LOSSES AT SEA Mounting Protests Fail To Sway Aim Of Britain To Seize German Exports

Britain's Lifeline Threatened In 1st World War.

LOSSES TO DATE STANDS AT 153

Of Total, Britain Has Lost 83, Germany 15, France 9, and Neutral Nations 46

By The Associated Press
The increased rate at which British and neutral shipping has been destroyed by mines in the last week affords a parallel to the German navy's mine offensive of 1917 which threatened Great Britain's sea lifeline by sinking 170 ships.

So successful was the 1917 mine-laying that during April the allies lost a mine sweeper a day attempting to clear the shipping lanes. By comparison the current outbreak of submarine and mine activity has sent 27 ships to the bottom since last Saturday, raising to 153 the losses of belligerent and neutral nations so far in this war.

Of the total Britain has lost 83, Germany 15, France nine and neutral nations 46. Forty-six ships have been reported sunk this month, 60 were destroyed in September and 47 in October.

At least 2,133 persons have been killed or drowned in the war at sea and 120 more are missing.

Pastors Honored By Local Church

Dr. E. L. Hillman, former pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, Rev. T. McMillan, the present pastor, and their wives were honored at a banquet held in the church basement last night. More than 100 persons attended the dinner and program, which were presided over by J. B. James.

At the conclusion of the program Mr. James presented Dr. and Mrs. Hillman with a silver dish in behalf of the church. Dr. Hillman served as pastor of the local church for five years, after which he served as presiding elder. Recently he was named pastor of the First Methodist church at Rocky Mount.

Rev. Mr. Grant, succeeded Dr. Hillman as pastor here and is now in his fourth year. Before coming here Rev. Mr. Grant was presiding elder of the New Bern district.

Special vocal numbers were presented by E. Parkerson, who sang two numbers. Mrs. J. H. Blount, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, made a short talk expressing the appreciation for the services rendered by both ministers. W. S. Dall, chairman of the Board of Stewards, also spoke briefly, as did both Mrs. Hillman and Mrs. Grant.

Present for the dinner and program were Rev. J. A. Russell, district superintendent of the New Bern district, and Rev. L. C. Larkin, district superintendent of the Rocky Mount district.

Son of Local Woman To Speak from Paris

Mrs. J. L. Fleming of this city has received a cable stating that her son, James Fleming, who is now in Paris, will broadcast from that French city at 9:15 p. m. Eastern standard time, tonight.

The cablegram advised that the broadcast "will be picked up on wave-length 30.99."

Paralysis Fear Over, Plan to Open Schools

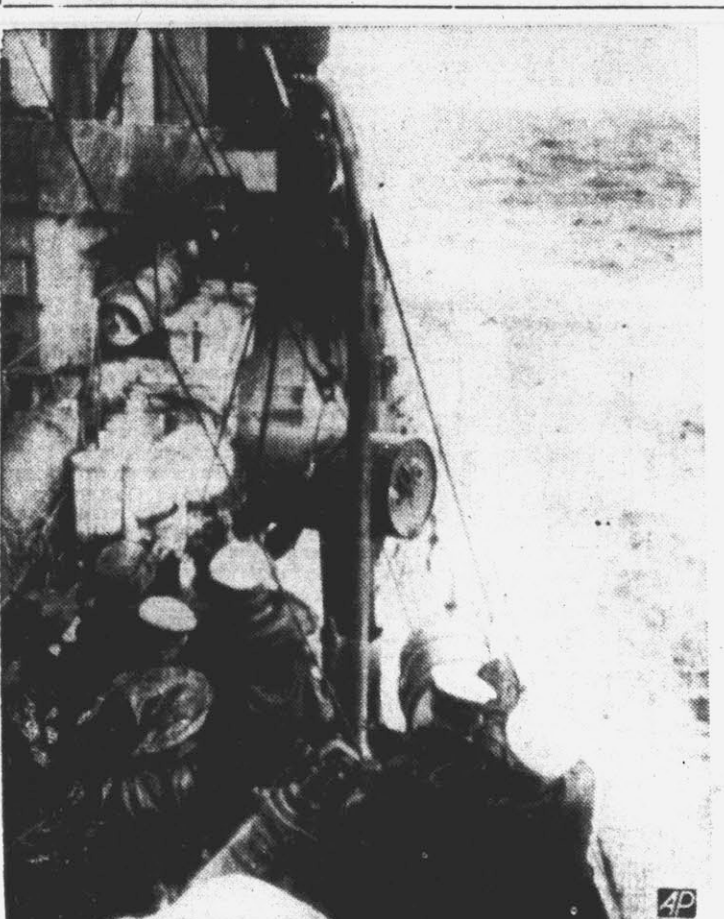

Fayetteville, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Fayetteville schools, closed since November 16 as the result of two cases of infantile paralysis, will reopen Monday morning and at the same time all other restrictions imposed on gatherings of persons under 15 years of age will be rescinded. Dr. M. T. Foster, county health officer, said today.

There have been no new cases other than the original two and it has been more than two weeks since the last case developed.

Nazi Ships Lost

Berlin, Nov. 25.—(AP)—DNB, official German news agency, reported today seven German airplanes were lost in scouting flights yesterday over the west of France.

Great Britain Loads For German U-Boats

An ever rising toll of sunken merchant ships has prompted Great Britain to seek methods of combatting German submarines, sea raiders and mines. Sailors of the Royal navy are shown employing an old reliable means of attack on U-boats—the depth bomb.

GERMANS SINK U-BOAT TRAP

British Warship Said To Have Been Camouflaged

Berlin, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The German high command said today a British auxiliary warship of 7,000 tons camouflaged as a Netherlands merchant man and used as a "U-boat trap" had been sunk by a German submarine.

The press, recalling Britain's World war use of such mystery ships, termed this "particularly detestable."

"In London nothing was published concerning the Berlin communiqué's claim and no comment was available."

"In the west local scouting activity and weak artillery fire on several points of the front," the German communiqué reported.

In the western border region the enemy made isolated reconnaissance flights while German scouting planes penetrated as far as the middle of France.

A German U-boat in its operation region destroyed an English K-boat, trap, an auxiliary 7,000-ton warship. The U-boat trap was camouflaged as a Dutch steamer.

No driving licenses will be issued at the local State Highway Patrol offices next week after Monday morning, it was revealed today. License Examiner M. J. McLeod will be out of the city for several days on vacation.

Licenses usually are issued here on Mondays from 9 until 11 a. m., Wednesdays 9 a. m. until 5 p. m., and Saturdays from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. At other times Inspector McLeod is in nearby towns issuing licenses.

U. S. Ship Aground In Virginia Capes

Norfolk Va., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The destroyer Yarnell, one of the recon-structed navy vessels assigned to Norfolk as a part of the Atlantic Squadron, drifted aground early today while lying at anchor inside the Virginia capes.

The ship was said to be in no immediate danger, but was unable to operate her engines after grounding. Inland Officers at the naval operating base expressed belief that she was standing by would be able to pull the destroyer clear.

Three More Countries Make Representations

ONLY U. S. AND RUSSIA SILENT

Indications Are That Britain Will Suggest That Protests Be Addressed to Germany

London, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Mounting neutral protests failed to sway Great Britain today from her determination to intensify her economic war on Germany by seizing German exports.

The list of countries which have made or plan to make representations against the British decision includes The Netherlands, Belgium, Italy, Japan, Sweden and Denmark. The last three were added today.

The only great powers among the neutrals who have not indicated their attitude are the United States and Soviet Russia.

There were indications Britain would reply that protests should be addressed to Germany, whose mine campaign the British asserted, called for the export blockade.

Great Britain, striving to protect her shipping against German offensive sea warfare, appealed to her fishermen to aid in the hazardous task of sweeping English coastal waters clear of mines.

While a fleet of trawlers and mine sweepers combed the sea lanes for explosives, the British said Nazi war plans planned the Royal Navy issued an urgent call to deep-sea fishermen between the ages of 18 and 45 to volunteer their services.

The call was issued as the government prepared to deal with the expressions of concern from neutral countries over the decision to seize German exports.

"In Tokyo the Japanese foreign office today threatened counter measures against the British program which it said, violated assurances which had been given Japan by the British government."

The German press, exploiting recent sinkings of merchant vessels, warned that no free shipping lanes to England now exist and sought to convince neutrals of the advisability of halting commerce with Britain. There was no direct admission that the mines along the English coast were German, but was stated officially that Germany had the right to lay them there if she desired.

Civic Club Holds "Teachers Night"

The Greenville Kiwanis club last night observed its annual Teachers' night, at which time the club was host to all teachers in the city school system.

The principal speaker of the evening was Edmund H. Harding of Washington, one of the best known dinner entertainers in this section and one who has made appearances throughout a large section of the United States.

Other numbers on the program included a song and dance number by Miss Betsy Hodges of Grifton, accompanied by Miss Billie Williams, also of Grifton; vocal numbers by Miss Louise Kyle, accompanied by Miss Ona Shindler.

The address of welcome to the evening was made by Vice President C. L. Patrick and the response was made by Miss Mary Shaw Robinson.

Approximately 80 teachers and club members attended the annual affair.

S. E. Begley, member of the London Ky. club, was a guest at the meeting last night.

War Between the States Babson Decries "Balkanizing" Of America

Babson Park, Mass., November 24. A new war is being fought between the states—no far more threatening to the long-term future of America than that fought from 1861 to 1865. Unfair state taxes, truck restrictions, ports of entry, agricultural and quarantine stations, toll gates and other discriminatory barriers are being erected by individual states against their neighbors. As Governor Stark of Missouri says, "America is rapidly becoming Balkanized" by this un-Christian policy.

The movement, which was born as the result of the depression need to keep trade and wages at home gained momentum right up until 1939. To feel the full effect of this torrent of hampering legislation, you have to be doing an interstate business. While the Supreme Court has been making history by extending the long arm of the federal law, the states have been trying to isolate themselves in a spirit of un-American autonomy. Instead of standardizing their laws and making it easier for employers to expand and to hire new workers, they are returning to medieval practices. If this epidemic spreads much farther, it will either destroy the economic basis of the Union or will force the federal government to take over State rights!

Huge Staffs of Experts—These state barbeds have not been wanted by the New Deal. Yet the latter, in putting into effect hundreds of new federal laws concerning business and labor has given state legislators a lot of ideas. Hence, instead of one set of hundreds of new laws, there have been 48 sets of hundreds of new laws. An employer who does an interstate business today must retain a staff of experts. These experts are not employed to search for new products or to improve manufacturing technique. Their job is merely to keep their managements informed. (Continued on page six)

Plucky Woman Archer Bags Wild Boar

WIFE OF KUHN STICKS BY HIM

See Nothing but comedy in Exposed Love Letters

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Fritz Kuhn, the German-American band leader, may have fancied himself another great lover when he wrote impassioned letters to Mrs. Florence Camp, but his wife, Elsa, sees "nothing but comedy in the situation."

"But then," she said today in an interview, "maybe I have too broad a sense of humor."

Trial of Kuhn, who is accused of stealing $1217 of the band's funds—he was originally charged with larceny of $5,641, but five of the 10 counts against him were dismissed—will be renewed Monday.

His wife who attended the trial one day early this week, said she had not read the letters her husband wrote to Mrs. Camp, letters in which he called her his "golden angel" and added that she had not questioned him about the affair.

Both sides met yesterday after Mrs. Camp testified.

"We all make mistakes," Mr. Kuhn said. "Real marriage should be based on a willingness to stick together no matter what happens. That is the way I feel about my husband and Mrs. Camp."

Investigating Wreck On Washington Road

A wreck on the Washington highway about six miles from Greenville in which three trucks were involved was still being investigated today by Corporal C. R. Williams of the State Highway Patrol.

According to the driver a truck being driven by William Jackson of Greenville started to pass another truck driven by Grover Woodard of Washington when the latter truck was being driven by Walter Buck of Cherokee county and going in the opposite direction was said to have entered from the road, the driver being in control and causing a trailer to swing into the path of the vehicle being driven by Woodard.

No one was injured and no arrests had been made pending further investigation.

Old Santa Arrives Here On Friday, December 15

Extensive Plans For Christmas Are Being Made

Plans for the arrival of Santa Claus here on the afternoon of Friday, December 15, were announced today by Mrs. Cora S. Powell, executive secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, which organization annually sponsors a gala entry for old St. Nick and the official opening of the Christmas shopping season.

The program this year will be held in the afternoon, with a parade accompanying old Santa from the Atlantic Coast Line depot on Dickinson avenue to Five Points and then on Evans street to the court house square. A band will be secured to lead the parades and Boy Scouts and possibly other organizations will participate.

A long parade is assured since at least 30 local merchants already have agreed to have floats, automobiles or trucks participate.

Street decorations will be put up next week and it is hoped to turn on the lights Saturday night, December 2. Colored lights, together with stars, mountain laurel and red tinsel will make up the decorations. Several unique and attractive ideas are being worked out by the committee in charge.

Merchants also are being encouraged to decorate their store windows this year and as an inducement $25 in prizes will be distributed by the Merchants Association. Prizes will be for $10, $7.50, $5 and $2.50. The stores will be judged on December 15. It was pointed out that attractively decorated store fronts would lend effect to the street decorations.

Greenville stores will begin observing the Christmas shopping season on December 15 and will remain open nights for the convenience of shoppers who are unable to make their holiday purchases during the day.

SEARCH IS ON FOR SCHOONER

Pleasure Craft Missing Off N. C. with Six Aboard

Norfolk Va., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The coast guard cutter Sebago today continued searching the waters off Cape Fear N. C. for the two-masted pleasure schooner Pinta, last reported in distress Thursday night with a party of six.

The steamship Brazos notified the coast guard the Pinta was in difficulty, but gave no details. Coast guard officials here today said a plane from Charleston S. C. probably would be sent to help in the search today if the weather permitted.

Reported aboard the 58-foot schooner were the owner, Austin Gilmour, 33, former Richmond newspaper man; Mr. and Mrs. Vance Goddard of California; John de Groot, Richmond artist, and his wife; and Robert L. Young, Richmond attorney.

The Pinta sailed from Hampton November 18 for Jacksonville on what was to be a round-the-world voyage.

FILM INDUSTRY IS THREATENED

Strike Call Issued for 23,000 Cinema Technicians

Hollywood, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The motion picture industry braced itself today for the shock of a strike call which AFL union leaders said would close every film theatre in the United States and Canada.

Failing to wrangle a 10 per cent wage increase for 23,000 studio technicians, William Bioff, chairman of the conference of studio unions, announced that he would call today a "general strike throughout the entire motion picture industry."

The hour of the walkout was not announced.

Bioff's declaration followed a conference of AFL executives and movie producers in which Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the producers' negotiating committee, informed the union their demands were being refused because of a "complete readjustment which faces the industry."

Loss of foreign markets and sharp curtailment of production had been cited by the producers as effects of the European war on the industry. The union pointed to "exorbitant salaries" paid to stars and ridiculously low wages to hundreds of technicians and challenged producers to make revisions.

Arrested in Front Of Local Patrol Office

State Highway Patrolman C. R. Williams only had to step across the street from patrol headquarters in the Army building yesterday to make an arrest on charges of drunk driving and carrying concealed weapon.

According to Corporal Williams Elbert McCoy, local white man, was left in a car while his companion, who had been driving, went into the liquor store to make a purchase. McCoy is said to have slipped under the wheel and as the car rolled down the street it ran over a bicycle. The owner of the bicycle stepped across the street to the patrol office and Corporal Williams, who to investigate arrested the Negro on a driving drunk charge and upon finding a gun in his pocket, swore out another warrant on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Posters Distributed By Local Boy Scouts

George Thompson, assistant scout executive for Greenville district, responded in that ever-ready scout manner and furnished nine boys to distribute Christmas tuberculosis seal posters throughout this city.

The merchants of the city are giving generously of their window space for the better display of these posters.

WOULD EXTEND FEDERAL FUND TO AID NEEDY

Congress To be Asked Increase Old Age Sums

TO AID STATES OF LOW INCOME

Proposed that Federal Government Put Up $2 To State's $1 Up To First $15

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the Senate Finance committee, disclosed today that Congress would be asked again to increase the federal contributions toward old age assistance payments in low income states.

Harrison said he thought that an amendment to the Social Security act similar to that proposed by Senator Connolly (D-Tex.) and approved by the Senate last session, would have strong support in Congress.

Under the Connolly amendment, which was rejected by a joint Senate-House committee, the federal government would have contributed $2 for every $1 put up by the states in paying the first $15 a month to indigent needy. Above the $15 total the federal government would have matched the state funds dollar for dollar.

Congress changed the law last session to permit the government to match state funds equally up to a point where the federal contribution was $20, thus authorizing total payments of $40 a month beginning on January 1.

"The federal government now is contributing a maximum of $15 a month, which has been matched fully only by California."

Volunteer To Aid In Sale Of Seals

Some 45 civic-minded Greenville citizens have volunteered to solicit Tuberculosis Advance Seal sales and Bond subscriptions, the campaign for which will begin Monday, November 27.

The chairman of the Advance Seal Sales is Mrs. Edward Batchelor. Mrs. J. B. Kittrell is chairman of the Bond Sales.

The Tuberculosis Seal workers are: J. J. White, Stewart Carr, J. H. Waldrop, John Clark, Marshall Starkey, Jake Hadley, W. W. Lee, J. B. Kittrell, Roy Campbell, Lee A. Folger, J. C. Waldrop, Ed. S. Williams, Tom Wilson, Bancroft Ruffley, Phil Goodson.

Two Lost In Fire In Greenville, S.C. Home

Greenville, S. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Fire breaking out early today in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Reese Daniel snuffed out the lives of their daughter and a woman visitor, but three other occupants escaped.

Coroner George W. McCoy identified the victims as Martha Alice Daniel, 11, and Mrs. J. H. Bigham, 35, of Columbia, formerly of Greenville.

Speaks To Pinetops Garden Club.

Miss Mamie E. Jenkins, college English teacher, spoke Thursday afternoon to the Pinetops Garden Club on her impression of the flowers, gardens and fields she saw in western Europe last summer.

To illustrate her talk, she used pictures brought from abroad. Some were of the most famous of the public gardens of Europe, such as the Luxembourg and the Tuilleries in Paris, those of Versailles, the English gardens in Kensington and Hampton Court, and some of Italy's formal gardens. Others of her pictures showed the fields of Normandy, the vineyards along the Rhine, and the villages of Holland.

Among Miss Jenkins' audience were a number of E. C. T. C. alumnae now living in that community and active in many community projects.

Miss Jenkins has been in demand as a speaker this fall, and has talked before many groups and on many aspects of her European trip of last summer. She spoke to a group in Raleigh and one in Goldsboro on high spots of her trip, and to the A. A. U. W. of Greenville on aspects of her tour that had a bearing on international relations. To the college Home Economics Club she talked on food, clothing and customs in various places, and to the English Club she emphasized literary backgrounds. She has spoken to Greenville clubs on significant events touching on the nations at war and the surrounding neutrals, and to the high school Foreign Correspondence club on people she talked with and details of getting from country to country. Asked today about her engagements, Miss Jenkins said that she still has one or two to meet, and that at one of those she will talk about the cathedrals and churches of Europe which she visited.

Poe Society Wins Play Contest.

The Poe Society was the winner in the one-act play contest between literary societies held last night at the college, and the director, Lindsay Whichard of Stokes, and the president of that society, Iris Davis of Stanfordsburg, received the loving cup awarded for the play chosen as best by a judging committee of five.

Miss Christine Johnson of Clarksville, Tenn., chief marshal, spoke a few words of welcome to the large audience before the plays began, and voiced the hope of the three societies that this contest may become an annual affair.

The winning play, "Sanitarium," was a story of the escape of three patients from a sanitarium for mental cases and their attempt to run the institution after they have managed to lock the real officials in a room. Miss Helen Gray Gilliam of Windsor, was the patient who assumed the place as head of the institution, and Misses Mary Field of Hartford and Ruth Nowarah of Roper were her two fellow escapees.

Miss Louise Davis of Fremont played the part of the applicant for a position who fell into the hands of the nurse who finally got the patients back under control.

The other plays also should receive favorable mention—"Girls in White," well directed by Miss Annie Laurie Beale of Pendleton, for the Emerson Society, and "O Joy San," by Miss Patsy McIntyre of Red Oak, for the Lanier Society.

Judges were Miss Mary Greene, Miss Lena Ellis, Dr. Denver S. Baughan, Miss Ethel Gaston and Miss Lois Grigsby.

Music was furnished between plays by Miss Maude Melvin, vocalist, and Vernon Keutemeyer, pianist. The loving cup, presented by one of the judges, will be in the possession of the Poe Society until the contest next year.

Morris-Smith.

Miss Margaret Lee Smith and Robert Van Morris were united in marriage in a private ceremony marked by impressive simplicity and beauty, at the Immanuel Baptist Church, at high noon today, with the Reverend Clarence H. Patrick, pastor of the bride, officiating.

The vows were spoken before the altar, which was banked with palms and ferns and interspersed with flower baskets of large white chrysanthemums and burning tapers.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Paul Davenport, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Vernon, violinist, of Burlington, wearing a dress of black taffeta with a jacket of red velvet, played "Ave Maria," and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and Miss Dorothy Vernon Hoskins, of High Point, sang "Because," and "I Love Thee." Miss Hoskins wore a gown of black taffeta with blouse of black wool striped with white woolen threads. Their corsages were of Briarcliff roses. The traditional Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin," was used as the processional, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lena Mae Smith as maid of honor. She wore a gown of Princess blue faille taffeta designed by Balenciaga, made of semi-princess lines, having a V-shaped neckline, short full sleeves and tight-fitting bodice. Her skirt, worn full length, was fashioned at the back with tiers of faille taffeta forming a bustle effect and extending to a slight train. Her doll hat was of velvet petals and ribbon matching her dress. She carried an arm bouquet of Hollywood roses tied with satin ribbon.

Little Miss Mittie Irene Crumpler, of Mebane, niece of the bride, was ring bearer. She wore a full length pink net dress, trimmed in tiny blue bows of velvet ribbon.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a gown of calla white Bridal satin, fashioned by Chanel, on classic lines with heart-shaped neckline and long tight-fitting sleeves forming a point at the wrist. Tiny satin buttons extended from the back neckline to the waist of her basque bodice and on her sleeves. Her full length skirt fell in soft folds extending to a long circular train. Her wedding veil, worn coronet style, was of white bridal illusion. A tiara of white waxed valley lies attached to her cap was caught at the neck with shirring and worn full length, reaching beyond her hair. The bride carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

The bridegroom had as his best man, W. B. Wood, Jr., of Greensboro. The ushers were Bill Aycock of Greensboro, and J. A. Crumpler of Mebane.

The wedding was on the forty-third anniversary of the bride's parents' wedding day.

Immediately following the marriage, a wedding breakfast, served from a table of beautiful appointments by Mrs. H. S. Baggs and Mrs. C. L. Herring, was given at the home of the bride's parents, honoring the wedding party and out-of-town guests. Coffee was poured by Mrs. E. L. Henderson. Assisting in serving were Misses Mary Agnes Deal, Helen Flanagan, Mary Horne, Elizabeth Meadows and Ethel Gaston.

For traveling, Mrs. Morris wore a smart suit and hat of duonnet velveteen and a gray fur coat. Her accessories were of suede, matching the dress in color.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Smith of Greenville. She was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College and did post-graduate work at Columbia University. She is now a member of the faculty of Aycock school in Greensboro.

Mr. Morris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Morris of Denton, N. C. He is a graduate of Elon College and is now connected with the Cone Export Company of Greensboro.

Following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Morris will make their home in Greensboro.

Last evening, Mrs. C. L. Herring and Mrs. E. L. Henderson enter-

Sollifer L. I. Moore has purchased the college property just west of the railroad. They are going to have the large building cut up and converted into several dwellings on the property. It will be a desirable residence location.

They Found Brick
The diggers who are sinking the well on the court house square threw up a lot of brick from a few feet under the surface. They struck a part of the foundation of the old court house that before the war stood out where the street is, and was destroyed by fire.

Picture Pays Tribute To Southern States

A 45-minute sound and color motion picture entitled "The New South," portraying the agricultural and industrial development of the Southern states, has been released for showing in the coming months in all parts of the South. The showings are sponsored by the distributors of Arcadian Nitrate.

This remarkable picture represents months of work by a production crew which toured the Southern states in search of local color. All scenes in the picture were filmed on the actual places depicted; those who took part did so without pay, and all action was natural.

After showing pictorially how the South has grown agriculturally and commercially since the coming of the first white man, "The New South" introduced four Southern farm experts who point out the need for more scientific farming. The importance of self-containment to the South is pointed out, especially in times of war.

Later scenes in the picture include sequences of the production of Arcadian Nitrate from the raw materials. The film closes with a tribute to Southern farmers, and a salute to the future of Southern agriculture.

GOVERNOR HOEY SPEAKER FOR DEDICATION AT ECTC

education, to be celebrated along with the dedication, has already been observed by talks in chapel by President L. R. Meadows and various members of the faculty. A further part of the observance of this festival, the best of the student body, G. T. C. of a chapter of the student organization of Future Teachers of America, which is affiliated with the National Education Association, and also with the North Carolina Education Association. The local chapter is the second one in North Carolina to receive its charter from the National Education Association, and is now affiliated also with the North Carolina Education Association.

The celebration of the centennial of public teacher education in the U. S. is national in scope. The American Association of Teachers Colleges, besides initiating local observances over the nation, has sponsored the publication of a book written for the association by Professor Charles A. Harper of State Normal University of Illinois, which tells the story of "A Century of Public Teacher Education."

Professor Harper traces the history of public teacher training from the opening of the first publicly supported teacher training institution under Cyrus W. Pierce at Lexington, Massachusetts, on July 3, 1839, through the period of its humble but vigorous beginnings in New England, through its spread to the states of the Middle West, through its subsequent development over the whole of the United States, and finally through the period since 1900 in which the normal schools have become teachers colleges, granting degrees. This is the story of the work of great educators like Horace Mann, Henry Barnard, and Richard Edwards. These men and their colleagues never lost sight of the fact that the function of a teacher training college is specific and technical; namely, to train teachers. And to this end today the model school and the practice school for the training of teachers remain major parts of such institutions.

At the dedication of the new building, East Carolina Teachers college is celebrating not only the centennial of public teacher education, but the rounding out of some thirty years of its own existence as a public teacher training institution. The college stands today among the best of such institutions in the United States.

GO TO THE BEAVER.
THOU SLUGGARD
Pueblo, Colo.—(AP)—Bill Rutherford, CCC camp foreman, tells about the beaver colony that mistook a fence for an aspen grove.
"Beaver store aspen bark for food," says Rutherford. "A rancher on Willow creek built a fence and used green aspen for posts.
"The beaver tried to fell the posts, severing them at the base, but the wires held them upright. The animals tried again, this time severing the posts higher. Still the posts remained upright.
"They are busy yet trying to fell those 'trees' and it appears they have set themselves to an all winter task."

Twice As Good?
Roanoke, Va.—(AP)—You can eat two varieties of apple and have only one core to throw away as the result of a grafting experiment here. C. J. Price exhibited fruit half red York on one side and half Grimes Golden on the other, the result of grafting Grimes Golden shoots on a York tree, plus cross-pollination.

'Trouble I've Seen'

His face bearing the marks of his weariness, Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, master of the American freighter City of Flint, is shown in Bergen, Norway, as he told of the harassed wanderings of his command. The Flint was seized as a prize by the German navy, sailed to Murmansk, Russia, and finally headed for a German port. En route she put in at Bergen and Norwegian authorities interned the German prize crew and returned the ship to the American flag.

SAYS HORTON WILL NOT RUN

Political Gossip eliminates One Candidate

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Raleigh's political gossip mill, moving into high gear shortly after the Monday morning quarterback had finished their discussion of the big game at Durham, has all this week been grinding out the report that Lieutenant Governor Wilkins P. Horton, one of the six or more suspected candidates for Governor, will never announce.

So far the subject of this speculation and reporting has had nothing to say on the subject, no doubt held back by the fact that he never has said he is going to run (that is, he never has said if for publication) and therefore hardly feels called upon to issue a formal statement denying he'll do something he never has announced he would do.

Behind the reports that the Number Two Tar Heel will not try to step up to the Number One slot undoubtedly lies the general impression among politicians that it now appears definite that Horton will not get the organized and vigorous support from the state administration that it had previously been assumed he would get.

The reasoning runs about like this: Horton never would have thought of running unless he expected administration support, and now that it does not seem likely he will get that support he will not run. Naturally, both major and minor premises are correct, but the conclusions are unimpeachable in logic and in fact; but so far there is nothing more concrete than rumors to substantiate the premises. Certainly no one of the administration leaders has had anything official to say on the subject.

Anyone willing to listen can hear that Horton has been handed the well-known double-cross so far as administration—but nobody so far has advanced anything more than "I hear" to support the charge. There is no concrete evidence one way or another, just as there wasn't a shred of evidence to support the repeated assertions made several weeks ago that Governor Clyde Hoey had informed Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell that if he (the commissioner) decided to run for Governor he would have to resign his state job the moment he made his announcement.

At that time it was charged by Maxwell partisans that the reports were being designedly spread by Horton supporters. Now the rumor factory is running in exactly the opposite direction and it is now Horton supporters who are accusing Maxwell backers of sabotaging their favorite's chances with untruthful statements.

But any way the affair is looked at, there is today noticeable in Raleigh a distinct impression that at this time James Melville Broughton, local attorney, is out in front of the gubernatorial pack. He is credited with a large following on his own account. He is now looked upon as likely to receive the support of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald and his principal lieutenants, and, finally, it begins to look as if he might eventually receive the administration's blessings. If all this is so, then they might as well call of next spring's primary, and the November election, too, and save money to spend on inaugurating Broughton in January, 1941.

There will be, however, plenty of Doubting Thomases still to be shown, and so the race will go on. Speaking of the administration's blessings, it is regarded on all sides as highly unlikely that the Governor will ever flatly support or oppose any candidate. He will, in all probability, preserve the same solemn silence as during the 1939 Speakership fight.

There has been much sage comment in some publications about a "neutrality proclamation" so to speak, which the Governor will issue once the campaign has been formally launched. There seems to exist no particular reason why such a proclamation should be made, but on the other hand there also seems no supremely important reason why it should not be; but in one respect

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, Nov. 25.—Employment News, mimeographed publication of the North Carolina State Employment Service, again this week presents a number of stories about unusual applicants at the service's offices over the state.

There was, for example, the applicant at Henderson—a young woman who is working her way through college by raising tobacco. Given a piece of land by her father, for the past three years, she has herself planted, hoed, suckered, primed, cured and marketed her tobacco and used the proceeds to attend Woman's college. This fall, tobacco prices kept her from enrolling this term, she says.

At Raleigh a registrant listed herself as an art teacher, graduate of Wesleyan Conservatory of Art at Macon, Ga. She has studied art for a year at the University of North Carolina and has had experience of approximately two years as a teacher.

The High Point office registered a woman formerly employed as an analytical chemist with the General Motors Corporation. Prior to that employment she was a teacher of botany, zoology, physics and chemistry.

Charlotte registered a well-qualified chef and steward with fifteen years experience as chef and steward in leading resort and commercial hotels. He served his four-year apprenticeship in the cuisine of a well-known New Orleans hotel.

Railroads of the United States have 63,731 motor trucks in terminal transfer, inter-city and store door delivery service. This number of trucks exceeds the number of locomotives operated by the railroads, according to H. C. Murphy, assistant to the president of the Burlington Railroad.

Democratic party officials, driving for campaign funds for use next year, are not going to let the Hatch bill hamstring their efforts and are going to see to it that those not really protected by the bill are solicited for funds.

SWEETS FROM SWEDEN—Not even a candy flower was broken on this gay wedding cake brought from Sweden to Kansas City by Mrs. Emil Reed for the wedding of her daughter, Evelyn (above). The cake—and Mrs. Reed, who guarded its every move—came through the zone where the liner Athenia was sunk. Evelyn is to wed Russell Peck of Falls City, Neb.

READY FOR MARKET—So heavy is demand for flour that Kansas City mills report capacity outputs and three shifts daily—needed to put wheat from the nation's "breadbasket" into the housewives' larder. This is a typical view in a Kansas City flour mill, with a worker weighing and checking sacks before their final release. The war has also boomed mill work.

MISSED MARS BY A MONTH—In placid waters not far from the Statue of Liberty (right) rocks the "Danmark," a full-rigged, three-masted sailing vessel which visited New York to mark Denmark's participation in the world's fair. The ship left Denmark Aug. 8, a month ahead of schedule; war was declared Sept. 3. The ship took 40 days to reach U. S. under full sail.

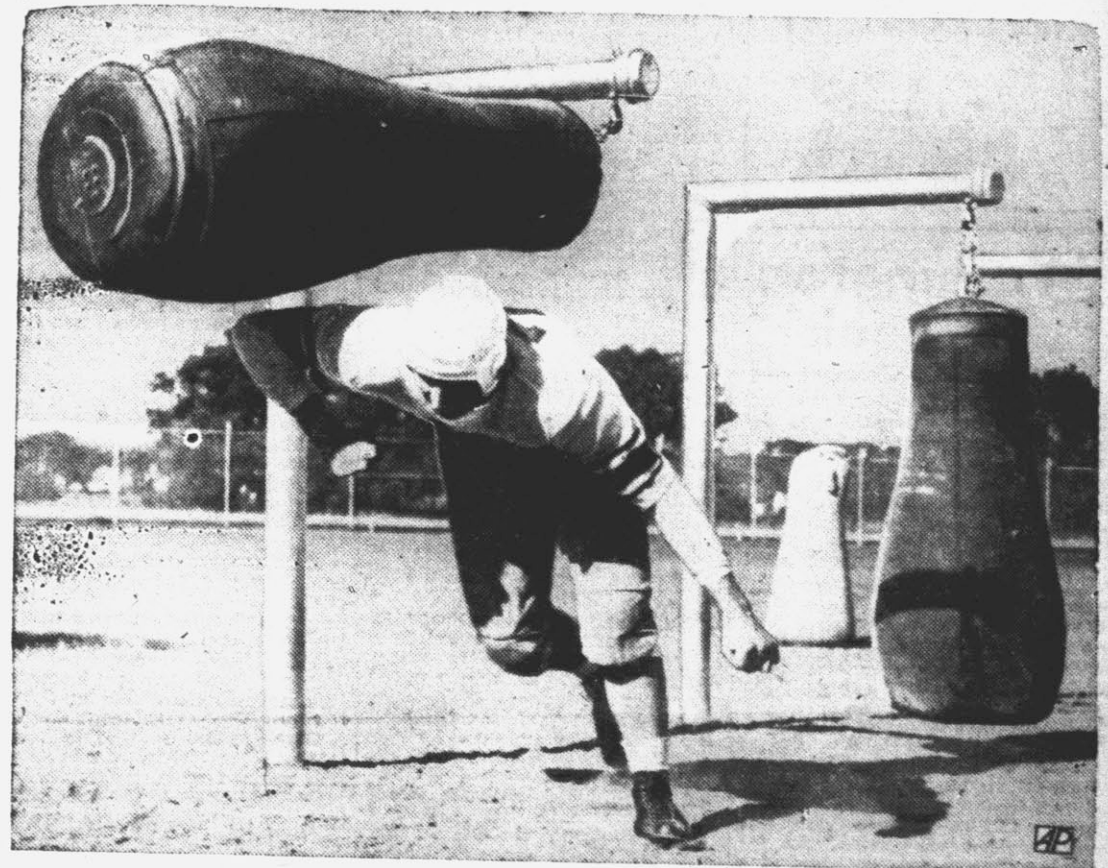

SCHOOLBOY LEARNS LESSON—When it comes to fishing, David Huddleston, 14, is at the head of the class in Galveston, Tex. He landed this 104-pound tarpon recently, a performance worthy of his father, Jeff, another expert angler.

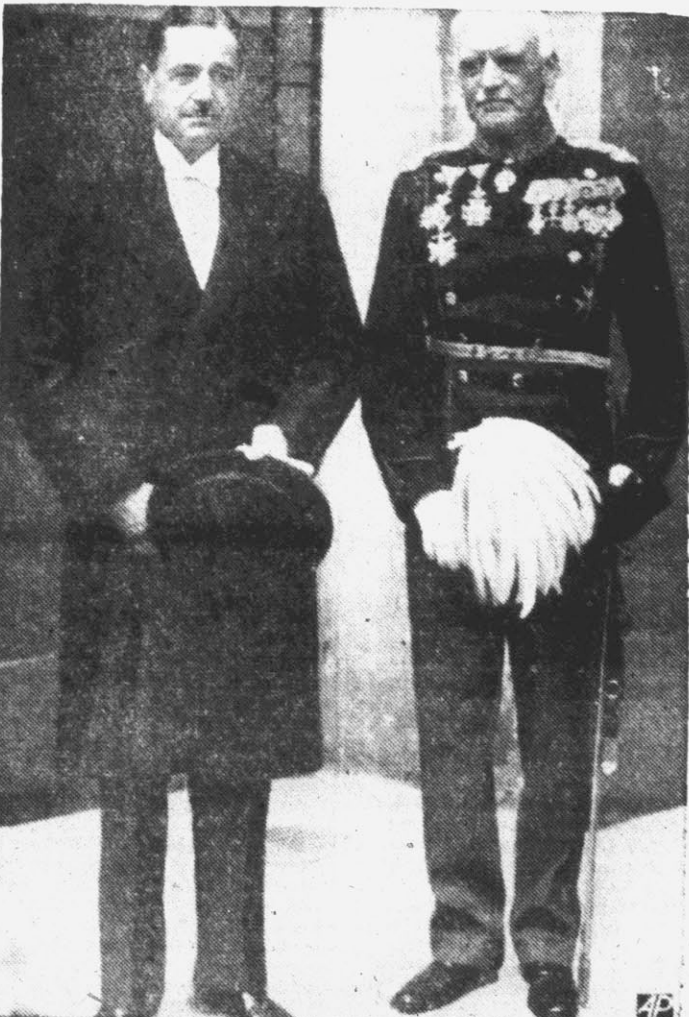

BOOM IN 'BREADBASKET'—"Around the clock" operation has been in effect at mills in Kansas City, near the nation's wheat-producing southwest, as a result of brisk export demand for flour. Here's one workman wearing a mask to keep out flying particles as he fills a sack. Kansas City mills recently set a new record for a week's output, 186,909 barrels.

STYLE NOTE—Social Mrs. Albert Davis of Palm Beach wore this dashing hat (if it is a hat) to Belmont races.

HIS HEART'S IN HIS WORK—Enthusiasm to delight Coach Andy Kerr was displayed by Tackle Hans Guenther of Newark, N. J., taking out this dummy in practice at Colgate university.

PREMIER—Revamping of Japanese foreign policy because of European war and Russia's strategic position rests with Premier Nobuyuki Abe (above), reportedly pro-U. S.

OTHER HALF—Almost up to her ears in work, Mrs. John Nance Garner, plunges into her job as secretary to the vice president. Most of the mail concerns neutrality act.

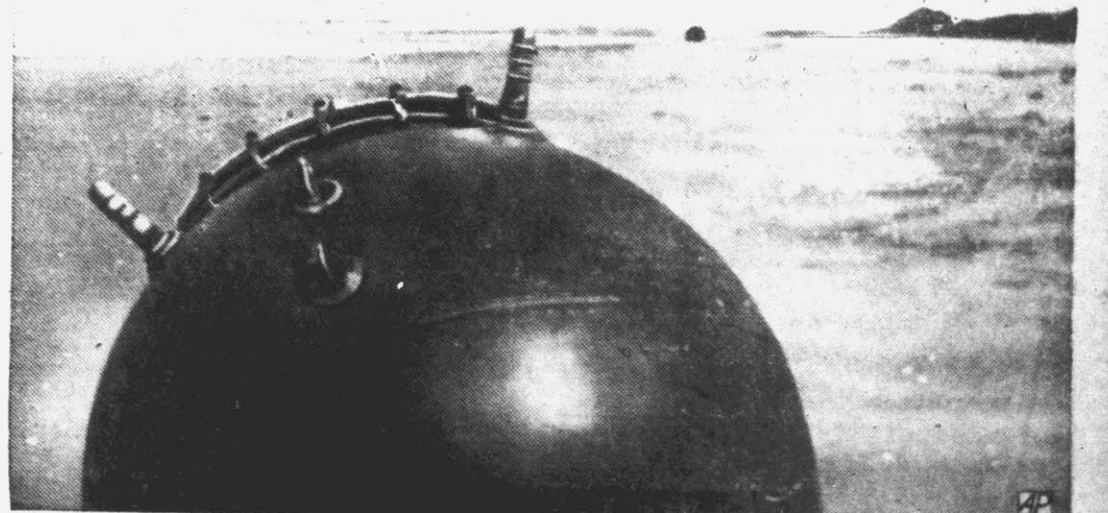

CORSET COIFFURE—See what the corset craze did to a hairdress modeled in Chicago by Miss Dorothy Thomas.

BATH FOR 'OLD GLORY'—When floods from the Hai river inundated Tientsin, China, causing damage estimated at $108,000,000, this flag on an outside wall of the American Marines club got a good wetting. Water's six feet deep here.

APPOINTED—Formerly director of personnel, Gordon C. Clapp (above), 34, of Knoxville, has been named by F.D.R. general manager of Tennessee Valley Authority.

WHY THE DUTCH ARE WORRYING—Mines such as this one, shown on a beach in the northern part of the Netherlands, present a problem to the Dutch authorities. With as many as 15 mines reported found in one day in this section, the Dutch have cause to worry. Some of the mines explode as they drift ashore and others remain "alive" until touched off by human hands.

Phantoms Come From Behind To Defeat Kinston 13-6

LOCALS SCORE TWO 2ND HALF

Come Back after Rest Period to Overcome 6-0 Lead

Coach Bo Farley's Green Phantoms were forced to stage a second half comeback at Guy Smith stadium last night to defeat an under-rated or inspired Kinston High eleven, 13-6.

The invading Red Devils held a six point margin at half time.

The Greenville boys were unable to break up passes effectively at times and the only two first downs registered by the visitors came on aerial advances. Greenville, mixing passes with line thrusts, made a total of 11 first downs.

The visitors scored in the second quarter on two successive passes. Roland Paylor, halfback, threw a 35-yard pass to Howard Chapin, leaving the ball resting on the Phantoms' seven-yard mark. On the very next play Chapin held on to a pass as he stood in the end zone and the visitors led 6-0. The try for extra point failed.

The score apparently showed the locals they had to get down to business if they were to conquer the Lenoir county team. With half-time drawing near, the Phantoms made a desperate attempt to even the score before the rest period, but the whistle caught them on the Kinston six-inch line. The locals had advanced to this point on a long gain by Sakas, several line gains by Tyndall and a pass from Sakas to Larry James.

The second half was only seconds old when Sakas, faking a pass, raced more than 30 yards to score standing up, after having shaken off several would-be tacklers. Rogers' try for extra point was good and the lead changed to favor the locals.

Coaches Farley and Pulkerson evidently used some of the tactics employed by the late Knute Rockne, for the Phantoms were really playing inspired football. The 7-6 score did not remain for long. With Sakas and Tyndall carrying the ball, the locals got off some beautiful gains to place the ball on the one yard stripe, from which point J. B. Kittrell plunged over. The attempt for extra point was blocked.

Although the scoring for the night was over, the Kinston boys threw a scare into the Phantoms when two passes placed the pigskin deep in Greenville territory. Checked, the Red Devils yielded the ball on downs and the Greenies were out of danger.

Kinston made good no four of its 10 attempted passes, while Greenville completed three of its eight tries.

Penalties proved costly to the Phantoms, who lost 50 yards compared with only five for the visitors. The Phantoms also fumbled more than usual.

Greenville High will close its season's schedule with Washington here next Wednesday night.

She was permitted to use the five little Dionne girls because their trustees were eager for a permanent record of their facial characteristics and cranial measurements. At the age of five Suzanne says she was amazed to find that the Quints, in appearance, are really sets of twins—that Marie and Emily are identical; Yvonne and Cecile are the same; and that Annette is the one whose twin did not mature. You can catch this difference in her portrait busts.

TILT TO OFFER PUNTING DUEL

Dunkle - Gillette To Clash at Hill On Thanksgiving

By TOM BOST, JR.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 25.—A thrilling punting duel is in store for fans here Thanksgiving when North Carolina's Harry Dunkle and Virginia's Jim Gillette, two infallible long distance artists, tear into the leather with their toes.

Although a sophomore, Dunkle has developed into the greatest long distance booter modern football at the University. Starting with the Wake Forest game, he began a steady climb that carried him to the top of the nation's punters, and for three consecutive weeks he held first place with a phenomenal 46-yard average.

Right now he's still near the top with an amazing 45.7 yard average and still going strong. Only three weeks ago he put on one of the finest punting exhibitions anywhere by averaging 50.5 yards with a wet, slippery ball in the N. C. State game.

Gillette's brilliant punting paved the way for Virginia victories over Hampden - Sydney, William and Mary, Chicago, Washington and Lee and Maryland. He kept these teams on the run with long, spiraling boots and short lazy floaters that rolled frequently into the coffin corners.

So the game may well turn out to be a duel between Dunkle's domination of distance and Gillette's mastery of the corners.

Neither Gillette's nor Dunkle's abilities are limited strictly to punting. Gillette is a powerful runner and a sure-fire passer and is being ranked as one of the greatest backs ever to wear the Orange and Gold. Elusive and deceptive, he has been a constant threat to the opposition for three years, and in 1937 and 1938 he led the Cavaliers in scoring.

On the other hand, Dunkle has upheld Carolina's tradition of fine placekickers with an enviable record of 16 conversions in 18 attempts. He also has to his credit two field goals via placement from sharp, difficult angles from the 23-yard line in the Penn game and 33-yard stripe in the Duke contest.

Both men are unusually strong on defense. Dunkle is like a block of granite in backing up the line and Gillette is a ball hawk on pass defense.

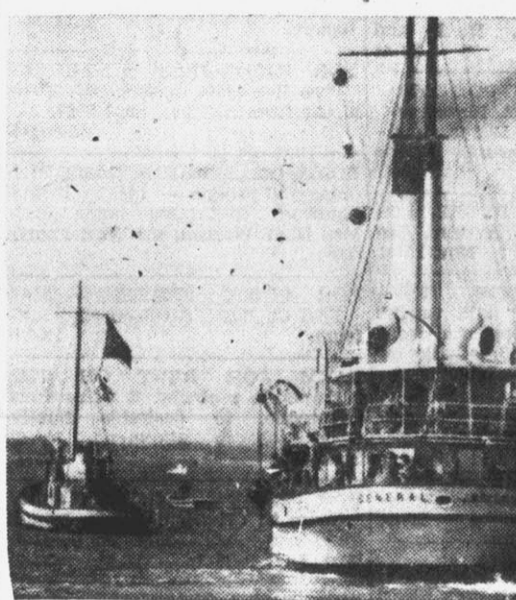

The total value of the chemicals found in the body of the average man is 93 cents.

Army Lays Some Nest Eggs

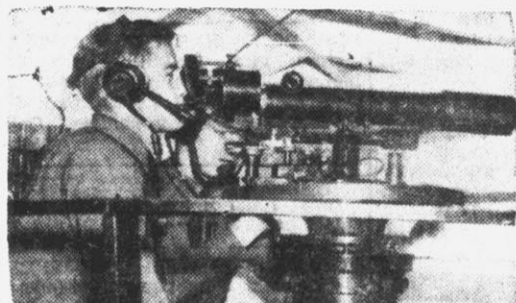

Mines Will Be Ready For Invader Any Time

The AP Feature Service

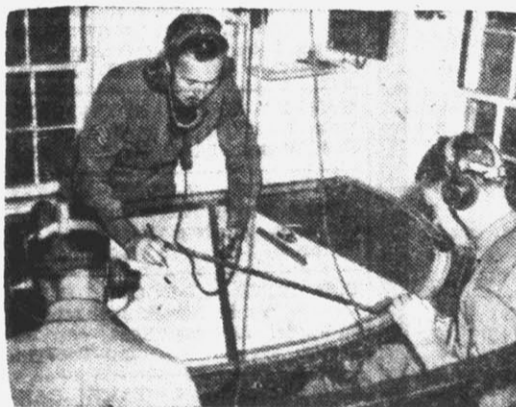

Maybe nobody's ever going to try to invade the United States, but the army's taking no chances. Up and down the Atlantic coast, it's laying egg—mines filled with 200 pounds of TNT. Each mine-field is made up of strings of 19 mines set 100 feet apart and about 30 feet under water. To American or neutral shipping the mines are harmless, for they won't explode on contact. But to an enemy they would do serious damage for they can be exploded by electricity from various shore points. On sighting the enemy the harbor defense crew would compute his exact position, using the process of triangulation, and would know exactly where he would be in a few minutes. As he passed over a given mine-spot, that "egg" would be sent off. These pictures illustrate the process.

1. A mine-layer prepares to drop its "egg" while another boat stands by to chart the exact spot.

2. Through a powerful telescope, soldiers in fortified harbors check ship movements, report enemy approach.

3. Using triangulation, coast defense crews compute when the invader will pass over which mine.

4. A soldier, in communication with headquarters, stands ready to send off a mine at the proper time.

New York, Nov. 25. - (AP) - Steels and other selected issues exhibited recovery signs today, but many leaders loitered in slightly lower territory.

The list slipped at the start. Then a little demand for the hard metals provided a steadying influence and the mild comeback soon got under way. Closing quotations were a shade mixed. Transfers totaled 293,100 shares.

Wall Street for the most part still viewed as bullish the matter of new taxes for defense purposes, a possibility suggested yesterday by the president.

BABSON

Take the Social Security set-up for instance. There is the federal law and in addition each state has a law. Consequently, if a concern has employees in 48 states, it must make returns in 48 different ways to 48 separate social security boards, as well as to the federal board. The Wagner Act has been backed up by labor acts in many states, but they all differ. State labor boards make decisions which may or may not be consistent with the decisions made by the national board. Right now, the Wisconsin labor board is about to come to grips with the national board. Then there are discriminatory trade taxes. We have chain store taxes in 19 states, in some counties and cities even—and they are all different.

Sales and "Use" Taxes
There are 34 states which have income tax laws and every one of these is different. There are 28 states where sales taxes are now in effect 18 of which have the hard-boiled "use" taxes. Restrictions on the free transportation of farm products are costing U. S. farmers millions of dollars annually. To show how this works, Wisconsin, Iowa, Washington and Minnesota slapped a whopping big tax on oleomargarine, which contains cottonseed oil, to protect their butter-makers. Angered by this discrimination against one of her vital products, Arkansas proposed a retaliatory law which would slap a 25 per cent tax on apples and dairy products from these states—and it was barely defeated.

There are hundreds of other barriers. Take the motor truck laws, for instance. Length, width, and weight regulations differ in nearly every state. Trucks can enter some western states only at certain points. These "ports of entry" are similar to customs points on the border of any foreign country. Guards weigh the trucks, measure them, swarm over them, and inspect the cargo. These state barricades cause bad feeling. In a vindictive spirit, neighboring states put up retaliatory barriers which are more stringent and the situation becomes progressively worse.

Shackling New Employers
The basic effect of all this is to make it hard for employers to give jobs. Employers, who would normally be expanding their business into new areas, hesitate because they do not want to add to their legal worries. They do not want to buy licenses, register as foreign corporations, pay social security, income, and sales taxes; study labor laws, etc. They figure it is cheaper and easier to "sit tight."

The people who would get jobs if these employers opened branch offices or branch plants in a new state lost out. So does the state because it has to support more unemployed sooner or later it has to impose higher taxes, thus driving employer already in business out of the state. This further increases unemployment and the tax burden. It is a vicious circle.

Thousands of Farms to File

A graphic illustration of how these federal and state trade barriers are increasing is told by the Saturday Evening Post Ten years ago the Post filed a hundred forms with the federal and state governments. In recent years the Post has filed over 100,000 forms! Yet, for Canada they file only one form. Imagine the cost of making out these thousands of forms to say nothing of the amount of taxes paid. The biggest problem which we face today is the same one we faced seven years ago when Franklin Roosevelt was elected, namely our millions of jobs. The only solution of this problem is more em-ploymen-t. We cannot expect that people will be put to work if we make it hard for employe-s to do them. The great need of America today is not more laws, more restrictions, or more barriers against our fellow-men. It is exactly the opposite. What we need is more unselfishness, more fairness and more friendship toward our neighbors. This gospel which Jesus taught 2,000 years ago must be recognized before real prosperity will return!

Roosevelt Meets Georgia Officials

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 25. - (AP) - A conference with Georgia's congressional delegation - minus Senator Walter F. George - gave President Roosevelt an opportunity today to get first hand reaction to his disclosure that defense expenditures should be pushed to a new peak.

The legislators' call on the President had some political ramifications. George, whom President Roosevelt tried unsuccessfully to unseat last year in Georgia's democratic primary, said at his home in Vienna he was neither "invited by the President nor consulted on a date for the visit."

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds

Hollywood - "Drums Along the Mohawk." Screenplay by Lamar Trotti and Sonya Lerner from the novel by Walter D. Edmonds. Directed by John Ford. Principals: Claudette Colbert, Henry Fonda, Edna May Oliver, Eddie Collins, John Carradine, Dorris Bowdon, Jessie Ralph, Roger Imhof, Francis Ford, Arthur Shields, Ward Bond.

I doubt that color photography has ever been so dramatically used, or on such magnificent scenery, as it is in this tale of American frontier life during the revolution.

It's a vigorous, action-filled yarn, this saga of men who built and planted in the wilderness and saw, time after time, the burning of their homes and crops by Tory-incited, savage Indians. The setting is the Mohawk Valley (duplicated for the film by Utah) mountain country, where the colonials had to serve as their own defense corps while the continental army fought the British on more vital fronts.

Fonda and Colbert are excellent as the young couple beset by wilderness perils and heartbreak, fighting through courageously to the victorious end. Ford's direction revels in this hardy material, mixes drama with action and comedy, the latter provided mainly by Edna May Oliver and Eddie Collins.

The picture's big faults, not to be overlooked, are its sag in the middle and a climax which is, in larger form, a repetition of what has gone before.

"First Love." Screenplay by Bruce Manning and Lionel Houser. Directed by Henry Koster. Principals: Deanna Durbin, Robert Stack, Eugene Pallette, Helen Parrish, Lewis Howard, Leatrice Joy, June Storey, Frank Jenks, Kathleen Howard, Jack Mulhall.

Cinderella - what, again? - but with a modern touch. And another hit, her sixth in a row, for the Durbin child who is now grown-up enough to get her first kiss on any screen.

It's all there, the little poor girl and the rich family... the ball and Prince Charming and midnight... Part of the charm of "First Love" is its makers' frank and open embracing of their well-worn theme. Part is due to direction and clever writing, to the efforts of a bright cast. But Deanna herself, nearing 17, can take a large bow, too. The little girl is almost gone, but she sparkles through occasionally—and the young lady is very, very nice, her singing better than ever before.

"Remember." Screenplay by Corey Ford and Norman Z. McLeod. Directed by Norman Z. McLeod. Principals: Robert Taylor, Greer Garson, Lew Ayres, Billie Burke, Reginald Owen, George Barbier, Henry Travers, Richard Carle, Laura Hope Crews, Halliwell, Paul Hurst.

Goodbye, Mr. Chips. Hello, Greer Garson, cast not too happily as a smart American society girl in a light comedy which has moments both dull and bright.

Taylor is Lew's best pal who steals Lew's best gal. Being an unbelievably stout fellow, Lew doesn't let a little thing like that break up their friendship—and it's Lew who gives them a drug guaranteed to produce amnesia when their marriage sicks into divorce. Thus happily forgotten of all that has transpired, Taylor and Garson meet again, fall in love as impetuously, and elope just as before.

The brightest sequences, worth waiting for, are the final ones. Most embarrassing: the fox hunt, at which Taylor is made to try to be funny.

White Buffalo
Juneau, Alaska. - (AP) - One of those million-to-one freaks of nature, an Albino buffalo, has been sighted several times with a herd in the Big Delta country, south of Fairbanks. Dr. William T. Hornaday, famed conservationist, says probably not more than 10 or 11 white buffaloes have ever been seen by white men.

BANG! THERE GOES ANOTHER ILLUSION

Dallas, Tex. - (AP) - There wasn't any more mud in Flanders fields than usual when American soldiers fought there. It just seemed like more, says Dr. Edwin J. Foscue of Southern Methodist University.

Dr. Foscue heard so many assertions that the heavy cannonading of World War days brought a deluge, he decided to investigate scientifically.

Studying climatological data, he compiled the true story of rainfall at the western front and found: The four years of the conflict were not unusually rainy. In fact, the first two years were only slightly above normal and the last two, when the American troops were in France, were below normal. Hence, the detonation of high explosives seemingly had no influence upon the total precipitation.

Local Products
Green Bay, Wis. - (AP) - Two Green Bay Packers in the National Football League are native sons. Dick Zol, tackle, learned his football at West High school and then went to Indiana university. Wayland Becker, end, performed with the local East High school gridiron squad as the start of his climb to the Packers.

But How Fast Are They?
Rome. - (AP) - Horse carriages, on a direct competitive basis with taxicabs in Rome, operate on a taximeter basis.

The high price of gasoline—one dollar a gallon—as well as the prohibition of private motoring, has taken most cars out of circulation and increased the demand for horse-drawn vehicles.
