GAIN SHOWN IN EXPORTS FROM THIS COUNTRY

Trade Balance Favored U. S. by Widest Margin Since '37

EFFECTS OF WAR ARE REFLECTED

Tobacco Shipments From This Country, However, $3,299,000 Below October of Last Year

Washington, Nov. 27. (AP)—Exports of American merchandise exceeded imports in October by the largest margin in nearly two years, the Commerce Department reported today.

Exports totaled $332,079,000 and imports $215,281,000. The $116,798,000 difference was said by the department to be the widest spread for any month since January, 1938.

A few war effects were shown by the October figures, especially in the failure of tobacco shipments to make the usual seasonal gain. Tobacco shipments totaled $6,190,000, compared with $29,489,000 in October a year ago. England is one country which has been cutting down tobacco purchases.

Cotton exports, which had lagged in a serious manner, increased, however to $47,254,000 in October, which was more than double the figure for the same month last year.

Other export increases included fruit, automobiles and corn. Exports of raw tobacco totaled 28,532,600 pounds in October and 297,095,000 pounds in the first 10 months, compared with 82,034,000 and 379,709,000 last year.

Imports amounted to 6,724,000 pounds and 62,840,000 pounds, compared with 6,289,000 and 60,968,000 last year.

Funeral Held For Mrs. F.A. Haddock

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Moore Haddock, 64, who died at her home in the Rose Hill community near Winterville yesterday morning at 10:45 o'clock, were conducted at the Rose Hill Free Will Baptist church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. W. B. Nobles, pastor.

Burial followed in the family cemetery near the home. Mrs. Haddock was born and reared in Greene county, having moved to Pitt county upon her marriage. She had been an active member of the Rose Hill Free Will Baptist church for the past 45 years.

Surviving are her husband, F. A. Haddock; two daughters, Mrs. Levi Sutton and Mrs. Ruth Sawyer; six sons, Arthur, Fred, Robert, Lyman, Charlie and James Haddock, all of the home; one sister, Mrs. Elias Letchworth of Greene county; and 12 grandchildren.

Active pallbearers were J. A. Branch, Jarvis Tucker, Johnnie Edwards, Gilmer Edwards, Lloyd Craft.

Call For Bids On Pitt County Road

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Highway and Public Works Commission called today for bids to be submitted December 7 for construction of 16 highway and bridge projects.

Among them were: Halifax county grading structures and surfacing on 2.76 miles of route 561 between routes 321 and Spring Hill.

Pitt: Widening 8.70 miles on route 11 between Ayden and intersection with route 264.

Wilson: Approaches and underpass near Wilson.

Christmas Seal Sale Off On A Good Start

Mrs. James Picklen, chairman of the 1939 Christmas seal sale campaign, reported at noon today that the advance sale and bond sale was showing "splendid results."

The sale got under way this morning Mrs. Jimmie Jenkins, helping conduct the advance sale, declared she and other officials were hopeful the same cooperation would be continued throughout the campaign as was exhibited on the opening day.

Begin Task Today On Street Decorations

Water and Light Commission employees this afternoon were busy putting up street decorations, working in cooperation with the Merchants Association.

It is hoped to have the decorations completed by Friday or Saturday night and turn on the lights. In addition to the lights, mountain laurel with red ruscus, wreaths and stars are being used in the decorations.

Finland To Refuse Demand By Russia That Her Troops Withdrawn From Border

Suggested in Helsinki That Moscow Order Her Own Forces From Frontier Lines; Foreign Minister Drafting Reply To Ultimatum-Like Demands Made by Soviet Union

Helsinki, Finland, Nov. 27 (AP)—Finland will refuse Soviet Russia's demand that Finnish troops be withdrawn from the common border north of Leningrad, it appeared today from comment in government circles which suggested that Russian forces themselves fall back.

The cabinet discussed the demands this morning and Foreign Minister Elias Erkkö began immediately to draft an answer which may be presented today after cabinet approval.

Despite the pressure implicit in the note delivered yesterday to Finland's Moscow legation, a Finnish government spokesman chose to call it a "friendly proposal," not an ultimatum.

He pointed out that the note carried no time limit. It called for withdrawal "without delay."

Good Records Reported By National Guard Unit

Battery A Returns From Week of Field Training

Battery A, 113th Field Artillery, local unit of the National Guard, returned Saturday night from a week of extensive training on the Fort Bragg reservation.

Acting Commanding Officer J. H. Waldrop reported that the local unit made a good showing while encamped and added the unit was commended by the regimental commander, as well as other high officers.

None of the 79 men and two local officers appeared any the worse from the week of encampment. Only four were on the sick list any of the time they were gone. Three suffered colds and another was bitten by an insect and required treatment.

Lieut. Moyer reported that the local unit arrived at its camp site one and eight-tenths of a mile from regimental headquarters on Plank road. The unit arrived at 2:30 and in spite of a heavy downpour of rain had all tents, stoves, etc., up and served supper by 5:20 o'clock.

Lieut. Moyer scoffed at reports that the guardsmen went out for training only when it was not raining and added that all maneuvers were carried on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday during heavy rains. The sun coming out only on Thursday afternoon, Battery A functioned as a part of the First Battalion, which went out each morning by 8:30 o'clock, returning in time for dinner.

Schools were conducted each afternoon from 1:30 to 3 o'clock for the principal purpose of teaching the men to take care of themselves in all circumstances. Sanitation and physical hygiene especially were stressed. It was reported.

The unit engaged in various maneuvers, including gun emplacements, but no shots were actually fired.

It was the first winter encampment during peace-time by the National Guard since the World War.

Payments totaling $7,912.50 and representing interest payments due on Pitt county bonds December 1, 1915, were made today in the office of County Treasurer J. Vance Perkins.

No principal payments fall due on the date.

Payments are to be made to New York banks as follows: Five and a quarter per cent county of Pitt bonds dated July 1, 1931, $5,512.50; five per cent Farmville township road improvement bonds dated December 1, 1915, $1,000; five per cent Falkland township road improvement bonds dated December 1, 1915, $1,075.

County sinking funds own bonds upon which payments will be made as follows: Five per cent Farmville township road improvement bonds dated December 1, 1915, $75.

The Pitt County Peace Officers Association owns bonds upon which payment is to be made as follows: Five per cent Farmville township road improvement bonds dated December 1, 1915, $50.

Orders have been placed, and in some instances books have arrived. In some schools the books are being placed on exhibit for the parents to see. It was the aim to purchase books based on facts and practical knowledge, rather than books on theory and fiction.

The library program is beginning to show some results, but school officials and teachers expect to continue the work, making replacements and additions as funds provide it.

The children were declared to be showing much interest and the libraries were said to be contributing much to the rural life of the county.

Professor R. C. Deal, of the E. C. T. C. faculty, will be the speaker at the annual Tyson-May reunion at Farmville on Friday, December 1. The reunion will be held in the Major Benjamin May Chapter House of the D. A. R.

This is one of the big family reunions of eastern North Carolina, as the two families concerned are of pioneer stock, and have been active in the history of this section since before revolutionary days.

Last year over two hundred descendants of the Tysons and the Mays attended the affair, and a large attendance is expected again this year.

After the program Mr. and Mrs. Deal will be guests at dinner, which will be served at the chapter house.

PITT SCHOOLS GET LIBRARIES

Total of $2,950 Raised for Various Pitt Schools

A forward stride in the development of libraries in the various Pitt county schools has been taken and increased interest is being shown by all concerned. It was revealed at the offices of the Pitt County Board of Education today.

"We intend to continue to show improvement in this particular phase of the school work and want and need the continued support of the officials, teachers, students and patrons," declared Supt. D. H. Conley, who added the recent accomplishments constituted only part of the aim to establish and maintain adequate library facilities for all schools in the county.

The Board of County Commissioners appropriated $1,250 for library improvements in the county, $250 of which went to the Greenville schools. The remainder was divided among the 13 county schools on the basis of elementary teachers.

In addition to this amount, the County Board of Education provided $1,300, or $100 for each of the schools and each of the white schools themselves raised $50, making a grand total of $2,950 for libraries in the county schools.

Orders have been placed, and in some instances books have arrived. In some schools the books are being placed on exhibit for the parents to see. It was the aim to purchase books based on facts and practical knowledge, rather than books on theory and fiction.

REDS PROTEST NEW INCIDENT WITH FINLAND

Resolutions Passed At Meeting of Soviet Workers

ASK MEASURES BY GOVERNMENT

Press Campaign Similar to That Against Poland Just Before That Country Was Invaded

Moscow, Nov. 27.—(AP) Soviet Russian troops in mass meetings following a "border incident" yesterday in which Finnish artillery allegedly killed or wounded 13 Red Army soldiers, today urged the government to "adopt strictest measures."

The meetings were held as Moscow awaited an answer to an ultimatum-like note in which Russia demanded that Finland withdraw her border garrisons to prevent a repetition.

The press campaign against Finland was strikingly similar to that which preceded the invasion of Poland and no mention was made in the newspapers or over the radio of the denial issued in Helsinki that Finns had fired on the Russians.

The press was filled with stocks resolutions rushed through mass meetings of workers on night shifts urging, among other things in denunciation of Finland, that the Soviet union "reply with a triple blow."

Finnish leaders were accused of "fulfilling orders of their imperialist masters, presumably Great Britain and France."

Troops in the Moscow district adopted resolutions declaring "there is a limit to patience" and requesting the government to "bridge provocateurs of war."

According to the U. S. Agricultural Marketing Service and North Carolina Department of Agriculture, numerous changes occurred in the prices of Eastern North Carolina flue-cured tobacco sold this past week. However, these changes were insignificant and the average prices for the week remained about the same as those of the preceding week on the majority of grades quoted.

The volume of sales were lighter and consisted principally of common to fair leaf and smoking leaf and fair and good hogs. Non-stemmed tobaccos were offered in larger quantities.

Nine Eastern North Carolina markets reported gross sales for the week as 15,263,688 pounds at an average of $16.36 a hundred and total sales through November 24 as 245,441,506 pounds at an average of $15.97 a hundred. It is estimated that sales on these markets represent about 62 per cent of total sales through November 24 for the Eastern belt.

Greenville firemen answered three fire alarms during the week-end and two at white dwelling homes and one at a colored woman's house.

Saturday night about 6:30 o'clock firemen were summoned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Launzhouse on West Fifth street when smoke was observed coming up through the floor in the living room. Fire Chief George Gardner said that coals from the fireplace had fallen through a defective air-work setting fire to a sill under the floor. Damage was estimated at approximately $50.

The home of Ernest Baker on East Eighth street was threatened Sunday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock when woodwork said to have been too close to the blue and humane canning fire from a heating plant on the back porch. The only person at home was upstairs, but a neighbor saw smoke coming from the back porch and sounded the alarm. Damage was estimated at $40.

The third fire of the week-end was at the home of Rosa King, Negro, on Fourteenth street. A short circuit was said to have developed in light wires, causing only slight damage.

Drunkness Charges An even dozen persons were booked at Greenville police headquarters during the week-end but two of them were only sleepers. Eight of the remaining 10 were charged with drunkenness. 1 was accused of violation of a traffic ordinance and one with engaging in disorderly conduct.

No Wrecks Reported Apparently there were no serious wrecks in this section during the week-end. State highway patrolmen said they received no report of a single traffic collision Saturday or Sunday. Police records also failed to mention any accidents within the city limits.

To Resume County Court County court will resumed here tomorrow morning with a comparatively heavy docket which is expected to take the entire day. No session was held last week a civil term of Superior court having been under way.

Pitt Man In Navy Forty-six white and four colored young men were enlisted through the New Bern Navy recruiting office during the month of November including one from Pitt county. The Pitt man enlisted was Carlton Eugene Briley of Farmville, Route No. 2.

Freighter Michigan Moving Toward Disabled Craft

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Globe wireless reported today the freighter Michigan was moving through seas off the Japanese coast toward the Quaker line steamer Peter Kerr, which broadcast a general call for ships to "please stand by us."

The Globe report quoted a message from the American President liner President Coolidge as follows: "Peter Kerr number one hold full water, but no immediate danger as long as bulkhead holds out. Michigan is bound toward her."

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Quaker line steamer Peter Kerr broadcast a general call early today asking ships to "please stand by us."

Globe wireless said the ship messenger had a "hold full of water." Her position was given about 600 miles east of Hakodate, Japan. The weather was clear, but the sea was rough, the message said.

The ship sailed from Los Angeles November 4 for Vladivostok.

Strike-Breakers Unmolested by Union Members

Detroit, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Approximately 200 Negro foundry workers entered the Chrysler main engine plant today unmolested as several thousand United Automobile Workers Union (UAW) pickets jeered, but offered no violence.

"Let the strike-breakers go in," a union spokesman cried through loud speakers. "Don't stop them. There aren't enough to operate the plant and what the corporation wants is for you to stop them and start a fight."

A force of 100 police, warned that an attempt would be made to enter the strike-bound plant, stood by to prevent a possible repetition of Friday's violence, but they were not needed.

The picket line began to form at the plant gates long before dawn. Police estimates placed the number of pickets on hand when the group of workers began entering at upwards of 3,500.

The British Houlder line steamer Ruyton, Grange 5,144-ton, sank in the Atlantic, but all of the crew were saved.

A Copenhagen dispatch said a 300-ton German trawler sank today after striking a mine off the Danish island of Langeland.

Britain was expected to explain during the brief delay in making the export blockade effective that she was anxious to avoid penalizing neutral trade while trying to punish Germany. There were indications the blockade would not be rigidly enforced where grave hardships on neutral countries would result.

Six neutrals with large shipping interests, Holland, Denmark, Belgium, Sweden, Italy and Japan have made advance representations against the decision announced by Prime Minister Chamberlain "to subject to seizure on the high seas" all "exports of German origin or ownership" whether carried in Nazi ships or under neutral flags.

Another robbery on East Tenth street was reported today. Mrs. Nan Moore of 111 East Tenth street having reported that her home was entered between 7:30 and 9 p. m. Saturday night and a pocketbook containing $30 stolen.

Mrs. Moore said that no one was at home at the time and that all lights in the house were off. Upon her return she added she found a back door open but thought perhaps some one else in the house had left it open and thought no more of the matter until this morning when she went to get her pocketbook and found the money missing.

The pocketbook was said to have been left in a wardrobe, which was locked and the keys left on top. Whoever got the money, Mrs. Moore said, removed the keys, unlocked the wardrobe, removed the pocketbook and locked the drawer before leaving. A watch, bracelet and a valuable pin were not bothered.

Market Now Expected Sell 76,000,000 Lbs.

As sales were resumed on the Greenville tobacco market this morning, 74,031,738 pounds of the golden weed had been sold here, bringing a total of $12,178,909.53. For the 75 million pound figure compares with 49,118,158 pounds sold during the corresponding period last year.

Today's sales of approximately 1,500,000 pounds are expected to make it possible for the market to reach the 76,000,000 pound mark tomorrow.

Offerings continued to decline in quality, however. Prices were considered as steady as last week taking into consideration the quality of offerings.

NEW LOSSES AT SEA REPORTED

Order Subjecting To Seizure on High Seas All Exports of German Origin or Ownership to be Published Tomorrow; Action Comes As New Losses Reported by Admiralty

London, Nov. 27.—(AP) An order in council for the seizure of German exports was signed today by King George VI, as an avowed reprisal for German mine-laying warfare.

The order for the complete blockade of Germany will be published in the London Gazette tomorrow and probably will become effective in a few days.

The action came as new shipping losses were reported by the Admiralty.

The Holland-America, 8,859-ton freighter Spaarndam sank in the Thames estuary. The crew of about 40 and one passenger, an elderly woman, were rescued by a pilot cutter.

The line announced at Amsterdam the ship was sunk by a mine below London.

At the same time the Admiralty disclosed the capture of two German freighters, one of which later was destroyed by a German submarine as she was being taken to a British port by a prize crew.

The communiqué said that the 3,670-ton North German Lloyd steamer Boksum was "abandoned and driven ashore" and that four Germans were killed in the encounter. The report said the prize crew suffered no casualties.

The Admiralty said the other German freighter, the 4,458-ton Konsul Hendrik Fisser, was captured by the British and brought safely to port.

A Copenhagen dispatch said a 300-ton German trawler sank today after striking a mine off the Danish island of Langeland.

Britain was expected to explain during the brief delay in making the export blockade effective that she was anxious to avoid penalizing neutral trade while trying to punish Germany. There were indications the blockade would not be rigidly enforced where grave hardships on neutral countries would result.

Vacancies in the A. & M. College Young men desiring to enter the A. & M. College at Raleigh may be examined Saturday, December 16, 1899, at the county court house at 10 o'clock, a. m., by Superintendent of schools.

The subjects of the examination are arithmetic (complete), algebra (to fractions), English, grammar and American history.

There will probably be about 25 vacancies in the college, and young men will be selected to fill these vacancies who pass the best examinations and have the best endorsements as to character. This is a rare opportunity for worthy boys to fit themselves for success in life by means of a practical education.

Your Screen Test

1. What starband-leader of radio is the acting star of his first movie? (His director, David Butler, calls him a cross between Harold Lloyd and the late Will Rogers.)

2. In what picture in the last year did Humphrey Bogart NOT meet his usual fate: death from another gangster's or police bullets?

3. What blonde actress (shown in the picture) became a screen star only after playing the role of a screen star in the Broadway hit, "Personal Appearance," though she had had occasional picture roles since 1920?

4. Jeffrey Lynn and Priscilla Lane marry in "The Roaring Twenties." In what other picture did they get married?

5. (a) Speaking of "the roaring twenties," what redhead played exotic brunette roles (mostly as an oriental dancer) during that period and now is noted for her portrayals as the nicest of American wives, and (b) who was the outstanding male star (he's dead now) of the same decade?

Count 20 points for each question correctly answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 is excellent, and 90 or above is colossal.

Bracken-Lautares.

In a ceremony of beauty and impressive dignity, Miss Pearl Lautares and Robert Donald Bracken of Sanford were married Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Reverend Craig Hill Brown of Southern Pines and Sanford, officiated. He was assisted by Reverend John Tolar of Fayetteville.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Eva Hodges, organist, played "Nocturne in F Minor," by Chopin; "Venetian Love Song," by Nevin; "Salut d'Amour," by Elgar; "Crescendo," by Lasson. Mrs. C. A. White sang "O, Perfect Love," and Mrs. Martin Wachtel, Jr., of New York, sang Schubert's "Serenade." During the ceremony Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" was played. The Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" was played for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional.

The vows were spoken before the altar which was banked with lilies and mountain fern. The chancel was decorated with white chrysanthemums and fern.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. John G. Lautares. The bridegroom had as his best man, Mr. O. P. Makepeace of Sanford.

Mrs. H. W. Wells, Jr., of Wilmington, was dame of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Jenkins of Shelby, and Mrs. J. W. Griffith, Jr., of Goldsboro. Mrs. Wells' gown was fashioned by Vionet of Stained Glass Madron taffeta. It was made with long tight-fitting bodice, square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt was styled full at the waistline with bustle back and made full length with slight train. She wore a doll hat of matching Madron taffeta and carried an arm bouquet of pink Thanksgiving chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Jenkins and Mrs. Griffith, wore gowns of identical style, in Petunia Madron taffeta with matching hats. Their dresses were fashioned by Vionet and made with long tight-fitting bodice, square neckline, and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirts were full at the waist with bustle backs and made full length with slight trains. They carried arm bouquets of pink Thanksgiving chrysanthemums.

The ushers were Harold Makepeace, Warren Irvin Glover, Jr., and F. W. Makepeace of Sanford, and George Lautares of Greenville.

The bride's gown, styled by Schiaparelli, was made of snow white embossed taffeta on semi-princess lines having tight-fitting bodice with shirring in front, a sweetheart neckline and long, tight-fitting sleeves reaching to a point over the hands. Her skirt, fastened to the bodice, was full at the waistline, extending full length to a long circular train. Her veil, styled also by Schiaparelli, was of imported white illusion made full length, reaching beyond the length of her train. It was fastened with bows of illusion and worn off-the-face. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and valley lilies. The bride wore pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Lautares, wore a gown of Starr blue velvet. Her corsage was of Briarcliff roses.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mae Bracken, wore a gown of wine lace with matching velvet hat. Her flowers were Talsman roses.

After a wedding trip to Northern points, the couple will be at home in Sanford. Mrs. Bracken wore as going-away outfit, a black moss crepe Lelong model with silver fox jacket. Her hat was of silver fox and black velvet ribbon. Her accessories were of black suede. She wore a corsage of orchids.

The bride is the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lautares. She is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College and received her A.B. degree from Greensboro College for Women. For the past three years she has been a member of the faculty of the city schools of Sanford.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mae Bracken and the late H. M. Bracken of Johnston, Pa. For the past few years Mr. Bracken has had his business in Sanford.

Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents entertained at a reception.

Many varied and attractive arrangements of white chrysanthemums and fern added charm to the beautiful home on East Ninth street.

Greeting the guests as they arrived were Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth who introduced them to the receiving line, composed of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Bracken, Mrs. Mae Bracken, mother of the groom, the wedding party.

Mrs. Ella Jefferson, grandmother of the bride, Miss Louise Bracken, Miss Mary Bracken and Miss Dorothy Bracken.

Mrs. H. S. Baggs of Winston-Salem and Mrs. James Evans directed the callers to the dining room.

The dining room was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The table was laid with an Italian cut-work cloth and was centered with a silver bowl of bride's roses and snapdragons, flanked by burning white candles in silver holders. A large white bell showered with ribbons and valley lilies hung from the chandelier. Seated at opposite ends of the table, Mrs. J. H. Rose and Mrs. W. I. Wooten served moulded bridal loaves, individual cakes, nuts and mints. Misses Lena Mae Smith, Elizabeth Sugg, Ruby Taylor, Betty Bracken, Helen Brown Jefferson of Fountain, and Mary and Jean Baggs of Winston-Salem, assisted in serving.

From the dining room Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Henderson asked the guests into the hall, where they were registered by Miss Laurine Skinner and Cary Warren.

Greeting callers at the door of the gift room were Mrs. H. L. Taylor and Mrs. V. C. Fleming. Assisting in receiving here were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Forbes and Miss Catherine Tyson. Receiving in the music room were Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Slar. Coffee was poured by Mrs. John Hodges, Sr.

and Mrs. Berry Bostic. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hagerty, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hodges of Farmville, Mr. Vester Mulholland and Mr. Clarence Patrick assisted them in serving. The music room was lovely with vases of white chrysanthemums and fern. As the guests left the music room they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Dail Laughinghouse and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Deal. Saying good-byes to the many callers were Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Lautares.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Lautares, parents of the bride, entertained the wedding party and out-of-town guests at a beautifully appointed four-course turkey dinner. On the same evening, following rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Dail Laughinghouse and Miss Mary Jenkins entertained at a cake-cutting at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Laughinghouse.

During the evening the cake was cut by the bridal couple and their attendants and the traditional bridal tokens were drawn from the cake by white satin ribbons.

On Saturday at one o'clock, Mrs. J. W. Griffith, Jr., entertained at luncheon at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, closing a series of pre-nuptial courtesies extended the bride.

The out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wachtel, Jr., of New York; Mrs. Mae Bracken, Miss Dorothy Bracken, Miss Betty Bracken, Mrs. Gladys Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Makepeace, Miss Mamie Bracken, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Makepeace, Miss Virginia Sisk, Mr. Wallace McVey, Miss Mary Lewis McCormick, Miss Mary Gavin, Miss Betsy Harkness, Miss Myrtle Riddle, Miss Catherine Monroe, Miss Sue Watkins, Miss Margaret Johns, Mr. Fisher Makepeace, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Glover, Mr. J. R. Ingraham, Mrs. C. J. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frasier, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Shaw, Mrs. J. P. Monroe, Miss Carrie Phillips, Mr.

John Muse, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McCracken, Jr., Miss Margaret Buchanan, Miss Myrtle Little, Miss Margaret Lassiter, all of Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Simons of Pottstown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Collier of Emporia, Va.; Mr. Dallas Clark of High Point, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Beaman of Walstonburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffith, Jr., of Goldsboro; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hodges of Farmville; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wells of Wilmington; Mr. V. C. Fleming, Jr., of Rocky Mount; Miss Mae Hampton Keith of Pine-top; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Noneman of Raleigh; Mrs. H. S. Baggs and Misses Mary and Jean Baggs of Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Windham and Miss Jessie Windham of Aberdeen; Mr. Dawson Jefferson of Fountain; Miss Eleanor Covington of Cheraw, S. C.

ECTC Delegates For State Meet Selected

Misses Edna Ogburn, Agnes Watson, Myra Godfrey, and Ruth Britt were delegates from the E. C. T. C. Home Economics club to the state meeting of Home Economics clubs held at Queens-Chicora college, Charlotte, November 24 and 25.

At that meeting East Carolina Teachers college was selected as the meeting place for the clubs next year, though two other colleges also extended an invitation to them. Around three hundred high school and college students will be present at this meeting, which will be held in November, 1940.

Miss Rosaline Ivey accompanied the E. C. T. C. group to Charlotte as faculty adviser.

For All Good Little Girls...

(For All Parents)

Remember when you were very young? Just over the toddling age, perhaps... saucer eyes at the approach of Christmas...? You listened as the wind howled outside, as it seemed to say, "Have you-o-o-o-been good? You'd better be; for Santa is coming!" Woo woo!

Breathless and expectant... speechless with delight at three...

Cuddly babies that go to sleep and feel soft and fleshy....

Wise and maternal at six...

Real "baby" dolls that are jointed and unbreakable—that cry for you....

Baby's layette that you can shut right up and take on a trip, baby and all!

"Dolls of Every Kind"
$1.00 to $9.95

All dressed up and SOME place to go!... For some GOOD little girl...

Don't forget me!... I'm very special. Can't you come down and see me? Maybe you'll want ME for Christmas...

Who wants ME for Christmas? I'm lonesome for a mama...

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK... Washington—A dining room picture of Herbert Hoover's quiet campaign for support and vindication shows how earnest the former President is in his effort to impress his own views on the next Republican campaign.

A staunch group of 20 to 40 Republicans friendly to Hoover are invited to a private dinner at which the former President appears as speaker. He discusses public issues, naturally emphasizing his own opinions on the Roosevelt administration. What it amounts to is a sort of stately pep talk.

Each guest at the dinner is expected to hold a little dinner of his own in turn to deliver the Hoover views to an ever widening circle. It seems to be patterned on the chain letter idea.

Reports have it that there is solid headway being made in California, and progress in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Advance agent of the plan is Ben Allen of San Francisco, a former newspaper man who has been credited with putting zip into Hoover's speeches of the past three or four years.

One guest at one of the "primary" dinners reported that he noted two Hoover characteristics at these affairs. One, that at a private dinner where his guests are amiably disposed Hoover is a convincing talker, the other that the former President reveals a yearning to demonstrate once more—in the White House—that his way was the wise way.

G-Men On The Alert... British and French purchasing missions already in this country create a tricky situation for J. Edgar Hoover and his anti-sabotage agencies. Following the practice of last war, the visiting missions set about buying the whole output of a plant, and sometimes the plant itself, in order to assure a steady supply of essential materials.

We checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and were told that reports of sabotage in any plant whatever, British-owned or otherwise, would be investigated. With only 950 FBI agents and a smaller number of military and secret agents at his disposal for such work, G-man Hoover can't put a man in every plant where sabotage might be expected. However, he has invited anybody to report to the nearest FBI office any reports or rumors of sabotage or espionage. None will be neglected.

The FBI couldn't see any grounds for discriminating against British or French owned plants in this country if the Allies should acquire some. After all they will be manned by American workmen whose peace and security is important.

Sad Mistake... Clerks in the reception room of the Director of the Budget have an interesting time watching dignified governmental potentates handle themselves in embarrassing moments.

Two doors, exactly alike in design, are along one wall. One leads out into the shady and stately corridors of the State Department building where the Budget Director now is housed. The other door leads into a tiled lavatory.

Gov. Hoey Paroles Tar Heel Convicts

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Gov. Hoey announced today he had paroled eight prisoners, including Gray Vardick who entered prison in February, 1937, from Wilson county to serve 19 to 20 years for second degree murder.

The Creeping Mon

YESTERDAY: The same rainy night, Gordon Deane is severely wounded, and the Forresters gassed. Duncan is arrested.

BY THE time Michael was feeling almost well the doctor was able to say positively that Gordon would live—live, and quite possibly be himself again within a month or two. By the merest fraction of a chance he blow had failed to be fatal. Gordon was not yet conscious, and the doctor would not in any event allow him to be questioned for many days.

Later that day Michael, with his father and the Commissioner, were back at the Forrester house. Tuck and Bunny were still in bed at the Deanes'. The District Attorney was very angry. There was a spot of brilliant red in either cheek, and his shaggy brows were bent in such a ferocious frown that his eyes never became visible.

"The devil!" he was saying over and over to himself. "The devil!" "Donovan's swearing mad," the Commissioner said. "He didn't seem to mind about you, Michael, and the three women being at the point of death. But his ready to strangle with his own hands the man who hit a defenseless and innocent lad."

Michael smiled wryly. "Gordon isn't quite as defenseless and innocent as he appears," he replied. "Apparently our murderer's found it out. I tell you—Gordon's been keeping watch for me."

"Michael," his father broke in brusquely, "the girls are safe at the Deanes'?" "They couldn't be safer, dad."

"No. Perhaps not. But I thought," he puffed angrily at his pipe. "Michael, I'm all completely razzle-dazzled. You told me that stuff about the vivisection and you hinted at a man... a certain man... and I've been suspecting him all along, waiting for you to pile up the evidence. And now—" he faced his son squarely. "Michael, the worst man in the world would not attack his own son so! It's impossible, lad! And on top of that you have another man arrested that seems as innocent as the day."

Michael twisted the signet ring on his finger in a slow contemplation. "It's not a man we're dealing with, dad," he said at last. "It's what you called him in the beginning, I think. A devil. At least, a madman. But—I never named him to you, did I?"

"No." "I wasn't sure, then. I'm sure now. But how in the name of Heaven can I prove it?" "You say you're sure now," the Commissioner put in. "It issued a warrant for young Murchison's arrest, Michael, without knowing upon what grounds you based your certainty. Will you give them to me?"

"He's in custody?" "Yes. But raving like a lion. Crazy mad at us. Insists that he's got to be released immediately. And I don't know how to answer him."

"Donovan's not back yet?" Michael queried. "Not yet. Where is he?" "I sent him on a little errand. He'll be here any moment. He'll have the final proofs for you—and I'll give you the rest of the dope I've said I can't prove my case. Remember, but we had to do something. We'll prove it later."

'Unbelievable' HE sat at the big desk and propped his head on one hand. "First," he said, "what about that letter from Chicago? We know it was a fake, in this way—that it was sent from here by someone, held in Chicago a few days, and then sent back. But—the expert testimony on the Marchionni himself wrote it. Until Smith came with his frantic story a few days back, that seemed utterly impossible, although the expert does not make mistakes. I told myself then that the only way in which he could have made a mistake was in the case of two handwritings, belonging to members of the same family, alike in temperament and upbringing. Therefore, I decided that it was quite possible that Duncan could have written the letter. I discovered that their handwritings were very similar by looking up lab reports at the University. No one there can tell them apart. So that point might be settled so."

His father looked at him curiously, but Michael went straight on. "Second, Duncan's story about the diamonds sounded remarkably unbelievable. He wanted the diamonds. The very fact that his brother put them where Duncan thought the diamonds were, points to some misunderstanding. I know Duncan said it was to deceive the wife, but that needn't be true. And, if you remember the speech Duncan made to Marie on the sun porch, about not being able to stand it any longer—stand it? And the threat to kill someone—it looks as if he wanted more than the diamonds, doesn't it? It seems that they have had a quarrel later, perhaps. It may be that Duncan knows the truth about it. Jared Devoe now. But we could interpret the situation at that time as we like. There we have interpreted it. There we have Duncan's motives. Third, he has no proven ally for the night of the murder. He says he was at the theater, but he can't prove it. We know that Marie Murchison—or rather Mr. Deane says so—got out of a car beside the man's residence, where Duncan lives, at midnight. Had they been somewhere together in a car?"

"Fourth, what did Miss Lissey say to you?" "I heard the Professor quarrel with his wife, and he told her as 'low 'ed' idder the necktie where she'd never lay hands on it. That was—the day she disappeared like a finger as 'low I might as we have a look for it as anybody else. Er, and that Mr. Devoe dug up a little flower bed diggin' for a blind man would 'a' know what was up."

"You seem to have overheard a number of important things, Higgins, do you know where Professor Murchison's body is?" "The question destroyed the little police the gardener had regained. He stared at Michael with terrified eyes.

"No sir, I ain't got no idea, sir." Higgins went out and Michael laughed heartily.

and Dock Harper, sentenced in Greene in May to 12 months for driving drunk and assault on a female. Roses may be planted any time during November. The plants will remain dormant in winter and will bloom in the spring.

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—Revocation of drivers' licenses last week brought the grand state total to 25,145. There were 127 last week. Percentage of minors to lose their permits was rather markedly lower than usual—with only eight such revocations for about six per cent, compared with an habitual ratio of about 11 per cent. Drunken driving, as always, was far in the lead as cause for revocations. Only four of the revocation notices seem to have been delayed an unconscionable length of time by the courts imposing sentence. The oldest was in the case of John Alfred Chalk, who was sentenced in the county court at Windsor on June 12, but whose revocation was announced in the releases for afternoon papers of November 25.

The Department of Conservation and Development's News Bureau has just put out a three page story on the Diamond Lightship, announcing that a dozen pictures are available for release with the story.

Also for use with the yarn is a suggested "box" giving some of the salient facts about the famous ship which "guards the greatest area of quaysands in the world, turbulent, boiling Diamond Shoals, off Cape Hatteras, N. C. Other facts in the box: (1) The lightship crew is on duty for 60 days, off for 27; (2) Weekly mail is brought by passing coastwise steamers, but in bad weather the mail is carried past the ship and put aboard a northbound vessel later; (3) The lightship was the only one sunk in warfare (1918); (4) Once in a Caribbean hurricane the captain and engineer put the vessel to sea to prevent dragging the anchor; (5) In winter, the lightship crew goes for weeks without a visitor.

The Veterans' Service Division handled a total of 404 cases through its office in Charlotte, Service Office Frank M. Sasser, has reported to the Department of Labor here. Of them 89 were completely new cases, while action of one sort or another was taken in 315 old cases. The sum of $2,274.93 in back compensation was secured for veterans, and increased compensation amounting to $717.70 was granted through the Division's efforts.

The State Employment Service has worked out mathematically, from its many and varied experiences, the chances workers in various categories have to get jobs. Director R. Mayne Albright comes up with the conclusion that "Service" workers just edge out physical laborers for the best chance to secure employment.

Here's the Albright table of chances for a job: Chances in 100 Openings: Professional 13.44 Sales Persons 28.2 Clerical Workers 17.97 Service Workers 59.69 Crafts-men 17.33 Production 17.27 Physical Labor 59.53 Physical Labor 59.53 Unclassified 31

The Department of Labor broke even in the cases it brought and prosecuted in October. A drug store proprietor, charged with violating the hour law, was acquitted; a cafe charged with working men and women for excessive hours was convicted and fined.

F. S. A. In Pitt County

Do you know that Pitt county has a full time Farm Security Administration office under the direction of Robert L. Edwards, county RR supervisor; Mrs. Margaret S. Williams, home management supervisor; and Miss Nancy L. Moore, secretary? This office was opened to give assistance to low-income farm families either tenants or small owners, who are having trouble in making adequate livings. In 1939 thirty-five families received aid from this organization in Pitt county. The aim is to aid as many new families as possible in 1940 along with continued aid for the old ones. Any low-income farm family who cannot obtain aid for mother agencies at reasonable rates of interest are eligible for consideration by FSA applications that can be obtained from the office in Dickinson Avenue Branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company. These applications are viewed by a county committee of farmers. If the applicant is passed for a loan, the county supervisors visit the family and help them work out a plan by which they can produce their necessary expenses. The county supervisor gives special aid to the farmer to help him produce the best crops, plenty of feeds and care for livestock. The home supervisor attempts to help the family improve their home living through improving houses, health and gardens and by producing an adequate supply of dairy products, chickens, eggs, meat and land for immediate home use. She also aids the family in storing an adequate supply of these foods for winter use, by teaching improved methods of canning, curing and storing. Landlords who are interested in improving their farms can receive aid from FSA by giving their tenants three to five year leases. Farm Security Administration tenants who have these leases are eligible for special aids to be used in improving both lands and homes. Through the cooperative program the landlord is assured of improvements being made to his farm and the living conditions of worthy tenants are improved. FSA is attempting to decrease the number of landlords, who feel that their tenants are destroying rather than building up their farms and in turn they hope to increase the number of tenants who appreciate living with interested landlords and realize that they profit by taking care of and building up rented homes and farms. The county supervisors hope that the landlords will call upon them to fully explain the program. They also will appreciate any publicity given to the program so that all low-income families are informed that Farm Security Administration aid can be obtained from the Greenville office. Almost all metals are found imbedded in rock.

Phantoms To Close Season With Pam Pack Wednesday

GAME SET FOR 8:00 O'CLOCK

Farlemen so far have Lost Only 1 Game This Season

Another year rolls around and the annual Greenville-Washington classic is to be reeled off in Guy Smith stadium. The keenest rivalry in Eastern Carolina Conference is usually exhibited in this ball tussle. The time is 8 o'clock and the night is Wednesday.

In preparation for this game the students of Greenville high school will meet in the ravine behind the school Tuesday night and build a bonfire. Parents are invited to attend this pep meeting.

J. B. Kittler, veteran blocking back is in bed with a bruised muscle and is not expected to recover in time to participate in this game. In case he does not recover Buddy Harrington will probably fill this position. The remainder of the team is in top-notch shape and are determined to give the Pam Pack a fight they won't forget.

Washington will be trying to avenge a 12-0 defeat handed them last year by the Farlemen. This is the last game of the season for both teams. The Greensies are defending their second place rating in the conference. Greenville has netted 190 points to their opponents 33 so far this season. The Phantoms defeated Kinston 13-6 Friday night. Washington turned the Red Devils under by the same score about two weeks ago. This adds up to an exciting ball game.

SEASON OPENS ON TURKEY DAY

Real Hunting Season Begins in N. C. on Thursday

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Nov. 27.—Tar Heels have been able to do a bit of legal hunting for some time now, but the "real" season doesn't open until Thursday. Beginning with Thanksgiving Day North Carolinians will have the right to hunt "birds," and everybody concedes that quail hunting is the most popular and generally engaged-in sport.

As the case every year when the hunters begin to bang away with a vengeance and a will, there are going to be a lot of accidents, some of them fatal. Too many people are going to be mistaken for deer, or quail, or something. The number of accidents can be kept to a minimum if all hunters observe a few simple rules. Recently the Division of Game and Inland Fisheries has worked out a few very important tenets regarding the handling of guns and the like. These include:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded weapon.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down with the action open, into your automobile, camp and home.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and the action are clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it.
8. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat hard surface or the surface of water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR SEAL SALE

Dr. J. M. Barrett cites Need For Work In County

Following is a letter from Dr. J. M. Barrett, president of the Pitt County Medical Society, expressing the hope that the Christmas seal sale will meet with success, and comments on the letter by Mrs. James S. Ficklen, chairman of the seal sale campaign:

Mrs. James S. Ficklen, Chairman Greenville Seal Sale, Greenville, North Carolina. Dear Mrs. Ficklen:

May I express the hope that the Christmas Seal Sale of tuberculosis stamps will far exceed all previous years. The work of your organization, devoted to the early detection, treatment and cure of tuberculosis in its incipency, constitutes one of the greatest of our humanitarian undertakings. It deserves and must receive the support of all for its far-reaching effect touches directly or indirectly the fireside of every home. When we witness the young boy or girl with flushed face, the emaciated body, the rattling cough and blood-streaked sputum, so soon to enter the grave, we are stirred by the thought that everything possible that can be done through science, doctors, nurses, medicine and money, must be done to bring under control this preventable disease. I express the sincere hope that the response to your appeal will be more generous than it has ever been

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York.—One of the tragic overtones of the war are those quietly resigned men who were all through the last war and who are now watching the clock tick what few remaining minutes they have away.

You read of the old trenches dug by the doughboys 21 years ago, which may still be seen near the Maginot line—but if you get in a cab, or even walk for a few minutes—you can come to a place where men are in wheel chairs, here in Manhattan, who have no limbs, and sometimes no eyes, and frequently, only the remnants of what used to be strong and healthy lungs.

About their coats are scattered newspapers with their screaming headlines. But on their faces has come a sort of blessed tranquility. The folly of trenches and guns is to them something that may have been very real a long time ago, but now they are waiting—and some of them are almost happy. To clear the war is a vague, faroff, not-clearly-defined, thing. They see it as a man to whom pain no longer means anything—a man who watches the whip descend, the blows come—but to whom they mean nothing.

These men grow fewer, and fewer, every day. It is a wonder, with their shattered, twisted frames, that so many have survived all these years.

War may be glamorous through the eyes of historians, but 20 years after—in the hospitals—it's something else again.

Phil Spitalny's orchestra is composed entirely of girls. The lass who plays the lead trumpet walked into a cosmetic shop and asked for some lipstick.

"Kiss proof?" asked the clerk. "Trumpetproof" was the dumb-founding reply.

It is one of the sad oversights of New York life that so many worthwhile things go unnoticed while silly, meaningless trivial things always climb into the headlines.

Take, for instance, this note, sent in today's mail: "Untouched for more than 300 years, a Renaissance tapestry from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine is now being repaired in Rockefeller Center. This is at a place della Riviera lifted it off his loom back in 1620 for Cardinal Barberoni has it been stretched to a loom. Now, under the careful supervision of Baroness Wilhelmine von Godin, it will be reweoven in many places frayed by time. The Baroness used to be master needlewoman with the Munich Museum. She will use both loom and needle in this delicate restoration.

They say this tapestry is 16 feet square, and it portrays the adoration of the Magi at Bethlehem. Imagine passing, say within 20 feet

Tar Heels Fear Worst For Thanksgiving Game

Carolina hopes Home State Custom will Not Backfire

By ARVILLE CAMPBELL. Chapel Hill, Nov. 27.—Against New York U. it was General George Sturweiss from the Bronx. Against Tulane it was Jim (Sweet) Lalanne from Lafayette, La. And against Pennsylvania it was Paul Severin, Harry Dunkle, and Carl Suntheimer, three Pennsylvania lads.

Thus in three of the most important games played by the North Carolina team this year football fans have seen members of Coach Ray Wolf's squad play their best ball against teams from their own state.

Tar Heel supporters are hoping this sort of history won't repeat itself when Carolina meets Virginia here in their Turkey Day classic. For one of the outstanding players in the Cavalier squad is none other than Jim White of Elizabeth City.

The son of James L. White who played end on football teams at Virginia during 1913-15, Jim has not only broken into the starting lineup but has been starting in his first year with Virginia. As a newcomer he knows little and cares less about the defeats Carolina has given the Cavaliers in recent years, because when his dad played for Virginia the Cavaliers had a habit of beating Carolina with regularity. In fact from 1905 until 1916 thousands of Tar Heel supporters journeyed to Richmond, where all games were played during that stretch, only to see Carolina lose.

Jim's dad has doubtless told him so much about those victories, he's forgotten about recent years, and may well furnish the spark of encouragement and leadership for his teammates to give the Wolfmen a fit.

Jim prepped at Mars Hill, where he was an outstanding football, basketball, and track man. In the opinion of his coach, Oren Roberts, young White is the best football player to wear a Mars Hill uniform in recent years. That should mean a lot, because Mars Hill has turned out some fair football players in the last few years, including Fostie C. Cowan, of Davidson, and George Writz, late of Wake Forest.

Under Coach Roberts Jim was a jack of all trades. His first year out for football he played end and was selected on the all-state junior college team. In his second year he started out at end, but when injuries hit the backfield White was shifted to quarterback, and performed even better than in the line. It was his smart quarterbacking and all-around work that made him the most outstanding man on the field as Mars Hill defeated their arch rival, Brevard, 27-0.

Not only was Jim the best all-around athlete in school but he also took an active part in extra-curricular activities. He was an honor student and vice president of the student body.

Jim's dad is pastor of the First Baptist church at Elizabeth City, and it's a safe bet that he and a host of football fans from down that way will gather at Chapel Hill to see the local boy star against his home state university.

before in this community. Sincerely yours, Dr. J. M. Barrett, President Pitt County Medical Society.

In commenting upon Dr. Barrett's letter, Mrs. Ficklen, said, "If the average man and woman in Greenville knew the real tragedy of death from tuberculosis and had had the experience which Dr. Barrett and every practicing physician has, we would have no trouble in raising sufficient funds, $1500, to finance the work for the coming year. None of us know how close we or our loved ones may be to tuberculosis and I should like to remind every mother and father in this city that no home is safe from tuberculosis, until all homes are safe."

Turnabout. Stillwater, Okla.—(AP)—Eldridge Anderson of Clinton, Okla., a senior guard on the Oklahoma Aggie football squad, brought Sonny Liles, a Clinton high school graduate, to the A. and M. campus last year. This season, Anderson rides the bench while Sophomore Sonny Liles starts the games at Anderson's guard position.

have steadfastly refused to let the Assembly carry out its Constitutional duty; but just how strong that support will be remains to be seen. There's a new census coming up and the 1941 reapportionment problem will not be the same as that of the past decade; and the lineup on it may, therefore, be entirely different.

Uzzell will, in general, draw the votes of those Representatives favorable to labor. He comes from a strongly unionized city where the railroad brotherhoods have much to say about politics, and he has always been listed by the State Federation of Labor as one of its leading friends and advocates.

Carruthers hasn't been peculiarly noticeable for his connection with any group of issues in the House and it may well turn out that his friendly personality, which is obvious to all observers, may win him votes from men of widely varying political and economic outlook.

All this is, of course, speculation way ahead of the event, as the results of next spring's primaries, the entrance of other candidates in the 1941 House seems quite likely to develop into a general free-for-all, catch-as-catch-can affair which will have more angles than the much muddled gubernatorial contest.

There will be this important difference, however—the Speaker is usually elected on personality rather than on issues or group support, while the Governorship in North Carolina has for many years gone to the man the powers-that-be decides to back. This might also be true of the Speakership but for the fact that there is seldom a clear-cut race between a pro and an anti-administrationist—the anti's never having enough members to make such a contest possible.

The three confessed candidates for gavel wielding are George Uzzell of Rowan, Joe Carruthers of Guilford and Clarence Stone of Rockingham, and in the final analysis the successful one of the trio will quite probably be the one whose personality appeals most strongly to those who are elected members of the 1941 General Assembly.

There is always the possibility, however, that certain issues will get mixed up in the selection; and the most possible muddier of the waters this time is reapportionment. The Speakership goes by right of geography to the West this time and as a rule the westerners are favorable to reapportionment. Stone, however, is from a county which will lose a Representative and quite naturally he has for the whole length of his service bitterly opposed any new deal in the matter of House seats.

As he once put it during the 1937 session, "This is a bill to cut my throat, and I'm against it."

It follows the Stone stands to get the support of those easterners who will begin at 2 p. m., December 13. Research done on fractures also will be revealed in a December 14 symposium on that subject, dealing especially with the material reduction effected in the time of confinement in bed as well as diminished suffering. Participants in this discussion will include Dr. M. H. Todd of Norfolk, Dr. Joseph D. Collins of Portsmouth, Dr. M. A. Pittman of Wilson, N. C., Dr. R. L. Raiford of Franklin, Dr. A. L. Miller of Charlotte, N. C., and Dr. Foy Vann of Norfolk.

Progress made in finding the cause of kidney stones and surgical treatment of the trouble will be outlined in a third symposium December 14 on the urinary tract. Speakers will include Dr. B. E. Harrell of Norfolk, Dr. A. A. Creech of Newport News, and Dr. Donald E. Kionce of Wilmington, N. C.

Dr. Edwin P. Lehman, professor of surgery at the University of Virginia, also will speak Thursday, December 14, describing how to make an early diagnosis of tumors of the breast, long before the tumor becomes malignant. There will be many other topics of major interest to medical men discussed during the three-day session.

Officers will be elected on Wednesday, December 13, and installed at the close of the meeting the following day. Several special events have been arranged for the entertainment of ladies attending the convention.

FREE FOR ALL RACE IS SEEN

Speakership Contest Develops into wide Open Battle

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL.

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—With three already-declared candidates in the field, the race for Speakership of the 1941 House seems quite likely to develop into a general free-for-all, catch-as-catch-can affair which will have more angles than the much muddled gubernatorial contest.

There will be this important difference, however—the Speaker is usually elected on personality rather than on issues or group support, while the Governorship in North Carolina has for many years gone to the man the powers-that-be decides to back. ## MEDICAL BODY MEETS DEC. 12

Seaboard Association to Hear Asst. Surgeon General

Virginia Beach, Va., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Members of the Seaboard Medical Association of Virginia and North Carolina will hear an address by Dr. Raymond A. Vonderlehr, assistant surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, on recent progress in the control of syphilis at their 44th annual meeting here December 12-14.

Dr. Vonderlehr will appear on the opening program Tuesday night, December 12, with Governor James H. Price of Virginia.

Another feature of the meeting will be a symposium on sulfapyridine, the "mystery" drug which some have predicted would save many lives from the ravages of pneumonia. This symposium, in which Dr. R. Henry Temple of Kinston, N. C., Drs. Walter B. Martin and R. Bryan Grinnan, Jr., of Norfolk, Dr. Harry Walker of Richmond, and Dr. William B. Porter, also of Richmond, will participate, will include a report on research for the last 12 months at the Medical College of Virginia. This program

To Put On Dance To Aid The Blind

Did you ever imagine yourself unable to read? The news of the day, the fiction, and the articles all must go by unnoticed. Did you ever imagine yourself unable to see? The people of the neighborhood, the men of the street, the beauties of nature, all must go by unnoticed? Did you ever imagine how it would be to be blind?

Perhaps not! For, in reality, those of us with good eyes take this advantage as a matter of course. Yet there are among Pitt county citizens 32 blind persons whom, upon investigation, the state has found worthy of help. These blind people at the present can neither read nor employ themselves usefully.

The Greenville Lions club has undertaken the responsibility of assisting the state in rehabilitating this group. Without local aid of some description the state cannot contribute to their welfare. In view of this, the Lions club is sponsoring next Wednesday night from ten until two a Thanksgiving dance, the proceeds from which will be spent immediately on teaching the blind of Pitt county to read and to engage themselves in some profitable employment.

Mrs. Faircloth of Fayetteville, a state worker among the blind, has already completed a preliminary survey of the county and is ready to begin her instruction as soon as funds are available. She will concentrate on teaching Braille to the blind along with simple handicrafts. Chairman Tony Evans stated this morning that all arrangements for the dance had been completed and that every indication pointed to a successful Thanksgiving ball.

Rudy Walters and his orchestra will play for the Lions club dance, which will be held in the high school auditorium. All Greenville citizens who are interested in aiding the blind of Pitt county are invited to enjoy this dance with the local Lions whose chief objective is to aid such unfortunates throughout the city and county.

Mrs. A. L. Dittmer and John Horne are in charge of decorations. They will be assisted by the art classes of Greenville high school.

an appreciative audience. For several years the teachers have made contributions to the orphan home and this year through the chairman, C. M. Epps and I. M. Donnell they put on a drive to get the public to assist in such a worthy cause. They also hope to continue the drive to a still higher mark.

Mr. K. T. Futrell, welfare officer, was present and spoke encouraging words to the audience. He has asked for contributions for several years for contributions to the institution.

The following contributions were reported:

City Schools ..... $ 33.50
Pitt County Schools ..... 111.68
Methodist Church ..... 7.00
Baptist Church ..... 12.40
Boys Club (Catholic Church) 1.00
Merry Maids Club ..... 2.60

Total ..... $168.18
The drive will continue with hopes of making it at least $200.

A Ship Sails Home

Oxford, Md.—(AP)—Gilmorous old age as a luxurious yacht awaits the ship with the lowest American registry number, a war prize in 1863 and legendarily captured from the British at the storming of Fort Mchenry in 1814.
The schooner Australia, number 25 in the merchant vessel register, is about to have her face scrubbed and painted, her ancient teakwood ribs bolstered and her utilitarian interior outfitted for sumptuous living.

Known to every waterman on Chesapeake Bay, the 67-foot freighter has been purchased by E. Paul Du Pont, R. J. T. Du Pont and Irene Du Pont, Jr., of Wilmington, Del.

Where and when she was built is anybody's guess. The Smithsonian Institute is unable to tell definitely. In 1863, as the Alma, she was captured by the Union brig Perry while running the blockade at Charleston. Brought to Point Lookout at the mouth of the Potomac, the ship was nearly destroyed by southern sympathizers but her stout timbers wouldn't burn.

Since her great days she has been around the Chesapeake, say hot stove historians, carrying oysters and tomatoes and during the Prohibition era—who knows what.

The covering consisted of a six-inch shell base tempered with concrete and a one and one-quarter inch bituminous asphalt surface. Between the two, a 30,000 square yard sheet of cotton fabric was spread to "bind" the top material. It is an experiment to determine if the fabric won't improve the cover and create a new use for cotton.
