

EDGE CLAIMED BY BRITAIN IN AIR CONTESTS

Estimated 25 Percent of Nazi Attackers Downed

SAYS SYMPATHY IS WITH ALLIES

Prime Minister Also Declares That Britain Winning Over Germany in Propaganda

London, Oct. 18.—(AP) Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that Britain was winning over Germany in the propaganda battle over war issues.

Making his seventh weekly report on progress of the war, Chamberlain also said that in addition to eight German aircraft known to have been shot down in air battles over the British Isles "it is believed" that several more "may have failed to reach home."

Total German aircraft taking part in the raid, he said, did not exceed 30 and casualties inflicted by British guns and fighters exceeded 25 per cent and may have been more.

The prime minister said that since his last rejection of German peace proposals as too vague, "there has been no indication from Berlin of the views of the German government upon the issues" and continued.

"German propaganda organs have used all possible ingenuity so as to twist foreign comment as to make it somewhat less unfavorable to their own point of view."

"I should doubt whether this effort has had any success outside Germany itself, for it is difficult to conceal the facts that the vast bulk of comment of nearly all shades of political color in neutral countries has shown a full appreciation of the attitude of the allied governments."

The prime minister spoke of "fantastic claims" by Germany of successful attacks on British war vessels and declared:

"It is not true that the Hood or the Repulse or any other capital ship has suffered the least damage. The same is true of the Ark Royal."

Bureau Committee To Get Call Soon

J. E. Winslow, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, said today that he would call a meeting of that organization's executive committee in the near future.

Resolutions passed by various county bureaus asking that something be done to try and get "parity" prices for this year's tobacco crop.

Mr. Winslow made his statement following a meeting of Farm Bureau members held at the county house last night. The Pitt county bureau already had come on record as requesting the state bureau to take up the question of "parity" prices with federal officials.

Other county bureaus have passed similar resolutions and the meeting of the executive committee will be called to decide on what course to pursue.

The attending last night's meeting declared themselves in favor of working with other county bureaus on the state committee in any undertaking that is decided upon.

The session lasted for two hours, during which time the general farm situation, especially tobacco, was discussed in detail.

Word Is Received Of Mrs. Hawkins' Death

Word has been received here of the death last night at 7:30 of Mrs. C. T. Hawkins of Hertford, sister of Mrs. Milton White of Greenville.

Mrs. White was with her sister when she died and Mr. White left this morning to attend the funeral services to be conducted at the graveside in Cedarwood cemetery this afternoon.

Mrs. Hawkins, a native of Perquimans county, was 71 years old. She had been ill for some time.

Explosion

Eldred, Pa., Oct. 18.—(AP)—An explosion today shattered the explosive mixing plant of the National Powder company near here, killing at least five men.

Forty-five men were employed in buildings clustered about the gelatin pack plant, where nitro glycerine is made, but a preliminary survey disclosed that no others had been injured.

All communication with the plant was cut off by lines of gas after the blast, but Justice of the Peace Jack Loftis said he understood the five fatalities had been working in the mixing plant, a stone structure.

Gala Berlin Heaps Praise On Crew Of U-Boat Which Sank British Battleship

Clerk Held for 'Mercy Killing'

Dozed and disheveled, Lawrence Rougeau (right) is shown with Assistant District Attorney Jacob Rosenblum who said the unemployed soda clerk had confessed he drowned his five-year-old stepson, Jimmy, in a bathtub in their New York City home "because he was groaning and I was afraid he was going crazy like his mother." Rougeau claimed he was influenced by reading of Louis Repouille killing his blind and feeble-minded son in New York last week as "an act of mercy."

Election Dates Set For Township Committeemen

MUCH ACTIVITY ON BOTH SIDES

Big Battle Expected Shortly on Western Front

Basel, Switzerland, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Rear areas on both sides of the Western front settled with a truce today in the wake of German thrusts which Swiss observers believed were intended to divert attention from preparations for a bigger push.

These observers said the offensive when it comes probably will be directed against the Wissembourg-Lauterbourg-Rhine triangle near the middle of the German-French frontier.

For the third successive day and night it was reported the Germans continued to concentrate food and offensive materials at Karlsruhe and other points in the strategic Lauterbourg sector.

The concentration movement was said to have been in no way affected by assaults which the Germans have been making on the northeastern end of the front near the Moselle river.

The French dispatches indicate, however, that the German concentration with their own reinforcements.

Early last evening French long-range artillery shelled French lines in the German rear for an hour in an apparent attempt to disrupt the concentrations.

Mutual Assault Case Continued To Nov. 6

It was revealed at police headquarters this morning that the case charging Mrs. Ollie Van Nortwick, Sr. and Mrs. C. D. Meeks with mutual assault as the result of an alleged altercation on Dickinson avenue near Five Points Saturday night, has been continued until November 6.

Warrants have been sworn out and the case, which was originally set for last Monday, will not be tried before the first Monday in November.

Vehicles Damaged In Collision On Tuesday

Two men were booked at police headquarters yesterday on charges of careless and reckless driving following a collision at the corner of Broadway and Chestnut streets late yesterday afternoon.

The two booked are Archie Griffin, who was driving a truck, and Joe Taft, Negro, who was driving a passenger car. Both vehicles were damaged, but no one was injured.

U. S. PASSENGER SHIP BATTERED IN HEAVY GALE

Liner President Harding Radioed Many Are Injured

MEMBER OF CREW LOST OVERBOARD

Announced Meanwhile Another American Vessel has Picked up Survivors Of 2 British Ships

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The storm-battered American liner President Harding radioed the United States Line offices here today that 45 passengers and 28 members of the crew had been injured, and that Paul Johnson, a cabin waiter, had presumably been lost overboard at the height of a heavy gale.

Meanwhile the U. S. Maritime Commission said 300 survivors had been rescued by the American liner Independence Hall from two British ships, the 1618-ton passenger liner Yorkshire and the 3,509-ton freighter City of Mandalay, sunk about 500 miles off the coast of France.

In London operators of the City of Mandalay said they had information the ship had been attacked and sunk.

Meanwhile two U. S. Coast Guard cutters sped to the aid of the President Harding and the 3,509-ton British steamer Blairbirnie.

Captain James E. Roberts of the President Harding notified the U. S. line offices that he was to about 800 miles from Boston in urgent need of medical aid for "many seriously injured in heavy weather."

A later message from the President Harding stated:

"During heavy storms many sustained injuries, crew and passengers. Ten serious. Also number nine life boat and davit and starboard side rail swept away. May have to make Halifax. Heavy seas at present."

Boston, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A coast guard vessel today placed urgently needed medical supplies aboard the American liner President Harding, approximately 20 of whose refugee passengers were reported seriously injured during a gale.

President Speaks At Assembly Hour

Dr. Leon R. Meadows made a most interesting talk to the faculty and student body of East Carolina Teachers College at Tuesday assembly. His topic being "For What Are We Educating?"

Dr. Meadows compared a life with the perimeter of a circle which increases in size as it is pushed out to include more interests through years of study. He said that he had in mind a number of aims and motives for a real education.

Giving as the first goal education for happiness, he declared that students must be trained to enjoy life if they are not our institutions at fault. However, Dr. Meadows stated emphatically that those who seek happiness for happiness often fail to find it for happiness is a by-product of satisfactory and wholesome living. "You are happy when you give yourself to help others," he said. As an illustration, he gave the enjoyment of literature rather than intensive study to grades. He maintained that the student who gains from his courses does not choose the easy ones necessarily, but he does work hardest when most interested.

His second aim suggested for education was economic efficiency. Here, Dr. Meadows gave an account of a man who claimed independence of next but was dependent on his wife, merely because of lack of funds. He needed to procure a lawyer for defense. The relief rolls also seem to be due largely to ignorance in the line of making a living. If during the past fifty years people had been educated in the live-at-home program so that each farmer would raise most of his necessary food, there would be fewer impoverished by the present one-crop system, said Dr. Meadows.

As a third aim, President Meadows gave education for character. "Character comes through performance of duty, and is the development of something in our fiber which causes us to be honest, to be trustworthy, to be sincere," he declared.

The next aim he stated was education for democracy. He thought this exceedingly important because of the fact that a democracy functions only through the people who must be properly educated in order to rule intelligently and successfully.

Other aims were education for responsibility, "which is necessary in one who wishes to attain a trustworthy and honorable position"; and education for adjustment to environment. He stated that the ability to adjust oneself to an environment is of continuing importance.

Continue Probe Into Local Store Robbery

Police officials are continuing their investigation of the robbery of Rose's store here Monday night, but admit that they have uncovered no definite clues.

The store's safe was pried open by a robber or robbers, but how the store was entered remains a mystery.

Investigating officers said they had discovered that the store could have been entered by tripping the catch on the shut to the coal bin.

The robber or robbers left the store by removing a bar from a back door, but officers have not been able to determine definitely how the store was entered.

The population of Albania is chiefly Mohammedan, the population having been converted from Christianity.

EFFORT AIMED AT DICTATORS

West Virginian Asserts During Senate Debate on Neutrality That "The Only Reason We Are In Session is to Help England and France In Their Conflict With Germany"

Washington, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Senator Holt (D-W. Va.) charged in the Senate today that President Roosevelt had pledged this country to aid England and France in an "attempt to stop the dictators by force."

"The only reason we are in session—and there is no use trying to fool the people—is to help England and France defeat Germany," Holt shouted as he pounded his desk for emphasis.

Holt agreed with Sen. Holman (R-Ore.) that if German submarine attacks continue their recent successes that Congress might be called into special session again to again revise neutrality laws to permit direct shipments to England and France.

The Oregon senator had interrupted to observe that Germany had scored some "remarkable successes" in the sinking of a British airplane carrier and a battle ship. He suggested that if Britain and France failed to have naval supremacy to obtain war supplies here that Congress would be asked to change neutrality legislation again.

A group of democrats on the Senate Foreign Relations committee meanwhile agreed on a plan to relax controversial shipping provisions of the administration's neutrality bill.

The proposal, offered by Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), would authorize American vessels to carry all goods except arms to belligerent ports in South America, the Pacific ocean, the China sea, the Indian ocean, the Bay of Bengal and the Arabian sea.

Relaxation of the shipping provisions was expected to lessen opposition to the neutrality bill and hasten the final vote.

Nine Cases Heard During Afternoon

Of the nine cases called in County court at the afternoon session yesterday, a nol pro was taken in five, one defendant was given a four months road sentence, two others were given suspended sentences and one was acquitted.

Three more scrap tobacco cases were nol prosed and two cases against Henry H. Coward, one for assault and another for removing a crop from one man's land without consent, also were nol prosed. The defendants in the scrap tobacco cases were L. M. Simmons, J. L. Benn and V. K. Mose. Most of the dozen or so scrap tobacco cases now have been disposed of.

Clayton Williams, Negro, was convicted of larceny and was given a four-months sentence. Charlie Mose, Negro, was convicted of assault and given a road sentence, suspended upon payment of a $25 fine, costs to be deducted. The defendant appealed to Superior court. Mose, however, was acquitted of a charge of selling liquor. Lee Knight, Negro, was convicted of assault and given a road sentence, suspended upon payment of $25.

Gives Talk At Episcopal Church.
"There are eighty million un-church people in the United States. Nine million of this number are children who have never heard the name of God except in profanity."

This startling statement was made by Miss Sallie Deane last evening in her talk at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Miss Deane emphasized the fact that these eighty million un-church people are citizens of the United States and as such are voters. Nationalism without Christ results in chaos. We have an example of nationalism without Christ in Europe today. If those who call themselves Christians are to be Christian citizens they must be fruit-bearing disciples of Christ. It is impossible for those who are in partnership with Christ to be Christians and not be missionaries. When an individual derives happiness from the church but makes no effort to share that happiness with those who have never heard the name of God he is not only selfish but he is without Christ.

Prominent Rosarian To Speak.
Members of the Greenville Garden Club have a real treat in store for the program of Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Key Brown, chairman of the program committee, considers it very fortunate that Mrs. H. Blount Hunter of Norfolk, Va., would graciously accept an invitation to come to Greenville.

Mrs. Hunter is recognized as an outstanding rosarian in this part of the country and will bring a display of many of the finest new roses from the New York World's Fair. As Rosarian chairman for the State Garden Clubs of Virginia, Mrs. Hunter has established a splendid recognition of her work. All members of the Garden Club are urged to attend this meeting Thursday afternoon promptly at 3:30 at the Woman's Club.

Club Meets.
The Clio Club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in Jarvis Hall with Miss Elizabeth Smith as hostess.

Some outstanding problems in the United States was the subject for discussion. Mrs. Dink James presented the problems of government spending, protection against propaganda, production and distribution, old age assistance and security. These problems are all very timely and Mrs. James discussed them in a most informative manner.

Government spending has helped the country by creating competitive activities, although the national debt has more than doubled during the last seven or eight years.

There is a necessity, especially at this time for the United States to protect its citizens against propaganda. Faced with so many contradictory reports, we do not know what to believe, and in this game of diplomacy a government is strongest which has the united support of an accurately informed public behind it.

With more than six million families in relief, and with many more families, whose incomes are so low that rigid economies are necessary to make ends meet, there must be some solution possible whereby we can have a better distribution of the commodities we produce.

There are two distinct divisions of pensions for the aged under the Federal Social Security Act—the Old Age Security Pension system to which practically all workers belong and for which taxes are deducted from their pay checks, and the Old Age Assistance plan, in which the recipients pay nothing and the government does out free grants.

Mrs. Aubrey Shackell discussed the labor situation, summing it up in the words of one of the greatest leaders in labor, John L. Lewis, who said, "We all know that democracy in this nation has been on trial. In order for it to survive we must have an industrial democracy, as well as a political one. We must recognize the fact that the rights of those who work for a living are equal to those who profit from those who work."

The club was delighted to have as guests for the afternoon Mrs. G. B. Starling, Jr., a former member, and Mrs. O. A. Hankner.

Delicious refreshments were enjoyed after a discussion of current events by members and the book exchange—Reported.

Cast of Characters
Bellingham, Wash. — (AP) — A sheep's "mother complex" has resulted in an unusual animal friendship on a farm near here.

The sheep is mothering a four-year-old goose. The sheep and goose have been inseparable companions since the sheep's lamb died. On land, the sheep never leaves the goose's side. When the fowl enters the water, the sheep watches it anxiously from the shore.

Recently the goose was set on some hen eggs. The sheep, forsaking all food, remained vigilant beside the nest until the goose, apparently afraid the sheep would starve, refused to remain on the eggs.

Hot Sandwich Snack.
Here's an idea for a hot sandwich snack: Mix 1-2 cups grated cheese, 1-2 cup chopped bacon, 2 tablespoons diced sweet pickles and 2 tablespoons of catsup. Cook slowly 5 minutes and spread on browned toast. Reheat until bubbly on top and serve immediately with a hot beverage.

"BUILD-UP": WAY TO EASE WOMEN'S PAINS
Many weak, run-down women are in a vicious circle. Their under-nourishment often leads to what is called functional dysmenorrhea and its symptoms—headaches, nervousness, irritability, intermittent cramp like pains—from which many women suffer. Surest way to break the vicious circle is by building strength and energy, which so many find may be done with the help of CARDUI. It stimulates appetite, aids digestion, and thus helps in this "build-up" of physical resistance. Women also report that, if taken just before and during "the time," CARDUI lessens the pain and discomfort of the period.

When a boy takes a girl to the movies he should suggest that she wait for him in the lobby while he stands in line for the tickets. She doesn't need to stand out in the rain or snow.

He should remove his hat and coat in the lobby, not wait till he gets to his seat where he'll interrupt the view of those in back of him.

The couple should let the usher lead them to satisfactory seats, the girl following the usher, the boy following her. If there are no ushers the boy should lead the girl to a seat, letting her enter the row first.

As soon as they are seated, he should offer to help her off with her coat. Most young women prefer to sit on their coats, with the arms and shoulders draped across the back.

The young man may then fold up his own coat and place it, with his hat, underneath his seat or on a vacant seat. Or he'll hold them on his lap so nobody can sit on them by accident.

When leaving the theater, the boy leads the way out, waiting at the end of the row until the girl joins him.

Dough Storage.
Since dough dries out quickly and often a crust forms on its top when it's stored, either put it in a bowl and cover with a tight-fitting lid or fasten several thicknesses of waxed paper over the top of the bowl. Put the covered dough in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Citizenship Department Meets
On Friday the 13th the Citizenship Department of the Woman's club held its regular monthly meeting. Dr. R. J. Slay, East Carolina Teachers' College spoke on Nutrition. Dr. Slay ably handled his subject and gave the club members much valuable and useful information. He said that a majority of diseases are caused by an unbalanced diet. A balanced diet must be composed of (1) energy building foods, (2) tissue building foods, (3) foods with minerals, and (4) foods with vitamins. He emphasized the importance of all four qualities in a daily diet, and added that the continual lack of one of these would have a drastic result. A standard diet is measured by calories, and there are many charts available to help an individual to determine the necessary calories for himself.
After a short business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. W. F. Evans, the hostesses, Mesdames W. D. Pruitt, J. W. Kirkpatrick, Hinton Best, W. J. Bundy, and Miss Annie S. VanDyke, served refreshments. Afterwards the club adjourned.—Reported.

End Of The Century Club.
On Tuesday, October 17, Mrs. J. L. Hassell was gracious hostess to the End of the Century Club.
The president, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, called the meeting to order, and the members responded to roll call with a current topic.
Under new business, Mrs. J. T. Little suggested that the club purchase the book "Treasury of Art Masterpieces" for the library. Mrs. J. L. Fleming made the suggestion that the book be placed on the Bowen book shelf.
After the conclusion of the business, Mrs. A. D. Frank introduced Dr. Lucile Turner of East Carolina Teachers College, who, as a native of one of them, gave delightful literary glimpses of "The Hills of Kentucky and Tennessee." Her talk dealt with facts and figures, song, story and fiction, concerning them. Selections and quotations interpreting them were read from Galsworthy, Charles Eberhart Craddock, Elizabeth Roberts and others. "One finds among the mountains those who long to get away, and those who come back because they cannot stay away."
Mrs. J. L. Little gave the club an interesting picture of Louisville's gala week culminating with the Derby. Since 1875 this has been a turf classic and through the years rich traditions have grown up that lend color to it. Mrs. Little then transported her listeners to Tennessee for a visit to the "Hermitage," the beautiful home of Andrew Jackson. It is a square brick building with wings and a portico extending as did its builder, a gracious welcome to its poorest or most distinguished visitor. Through the efforts of the Ladies Hermitage Association, which has secured private, state and national aid, it has been restored and preserved just as it was when "Old Hickory" lived here. It is the only national home which is fitted with its original furnishings.
Following the distribution of the books, the members and guests, Mrs. W. S. Brown and Miss Mary Harding, enjoyed the delicious salad course served by the hostesses, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Little and Miss Harding.

Sans Souci Club Meets.
Mrs. J. T. Cheatham was hostess to the Sans Souci Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Fourth street. Seventeen members answered roll call. Routine business was attended to after which Mrs. L. W. Gaylord, program leader for the afternoon, presented Dr. A. D. Frank of East Carolina Teachers College, who gave a most interesting talk on Poland.
"No nation," said Dr. Frank "has had a sadder or more tragic history." He traced Poland's history from the 13th century when it was a powerful and war-like nation, and showed its victories and defeats, stressing the fact always that even in her darkest hours, Poland had maintained her traditions and customs and managed somehow to preserve her language and have it taught to Polish children at the risk of their lives.
He reviewed the various political changes in Poland's history and said that though Poland seems at present to have disappeared from the map, it still represents the greatest question mark in Europe today.
The club felt indebted to Dr. Frank, as it has many times in the past, for this very timely and interesting talk.
During a delightful social hour the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. W. M. Scales, served delicious refreshments.—Reported.

Athenum Book Club.
The Athenum Book Club had a real treat Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. J. Whitchard, Jr. when Mrs. J. H. Rose, guest speaker for the afternoon, gave a most interesting account of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."
This popular play was written by Robert E. S'erwood and won the Pulitzer prize for 1939.
Mrs. Rose, so well qualified to give this outline because of her ability and talent to portray the character as she talks, gave added interest to the story.
The play is now running in New York, featuring Raymond Massey, a renowned English actor as "Abe Lincoln," and the picture will soon be released featuring Massey also.
At the conclusion of the program a short business meeting was held, after which Mrs. Whitchard, assisted by her little son, David, placed lighted candles on the tables, then served a delicious salad and sweet course, the Halloween idea being carried out in every detail, even in the livly color scheme of the flower arrangement in the living room and dining room.

As we departed, the hostess presented Mrs. Rose a box of beautiful autumn flowers.—Reported.

Chatham Book Club.
Mrs. F. A. Bendall graciously entertained the Chatham Book Club at her home on Tuesday afternoon, October 17.
Mrs. J. Con Lanier, president, presided. After the roll call and minutes of the last meeting, the books were passed by Mrs. N. S. Beard. Mrs. Bendall, chairman of the program committee presented the guest speaker, Mr. J. Con Lanier.
Mr. Lanier talked to the club about "Property Rights of Married Women in North Carolina." In olden times a wife belonged to her husband and was rated just above the husband's cattle and worldly goods. The husband had the right and felt it his duty to make his wife behave herself and whip her if necessary, if the stick was not larger than his thumb. In 1874, the Supreme Court handed down a decision that a man did not have the right to whip his wife. Before the War Between the States the husband had the right to take all money and property that his wife inherited and all money earned by her. After that a law was made giving the wife the right to her property, personal or real estate. When inherited, and the wife by will can dispose of same as she wishes—and the wife's property is not liable for her husband's debts. Mr. Lanier explained the part that is due a wife in the settlement of her husband's estate. A man's real estate cannot be conveyed without the wife signing the deed willingly. A wife can go to the clerk of court, have her husband's will set aside, get a year's support ahead of any debts, and get a life estate from his property. In case of death of the wife without will, the husband receives a lifetime estate, but if the wife sees fit, she can, by will, exclude her husband. A wife can insure her husband's life and can use the money or will it to whom she pleases. A wife can sue in her own name and can dispose of any money received from damage suits. A husband is liable for all necessities of life due his wife and it is a criminal offense to not support her.

After Mr. Lanier's talk, a round table discussion was enjoyed and the members of the club thanked Mr. Lanier for the worthwhile information and decided that the women of North Carolina were well taken care of in property rights.
The club was glad to welcome as its guests for the afternoon, Mrs. Charles Howard and Mrs. Vernon Parrish. The hostess served a delicious salad course with coffee.—Reported.

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES
Here is a new mince-meat trick: Spread a one-inch layer of mince-meat on a sheet of rich biscuit dough. Roll it and quickly fit it into a greased loaf pan. Bake 30 minutes and serve warm with lemon sauce.
Directly under the skin of potatoes is a valuable nutritional layer so, whenever possible, cook potatoes in their jackets. The skin can then be peeled off easily without loss of food value.
If you have any left-over meat and gravy why not make a pastry roll? Spread the meat, mixed in with the gravy, on biscuit dough, roll it and fit it into a greased loaf pan or baking dish. Bake about 30 minutes and serve warm with a vegetable sauce.
Save your scraps of soap. After they've hardened put them through the food chopper. You'll have some soap flakes you can put to many uses. Be sure the soap is hard before you try to grind it.

FLANAGAN-HOOKER
Magnificent Reception and Beautiful Marriage
The Reception
The reception at the residence of H. L. Coward tendered to the friends of Mr. Flanagan and Miss Hooker last evening was a brilliant affair. From nine till eleven the beautifully decorated, well lighted and spacious home was alive with happy youth and kind hearted men and women, relatives and friends of the popular young couple on the eve of a united life. If the life of these young people shall prove to be one-half as happy as their friends wish, it will be one long glad song.
While all over the house there was wit and humor, smiles and laughter, in the dining room were busy hands serving refreshments with womanly grace to the delight of all the many guests. As the evening wore away the callers returned to their homes to rest, preparatory to an early gathering at the Memorial Baptist Church this morning to witness the consummation of the glad event which had called so many friends together.

The Marriage.
This morning at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Baptist Church, which had been beautifully decorated in green, a quartette skillfully and impressively rendered The Wedding Hymn, as the ushers came up the aisles to the rostrum. As the attendants took their places, the beautiful little Miss Mary Shelburn, niece of the groom, came upon the rostrum bearing a silver waiter on which lay the wedding ring.
As the bridal party took their places the wedding hymn closed. Its soft notes, accompanied by the skillful touch of Mrs. J. L. Fleming had prepared the wedding party and the large audience for the solemn ceremony as the contracting parties stood beneath two large hearts indicative that their hearts are ever after this to be one.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—There is much good-natured chatter about the extent of Senator "Happy" Chandler's statesmanship but he can be cited as a man who made the most of a college education.

He is a one-man charm school.
We have never run into more than a half-dozen persons who know him who did not close their eyes to something to this effect:

"In spite of all that I like him personally."
He belongs to the flashing-grin school of politicians. The group was easily headed by Paul V. McNutt until Chandler hove into town.

Our information is that Chandler spent something close to seven years in college in Kentucky. In that time he may have skipped over calculus and freshman economics, but he didn't miss a bet when it came to making friends.

15 Years Later
He took the usual four years at Transylvania, a historic seat of learning turned sectarian some years ago, then soaked up law at Kentucky university. Never a freshman class came, in nor a senior class went out during the time he was there without Chandler knowing—we have this from very good sources
—practically every member.

His memory for names and faces is phenomenal. Postmaster General Farley is equally apt at it, and perhaps superior. He has had a longer time to practice. But if "Happy" doesn't waste away his political talents in a frantic pursuit of the presidency, he will make somebody sometime a grand traveling advocate, either as national chairman or postmaster general.

Here is a sample: A student from a rival school met Chandler fairly often at Lexington, where Transsylvania is situated. Later the fellow became a reporter and grew a moustache, acquired poise and polish from foreign travels, and came back to encounter Chandler at a national convention 15 years later.

He not only called the fellow's name but teased him about some forgotten college rivalry. Moreover, Mrs. Chandler, who does well enough at the business, had learned something about the reporter's old college sweetheart, who didn't become his wife.

He Likes It
The thing sort of stalls you. Most practicing politicians work at it, but once away from the mob they don't hide their distaste of such a way of making a living.

In Lexington as a college man he used to spend his afternoon hours standing in front of the old Lexington drug store, mixing his friends and buying nickel drinks for acquaintances. Offhand we can't name a single college course that can promise more returns.

Mrs. Chandler, a Richmond girl, is chiefly credited with giving direction to the bubbling talents of the master mixer. Kentuckyans have it that she piloted him into politics, where a knack for remembering 10-000 names and faces can be turned into retailable property.

Kitchen Style Note
When selecting dresses for use in the kitchen see that the buttons are not of material that will melt or fritter, when ironed. Also avoid frilly straps, large loose pockets or ornaments that might catch onto the stove, cabinet drawers or door handles.

Storing Summer Togs
Remember to label plainly all the summer and fall clothes stored away for next year. If the clothes are not usable, dispose of them to save extra handling. This makes for simple housekeeping.

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 18—Mrs. Bill Flythe of the Highway Safety Division gets around, and no mistake.

Last week she spoke to 5,000 people at daily meetings from Tuesday through Saturday, and this week she was off to another flying start with 900 hearers at the Woodland school for her Monday safety talk.

She asked your correspondent: "Please write something about people—particularly children—riding on the running boards. There have been four deaths recently caused by this illegal, as well as dangerous practice."

Then she told how she addressed one school recently, stressing particularly the running board peril, only to see the school's football coach drive away from that very meeting with eight of his players packed and jammed on the outside of his car.

Harry Caldwell, master of the State Grange, was here Tuesday completing arrangements on this end for the state convention of his organization to be held in Asheville next week.

A political personage here on non-political business, however, paid Raleigh a visit Tuesday also. Rowan's Representative George Urzell, reportedly one of the outstanding candidates for speaker of the 1941 House was here for a bus franchise hearing.

He was shy on political palaver or prediction; but admitted that he is well satisfied with his chances to wield the gavel in the next session of the General Assembly.

When the dial system is inaugurated on Raleigh's telephones later this month the Capitol switchboards tradition "two-three hundred" will be changed to "six-six-one-one."

The Department of Conservation and Development thinks that the youths in C. C. C. camps should be conserved as well as other resources of the state and has issued a caution to all gunners to assist in safeguarding C. C. C. enrollees throughout the state.

In a communication to the same division of the C and D, Robert Fechner, director of the C. C. C., said:

"I request that all hunters shall refrain from hunting within rifle range of any camp or work project, by the way is represented by the watercolor. I believe she is eight or nine years of age and this water-

The walls of the Golden office reflect the assorted friendships of a man who has known many interesting people over a long period of time. Raphaelson's little daughter, by the way is represented by the watercolor. I believe she is eight or nine years of age and this watercolor represents some trees and rocks against an angry sea. What did Mr. Golden do with it? He framed it and exhibits it proudly on his office wall.

Well, to go along that wall and call names would be to list Twentieth Century Broadway: Charles Chaplin, General Drum, William Gillette, Frank Bacon, it goes on like that indefinitely. . . . But what makes it even more interesting is that with each picture Golden can tell you an inside story which has, to my knowledge, never been printed before.

Producers are very strange people, they have to be. If they wish to be grumpy before breakfast, or throw paperweights out of seventh floor windows, I think this should be permitted. They have to gamble all the time—they have to size up the national mood, so to speak, and hazard a great deal of money on that guess. If they pick the wrong play, that is a very sad thing, for the producer and his investors.

Some producers more than others have, apparently, the knack of picking "right" with a great deal of consistency. And Golden has been one of these. With Gertrude Lawrence, he feels supremely confident. Miss Lawrence is greatly appreciated on this side of the Atlantic. She was with Mr. Golden last year, in "Susan and God." Before that she was with Noel Coward in "Tonight at 8.30. . . ." but that isn't news. She has been with Coward since they were kids. And now she comes to Broadway again in a new comedy.

Good luck, Gertrude; good luck, John.

That's it if only "Skylark." . . . As this is being written the play is still some 48 hours short of its premiere, but Gertrude Lawrence is the star, and Samuel Raphaelson wrote it. . . . Here are some remarks about these two put out by the greatly satisfied Mr. Golden: "If you put Gertrude Lawrence in the telephone directory you would see a good show."

"If we can keep Raphaelson out of Hollywood he will develop into one of the greatest playwrights on Broadway."

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—John Golden's office is in the St. James Theater building, 44th street, west of Broadway, just a stride or two beyond Sardi's restaurant. If you find him in it he will probably be sitting behind a big, heavy desk which is littered with an accumulation of doodads from the theater. He likes to talk, especially when he has a new show.

"Let's see," says he, "there's a war going on and I have 'Skylark,' with Gertrude Lawrence and Don Cooke. . . . During the other war I had 'Lightnin'' with Frank Bacon, and it still has the third longest run on Broadway. . . . Now if only 'Skylark.' . . ."

BIGGEST ROAD SHOW
OF THE YEAR

Refresh yourself with a Delicious Cold Bottle of Double Cola
And Make It a Party!

Don't take yourself for Granted . . . not yet!

IF YOU believe you've done everything twice . . . don't give up hope.

Because, today something can make your thrill-worn pulse beat like a trip-hammer.

Just look for a silent, flying, flashing something, shaped like a silver bullet . . . that's called the 1940 Nash.

And when you take the wheel, don't ask—"What'll she do?" Just tap that throttle and hold your hat.

As a hundred-odd horses go silently tearing out, you'll realize this Nash manifold-sealed engine is something new in power!

The road unreels itself . . . hills mysteriously flatten out.

Then a Fourth Speed Forward cuts
in . . . and you get a new surprise.

For in that extra gear is the new Nash "overtake"—a sprinting speed to pass laggard cars, and it's "terrific!"

At your knee is a mysterious dial—just turn it, and October turns to automatically-maintained June! It's new "Weather Eye" magic, exclusively Nash—and no more dusty days or chilly nights for you.

Then head for the roughest road—
lay two gentle fingers on the wheel, and watch and feel what happens!

The bobbing hood . . . the jerking wheel . . . the thumping seat . . .
the dizzy sway . . . they're gone!

Smooth and straight as an arrow, in flying-leather silence—you rush forward to your goal.

We've coined a name for it . . . "Arrow-Flight" Ride . . . because it has never been used in a car before —soft coil springs in front, giant shock absorbers and synchronized springs in rear.

And nothing can prepare you for the feel of it!

From new Sealed Beam headlights to convertible bed in back for weekends . . . the 1940 Nash is made for fun!

It puts a thrill even into saving money, with the engine that won honors in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy run . . . 21.25 miles to the gallon!

Fact is—the only thing commonplace about it is the price—next to the lowest!

So why put up with your present car when you can trade it for a glamorous new Nash? See your Nash dealer now!

Again...it's that new NASH

NEW LOWER PRICES This 1940 Deluxe Nash LaFayette Sedan costs only $875.00, delivered at factory, standard equipment and Federal taxes included. ECTC To Battle WCTC In City Saturday At 2 o'Clock

HOSPITAL LIST IS STILL HIGH

A Tough Fight Between Rivals Will Be Waged

East Carolina Teachers College and West Carolina Teachers College will clash here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in a contest this is expected to produce all the entertainment of a thrilling gridiron encounter.

With most of the regulars out of the game because of injuries, Coaches O. A. Hanker and Gordon Gilbert were unable to make any predictions about the playing ability of the present squad for Saturday's game. However, several of the boys have minor ailments and probably will be ready for action when the kick-off whistle is sounded Saturday.

One of the best rays of hope for the Pirates rests in the fact that only three regulars of last season remain on the Western contingent. One is a guard, another a back and a third, a center. Just what effect these mainstays will have upon the efforts of the newcomers to their squad can only be determined when the teams clash Saturday.

Irving Poliakoff of Kinston is nursing an injury and will be missed in the tackle division if he has not recuperated by Saturday. Adrian Brown, who was injured in the E. C. T. C.-Campbell game, will have to remain out of the line-up for another week. Floyd Hinton, who sustained a leg injury in the same game, has been released from the infirmary, but is having to resort to crutches for travel.

The first member of the Pirate squad to join the Pirates' "Sea Hag Club" this season is Wiley Brown, a first-year regular. Wiley gained membership in the club by losing a tooth in last Saturday's game with the United States Naval Base at Norfolk.

William Harris of Greenville, who scored the Pirates' only touchdown in the Norfolk game, received a shaded eye. Yet, he's still going strong in the practices and is destined to be one of the starters Saturday.

Joe Hatem, also of Greenville, joined the Pirate squad late in the season, but has shown enviable progress, despite his late start. He was a regular last season.

ELECTION DATES SET FOR TOWNSHIP COMMITTEES

A Treat For Kids

Here's a suggestion on leftovers. Toast biscuits or rolls until they're well browned, then quickly spread butter, mixed with brown sugar and a little cinnamon over them. Then reheat them and serve plain or with a hot beverage. Children like these.

Examination of mummies shows that many ancients died of hardening of the arteries.

Maverick Indicted

Maury Maverick, mayor of San Antonio and formerly a member of Congress, is shown in his office at San Antonio after a grand jury indicted him and three other persons on charges of "unlawfully paying poll taxes for citizens." District Attorney John Shook expressed the opinion that poll tax receipts illegally issued were used in the city election last May which placed Maverick in the mayor's chair. "It's just a political smear," commented Maverick.

PHANTOMS OUT FOR 4TH WIN

Meet Tarboro in That City at 7:30 P. M. Friday

When the lights over Tarboro's football field are snapped on Friday night at 7:30, they will be focused on two of the best high school grid teams in the state. The Greenville high eleven will be guests of a highly-rated Tarboro Snake team which smeared Kinston's Red Devils 32-0 two weeks ago.

Greenville has chalked up three wins in as many starts and are slight favorites over the Snakes. Windsor, Ayden and Plymouth have fallen to the superior Phantoms, who are out to grab the Northeastern conference crown this season.

Greenville's fighting Earthquakes were last season's champions. Last year the Phantoms were far more superior than the Tarboro aggregation and walked away with a 25-0 decision. This season, however, the Edgecombe gridders are seeking revenge.

Bill Hatton, one of the fastest backfield aces in this section will probably be a standout of offense for the hosts. He paced the Snakes last season.

Greenville has the best blocking squad in the history of the school and with a line average of 170 pounds, they should penetrate the Tarboro stronghold successfully. The galloping backfield candidates average 150 pounds and lug the piskin like college boys.

WAKE TO FACE HEAVY ELEVEN

Western Maryland Also Has Fine Pass Attack

Wake Forest, Oct. 18.—Wake Forest's Deacon Deacons will run up against one of the finest passing attacks and heaviest ball clubs from end to end, with possible exception of Duke's, they will face this year, when Western Maryland's Green Terrors converge on Gore field here Saturday night, in the homecoming classic for Wake Forest alumni.

Last year, the Terrors defeated Coach Penhead Walker's boys 20-13. In that battle, the Deacs bottled up the running attack pretty well, but couldn't do much about the aerial bombardment. Quarterback Eddie Elder tossed them from all positions on the field, with two going for touchdowns and others resulting in long gains.

Now Elder is back again, a senior and greatly improved, along with a pair of pass-snatching ends, and Sakas, Marvin Stocks and J. B. Kittrell are often referred to as the four horsemen of G. H. S. and click together perfectly.

On the Phantom line will be John Collins, Larry James, Paul Scott, Warren Parrish, Earl Kittrell, Russell Rogerson, and Polly Williams, all lettermen of seasons gone by.

Substitutes H. R. Goodall, Sidney Johnson, Noah Lee Edwards, Claude Christopher, Cecil Crawford, Spencer Carroll, Leonard Briley, Hubert Muselwhite, Bill Taylor, Snag Clark, John Register, Ralph Hunter, All hope is in Clark, shrdetao Dewey Page and John (Key) Saleed all hope to see action Friday night.

Ken Mills, the halfback who grabbed those two 6-point tosses against the Baptists from North Carolina last year. So the Deacons are working long and hard this week, hoping to figure out a defense that will throttle in part, at least, this dazzling overhead attack of the Terrors.

Speaking of a fine pair of ends, those two Western Maryland flank-men, Captain Bob Stropp, who stands 6 feet 1 inch weighing 196, and Vic Impeccato, 190 pound 6 footer, not only can nab a pass merely thrown in their direction, but are fine on defense. Stropp blocked a punt against Wake Forest last year and recovered it behind the goal line for his club's winning touchdown.

The Deacons boast a heavy line but the Green Terrors have one that is bulkier, averaging 199 per man as against the Wakes' 193. Running behind that 199 pound line is a quartet of backs averaging 179, one pound heavier than Walker's ball carriers.

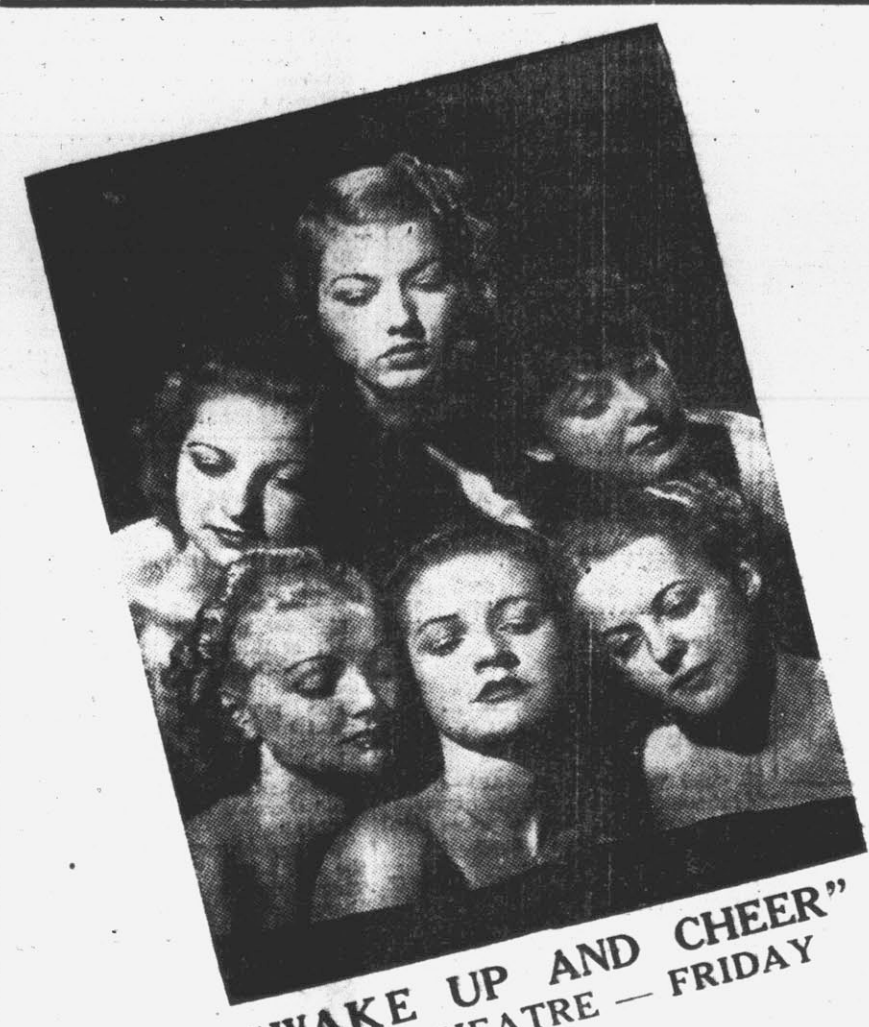

What with such a weight advantage his boys will give to the invaders and the superior passing attack the Terrors will throw against them. Coach Walker is certainly justified in warning his boys they have plenty to worry about this week.

First, they've got to fight off a dose of over-confidence which they could easily attain after beating their arch-rival N. C. State 32-0 last week in a game that most critics predicted a close score, but wherein the Deacs completely routed their ancient enemies. Second, they've got to figure out some way of knocking down those passes that Elder is certain to throw against them.

Third, map out an offense that will be effective against the brute strength and power Western Maryland's defense will offer. And all this within a span of only four days.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds
By Robbin Coons
Hollywood - Several crowned heads of Hollywood may be feeling the box-office ax in the next "election."
The popularity leaders - determined by the Motion Picture Herald in its annual poll of American independent exhibitors - stand to be shuffled as the returns on an October-to-October exhibition year start coming in.

Wife of Shirley Temple, for years the No. 1 star in box-office draws. There's no sure way of telling, but there's room for doubt that the queen of the screen can hold her ground against the competition of such an upstart as Mickey Rooney. Shirley had three releases in the balloting year: "Just Around the Corner," "The Little Princess," and "Susannah of the Mounties." You can draw your own conclusions.

The Rooney kid, surging up with "Boys Town" and riding high with the Hardy Family with "Huck Finn" thrown in, stands a good chance to topple Temple.

The 1938 leaders were, in this order: Shirley Temple, Clark Gable, Sonja Henie, Mickey Rooney, Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, Myrna Loy, Jane Withers, Alice Faye and Tyrone Power.

Gable spent the year practically on "Gone With the Wind." Aside from that, he had "Too Hot to Handle" and "Idiot's Delight" in general release. Looks like a notch or two down.

Henie will stay among the elite with "Lucky Star" and "Second Fiddle," but she ought to climb any higher than third, may have trouble keeping that spot.

Tracy, with "Boys Town" and the more recent "Stanley and Livingstone" among his bids, ought to climb. For Taylor, the matinee kid, the prospect isn't so good. "What's He Got? The Crowd Roars," "Stand Up and Fight," "Lucky Night" and "Lady of the Tropics." Well, he might pull through, but he had two heavy burdens to haul in "Lucky Night" and "Lady of the Tropics."

Myrna Loy is ever more doubtful. "Too Hot to Handle," followed by "Lucky Night" and "The Rain Came" - the last named her strongest - and probably too late to count in many spots.

Jane Withers ought to hold up, but Alice Faye is a question mark. Her new "Hollywood Cavalcade" comes rather late.

who may be dislodged, the "dark horses" are clamoring at the bit. They are notably Bette Davis, with "Dark Victory" and "The Old Maid" both high grossers; Errol Flynn, whose "Dodge City" was a big one; Robert Donat, by virtue of "Goodbye Mr. Chips"; Ginger Rogers because of "The Castles," "Bachelor Mother" and "Fifth Avenue Girl." Deanna Durbin can't be counted out, either. "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," did phenomenal business.

If Bette Davis gets in, things will have come to a pretty pass in pictures - because the "top ten" list would include two of Hollywood's Parting Stuck Glasses.

Did you ever have trouble separating two glasses that have stuck together? Try this: drop a little glycerine between them; after a few minutes, the glycerine will have lubricated them so that they will separate with a little twisting.
