GARNER SEEKS COMPROMISE IN SENATE FIGHT

Working For Agreement On Shipping Provisions

ACT IS PART OF NEUTRALITY BILL

Vice-President Urges Acceptance of One of Three Amendments Offered By Bailey and Others

Washington, Oct. 13.—Vice-President Garner was reported authoritatively today to be exerting his influence to effect a compromise on the shipping provisions of the administration's neutrality legislation in an effort to bring debate to an early close.

Garner, informed persons said, has urged administration leaders to accept one of three compromise proposals made by Senators Johnson (R-Calif.), White (R-Me.) and Bailey (D-N.C.) in order to clear away one obstacle lying ahead of a final vote on the arms embargo repeal bill.

The three proposed amendments were delivered today to Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee for his study. Details were not revealed immediately, but among other things exemption of shipping to belligerent nations in the Pacific is involved.

The administration's bill now contains a clause which would prohibit any American vessel from carrying material to belligerents in any part of the world.

Sen. Nye (R-N.D.) told his colleagues that the administration's pending neutrality bill should be remodeled so as to retain the embargo on arms sales to belligerents and to provide other safeguards such as what he called an "unlimited war boom."

The North Dakotan took the floor to oppose the administration after Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) had supported it in a speech urging repeal of the arms embargo, which he described as favoring aggressor nations against peaceful nations.

Nine Cases Heard In Court Session

Nine cases were disposed of at this morning's session of Municipal recorder's court, the hearings having been completed before the noon hour.

Cornelius Sanders, Negro, charged with highway robbery with firearms, in which he netted only 30 cents, was bound over to Superior court under bond of $200, probable cause having been found in the case.

Leola Taylor Sanders, Negro, was given a six month sentence on a whiskey charge, from which she appealed and bond was set at $500. Vody Carrington, Negro, was bound over to Superior court under bond of $100 on a charge of breaking, entering and larceny. Henry Hothwa was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs, on a charge of being drunk and down.

John Dunbar, convicted of transporting whiskey, was given a four months term on the roads. H. L. Parker, convicted of drunkenness, was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs. James Norman, also charged with drunkenness, was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs. Johnnie Hale, convicted of being drunk and down, was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs. Arthur Lathan, Negro, was acquitted of a charge of assault on a female.

To Start Garnishee Proceedings Tuesday

Assistant City Tax Collector W. L. Patrick said today that Monday had been set as the dead line for paying personal taxes before garnishee proceedings would be started against delinquents.

Mr. Patrick said that letters had been sent to delinquents and added that these had brought good results, although there were a number of instances where the letters were ignored.

He added that garnishee proceedings against delinquents would be started on Tuesday.

Happy Homecoming For Iroquois Passengers

Smiling passenger waved cheerful greetings from the decks of the "threatened" American liner Iroquois as the ship reached New York after hectic crossing of the Atlantic. Two days before landing, they learned of the German "tip" warning of a supposed "plot" to sink the vessel with 584 Americans en route home from European war zones. United States naval destroyers convoyed the Iroquois after President Roosevelt received the "tip."

AIR PROBLEMS OF HOME LIFE

Institute at E. C. T. C. Discusses Housing Needs

The Home and Family Life Institute being conducted at East Carolina Teachers college is attracting a larger and interested attendance at the various sessions.

Miss Catherine Dennis opened the Friday morning meeting by skit-ting in the program for the day and then introduced the first speaker, Miss Katherine Holtzclaw of the East Carolina Teachers College home economics department.

Miss Holtzclaw, speaking on the topic of "Housing," presented vividly the competition from outside the home life has to meet to maintain a real home today and brought out four ways in which good housing can help the housewife hold her own. Proper housing, she said, contributes to a happy home life through adding to comfort and health, increasing aesthetic satisfaction, aiding in better performance of household tasks, and making possible a better social life and higher moral standards.

Mayor Jack Spain of Greenville followed Miss Holtzclaw with an address on city planning. Declaring Greenville to be one of the finest cities in eastern North Carolina, he pointed out its weakness from the point of view of the planned city and told delegates he was sure he could duplicate all of these in their own home towns, because North Carolina has in general not planned its town. He explained the present law permitting cities to elect a planning commission and giving them the right to levy taxes for recreation centers, etc., and to divide their town into zones to add to its beauty and convenience. He outlined plans for a city Planning Commission for Greenville and spoke of his hope that it would be able to function because of the contribution it has to make to the home and the family. Mr. Spain closed by expressing his hope that the Home and Family Life Institute would meet at East Carolina Teachers College again next year.

Dr. B. J. Slay, head of the E. C. T. C. Science Department, read a paper prepared by Mrs. Stewart Rogers, Asheville, well-known architect, on the basic principles to be followed in house designing so that the house will provide satisfaction for living activities.

Mr. W. T. Towe, Greensboro, of the Federal Housing Administration, next gave an excellent explanation of the purpose, problems, requirements, and types of loans of the F. H. A. He explained the policy of the agency to do its best to help the low-income family to own a home and to protect all three—the family, the lender of the money needed, and the F. H. A. in the transaction. The Greensboro F. H. A. office, he said, is having an average of 25 applications a week, and is always eager.

At Full Blast

The hundreds of persons who stayed away from the Pitt county fair yesterday and last night because of rain and threatening weather helped swell today's crowd to one of the largest to date.

Fair officials were expecting the biggest attendance of the week tonight as fair and comfortable weather prevailed, and farmers began to realize money from the sale of tobacco.

Exhibits will remain in place throughout tomorrow and crowds are expected both during the day and at night.

Thrift Shop Here Opens Monday

The Service League office and Thrift Shop have recently been moved to the second floor of the Key Brown building on Pine Point.

Daily office and shop hours are from 10 a. m. to 12, and from 2 to 4 p. m. All the league's work is carried on through this office and friends are welcome to visit it at any time.

As winter approaches the need of shoes and clothing is being felt. The Service League appeals to the public to give through the Thrift Shop as much wearing apparel as possible. Household goods are desirable also.

The Thrift Shop will open for the season Monday, October 16. The office telephone number is 2338. Those having articles to give may notify the shop and have their donations called for if they wish. Messages may be given Mrs. A. J. Moore who is chairman of the Thrift Shop.

5,000,000 Pounds Sold During Week

With the close of sales yesterday afternoon it was shown that more than 5,000,000 pounds of tobacco were on the floors for the opening week.

The market continued firm today at stabilized prices. Common and medium leaf was stronger than other types, it was reported.

The more than 5,000,000 pounds on the floors Tuesday morning was the largest amount ever in Greenville at one time.

The market's week closed yesterday with sales for the three days totalling 5,367,664 pounds and bringing $824,552.39, or an average of 15.36 cents per pound.

When the market closed on September 12 for the sales holiday, the Greenville market had averaged 13.82 cents.

So far this season 28,223,100 pounds of the golden week have been sold here and sales are 10,000,000 pounds ahead of last year.

FDR EXPLAINS RUSSIAN NOTE

Representations Are Merely Expression Of Interest

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that American representations to Soviet Russia were merely an expression of interest and hope that nothing would be done to disturb peaceful relations of the Baltics or the independence of Finland.

The chief executive told a press conference that the diplomatic action was not to be construed in any way as a pressure move by the American government.

For that reason because he did not want any misunderstanding, the president said, he was withholding the text of the note until the representation made at Moscow yesterday by Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt.

Asked about latest mutual peace bids from Berlin, the president had nothing to say on that. He declined in response to another question that he had received no official word from the German government.

New Union Bus Station Raleigh, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Utilities Commissioner Stanley W. Yonbors said today he had signed an order designating the new bus station now being built at Washington, N. C. as a union bus station.

The new station is to be leased jointly by the Norfolk Southern Bus corporation, the Seashore Transportation company and Sutherland Brothers truck line.

Bailey Favors Elections To Select Committeemen

Sen. Josiah W. Bailey in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace this week urged that township committeemen be elected at the polls, allowing growers to select the applicants to be named to establish individual tobacco acreage quotas.

Sen. Bailey's letter to Mr. Wallace follows: "Now that the referendum has been settled in favor of tobacco control, I wish to join with those who are urging you to see to it that all tobacco growers shall be eligible to vote in the selection of committeemen. I do not think this request can be refused. The right of a grower was in no way impaired by his vote in the control election.

"I wish also to urge that reasonable opportunity be given for representation on Committees of those who did not vote for control. Their qualifications are not affected, by the way they voted, and it would be undemocratic to consider that they were adversely affected.

DECREE ISSUED BY PRESIDENT

All Civilians Told to Stand Ready to Aid Government in Military Pursuit if Needed in Present Emergency; Country Determined to Retain Its Independence

Helsinki, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Kyyoseti Kallio issued a decree today ordering all civilians to hold themselves in readiness to aid the government in non-military pursuits if required by the present emergency.

The decree was issued as Finnish leaders continued to express optimism concerning their chances of receiving "acceptable" terms from Soviet Russia as the second day of Finnish-Russian talks began in Moscow. They hope their country will fare better than Baltic neighbors which have become virtual Russian protectorates as a result of Kremlin parleys.

The decree put into effect speculation previously drawn providing for war-time emergencies. The services of all citizens may be required for work applied directly or indirectly in connection with national defense.

The nations stepped up preparations to fight if necessary for its independence in keeping with the foreign minister's declaration that Finland would resist dictation.

The minister made his statement in a radio address after Finland had learned of United States representations to the Soviet government on her behalf.

The foreign minister reaffirmed Finland's will to peace but proclaimed her "full right to expect other nations to respect her integrity and not to threaten her safety.

Stockholm, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Swedish government tonight ordered the strengthening of military defenses in upper Norrland—north-east Sweden near the Finnish border.

Stockholm, Oct. 13.—(AP)—King Gustaf today invited and received acceptance from the kings of Denmark and Norway and the president of Finland to meet him in Stockholm October 18 presumably to discuss the Finnish-Russian question.

The specific questions to be discussed were not immediately disclosed but it was understood that the Finnish situation in the face of Russian expansion in the Baltic would predominate.

Abandon Attacks Paris, Oct. 13.—(AP)—German patrols were reported today suddenly to have abandoned attacks in which they have failed in five days to capture any French prisoners.

Gallogly And Wife United

Nervously smoking a cigarette, Richard Gallogly, fugitive lifter from Atlanta, Ga., and his wife, Vera, are shown in reunion at the county jail in Dallas, Texas, when she came there and surrendered on a fugitive warrant charging she aided him to escape from Georgia. Later she was released on $2,500 bond. Gallogly remained in jail pending an extradition hearing. He surrendered in Dallas four days after escaping from guards who were taking him from an Atlanta hospital to the state prison to continue his life sentence for a hold-up killing in Atlanta 10 years ago.

Liberal Group Opposes Stand of Chamberlain

Firm Position Praised In Other Quarters, However

London, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction, headed by David Lloyd George, Britain's World War prime minister, today characterized Chamberlain's stand as "quite inadequate."

Action by the council, an organization of dissident liberals, came on the heels of widespread newspaper and private comment praising the firm stand against Adolf Hitler taken by Chamberlain in his House of Commons speech yesterday.

Informed Britons said they believed the speech had finally convinced Germany that France and Britain were determined to fight to the bitter end. But the Council of Action asked the government "to state its willingness" to negotiate a peace.

After a private meeting the council announced: "While agreeing to the fullest that no peace which recognized and acquiesced in the results of aggression and no peace which does not give real security to the world can meet the need of the situation, it nevertheless calls upon the government to propose for consideration of the House of Commons and the country a fuller and more precise statement of the aims it desires to achieve and to state its willingness to submit these aims to a conference of belligerents and neutrals for the purpose of negotiating an enduring peace."

The move in the street felt that following their prime minister's rejection of Hitler's peace terms before the House of Commons the only doors left open were those leading to air raid shelters.

Father Of Local Man Is Claimed By Death Word has been received here of the death of Rev. G. P. Drum of Newton, father of B. B. Drum and grandfather of H. B. Drum, both of this city.

B. B. Drum left here yesterday afternoon upon being advised of the critical condition of his father, but death came before he reached Newton. Mrs. B. B. Drum, her daughter, Mary Dawn, and H. B. Drum left here this afternoon to attend the funeral services to be conducted at the home tomorrow afternoon. B. B. Drum is owner of Drum's Hatchery and H. B. Drum is desk sergeant at the local police headquarters.

The Rev. Mr. Drum was 80 years old in July. His twin brother, Thomas Drum of Statesville, died only about three weeks ago. The twins were known throughout Western Carolina and were believed to be among the oldest twins in the state.

Waiting for Response to Peace Talk By a Neutral

Nazis, Declaring United States is Only Nation With Power Enough to Make Effective Move, Says Any Mediation Must Come Without Further Action or Request by Germany

Berlin, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Authorized Nazis said today Germany was through with Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier, but still was waiting for a neutral response to Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech of last Friday.

Any such action by neutral nations—among whom they said they regarded the United States as the only one powerful enough to do something effective—however, must come from them and not as a result of any diplomatic action or request by Germany, they reported.

These interpretations of Germany's position were made after two developments:

1.—Dr. Otto Dietrich, Germany's press chief and one of Hitler's closest advisors, told a small group of foreign correspondents he thought that only the United States yet could intervene to prevent "the most gruesome bloodbath in history."

2.—An official press release of Chamberlain's speech yesterday said the Britons had "rejected the hand of peace stretched out to them by the Fuehrer" and Britain's war aims meant "war against the German people, war against the German Reich, war against annihilation."

It was pointed out authoritatively that Germany, though Dr. Dietrich and others, once more had warned what would be in store for the world if great Britain was not brought to the conference table.

But there is no reason, Nazis said, why Germany should go around to neutrals to request them to mediate.

Authorized sources said it is up to neutrals to make their voices heard on their own initiative and in connection with their responsibility—and not because Hitler or any other belligerent should ask them.

The official press release called Chamberlain's speech an "unheard of insult to Germany" and said that in it the prime minister "did not represent the cause of the people, but the cause of a small clique which sees its task in war."

Berlin, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Informed quarters reported tonight that Germany was exchanging views with Soviet Russia and Italy through her ambassadors following Prime Minister Chamberlain's rejection of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's peace proposals.

It was indicated Germany's next major war move would be taken after these consultations, which were understood to have started today.

Salesman Bearing Gems Is Abducted

Cincinnati, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Cincinnati police broadcast today that three robbers had kidnaped a New York sales man and fled with diamonds valued at $130,000.

Identity of the victim was not immediately available.

Police broadcast a description of the robbers with the information they had fled in a sedan bearing Indiana licenses.

Prepare For Play. When you pass through Winterville don't fail to notice the preparations being made for the reception of "The Princess" who is coming soon.

Bride-Elect Entertained. Miss Gretchen Willard, whose marriage to Mr. William C. Goodwin will be solemnized on Saturday, was extended a delightful compliment on Thursday evening when Miss Pearl Lautner entertained at her home on East Ninth street.

Gorgeous dahlias in beautiful arrangements decorated the rooms of the spacious home where the tables were set for bridge.

At the conclusion of the games, the hostess served a delicious ice course.

Miss Willard was remembered with a crystal sandwich plate. The high score prize, a bubble bowl, was won by Mrs. David Proctor, and the low a novelty salt and pepper shaker, by Mrs. Harry Hagerty.

The meeting was conducted by the retiring president, Mrs. W. R. Jones, and opened with the prayer of the order and the scripture reading by Mrs. Bryan, the chaplain.

Mrs. E. W. Harvey, the retiring secretary, read the minutes, Mrs. Richard Williams, the treasurer, called the roll and gave the report for the year, which showed that the activities had far exceeded those of a few previous years with much less effort on the part of their leader. To all requests the Patient Circle responded one hundred per cent. Mrs. Virginia Perkins gave the report from the convention, which was held in Charlotte October 4 and 5. She gave a wonderful detailed account of the 1939 activities of the circles throughout the state, which showed that all circles were much alive.

Mrs. Moyer, the retiring state president, told how the chapel at Stone-wall Jackson Training School, located near Concord, N. C., was about to be started, which has been one of The King's Daughters' greatest aims for the past few years.

After Mrs. Moyer had fully decided not to accept the office again, Mrs. P. W. Young was elected to take her place as the state president. Mrs. Moyer served faithfully for eight years.

At a previous meeting the president appointed a nominating committee, with Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth as chairman, Mrs. Virginia Perkins and Mrs. Richard Williams to recommend new officers for the new year, so this committee was asked to present the slate and it was unanimously accepted. They are:

President, Mrs. E. W. Harvey; secretary, Mrs. Patsy Randolph, treasurer, Mrs. Richard Williams.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of one of our officers, the installation of the new officers will be at the next meeting. Mrs. Jones then gave a few remarks on the subject "Our Duty As a King's Daughter," closing with these questions:

1. Does my life as a King's Daughter inspire and encourage others?

2. Am I living up to my privileges of membership?

3. What have I done to ease the burdens of others?

4. Am I proud of the part my circle has played in this and other years' work?

5. Am I prompt and regular at all meetings?

6. Have I myself kept up with my dues?

7. Will I take steps to answer yes to all these questions, and will I remember the motto each day? To look up and not down. To look forward and not back. To look out and not in. And lend a hand.

The meeting adjourned and closed with the mizpah. A social hour was then enjoyed. The hostess served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Jones gave a toast to the Daughters:

"Here's to 'The King's Daughters' Order. And the work that they have done."

Here's to the Daughters' colors, The Purple and Silver tone. 'The Beverage,' 'the beverage,' bring hither. Glasses full to the brim. May The King's Daughters' strength never waver. Nor the glory of their colors grow dim."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Rebekah Coon

Hollywood—An independent company is making a movie called "Hitler, the Beast of Berlin." Its trade-paper ad screams: "No war, no hate, no propaganda—but what a story!"

My eyebrows are pushing back my toupee!

Also brow-lifting, as 20th Century-Fox launches its "Grapes of Wrath." is a Warner ad on "Lust Be My Destiny," referring to the latter as the "first blazing story of America's migratory workers."

From the flaming pages of the novel that shocked the world... (story) of a boy and girl searching for the grapes of happiness, battling alone against the wrath of a violent destiny.

Passing from the ridiculous to the sublime, it's a pleasure to report that 73-year-old August Tolaire, after four years away from the screen, is back in action with his rouble-pointed white beard—the only thing in Hollywood that is actually bathed in milk.

Director Irving Cummings put him into "Everything Happens at Night," the Sonja Henie picture.

Pat O'Brien slipped into pictures through a mistake by the Howard Hughes organization making "The Front Page"—when Pat, who had played the managing editor in a road company, was signed for the starring role because of his performance.

Now it comes out that another Hughes mistake is responsible for Randolph Scott's glacial career: Scott is playing his 53rd movie role in "20,000 Men a Year," and it all began when he was a guest at the Hughes home, planning to head back for Virginia.

Before departure, he told Howard he'd like to see the inside of a movie studio. Hughes misunderstood—thought Randy had said he would like to "work in one." Hughes wasn't in production at the time but he fixed it for the Fox studio, and when Scott arrived to "visit" he went to work instead—as an extra in a George O'Brien-Lois Moran movie called "Sharpshooters." He liked it, and he stayed.

If you doubt that Lana Turner has arrived, take a squint (but through sun-glasses) at Lana's new car: it's a red model brighter than Baby Sandy's smile. But the girl can live up to it—after "Dancing Coed."

Paul Willska, who sometimes lives in a fog of his own making, was ready to give of his mists to the new "Raffles" but was thwarted. Sam Wood, the director, decided to be different: he would make "Raffles" without fog. And this was tough on Paul, for whom fog is but one branch of the movie magic.

Willska is the man who once "mediated" a movie fog so that Clara Bow, suffering a cold, could work in the mist and take her medicine simultaneously. He's the man, too, who introduced a hint of perfume in the fog, much to the pleasure of the performers. He made his first fog from steam 23 years ago.

Strip-Cropping Proves Valuable and Inexpensive

Releigh, Oct. 12.—Valuable, inexpensive and practical is the way R. E. Nifong of Davidson county describes strip-cropping to control erosion and build up the fertility of his land. E. B. Garrett, state coordinator of the Soil Conservation Service, with headquarters at State College, says that Mr. Nifong is one of the most progressive farmers in the erosion control demonstration area near Lexington.

but steam was too hot and didn't last. He changed to oil, a fine mineral oil, which he heated and blew under pressure through a small nozzle. For a finer, lighter mist, he has used dry ice and steam, satisfactory, but cold. It was Paul who fogged up, and very nicely, such art pieces as "Wuthering Heights."

When erosion control plans were worked out on my farm three years ago, I told technicians of the Soil Conservation Service that I didn't think much of the new idea of strip-cropping, but I agreed to give it a try on a four-acre field." Mr. Nifong declared. "After observing results on this field, which was not terraced, I asked that a revised cropping plan be worked out to include strip-cropping on a ten-acre field." Mr. farmer added.

Literary Department Meets
The Literary Department of the Woman's club held its first regular meeting of the current year in the parlors of the woman's club building on Tuesday afternoon, October 10.

Mrs. J. L. Savage and Mrs. C. D. Tunstall were hostesses to about 25 regular members and new members. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. K. T. Futrell who suggested that each one present answer the roll call with a brief account of how and where she spent the summer. Most everyone was away from Greenville some time during the summer.

The program was in charge of Mrs. R. L. Hildrup who gave a most interesting and informative paper on Dowager Queen Mary. Mrs. Hildrup's account included some information by Kathleen Woodward when she was collecting material to publish about Queen Mary. Miss Woodward found that while Queen Mary was attempting to better conditions for working classes she did much work herself. She was kind, sympathetic and understanding. She is greatly loved by her people, and her devotion to her husband during his declining years added to her laurels. Although she is no longer a ruler she has not ceased to give her valuable assistance to the new queen and the children of the present rulers. Few people have been able to step down from a place of authority with so much grace.

One of Queen Mary's greatest contributions to her people was the opening of the school for nursing in London in 1926.

The new members are: Miss Elizabeth England, Mrs. C. W. Capps, Mrs. James R. Worsley, Mrs. J. C. Reynolds and Mrs. Louis S. Harrison.

Miss Willard Entertained
Mrs. E. L. Baker entertained at a delightful bridge luncheon, at her home on East Eighth street, on Thursday, honoring Miss Gretchen Willard bride-elect of October 14.

Four tables were arranged in the living rooms which were attractively decorated with artistic arrangements of flowers in the brilliant colors of autumn. Vases of ageratum centered each table.

At 1 o'clock luncheon was served followed by a dessert course. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Pauline Davis and Mrs. M. T. Bradshaw.

During the afternoon bridge was enjoyed. To the honoree Mrs. Baker presented a crystal salad set. High score prize, a double deck of cards with score pads and pencils, was won by Mrs. A. S. Jordan of Washington, N. C. Jugs, of orange color, filled with flowers, were given as table prizes and were won by Mrs. David Proctor, Miss Pearl Lantres, Mrs. Mason Yates and Mrs. Earl Lang of Walstonburg.

Facing Charge Of Hit - Run Driving

Scott Sutton of Stokestown was bound over to Superior court on a charge of hit and run driving, driving drunk, careless and reckless and operating a motor vehicle without a license at a preliminary hearing this morning before Magistrate John Ivey Smith.

Sutton is alleged to have run into LeRoy Cherry, son of W. G. Cherry, on Tuesday and to have continued on without stopping to render aid. Sutton was arrested by State Highway Patrolman C. R. Williams following an investigation. The officer said Sutton admitted the hit and run and driving without a license charges, but denied he was drunk.

The collision occurred near Cox's mill while young Cherry was returning from school on his bicycle.

Five Convicted Of Defrauding Govt.

Cleveland, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Five members and the secretary of the Cleveland Plastering Contractors Association were convicted today of defrauding the United States government by collusive bidding on school repair contracts financed by federal funds.

A federal court jury acquitted the defendants on two other counts contained in a joint indictment. They accused the men of arranging separate bids on contracts and with meeting in December, 1935, to tabulate bids.

The defendants were Charles S. Bonnell, Patrick J. Holmes, Herman H. Deter, George F. McKenney and Harry Dalton, members of the association, and Ira S. Gifford, secretary.

U. S. District Attorney Emerich B. Freed at the opening of the trial September 26 before Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin, said prosecution was linked with the national campaign of the Department of Justice against alleged restraint of trade in the building industry.

Gov. Olson Seeks To Free Billings

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Gov. Olson's first official act was the granting of a full pardon to Tom Mooney, also convicted of the bombing.

He repeatedly has stated his belief in the innocence of both Mooney and Billings, who always insisted they were "rail-roaded" to prison for the bombing by elements opposed to their labor-leading activities.

Development set aside lay days in which quail hunting would be prohibited in Pitt county, revealed today he had been advised that such a regulation had been adopted.

The regulation was regarded necessary because of the fact that a number of surrounding counties had such a law and unless some restrictions were adopted for this county hunters from elsewhere would descend on Pitt in large numbers.

Counties which previously had lay days, the same as adopted for Pitt, are Greene, Lenoir, Jones, Craven, Carteret and Onslow.

Washington Daybook
 By Preston Grover

Washington — Chamberlain's statement that not a single ship had been lost from a convoy during the war emphasized how a simple expedient has proved the best protection against the submarine. The convoy system works because of two major factors. Submarines cannot travel fast or far under water. On top of the water they are as vulnerable as three men in a tub.

If a submarine is compelled to stay under water to escape observation from the destroyers protecting the convoy, it can not overtake the convoy. A submarine has only one chance against a convoy. If by a break the convoy sails up to a hidden submarine, the sub may sink one or more ships.

Convoy groups of merchant vessels are assembled according to a pre-arranged plan. The plan may have been handed to each ship before it sails from its home port, so that each boat knows where and when on its return voyage, it will be huddled together with other merchant ships and moved home under protection of destroyers.

The rendezvous may be out in mid-Atlantic. Often it is in a protected port such as Gibraltar. From previous instructions each ship will know its place in the formation. It will have also a chart exactly mapping its course, even telling when to zig and when to zag.

Captains Lose Authority
 The moment when his ship joins the convoy, each captain loses his independence of action. The destroyer commanders take over. For a convoy of a dozen ships there may be only two destroyers. For a convoy of 60 or more ships, eight or more destroyers may be assigned.

Their general direction is toward an English port. They don't sail straight for home. They may sail the first 15 miles at an angle to the south then turn back. They may be unlucky and run right into a submarine. But the idea of the zig-zag course is to prevent a submarine from knowing in advance where to be in wait.

The Creeping Man
 by Frances Shelley Woss

YESTERDAY: Higgins is acutely embarrassed by questions about the Murchisons. A youngster, Gordon Deane, warns the Forrester about the loneliness of the campus, and the possibility of a burglar. Michael hurries him off for a private talk.

Chapter Six
Course of Action
 TUCK was irate. "Michael's got a secret and he won't tell me what it is."

"He's a lawyer, Tuck. Lawyers can't tell their wives everything."
 "Poof. This hasn't anything to do with lawyering. It's a secret about this house, Bunny, about this place where we're living in. Something awful—here we're right in it, and that Michael thinks he's going to keep it from us."

"Surely, Tuck—isn't it your imagination again?" Bunny surveyed her friend laughingly.
 "Bunny, stop talking to me like that! I tell you, I know it! I can see it. So could you, Bunny Temple, if you'd look. Why—didn't you see how shifty and funny that fellow was? He was scared to death to talk for fear we'd find out something. And I'll just bet that surprised Michael, too; he wouldn't have asked Higgins anything in front of me if he'd expected him to know anything. And that boy—sneaking his dog on my cat just in time to keep Higgins from saying something!"

"I don't know. Something. Something about the Murchisons. And then he tells us all this stuff about burglars just because he wants us to go away—and Miss Lissey doesn't want us here—and Michael's father does want us here, Bunny—and you know what an old fog he is. I tell you, Bunny, we're living in a mystery!"
 Bunny dropped down on the porch steps and surveyed Tuck's flushed face and shining eyes with interest. "I begin almost to see glimmerings of sense in what you're saying, Tuck," she said slowly, "when you start mentioning the District Attorney. Did you know that I met him on the street, and he asked me pointblank if I were coming out here with you?"

"He did? Really?"
 Bunny nodded.
 "There," said Tuck. "That just goes to show. I knew he had something up his sleeve. He didn't want me to be here alone, even in the daytime. He's a nice thing even if he is so—Bunny, she broke off suddenly, "what do you suppose it is? A murder? Do you suppose...?"
 She shuddered.
 "Don't be silly, Tuck. If it were a murder the boy and the gardener wouldn't be mixed up in it."

"And Miss Lissey—they're terribly queer, Bunny. But Michael made me so cross! He let me sit here on the steps and tell him everything I know about Duncanson, Murchison and Miss Lissey and everything, and he didn't tell me a thing! It isn't fair, Bunny. And now he's gone over there with Gordon—tent indeed!" she sniffed. "He's gone over there with Gordon just to ask him questions. Questions!"
 "But Tuck—about what? Questions about what?" Bunny's brow was wrinkled.
 "That's it. About what? Bunny, let's find out!"

Charlotte Jean
 TUCK, looking out over a garden from which the morning sun had not yet taken all the dew, murmured to herself, "I wish I had a crystal. I wish I had something I could ask questions and get the right answers." She tapped idly on the screen as she communed thus with Nature and herself.
 It certainly seemed important to get information from somewhere—and since Tuck had no crystal and wouldn't have known what to do with it if she had, she was forced to consider other ways of attaining her object; and in a very few minutes she was at the telephone. She dialed the number and arrived at the possible solution of the telephone book. She flew through the study door to the little table just inside the dining room door, upon which stood the telephone with its directory lying beside it. She opened the book quickly and thumbed over its pages.

"D. D. D.," she muttered. "It isn't a common name. He said she lived with the Devoes."
 "Beg your pardon, Mrs. Forrester, ma'am?" Charlotte Jean busy putting shining blue and white china into the cabinet, turned.
 "I wasn't saying anything, Charlotte Jean," Tuck answered absently.

"No, Mrs. Forrester," Charlotte Jean replied obligingly. She took out a yellow bowl and gave it an extra polish.
 "There it is!" Tuck cried. "I knew it—but surely—!" She turned to the maid suddenly. "Charlotte Jean, isn't this house Number Ten, University Campus?"
 "It is, Mrs. Forrester, or shall I go and look?"
 "Of course it is. I knew it. Well—where would Number Eight, University Campus be?"
 "It would be the house down at the end of the Horseshoe like Mrs. Forrester, ma'am, wouldn't it? The one next to the old maid's house."
 "Miss Lissey's," Tuck corrected.

North Carolina failed to enact a wage-hour law at the last session of the General Assembly, but even so it appears that more than a little progress has been made in the state with reference to hours of work of its store employees and also with reference to regulation of their habits.

Here are regulations of a North Carolina department store of 1854: "Store will be opened promptly at six a.m. and will remain open until nine p.m. the year round. "Store must be swept; counters, base, shelves, and show cases dusted. Lamps trimmed filled, and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a scrub of coal must be brought in by each clerk before breakfast if there is time to do so, and attend the customers who call. "Store must not be opened on the Sabbath Day unless absolutely necessary and then only for a few minutes.

"Any employee who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, getting shaved at a barber shop, going to dances and other places of amusement will surely give his employer reason to suspect his integrity and all-round honesty. "Each employee must pay not less than five dollars per year to the church and must attend Sunday School every Sunday. "Men employees are given one evening a week for courting purposes, and two if they go to prayer meeting regularly. "After fourteen hours of work in the store the leisure time should be spent in good reading."

Man About Manhattan
 By George Tucker
 New York—The old rag man, the umbrella man, the organ-grinder with his monkey, the push-cart man, especially the pushcart hombra, like Horatio Alger heroes, are being systematically driven from the streets. "Picturesque but a nuisance" is the way Commissioner of Markets Morgan sums them up.

And how are they a nuisance? They disrupt traffic. They pay no city tax or sales tax. They buy no licenses. It isn't fair to rent-payers and legitimate merchants. To let these fellows wander through the street, peddling everything from spare automobile parts to shoe-strings and cabbage. They've got to go.

It was Commissioner Morgan who sneered at public sentiment—and rightly so—when the peddlers were driven from Paddy's Market some time ago. Paddy's Market for 50 years was the heaven of push-carts, on Ninth avenue between 38th and 42nd streets. There was an outcry when the market was finally closed, whereupon Commissioner Morgan, dumbfounded, inquired: "Don't those who weep sentimental tears for Paddy's Market realize that it was the filthiest in the city? The push-carts violate the Open Air Divisions regulations. They cost the city half a million dollars a year, picking up the trash they throw away."
 So 1939 is twilight for Manhattan's street criers. One will miss the chestnut vendor with his black, sooty, charcoal roaster, standing on bleak corners in winter. One will miss him and all his tattered brethren who, like everything else here,

WAGE EARNERS PILE UP FUNDS

Huge Amount Credited to Social Security Accounts

Rocky Mount, Oct. 12.—Wages totaling $3 billion dollars paid by business and industry to insured workers since the first of January 1937, have been credited to the wage records kept for those workers by the Social Security Board. These wage credits will be used in determining the size of the monthly checks which will be sent to beneficiaries when they become entitled to old-age insurance benefits. Under the new social security program, monthly payments start in 1940.

This statement was made today by E. S. Marshall, manager of the Rocky Mount field office of the Social Security Board. He also said that on particular account number is used in identifying the social security account of one particular employee. Delays in the Board's accounting procedure result when the employer's wage report fails to show the social security account number as well as the full name of each employee. Such omissions make it impossible for the Social Security Board to credit the reported wages to the proper account until the necessary information is obtained. This, he pointed out, is because there are thousands of workers who have identical names. But no two have the same number.

Mr. Marshall explained that an immediate posting of the wage item to the proper account may be delayed by one of several errors: (1) The inaccurate recording of a worker's account number on the employer's books; (2) the employer's failure to see that his employee records his name with exactly the same spelling which he used when he applied for an account number; (3) illeible recording of the worker's name on the wage and tax information report.

Mr. Marshall mentioned the fact that a wage earner sometimes makes the mistake of getting more than one social security account number. The result of this error is that he has as many accounts on the books of the Social Security Board as he has account numbers. Consequently, when he files a claim for benefits, it is more difficult to assemble his wage credits than it would be if they were all under one account and one number.

During the past 12 months, the field force of the Social Security Board has been making direct contact with employers to obtain information which will enable the accounting division to transfer to the proper worker's accounts, all items which it was not possible to identify otherwise.

It was pointed out that most of the inaccuracies are those which occurred during 1937, when many men were not as familiar with old-age insurance provisions as they are today. Mr. Marshall said that employers now realize the significance of the account number, and it is expected that the quarterly wage report which every employer will send to the government this month, will show the correct name, account number, and wages paid each of his employees.

IT'S A VERY SNAPPY TURTLE
 Frederick, Md.—AP)—J. Paul Delpey's snapping turtle is the biggest reservoir of soup stock the Smithsonian Institution ever heard of—40 pounds in the raw.
 Boys chased the big turtle out of a creek several years ago and either cornered it or it cornered the boys. The stories differ. Anyway, a farmer rescued either the turtle or the boys with a pitchfork and Delpey put the turtle in a concrete tank.
 It weighed 34 pounds then and gained on a diet of meat scraps and bait fish. Smithsonian officials said the turtle, now 16 inches wide and 17 long, is eight pounds heavier than the lightest of its kind on record.

Tripp's Market Opens Tomorrow

JASPER!

We Sincerely offer our congratulations upon your entering business. During the time you were associated with us our dealings were most pleasant. May our loss of your services prove your gain in business for yourself.

J. B. Oakley & Son

Conveniently Located For Parking at Corner Of Evans And Second

To Handle All Kinds Of Groceries and Meats

Tripp's market, owned and operated by Jasper L. Tripp, will formally open for business at the corner of Evans and Second streets tomorrow morning.

The store will carry a complete line of groceries and meats, including sea food, at all times. The grocery is conveniently located in front of the armory building, plenty of parking space being available.

Mr. Tripp said it would be his aim to establish a record for prompt service and invites patronage on this theory.

The building, formerly occupied by a Home grocery store, has been renovated, painted, etc., and new equipment has been purchased and stock shelves conveniently arranged for displaying goods. Two large front windows also provide display space.

Mr. Tripp will be aided by an efficient and experienced corps of assistants. The store will be open from 6:30 a. m. until 7 p. m.

A number of opening-day specials have been arranged for tomorrow, but the owner declared that he would feature quality merchandise and popular prices at all times.

Mr. Tripp is well-known in Pitt county. He was born and reared about eight miles from Greenville, near Pactolus, but has made his home in Greenville since 1935. For the past year he had been associated with J. B. Oakley and Son, Insurance firm, and has made a large number of friends in this capacity.

Teachers Ready Leave For Battle in Norfolk

To Engage Naval Base Eleven Tomorrow Afternoon

Coach O. A. Hankner's East Carolina Teachers College Pirates will leave Greenville tomorrow morning at 6:30 o'clock for Norfolk, Va., where they will engage the United States Naval Base in a grueling classic tomorrow afternoon. They will return to this city late Saturday night.

No news about the playing skill of the Pirates for this season has reached the Pirate camp, but the Naval apprentices usually produce a good team and will put up a good battle against the crippled Pirate team when they clash on Saturday.

Floyd Hinton is confined and will not be able to play football the remainder of the season. Adrian Brown, who received a hip injury in the Pirate-Campbell tilt, will be unable to play for three weeks. His playing, like Hinton's, will be missed Saturday.

er to serve the state of North Carolina by contributing to better housing for its people.

The last address of the morning was given by Professor M. L. Wright, E. C. T. C. faculty. His topic, "How to Use Your Community's Resources," was developed in a way to give practical suggestions to members of the various communities represented in the audience.

The topic of management of the family's finances was scheduled for the afternoon session today to close the two-day institute, with Miss Pauline Gordon, home management specialist of the State Extension Service, Miss Lois Rainwater, home demonstration agent of Wilson county and Mrs. R. B. Robinson of the Home Demonstration club group and Mrs. P. F. Walston, P. T. A. delegate, taking part on the program.

The Institute took up yesterday afternoon and last night three main topics: (1) health problems of the family, with Dr. George M. Cooper, of the Public Health Service, giving ing the main address, and a number of other speakers following with their particular phases of the problems; (2) the importance of books and magazines to the home, discussed by Miss Marjorie Beale, Director of State Library Commission; and (3) guidance of children, and family relationships, which was presented by Mrs. Bess N. Rosa, field worker in parent education, as the main speaker, and further discussed by a panel composed of representatives of a dozen different agencies.

helping sponsor the institute, including the P. T. A., the federated Women's clubs, the State Department of Public Instruction, The Home Demonstration and Extension Service, the A. A. U., the Farm Security Administration, college, high school, and elementary school teachers, the State Board of Health, the State Library Commission, and the W. P. A., and practically all of these groups have furnished speakers in the various programs.

In the afternoon Dr. George M. Cooper, in his address on the work being done in public health in North Carolina, brought out the fact that health is primarily a problem in education. We know enough now about health to change the life of the state," said Dr. Cooper, "but the difficulty is in making this information available to the mass of the people."

Various phases of the health problem were then discussed by other speakers. Mr. Charles Spencer, State Department of Public Instruction, spoke of the progress of health instruction in the schools, declaring that they do much more than they used to; and pointing out particular lines of growth, he added that they need more money set aside for supplies, more time devoted to developing the interest of the child, and better instruction.

Dr. T. N. Ennett, of the Pitt County Board of Health, followed with an interesting presentation of the case for better dental care and more universal immunization to diseases susceptible of control in this way.

Mrs. Brooks Tucker, Home Demonstration Club representative, described the work of her organization as it contributes to health. Mrs. R. W. Isley, Pinetops, P. T. A. delegate, spoke about nutrition from the point of view of the mother.

Mrs. Lourene Moore, supervisor of W. P. A. luncheons, gave an account of the aims and accomplishments of the luncheons, pointing out their great part in nutrition and prophesying luncheons in all schools serving the same well-balanced hot lunch for all pupils. Mrs. Pearl Alund, Asplen teachers, also talked of the handling of the school luncheon and the value of the hot lunch in the work and health of the children.

The late afternoon was devoted to a consideration of the relation of books and magazines to the home. Miss Marjorie Beale, State Library Commission discussed outstanding books and pamphlets on various phases of family life, and urged her audience to check on their community and school libraries and if the books mentioned were not there, to ask that they be borrowed from the Library Commission.

At the night program, Miss Katherine Holtzclaw, Mrs. Bess N. Rosa presented unanswerable arguments for education for all in family life. After showing the great change in many aspects of home life during the past twenty-five years that make it impossible for young people to learn homemaking by the "apprenticeship method," she pointed out some of the things that need to be taught, making them vivid by illustration, and put the question "Where and how shall we have this training, and who shall give it?"

The panel which followed, led by Mrs. J. S. Blair, a representative of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers, brought out various ideas as to the proper answer to Mrs. Rosa's question. Taking part in the panel were Dr. Richard Ritchie, State Board of Public Welfare; Miss Rose Mills, supervisor W. P. A. nursery schools; Mrs. Florence Cordova, Morehead City high school home economics teacher; Mrs. A. E. Bloxton, East Carolina Teachers College home economics teacher, and Mrs. Clarence Stevens, Kinston, speaking for parents. Also, a number of the audience spoke from the floor on debatable points.

After the night session, members of the group were entertained in the Home Management House of the College, which is under the direction of Mrs. A. E. Bloxton.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, Oct. 13 (AP) - Cotton stock market experienced a few war-buyming tremors in the early part of today's proceedings, but these quickly faded in most cases.

Gains running to two points or so at a fairly lively opening were cut down substantially or cancelled and near the fourth hour moderate losses were well distributed.

The initial run-up was attributed principally to the overnight news from abroad indicating possibilities of a long drawn-out conflict with resultant benefits to American industry.

As Ye Sow, So Shall Ye Reap.
Roanoke, Va. - (AP) - Mrs. S. S. Scruggs, who had already complained to her husband that "you smoke once a day, and that's all day," probably said "I told you so" when she saw a tomato gathered from a plant Mr. Scruggs had set out.

The fruit the plant bore was a small tomato in the shape of a pipe, with a perfectly defined bowl and a two-inch stem.
