U. S. EXPECTED TO RETAIN ITS TRADE POLICY

Survey Indicates Reciprocal Program To Be Extended

SAYS DEMOCRATS TO SUPPORT ACT

Congress Marks Time To Allow Members Attend Party Meeting; Economy Advocates Face Test

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A preliminary canvass by administration leaders was reported today to indicate Senate approval of extending the reciprocal trade program.

Although the survey was incomplete, one of the Senators who has been making it said there was every reason to believe that not more than a dozen Democrats would join the 23 Republicans in opposing the legislation.

Administration strategists said there apparently would be stronger sentiment in the Senate for ratification of each trade pact, but they expressed confidence they had the votes to defeat an amendment of that nature.

The canvass of Senators' views has been proceeding quietly under the direction of Senators Byrnes (D-S.C.) and Harrison (D-Miss.) while the House Ways and Means committee has been busy with hearings on the program.

House action is expected soon after the hearings end and administration followers have been confident of victory in that chamber. The State Department's authority to negotiate the trade pact will expire June 12 unless renewed.

Congress marked time today to permit many of its members to attend either as spectators or as participants, the meetings of the Democratic National Committee to make arrangements for the party convention.

The Senate, however, will have a test tomorrow of the strength of its economy advocates. It will debate the $1,138,675,000 appropriations bill for independent federal agencies.

Local Dog Owners Forced Pay Fines

Four defendants, three white men and one Negro, tried in City court this morning on charges of allowing their dogs to run at large, were ordered to pay $5 each, the sums to be applied on costs in each of the cases.

The four defendants were E. J. Garrett, A. W. Hodnett, Bryce Sigmon, white, and Sherman Heath, colored. It was the first time that several defendants have been tried at one court session on the charge since the local police department announced some time ago that it was going to conduct a campaign against violators of the law prohibiting persons to permit their dogs to run at large in the city.

John Grimes, colored, was convicted of assault on a female and was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of court costs.

Residence Robbed Saturday Evening

Police today were conducting an investigation into the robbery of the home of D. C. Butler at 310 Paris avenue some time between 6:30 and 10 o'clock Saturday night. According to Chief of Police George Clark the home was entered via an unlocked back door between those hours and cash and cigarettes taken.

In addition to a carton of cigarettes, money was taken from three places, between $30 and $35 from an "Esso" bank, a number of nickels from a small box and 140 pennies from a cigar box.

It was the second time a local home has been entered and robbed since the recent series was broken up with the arrest and conviction of three Negroes.

Hope to Resume Traffic Over Sound Bridge Soon

Structure Over Currituck May Be Opened in Week

Elizabeth City, Feb. 5.—(AP)—If the great piece of ice jamming against the Wright Memorial bridge does no more damage to the span, highway crews hope to have it open for traffic in a week, R. R. Roper, highway maintenance engineer here, said today.

Work began this morning on repairing damage done the three-mile span which links Dare county with the mainland.

Roper said that he hoped that a tide would carry the ice up the sound away from the bridge.

In Manteo I. P. Davis, public welfare officer, blamed the county's "siege of isolation" on the failure of the highway department to take "proper measures" intime to relieve the weight of ice jammed against the bridge.

"The full amount of the damage can not be determined until the ice has broken up and moved away from the bridge," Vance Baise, chief highway engineer, said in Raleigh. "A lot will depend on the way the wind blows and how hard at the time the ice really breaks up."

Baise, just back from Chicago, said reports about plans for a new bridge to replace the Wright structure bought by the state in 1935 for $125,000, had not been completed, but that preliminary surveys indicated a new crossing of currituck sound would cost $800,000. He said information given out in his absence about plans for a new bridge "went a little too far."

"The big thing in the way," he said, is that we have no money for a new bridge there. Even with Federal aid it would take more state money for a new bridge than has been allocated in the construction budget for the entire highway district down there."

Five Negroes Hurt In Speeding Auto

Five Negroes were treated at Pitt General hospital for injuries they suffered about 8:30 o'clock Saturday night when their car turned over several times and crashed into Lloyd Tucker's filling station about a mile and a half from the city limits on the New Bern highway.

Patrolman C. R. Williams, who investigated the accident, declared that the driver of the car, Leroy Jackson, was unable to straighten it out after negotiating a curve and the vehicle rolled over on its side 15 or 25 times, struck the filling station, knocking out the front and upsetting the gas pumps. Jackson is being held in county jail on charges of careless and reckless driving. He suffered injuries to the left knee. Others in the car, all Negroes, suffered abrasions, contusions, lacerations or cerebral concussions. They were discharged from the hospital after treatment. The four, besides the driver, were Mary Stephenson, Frances Edwards, Sam Sims and Leroy (Porkchop) Station.

Patrolmen called to the wreck summoned an ambulance to bring some of the more seriously injured to the hospital. The car was traveling toward Greenville.

Assumes Operation of Eldridge Drug Store

W. C. Hollowell, native of Edenton, but a resident of Greenville for the past five years during which time he has been associated with Eldridge Drug company on Dickinson avenue as pharmacist, has taken over the operation of the store.

The exchange went into effect on February 1.

Mr. Hollowell is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, class of 1934, coming to this city immediately upon his graduation. Last August he was married to Miss Lucinda Hood of Kinston, member of a family prominent in the pharmaceutical field.

In announcing his retirement Saturday the retiring operator, Julius Eldridge, declared he had no plans for the immediate future.

NAZIS FORCED GIVE UP GAINS ON BLIES RIVER

Attack on French Advance Lines Said to Have Failed

HAND GRENADES USED BY DEFENSE

Meanwhile in Paris Official Spokesman Announces New Protest Made Over Japan Bombings

Paris, Feb. 5.—(AP)—French military advices reported today a German attack on French advance lines in the wooded hills east of the Blies river had been repulsed with hand grenades.

These sources said the Germans were forced to retreat so quickly the French captured two prisoners. German scouting patrols were reported active throughout the region, but fog and rain grounded aviation on both sides.

Paris, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Authorized spokesmen announced today that France's ambassador to Tokyo had protested Japan's bombing last Thursday of the Kunming-Hanoi railway in which several Europeans died. The line connects Indo-China with Central China.

The French said the Japanese spokesman told the ambassador his government had heard of the bombing only through news reports, but that in principle the government observed complete "solidarity" with the army's action.

Previously the French had intimated the bombings had been carried out by the army against the wishes of the Japanese government.

An oral reply to the French protest, was not considered sufficient and a formal written reply was awaited. Belated reports today increased to 150 the number of killed and wounded in last Thursday's bombings.

Farmers in Bertie Return To Cotton

Windsor, Feb. 5.—The present tobacco situation has forced a revival of interest in cotton growing among Bertie County farmers, reports Farm Agent B. E. Grant.

In all sections of the county growers are indicating they will plant their full cotton allotment, with many planning to use certified seed. Last week an order was placed for 300 bushels of Coker 100 Strain No. 2.

Not only have growers indicated they will use good seed, but also that they plan to use every available method to control boll weevils.

Two Being Held For Transporting Liquor

Pitt county ABC officers arrested James and Richard Bryant Saturday afternoon on charges of transporting illegal liquor.

The two were arrested about six miles from Greenville, coming toward this city on the New Bern road. Officers reported finding nine gallons of the contraband concealed in a trap on the floor of their small panel truck.

The pair is being held in Pitt county jail pending a hearing in County court here tomorrow morning.

Reviews Developments in N. C. Political Campaign

Reflector Bureau By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—Bark last fall when there were a whole host of suspected candidates for governor, deterred from formal announcement by Governor Hoey's "short-campaign" ideas, the word in political circles was "Wait until right after the first of the year and things will begin to take some sort of shape. Then we can tell what's what and why."

Now the first of February has come and gone, 1940 is more than a month old and if there has been any change, it has been in the direction of confusion worse confounded. Instead of a simple blueprint, the political map now looks more and more like a jigsaw puzzle.

As the result of Friday night's session of the Democratic state committee, who turned out to be literally "minute men," there is the unprecedented prospect that North Carolina will select its delegates to a National convention for which quite possibly not even the date has been fixed. Certainly the delegates will be chosen before there is any definite and sure indication of the identity of the contenders for the presidential nomination.

What it will amount to, it is everywhere agreed in political circles is that former Governor O. Max Gardner and his inner circle will have complete control of the North Carolina delegation, just as much so as if the state committee had given Max credentials in blank leaving only the delegates' names for him to fill in.

It positively prohibits any real expression by North Carolina voters on a third term for President Roosevelt, who probably will not have made any definite announcement about it prior to the convening of the North Carolina state convention.

Great Britain To Increase Imports of Turkish Leaf

Waterbucket Brigade Fights Old Man Winter

Waterbucket brigades usually tackle fires, but this outfit at Covington, Ky., together with tank-wagons were pressed into service when frozen and broken water mains caused serious shortage in that city of 65,000. More than 1,000 families were without water. This is a typical crew.

FARLEY HEARD BY DEMOCRATS

Chairman Says Party Must Win Independent Votes

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Chairman James A. Farley told the Democratic National Committee today that the party's biggest job was to win over some 10,000,000 independent voters "who will cast their ballot for the best candidate and the best program that is offered."

The committee was gathered for an all-day session to pick a convention city.

Farley, predicting "a very active pre-convention campaign," noted that there were many who would like to have the Democratic presidential nomination. He mentioned by name only, however, Vice-President Garner.

Garner's name came up in the chairman's expression of thanks for the assistance given him by members of the committee, including "sturdy, stalwart John Nance Garner."

Farley himself had some kind words for Farley when he introduced him as "one of the most efficient, kindest and most agreeable fellows to work with I know."

As Farley spoke there were growing indications that Philadelphia might obtain the 1940 convention. The Democrats met there in 1936 and a Philadelphia delegation was prepared to offer a certified check for $125,000 to obtain this year's meeting.

Early in the day the committee cheered the news that a $250,000 party deficit had been more than wiped out by more than $400,000 in receipts from the recent Jackson Day dinners.

The caliper compass was invented by an artificer in Nuremberg in 1540.

Two Negroes Held on Shoplifting Charges

Officers this afternoon returned Charlie Bunch Sheppard and Connie Raves to this city from Kinston to face charges of shoplifting here Saturday.

The two Negroes are accused of taking three boxes of women's silk hose from Penney's store Saturday, taking the hose to Kinston, their home, and selling them.

Chief George Clark declared the two Negroes had been "working" both here and in Kinston. They were convicted of shoplifting in Kinston at this morning's session of court there and given road sentences.

Chief Clark said the two were suspected of robbing other places here, including Grant's store.

Patrolman J. W. Evans of Manteo returned to his post here last night, traveling along the coast from the Currituck sound to Virginia Beach, Va. The officer was unable to return in any other way when ice in the sound halted the ferry and sheered the sound bridge.

The officer drove from his home to the Currituck bridge, then drove up the beach to the Virginia resort city, thence by highway to Greenville.

This was the only means of travel open from his home and Patrolman Evans reported several other persons accompanied by a member of the post office department, who also was stranded by the ice bound ferry and sheered bridge. The postal man was on his way to Windsor.

Evans said he saw several cars traveling in each direction along the beach trip. He said it was not the first time he had made the trip.

Believed President May Support Processing Taxes

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Administration farm leaders expressed the belief today that President Roosevelt could be induced to support processing taxes to raise farm aid funds if the major agricultural organizations would unite behind such a program.

This expression was linked with efforts of Secretary Wallace to win the endorsements of the American Farm Bureau Federation for the so-called "income certificate" plan of processing taxes advocated by the Farmers Union.

Some leaders said that House action last week in voting Agriculture Department appropriations $66,928,433 below what President Roosevelt had asked may go a long way toward bringing the farm organizations together.

The powerful Farm Bureau Federation had asked Congress to appropriate $607,000,000 for party payments in addition to the $500,000,000 for soil conservation payments authorized in the House bill.

With congressional economy sentiment running high, farm bloc leaders saw little hope of obtaining appropriations now for party payments, designed to raise farmers' purchasing power to the 1910-14 level.

Two Escape From State Institution

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The penal division reported today the escape of two felons from the Goldsboro State hospital over the weekend.

Officials believed the men sawed their way through window bars with saws smuggled to their quarters in the criminal insane building. They were last seen last Saturday.

The two men were Dudley Bingley of Gastonia, sentenced in Cleveland county in March, 1927, to eight to 10 years for breaking, entering and larceny, and John Gore of Wilmington sentenced in New Hanover in November, 1938, to 20 to 27 years for second degree burglary.

At Biscoe Mrs. Howard Beamon, 25, of High Point was killed and three other persons were seriously injured in an automobile collision.

Clayton Moody, 27, died in a Roanoke Rapids hospital of injuries suffered when he was run over by an automobile.

William Hill, 27, of Smithfield died early Sunday morning of injuries suffered in an accident on highway 301 Saturday.

Leon Cayton, 21, of Edwards was killed Saturday night when struck by a truck which Coroner Dick Cherry of Beaufort county said was driven by Ebert Warren of Blount's Creek. Coroner Cherry said no inquest would be held as evidence indicated Cayton stepped in front of the truck as it got under way after a stop.

Membrane, N. C., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Lottan McMillan, 36, was killed and Lawrence Locklear, 25, was injured in a collision today between their automobile and an east-bound Seaboard Air Line passenger train at Pates crossing near here.

Patrolman Forced To Travel Coast

PACT TO COVER TWENTY YEARS

Signing of Agreement Follows British Embargo on American Tobacco in Attempt to Conserve Foreign Exchange for Purchase of War Materials; France Also May Use More Turkish

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department has received word from London that the recently concluded British-Turkish trade treaty provides for importation of about 20,000,000 pounds annually of Turkish tobacco into the United Kingdom for the next 20 years.

Signing of the agreement followed action of the British government in imposing an embargo on American tobacco in a move to conserve foreign exchange for purchase of war materials in this country. Heretofore the United Kingdom has been the largest foreign outlet for American tobacco.

The volume of Turkish tobacco to be taken by Britain in the future, the department said, is more than ten times the amount ever used by that country in any one year.

Heretofore Turkish tobacco has been used in the United Kingdom only in the manufacture of a limited quantity of pure Turkish cigarettes. The department said that in order to increase the use of Turkish leaf under the new agreement to more than 10 times the quantity previously used the government may force manufacturers to use Turkish leaf in the popular brands which in the past have been made entirely from flue cured leaf obtained principally from the United States.

Great Britain normally imports about 215,000,000 pounds of American tobacco a year. American officials hope to regain the British market after the war with Germany is over.

The department also reported that information indicated France may increase purchases of Turkish tobacco.

College Vesper Service.
Hoover Taft, Greenville attorney, speaking at the vesper service at East Carolina Teachers College last night told his audience of the "material advantages we may derive from following the Christian religion."

In comparing concrete facts of religion with abstract facts, Mr. Taft recalled how people in the era of the cave man worshipped the Nile because of the material advantages it gave them; how people of the Nile worshipped the great river because of its material advantages; how the people of India worshipped the elephant because of the material advantages he produced, and then drew the thoughts of his listeners to present-day life to show how material advantages can be had from following the Christian religion.

He told his audience that some of them might call him a humanist—but "I'm not, since humanism completely overlooks immortality, one of the greatest factors of Christian religion." While speaking of the past he plays in the life of an individual, Mr. Taft explained that "law is not a positive force, but a passive one, and we need more than law to motivate the mind of an individual."

Home, marriage, respect for parents, and protection against aggression and adversity the speaker listed among the material advantages that most people of today in this country enjoy because they live under the influence of Christianity.

"Is immortality worthy of taking as the truth because of the consolations we experience from such a belief in this life?" Mr. Taft asked his audience. "Present-day controversies in religion do not mean that I shall not be able to enjoy it; nor do these controversies mean that any other person shall not be able to enjoy Christian living," he said in closing.

James Whitfield, chairman of Christian Education of the Young Men's Christian Association, conducted the program.

SMALL CHAT

Squibs Found Here and There

There was a right large crowd here today for first Monday.

February will not have a new moon. It is said that the like has not occurred in half a century.

The weather cleared about as quick Sunday night as is ever seen. A little after nightfall the rain was falling in torrents and the wind was almost blowing a gale. A few minutes later moon and stars were both shining brightly.

R. L. Smith left this morning for Richmond.

Young men before entering one of the principal medical schools of this county are examined as to their general knowledge. One of the questions given to the candidates for one of these schools last year was: "What are the names of the books of the Bible?" Of one hundred and twenty answers, only five were correct. Among the names of books given were: "Philistines," "Marcus Aurelius," and "Epistle to the Philippians."

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Tyson of Wilson.

Mr. G. P. Fleming, Sr., Mrs. Stella K. Ormond, Will Ormond and Mr. and Mrs. William Sutton of Kingston.

Dr. J. T. H. Harper and Miss Winnie Harper of Snow Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Marion Davis, Mrs. Ora Turnage and Mrs. Nonie Barrett of Farmville.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Harper, Alexander Harper, Jr., Mrs. Charles Abernethy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abernethy, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald N. Mitchell of New Bern.

To show Eastern Carolina farmers how best to handle and market their Irish potatoes a special potato train will be run through the Coastal Plain counties February 12-23.

NEWCOMERS AND REMOVALS

Owner Gets His Meat By Time It's Missed

Meat stolen from Williams slaughter pen north of Tar river Saturday night was returned to the Williams' place in the city today, shortly after the meat was missed and without the officer knowing the rightful owner.

Last night Officer L. D. Page stopped a Negro going down Wade street with a paper box and while being questioned the Negro dropped the box and ran. This morning the officer carried the meat to the Williams storage place to keep it until the owner was found. In the meantime the theft of the meat from the slaughter pen had been reported and it developed that the meat recovered by Mr. Page was that stolen.

In reporting the incident, Chief George Clark jokingly remarked that Page ran the Negro off so he could get the meat and then accidentally found the owner.

Philadelphia Tax Upheld by Court

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A one and one-half per cent tax on all wages and earned income in Philadelphia, vigorously attacked by various labor groups, was declared constitutional today by the Pennsylvania Supreme court.

The tribunal upheld a lower court ruling which dismissed a CIO-sponsored suit brought by Mrs. Jennie Dole, widow of $10 a week shirt factory worker, who contended the levy was "unjust and discriminatory."

WOMEN GET "BUILD-UP"

A good way to relieve periodic discomfort from functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, such as headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, many women find is by using CARDUI. It usually sharpens appetite, increases flow of gastric juices and so aids digestion, helps build resistance to periodic distress.

Another way CARDUI may help you: Take it a few days before and during "the time." CARDUI has been popular for 50 years.—(Adv.)

Noted Presbyterian Dies

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Mark Allison Matthews, 72, noted Presbyterian pastor and vice crusader, died of pneumonia today. He was pastor of the largest Presbyterian congregation in the nation.

The "great fire" in London in 1666 destroyed 13,200 homes and 88 churches.

NYA Exhibit Praised By Seed Show Guests

The National Youth Administration booth displayed at the Seed Exhibition was not entered for competition but attracted much favorable comment.

This booth, decorated in red, white and blue color scheme, displayed a large picture of President Roosevelt, honoring the originator of NYA. The articles made by NYA, including bed, table, chairs, desk, large book rack, rugs, curtains, baskets, etc., were arranged to represent a livable room. The red and white carnations in large blue bowl and red candied apples added much to the attractiveness of this room.

The splendid workmanship of these boys and girls indicated that Pitt county NYA is giving valuable training to these youths.

Six Couples Secure License During Week

Six marriage licenses were issued at the offices of the Pitt county Register of Deeds, during the past week, bring to 32 the number granted so far this year. Four of the six licenses were issued to colored and only two to white citizens.

CLOSED THE WINDOW ON HIS CAREER

Los Angeles—(AP)—Richard G. Scott is so sure he can win money on the races that he has brought suit against Santa Anita racetrack for right of access to the betting windows. For reasons not explained, he charges, he was barred from the grounds.

Scott makes his winning claim official by alleging the ouster "deprives him of his means of livelihood."

Honored 40 Years Late.

San Fernando, Calif.—(AP)—17 was back in 1898 that Arthur Paschall distinguished himself by rescuing his patrol commander from Spanish artillery fire at the battle of San Juan Hill. But it was only a few days ago that recognition of his heroism—in the form of a Distinguished Service Cross—arrived from Washington.

Chapter 18 Mr. Kincaid

RICHARD MACDONALD was coming out of the shop door with a heavy coat on but bare-headed. He came up to us.

"That's fine," Dirck slammed the door of the car. "I hope the Sergeant will let us sit in on it. Has anyone heard from Lathrop?"

Richard shook his head. "I can't imagine where he is. He calls Joan every day and usually drops in late in the afternoon."

"The telephone call this morning was from a man," I said. Richard frowned. "If it had been Tim I'm sure he'd have come around right away. Well, I'll be back in a minute. I want to get some papers down at the corner."

"Well go with you. I want the late editions, too." Dirck took me by the arm and we walked with Richard to the corner. While they bought the papers I went into a small hardware store for some electric light bulbs.

On the way back Richard said to Dirck, "Are you going to tell the Sergeant about Lathrop's wife?" I stared at them. It was a surprise to hear that Tim Lathrop was married.

"I mentioned it to Long this afternoon after I talked with you," Dirck said, steering me carefully around a snowbank. "It seemed only right I thought you uncle should have told him, but he felt it would only make more of a story for the papers. But the Sergeant was bound to find out. Now he's doubled his efforts to round up Lathrop. He told me it was one of those triangle cases, two women after the same man."

Richard smiled wanly, but didn't reply. When we went into the shop Mr. Kincaid was sitting in the rear of the room at his desk with two men—the Jap, Ishi, and the other I found out was my midnight caller, Mr. Kincaid. Maybe I was prejudiced, but I didn't care for his looks, although he might have been considered handsome in a florid way; his features were coarse and his hair and skin dark. One of his parents might have been Spanish. He seemed uneasy, but it wasn't hard to see that he was naturally self-confident and aggressive. Ishi jumped to his feet at a word from the Sergeant and left the room.

We sat down quietly, heaping the Sergeant wouldn't make us leave. He looked up, nodded, and then turned back to Kincaid. "I've been trying to get hold of you all day," he said. "Where in hell have you been?"

The young man looked at him sullenly. "At the office." "What do you do?" "Press agent."

The Sergeant was walking back and forth now, smoking vigorously. "There are some things I'd like to know. First of all, why is there such a mystery in this house about your present address, and why doesn't anyone know where you work?" He leaned over the back of a chair, staring at Harry Kincaid.

"Well, you got my address, didn't you?" Kincaid asked. "As I had a hard time doing it, Miss Wells said that you told her to keep it to herself." Mr. Kincaid flinched in his chair. "That's right."

"Why?" "That's my business." "So," The Sergeant raised his eyebrows. "I was glad I wasn't in Harry Kincaid's shoes. As he didn't look as though he was enjoying it particularly."

"And how did you happen to break your lease and leave here in the middle of the year?" the Sergeant asked in a deceptively soft voice. "I found out you'd signed a lease on that apartment until next October."

There was no reply forthcoming. We waited. "Well?" said the Sergeant. Then with a look at Richard MacDonald that held more venom than anything I've ever seen, Mr. Kincaid got up and shouted, "You'd better ask Mr. MacDonald why I left. He threatened to kill me."

Prison Sentence an 'Honor', Browder Tells Rally

Spotlights stab the murky darkness in Madison Square Garden, New York, and center on Earl Browder, United States Communist leader, on the platform as he addressed a party rally in memory of Lenin. He spoke a few hours after he was convicted in New York of passport frauds and sentenced to four years in prison. He told the crowd the conviction was a "great honor" and was "but one step in the drive toward war." Signs in the hall denounce "Imperialism," called for the election of Browder to congress and urged: "Demand nation's credit for housing—not for loans to Mannerheim." Browder is at liberty on bail.

Harrisburg Team To Hold Spring Training In This City

PLAN TO START ON APRIL FIRST

Fans Will Be Provided With Plenty of Early Baseball

The Harrisburg State baseball team of the Inter-State League, will begin its spring training here this year, it was revealed today following a trip here last week by the president and manager of the club.

The officials decided on Greenville before leaving, but announcement was withheld at their request until today.

The Inter-State is a new league, having been started last year as a class "C" league. The league will be stepped up to "B" ball this year, it was understood. Other teams in the league are Reading, Wilmington, Del., Trenton, N. J., Allentown, Penn., Hazletown, Penn., and Sunbury, Penn., and another team owned by the Boston Nationals, for which a city with which to locate the franchise has not been decided upon as yet.

The club will start its training here about April 1 and will continue during most of that month, or until the Coastal Plain season opens. Arrangements have been made for the players and officials to stay at the Proctor hotel. Approximately 25 are expected to come here, including Pennsylvania newspapermen.

The team will practice each day between 11 o'clock and 3:30, during which time the Greensies will not be using the park.

Decision of the Harrisburg team to practice here will provide Greenville baseball fans with a number of exhibition games, in addition to possible numerous encounters between that team and Ruber Wilson's Greensies.

A number of other teams are going to do their spring training in this section, including Sunbury, which was considering coming here if arrangements had not been made with Harrisburg, at Kinston; Richmond at Wilson; Portsmouth at Tarboro; Wilkes Barre at Suffolk; Wilmington, Del., at Sanford; Williamsport at Raeford; Scranton at Gettysville, Pa.

Meet Lord Haw-Haw of Hamburg, A Radio Favorite

AP Feature Service London—The man who worries the British most is neither Hitler nor Stalin but an English-speaking radio announcer who broadcasts each night from Hamburg, Germany, and whom the newspapers have dubbed "Lord Haw-Haw."

It is a good bet that 90 per cent of the dials on British radio sets swing over to the Hamburg station each evening—just after the British Broadcasting Company's news resume has been completed—and their manipulators settle down to a quarter-hour, of, heinous rage and indignation while the announcer's voice, in faultless but fruity English, purrs on.

Hundreds of jokes against him is ridicule. A song, "Lord Haw-Haw, the Humbug of Hamburg," is sung over the B. B. C. with grim determination. There has been a bumper crop of jokes, too strained to be funny.

One has yet succeeded in making Haw-Haw angry. He continues to comment blandly on those very features of British that most thinking Englishmen deplore. Recently he remarked: "The King of England, a member of one of the world's richest families, gave $101 to the fund which is buying tobacco for the B. E. F."

Usually his barbs go deeper. He has a field day whenever he touches on the distressed areas, or the unemployed. He never fails to mention "there has been no unemployment in Germany for the past four years. Indeed there has been a lack of skilled workmen."

Alternative weapons against Haw-Haw are being discussed. One is a blizzard of sound over Haw-Haw's wave length. Another is a special British propaganda program in answer to his talks, to be signed with music, comedians and songsters. These are hardly necessary because the average Briton likes to hear the enemy about himself from foreign lips.

Lord Haw-Haw's identity has been solved dozens of times by the amateur detectives who abound in Britain. First nominee was Captain Baile-Stewart, the Scots officer who languished in the Tower some time back. Each Sunday a different newspaper discovers who he is and gives details.

One candidate of the air waves says Haw-Haw is Edward Dietze, a Glasgow-born Nazi, who had a Scotch mother and a German father and who commented on British news in French from a Berlin station before the war.

Because of good results secured last year, beautiful distance demonstrations will be conducted again in Eastern North Carolina this year. Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist at State College.

The AAA will allow each farm family one unit credit this year for planting a home garden. If at least one-tenth acre of vegetables is allowed for each member of the family.

Approximately 55,000 North Carolina farm boys and girls are expected to enroll in 4-H Clubs this year, according to L. B. Merrill, 4-H Club leader at State College.

A Brave Fighter Hangs Up His Gloves

Fred Apostoll, the San Francisco brawler who once ruled the middleweight boxers, is shown in a New York hospital where he went after his defeat by Mello Bellina. Apostoll's manager said his fighter, suffering from the grippe during the fight, would hang up his gloves for good.

HIGHS TO PLAY PAM PACK FOE

Engage Washington Quint Here Tomorrow Night

Greenville high school Phantoms will play host to the Washington Pam Packs in a cage battle which will begin at 7:30 tomorrow night in the high school gym.

This will be a conference game and is slated to have much action. Early in the season the Dailymen proved victorious on the Pam Pack's court by a score of 32-22. The Washingtonians had few leftovers from their last year's basketball, nevertheless they have a scrappy team and are expected to give the Greensies a good fight.

Marvin Stocks and "Bullet" Williams will start as guards for the G-men, Larry James at center position, and George Sakas and Burney Warren as forwards. Best players on Washington's line-up are Cecil Willard, guard; Lindy Warren, forward; and Dean Bell, center.

Junior high baby Phantoms will engage the baby Pam Packs in the preliminary tilt. Moye and Andrews, guards; Bill Lee, center; and Sugg and Picklen, forwards, are probable starters.

French Laugh At The War.

Paris—(AP)—Reports that the Rhine overpowered its banks near the Siegfried line led French humorists to envisage the German fortifications completely inundated.

A story in a French humor newspaper said:

"It has been learned that a submarine operated by the Germans on the inundated Siegfried line struck a tank while rising to the surface. The submarine was sunk." Medal-bedecked Goering is pictured riding a bathing beach rubber swan on the water marked by signs:

"Siegfried Line."

Under the caption, "New Version of an English Song" are shown two English soldiers scrubbing their shirts by the side of a lake out of which rise tanks, guns and signs showing the location of the line. The cutlines read, "We'll wash our washing in the Siegfried Line."

COLLEGE TEAM EASY WINNERS

Scores 83 Points to 27 by Louisburg College Five

Coach Bo Farley pitted ten East Carolina Teachers College Birates against as many of Coach Joe Cameron's Louisburg College Trojans Saturday night, with the local entry smothering the visitors, 83-27.

Bill Shelton started the scoring spurge in the first minute of the opening half and the Pirates stayed ahead for the rest of the game. When intermission was over, Shelton got the first basket in the second half. The Pirates were out in front 36-13 at the half.

Every man on the Pirate team scored—each averaging over eight points—a high percentage of scores for any basketball team. However, Shelton and George Lautares, the latter of Greenville, stood out for the Teachers in scoring 16 points apiece.

Those Trojans apparently knew the scoring tactics of Lanky Ben Brock of Trenton, so they kept him well-guarded during the first half. He scored only five in that period. He cut loose in the final half, though, and racked up eight more points. This sent his scoring average to thirteen for the night.

Harry Haddock did some beautiful footwork Saturday night and looked better than any other man on the team on crisp shots. Jimmy Dempsey, who has seen little action this season, turned in a fine game, as did Tom Cox, another Greenville product.

Floyd Hinton has been doctoring an attack of the flu for the past three days, and this retarded him on playing to a certain extent Saturday.

Coach Cameron lacked experienced material and frequented the tilt with the ten men he brought to Greenville.

Lineups: forwards—Wheeler 4, Cooper 5, Roe 2, Williams 2, Butler 1; center—Cox 7; guards—Jelts Senter 4, Lancaster 2, Kearney. ECTO: forwards—Shelton 16, Watson 8, Riddick 8, Martin 8; center—Brock 13; guards—Lautares 16, Parrish 7, Hinton 1, Dempsey 4, Cox 2.

Officials: May and Dally.

Long Foe Charges Misuse Of Funds

New Orleans, Feb. 5. - (AP) - Sam H. Jones, anti-administration candidate for Governor of Louisiana, today asked a federal investigation of alleged misuse of Social Security funds by the State Department of Public Welfare.

His campaign headquarters made public a letter mailed to Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the Federal Security Administration in Washington, in which Jones asked McNutt to investigate reports that the State Department is instructing field workers and social security recipients to vote for Governor Earl K. Long in the February 20 primary.

The Department of Public Welfare administered the federally-provided social security funds. Jones' letter asked McNutt to investigate allegations that the Department is raising or lower payments "depending upon the political complexion of the recipient" and is cutting off anti-Long voters.

Murphy Takes Up Duties As Justice

Washington, Feb. 5. - (AP) - President Roosevelt's fifth appointee to the Supreme Court, Frank Murphy of Michigan, began service on the tribunal today after taking an oath to administer justice impartially.

Justices appointed by President Roosevelt thus constitute a majority of the nine-man tribunal.

The oath was given in open court by Charles Elmore Cropley, the clerk, after Murphy had marched into the chamber with his colleagues. Justice Black was absent because of illness.

A large number of Murphy's friends were present to witness the ceremony.

Independence For India Is Delayed

New Delhi, India, Feb. 5. - (AP) - Mohandas K. Gandhi and India's viceroy, Lord Linlithgow, failed today to reach an agreement on Indian demands for independence.

The Hindu leader left the conference hinting that he would leave Delhi tomorrow without waiting for the results of the viceroy's talk with the Moslem faction.

A communique indicated Britain had only offered an oft-repeated assurance to consider India's demands for independence "when the time came," this time presumably being after the European war.

Gandhi, the communique said, made it plain that the British proposal did not meet the demands of the nationalist party.

Firemen Extinguish Fires At Two Homes

Greenville firemen were called to the home of George Gorham, Negro, on Greene street near the river bridge, about noon today when the bathroom caught on fire while the owner was trying to thaw water pipes.

Firemen reported the damage as slight.

Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock firemen extinguished a blaze at the home of Bunyan Taft, Negro, on Cotanche street, near the river. The blaze was thought to have started from a defective flue. Damage was said not to have exceeded $10.

That makes campaign managers all cut and dried. The precinct meetings won't draw a handful of voters and will be rigged and run by a few of the faithful who will go to the meetings with a list of county delegates already in their pockets.

County conventions will in turn make similar selection of delegates to the state convention, which will turn out to be a fine rubber stamp for the Hoy administration, so far as state affairs go, and a docile agency to select the delegates Gardner wants to go to the Democratic national convention.

Thereafter there will be much conferring and shadow boxing, and in the last roundup at the national convention, North Carolina's delegates will no doubt be found voting for the winner and nominee. That's the plan at present.

So much for the national side of the picture, which seems pretty well cut and dried. There isn't a great deal of doubt about it except the identity of the man who will finally be backed at the national convention - and that depends of course on what FDR eventually decides about the third term.

On the state side, it isn't anything like as simple. Here there are seven announced candidates, six of whom are regarded as having a remote chance to get into a second primary, at least. With all due respects to Colonel Arthur Simmons, he might just as well be chucked out of consideration off hand - as he hasn't even the chance accorded the celluloid dog chasing the proverbial asbestos pussy cat through the infernal regions.

Which leaves the formally-entered sextet of Lieutenant Governor Wilkins P. Horton, Raleigh Lawyer J. M. Broughton, Commissioner of Revenue Allen J. Maxwell, Rocky Mount's former State Senator Lee Grady, Mayor and Commissioner of Public Safety Thomas E. Cooper of Wilmington, and perennial candidate from Johnston county Paul Grady of Kenly.

Murphy Takes Up Duties As Justice

Right on the edge of the pool and so close in as to see the ripples made by the tentative poking of his toes into the water is Willis Smith, another Raleigh lawyer and one-time Speaker of the House of Representatives.

In the wings, perhaps waiting for an entrance cue, perhaps just enjoying a bit of the spotlight, are Speaker Libby Ward and Representative W. E. Fenner, of Nash.

And right there is where the would-be analyst of the situation comes a cropper.

Smith was regarded as a certainty until late last week. Now he's pondering the matter. Will Libby Ward's vaulting ambition overcome his own best judgment and the opinion of most of his friends? Does Fenner honestly think he'll stand a chance as a gubernatorial candidate or is he just refusing to pass up a good chance to keep his name in the papers?

Those two questions and the Smith candidacy will have to be disposed of before any considered judgment can be passed on a race involving the other six.

Right now, your Raleigh reporter offers as almost pure hunch, and not as a definite prediction, the opinion that Smith will run, but that Ward and Fenner will not.

With that stab in the dark as a basis for further discussion, let's run very briefly over the rest of the field, hitting only the high spots and dealing only in the most glittering of generalities.

MORE - MORE - MORE - MORE
To begin with, the seven could be arranged from right to left into two groups of three, with Smith in the middle.

Thus it may fairly be said that Maxwell, Horton and Broughton are definitely "rightists," while Grady, Fenner and Cooper run more toward the left in political philosophy. Smith is hard to classify. He certainly isn't as obviously a dyed-in-the-wool stand pat as, say, Maxwell; while on the other hand it is just as difficult to paint him in lurid colors which might well depict Tom Cooper, or even Paul Grady.

And here are a few observations about each of the candidates, observations which it is unlikely that anyone will seriously challenge.

Maxwell: Is probably best known all over the state, because of his candidacy in 1932 and his more than twenty years service in the State government. He has an organization in every county, is the only candidate who has selected his state manager and seems to be off to a good start in solicitation of votes and support. In view of his long connection with the state government and his unflinching support of the Administration's tax policies before many legislatures he is the one man the Administration cannot fight.

Broughton: For many years a leader in lay Baptist affairs he has become widely known. He will get a lot of votes on this score not because he is a Baptist but because his worthwhile activities have made him real friends and admirers in that group. He will have the backing of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald (which may prove a liability rather than an asset in some western sections). There are numerous Administrationists actively at work for him though he cannot be called the Administration candidate - nobody can. He has been running for several years and seems prepared to wage a well-organized campaign.

Horton: The overwhelming favorite of present and recent members of the legislature, and everybody knows these fellows are powerful. Last fall when he was regarded as the Administration choice, it looked like he war far in the lead. Now that it definitely appears he isn't the Hoy heir he has an uphill fight, but his support is of the type which can really get voters to the polls. Among the rank and file of politicians (county leaders, etc.) Horton is a prime choice but it isn't certain these personal good wishes will be translated into votes in the absence of word from the machine to "go down the line."

Smith: Family connections at both ends of the state (Elizabeth City and Haywood) give him a good start, while his well-known ability as a lawyer and his connections with powerful business groups may add something to his strength. He probably has at least as much personal support as any candidate in the race; but so far, at least, the wise boys haven't been conceding him much more than an outside (and very outside) chance. He is the one "dark horse" with distinct possibilities for a tremendous upset. His whole career is marked by success where he was marked "doomed" when he started.

Grady: A dynamic personality whose long service in the state Senate has won him friends all over the state. A good business man in his own right, there is no objection to him from the business elements of North Carolina. So far, his candidacy does not seem to have struck real spark, though he cannot be counted out by any means.

Fenner: Polled more than 200,000 votes for lieutenant governor in 1936 and almost that many against Stanley Winborne in 1938. Any man who can do that cannot be dismissed with a wave of the hand. He is calling for a prohibition referendum and has a powerful weapon handy in the plea that he was "mistreated" in the Lieutenant Governor's race of 1936. Can be easily seen as a second primary prospect, but not as a likely winner in a runoff with any other man in the field. But that's too far off to talk about, anyway.

Cooper: Undoubtedly the real "X" of the gubernatorial equation. Colorful, a political opportunist of the first order, able to get favorable publicity where nobody else can. Wilmington's up-down-up Mayor may do anything from leading in the first primary to polling entirely negligible number of votes. He will campaign as the "broke" candidate, and probably with complete sincerity, as it is doubtful if Tom has been able to lay up a cent even during his remarkable comeback career since his election to the legislature in 1934. One of the people himself (his father died and left him to manage a farm when Tom was 13) he talks a language which stirs the great mass of voters as no other prospective candidate can. If Tom could divide himself into one hundred pieces and speak in every county on the eve of the primary, he'd probably win in a walk; but he can't do that and so his chances are altogether problematical. Some laugh at his entry, others fear him no end. Come the last Saturday in candidatorial assets as possible. If May and we'll know who is right, any candidate has been done an in-Your Raleigh reporter has tried justice, apologies - it was entirely to be as objective in listing the unintentional.
