NAZIS DECIDE ON REPRISALS FOR BLOCKADE

Reserve 'All Measures' to Meet British Moves

SEES BREACH IN MARITIME LAW

Also Announced in Berlin that British Air Attack on Aviation Base was Unsuccessful

Berlin, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The German government announced today that "it reserves all measures" to meet the new British blockade against German exports, which becomes effective next Monday.

A communique said: "Extensions of the economic war to German export goods on neutral ships with neutral destinations signifies a new violation of international law by England.

"It stands in clear contradiction to recognize fundamental international law, especially the Paris maritime law declaration of 1856.

"This new breach of international law affects neutrals as well as Germany. The German government takes cognizance of the new situation created by England and reserves all measures."

The German high command announced British airplanes had attacked the Nazi aviation base on Borkum island, but had been beaten off without inflicting damage.

The plane, a communique said, attempted to fly over northwestern Germany via the East Frisian islands, only to be driven back before reaching the coast.

Response Strong in Sale of Bonds

The response by civic and business leaders of Greenville to the advance sale of Seal Bonds and Christmas Seals continued strong today as workers in the campaign reported additional purchases.

Mrs. Ed. Butcher, chairman of the advance Seal Sale workers and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, chairman of the advance Bond Sales, expressed appreciation for the progress of the workers.

Mrs. James S. Ficklen, general chairman of the advance sales, offered generous appreciation for the response of persons already solicited in the drive.

Today's reported buyers of bonds are: Sam O. Worthington, C. H. Edwards, Chamber of Commerce, Dr. B. B. Massey, Dr. S. M. Schultz, Blount-Harvey Company, Boreka Laundry, J. B. Kittrell, J. N. Williams, Mrs. W. B. Young, Greenville Beauty School, J. C. Peuney Company, Warren Drug Company, North Side Lumber Company, Firestone Auto Supply Co., Pitt Drug Co., John C. Proctor, Dr. James B. Hawes, Carolina Dairy Products Co., Greenville News, Leader, Dr. F. P. Brooks, Dr. W. M. B. Brown, Drs. Haar and Watson, E. J. Garrett, Chatham Book Club and The Daily Reflector, $5 each.

Home Building and Loan, McCormick Music Co., Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garrett, Person and Garrett, C. Heber Forbes, State Bank and Trust Co., by John Mitchell, $10 each.

Sans Souci Book Club and End of the Century Book Club, each, $20. John Flanagan Buggy Co., $20. White's Stores, by S. T. White, $25.

Futrell Will Head Welfare Officials

K. T. Futrell, Pitt county welfare superintendent, was elected president of the Northeastern District Welfare Conference at a general session held yesterday in Windsor. The 1940 meeting will be held in Greenville.

Futrell succeeds Miss Mary Bond Griffin of Bertie county. Miss Mary Ellen Forbes of Edcombe county is the new secretary, succeeding Miss Mary W. Taylor of Martin county.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey was the principal speaker for the session and delivered an address hinged on the importance of maternal health in North Carolina's general welfare program. He urged the people of the state to consider the obstacle confronting paroled prisoners returning to their native counties.

"The Job Itself," was the theme of a talk delivered by Mrs. W. T. Bost, state welfare commissioner, to welfare superintendents, workers, board members and county officials. R. Eugene Brown, assistant commissioner, also addressed the meeting.

Strike Puts Asheville In Darkness For Hours

Light Company Refuses to Accede to Union Demand

Asheville, Nov. 29.—(AP)—City police and county deputies stood guard over sub stations and other strategic points today as electric service was restored to Asheville and surrounding communities after several hours' interruption due to a strike of Carolina Power and Light Company electrical workers.

The work of putting the lines back into operation was done by some 80 employees of the company who were brought from other plants not affected by the strike which was called by the local International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) after negotiations for a closed shop had broken down.

Early today C. S. Walters, company vice president, said the strikers had asked and received permission to return to the posts, but later statements from sides in the controversy said approximately 75 men were still out. There was no picketing.

Asheville, Nov. 29.—(AP)—A three-hour long strike that followed refusal by the Carolina Power and Light company to accede to union demands for a closed shop plunged this resort city of 55,000 into almost total darkness late last night.

But at 2:30 a. m. today C. S. Walters, the company's vice president, announced that the workers who walked out, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, had asked and been granted permission to return to their posts.

A conference of union spokesmen and officers of the power company was arranged for later in the day.

As the lights flickered and went out throughout the city surprised citizens groped about for candles and lighting devices; the fire department turned on its emergency batteries supplying current for alarm boxes and police and firemen patrolled the city with lanterns and flashlights.

The banquet was presided over by Dixie McLewhorn, Jr. It was sponsored by the vocational classes of the Winterville high school.

State Senator Arthur B. Cowan made the principal address of the evening in which he declared that the present condition of the world today has been brought about by the lack of faith in each other.

"During the Thanksgiving period there will be more travel and consequently more potential hazards," said Mr. Hoccutt. "I want to urge the motorists of our state to make this Thanksgiving free from traffic fatalities, and remember that every day will be Thanksgiving day for some family whose loved ones are spared the remorse caused by death or injury in an automobile accident."

"Wherever we go, whatever we do on this Thanksgiving Day, let us resolve to do it safely. The Highway Safety Division wishes everyone in the state the happiest and the safest day."

No Trace of Lone Invader's Occupants is Found by Lifeboat Sent Out After Air Combat; Another British Steamer, 1,023-Ton Rubislaw, is Added to List of Mine Victims

London, Nov. 29.—(AP)—An air battle between British combat planes and a lone German raider over the northeast coast of England today resulted in bringing down the Nazi plane at sea, a British announcement said.

British fighters rose to meet the raider when it was sighted approaching the Northumberland coast.

Coastal residents lining the shore watched the battle. After the invader fell a life boat was unable to find a trace of the plane's occupants.

Another British steamer, the 1,023-ton Rubislaw, was added to the list of mine victims off the British coast. The Rubislaw sank yesterday two minutes after striking an explosive. Four injured survivors were rescued by a mine sweeper and 12 others were reported killed.

Cryptic radio instructions from the Admiralty put British warships on the alert for the scheduled start of a new total blockade against Germany Monday.

The A. V. Ministry meanwhile reiterated that all its planes had returned safely after machine-gunning three mine-laying seaplanes yesterday at Borkum, an island off the northwestern coast of Germany.

Fighting planes took to the air again today as anti-aircraft batteries along the Thames estuary began firing, but it was learned later the shooting was not due to a German raid and no alarm was sounded.

'Homecoming Day' Subject Of Adams

That Homecoming Day, to be celebrated at the college this year on March 9 in connection with the dedication of the new classroom building is an important occasion for a college, was the theme of a talk made at the E. C. T. C. assembly yesterday by Dr. Carl Adams, head of the Education Department.

Dr. Adams was speaking primarily of plans for the celebration of Homecoming, and he urged the students to help make the day a success by spreading the news of the day while they are at home.

Thanksgiving and thinking out ways to add to the comfort and enjoyment of the alumnae who return for the occasion.

A college can not live without the support of its alumni, he said, such an institution can get old and die if it loses touch with its graduates. It is good to bring back to the campus people who have studied here and would enjoy coming back and so bring in new life, new ideas.

Dr. Adams pointed out the major parts of the celebration in this connection he spoke of the building which is to be dedicated as a monument to the upbuilding of humanity and described the observance of the centennial of state-supported teacher training as the second greatest thing in the history of education in this country, the greatest being the beginning of public support of education for all.

Banquet Held By Parents - Students

Winterville's fathers and sons, mothers and daughters last night attended a joint father-son mother-daughter banquet held in the high school gymnasium.

The banquet was presided over by Dixie McLewhorn, Jr. It was sponsored by the vocational classes of the Winterville high school.

State Senator Arthur B. Cowan made the principal address of the evening in which he declared that the present condition of the world today has been brought about by the lack of faith in each other.

MOTOR STRIKE IS ENDED AT DETROIT PLANT

Agreement Reached In Chrysler-CIO Deadlock

LONGEST STRIKE IN AUTO HISTORY

Wage Increases for Chrysler Workers Estimated to Range at $5,000,000 Annually

Detroit, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The longest and costliest labor dispute in automotive history, a 54-day deadlock between the Chrysler Corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers, ended today with an agreement on terms of a new working contract.

Only ratification by union locals was needed to put the contract into effect and start 58,000 Chrysler workers back to work tomorrow.

Chrysler spokesmen said automobiles would be rolling off their assembly lines by Friday and that all plants would operate Monday.

Informed sources said the new contract supplanting one which expired September 30 included:

A general wage increase of three cents an hour to all Chrysler workers and an added increase for employees in Chrysler's Marysville, Mich. and Newcastle, Ind. plants. The total increase estimated to be about $5,000,000 annually.

COURT SESSION IS COMPLETED

Unusually Large Number of Cases Tried in Two Days

An unusually large number of cases were disposed of at this week's session of County court which was required all of yesterday and most of this morning.

Soldier Charles Wardbee returned to his duties today after having been out following an operation.

Cases disposed of not previously reported follow: Jarvis Daniel, colored, selling tobacco from land without consent of lessor, not guilty; Jesse Harder, colored assault and resisting an officer, four months; Herbert Ross, white, assault, 30 days, suspended upon good behavior for 12 months; Thomas J. Nes, white, worthless check, 30 days, suspended on payment of the amount of the check and court costs; Ed Hunter, colored, assault, fined $25 costs to be deducted and also pay $10 to Dennis Roundtree, 12 months' sentence suspended until payments of two sums and an order by defendant not to enter upon premises of or molest in any manner Dennis Roundtree.

Melton Robbins, colored, largely judgment, continued; Elmer McCoy, white, carrying concealed weapons, $50 costs to be deducted and defendant required to show good behavior for two years; Leroy Grant, colored, driving without proper license, 60 days, suspended upon payment of costs; James Carl Lee, white, driving to the left of the center of the highway, taxed with costs; Willie Webb Moore, colored, allowing unlicensed and intoxicated person to drive his car on public roads, $50 and costs, license revoked 14 months; 60-day suspended sentence; Isaiah Coe, colored, driving drunk and without license, $50 and costs, license revoked 14 months; 60-day suspended sentence; Edward McKinley, colored, larceny and driving drunk, $50 fine and costs, license revoked 14 months; given 60-day suspended sentence; Dennis Roundtree, colored, assault, not guilty.

No Paper Thursday

The Daily Reflector will be closed all day tomorrow—Thanksgiving Day—and no paper will be issued for that date in accordance with a custom of long standing and also in cooperation with other business firms and private offices in the city.

Here's A Chance To Help Pitt's 32 Blind Persons

Tomorrow's Lions club dance will inaugurate in Greenville the 1939 Thanksgiving season. This civic-social affair has been arranged by the local organization in an effort to establish a working fund for the blind of Pitt county.

According to President Louis Skinner the entire proceeds from the dance will be used in rehabilitating the 32 blind persons within the county. The motive of the Lions club is to make the blind people residing in Pitt county self-dependent and as happy as possible.

To this end the local club expects to spend all its local money and energy in training blind people to read and in training them in some useful and profitable handicraft. Mrs. Fanchon of Fayetteville has been engaged for this training.

Whatever funds are available locally will be matched by the state and federal governments for this civic work. Throughout the United States and Canada Lions clubs emphasize the rehabilitation of the blind. In fact no organization has ever before undertaken this project

Finnish Reply To Russia Awaited As Next Move In War of Nerves And Notes

More Reports of Border Clashes

Finnish-Russian Dispute Fanned by 'Incidents'

Moscow, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's smouldering dispute with Finland was fanned today by reports of fresh border clashes in which the Red army was said to have repulsed with machine guns Finnish troops attempting to cross the frontier.

As a result of the reported clashes in which Finnish artillery was accused of sending shells screaming across the border, new Russian troops were said to have been dispatched to reinforce frontier garrisons, already estimated by observers at almost one million men.

Reports from Helsinki indicated that Finland has approximately 400,000 men under arms—more than one-tenth of the nation's entire population.

At the same time the Communist party newspaper Pravda said that new classes of naval reservists had been called up for training and service in the Baltic fleet which has been conducting maneuvers from bases recently obtained from Estonia and Latvia.

Support Of Dance Help Blind Urged

In connection with the Lions club dance, George Wilkerson, member of the dance committee, knowing that Dr. N. Thomas Ennett had been a member of the Lions club in another city, interviewed Dr. Ennett asking his opinion of the importance of the Lions International major activity—conservation of vision or the care of the blind.

Dr. Ennett expressed great interest in the Lions club work and in the conversation it was revealed that it was Dr. Ennett, while a member of the Richmond Lions club in 1923, proposed that the Richmond Lions club make as its major activity, the care of the eye sight of school children and that near seamstresses be helped, also.

After the Richmond club had carried on this work for two or three years, the Lions International decided to make conservation of vision or the care of the blind its major activity, and as a consequence today this work is the major activity of 3,000 Lions clubs including eight foreign countries.

Dr. Ennett expressed the hope that the citizens of Greenville would liberally support the Lions club work by attending tonight's dance and stated that he wished to remind the good citizens of Greenville that the uncorrected eyes of youth become dimmed eyes of maturity and the dimmed eyes of age.

FINN PATROLS ARE REMOVED

Report of Action Increases Hopes for Peace

Moscow, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Hopes of a peaceful settlement of the Russian-Finnish dispute increased today with receipt of reports that Finnish troops had been ordered withdrawn from the Russian border.

Helsinki dispatches said Finnish border patrols had been withdrawn at some points to avoid clashes with the Russians.

It was hoped the issue could be settled by negotiation, one unofficial but well informed Soviet source said, although Russia is already so far committed the acquisition of Finnish territory on the Istimus of Karelia opposite Leningrad that she was expected to insist on getting it.

This important source said that Russia, despite the violence of the Soviet propaganda campaign attacking Finland, does not want war, but rather a resumption of negotiations through which she could win concessions from the Finns.

The reports of Finnish troop withdrawals came after the Soviet government had reported Finnish border clashes in which the Red army was said to have repulsed with machine guns Finnish troops attempting to cross a frontier.

on such an inclusive scale. The local Lions club is eager to share in this civic project to the extent possible and to this end is sponsoring tonight's dance.

The dance will follow the Greenville-Washington football classic and will take place in the high school auditorium from ten until two. Rudy Walters and his orchestra will furnish music for the dance. Tabby Evans, chairman of the dance committee, expressed the opinion this means that tonight's dance will be one of the most brilliant ever staged in Greenville.

With the large number of tickets already sold, there is no doubt that tonight's dance will be one of the most enjoyable of the season, started by Mr. Evans.

George Wilkerson is local chairman of blind work in the community and is assisted by every local Lion.

Decorations for the dance are under the supervision of Mrs. A. L. Dittmer and a number of art students. Assisting her from senior high school will be John Horne and Jesse Mumford.

MUCH DEPENDS UPON ANSWER

Russia, with Million Men at Front, Accuses Finland, with Total Army of 400,000, with Trying to Invade Soviet Territory; Finns Declare 'We are Not Afraid'

Helsinki, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Finland—accused by the Soviet Union of menacing Leningrad and actually trying to invade Russian territory—prepared a reply today which may determine the next turn in the war of nerves and notes.

A draft of the answer to the Russian charge of "profound hostility of the government of Finland toward the Soviet Union" which Moscow cited as grounds last night for denunciation of the Finnish-Russian non-aggression pact, was completed about midnight.

The cabinet met again shortly before noon to put final touches to the Finnish answer, which was expected to be dispatched to Moscow late this afternoon.

Officials denied Finland had mobilized her small military strength. They declared on the contrary that many reservists recently released had not been called back to the colors.

However, there was no inclination to minimize the precarious situation on the Russian-Finnish frontier, where incidents or alleged incidents were multiplying. Border patrols at various points were ordered to move back so as to avoid the possibility of clashes with Russian troops.

While the cabinet conferred last night in the partly blacked-out capital, phlegmatic Finns questioned on the streets as to their hope and fears would say little except "we are not afraid." They prided themselves on their calmness.

Fate Of Kuhn Now In Hands Of Jury

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The case of Fritz Kuhn, German-American band leader, charged with grand larceny and forgery, went to a jury at 1:30 p. m. EST today.

Judge James G. Wallace charged the jurors for two hours and 30 minutes and repeatedly instructed them to confine their deliberations to issues involved and to pay no attention to any political implications in the case.

Before beginning his charge, Judge Wallace rejected a last-minute defense motion by Peter L. F. Sabatino for a mistrial on the grounds that the prosecution summation yesterday distorted the facts of the case.

Commenting on Sabatino's charge that certain press and radio comments had been hostile to Kuhn, Judge Wallace expressed belief the jury would not be influenced by such comment.

Market Is Closed Until Next Monday

The Greenville tobacco market closed for the week this afternoon, with a total of 76,670,976 pounds having been sold this season for $12,605,831.58, or an average of 16.44 cents per pound.

A heavy break is expected when sales are resumed Monday.

Prices today were about in line with those earlier in the week.

In Hospital.
Fred Schwarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Schwarz, is getting along satisfactorily following an operation last night in Pitt General Hospital.

Christian Science Services.
Christian Science Thanksgiving service will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited.

Prayer Meeting Thursday Night.
Everyone is cordially invited to attend a community prayer meeting to be held by Reverend Chester Pelt at the home of Mrs. Elmer Cox on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. Special music will be led by Mrs. Pelt.

Sorority Tournament.
The Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held a bridge tournament yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Jean Hodges.

Fall flowers decorated the rooms where the tables were arranged and late in the afternoon cold drinks and sandwiches were served.

Miss Harriet Lloyd was presented a box of dusting powder for making the high score and Miss Lucky Johnston was given a sport handkerchief for the low.

Athenum Club Meets.
Mrs. D. M. Clark very graciously entertained at Athenum Book Club on Tuesday at luncheon.

The house was beautifully decorated with fall flowers, autumn leaves and mums for Thanksgiving.

Following the luncheon Mrs. H. L. Ormond, president, called the meeting to order and after dispensing with a few matters of business turned the meeting over to Mrs. Clark who presented Miss Zoe Anna Davis as the guest speaker.

Miss Davis gave a most interesting and informative talk on "How the Bible Grew." Mrs. Clark had as guests for luncheon Mrs. Winnie T. Barnes, of Raleigh; Mrs. Jesse Smith, Miss Louise Carter, Mrs. Harvey Tripp, Mrs. Carmichael and Miss Zoe Anna Davis.—Reported.

End of the Century Club Meets.
The End of the Century Club held its regular meeting Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. J. B. Spilman.

After a short business session, during which time the club was glad to have an opportunity to buy Christmas seals, donate ten dollars for a Christmas basket to a needy family and also buy cook books from the Service League, the chairman of the program committee presented Miss Isabelle Hoy of Raleigh.

Miss Hoy charmed the members with her account of a recent visit to New York and the World's Fair.

She reviewed several plays for us so vividly, so realistically that we all felt that we, too, had had a visit to New York with her. The club is always most happy to have Miss Hoy with us and looks forward to Mrs. Spilman's meetings with more than usual interest.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Spilman invited the guests to the Parish House, where a delightful turkey luncheon was served.

Guests, other than club members, enjoying Mrs. Spilman's hospitality were: Mesdames Chas. Forbes, Key Brown, Judson Blount, R. C. Deal, Carl Adams, June Rose, and Mrs. M. L. Wright.—Reported.

Matrons' and Patrons' Club Meets.
The Past Worthy Matrons and Patrons' Club and the officers of the Eastern Star enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. E. E. Rawl on Tuesday, November 28.

Mrs. Rawl greeted the guests upon arrival and each one enjoyed several minutes in seeing and greeting one another.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner, Mrs. Ragsdale, president, soon dispensed with the business and turned the meeting over to the hostess, who first made several suggestions which she wished each one present would think over and see if they were not for the good of the order.

Contests and songs were enjoyed, and much merriment was afforded by the prizes, horns, etc., making merry.—Reported.

Mrs. Howard Entertains.
Mrs. Frederick G. Stone of Sledge, Miss, was honored yesterday and again today when Mrs. Charles W. Howard entertained at bridge and luncheon.

Cut flowers decorated the library and music room where the tables were arranged for the bridge games.

In the dining room, where the luncheon guests were served, the table was spread with a beautiful outdoor cloth and centered with white snapdragons in a silver bowl. Each guest's place was designated by attractive place cards.

On Tuesday, Mrs. R. C. Merritt was awarded the high score prize, a hobbal bottle of cologne, and Mrs. R. C. Rankin, the second high, an old-fashioned relish dish. Mrs. S. T. White was presented a box of fancy guest soaps for cutting high.

On Wednesday, identical prizes were won by Mrs. Lee Moore, Mrs. A. E. Hobgood and Mrs. R. C. Deal.

Mrs. E. R. Conway, Sr., out-of-town guest, was remembered with linen towels. To the honorees the hostess also presented linen guest towels. Today Mrs. Howard presented her honor guest a Dorothy Gray vanity.

Miss Lela Higgs, Mrs. J. L. Killo, Mrs. Charles Shuff, Mrs. H. L. Rivers, Mrs. H. A. Bost and Mrs. C. M. Warren were luncheon guests on Tuesday.

Mrs. Howard served delectable luncheons each day. On Tuesday she was assisted in serving by Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald, Mrs. Vernon Parrish and Mrs. J. S. Barr. Today, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Parrish and Mrs. W. W. Phelps assisted.

Hostess to Clio Club.
Miss Agnes Fullilove was the gracious hostess to the Clio club on Tuesday afternoon at home of Mrs. Dink James on Ninth street.

During the regular business discussion plans were made to take care of a family for Christmas.

Mrs. Dean Tabor gave an interesting and instructive paper on the Balkan countries. The most outstanding and unusual conditions of each country were discussed. It has been said Mrs. Tabor quoted, they are a sort of hell paved with the bad intentions of the powers. The World war was fought to Europeanize the Balkans, but what the war did more or less, was Balkanize Europe.

Following the conclusion of the program Miss Fullilove was assisted by Mrs. James in serving an attractive and delicious salad plate. Little Miss Elizabeth James served the sweet course.—Reported.

Elected President Alpha Iota.
Miss Mary Helen Gulledd of Raleigh was elected president of the local chapter of Alpha Iota, international honorary business sorority, formed last night by members of the Commerce Department of East Carolina Teachers college.

Other officers are: Marie Tripp, Blount's Creek, vice president; Julia Spencer Swansquarter, recording secretary; Barbara Keuzenkamp, Greenville, corresponding secretary; Thadys Johnson, Pendleton, social secretary; Betty Keuzenkamp, Greenville, treasurer; Annie Laurie Keene, Smithfield, chaplain; Helen Taylor, Bethel, pledge captain; Joyce Hill, Ayden, marshal.

Members of the sorority will be initiated and officers installed in formal ceremonies to be arranged in accordance with traditional practices endorsed by national headquarters.

Alpha Iota was founded in Iowa, but is international in scope. Each chapter is limited to 20 members. The object of the sorority is to associate in its membership repre-

THANKSGIVERS

All Thankful For Something

Misses Pat. Skinner and Sallie Cotten returned Tuesday evening from Tarboro.

Annual dance under the auspices of the Columbian club in the opera house tonight.

There is abundant cause for us all to be thankful for the many blessings for the past year.

A proper observance of Thanksgiving Day is to attend church and contribute something for the orphans.

Victor Reale's band is here to make music for the dance tonight.

sentative women students, alumni women, faculty members of recognized schools and business and commerce and such other schools as are deemed acceptable to the board of governors of Alpha Iota. An additional objective of the sorority is to encourage high scholarship and to foster a spirit of friendship and loyalty among the women students of schools of business training and colleges of commerce.

Ladies of the Round Table Meet.
Mrs. W. B. Tighman was a delightful hostess to the Ladies of the Round Table on Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. H. E. Austin presided, and after a brief business session presented the Christmas seals. As usual, members subscribed one hundred per cent. Mrs. J. C. Galloway was a guest for the afternoon.

The leader for the afternoon, Mrs. H. L. Carr chose for her subject "The Census" and as this is taken every ten years and as next year is the time for the next one to be taken, the discussion was very timely. History of the census from earliest times, questions asked down through the years and the gigantic task of organizing, preparing and whipping into motion the materials for the coming census were interesting topics Mrs. Carr presented.

Mrs. S. J. Everett gave an instructive and varied resume of news during the last two weeks.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. T. A. Person, served a delicious salad course with cakes and hot tea.—Reported.

Sans Souci Club Meets.
The Sans Souci Book Club held a most enjoyable meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. M. Seales at 408 West Fourth street, with a majority of the membership present.

After the preliminaries of roll call and minutes read, business which consisted of the usual Christmas donations and buying of Christmas seals, was discussed and quickly dispatched.

The meeting was then turned over to the program committee, and Mrs. C. S. Forbes announced a book review to be given by Mrs. F. M. Wooten.

Mrs. Wooten had made a happy choice in her book for the afternoon, "The School of Femininity," by Lawrence, as it was a review of the status of women from the eighteenth century to the present day, following the advance of woman from the time when she was a mere chattel of man, either just a toy for his pleasure and entertainment, or a creature to provide for his comfort, until one happy day her eyes were opened to her potentialities and she took her first step into the world of art, music, science, etc., in which she has made such rapid strides.

Writing seemed to be the art that first appealed to woman. In this field Mary Wollstonecroft was the first to obtain the approval of the public and the mighty male, with her book "Vindication of the Rights of Women." Reference was then made to the works of the Brontës, Jane Austen, George Eliott and a number of well known authors, including those of today.

Mrs. Wooten's review was delightful in every phase. Gifted with a fine memory, a splendid command of language and a ready wit, her review of a book is something to be remembered.

Chorus Pleases Audience.
The Raleigh Male Chorus, composed of 25 singers from among the business and professional men of Raleigh, appeared in a concert at East Carolina Teachers college last night.

Their program was composed of selections of various types, ranging from the meditative "O Peaceful Night" to the rollicking burlesque "Dr. Foster"—the old nursery rhyme presented in the manner of Handel.

Genuinely charming was the Kentucky folksong number, "The Nightingale," arranged by Professor W. H. Jones, the director and with solo part taken by Blair Stevick.

Other much liked numbers included "O Peaceful Night," "Dance, My Comrades" and "The Hunter's Farewell."

Soloists on the program were Robert Richardson, Barrett Wilson, and Blair Stevick.

The chorus is under the direction of Professor W. H. Jones, teacher of music at St. Mary's. Accompanist is Don Perry.

Below is the program:
Dedication, Robert Franz.
O Peaceful Night, Edward German.
Clorinda, Morgan.
The Belle of Aberdovey, Protheroe.
Solo Voice: Robert Richardson.
Beyond the River, Tschereprin.
Dance, My Comrades, Russian.
Folk Tune.
The Nightingale (Kentucky Folksong) arranged by W. H. Jones.
Solo: Blair Stevick.
High Barbary (Chantey) arranged by Hall.
Landsighting ("Olaf Trygvason") Grieg.
Solo voice: Barrett Wilson.
The Hunter's Farewell, Mendelssohn.
Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal, Andrews.
Dr. Foster (in the style of Handel) Hughes.
Uncle Rome, Sidney Homer.
On the Sea, Dudley Burk.
Autumn Sea, Gericke.
The Sword of Ferrara, Bullard.

Members Urged to Plan Exhibits.
The committee chairmen are busy with the details for the Christmas exhibit which is being sponsored by the Greenville Garden club. The exhibit will be held at the Woman's club on Friday and Saturday, December 8 and 9.

Now is the time for each of you to begin your plans for your exhibit. If you are a member of the Greenville Woman's club, the Junior Woman's club, or the Garden club, you are eligible to enter and are urged by the committee. Enter as many of the exhibits as you may desire, but if you are a member of the Garden club, you are requested to bring a Christmas tied package with whatever else you may enter.

In making up your plans for your individual display, remember that simplicity is the keynote of good taste, cleverness and beauty. The many attractive magazines out this month stress simplicity and most of all, attractiveness of home-made and original designs. In this way, it is very easy to have an attractive and unique decoration at very little expense. Such a decoration as marshmallow snow men, cellophane straw clouds, and bread houses will intrigue the children, yes, and the grown-ups as well.

Please call the chairman listed for the particular exhibit or exhibits in which you wish to enter before Monday, December 4. If you will call immediately you can be of still more help.

Following are necessary rules and regulations:

1. Entry must be made to chairman not later than December 4 (Monday).
2. Exhibits must be at the Woman's club, completed and ready for judging by 12 o'clock, noon. (Building will be open at 9 a. m.)
3. In exhibiting tables, no flat silver allowed, china and glassware at owners' risk.
4. Exhibits must be left on display until 6 p. m. Saturday, December 9.
5. In favor exhibit, each entry must include three different favors.
6. Hours for visitors will be Friday, December 8, 2 p. m. until 5:30 p. m. and 8 p. m. until 9:30 p. m., and Saturday, December 9, 10 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Prizes are being awarded. A prize to first winner in each entry with ribbon for the second and third place winners.

Exhibits and respective chairmen are:

Wreaths and Swags, Mrs. W. I. Wooten; Occasional tables, Mrs. C. C. Hilton; Winter bouquets, Mrs. J. B. Smith; Christmas Goodies (candies, cakes, cookies), Mrs. S. M. Crisp; Nativity scenes, Mrs. Helene Higgs Kirkpatrick; Christmas Tied Packages, Mrs. Henry Rivers, Mrs. A. J. Moore; Mantels, Mrs. N. T. Ennett; Favors, Mrs. Dink James.

Other chairmen working on the show are Mrs. J. T. Little, general chairman, and Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale as publicity chairman.

MUCH FOR WHICH TO BE THANKFUL

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day and before we begin our celebration of the holiday it would be well for our people to pause and consider just how much there is for which we should be thankful. Naturally, we are a people prone to bemoan our lots and at times feel that someone else fares better than we do, but a careful analysis of the situation of our American people at this Thanksgiving time will bring to us the realization that we should be indeed grateful.

While other parts of the world are in the throes of battle and bloodshed the people of the United States tomorrow can spend the day in peace without fear of bombing raids or artillery fire. We are at peace with our neighbors and with those far-away fellowmen who are engaged in conflict with each other. We live in a land where there is opportunity for a livelihood and where there is a helping hand for those who are unable to care for themselves. We live in a land where there is freedom of expression and speech and where we can have what we wish if it is within our means. Our situation is a great contrast to those sections of the world where there is strife and misery, where one can say and do only those things commanded by a ruthless dictator or a government feeling the economic pinch of war, where one can have but so much of a certain kind of food, regardless of their means to buy, and where one's whole life is circumscribed by strict regimentation and regulations.

There are many, many things each of us individually should be thankful for, but at this time we feel that the entire population of our country should bow in humble thanksgiving to God that we live in America and at peace with our fellowmen.

Roanoke, Va.—(AP)—While the defendant, charged with drawing a pistol on another, was being tried, the complainant listened to lawyers argue until he got the hang of things. Then, when the defendant denied the charge, the complainant rose from his seat and interposed: "Your honor, please, I object to all that." The judge warned the complainant he must be quiet or go to jail himself.

Chapter 45
Pursuit

MICHAEL and Bunny came back to the house only a few minutes after Tuck had left it. Michael was whistling as he ran up the steps to the sun porch, and talking to Bunny over his shoulder. "Well, it clears the air a little," he was saying, agreeing with something she had already said. Then, "Tuck!" he called. "I guess she's gone to bed," he said as Bunny came in and stood beside him. They went into the house. Michael went through to the kitchen to find Charlotte Jean. It was dark out there. "I don't see her," Charlotte Jean said. "It's only half past eight."

Bunny looked at him with the beginning of a troubled frown. "It's her evening off, Michael, and I didn't think about it. Tuck shouldn't have been left alone. Michael was half way up the stairs by the time she had finished. The bedroom door was closed. He put his hand on the knob and opened it very softly, so as not to disturb Tuck.

Her bed had not been disturbed. He came down again in two steps. "She's not there," he said quietly. "She's nowhere downstairs either. Tuck!" Bunny called. "Tuck!" Then she went to the door and called, "Kitty, kitty!" "Agamemnon's not around either," she said after a moment. "She's not in the house, Michael. He never goes away unless she does."

Michael went out and stood in the garden. He looked over at the Deanes'. There was a light in an upper room. "She may have gone over to see Gordon," he said, and started swiftly for the gate. He did not knock, but opened the door and went in and ran up the stairs. Mrs. Deane was there alone. "Has Tuck been here?" Michael asked softly.

She got up and came to the door. "Yes," she whispered. "Gordon wanted to tell you something and she came instead. But the poor boy couldn't talk intelligibly. I'm afraid. I don't think she understood what..." "Where is she now?" "Why, I'm awfully sorry, Mr. Forrester. I haven't the slightest idea. She went out of here and home. She didn't..." "What did he tell her?" "Why, that's just what I was telling you. I don't think he told her much of anything although it seemed to be troubling him terribly. He said something about a Creeping Man, I remember, as if he were having a nightmare. He said the Creeping Man came up out of the ground and bit him."

"Where did he come up out of the ground?" "On the cliffs, Mr. Forrester. And..." Michael was gone. Bunny was waiting on the porch. "Isn't she there?" "No," he muttered. "The cliffs." He ran across to the path. Bunny followed him. Fear lent her wings. The sun was gone. The open space on the cliff was dark. "Tuck!" Michael called. "Tuck! Where are you?"

There was no answer. He called again. Bunny stood beside him, listening. "Hush," she whispered after a moment. "Do you hear that? Doesn't it sound like Kitty-kitty!" she called. The sound resolved itself into a loud mew.

They ran toward it. The cat neared. Michael reached into his pocket and drew out a flashlight. He turned it on ahead of them. There, on top of a stump, mew-ing anxiously and sniffing at it, sat Agamemnon. He turned his head toward them and blinked in the light. He gave another loud pitiful mew.

"It Opens"
"It's the stump, Michael," Bunny said, excitedly. "Look at it! She's touched that stump lately. He can tell. Michael. He loves her so."

He turned the light on it and they both examined it carefully. It did not take long to discover the mark of the saw; but it took longer to discover its significance. "I believe it opens," Bunny said eagerly. "Michael, I'm positive the night we saw him he came up just about here."

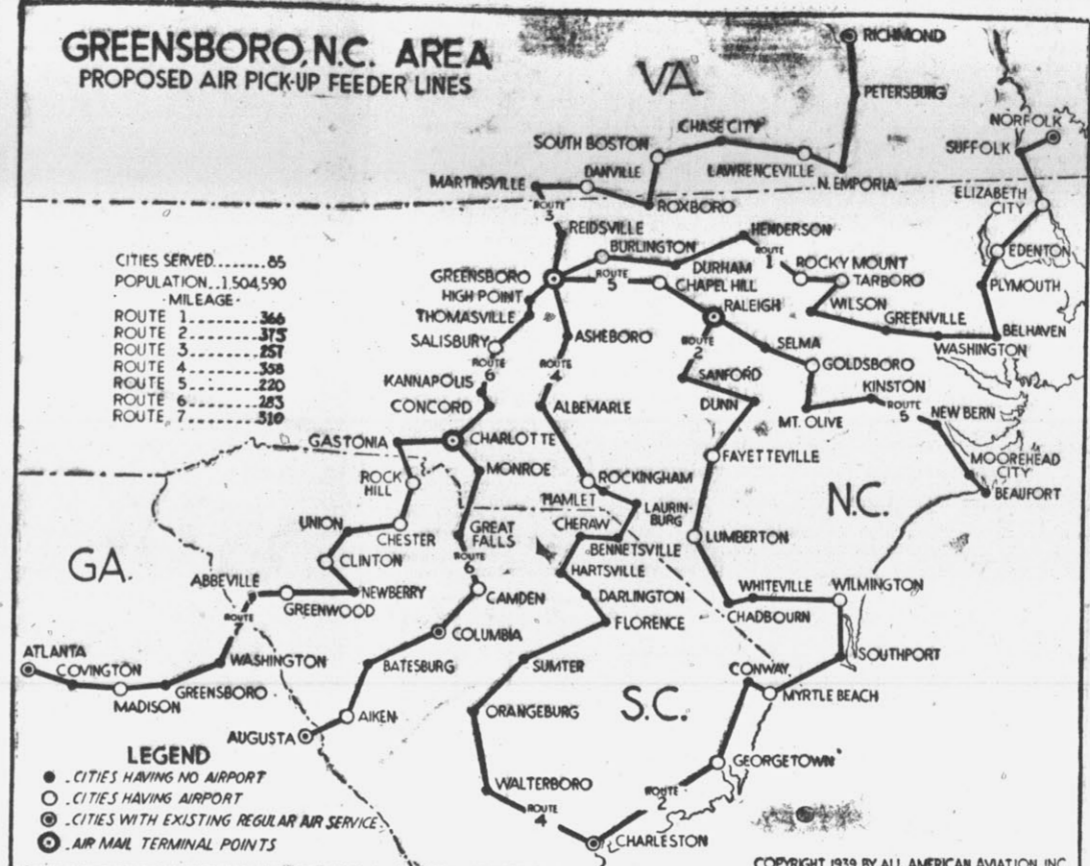

"Through the stump?" "He might. There might be a fissure in the rock down below." Michael drew a long breath. "A fissure in the rock," he repeated. "That would be it. Look here, Bunny, is this a knot I've got my fingers on, or isn't it?" "She held the light closer. "It looks like it."

He twisted with his fingers. "Well, it isn't. It's a pin that lifts out." He took his knife from his pocket, opened it with shaking fingers, and worked at the knot. Then he leaned on the stump and it gave way.

Michael was down the narrow steps without a moment's hesitation. Bunny followed him. He took the flashlight from her once he was safely on the flight, and held it out before him. Far below he saw a ledge of rock and another flight of winding stairs, and below that a narrow cave, with water at the bottom. He went on down to the ledge of rock and walked along it as far as he could reach. He was standing in a solid well of rock that appeared. Rock he looked about him. There above him, at the right, stood Bunny. She was just beneath the stumps now. She was about

Proposed Direct Air Route

Map of PROPOSED AIR PICK-UP ROUTES FOR THIS AREA, and All American plane making a pick-up and delivery in front of the U. S. Capitol in demonstration of new service at the recent national convention of Postmasters in Washington. Two Air Pick-up routes are now in daily operation providing 58 cities in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Delaware with direct air service.

Advantages of direct airmail service would be provided to this community and neighboring towns and cities under a tentative plan for the establishment of air pick-up feeder routes in this area similar to those now operating in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Delaware.

The plan has been developed by Richard C. du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., internationally known flier and aviation authority, in connection with a program for the creation of a national air feeder system which he recently submitted to the Post Office Department and the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Du Pont is president of All American Aviation, Inc., the company that operates the present air pick-up routes over which the merit of the unique method of collecting and delivering mail in flight has been demonstrated in scheduled operations. He also is president of the Searing Society of America and formerly held the world's distance and altitude records for his planes.

Establishment of a national feeder system to meet the growing demand throughout the country for direct air service will be the next big step in commercial aviation, du Pont said.

There are nearly 900 cities having either a municipal or a commercial airport which have no regular air service. In most places these projects represent a substantial investment of both public and private funds which has been made by the citizens of these communities primarily in the hope of obtaining the facilities and advantages of direct air transportation. Little use has been made of most of these airports.

These communities would provide an excellent nucleus for the organization of a feeder network, and an effort should be made to fit them through this method into the national air transportation system.

"If this effort is delayed, discouragement will prevail among these cities, their airport investments will be lost, the runways will go back to weeds, and the prestige will suffer immeasurably."

While the pick-up system does not require landing fields, du Pont declared that his company shortly would begin experimental flights with the operation of the pick-up mechanisms on passenger planes when landings for passengers are unnecessary. Preliminary studies, he said, have indicated that the idea is feasible, and its development will mean that communities on pick-up routes that have airports will have the extra advantage of passenger service, as well as an airmail and express service.

The important relationship of the feeder program to the government pilot training program, was emphasized by du Pont. The establishment of a national feeder system, he said, would make it possible to employ hundreds of government-trained pilots each year that might otherwise find no opportunity to utilize their training.

Stone, are elderly and dignified, some of them stern. The four Roosevelt appointees, Frankfurter, Reed, Black and Douglas, are far less so, although in court Reed frowns, almost glowers, from the bench. Once behind the velvet curtains that shield them from the court spectators, the four newly appointed members are ebullient, so report comes out.

Except for the gracious though commanding presence of Chief Justice Hughes there are no "outstanding personalities" on the court to rival the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and the retired Justice Brandeis. So far no close friendships have developed even among the New Dealers like those which characterized that of Holmes with his one-time colleague Brandeis and the late Chief Justice White.

Some Disappointment
In the eyes of old time observers, the new members have presented both surprises and disappointments. Justice Black, who took his seat under a rain of criticism for his asserted Klan connections, writes some of the most concise opinions of the court. Justice Douglas, these observers say, has a clear, logical mind akin to Hughes'. Amazed to some are the words, involved opinions of Justice Frankfurter who came to the bench in a further of praise amounting to adulation. His associates, including the Chief Justice, seem to find his questions from the bench time-consuming and often pointless. Once Chief Justice Hughes silenced him rather peremptorily. The irritable McReynolds has barked at him repeatedly to let the lawyers, and not the court members, present the cases. Other justices have grinned slyly at such chidings.

The Varmints Pay Their Way
Thermopolis, Wyo.—(AP)—A. E. Harris of the Buffalo Head Ranch has discovered a way, figuratively, to make coyotes root sagebrush. He wanted a patch of sagebrush removed from a field so he could expand his irrigation farming. Hiring two men to do the work, he assisted them and in odd moments went coyote hunting. The bounties on the predatory animals more than paid the wages of the workmen.

Less 'Dignity'
The whole personality of the court has changed as markedly as the tone of its opinions on sociological and governmental issues. The four pre-New Deal members, Hughes, McReynolds, Roberts and Frank Graham to Duke for Wallace Wade and is willing to throw in State college to boot." The bag limit for quail is 10 a day and 150 for a season, while the possession limit is 20. This means that a hunter may keep as many as 20 quail in his refrigerator or may store as many as 20 for his own personal use until 10 days after the close of the season. After that it is unlawful to have any quail at all in one's possession.

The wild turkey season is the same as for quail. Bag limit is one in a day, three for the season, while the possession limit is two until ten days after the season ends.

The grouse season is one month shorter than for quail and turkey, extending from November 30 through January 15. The bag limit is two a day, 10 for the season and the possession limit is two. Grouse are to be found only in the mountains or the mountain meadows in the higher altitudes. They are about the size of bantam chickens and very fast fliers that test the metal of the best shots.

Rabbit season begins Thanksgiving, too. There is no bag limit on bunnies, which are also the only game animal which can be sold legally.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—The death of Justice Pierce Butler gives President Roosevelt his fifth appointment to the Supreme Court and there is a better than average chance he may have an opportunity to appoint one and perhaps two more.

The health of Chief Justice Hughes is such that he has given up all social activities, although all the members he was the most socially inclined. He has not reduced one iota the staggering amount of work that falls upon a Chief Justice. Observers who know his disposition express the belief that if a time arrives when he cannot accomplish his full quota of work with his old assurance, he will retire at once.

The possible retirement of Justice McReynolds has been rumored and forgotten a half dozen times. It is widely believed that he once had definitely made up his mind to remain on the court until after the 1940 elections. That way he could keep open one place for a non-New Deal appointment if the elections should run that way.

Yet with the death of Butler, McReynolds is only persistent associate in dissent is gone. Those two were the survivors of the conservative group which blocked New Deal legislation until the midway course charted by Chief Justice Hughes won the support of Justice Roberts in 1937.

That swung the court majority to the liberal side. McReynolds was bitter at the shift of direction, and his displeasure has been displayed often. To remain on the court will leave to him the whole burden of supporting and writing the dissents, a job which had been shared liberally by the more suave, diplomatic Butler.

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Nov. 29.—From the "Bullpen" table at one of Raleigh's hotels comes one of the best football wisecracks of the season. The "Bullpen," incidentally, is where a large number of Wake county's leading political figures eat luncheon daily.

As is almost inevitable these days there developed a discussion of Big Five football and there was some talk about Peabody Walker's going from Wake Forest to the University of West Virginia and the possibility that he may be succeeded over at the Baptist college by Jock Sutherland or some other "big name" coach. It was hinted that Dick Reynolds has soured on State College and is actively backing Wake's football forces with finances.

"Well, all that's quite a deal—shipping Walker to Morgantown and getting Sutherland at Wake, but that's not the biggest trade pending in Big Five circles," said one of the Bullpens, without trace of a smile and with all possible seriousness. "I have it on unimpeachable authority that the University of North Carolina has offered to trade

When you feel weak, have no energy, no pep, an excellent tonic to take is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It stimulates the appetite and increases the flow of gastric juice, and thus aids in improving digestion of food and so helps supply the body with strength and energy. Mrs. Malissa Ronton, Route 4, Bristol, Tenn., says: "I was weak, had lost much weight, couldn't eat much, and became pale. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it surely worked wonders for me. I regained my appetite, my weight was normal, and I felt just fine in every way." # Old Rivals to Clash in Guy Smith Stadium Tonight

TILT WILL END PLAY FOR YEAR

Thousands to See a Jam-up Gridiron Display

When Bo Farley's second place Green Phantoms go into action against Washington high tonight at 8 o'clock in their fifth Eastern Conference game several thousand fans are expected to be on hand. This game will be the last on the Greenville roster and from all indications will be the best.

Washington will be the underdog team, but with a fighting eleven seeking revenge for a 12-0 setback at the hands of the Farley men last season, anything may happen. Both Washington and Greenville won over Kingston's Red Devils by scores of 13-6.

Coach Doug Kelly's proteges will have their hands full, as the locals are in full power with the exception of J. B. Kittrell, versatile blocking back. Kittrell is suffering from a pulled leg muscle, but is expected to don his uniform in case he is needed.

Two of the regulars who were on the absent list when Greenville tangled with Kingston last week were fullback Marvin Stocks and tackle Earl Kittrell. Both, however, are back in action tonight and are expected to offer fine games.

Earl Kittrell, Marvin Stocks, Polly Williams, Warren Parrish, Russell Rogerson, George Tyndall, George Sakas, Bill Taylor and Buddy Harrington will be playing their final high school games tonight. Their loss next season will be a blow to the Phantoms.

Coach Farley will start the following lineup unless changes are made before game time: James and Collins, ends; Rogerson and Kittrell, tackles; Scott and Parrish, guards; Williams, center; and backs, Tyndall, Sakas, Harrington and Stocks.

DUKE'S DEVILS TO PLAY VOLS

To Resume Gridiron Series With Vols Next Season

Durham, Nov. 29—After a two year lapse, Duke and Tennessee will resume their sensational football series in 1940, according to the Blue Devils' nine-game schedule announced today by Athletic Director Wallace Wade.

The boys of Wade and Bob Neyland will come together in Knoxville on October 5 and the game will be one of the nation's major early season engagements.

Other than the return of the powerful Vols to the card, the Duke slate reads the same as last year. Tennessee will replace Syracuse who with V. M. I., Colgate, Wake Forest, Georgia Tech, Davidson, North Carolina, N. C. State and Pitt formed the 1939 card which the Wademen swept with the exception of the 13-14 loss to the Panthers in the third game.

The game with Georgia Tech, which like the Tennessee series is one of the greatest in the nation, will be played in Duke stadium on November 2 and has been designated as the annual Homecoming Day classic.

The Blue Devils are billed to open against V. M. I. in Duke stadium on September 28 and then face the Vols at Knoxville. That is followed by an open date and then a trip to Buffalo for the annual clash with the colorful Red Raiders of Colgate. Wake Forest is then listed to be met at Wake Forest to be followed on successive Saturdays by Davidson at Durham, North Carolina at Chapel Hill, State at Durham and Pittsburgh at Durham.

The card will be as tough as they come. In meeting Tennessee and Georgia Tech, the Wademen will be facing two of the three leading teams in the Southeastern conference this year and Pitt and Colgate give the Blue Devils opposition from two of the best in the east. Then the five games with V. M. I., Davidson, Carolina, State and Wake Forest will put the Wademen against the best in their own loop.

There will be five home games with V. M. I., Georgia Tech, Davidson, State and Pittsburgh. The others with Wake Forest and North Carolina will be played in those nearby stadiums with the long trips to Knoxville to meet the Vols and to Buffalo to meet the Red Raiders.

The Duke schedule for 1940: Sept. 28—V. M. I. at Durham. Oct. 5—Tennessee at Knoxville. Oct. 12—Permanently open. Oct. 19—Colgate at Buffalo. Oct. 26—Wake Forest there. Nov. 2—Georgia Tech at Durham (Homecoming). Nov. 9—Davidson at Durham. Nov. 16—North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Nov. 23—N. C. State at Durham. Nov. 30—Pittsburgh at Durham.

Rained Out — (AP) — Firemen called to rescue a monkey perched 45 feet high in a tree discovered the available ladders wouldn't reach. So they dragged out their fire hose and simulated a rainstorm. Monkeys don't like rain and this one had sense enough to come in out of the storm. He climbed down into the arms of a waiting fire-laddy.

GAME IS LAST FOR UNC UNIT

Lalanne - Stirnweiss Unit Ends With Virginia Team

By TOM BOST, JR.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 29—The most colorful North Carolina eleven in a decade, a team that has thrilled southern and eastern audiences week after week with a dazzling variety of football, will perform for the last time as a unit here tomorrow against the strongest and cleverest Virginia team since 1928. Kick-off time is 2 o'clock.

The game marks the final collegiate appearance of five of Carolina's leading entertainers. Quarterback George Stirnweiss, who with Sweet Lalanne has directed the Tar Heels' thrill-packed performances, and Halfback George Radman, whose blocking and colorful pass-catching has called for numerous encores, will be making their final exits as will Chuck Slagle, LeRoy Abernethy, Jr., and Co-Captain Jim Woodson, who rank with the better performers on the front row.

And it will be the last time fans will have an opportunity to see Carolina's famed touchdown twins, Lalanne and Stirnweiss, who have accounted for 23 of the Tar Heels' 29 touchdowns, perform on the same team.

The Tar Heels' stellar cast ran intact today except for Chuck Kline, veteran right end, who has missed the last four performances due to injuries. Halfback Radman, who was held out of the Duke game, and End Paul Severin, who played only a few minutes against the Blue Devils, are back in harness and expected to be ready.

Close observers of the performances of both teams figure the Cavaliers have their best chance in more than 10 years to lick the Tar Heels tomorrow.

They point out that of the three games lost of Virginia this season two were just by 2 and 3 point margins. They also point out that the Cavaliers walloped the highly rated William and Mary Indians 26-6.

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Stock market leaders poked in to a little higher ground today in a slow rally that carried some of them up fractions to around two points at their best.

The move was not energetic and near the fourth hour many had slipped from the top.

Steels and motors were most in demand, the settlement of the Chrysler dispute being considered favorable to both industries. Traders also sought some of the aircrafts for a while.

LEAF SURPLUS REPORT ISSUED

Flue Cured Stock More by 3 Million Pounds

Stocks of leaf tobacco owned by dealers and manufacturers in the United States and Puerto Rico on October 1 total 2,215,561,000 pounds, compared with 2,227,029,000 on October 1, 1938. Total stocks were 78,812,000 pounds higher than on July 1, 1939, and 11,468,000 pounds lower than on October 1, 1938.

Stocks of flue-cured tobacco were reported as 1,008,043,000 pounds on October 1, 1939, around 208 million pounds higher than on July 1, 1939, and only about 3 million pounds higher than on October 1, 1938.

Stocks of Type 11 on October 1, 1939, were reported as 295,666,000 pounds; Type 12 as 310,421,000 pounds; Type 13 as 278,795,000 pounds; and Type 14 as 123,161,000 pounds. The flue-cured tobacco markets were closed from September 13 until October 10, 1939, due to the withdrawal of British buyers from the markets.

As a result of this suspension of sales, stocks in hands of dealers and manufacturers on October 1 were lower than normal considering the size of the crop.

Fire-cured stocks of tobacco of all types were reported as 127,800,000 pounds on October 1, 1939, compared with 158,040,000 pounds on October 1, 1938. Total stocks were about 20 million pounds lower on October 1, 1939, than on July 1, 1939. Virginia fire-cured Type 21, stocks were reported as 19,709,000 pounds; Type 22 as 80,816,000 pounds; Type 23 as 26,634,000 pounds; and Type 24 as 643,000 pounds.

Stocks of burley were reported as 593,512,000 pounds on October 1, 1939, about 75 million pounds lower than on July 1, 1939, and around 23 million pounds higher than October 1 a year ago. Southern Maryland tobacco, Type 32, stocks were reported as 40,953,600 pounds compared with 39,966,000 pounds on October 1, 1938. These stocks during the period July 1, 1939, to October 1, 1939, increased around 10 million pounds.

One sucker stocks on October 1, 1939, were 29,225,000 pounds or four million pounds less than the previous quarter of July 1, 1939. Green River stocks reported as 21,042,000 pounds were slightly higher than a year ago. Stocks of other types on October 1, 1939, were as follows: Virginia sun-cured, 2,348,000 pounds; Eastern Ohio 696,000 pounds; Perique, 909,000 pounds; other miscellaneous domestic 651,000 pounds; and foreign-grown cigarette tobacco (Turkish and other) 92,655,000 pounds.

Stocks of American grown cigar filler types amounted to 171,142,000 pounds on October 1, 1939, a decrease of slightly over 15 million pounds from the stocks of October 1 a year ago.

Three Negroes Faced With Liquor Charges

Three Negroes, one woman and two men, were arrested by local officers last night on whiskey charges.

Irene Johnson, who lives on Long street, is charged with having illegal liquor for sale, and Freddie Williams and Thurston Moore, arrested at Irene's house, are charged with illegal possession.

Officers said they found only a small amount of liquor, but added they found evidence illegal whiskey was being sold.

N. C. FEED MEN MEET DEC. 12TH

Long List of Speakers On Manufacturers' Program

Rehoboth, Nov. 29.—A long list of speakers and their topics has been announced by Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture D. S. Coltrane for the meeting here December 12 of the North Carolina Feed Manufacturers Association.

The State Department of Agriculture and State College will cooperate in preparation for and staging of the meeting.

Commissioner W. Kerr Scott is scheduled to speak, while from the Feed Manufacturers' field there will be addresses by J. Wesley Jones, president of the North Carolina association, and Ralph W. Fields, president of the American Feed Manufacturers' Association.

Control of feed manufacturers by supervisory officials will be thoroughly discussed under the title "What the Control Department Owes the Feed Manufacturers and the Control Department," with Dr. J. Hampton King, president of the American Feed Control Officials Association, making the address.

Other speakers will include: Dr. Earl Hosteler of the N. C. State College on "Protein Supplements in Saine Feeds."

A. C. Kimrey, extension chairman of the N. C. Extension Service on "Characteristics of a Good Dairy Ration."

D. W. Colvard, assistant director in charge of the Mountain Station, N. C. Department of Agriculture; C. W. Peggam, chief of the Dairy Division of N. C. Department of Agriculture; Dr. George H. Satterfield of the Chemistry Department, N. C. State College.

There will be round table discussions of "Poultry Feeds and Substitutes for High Priced Ingredients," and "Registration."

Belk-Tyler's Store Features Big Toyland

Belk-Tyler's department store here Friday will officially launch its Christmas shopping season and the entire store has been decorated both inside and the front, for the occasion.

The store is featuring a toy department on the third floor and, according to Manager C. A. Pyle, it compares with any toy shop in cities from 100,000 to 200,000 population. Everything from the smallest toy to a merry-go-round capable of riding several children at a time can be found in Belk-Tyler's third floor toyland.

The store is artistically decorated throughout with mountain laurel and red fuscous, with wreaths of white pine scattered throughout the store.

Children are not the only ones who can do their Christmas shopping, gifts for the whole family also being found at the store.

McIntyre, who has been convalescing from a long illness. He also planned to see Miss Margaret Durand, another White House employee, at Asheville.

Seal Sale Is Praised By Official Of Pitt

"The larger part of the money derived from the sales of tuberculosis seals is spent right here in Pitt county to combat tuberculosis and to discover the disease in its early stages," said K. T. Futrell, Pitt county welfare superintendent, in commenting on the sales.

Futrell is a member of the board of directors of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association. In offering additional endorsement of the Seal Sale, Futrell declared that "there is no greater work done in this county than that of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association."

Stop The Presses! Monticello, Ky.—(AP)—The metropolitan reporter's idea of the leisurely life of a country editor might have found confirmation in this announcement in the Wayne County Outlook:

"Whether due to a change in the weather or not, a last minute rush of display advertising has forced us to carry over much news until next week. Watch for it in the forthcoming issue of the Outlook."

Phoenix, Ariz.—(AP)—Two hundred Maricopa county farm boys have been set up in the cattle business by a Phoenix packing company.

With no initial investment by the youths, the packing company gave each a purebred Hereford calf on condition that the boys have their parents' consent to raise calves and that the calves, upon maturity, be sold back to the firm at the prevailing market price. The original cost of the calf will then be deducted.

On each boy's ability as a feeder will determine whether or not his enterprise shows a profit.

These Logical Women

Oklahoma City.—(AP)—Roger Rogers, deputy sheriff, knocked at a door and handed a housewife a summons to divorce court.

"Now who in the world could be suing me for divorce?" she exclaimed.

"Must be your husband," Rogers volunteered.

"Yes, sir, I'll bet that's just who did it."
