FRANCE READY FOR BIG BLOW BY NAZI ARMY

Forces Dig in for Thurst Expected Any Time

FAIR WEATHER FOLLOWS RAINS

Estimated Germany Has Concentrated 40 Divisions Along Front for Major Assault

With the French Army on the Western Front, Nov. 10. (AP)—A French general said today a "big blow" is possible on the Western front and that French armies are braced for any eventualities.

For three weeks autumn storms have drenched the countryside, swelling streams and flooding valleys, but now there is Indian summer.

If the weather holds and the terrain hardens, the general said, a German attack may come. Information reaching the French command reports the Nazis can throw 40 divisions overnight into an attack along the vital sector from the Moselle river to the Rhine.

Meanwhile French military quarters at Paris estimated that Germany had concentrated 100 divisions behind the Stegried line between the Rhine and Moselle rivers.

The German infantry division numbers 15,000 men, a mechanized division 11,000.

These quarters professed to see an ominous quiet—perhaps the prelude to a German offensive—in the sketchy reports of action on the Western front such as this morning's French communique, which said merely:

"Activity of contact units during the night."

The cabinet was understood to have discussed a French reply to The Netherlands-Belgium mediation proposal in a two and a half hour meeting. Although the decision was not disclosed previous indications in Paris and London pointed to a joint French-British negative response.

Hoey said. "The obligation rests upon us all to help our whole community and much can be accomplished by cooperative efforts and interests."

Asserts, However, Question of Whether To Permit Action Being Studied from Other Angles; to Recommend Measures Providing Federal Aid for Seamen Thrown Out of Work

Washington, Nov. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that transfer of eight United States vessels to foreign registry would be legal, but that the question of whether to permit it still was being studied from a human, as well as a property angle.

Discussing at his press conference the situation created for the nation's north Atlantic sea lines as a result of shipping restrictions of the neutrality act, Mr. Roosevelt reported that he would recommend to Congress that seamen thrown out of work be placed under the social security program to receive old age pensions and unemployment insurance benefits.

Insisting that a transfer of the U. S. Lines' ships to Panamanian registry would be legal, the president, however, said other questions were being discussed to benefit not only the laid-up crews, but the ships themselves.

He said he would discuss with maritime labor leaders during the day the prospects of working out with the Maritime Commission a project to give training under commissioned officers to officers and seamen thrown out of work. They would be paid by the government during such training.

Mr. Roosevelt said he also was considering use of the 25 to 35 American flagships taken out of the north Atlantic trade in fetching matters the government is purchasing under a $70,000,000 appropriation for a reserve of strategic war supplies.

In this connection he referred to the agreement with Great Britain to exchange American cotton for British rubber and tin. American ships, now idle, may be used to bring the rubber and tin back from the East Indies, while the British ships carry American cotton back to the British Isles.

SHIP DEFECTS ARE REMEDIED

Adequate Measures Taken to Correct Mistakes

Washington, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The navy disclosed today that overweight designing had lessened the stability of some of its new destroyers, but said that "fully adequate" measures to correct the defects already had been taken.

As a result of these corrective measures, Charles Edison, acting secretary of the navy, wrote Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) "it can be stated without reservation that these destroyers will be superior to the earlier types and that they will give years of valuable peace-time service and greater reliability and effectiveness in time of war."

Edison wrote the Michigan senator after Vandenberg had sent him an editorial in the Grand Rapids, Mich. Herald referring to reports that the destroyers were so top-heavy that fuel oil could not be used out of their holds lest the ships fall over.

The editorial covered also reports that new 10,000 ton cruisers built under the recent authorization by Congress "shimmied" so violently that they cracked their stern posts and had to be rebuilt.

Edison told Vandenberg faulty castings had caused cracks to develop in stern posts of the Chester-Louisville class of heavy cruisers, completed about 1936 and that they were replaced. The last replacement was made in 1934 in the Houston, Edison reported.

The secretary said he had taken steps "to effect certain changes in the department's organization" which he hoped would tend to minimize recurrences of such defects.

Missile Shatters Window Of Berlin Store Showing Huge Picture Of Fuehrer

Establishment Owned By Personal Photographer of Hitler, Who Was with Fuehrer at Celebration Yesterday; Intensive Search Continues, Meanwhile, for Assassins

Berlin, Nov. 10.—(AP)—A large plate glass window in the store of Heinrich Hoffmann, personal photographer to Adolf Hitler, was smashed today by a missile, apparently aimed at a huge picture of the Fuehrer.

Hoffmann returned yesterday from Munich, where he attended the celebration of the 1933 putsch anniversary and narrowly escaped being caught in the blast which wrecked the historic Burgerbrau cellar, caught in the blast.

Police dug piece by piece through debris nine feet deep searching for tell-tale finger prints and metal scraps in the wrecked Nazi shrine and held an undisclosed number of persons, at least on suspicion.

Authorities were convinced that experts set the time bomb intended for Hitler.

Officials canvassed the whole nation for information that might lead to the assassins who set off the explosions, in which six men and a woman were killed and 63 other persons injured.

Nazi suspicions turned toward the British secret service and Jews, but searches hunted, at home and abroad for clues that might fix the blame for the blast, which missed the Fuehrer by only 11 minutes Wednesday night.

Germans who heard a broadcast of the Fuehrer's address at the beer hall celebration were asked to report any radio listeners who might have commented "nothing happened" or who asked "why did the Fuehrer speak so briefly?"

Hitler's only comment when he heard of the explosion was "a fellow has to have luck."

To many Nazis it was a "miracle" that urgent state business broke up the celebration ahead of schedule and that Hitler and some of the highest ranking Nazis had left unharmed.

Blast Wreckage Which Hitler Escaped

The terrific, destructive power of the explosion, which wrecked Burgerbrau beer hall in Munich only 11 minutes after Fuehrer Adolf Hitler had left, is well illustrated by this radiophoto of the demolished room. In delivering an address just before the explosion, Hitler stood at a spot near the post shown at extreme right.

Payetteville, Nov. 10.—(AP)—On votes of mingled joy and sadness, Methodists this morning closed forever the business of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South and reconvened in the first session of the new Methodist church, a union of the Southern church, Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Protestant church.

Leland Atkinson, the owner, who lives in an adjoining building, asked the aid of police after hearing the music late at night in the belief some one was robbing the tavern.

U. S. CITIZENS IN AMSTERDAM TOLD TO LEAVE

Advised to do so by American Consulate General

WORD RECEIVED FROM THE HAGUE

Belgium and The Netherlands, Meanwhile, Get Busy on the Strengthening of Defenses

Amsterdam, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The United States consulate said tonight it would advise Americans tomorrow that it was "a good time to get wives and dispensable American members of their staffs out of the country."

In doing so the consulate said it would be passing on the advice given by United States Minister George A. Gordon at The Hague in reply to inquiries by American business men there.

It was estimated there were about 1,000 persons in the country with some claim to United States citizenship.

It was understood the legation received information that the Belgian border would be closed in event of any German action against The Netherlands.

Amsterdam, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The lowland countries took swift mysterious defense measures today, Netherlands standing guard on their newly flooded "waterline" of protection and Belgian soldiers digging new trenches in the East.

A strange shooting incident on the Netherlands side of the German frontier near Venloo was followed by withdrawal of all Netherlands regular army leaves, placing "second reserve" divisions, inundation of water defense areas and stringent regulation of transportation.

Reports of the border incident varies, one saying two persons were killed, another that only one was wounded.

Both agreed several persons had been carried into Germany after the shooting at the Venloo customs station said a German automobile stopped at the border and that its occupants walked into The Netherlands and engaged in a gun battle with occupants of a Netherlands car. Several persons from the latter machine then were taken into Germany, they said.

Berne, Switzerland, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Swiss government today called to duty an unannounced number of troops including two infantry battalions, 30 squadrons of cavalry and complete staffs of certain reserve brigade and regiments.

No reason was given, but the Swiss high command and the government have matched military precautions with European diplomatic and military developments.

The good average of the week brought the season's average up to 16.20.

As the ninth week of the market closed the local warehouses had sold 60,872,046 pounds, compared with 43,542,136 pounds on the comparative date a year ago.

Warehouses had been practically cleared at the close of sales today, leaving plenty of room for farmers wishing to sell their tobacco here Monday.

RED OAK NEWS

The Red Oak Variety Show and Baby Contest presented at the new Red Oak community building last night was an overwhelming success from every standpoint. A full house witnessed the performance.

The first number on the program was the "Red Oak Swingtime Band." With Mrs. Sam Pollard as pianist, and Margie Dean Allen as leader, the band "went to town" on "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" and "Roll Out the Barrel." Then little Miss Margie Lou Rhodus and Master Jarvis Tripp gave a dance number, after which came "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Then the band and Margie Dean Allen sang and played "Darktown Strutter's Ball" after which John Wyatt Tyson gave an imitation of "Donald Duck." The final number of that act was "The Old Gray Mare," played by Joe Tyson and Claude Manning. When they entered the front door and ambled down the aisle, pandemonium reigned.

Next was the "Baby Contest." When the final count was made it was found that the tiniest contestant won with 5,045 votes. This was little Alice Leota Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jayburd Edwards. She was presented a lovely gold bracelet and an order for an 8x10 photograph.

A beautiful gold locket and chain, and a dollar bill was presented to little Miss Jeanette Moyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Moyer, for receiving second honors with 2,110 votes to her credit.

Third place was won by little Miss Margie Lou Rhodus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rhodus. She was presented a lovely doll. She received 2,069 votes.

Master Don Manning was a close runner-up, winning fourth place, with 1,970 votes. He received a little woolen suit and also two one-dollar bills.

The baby contest totaled $111.40. Mrs. L. S. Spence of the Greenville Floral Company, presented lovely corsages to the mothers of all the babies in the contest.

Two short plays, singing and tap-dancing by Geraldine Allgood, singing by Margie Dean Allen, and a lovely "Rainbow Drill" finished the night's entertainment with the exception of a "Jitterbug" number.

The total proceeds amounted to $137.50, which will be used for the new community building.

Many thanks are due to those contributing in any way in order to make this the success that it was. Especially do we thank the firms for their gifts. Again we thank everybody.

To Celebrate Armistice Day Sunday.
The congregation of the Eighth Street Christian Church will celebrate Armistice Day on Sunday, November 12, at 7:30 p. m., at which time an open forum will be conducted in the church. The question to be presented for discussion is—"Should the United States give military aid to Great Britain and France to preserve democracy and safeguard the future security of the United States?"
Dr. A. D. Frank, head of the history department of East Carolina Teachers College, will present the question and conduct the discussion to follow. The public is cordially invited to attend a timely meeting and one which is certain to prove most valuable in facing and reviewing conditions in Europe at the present time. The forum is sponsored by the Woman's Council of the church.

To Speak Here Sunday.
The congregation of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will have the regular morning worship service Sunday morning, November 12. In the absence of the pastor, who is attending the annual conference in Fayetteville this week, the guest speaker will be Mr. J. Claude Evans of Duke University. Mr. Evans will be pleasantly remembered in Greenville, as he filled the pulpit last year while the pastor was at conference. He is a young man of pleasing personality, and it is hoped that a large number will be present to hear him on Sunday morning. There will be no evening service this Sunday.

Tuesday Club Entertained.
Greensboro, Nov. 10.—An afternoon with Mrs. Kenneth Brim in her handsome new home was treated enough in itself and when Miss Abigail Minor was added as joint hostess and Miss Abigail Rowley as guest speaker the Tuesday Study Club found its meeting a real occasion. Mrs. Brim and Miss Minor had a few guests in addition to the members at Mrs. Brim's home, on Sunset Drive, Irving Park for an informal tea and to hear the talk of the story by Miss Rowley, of the Woman's College English department, who was brought to the group through Mrs. Leonard B. Hurley. Mrs. Brim presided in the absence of Mrs. Julius C. Smith, president.

Miss Rowley discussed two chief trends in the short story—realism and the tendency to probe into the inner consciousness of the characters. She indicated that a short story may be a long story and read excerpts from two of the "long short stories" or "short novels" of Katherine Anne Porter. She also read selections from Stephen Vincent Benet and touched on Hemingway, Steinbeck and Dorothy Parker.

The guests, many of whom were seeing the Brim house for the first time, were insistent in their complimentary remarks about Mrs. Brim's home. In the long living room where the group found seats for the lecture, deep wine and white chrysanthemums in a white pottery vase were reflected in the colors in the hangings of the room, which was lighted by white-shaded lamps. Adorned were the Williamsburg blue walls, the flowered carpet, the fine pieces of furniture. Ivy trailed from white pots on the mantel where two white tapers in tall candlesticks, brass like the andirons and other fireplace accessories, flanked the gilt-framed oil portrait.

In the dining room, Mrs. Mary V. Elzemeyer poured tea at a table which was spread with a cutwork cloth and centered by a silver bowl of red roses about which white candles burned in triple silver candleabra. On the buffet white candles

WHO HE IS

SAD-EYED, 75-year-old Dr. George Washington Carver, a former slave boy who was swapped for a $300 horse, is one of America's most eminent scientists. Just recently he was awarded a Roosevelt Medal for his amazing work in developing new products from common Southern crops. His one-man exhibit which jam-packs a large museum at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, where he works, holds 1,000 products he originated. Among them are cheese made from peanuts, paper made from plants, and rugs made from okra stalks. Dr. Carver is familyless, and will tolerate only one assistant. His voice is soft, drawing, cultured. When he shuffles into his lab, all Tuskegee knows he is not to be bothered.

Significance Of Book Week
Never in the history of our country has it been so important that we understand ourselves and that we understand our neighbors round the world. Book Week with its emphasis on "Books Around the World" has a definite application. To international understanding and friendship all who deal with reading and its contribution to character will not fail to give ready support. Let all who can in each community unite to the end that such enlightenment as reading brings may extend its blessings and its promises within each neighborhood and beyond each neighborhood, on around the world. "Friendship between children of the nations cannot be achieved through propaganda or a deliberate stirring up of sentiment, but it is achieved through the children of the world reading each other's picture books and laughing together."

"To do the work I do, I must first see—of course—the possibility of doing something that has never been done before. Then I simply take what I have, pull it to pieces—and put it together again in the new way desired."

"There is a vast opening for this kind of work because America wastes so much of its resources. This nation has got to learn to conserve, instead of throwing things away. For instance, millions of gallons of spent motor oil are being thrown away every year. I have found at least a half-dozen practical uses for such spent oil—in plastics, asphalt, and rubber compositions."

"In my 43 years of experimenting at Tuskegee I have found that folks don't jump at new discoveries. First a discovery must pass through the knocking stage. People will say it is terrible if they are content to let it die."

Washington. — Undoubtedly the toughest, most depressing and disheartening of all diplomatic posts is that of Ambassador Steinhardt in Moscow.

Publicly, the state department exhibited its displeasure at the refusal of the Soviet government to permit Ambassador Steinhardt to talk to Captain Brainard of the City of Flint while it was at Murmansk.

Keeps Information to Himself
To begin with, Russia has adopted a policy of letting outside governments know just as little as possible of what is going on in the huge expanse of territory with 169,000,000 more people.

Limited Living Quarters
The U. S. embassy in quarters is a fairly good seven-story building where all but one or two of the 30 employees of the embassy not on work but live. The building is only two rooms deep, front to back, and contains 81 rooms.

Permission must be obtained for long distance telephone calls. Diplomats get permission readily except in such instances as the Flint, where delays seemed endless.

Sometimes a call from Moscow to Paris can be put through in 20 minutes. Secretary Hull once said it might take most of a day to get through to Moscow from Washington.

Lack of facilities is considered to be at least half to blame for delays. Red tape in handling calls explains much of the rest.

Consulates Closed
Only a few months ago, foreign governments were ordered to close consulates in all Russian cities except Moscow.

The Creeping Man

—by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: At the garden party Miss Lissey takes Duncan aside and speaks to him vehemently. Later she calls Michael, Tuck and Bunny over to her house, and tells them she knows the murderer.

Chapter 30 'I Know Too Much'

"I'll begin at the beginning," said Miss Lissey. "The night school closed. I had been at a party. It was a very stupid party, and I hadn't been enjoying myself, but I stayed late. Very late. It was after two o'clock when my taxi dropped me at the University, and I started to walk through the back path."

"The man?" Tuck gasped. "Yes, a man. I've known him since he was a boy. I know him by his figure. But that wasn't what caught my eye. It was... what I saw in the barrow."

"By his figure," Michael repeated. "I didn't realize then what I was seeing. It was such a strange mysterious business. I almost believed I was dreaming it when I saw that man, bent with the load, that heavy barrow, with a man's leg dangling from the end, and one white hand over the side near me."

"The man?" Tuck gasped. "Yes, a man. I've known him since he was a boy. I know him by his figure. But that wasn't what caught my eye. It was... what I saw in the barrow."

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Nov. 10.—Your correspondent, in the capacity of a representative of the American Legion and not a newspaper man, attended a session of the "Institute on International Relations" of the Raleigh Woman's Club Thursday morning.

The topic was "Educating For Peace," and representatives of an even ten organizations engaged in what they termed a "panel discussion" of it.

Dr. C. C. Crittenden, North Carolina's Historical Society secretary, who participated in the panel discussion as a representative of the Rotary Club, relieved the solemnity of the session by remarking that he had told his secretary on leaving his office: "I'm going out to make a talk on how to keep peace at the Woman's club meeting."

T. Jack Lynch, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, read some statistics on the results of a poll of his group's national organization which were rather surprising in some respects.

Laughs are rare things when serious and generally dull figures and percentages are being read, but the Lynch presentation was punctuated with a ripple of genuine amusement when, after figures showing something like an even division of opinion on such subjects as "Repealing the Arms Embargo," "Declaring War if Our International Rights Are Flagrantly and Persistently Violated," and the like he reached the interjectory "to you favor the extension of credit to foreign countries as was done during the World War," and announced that "89 per cent were in favor and 96 per cent opposed."

There were more than a few clashing views expressed as to the best way to keep the country out of war. Some seemed to think that we'd have peace from now on if we'd just quit encouraging kids to play with warlike toys.

But the outstanding characteristic of each and every talk was the definite and unshakable opinion that the United States must exert its every effort to remain neutral.

Similar programs are doubtless being held all over the country and there's no getting away from the fact that should prove of the utmost value. After all's said and done, the best way for America to stay out of war is for everybody to take an interest in staying out and to take every opportunity to say how he thinks it can and should be done.

2,324 ARE NOW ON PROBATION

 Every superior court in North Carolina has at one time or another made use of the discretion allowed him by law and has imposed sentences to be served upon probation. In all 1,513 of the probationary sentences were imposed in superior courts, 1,310 in general county and recorder courts.
 At its session last spring the judiciary of the state unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the probation system and expressing satisfaction that with its administration in North Carolina. Of the 2,324 probationers now under supervision only 140 are females and whites predominate both sexes, with 130 females and 2,058 white males as compared with 80 Negro females and 532 Negro males. Something of the economic value of probation is shown in reports on the wages earned by probationers who might otherwise have been behind prison bars and a constant expense to the state for their keep as well as for the support of their dependents.

Figures in the commission's office show that there have been secured for probationers 750 jobs—this in addition to the jobs which the subjects themselves got without aid—and that the total earnings of the more than 2,000 persons has been at least $690,000, more than three-quarters of which is estimated to have spent for the necessities of living. In addition probationers have paid, practically in full though a small amount remains to be collected $130,000 in fines, costs, restitution and support.

As for the characteristics of the people put on probation the com-

Held For Killing

George McClelland, 14-year-old high school boy of suburban Lincoln park in Detroit, is shown after Police Chief Floyd M. Crichton announced he had confessed he killed his chum, Howard Rucker, 17, in an argument over a dollar watch. Crichton said the boy arranged the killing station where Rucker was stabbed so as to make it appear he was killed by robbers.

mission has some very interesting facts, among which may be listed: More than half of them were sentenced for larceny or related offenses such as embezzlement, forcible trespass, etc. Practically half (48 per cent to be exact) are between 16 and 21 years old and more than 78 per cent are less than 26 years old. The average probationer has received a sixth grade education, though there are numbered in the list some who are college graduates. Two-thirds are single and an equal percentage were first offenders when put on probation. Apparently half are farm or completely unskilled laborers. Of the system Judge Paul Frizzelle, in discharging the first person to be put under supervision in North Carolina, said a day or so ago: "In my opinion the probation system is working admirably." He added that one big reason for this is that the system is being operated by "high-toned, diligent and conscientious men."

Death Waited Overhead While Nazis 'Heiled' Hitler

This radiophoto from Berlin gives you a good picture of the scene in celebrated Buergerbrau beer hall at Munich as fellow-Nazis saluted Adolf Hitler (standing on rostrum with hand raised) and were saluted by him a few minutes before an explosion overhead killed eight and injured more than 60. Hitler left the hall just a quarter of an hour before the blast. Seated in front center with swastika on his arm is Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi. The bareheaded man in army uniform at Hitler's left is SA Brigade Leader Schaefer. Seated with head bent forward at Hess's right is Julius Schaub, the fuhrer's personal adjutant.

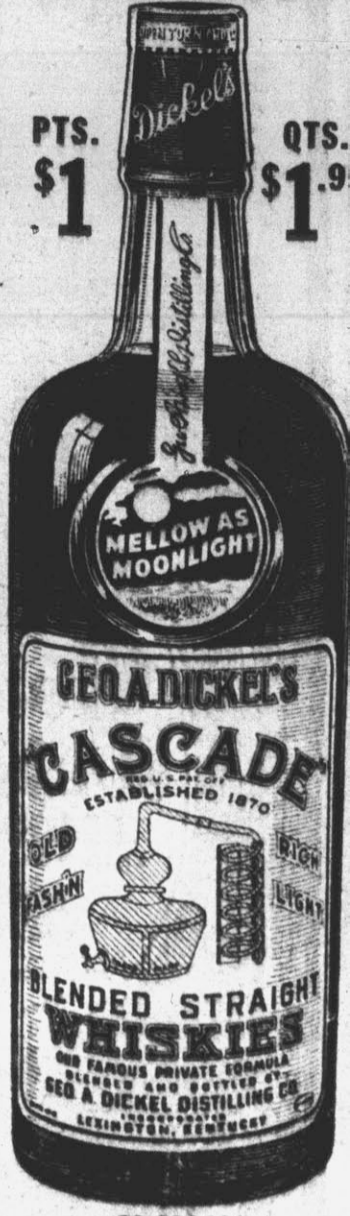

The bullet-riddled bodies of two convicts who recently fled a Folsom prison road camp here are shown where they were found near a beach south of San Francisco. Officers identified the two as Ray Lagomarsimo (right), 32, first man ever to gain freedom from Alcatraz prison on a habeas corpus writ, and Leo Tyma, 30. In this picture a shoulder holster found on Tyma's body is being examined by a deputy sheriff. No charges have been made in connection with the deaths.

TO OPEN NEW BUILDING

North Carolina Senators and Congressmen in Speaker Bankhead's office in the national capital express their appreciation for acceptance of their invitation to meet with state and local officials in North Carolina at the opening of the Institute of Government laboratory building in Chapel Hill on Wednesday, November 29. Left to right: Congressmen John H. Kerr, A. L. Bulwinkle, Senator Reynolds, Congressman Carl T. Durham, Senator Bailey, Congressman Harold D. Cooley, Speaker Bankhead, Congressman W. O. Burgin, R. L. Doughtin, Graham A. Barden, Lindsay C. Warren and Zebulon Weaver. Congressman J. Bayard Clark and A. D. Folger were unable to be present at the time this picture was taken.

While hundreds of men searched for him, seven-year-old Bruce Crozier wandered into a hunter's camp six days after he vanished in the rugged mountain wilderness of northern Arizona. Suffering from exhaustion, the boy is shown back in a hospital at Holbrook, Ariz., with his mother, Mrs. R. E. Crozier who cried "it's almost impossible to believe I have my baby."

Greenville and Goldsboro Highs To Mix Here Tonight

TOUGH BATTLE FOR PHANTOMS

Game to Start at Guy Smith Park at 8 O'clock

By BUDDY HARRINGTON
Tonight is the big night! When the sky lights up on the west edge of Greenville tonight at 8 o'clock Greenville high will begin a long sought revenge at the expense of the Goldsboro Earthquakes.

The strong Greenville team held some tough practices this week to get in shape to attempt a revenge of a 19-6 defeat handed them by the Quakes last season.

The two teams are on equal basis so far having about the same record of games won, lost and tied. They average about the same in weight also. Neither team has any injuries reported on the first team lineup. This all goes to assure a bang up ball game.

So far this season every home game has drawn a capacity crowd of more than 1,500, therefore with the keen competition expected from the Goldsboro eleven the bleachers will probably be overflowing.

This is the second Eastern conference game of the season for the Phantoms. They trampled the Bears of New Bern 24-0. Though the strong Roanoke Rapids squad took the Phantoms 7-6.

The probable starting lineup for the Greensies is as follows: John Collins and Larry James, both veteran ends from last year; Earl Kittrell and Russell Rogerson, hard hitting tackles also played first team last season; Paul Scott and Warren Parrish will hold down the guard posts and Charles Williams center.

The backfield will consist of the four horsemen, J. B. Kittrell, Marvin Stocks, George Tyndall and George Sakas. These four boys have paced over many yards of ground this season.

E. C. T. C. PIRATES OFF FOR GAME

To Engage Guilford College Tomorrow Afternoon

A 21-man football squad motored from East Carolina Teachers college today at noon for Guilford, where the E. C. T. C. Pirates will tangle with the Guilford college team on Saturday afternoon.

Bill Shelton, diminutive backfield man, who has sparked the local offense this season and last in his role as quarterback, has a knee ailment and was unable to make the trip.

Jack McJunkin of Asheville is being shifted from left half to quarterback. A. R. Stankus is substituting for McJunkin as left half-back. Despite a healthy hospital list, Coach O. A. Hankner said the squad was in fair shape. Since the injury of several regulars, practices have been sandwiched around second-stringers.

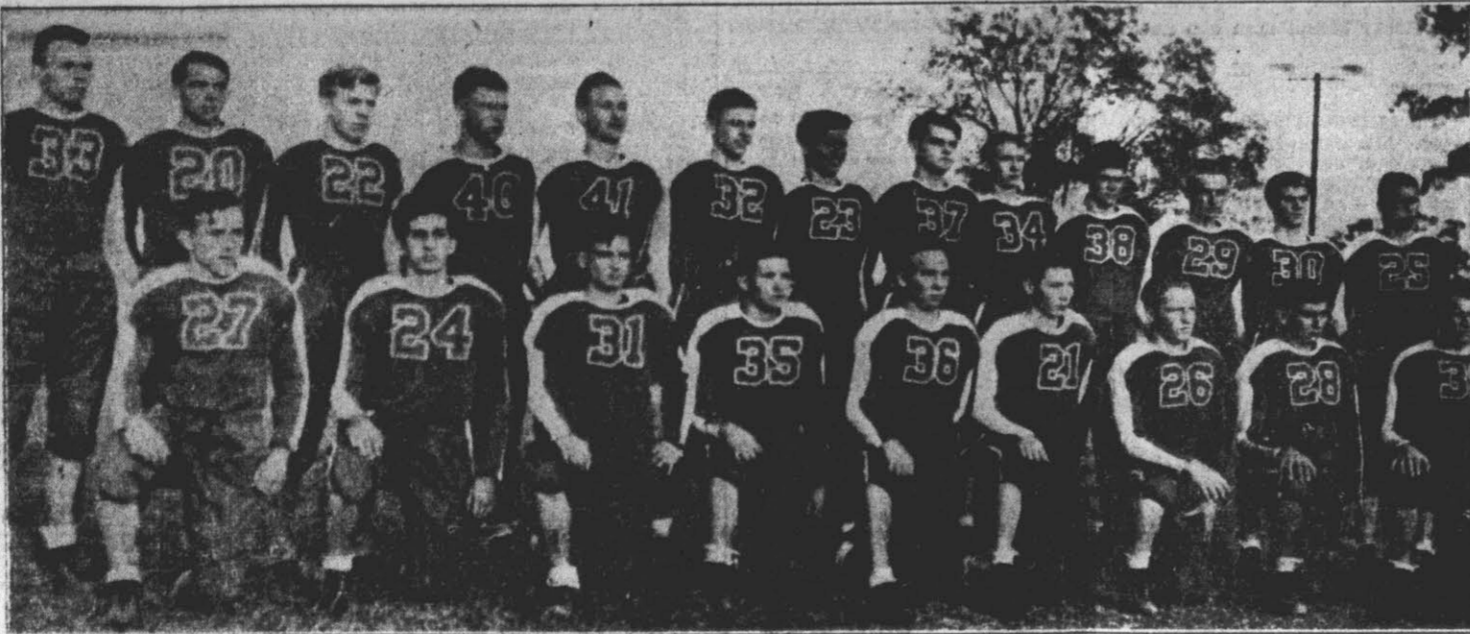

The locals are expected to make a better showing tomorrow than in any other game of the season, since two weeks have elapsed since they have seen actual game experience. Their vacation has been packed with light and heavy drills.

Probable lineup:

The quality of burley tobacco generally is not as good this year as it has been in the past two years, says Lloyd T. Weeks, tobacco specialist of the State College Extension Service.

The depth bomb, terror of submarines, was invented in 1903 by W. T. Unge of Sweden.

All Set To Engage Goldsboro High Tonight

LALANNE MAY START BATTLE

Stirnweiss Also Slated For Plenty Of Action

Chapel Hill, Nov. 10.—North Carolina's touchdown twins may swap places in the Davidson air battle at Winston-Salem Saturday. Coach Ray Wolf said before the final practice this afternoon, with Sweet Lalanne as starting pitcher and General Stirnweiss as relief hurler.

If they do, it will be the first game Lalanne has started this year except when Stirny was laid up with injuries for the V. P. I. contest.

However, the two triple-threat aces have been alternately cast in the starring role this year, and there is no telling which one will be the hotter Saturday.

Neither is there any telling when or how their amazing team will launch its lightning attack at a New York U., Tulane, and Penn. nor for that matter, whether it will go at all against the scrappy, stubborn Wildcats.

Coach Wolf also said today he planned to start three other new men from last week—Sid Sadoff, driving fullback, and Carl Suntheimer, and Bill Faircloth, sophomore center and guard—who have been showing up well in recent games and in practice this week.

The Carolina team was to take its last light drill here this afternoon and go up by bus tomorrow morning.

Several hundred students, headed by their 90-piece band, will attend the game and take part in the colorful attendant program, which also includes a pep rally, parade and a gridiron ball.

The Tar Heels were in good shape except for Chuck Kline and Frank O'Hare, end and quarterback, who are out, and Chuck Slagle, guard, who is slowed up with injuries. However, Stirny, Lalanne, Kimball, and the other standouts, including Paul Severin, Jim Mallory, George Radman, and Harry Dunkle were set and ready to go.

Lalanne, the probable starting pitcher, is the boy who ran and passed Carolina to all of its 44 points in its brilliant performances against Tulane and Penn. and was named national football "hero for the week" for the latter feat. Stirny sparked and featured the victories over N. C. State last week as he also did against New York U.

Carolina's probable starting lineup, Coach Wolf said today, will be Severin and Mallory, ends; White and Kimball, tackles; Woodson and Faircloth, guards; Suntheimer, center; Lalanne, quarter; Radman and Bobbitt, halfbacks; and Sadoff, fullback.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Fecble rallying sorties in today's stock market failed to carry far and leaders backed away fractions to around two points at the worst.

Dealings slackened after a moderately fast opening and extreme losses were reduced before noon. There was a subsequent slip-up without much activity and near the fourth hour many issues were within reaching distance of the day's lows.

Some selling was attributed to fears the recently static European war is about to assume a "destructive" phase.

MCDONALDITES HOLD SESSION

Broughton Seen As Beneficiary Of Liberal Support

Raleigh, Nov. 10.—Almost on the eve of Armistice Day, a group of supporters of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald in the 1936 gubernatorial campaign got together here with their leader and held a council of war in preparation for the coming gubernatorial primary.

Nobody had even so much as a hint to throw out about the decisions made and strategy planned by the group; but by ways and means which always exist it has been quite definitely established that the McDonald faction will not enter one of its own members in the primary of 1940.

It can be written down as authentic that there will be no public announcement of the McDonald intentions in the near future; but it is also safe to state positively and without the slightest reservation that as of today the McDonald strength can be definitely and positively added to the J. M. Broughton column. It is possible, though quite improbable, that the future course of events might change this; just as it is always possible for political developments to change the best laid plans of mice and men.

The information available to your correspondent, despite the complete absence of any commitments on the part of Dr. McDonald or any of his chief lieutenants, is as reliable as possible under such circumstances, and it all indicates that the Liberals of 1936 have decided temporarily, at least, to abandon any thought of moving to their final objectives in one big offensive behind a general of their own choice. Instead they plan to operate as a cohesive unit in support of the one man they believe will come nearest to moving in their direction.

Every shred of available points to Mr. Broughton as the man they regard as coming closest to their views.

Among the leaders with whom Dr. McDonald conferred here were his 1936 campaign manager, Willie Lee Lumpkin of Franklin and one of his staunchest and most valued lieutenants, Timous T. Valentine of Nash.

There has been much talk on the quiet side that Lumpkin might get into the race as the McDonald stan-ard bearer, but the conference here is believed to have completely eliminated any such possibility.

There has been much talk, too, that Lee Gravelly of Rocky Mount would come nearer than any of the other suspected candidates to meeting the McDonald tests, but there is said to have developed very strong anti-Gravelly sentiment in the political confab here, with the result that the Rocky Mount man can now be almost completely discarded as a possible beneficiary of the Liberal support.

The McDonaldites are said to look upon Mr. Broughton as "J. M. Broughton's candidate" and not as the candidate of any group. He is not classed as the "Hoey" candidate or the "machine" candidate or as the choice of any other particular group. They look on him as a true independent upon whom they can center their efforts without fear of entanglements with other cliques.

They frankly do not think of Broughton as being a fellow liberal in complete accord with their own views; but they do see him as the candidate who comes the nearest to their viewpoint and who, at the same time, as even a remote chance of being nominated.

So while there will not be any bell ringing or tocsin sounding to call the clans to arms, there is every probability that McDonald support can now be definitely listed as for Broughton.
