 on four and one-half per cent county road refunding bonds dated April 1, 1930.

In addition, a $225 interest payment was made on four and one-half per cent road refunding bonds dated April 1, 1930 and owned by the State of North Carolina.

Additional Nurse Joins Pitt Staff

It was announced today that Mrs. Orla Joyner of Asheville will join the nursing force of the Pitt County Health Department on Monday.

Mrs. Joyner's chief work will be in connection with the V. D. control program, the major portion of her salary coming from the state V. D. budget. Mrs. Joyner has had public health nursing experience in both Tennessee and Kentucky as well as in North Carolina. It is understood that she comes to the Pitt County Health Department with the highest credentials. The addition of Mrs. Joyner to the local health department gives the department a corps of four nurses, three white and one colored.

Mrs. Joyner will take up her work coincident with the opening of the new V. D. quarters which occurred today in the health department.

REQUIRE CARD TO SELL CROP

Cotton Marketing Cards Must Be Presented

Cotton marketing cards are required to be used by all cotton growers and they must be presented to ginners and buyers at the time cotton is ginned or sold. It was announced Thursday by E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of State College.

The marketing cards are now available in the offices of the county farm agents, except in a few cases where farmers overplanted their acreage allotments and it has been necessary to recheck their farms. Floyd stated.

Ginners and buyers are subject to a penalty if they do not make proper and prompt reports to the AAA committee in the county from which the cotton came as required under the Triple-A official declared. All growers are required to show their marketing cards to ginners and buyers regardless of whether a red, white or blue card was issued to them.

Under no circumstances are marketing cards transferable, and no grower is allowed to sell cotton or have it ginned in his name where the cotton was produced on a farm other than the one for which the particular marketing card was issued. Floyd said. "Growers with more than one farm should be careful in reporting to ginners and buyers the cotton produced on each farm."

It was pointed out by Floyd that where growers' names and serial numbers are not properly shown on the buyer's or ginner's report, by reason of failure of the grower to present his card to the ginner or buyer, the county AAA committee is required to withhold both the agricultural conservation and the cotton price adjustment payments from the grower until such reports are correctly made.

Winterville Planning To Have Big Meeting

Practically all business houses in the Winterville community will close their doors Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in order that owners and employes can attend the meeting called to discuss the tobacco situation and the referendum set for the following Thursday.

A petition was signed by the various men expressing their willingness to close their places of business. The petition follows: "We, the undersigned, realizing the grave situation now existing due to the closing of the tobacco market, desire to co-operate and do what we can to carry the crop control which will be voted on October 5th, and to further increase the interest in this, we agree to close our places of business on Monday, October 2, between the hours of 2:30 and 3:30 p. m. to attend a meeting to be held in the City Hall in the Town of Winterville and we urge as many as can to be present to hear the matter fully discussed in regard to farm control."

Signers of the petition were: J. B. Worthington and brother; R. L. Worthington; O. W. Rollins; S. G. Worthington; O. W. Dail; R. E. Boyd; H. H. Weathering; P. Weathering and son; J. D. McArthur; L. N. Dempsey; A. W. Ange and Company; A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company.

France And Britain Frown At Latest Peace Proposal

MOVE SPEEDED TO PUSH WAR

Apparently Turning Cold Shoulder to German-Soviet Russian Proposal, Preparations Rushed To Meet Expected Nazi Thrust to Back Up Proposal to Halt Strife

Paris, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The French today, apparently turning a cold shoulder to German-Soviet Russian peace gestures intensified preparations to meet any threat of a big-scale Nazi offensive to back up the peace offer.

The French general staff reported the night was "without incident," but said patrols were active throughout the region east of the Saar river to the northern half of the western front. Apparently the zone referred to is south of Saarbruecken.

Premier Daladier and military officials held a "strategic conference" this morning to review the French advance between the Maginot and Siegfried lines.

Informed quarters reported aerial forces of both sides continued frequent flights with the Germans using two planes and the French one in scattered combat yesterday.

Both government and press indicated France never would accept as a basis for peace the German-Soviet pact partitioning Poland.

FUNDS RAISED BY MERCHANTS

Contribute $200.00 in Fight For Crop Control

The Greenville Merchants Association has officially gone on record as endorsing crop control and its members are urging farmers to vote yes on the question when they go to the polls on Thursday of next week.

But the association went even further than passing a resolution endorsing control. President O. P. Matthews raised $200 from its members, the money to be used in paying Greenville's share of the total cost of radio programs to be broadcast throughout the various tobacco belts.

A total of $1,500 was pledged at a Raleigh meeting recently, the amount to be divided up among Eastern Carolina cities. Greenville was assessed $200 and local business men at the meeting promised that the sum would be raised immediately. The task was turned over to the merchants association and its president promptly raised it.

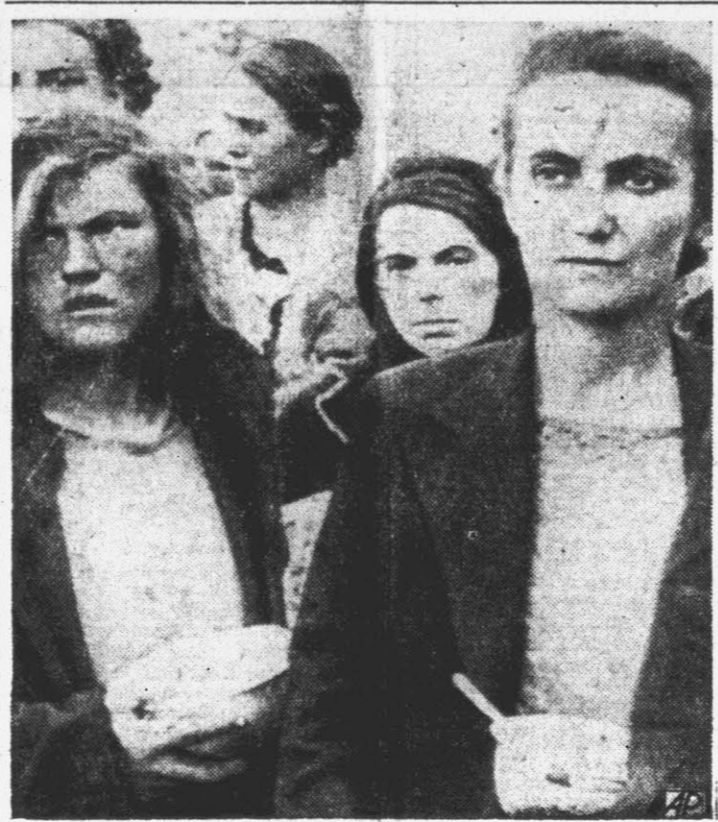

Mr. Matthews said not a single person called on failed to contribute, and added he wished to apologize to members not contacted. "We just raised the money and quit soliciting," he said.

Call Reichstag To Hear Hitler

Berlin, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Reichstag called only to hear Reichsfuehrer Hitler give an exposition of his policies was summoned today to meet in the coming week.

The Reichstag last met September 1 and heard the Fuehrer proclaim himself "the first soldier of the Reich" just before he plunged into Poland behind the Nazi legions which since have ended the eastern republic's existence.

The announcement that the Reichstag would meet again said only it would hear a declaration of the government.

It was assumed this time it would hear a statement on the partitioning of Poland, German-Soviet relations and the stance toward Great Britain and France in their war against Germany.

The German-Soviet Russian conditions for European peace raised the question in some diplomatic quarters whether they were Hitler's "last chance offer" to Great Britain and France.

After cooperating with Russia in the fourth partition of Poland, Germany stipulated two essential conditions for peace: 1. That she and Russia alone decide the fate of Poland, in effect that there can be no interference with their almost equal division of the conquered territory.

2. That the "natural developments of German interests in the Balkans be undisturbed."

Sharing attention with developments on the diplomatic front was a communique from the German high command declaring that 12 British warplanes had been repulsed in an attempt to penetrate German territory along the North sea coast.

SEEKS TO CURB FOUR INDICTED PROFITEERING IN LOUISIANA

Action by Special Board Called for Against Leche and Four Others

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked the temporary national economic committee today to keep "a constant eye" on increases in prices of basic materials to prevent profiteering.

In a letter to Committee Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) of the committee, the President said that he believed "constant surveillance is clearly in keeping with the purposes and objectives for which the N.E.C. was established and I believe that carrying forward such a program your committee can well become an important part in our first line of national defense against ugly and inhuman greed."

MAP PLAN FOR FINISH FIGHT

British Government Proceeds with Mobilization of Entire Fighting Power As Press Demands Rejection of Peace Proposals Based on Partitioning of Poland

London, Sept. 30.—(AP) Authoritative sources declared today Britain would reject emphatically Adolf Hitler's offer of peace at the price of a partitioned Poland.

The government to all appearances went ahead with mobilization of its entire fighting power for a finish fight with Germany.

An army of 65,000 census takers completed a register of some 46,000,000 persons in England, Scotland and Wales to provide the basis for food rationing and conscription of man power for war.

A formal reply to what the British press called Hitler's "peace threat" was deferred by the war cabinet, pending consultation with France.

Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to give the official reaction to the German-Russian agreement in a statement before the House of Commons Monday, or Tuesday.

The Times of London, which accurately mirrored government policy in critical events of the last year, led the chorus of the British press demanding rejection of any peace proposal based on the Nazi-Soviet partition of Poland.

The Times also intimated that the government's war aims do not necessarily include restoration to Poland of territory now occupied by Russia.

ITALIAN COUNT VISITS BERLIN

Ciano to Confer With High German Officials

Rome, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Count Ciano left suddenly for Berlin tonight to confer with German officials at their request.

In the absence of official explanations for the trip, it was thought in foreign circles that Italy's participation was sought in peace efforts which German and Russians said they would make with friendly powers.

Rome sources deemed it likely that Hitler had summoned Ciano for consultations on Italy's future position in the war.

The Italian's journey was announced only a hour before the departure of his train at 6 p. m. (noon, EST). He was due in Berlin tomorrow afternoon.

Just a week ago, it Duce reaffirmed Italy's non-belligerence and it was believed by some he was ready to act as mediator in case of a formal German-Russian proposal for peace to Britain and France.

Defends Russia

William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party in the United States, appeared in a reminiscent mood as he told the Dies committee in Washington that Russia's entry into Poland was "justified" 100 per cent. He said the Russian action meant the establishment of "a free government" for Poland which it never had before.

NEW OFFICIAL TO HEAD POLES

Polish Government Is Established In France

Paris, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A Polish government in exile was officially established in France today as former president of the Polish Senate, Raczewicz, took the oath of office as president of the republic in a dramatic ceremony at the Polish embassy.

President Moscicki, interned in Rumania, where he fled from Warsaw before the German invaders had announced his resignation through the embassy a few minutes before the new president took the oath.

The Poles thus sought to outmaneuver what diplomats called German efforts to prevent the existence of a Polish government by keeping Moscicki in Rumania and being unable to exercise his functions.

The new president succeeded Moscicki, the embassy announced, "in conformity with constitutional law" embodied in a decree drafted September 17, 1939, at a Polish border town after the government fled from Warsaw.

The 71-year-old Moscicki is now interned in a royal shooting lodge in the interior of Rumania, where he was taken after he crossed the border at Gernaut with other members of the government.

He had been president since 1926 of the republic which is now partitioned between Germany and Russia.

Earlier an influential neutral official said diplomatic efforts were being made by several nations to obtain the release of Polish officials.

Prepare To Offer The Messiah Here

G. F. Handel's immortal masterpiece, "The Messiah," will be presented during the Christmas season by the Festival Symphonic Chorus, of which the Greenville Symphonic Chorus is a part.

This presentation by the large chorus of 150 voices will be one of the outstanding musical events in North Carolina. Guest artists will be brought here for the solos.

Rehearsals are now in progress by the Greenville chorus every Monday at 8 p. m. in the music room of the Sheppard Memorial Library.

GARNER BACKS ACTS FAVORED BY ROOSEVELT

To Exert Influence in Behalf of Neutrality Bill

FDR ADVISED OF STAND BY TEXAN

Vice-President Reported as Favoring This Country's Return To Basis of International Law

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Supporters of the administration's proposal to repeal the arms embargo expect Vice-President Garner, an effective cloakroom opponent of some Roosevelt measures, to exert his influence in behalf of the pending proposition.

The Vice President has had nothing to say publicly regarding the controversial issue. It was reported authoritatively today, however, that he had advised President Roosevelt at a recent White House conference that the country should return its foreign policy to the basis of international law.

Under international law, the Chief Executive would be largely responsible for foreign relations, directing government policy to a considerable extent by executive order.

Warrior nations would be free to buy arms as well as other goods in this country and American shipping would retain some of the rights which the pending bill would prohibit from exercising.

Meantime, administration leaders in the Senate advocated the neutrality-revision bill as a strictly "cash and carry" measure, while opponents charged anew that it would grant England and France credits previously denied them by the Johnson Act.

The Johnson law, passed in 1934, prohibits Americans from making loans to governments which have defaulted on their debts to the United States. England and France are both in this classification and at least some officials contend Germany is also, because she absorbed Austria, whose debt to this country has not yet been satisfied.

Local Men Speak For Crop Control

J. C. Lanier, Greenville attorney, was the principal speaker at a meeting held in Vanceboro, Craven county, last night at the call of the county agent for the purpose of advising farmers of the tobacco situation and to urge them to vote for control in the referendum next week.

Mr. Lanier told the farmers and business men what control would mean to them and that it was their only salvation.

Upon his return, Mr. Lanier declared that prospects for a favorable vote in that section were good, with 80 or 85 per cent of those taking part in the vote expected to favor control.

On Monday night, Mr. Lanier will speak in Cove City, Craven county. B. B. Sugg, Greenville tobacco warehouseman, spoke over the Goldsboro radio station last night, urging farmers to favor control at the referendum.

Three Greenville men are scheduled to speak in a series of broadcasts over radio station WPTF in Raleigh. W. H. Woodard spoke last morning. Mr. Sugg will speak Tuesday at 11:45 and J. E. Winslow, J. scheduled to broadcast at 6:15 Tuesday.

Local Woman President of Kings Daughters

MRS. HORTENSE MOYE

The International Order of the Kings Daughters and Sons will hold their 49th annual convention in the City of Charlotte on next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tabernacle A. R. P. Church, with the Charlotte Circle of the Order as hosts, and Mrs. J. H. Bennett, president of the Charlotte Circle, as hostess.

The guest of honor will be Mrs. Thomas S. Silcox of Charleston, S. C., president of the South Carolina Branch of the Order and a life member of the Central Council.

Among the principal highlights of this year's convention is the election of new officers and the raising of money for the new chapel at the Stonewall Jackson Training School at Concord.

Mrs. Hortense F. Moye of this city, who has served as president of the organization will be replaced by another member of the Order, as she will not seek another term as president of the State Branch of the International Order of the Kings Daughters and Sons, having served for seven years as president of the state organization.

Prior to the opening of the first general session of the convention, there will be a meeting of the Executive Board and Building Committee. This meeting will be attended only by the officers of the Order and members of the executive committee.

The first general session of the convention will be held at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Hortense F. Moye of this city, presiding. Included in the opening session will be the introduction of the guest of honor by Mrs. Moye, an address of welcome by Mrs. Lewis Doelke of Charlotte, with the response to be given by Mrs. J. C. Angier of Durham. This is to be followed by a brief devotional lead by the Rev. Ernest N. Orr, pastor of the Wesleyan church.

On Tuesday evening at six o'clock a banquet will be held in the church dining room honoring the guest of honor, to which a number of citizens prominent in the life of the State have been invited as special guests.

Following the banquet, another general session will be held, at which time, Mrs. Hortense F. Moye of this city, will deliver her annual address. This will be followed by the address of the honor guest, Mrs. Thomas S. Silcox.

The convention will be brought to a close on Wednesday morning when reports on the various activities of the Order will be given. This will be followed by a formal ballot for officers for the ensuing year and also invitations will be received for the meeting place of the 1940 convention. Following these a memorial service will be held for those members who have died during the past year. This service will be conducted by the State Chaplain, Mrs. T. R. Manning of Reidsville, N. C.

Following the memorial service will be the installation of the new officers by Mrs. Thomas S. Silcox, member of the Central Council.

The theme for this year's convention is "Increased Membership and a new chapel for the Stonewall Jackson Training School at Concord.

To Inaugurate Prayer Period. At the request of its Church Planning committee, the Eighth Street Christian Church will be open each Sunday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:00, for a period of meditation and prayer, with specific emphasis on the need for peace among nations.

The leaders of the Christian congregation feel that without divine guidance peace is not possible, that such guidance can come only through a personal fellowship with God, and that meditation and prayer are essential to such fellowship.

The world has speeches without number and programs of every imaginable sort looking toward a peaceful settlement of differences among nations. It is the feeling of many in these trying days that what is needed is a group of persons who will seek God's will and ask his direction. Because the church seems an appropriate place for such meditation and prayer, the decision to set aside a definite period for the use of those who feel the need of this worship. There will be no service, no message—just an organ meditation at the beginning of the half-hour period. Those who desire may come alone and go at their own pleasure.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Rabbin Coon. Hollywood—Mr. Kay Kyser from Rocky Mount, N. C. isn't going to be any movie clothes-hoss.

Mr. Kyser, by reason of making his movie debut in the same picture with Adolphe Menjou, was square up against the dressing problem the first day he faced the camera.

Adolphe, by virtue of his years of fame as a best-dressed actor, was quick to dispense advice to the newcomer, who has become famous, at 33, as conductor of a band and an air "college of musical knowledge."

Adolphe's advice, summed up, was, "See my tailor."

Now Kay Kyser is a plain-looking, blonde chap, who wears specks, and smokes a cigar and draws homely similes and metaphors.

Said Kay: "I can't wear any fancy clothes. There's just some people who can't—and I'm one of 'em. Why, if I get myself duded up in tailor-mades, the folks in Rocky Mount might tar and feather me. They'd say, 'Look at the hundred-dollar saddle on that ten-dollar mule.' But I'm agreeable. I'm going to try his tailor. I don't think it'll do any good. Look at this suit, now."

The plain brown number he wore loosened for comfort—was not exactly a tailor's dream.

"I've got this suit, and two others," he said, "Both the others are blue. I never cared much for clothes—besides I don't have any time to get myself dressed up. Always rehearsing, or playing, and most of the time I wear an old sports jacket and a pair of slacks—both ready-made. For a New York opening once I thought I'd get me a new tuxedo. For once, I'd do it in plenty of time. I had all the fittings, and the usual thing happened—just before the show I got a call from the tailor. He was sending the coat, but he'd need a little more time on the pants. I had to dig out my old frayed tux trousers, race with 'em up and down the hotel hall to air out the moth-ball smells, and at opening time I took the stand wearing 'em—moth-ball smell and all."

The lad who has built his 13-man orchestra into one of the nation's leading attractions has not, however, been entirely thoughtless of clothes. Ever since he arrived, at during musical recordings for "That's Right, You're Wrong," Kay has been reminding Dave Butler, the director-producer, of his wardrobe shortage.

Lavish fur trims appear on many of the new winter coats. This one, of black wool, has collar, yoke, and wide front bands of black Persian lamb. Helen Cockman designed it with a thought for the woman over forty and topped it with a lamb pillbox.

Here you see one of the new afternoon suits in the winter mode. It combines a circular skirt of black wool, a fitted scarlet wool jacket and a red and silver blouse. The black profile hat is swathed in a chenille dotted veil.

"I'd tell him," said Kay, "and he'd say, 'H-m-m-m, yes. Now about that line in the script.' Then I'd tell him again, and Dave would say, 'H-m-m, yes—now about that spotlight. Jack—' And I'd keep telling him—but some day, I guess I'll get a call to show up in a suit I haven't got, and then they'll know I'm telling the truth; I've really got just three suits, no more. But maybe that's Hollywood. The boys in the band, too, they haven't anything to wear. We've got to figure on that, or they'll be getting up on the stage in their shorts."

On that first day, opposite the veteran Menjou, novice Kyser departed himself with pose which he assured you he didn't feel. It appeared, however, that the lines prepared for him in the script, would not stand as written. Kay Kyser was to be allowed to ad lib—which he did, all right as he's playing Kay Kyser.

To keep brass or metal door knockers, door knobs and andirons shiny, apply a thin coat of colorless wax to them. You can do the same to brass candle sticks and other ornaments.

Chopped ripe olives mixed with chopped sweet pickles give a novel top garnish for cream soups—grand with corn, chicken or celery soups. Add no more than one-fourth teaspoon to a serving.

Variety In Custards. You can get a wide variety of flavors by topping them, just before serving, with any of the following: Grated sweet chocolate, crushed chocolate molasses chips, sliced candied gum drops, toasted or plain cocoanut mixed with shredded almonds, crushed macaroons or ginger snaps or chopped, salted peanuts.

Be careful to avoid spilling acids—lemon juice, vinegar or tomatoes on enameled surfaces; they stain. Keep a soft, damp cloth handy when using these foods and quickly wipe off any spots.

Farley's Phantoms Defeat Windsor Gridders 33-7

THREE TEAMS USED BY G. H. S.

But Only to Give the Boys Playing Experience

Coach Bo Farley's Greenville high school Phantoms last night produced a 33-7 triumph over Windsor high school's football contingent under the arcs in the Guy Smith stadium before one of the largest turnouts ever seen in Greenville for a football encounter.

Playing a game under the lights set a precedent in local high school athletic history and hundreds of students and adults who turned out for the thrill-studded classic displayed their endorsement of night games.

Three strings were used by Coach Farley in last night's game in order to give his hopefuls experience, not because the Windsor entry proved too powerful. Greenville scored in every quarter except the last, but a scoreless last quarter was the product of third-string playing.

Greenville was held scoreless and Windsor took advantage of the third string's playing for seven points. Windsor advanced the ball to the scoring zone and a forward pass from Winford Hales to James Spivey in the final minutes of the period produced a half-dozen points for the losers. Spivey converted from "kneement" for the extra point.

Marvin Stocks' offensive onslaught was the feature of Greenville's 13-point a period scoring in the first half. The Phantoms chalked up seven points in the third quarter.

Offensive stars for the winners were George Sakas, George Tyndall and Marvin Stocks. Russell Roberston was the key first-string line-man and aided considerably in building up the Greenies' defensive barricade.

James Spivey, who scored all Windsor's points, was the pacesetter for the visitors and played the best game.

The Greenville high school band provided the music for half-time festivities, in which a representative number of students participated. The band paraded on the main streets late yesterday afternoon for pre-game color.

Ayden high school will clash with the locals in the Guy Smith park next Friday night. Kick-off time is 8 o'clock.

TWO-MAN RACE NOW EXPECTED

Two Candidates Seen For Lieutenant Governor

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Sept. 30.—In contrast to the gubernatorial campaign's many assumed and suspected, though unannounced, candidates, it appears that next year's race for the lieutenant governorship will be a two-man affair.

One-half the likely entry list is already officially and formally declared in the person of former State Senator Lister A. Martin of Davidson county. The remaining 50 percent of the field will more than likely be one of a trio composed of State Senators Erskine Smith of Stanly county and Pat Taylor of Anson, and former Speaker Reggie Harris of Person.

Which of the three will eventually come through with an announcement and subsequent payment of filing fee is problematical, though there are now definite, though not altogether conclusive, indications that Senator Smith has decided against running.

Which, if true, would leave Taylor and Harris, and so far it looks like a toss of the coin could decide between them about as well as any other method of prognostication; though some might prefer to apply Old Man Zodiac's new-found though ancient Skanda-Ogham-Skroll.

There is a clear-cut consensus among the political sophisticates that only one of the Smith-Taylor-Harris triumvirate will run. They are close friends, personally and politically, and there is small chance that any one would run against any other.

Senator Martin, in Raleigh Friday, reported little activity on the political front, but indicated he is satisfied with what action there has been so far.

SEASON OPENS ON OCTOBER 1

Tar Heel State Offers Wide Choice of Game

Raleigh, Sept. 30.—It happens to fall on a Sunday, so there isn't much likelihood of its being a real game hunting day, but October 1 is the official date on which North Carolina's 1939 hunting season really gets going in earnest.

Previously the dove season has been open for a spell and there have been a few other exceptions under which some few kinds of game could be hunted; but the week beginning October 1 is the first of any real hunting importance.

Of course there are many game birds and animals which cannot be hunted before some time in November, or even later, and folks with guns and dogs should bear that fact in mind.

From the mountains of the west to the seacoast the Tar Heel state will offer sportsmen a choice in small or big game and a preference as to type of country in which to shoot.

Following are some of the more important regulations governing hunting:

DEER—Season opens October 1 in all sections except a few counties where special regulations have been made. Hunters should be careful of that first shot at their first buck as the time-honored custom of "shirt-tail cutting" still persists for those who miss. No date has yet been set for the Pisgah Forest deer hunt. Excepted counties are Alleghany, Ashe, Surry, Wilkes and Yadkin where the season will be November 1 to 30. No open season will be permitted this year in Maxton township and Stewartville township, Robeson and Scotland counties. A November 1-15 season in Avery, Caldwell, Cherokee, Clay, McDowell, Swain, Watauga and Yancey.

BEAR—Regular season opens October 1 with the exception of Alleghany, Wilkes, Caldwell, Burke, Rutherford and all counties west of them, where the bear season is October 20 to January 1.

BAG LIMIT is two. Good hunting is predicted for the Dismal Swamp country in the east, where more signs than ever have been reported.

SQUIRREL—Season opens October 1 with the exception of in 22 western counties where it opened September 15. There is a split season in some few easter counties.

RUSSIAN BOAR—Season opens October 30. There are numbers of these fierce animals in western North Carolina, particularly in Graham county, where the "Rooshians" as the natives call them, are increasing in number. Bag limit for boar is two.

QUAIL—The season does not open until November 30 with the lone exception of in Union where the season is December 10 to Jan-

TURKEY—Rapidly becoming a rare sport, but still to be had in Piedmont and eastern North Carolina. Season opens on November 30. The bag limit is three. There will be a close season in the west.

MIGRATORY WILD FOWL—Federal regulations govern the shooting of migratory wild fowl, and the season for duck, geese, snipe and coot opens on November 15.

Sen. Reynolds Expected To Back Embargo Repeal

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—It's quite a far piece, as the country fellows say, from Raleigh to Washington, with the result that reports reaching here from the Nation's capital may quite easily be garbled. There is so much going on in Washington's political circles nowadays that even a whirling dervish might get dizzy trying to keep abreast of the latest signs and portents.

But for all that, this bureau's Capitol operatives report that North Carolina's gyrating junior Senator Robert R. Reynolds will finally be found lined up in the Neutrality fight with those who favor a repeal of the present arms embargo and enactment of a strict cash and carry statute which will enable the United States to do business here with belligerent countries.

These reports are repeated and come from sources always "informed" and usually "unimpeachable", though it is hereby confessed that from time to time there has been impeachment of the unimpeachable something newspaper men will never forget since the Winston-Salem papers came a cropper on their unimpeachable story that "Farmer Bob" Doughton would run for the Senate last year.

With that much of an alibi, it is repeated that the Reynolds vote is virtually "in the bag" for some plan substantially like that the Foreign Relations committee is going to report out to the Senate floor.

This despite that Rabinin Robert hasn't committed himself so much as a job or a title; and is doing a lily white act with respect to comment on the current situation.

This period of silent meditation on the part of Buncombe Bob follows one in which he talked blantly and at great length on subjects which events later proved he knew very little about; and it is this experience which has caused the Senator to become much more reticent than he has been in the habit of being. At least that's what our "informed" operatives report.

Reynolds is pictured as realizing that he has stuck his neck far out, and that there has been offered a fine opportunity for someone here in North Carolina to knock that same neck completely off come the 1944 Senatorial primary.

Bob is said to fear greatly that even now this neck knocking off is being seriously considered by North Carolina's Governor Clyde R. Hoey and to realize that as of today the gentleman who occupies the southwest corner of North Carolina's Capitol during business hours could accomplish this feat with even greater ease than the famous young man on the well-known trapeze.

Wherefore the Reynolds ear is glued intently to the ground, seeking for information as to which way the arms embargo repeal winds are blowing in North Carolina. He has been informed by his scouts, so the story goes, that by and large Tar Heels of all degree are more than ordinary favorable to President Roosevelt's plans and pleas for revision of the existing act with respect to trading with belligerents (the so-called Neutrality act).

Bob has been the more easily convinced of this trend by the unqualified endorsement of embargo repeal and substituted "cash and carry" given publicly by Governor Hoey. The Senator is wise enough politically to know that the Governor isn't often fooled as to public opinion, and is even less often to be found on the unpopular side of any given problem.

All of which adds up quite easily. Reynolds has done much yapping about staying out of the war he said wouldn't happen anyhow. He has belted so loudly about our keeping our noses out of Europe's business; and has given utterance to so many sentiments apparently favorable to Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini that he is now pictured by many North Carolinians as going around wearing Swastikas on both arms of a black shirt.

Being no part of a political neophyte, the Senator is well aware that it is up to him to "get right" with the sovereign voters of the Old North State, plenty of whom have been completely unimpressed with his continuous assaults on the aliens with whom North Carolina is not inhabited. He knows, too, that plenty more of these voters have been alienated by his description of the President in several important controversies. And he knows also that still others believe that he is much too Fascist minded to be a proper representative of a democratic (spell it either with a cap or a lower case "d") constituency.

Wherefore the "informed" informers of this bureau declare with scant reservation, when the roll is called up yonder, Senator Robert R. Reynolds will not only be there, but will be recorded as voting "Aye" for the presidential neutrality plans.

Heads Bankers

Robert H. Hanes (above) of Winston-Salem, N. C., president of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, was installed as president of the American Bankers Association at the general convention in Seattle. During the World war the 49-year-old banker was a captain in the field artillery.

Washington.—Regardless of the source of the thundering noises off the coast of Norway, sea-going opinion here is that Germany's toy-time battle fleet is something to be reckoned with.

There isn't enough sea power in the whole German navy to stand shoulder to shoulder with even one squadron of first-line British vessels. But the German power does not lie in that direction. The threat is in the possibility that one of her battleships may get out into the open sea as a commerce raider.

The net result would be that as long as the German ship remained at large, the convoy system would have to be conducted by Britain's heaviest fighters instead of her light destroyers. And every such fighter turned loose on the ocean would be subjected to multiple risks of destruction by submarine.

HOW IT LOOKS

The German vessels, including the three pocket battleships and the two heavier ones built since Germany broke away from Versailles restrictions, can outrun the British navy's heaviest battleships. In a shoulder-to-shoulder battle, the British ships would win every time. But the German ships could run away, and be free to prey on lighter members of the fleet or on commerce.

The pocket battleships can do 26 knots or better. The heavy battleships can do only 23 to 24. The two heavier German ships, approximately 25,000-ton creatures, can turn on 31 knots or better.

British light or heavy cruisers could overtake any of the five, but that would be suicide. The pocket battleships carry 11-inch guns and, in a running battle, could put fire on the British cruisers long before they could come in striking range with their six-inch or eight-inch guns. The heavier German ships could do even better. They are armored heavily enough to engage in hull-to-hull combat with ordinary cruisers and their 11-inch guns would spell ruin to them.

In the whole British navy there are only three ships that can accomplish the double task of running down the five German ships and shelling them into submission. They are the fast battle cruisers Hood, Renown and Repulse. Armed with 15-inch guns, a speed of 31 knots and carrying 9- to 12-inch armor, they could destroy any of the German ships.

NAZIS COULD AFFORD IT Once out in the open sea, the German ships could easily push over the usual convoys of merchant vessels, guarding herds of 30 to 40 merchant vessels. Then it would be a matter of a mad wolf among the sheep.

Shell fire from the German ship might put down a dozen or more merchant vessels before they could scatter.

Strategists here have been expecting, ever since the war started, that Germany would make a break for freedom with one of the potent commerce destroyers. She could afford to sacrifice several light cruisers to get one of the battleships through the British North sea patrol.

Once one was out, the British would have to detach at least one of its three battle cruisers to hunt it down. Its effective North sea blockade against further outbreaks of German ships would be weakened by that much. Out on the open ocean, the German ships could pro-

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY, trying to show Tim what Iris is like, Buff tells him Iris's confession he resents Buff's interference, and refuses to believe a word of it. He is determined to discover what Iris is up to.

Chapter 24 Tricking The Tricksters

BUFF poured out to George the story of her last talk with Iris. "But look here!" George exclaimed excitedly. "If she practically admitted she did that last summer, there's nothing to it. All we have to do is to tell Tim and he—"

She shook her head. "I told him last night. It didn't do the least bit of good. It only made him more determined to defend her. No, George, we've got to work from the other angle—from Iris herself. She's up to something, and the published announcement of her engagement to Tim is what it all hangs on. Don't ask me how I know. Part intuition, perhaps, and part cold reasoning. The point is, I do know. Now here is what I want you to do, George. Go to Iris and offer to buy back that land at what she paid for it, at what you bought it for from Latshaw."

Horrified astonishment took possession of him. "Are you crazy, Buff? Just when Tim and I are on our feet again, when I've convinced myself all over again that there is a Santa Claus who puts nice fat checks in my sock, Christmas or no Christmas, now you want to barge in and ruin everything. She'll snap at the offer, of course."

"If she does, it'll prove that she's straight, George, and will make Tim a good wife. Surely you'll be willing to pay that much for his happiness. But"—her most urbane grin deepened the corners of her mouth—"ten thousand dollars says she isn't straight. George, that she won't sell it, I mean, she went on, seeing his face vacant with bewilderment, 'that's what you'd lose if you bought it. I'm betting you exactly that sum she won't sell it. Take me up?'"

He thought a long time, his hands on his knees, his forehead corrugated with puzzled consideration.

"Get you!" he announced at last. "And by golly, I believe you're right! No, of course I won't take your bet. Buff, I hope I'm as good a sport as you're proving yourself to be. I'll offer to buy the land. Tim certainly can't object to taking his half of it, considering the circumstances. If she accepts, I lose ten thousand dollars and you win ten. 'Lose Tim,' she said steadily. 'But we're not going to lose, George. That land is the other half of her scheme. The announcement of her engagement to Tim completes it. Things'll begin to happen very soon. Tomorrow you hustle around to her, tell her you're happy about the trouble between her and Tim being ironed out—"

"Be damned if I will!" he exploded. "You do as I say! Act like a nice polite young gentleman. Then tell her you want to buy the land back; that you have a conscience as well as she, and you can't bear the idea of her being loaded up with all that useless land. Don't threaten, and don't come right out and tell her that your acceptance of her as Tim's wife—no as his fiancée—depends on her selling out to you. Then watch her. I predict she'll protest that she will never, never rob you consciously as she did unconsciously last summer. The more closely you press her, the more she'll retreat. You'll walk out without any deal having been made. Which proves—"

"That there's dirty work afoot," he interrupted with rising excitement. "And I sort of think I could look into my crystal—supposing I had a crystal and powers of prophecy and was the seventh son of a seventh son and born with a caul—and outline the shape of that work. But where Tim comes in I don't quite see."

"Marry Me!" "DON'T you? Supposing there was a—"

"New buyer for the land!" —and Latshaw or Iris, or both working together, had convinced him by fake tests that—

"—the mines were what we thought 'em last August—"

"But one last bit of proof was needed, one thing that would clinch the deal so that our imaginary buyer would not call in other experts—"

"—and our buyer, who's not so darned imaginary at that! knows Tim by reputation—"

"And Iris says carelessly that Tim paid twenty thousand for it as a pre-nuptial gift to her—"

"—having, of course, the deed in her possession to flourish before his credulous eyes—"

"Then the only thing lacking would be the absolute, direct proof that they are engaged. And here," she said simply, laying her hand on the paper, "is the proof in black and white."

Weekes gave a whoop of pure joy. "What a stupid ass I've been not to see it! Stupidier than Tim because of course he's trying to believe Iris is straight, and I've known all along she isn't! Oh, Buff, vision themselves from raids on commerce, just as did the romantic Emden of World War time. Britain paid dearly for that escape.

State officials have received invitations to attend the dedication of a swimming pool at Stonewall Jackson Manual Training and Industrial School at Concord on October 5; and it is likely that some of them will attend.

Principal speaker at the exercises will be President Frank P. Graham of the University of North Carolina.

Total of motor vehicles licensed this year in North Carolina stood at 608,179 on Friday, September 29; a number well above all previous records for the Motor Vehicle Division.

September's revenue report, which will be released probably today, will show North Carolina's tax receipts still going up. With almost a week of the month remaining, sales tax and gasoline tax collections were running well above those for the same period in September, 1938, while franchise collections were far out in front.

The month's report, it should be remembered, will give no indication whatsoever of the European war's effect on Tar Heel revenues, as this roundup will represent business done in August and since the war broke out.

Former State Senator Lister A. Martin of Davidson, the only announced candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, was in Raleigh Friday, but had practically nothing to say about his race other than to express satisfaction with results of the preliminary work he has done.

Is your correspondent out on a limb or is he? In a football prediction contest under auspices of one of the State department's this column's conductor is the only one who has written down a score forecasting a Wake Forest victory over Carolina today. The guess—and that's all it is—was Wake 13, Carolina 7. Some twenty other guessers all wrote down scores giving Bear Wolf's the victory by from one to twenty points.

Garner Leads Democrats To Roosevelt Parley

rehearsal on 20 minutes' notice. If they had to go home for clothes some other girl would probably get the job.

I like New York because it is impersonal. You can take it or leave it, and believe me, it can take you or leave you. It has a thousand voices, and yet if you want it, too, it will be as silent as the tomb. New Yorkers all know the trick of shutting out the world. You can pass by half-constructed buildings where riveters and trip-hammers are screaming, and scarcely notice them.

Package cookies are very convenient. They can be served quickly alone or "filled" for dessert. Ginger-snaps with a cream, yellow or cot-tage cheese filling go especially well with canned or fresh fruits for dessert or a light lunch with a beverage. The children like them with milk after school.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL Raleigh, Sept. 30.—This week's driver license revocations showed quite a decline from the two or three preceding it. There were 88 in all, of which 83 were for drunken driving, two for hit-and-run, and one each for second offense of reckless driving, perjury and driving after license had been previously revoked. One revokee was listed as having committed "third offense of drunken driving," though there was no explanation of why he hadn't previously lost his license.

For the first time in more than a month minors comprised less than ten per cent of all those from whom licenses were taken. This week there were eight, or slightly more than nine per cent of the 88.

Of them, two were from Guilford, one each from Greene, Cabarrus, Martin, Columbus, Randolph and Mitchell.

(THIS IS THE FOURTH OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES ON THE TOBACCO-SITUATION AND THE COMING REFERENDUM ON CROP CONTROL)

TOBACCO FACTS

On The Present Tobacco Situation

Estimated Production 1939 Crop - - - - 1,014,670,000 Pounds
 Record Supply Now In Storage - - - - 1,961,000,000 Pounds
 Average World Consumption Annually - - 750,000,000 Pounds

Due To War Conditions In Europe And Asia, Exports Of Approximately 350,000,000 Pounds Have Been Lost For The 1939 Crop

From the above government figures it can readily be seen that without some form of outside aid the tobacco growers are in for heavy losses when the markets reopen and they place their tobacco on sale. To aid the growers in their dilemma the government has agreed to furnish upwards of $50,000,000 for the purchase of the surplus in order that living prices on tobacco might be maintained but the law forbids that the government take such action unless the growers will consent to curtail next year's production so as to avoid another large surplus.

The matter is now squarely up to the growers who will have the opportunity on October 5 to vote for or against control for next year. If the vote is favorable the growers can expect living prices on the balance of this year's crop and on next year's production but if the farmers vote the program down, then there can be no government aid and the growers will have to take the consequences in the way of prices far below the cost of production.

A Vote For The 1940 Control Program Is a Vote For The Financial Safety of Yourself And The Community in Which You Live

The following individuals, firms and institutions, realizing that a controlled 1940 tobacco production is necessary if our section is to overcome the financial disaster with which it is now faced, urge every tobacco grower to VOTE FOR the control program and work unceasingly to see that his neighbor does likewise:

BABSON

posts in Japan and China. They are a splendid group. They speak well of the people of both nations. Despite some questioning of their value in recent years, I'm for foreign missions!

Japanese Cocky Race
I believe the Japanese leaders to be honest and that they are anxious to be accepted graciously in diplomatic and business councils. They, however, are very hardboiled. Apparently, they have neither emotions nor sympathy. It is especially difficult to talk to them. The Chinese are no saints, but you can argue with them and "negotiate." But you might as well talk to a stone wall as to try to argue a business or political question with the Japanese. They surely are a cocky race.

The days of exploitation of China by Englishmen and Americans are over. The Japanese are determined that they shall have a monopoly of exploiting the Chinese. Right here, let me say that I continue to have great sympathy and admiration for the wonderful Chinese people. I do expect the trade between the United States and Japan increase tremendously after this present war in the Orient is over. There will be greater opportunities than ever for Americans in connection with exporting and importing; with offices, not factories, in San Francisco or Seattle and in Japanese and Chinese ports. When doing business in the Orient, rent instead of own; keep your possessions in trunks and your "books" in your hat.

No Labor "Crabs"
The wages in Japan are exceedingly low, but the people seem happy with them. The factory wages are said to average a yen plus dormitory quarters and simple food, for a day of 10 hours. Unskilled labor in the towns (the labor that makes most of the stuff imported into the United States) get perhaps only one-half yen for a 12-hour day; while skilled labor in the cities may get one and one-half or two yen for eight hours. In Japan there is no interfering with efficiency methods by labor leaders. Although Japan is in sore need of collective bargaining in which I firmly believe - the nation greatly benefits by employers being able to reward effort and to discourage indifference.

Theoretically, the yen is pegged around 25 cents. For practical purposes, however, in many cases business or exchange can be done on the basis of 15 cents per yen. In a free market and in unlimited quantities, you are very lucky to get an American dollar for six or seven yen. One thing is certain. Inflation is gradually becoming a serious factor. Just now it goes unnoticed by the people in Japan because they are forbidden to take more than 200 yen in or out of the country. Moreover, those selling in foreign mar-

Series of Meetings To Close Tuesday

Township meetings were scheduled today at Swift Creek and Belvoir, the latter being set for 8 o'clock tonight, as the first week of a series of sessions to acquaint farmers with tobacco conditions and urge them to support control at the coming referendum was completed.

The Winterville township meeting will be held at the town hall Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the Grifton meeting is scheduled for the high school building at 8 o'clock.

The meetings will be concluded on Tuesday, when the Greenville meeting will be held in the Agricultural building at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the meetings and large crowds have been reported at each of the gatherings already held.

College President Speaks at Chapel

President L. R. Meadows led the first chapel exercises of the college yesterday and introduced the faculty to the assembly.

After reading the passage from the Bible that speaks of the opening of the eyes of the blind and the un-stopping of the ears of the deaf, President Meadows gave as the heart of his first message to the student body the idea that such opening of the eyes and un-stopping of the ears is the chief function of a college, and suggested as a good motto for students to adopt, "See and Hear."

Urging the students to attend their own churches regularly and to enter into the religious activities of the YWCA and the YMCA on the campus, Dr. Meadows said: "We get here the mental and the physical. Let us add to the spiritual, to develop well-rounded lives." President Meadows then introduced the heads of the various departments, and they in turn presented the faculty members in their respective departments.
