Convention Settled on Chicago, Battle in Full Sway

MUCH SENTIMENT FOR THIRD TERM

Chief Executive, However, Says He Will Announce Decision At A Time of His Own Choosing

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The scrap for the Democratic presidential nomination was on in earnest today after the party's national committee picked Chicago for the nominating convention and authorized Chairman James A. Farley to pick the date.

Third term advocates hailed the choice as an initial victory for President Roosevelt, who favored Chicago over the forces of Vice President Garner who is believed to have preferred San Francisco or Houston.

The chief executive, described by party leaders as wanting to have an important part in picking the nominee if he does not run himself, told reporters at Hyde Park, N. Y., while the national committee was in session that he was getting tired of answering third term queries.

He added that when anything was to be said about the question he would say it himself at a time of his own choosing.

This did not stop third term talk in the capitol, however. Charles Sawyer, member of the Democratic National Committee from Ohio, told reporters that the President "by all odds is the most popular candidate in Ohio."

Other third term advocates contended that Chicago's selection as the convention city played right into their hands since they said that the "center of the draft Roosevelt" campaign was represented there by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and National Committeeman Pat Nash.

Jail Inmates Fed For Small Amount

The Pitt county jail had an average daily population of 26 and one-half inmates during the six months period ended December 31, last year, it was revealed yesterday by County Jailor W. G. Leggett.

The report was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Pitt county board of commissioners, a session in which little more than routine business was considered.

It also was revealed that the jail fees, assessed against defendants who pay their costs of court upon conviction, more than paid for the food used in the jail. The prisoners were fed at an average of eight and one-sixth cents per day per prisoner. A check of the menu showed that the prisoners were well fed, having been given meats, vegetables and other nourishing foods each day.

Of the $395.64 spent for food during the six months, $237.90 worth was purchased from merchants and $157.64 worth from the county home. Jail fees collected totalled $445.15, or $49.51 more than the cost of the food. The county, however, had to pay the remaining cost of operation, such as fuel, lights, salaries, etc.

During the six months, Mr. Leggett reported a total of 4,844 prison days.

Fire Loss In City $500 For January

Greenville had a fire loss of $523.50 during January, Chief George Gardner reported today after checking figures for the month. The firemen answered seven calls within the city limits and one from Parker's chapel church on the Pacetolus road north of the river for which no record of damage was made.

The largest single fire of the month was at the homes of Henrietta Taylor and Wiley Robertson, colored, on Greene street near the river, for which damage was placed at $298.43.

In January, 1939, Greenville had a loss of $395, caused by four fires.

NYA Appointment Made Raleigh, Feb. 6.—(AP)—John A. Lang, state NYA administrator, announced today the appointment of William B. Aycock of Selma as state supervisor of residence training centers. Aycock has been teaching in Greensboro.

He's Now Mr. Justice Frank Muruhy

Frank Murphy, who took his seat on the Supreme court as an associate justice and President Roosevelt's fifth appointee to the high court, is shown in Washington in his court robes just before taking his oath. Before ascending to the court position Murphy served as governor general of the Philippines, governor of Michigan and U. S. attorney general.

MOTT SETS UP TRUST TO WIFE

Children Also Named In $5,000,000 Transaction

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Charles Stewart Mott, vice president and largest single stock holder of General Motors Corporation, has given shares valued at more than $5,000,000 to a trust established for his wife and two children.

A Securities Commission report today disclosed the government regarded as one of the largest in recent years. The motor executive was shown by the report to be still the owner of stock valued at more than $25,000,000.

The gift consisted of 100,000 shares of General Motors common, which closed on the New York exchange yesterday at $52.50. The change yesterday in an irrevocable trust for Mrs. Ruth Rawlings Mott and their children, Susan E. and Stewart Rawlings Mott.

Treasury officials estimated that the minimum federal government tax on the transfer would be more than $1,500,000 and possibly much larger. The amount will depend on what other gifts Mott may have made since 1932.

More than a decade ago Mott started the Mott foundations ministering to underprivileged children and adults of Flint and has contributed liberally to its maintenance.

WILL RELEASE NINE OF CREW

Britain Agrees Free Nine Taken From Jap Vessel

Tokyo, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Great Britain has agreed to return nine of the 21 German seamen seized from the Japanese liner Asama Maru, Foreign Minister Arita announced today.

In connection with this compromise of an incident which Japan has taken as an affront, Arita said Japanese steamship lines had been instructed to refuse to accept as passengers belligerent nationals who are "enlisted in military services and those who may possibly be enlisted."

The foreign minister expressed belief that this would prevent another such incident, but told the Parliament "I cannot say that the case is entirely settled."

OPPOSITION TO ENTENTE PACT IS REGISTERED

Hungary and Bulgaria Still Want Parts of Rumania

FEARED TREATY WILL BLOCK AIM

Wonder If Phrase "Safeguarding National Territory" Will Uphold Present Boundaries

Budapest, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Hungary and Bulgaria today indicated vigorous opposition to the Balkan entente's newly proclaimed policy of "safeguarding national territory" by demanding explanations as to whether this phrase means upholding the present boundaries of south-eastern Europe.

The two nations, which have been campaigning for peaceful settlement on their claims on Rumania for territories they lost to her in the World War settlement, undertook to yearn from the foreign offices of the entente whether it had undertaken to resist all possibility of territorial concession.

The entente—Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey—concluded a three-day conference at Belgrade Sunday.

The Rumanian press declared the entente showed "the four states truly were in unity in case of war" and "this will have a good influence on Bulgaria and Hungary, perhaps persuading them to join the Balkan bloc. Pretensions are postponed until after the great powers' war."

The two are scheduled to be handed in Birmingham tomorrow for their part in a bombing in Coventry last August 25 in which five persons were killed.

BUSY SESSION IN PITT COURT

Various Charges are Aired at Tuesday Morning Term

Traffic law violations, domestic troubles and larceny charges were aired at this morning's session of Pitt county court.

Johnnie Calvin McLawhorn, white, pleaded guilty to charges of driving drunk and was fined $50. Taxed with costs, had his driving license revoked for 12 months and given a six-months suspended sentence.

James Henry Odum, white, pleaded guilty to charges of driving without a license and judgment was suspended upon payment of costs.

Lawrence Hines, colored, was ordered to pay the costs after tendering a plea of guilty to a charge of operating a taxi without a license.

James Taylor, white, pleaded guilty to driving drunk and was fined $50, taxed with costs, had his driving license revoked for two years and given a six months sentence, suspended upon payment of $107 damages to Mrs. Tommie Knox.

Leroy Jackson, colored, convicted of driving careless and reckless, was given a sentence of from eight months to two years and had his driving license revoked for two years. The judgment provided that if proper restitution had been made for damages to Lloyd Tucker's filling station and hospital bills of persons injured when the car he was driving wrecked, the sentence would be terminated after eight months.

Simon Barnes, colored, pleaded guilty to larceny and driving drunk and without a license was given four months on the roads.

James Bryant and Richard Bryant, colored, were given six months each after pleading guilty to transporting and receiving liquor. Their truck was ordered confiscated and sold.

Willie Thigpen, colored, was convicted of larceny and given an eight-months road sentence.

Joe Moore, colored, was convicted of abandonment of an illegitimate child and prayer for judgment was continued upon condition the defendant pay $3 into the welfare office Thursday, February 15, and $3 every other Thursday thereafter until further order, the money to be used for the support of the child.

A charge of abandonment and failure to support his child against John Frank Teel, colored, was not pressed.

Wave of Bombing Sweeps England as Plans Proceed To Execute IRA Members

Government of Ireland Seeks to Stay Scheduled Deaths of Two Members of Irish Republican Army Convicted of Taking Part in August 25 Bombing in Which Five Persons Were Killed

London, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A new wave of bombings attributed to the Irish Republican army swept England today as the government of Ireland sought to stay the scheduled execution of two IRA men in Birmingham tomorrow.

Explosions from balloon and acid type bombs used previously by the IRA in its campaign of terrorism shook London's crowded Euston railroad station, the Birmingham general post office and the post office in Manchester.

Four were hurt in Euston station, two in Birmingham, none in Manchester.

As feeling ran high in Ireland after the British government's refusal last night to grant reprieves to the condemned men, Ireland's high commissioner in London was instructed to see Prime Minister Chamberlain today to press an appeal for clemency for the pair.

The two are scheduled to be handed in Birmingham tomorrow for their part in a bombing in Coventry last August 25 in which five persons were killed.

FURTHER CUTS IN COMMITTEE

Funds for Three Federal Departments Are Slashed

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The House Appropriations committee cut $2,285,010 today from President Roosevelt's $109,664,010 request for expenses of the State, Commerce and Justice departments and the federal courts during the year beginning July 1.

"Every unit of the government must bear some proportion of the retrenchment," said the committee in submitting the revised figures.

The reduction brought to $196,300,000 the amount slashed from presidential estimates in a half dozen appropriations measures now before Congress.

The $407,379,000 bill for the three departments and the courts reported to the House for immediate consideration contained funds for such activities as counter espionage, anti-trust investigations and the 1940 census. The total was $3,442,859 beyond appropriations for the current year.

In one slash the committee refused to allow more than $175,000 for operating the reciprocal trade system on the ground that Congress had not yet authorized continuation of the program beyond June 2. President Roosevelt asked $225,000.

Making small cuts in almost every activity, the committee allowed two increases beyond what the President had asked. One was an additional $41,000 beyond Mr. Roosevelt's request for the enforcement of anti-trust laws, making the total provided $1,250,000.

W. W. Lee is Named On National Body

W. W. Lee, official of the Home Building and Loan Association here, has been advised by George West, president of the United States Building and Loan League, that he has been named on the league's Fidelity Bonds and Insurance committee.

The local man is one of eight throughout the country named on the committee. The committee was named for the year 1940.

The duty of the committee is to make a careful study of types of fidelity bonds of officers and employees of the different Building and Loan associations throughout the country to insure the best possible protection of funds of these associations.

It also is charged with the task of making a study of insurance rates, etc., to provide the best possible rates at all times.

Canopy Cheats Death In 10-Story Plunge

Richard Jaekel, New York and Hollywood furrier, was saved from death in New York by a car canopy which caught him in a 10-floor plunge from an apartment window from which he either fell or jumped. Jaekel is shown here being assisted from the canopy which cheated death.

All-Day Soviet Attack Pushed Back by Finland

Red Army Declared To Have Suffered Heavy Losses

Helsinki, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Red army attacks, heavily supported by artillery using more than 100 armored cars and continuing all day and lasting until midnight, were officially reported today to have been thrown back by the Finns.

The battle, which lasted from morning until midnight, occurred on the Isthmus of Karelia near Summa, the Finnish army said in its daily communique.

The Finns said they destroyed 22 armored cars and that one Finnish position was attacked five times by the Russians.

The army reported that Finnish troops northeast of Lake Ladoga are retreating "continuous attacks, driving the enemy off with "several hundreds killed."

Methodists From Eastern N. C. Meet

Raleigh, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Washington urged Methodists of Eastern North Carolina today to "preach the gospel practically as publicly" and revive faith in the church's evangelism.

More than 1,200 members of the church from all parts of Eastern North Carolina attended the "Methodists Advance" rally.

Bishop Hughes traced the faith of the Methodist church from its early beginning and concluded: "We are here today at this meeting because of evangelism, but we are having a case of evangelistic shivers in these times and many of our ministers are frightened. We are just plain scared, that is all."

"We need a baptism of courage in reference to evangelistic life. Public evangelism is hard, not easy. If the people do not come to us, go to them and don't be scared of public evangelism."

Whiskey Located; Unable Find Still

Pitt county ABC officers yesterday located 53 gallons of illicit liquor on the Pitt side of Tranters creek, but failed in their efforts to find a still they were searching for in the section.

The illicit liquor was found by the side of the creek. The officers found five 10-gallon kegs full and one five-gallon keg containing three gallons. All of it was destroyed, along with a filtering keg and a siphon tube.

Bar Meeting Tonight. The Pitt County Bar Association will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Proctor hotel at 6:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present for the dinner-meeting.

NAME OF DIES IS CLEARED BY TAR HEEL MAN

Pelley Voluntarily Appears Before Committee

REFUTES CHARGE OF 'COLLUSION'

Tells Reporters After Appearing Before Group He is Giving Dies 'Clean Bill of Health'

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirt Legion, dropped in on the Dies Committee today after months of silence to give its chairman, Rep. Dies (D-Tex.), "an absolutely clean bill of health" with regard to charges of "collusion" between Dies and himself.

The slender resident of Asheville, N. C., who had long been hunted by the committee, surrendered himself to Robert Stripling, clerk, for service of a subpoena and then went before a closed session of the group to tell what he knew about certain letters allegedly forged with his name which recently were brought forth as evidence of a connection between Dies and the Legion chief-tan.

A few minutes later Pelley talked with reporters. "I'm giving Martin Dies an absolutely clean bill of health," he declared. "I admire the work he's done."

He declined to discuss his brief testimony before the Dies committee directly, but members told news men he had declared the letters purporting to link Dies to Dies were forgery.

From the Dies committee room Pelley marched over to a hearing held by a Rules sub-committee on whether the letters should be ordered expunged from the House record. They were placed there by Rep. Hook (D-Mich) during an attack on Dies and the committee.

The witness said after he had been sworn in that "none of those letters were written by me or signed by me."

"I don't know anything about them," he added. The letters, addressed to David Mayne of Washington and bearing the signature "Pelley," purported to link Dies with the chief of the Silver Shirt.

Mayne appeared before the sub-committee shortly after Pelley left the stand. He was shown the letters.

"I manufactured these documents," he declared. "These are not signatures of Mr. Pelley. I traced each and everyone of them."

Pelley Wanted By Buncombe Sheriff

Asheville, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Buncombe County Sheriff Laurence E. Brown today telegraphed Washington, D. C., police, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Dies committee investigating un-Americanism, asking that William Dudley Pelley of Asheville be held for him.

Brown had a capias for Pelley issued in October of last year by Superior Court Judge Zeb V. Nettles.

The self-styled leader of the Silver Shirt Legion was convicted in 1935 of violation of the state's "blue sky" securities law and of a charge described by Nettles as "making fraudulent representations."

On the blue sky law charge Pelley was sentenced to one to two years, but the judgment was suspended upon payment of a fine and on condition that the defendant remain "continuously of good behavior."

'DOLLAR DAY' SET THURSDAY

Merchants Preparing For Big Semi-Annual Event

Thirty-eight Greenville stores and other business houses are taking part in the semi-annual Dollar day to be observed here Thursday of this week.

Always a big tracing event in this section, Greenville's Dollar Day this year is expected to provide more bargains and attract more patrons than any in recent years.

Merchants were busy today marking down the price of stock, arranging new stock and preparing in general for the big event.

The Merchants Association sponsors the semi-annual sales day and it is considered one of the most successful in Eastern Carolina.

As usual, shoppers are expected here from the city's large trading territory and stores are adding more clerks in order to provide the most efficient service possible.

TWO CONVICTS MAKE ESCAPE

Flee While Being Taken to Prison At Raleigh

Raleigh, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Four prisoners being brought to central prison today by two Forsyth officers attacked the officers near Nelson and three escaped.

Sheriff Ernie Shore and Deputy Walker Spas were understood to have been the officers.

George Cathey, the one that did not get away, was brought to central prison this afternoon and said the three who escaped were McKinnley Roach, Lige Patterson and Doc Clark.

Relating his story to Deputy Warden Ralph McLean, Cathey described events as follows: The four men "picked" their handcuffs with a piece of wire about 10 miles "below Chapel Hill on this side" Lige Patterson "grabbed the deputy sheriff sitting by the driver."

In Hospital.

Mr. R. C. Merritt is very ill in Pitt General Hospital.

Birth Announcement.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson a son, Robert Buchanan, Jr., on Monday, February 5, 1940, at Pitt General Hospital. Mrs. Ferguson was formerly Miss Elizabeth Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mart P. Moore.

Returns From Hospital. Friends of Miss Mary Rivers May will be glad to learn that she has returned to her home from Pitt General Hospital.

Bethel Boy Improving. R. D. Manning of Bethel, who was wounded by a shotgun while hunting near Parmele on January 27, is getting along nicely. The lad was shot above his knee and rushed to Pitt General Hospital, where it was feared his leg would have to be amputated, but so far he is improving.

To Play For Ayden Dance. For the third year, the Ayden Junior Woman's Club is sponsoring a girl-break dance Friday night at the high school gymnasium. Music will be furnished for the occasion by Spence Hatley and his orchestra.

Mr. Hatley, an E. C. T. C. sophomore, has made quite a name for himself since he became leader of the organization known as the Deans of Rhythm. Since his band opened at a fall dance at East Carolina Teachers College, Spence Hatley has been recognized as a leading exponent of swing in this section. Sharing the musical spotlight with the trumpet player, Hatley, is a charming little Connecticut lass, Miss Lois Hughes.

Miss Hughes, who swings sensationally with the vocal work the band leader hands her, is also a student at E. C. T. C. She is now being featured on weekly broadcasts from radio station DFTC with Lonnie "Red" McGlothin.

Alumni Meets. "Women in the News" was the subject of a most interesting talk given by Mrs. P. W. Picklesimer at the February meeting of the Greenville chapter of the E. C. T. C. Alumni. This meeting was held in the "Y" Hut Friday night, February 2. Mrs. Picklesimer confined her discussion to the three great women columnists, Dorothy Dix, Dorothy Thompson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

She showed in her discussion how each of these women in her own individual manner is reaching the eyes and ears of the public today. The influence of these three women is being felt more and more every day.

Miss Elizabeth Smith presided at the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Harry Forbes, and the vice-president, Mrs. Henry Harrell. After the reading of the minutes, Miss Smith welcomed the new members, Mesdames Patsy Glass, O. P. Matthews, R. W. Davenport, George Clapp, and DeRock Vincent. Guests for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Hildrup.

The meeting was adjourned after the hostesses, Mesdames Ed Hester, Dupree Griggs and Tyson Bilbro had served tempting refreshments. —Reported.

Christian Science Church. "Love" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies Sunday, February 4.

The golden text was from Romans 5:5. "The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen? And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also." (1 John 4:20-21).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The understanding, even in a degree, of the divine All-power destroys fear, and plants the feet in the true path—the path which leads to the noise-built without hands, eternal in the heavens. Human hate has no legitimate mandate and no kingdom. Love is enthroned. Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priestess at the altar of Truth. Wait patiently for divine love to move upon the waters of mortal mind, and form the perfect concept."

Don't forget Thursday of this week is Dollar Day in Greenville. Practically all business houses in Green-make this the greatest of the semi-annual sales events ever held in this city. Read the advertisements of the participating merchants and

THE NOT-SO-HARMLESS MATCH

Take a match from your pocket and examine it. It looks harmless, and it is, when properly employed.
But identical counterparts of that match you are holding in your hand have caused the destruction of billions of dollars worth of property, and tens of thousands of human lives. They have deprived men of jobs and families of income. They have ruined whole communities.
So it is with all fire hazards—gasoline, heating plants, mechanical devices of one kind or another, and so on. Not one of them, handled with knowledge and respect, is dangerous. But all of them, mishandled, can bring disaster and death.

It's easy enough to say,
"I'm careful—fires are started by the careless other fellow." But there's always a first time. And a woefully small percentage of us give fire, fire prevention and fire control the attention and thought they so richly deserve. Comparatively few of us periodically study the causes of fire and how they may be obviated.

There's no better time for doing that than right now.
Your fire chief or insurance agent will be glad to help.
Remember that fire prevention always begins at home, in your house and your office. Remember that the really unpreventable fire is so rare as to be almost non-existent. Above all, remember that the human element is responsible for most fires

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover
Washington—Republican and Democratic headquarters get out party dope sheets but most fun to read is the "Berlin Bulletin" distributed to newspapers in Washington by the German Embassy.
It comes out every day, with an occasional exception, but like many another work of genius, it is born to bluish unsex. We have never seen a line of it quoted in a local paper.
The Bulletin correctly foretold the reaction of the European neutrals to Churchill's speech suggesting the part the neutrals might have in the war. Holland bucked up and said she would defend her neutrality against aggression from any source, which caused the Bulletin many satisfied chuckles.
"The unanimous reaction of the demand of Mr. Churchill that the neutrals join the British war appears to have made the British government a little more cautious," it said.
The Bulletin tries to be moderately objective in some of its reviews, but mostly it is out and out sarcastic about the British. We have read a fair number of issues and haven't seen France mentioned.

Sometimes the Bulletin steps in to interpret American sentiment.

"The official Japanese protest in connection with the stopping of the Japanese steamer 'Asama Maru' by a British warship and the seizure of 21 German passengers is rated in the American public as the sharpest declaration ever issued by any neutral power since the outbreak of the war," says the Bulletin.

But not all is ribbing the British.
The Bulletin tells of the invention of a paper silo. Unlike American silos, which stand up like saved-off concrete chimneys, the German silo is a "lying-down" affair made of paper. The farmer digs a pit, covers the bottom with a new "bituminous crepe paper," both air-proof and water-proof. In goes the green fodder or grass to be stored.
Then a layer of paper is put on top, like a pie-crust. On top of that is a layer of sand or earth.
"All green fodder which is preserved in this fashion keeps its fragrant smell, its fresh green color, and, as tests have proven, the cattle like it. It is so cheap that the small-scale farmer who up to this time could not afford a silo now can make himself one. This new process has also proved itself successful in the storing of potatoes."

The German government got the idea for the Bulletin from the U. S.
State Department. Each day the department sends out to its embassies a digest of important news.
Naval radio distributes it, practically without cost.

The Bulletin comes directly to the German embassy in Morse code, in English, from Germany. The Germans expanded on the U. S. idea by distributing the bulletin to local papers.

When we heard about the Morse operator we couldn't help but feel sorry for him when this item came along the wire.

"The Viennese fashion industry has under the name of 'Gemeinschaft Wiener Modewarerezeuger' entered into a production and selling union... (whose) important task is the encouragement and development of exports." Paris, according to the Bulletin, is slipping as a fashion center.

Stage Manager

Harvey Deal, son of Professor and Mrs. R. C. Deal, who is an outstanding boy comedian on the campus at East Carolina Teachers College, is stage manager for "Stage Door," senior play to be presented in the Austin building of the college February 17 and 19. Harvey, senior and editor of The Tecocoan, college annual, is a member of the Ki Pi Players, dramatics organization formed at the college four years ago. He has played in such outstanding college productions as "Sunshine," "Arrival of Kitty" and "Tweedies."

RED OAK NEWS

The Red Oak Home Demonstration Club will hold its February meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the recreational center, with Mesdames Billy May, Hazard May and Miss Ella V. May as hostesses. All club women are especially urged to be present as each club woman will be put in a certain group and under a certain leader. The leaders are Mrs. Raymond Tyson, Mrs. Fenner Allen, Mrs. Lennie Edwards, Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, Mrs. Billy May, Mrs. Patrick Vainright, Mrs. Jarvis Tripp, Mrs. Sam Pollard and Mrs. B. L. Tyson. These leaders are urged to be present so that they may choose their helpers. Some interesting plans will be discussed. Friends of Mr. Jarvis Tripp will be sorry to learn that he is in Pitt General Hospital. Mr. Leroy Campbell is confined in the Pitt General Hospital with pneumonia. His condition is critical. Mr. N. W. Tyson still remains very ill at his home. Little Geraldine Buck was confined to her home all last week with tonsillitis. Mesdames Leon Tyson, Lennie Edwards, J. J. Jenkins, Sam Pollard, Miss Bebe Jenkins and little Alice Leota Edwards went to Kinston Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ellis. Mr. Ellis is Alice Leota's great-great-uncle. There are five generations living in this family. More than one-third of Montana's farming land is irrigated.

CAFFEY AHEAD, OR SO HE SAYS

Candidate Claims To Be Far Out in Front In Sixth

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, Feb. 6.—John W. Caffey claims he is so far ahead in the Sixth District Congressional race that it's just about all over but certifying his name to go on the general election ballots. "I'm so near breaking the tape at the finish line that it's too late for any of the others to catch up," said the Greensboro man who was chairman of the North Carolina House appropriations committee in the 1939 General Assembly. Chief basis of the Caffey claims seemed to lie in the contention that Guilford county's big vote will be practically unitedly lined up for him this time. In previous races there have always been numerous candidates from Guilford, with a resultant split which enabled some other county to come away with the grand prize. In 1938 Judge Lewis Teague of High Point did win out in the face of an entry list of nearly half a dozen from Guilford, but he died before the general election and in the succeeding District committee meeting Orange county won the prize when Oscar Coffin maneuvered Carl Durham Chapel Hill druggist into Congress after a long deadlock. Caffey claims that extremely high pressure has been applied in every direction to induce some important Guilford man into the race. He seems highly elated that none has so far yielded to the blandishments. He sees the labor vote of the district as largely for him—"Durham won't get it because of his bad record on the wage-hour bill and other labor legislation in Congress; Barker (Oscar W. Barker of Durham who ran second in the 1938 race) won't get it because he lobbied so hard against labor during the 1939 General Assembly," said Caffey.

Data Is Available To State Farmers

Raleigh, Feb. 6.—Five new information circulars issued by the Agronomy Department of State College tell the story of fertilizer, peanut, and hybrid corn experiments in North Carolina. Prof. C. B. Williams, head of the department, offers to send the circulars free to interested citizens of the state who make requests direct to the Agronomy Department at State College. One of these publications is Agronomy Information Circular No. 121, "Some Practical Findings from Fertilizer Experiments in North Carolina with Different Crops." It reports on a variety of investigations of fertilizers for cotton, corn, peanuts, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, wheat, red clover, soybeans, and other legumes. Circular No. 122, prepared by Dr. E. R. Collins and Harold D. Morris, outlines "Approved Methods of Applying Fertilizers to Crops Grown

College Speaker

In the Coastal Plain Section." No. 120 is a progress report on field experiments with "Use of T. V. A. Phosphates on Pastures." These tests, being made in Haywood county by W. W. Woodhouse, Jr. of the Experiment Station, were started in 1938. Dr. Collins and Mr. Morris also have published a report on peanut work in Circular No. 123, entitled "Soil Fertility Investigations with Peanuts." They give specific recommendations for peanut production in the Coastal Plain area. The fifth circular, No. 124, reports on "The Performance of Corn Hybrids in North Carolina." It was prepared by Dr. Paul H. Harvey and Dr. Gordon K. Middleton of the Department, and it offers hope that adapted hybrids for use in North Carolina will be available in a few years.

French Party For More Finnish Aid
Paris, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Premier Daladier's new radical socialist party today adopted a resolution calling upon the French government to take all necessary measures to permit Finland to continue to fight and win "her war against Russia."
The Radical Socialist parliamentary group linked the outcome of the war in Finland with that in Western Europe.
The resolution said the party considers "the definite defeat of the Soviet aggression against Finland will hurt our enemies in their military power as well as in prestige."
England forbade the use of steel in bridges as late as 1877.

EXISTENCE OF BLOC DOUBTED

Raises Question Is There a McDonald Organization

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Feb. 6.—Recent bandying of statements and counter-statements of and concerning the attitude of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald with regard to the current mad scramble for governor of North Carolina has raised the very serious question of whether or not there is, in fact, such a thing in North Carolina as "the McDonald organization."
Evidently the man who pressed Clyde Hoyt so closely in 1936 thinks there is, because he said in a recent statement that Paul Grady of Kenly is "not the candidate of the McDonald organization."
A lot of politicians, however, have thought they had closely knit organizations which would function at their back and call only to wake up one fine morning and find that, like the grey geese of Mother Goose fame "some flew east, some flew west and some flew over the cuckoo's nest."
There are some indications that a similar dispersion has overtaken the "McDonald organization" despite its leader's insistence that he and his chieftains are of one accord in support of J. M. Broughton, Raleigh attorney.
So far the really powerful McDonald lieutenants have done an excellent job of keeping their mouths shut. Timous Valentine of Nash, Willie Lee Lumpkin of Franklin, even the usually loose-tongued Dick Fountain of Rocky Mount—to name three—haven't yet said flatly where they stand on the governorship race.
There are numerous rumors about them, but nothing yet to which any great importance can be attached. If there is really a "McDonald organization," Broughton will be aided not little—that's certain; but if the "organization" consists of the good Doctor himself, the McDonald support may turn out to be a millstone around the Broughton neck.

Collection Of Shoes From China Is Shown
A collection of real Chinese shoes are on display in Blount-Harvey's shoe store window and already hundreds of persons have stopped by to inspect the odd-looking shoes.
The collection includes all types, from baby shoes to those worn by the coolies. Some of them had been in use in China before being brought here. They are in all shapes, one pair resembling an Indian canoe, while others are of the plainest variety.
B. H. Stancill is in charge of the department store's shoe department.

Illinois Republican Succumbs Of Attack
Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Funeral services will be conducted Thursday for Charles S. Deneen, former United States senator and a dominant figure in Illinois Republican politics for 20 years.
Deneen collapsed and died of a heart ailment at his home yesterday a few hours after visiting a physician. He was 76.

When Is A Drunk Not A Drunk?
Covington, Ky. — (AP) — Newly-elected Police Judge Eugene Benzinger has declared persons adjudged guilty of drunken driving will be dealt with "severely," but at the same time, he warned police officials evidence against such persons must be conclusive.
He directed police to take suspected drunks to a physician for examination and present the physician's certificate in court.

Welfare Official Heard By League

Mrs. Claude J. Madry of the Pitt County Welfare Department told the Service League Monday that welfare work is not relief work. She also said that welfare work is not limited to the indigent, but that its purpose is to promote social adjustment in all walks of life. It is "the art of helping people out of trouble."
Mrs. Annie B. Faircloth of the State Commission for the Blind expects to arrive February 10 for several days' work in the county. While she is here, her transportation will be provided by members of the Service League.
The Thrift Shop needs shoes and warm sweaters for school children. Any donations of this kind will be gratefully received.
In a statement for the Hospital Bed committee Mrs. R. M. Garret, chairman, reports that the Laughinghouse Hospital Bed is one year old, the first patient having taken it February 6, 1939. During that time 26 patients, both white and colored, have occupied the bed space and one hundred ninety-eight days of hospitalization have been provided.
Two layettes have been given needy mothers during January. At its meeting Monday, Service League members expressed their interest in the new colored library, and because they believe it will be an important factor for community betterment, voted to give the new library a book shower and ten dollars to be used for purchasing books or equipment.

LINOLEUM REMNANTS GREATLY REDUCED!

BLOOD RUNS COLD

By Ann Demarest

YESTERDAY: Christine is surprised to learn that Lathrop, the man the police are trying to find, is married. Kincaid is interviewed and says that he loved Joan and that Richard MacDonald threatened to kill him.

Chapter 19 'I Loved Her'

I LOOKED around. The room made a queer confused picture; Richard, so pale and thin and tall, standing beside his uncle at the desk, and Mr. Kimball himself, very white, his bewildered blue eyes on the slumped figure of Harry Kincaid. Ishi, who had come in from a room in the back of the house, was leaning against the door casing. There was something disturbing in his gaze and the faint smile that curved the corners of his mouth.

Before them stood the Sergeant, silent and motionless. His eyes were on the floor. He seemed to be reflecting.

"You'll have to prove it," he said finally in a tired voice. "You're the only person so far who has refused to account for his actions."

The Sergeant, I thought, was stretching a point, but undoubtedly he had his own system.

Harry Kincaid raised his head. "I was here last night," he said, and the color crept back into his pale face. "I'll admit that, but I didn't murder Joan. I didn't even see her."

The Sergeant pulled his chair to the window and sat down. "What were you doing here, then?"

"I'd been to a show with a fellow and on my way home I stopped off here and thought I'd try to see Joan for a minute." He looked at the Sergeant almost apologetically. "She worked until ten, so she usually stayed pretty late, and she came upstairs and then I thought I heard someone coming in the street door. I thought it was him."

He indicated Richard with an ugly look in his eyes. "There was no use getting in a fight, I thought, so I ducked into my old apartment. Didn't know it had been rented. Then she let out a screech. He glanced at me."

"Well," the man went on, "I had to go out in the hall again, but there was no one around. I knocked at Joan's door. She didn't answer. I stooped down and looked under the crack. There wasn't any light and the window was open. I could feel the draft coming from under the door. I thought she was in bed. I left then. I thought, I had nothing to do with her murder."

The Sergeant's gaze swept the room, then he turned back to Kincaid. "Did you see anyone while you were in the house?"

"I didn't see who it was that came upstairs."

"When you left?"

He nodded. "I thought I passed the Rogers girl, but I couldn't swear to it. Anyway, it was a woman. She was coming in the house."

"Was there a light in the second-floor hall while you were there?"

"No, only on the third floor." He scratched his head. "I don't see how anyone could have seen me when I went into her room." He looked at me again.

The Sergeant rubbed his chin thoughtfully. "Mrs. Evans must be psychic," he said.

Dirck raised his eyebrows and looked at me with such an amused expression that I couldn't help smiling. Had Mrs. Evans' husband told her, I wondered, or could she see in the dark?

"Devoted To My Work"

"AND you saw no one else?"

"When I passed the shop I saw Mr. Kimball looking over some books in the front window." He pointed to the shelves.

The Sergeant swung around to Mr. Kimball. "Do you usually decorate your windows after midnight?"

The older man's face lighted. "I stay in the shop almost every night until twelve or after. I am devoted to my work."

"I see," the Sergeant said shortly. "But I thought he didn't understand. Mr. Kimball's scholarly regard for his books and his possessions would never penetrate the Sergeant's consciousness."

He turned back to Harry Kincaid. "Did you drop the cigarette lighter when you ran into Miss Howarth's apartment?"

Kincaid flushed and admitted that he must have dropped it somewhere in the house because when he got home he couldn't find it.

"Did you come back and take it from her room today?" The Sergeant went on tirelessly.

"No."

"Did you call Joan Kent this morning?"

The man stared at him without speaking.

"Answer me!"

He nodded dully.

The Sergeant's eyes narrowed. "And why didn't you tell Miss Howarth who was calling?"

A defiant look crept over Harry Kincaid's face. I imagined by this time he was getting pretty tired of hearing my name.

shock." Then he added simply, "I loved her, you see."

For a moment I admired the man. He wasn't a particularly pleasant person, but he was entirely sincere in his affection for the girl. He went on in a hopeless voice:

"There wasn't anything I could do this morning, so I didn't come around. I knew I wouldn't be welcome here."

Even Richard, who had been regarding him with a hostile eye, was moved by this admission and Mr. Kimball raised his white head and eyed him pityingly.

"Where did you call from?" the Sergeant asked.

From a drug store in Times Square, Harry Kincaid told him. So the Sergeant slapped his notebook down on the desk and told him he could go if he would first leave his office address. Harry Kincaid got up, took a card from his wallet and handed it to the Sergeant.

"That will be all." The Sergeant seated himself in Mr. Kimball's chair at the desk.

Without a word or a backward glance the man walked quietly past us and out of the shop.

Dirck turned to look after him, then quickly bent his head close to mine. "We're going out," he said in a low voice. "When I speak to the Sergeant, put on your hat and coat. And fast, too."

Shadowy Forms

I LOOKED at him incredulously, but before I could protest he got up and walked to the desk.

"We're going out for a few minutes," Sergeant, for some cigarettes."

The Sergeant didn't even raise his eyes from his notebook. "Go ahead," he said.

Dirck came back to me. "You'd better put on your gloves," he said casually as I slipped into my coat. "It's pretty cold."

I walked out of the shop with him, feeling very self-conscious. It seemed to me that Mr. Kimball and Richard were watching us curiously. What in the world did Dirck want to go out for? I knew it wasn't cigarettes, because there was a carton and a half in my room and his pockets were full.

The street was dark except for the faint glow of light from the corner. It was windy, too, and much colder. Mr. Norton had disappeared and there was no one watching the house. Dirck put his hand on my arm and, keeping close to the buildings, we hurried to the corner. He was bending forward and seemed to be looking for something down the street. And there, on the corner under the street light I saw the shadowy forms of two people. A man and a woman.

It was Harry Kincaid, and the girl was Adrienne Wells.

They both looked up, startled, as Dirck spoke to them briefly and we walked into the Knife and Fork.

"Now then," he said quietly. "Get a carton of cigarettes while I make a call."

While I spoke to the man behind the counter Dirck hurried to the telephone, dialled rapidly and waited, tapping his foot with impatience. When he finally spoke his voice was so low I couldn't distinguish the words. His face was grave as he came back and paid the man for the cigarettes. Then he glanced out of the window. "We'd better wait a moment," he said.

I rested against the counter while he went outside and looked around. Finally he signalled me.

"I thought the Sergeant would be interested, so I called him," he said as I came out of the door. "When Kincaid left the shop Adrienne Wells was going up the steps to the front door. I saw her take him by the arm and I was certain he'd find them somewhere down the street."

He took my arm and we walked slowly back to the shop. "Chris, I don't want you to be frightened," he said, "but there is something wrong about this house. I don't know what it is. But be careful will you? I hate having you alone in that apartment. Joan Kent was murdered, and—" He hesitated.

I stood still and stared at him. "What do you mean?" I gasped. "No one will bother me. There is no reason for it."

"I don't know. I'm sure I hope not," he murmured.

I clutched his arm. "Why, Dirck, what makes you say this?"

"Listen, darling," he said. "You were too close to this to be healthy last night you were out in the hall and at the same time there was someone on the stairway." He hesitated and then added emphatically. "If that person was the murderer, he may think you saw him."

"Oh!" I shivered.

He drew me along beside him. "We'll go into the shop now," he said. "I'll try to fix things up later." Then he added sharply, "I don't want you to be alone tonight."

When we walked into the shop Adrienne Wells and Mr. Kincaid were standing beside the desk and the Sergeant was leaning back in the chair looking up at them intently. Richard and his uncle were sitting close by and Ishi was nowhere in sight. Dirck took my coat and we sat down on a low bench along the wall close to the open fire.

Mental Hazard in Hazard, Ky.

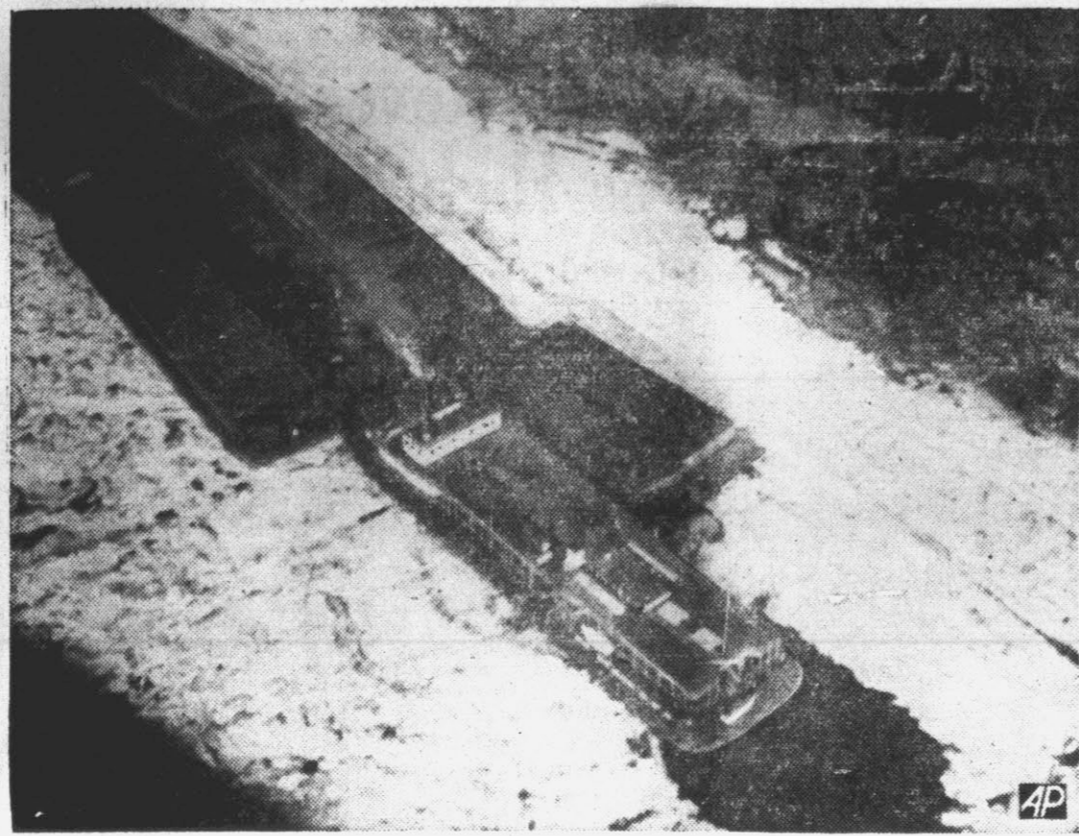

Hazard, Ky.—(AP)—Two patrolmen cautiously approached Joe Eversole's smokehouse with drawn guns, kicked open the door and ordered the man inside to emerge.

Out stepped Eversole. The officers apologized.

A neighbor explained she thought Eversole and his wife had gone to a theater and notified police when she saw someone in the smokehouse. Eversole said he remained home to cut up a newly-butchered hog.

COURT RULING FAR REACHING

Dry Cleaning Commission "Taken to The Cleaners"

Reflector Bureau.

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—The twenty-five page gem of law and literature in which Judge A. A. F. Seawell declared, for North Carolina's Supreme court, that the Dry Cleaning Commission act is unconstitutional means much more than the simple fact that the cleaners were "taken to the cleaners." To use a phrase from the vernacular.

It indicates that the high tide of "legalized" grids in North Carolina has begun to ebb. It means that there will be a letup in the biennial pressure applied to every legislature to enact a regulatory statute for every trade and calling under the sun.

It means that in the future there will be fewer efforts to close the various trades to outsiders through the device of legally sanctioned commissions which have the power to exclude those who do not meet their whims and specifications.

Of the Dry Cleaners law Judge Seawell said: "Law which destroys the opportunity of a man or woman to earn a living in one of the ordinary, harmless occupations of life by erection of educational and moral standards is legal grotesquery."

On the lighter side, it means that Virgil Wilson, 1939 Representative for Forsyth, has the last loud laugh on Representative John W. Caffey of Greensboro. Caffey was counsel for the Dry Cleaning commission and, as such, received several thousand dollars a year from it. Wilson found the commission through every committee and on the floor of the House.

It also means that the dramatic stand of State Senator Chester Coghurn of Haywood that every one of

Phantoms Tangle With Washington Five Here Tonight

BITTER FIGHT IS IN PROSPECT

Baby Phantoms Meet Young Pam Pack in Preliminary

Local basketball fans will have the opportunity of seeing what is expected to be one of the most exciting games ever played here, when the Greenville High school Phantoms meet the Young Pam Pack in a preliminary tilt at 7 p. m.

Greenville's Daily coached quint took the first contest from the Washingtonians by a 32-22 score after a hard fought game.

Having lost to the Kingston Red Devils Friday night the Phantoms will be out to start a new winning streak. The Washington Pack, hard pressed for a win will make it plenty tough for the Greens.

The following Dailymen will take the floor for Greenville:

Larry James, center, Charles Williams and Marvin Stocks, guards, Burney Warren and George Sakas, dependable good shooters, at forwards.

Starting for Washington will be Bill Warren, Wollard, Cooper and Gerrod, who gave the Phantoms a hard fight in their first game this season.

Before the grown Phantoms take the floor, the Baby Greens will seek revenge from the Baby Pam Pack for a 17-15 loss handed them earlier in the season.

The starting line up for the Fulcrum five will be: Moye, Merritt, Ficklen, Lee and Andrews.

Colored Teams Of Farmville "Shine"

The Farmville Negro High school is making quite a record on the basketball court this season having won three double-headers recently.

Farmville won over Greenville girls 29-13 and over the boys 21-16 on January 29. On January 30 the Farmville girls defeated Trenton 29-13 and on the same night the Farmville boys won 33-31. The latest double victory for the Pitt county team came on last Friday night when the girls won over Selma 28-6 and the boys triumphed 21-16.

The leaders for the girls in the three games were Beatrice Whitfield 32; Ellen Vines 26; Jaunita Fulton 21 and Minnie Bess Fields 6. The guards were Mary Gray, Alice Vines, Jessie Johnson, Willie Mae Moye, Minnie L. Bradley and Carrie Lee Wilkes.

The leaders for the boys were Cecil Moye, 29, James Mack 12, J. B. Gorham 2, Glascoe Barrett 10, Henry Graham 15, Mel Vines 2, Elton Fulton 5, guards with no scores—Roy Suggs, David Thielen, Curtis Farmer. Other girls on the team are Leanna McLamborn, Bessie L. Hope, Evelyn Vines, Ernestine Bullock and Willie Ruth Hardy.

HIGH LASSIES OFF FOR GAME

Lady Phantoms To Play Washington Team There

With no defeats and three wins rolled away Mary Shaw Robertson's highly touted lassies will travel to meet the Lady Pam Pack in Washington. The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 sharp.

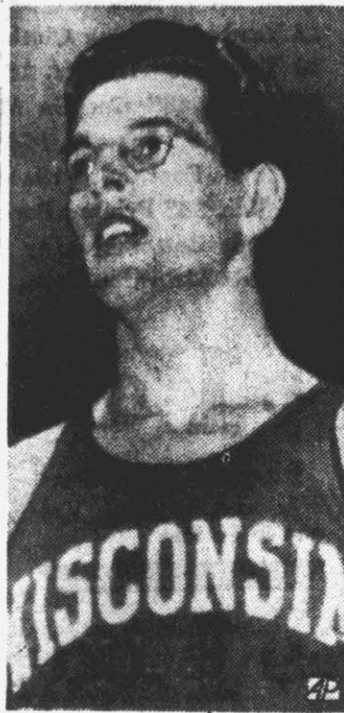

The local sextet took Washington ladies in hand last Friday night to the tune of 19-10. This was the third win of the season for the Greens.

Other teams turned under by the Mary Shaw Robertson tutored team are Wilson and Roanoke Rapids. In last Friday's game Betty Tyson, veteran left-handed forward, led the locals with 9 points closely followed by Joy Flanagan, also a veteran forward, with 7 tallies.

Leading Washington's scoring was Spencer with 7 points who proved to be a troublesome affair for the locals.

Joy Flanagan, Betty Tyson and Peggy West will probably be the starters in tonight's out of town tilt as forwards.

Jane Harrison, Gay Dupree and Virginia Simpson will probably lead the Greensie guards.

Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin is shown in New York shortly after he won the Wanamaker mile in 4:07.4, the second wastest mile ever run indoors. He ran in Madison Square Garden.

TO REPRESENT ETC AT MEET

Representatives Will Go to Duke-UNC Cage Classic

East Carolina Teachers College will be well represented at the Duke-Carolina basketball classic to be played in Chapel Hill Saturday night, since 60 members of the Women's Athletic Association will motor to Chapel Hill Saturday for the game.

Miss Helen McElwain, head of women's activities in the Physical Education Department of the college, will accompany the group to the game.

The girls will spend Saturday night in Durham and will attend the Sunday services in the Duke University Chapel the following morning. This will be the first time that such a large delegation from E. C. T. C. will have witnessed a "Big Five" tangle.

After the girls have done some anticipated sight-seeing, they will return to Greenville.

From Tomahawks To Can-Openers.

Gallup, N. M.—(AP)—A sign of civilization's encroachment upon the vast Navajo Indian reservation of New Mexico and Arizona is the growing pile of tin cans near John Navajo's hogans. Indian traders report the Navajo squaws are as expert with a can-opener as many bride-playing white women.

Aside from meat and corn, the Navajo grows very little that can be used in his diet. He raises some goats but even much of his milk comes from cans.

A typical Navajo meal for a family in moderate means consists of coffee, mutton stew with canned tomatoes, and wheat flour bread baked as a sort of "hoe-cake."

Canned fruit is popular but at the head of the list of good things to eat the Navajo places watermelon and soda-pop.

College Reveals Dates For High School Meet

Basketball Tournament Set for February 19-21

Coach O. A. Hankner, head of the Physical Education Department of East Carolina Teachers College, today announced that the college would hold its annual high school basketball tournament for boys on February 19, 20 and 21 instead of February 27, 28, 29, and March 1 as previously announced. The change was made because of conflicting tournament dates that have arisen.

Simultaneously, he announced that no girls' tournament would be held this year since many principals and coaches to whom invitations were sent were of the opinion that a girls' tournament should not be undertaken this year. Then, too, it was explained that the State Department of Physical Education has for some time looked upon a tournament for girls with considerable disfavor, indicating that the physical and emotional strains of a tournament are too great for the average high school girl.

February 15 has been set as the deadline for a school entering the tournament. After the deadline is reached Coach Hankner will begin the task of seeding the teams entered in the tournament.

Forty-two schools have been sent invitations. They are: Arapahoe, Arthur, Aurora, Bath, Beargrass, Belhaven, Bevoir, Bethel, Beulahville, Bridgeton, Chicod, Creswell, Dunn, Fairfield, Farm Life School of Vanceboro, Green Hope, Grimesland, Jamesville, Lucama, Mangum, Mars Hill, Maury, Mass Hill, Plymouth, Speed, Stokes, Walstonburg, Washington, Farmville, Ayden, Wilmamston, Leland, Harrelville, Spring Hope, Winterville, Greenville, Fort Barwell, Lafayette, Hobbard, Grifton, Swan Quarter and Trenton.

Tree Plan Bears Fruit
Wichita, Kans.—(AP)—Remember the shelterbelt plan? The trees were to help break the wind and thus reduce wind erosion.

In Sedgewick county a shelterbelt was planted two years ago with several hundred seedlings.

Now there is a forest there, more than 40 miles long and 100 feet wide. Pecans were harvested last year from some trees planted in 1938.

Farmers liked the plan so well they have contracted to plant an additional 50 miles of trees in 1940, says M. E. Crawford of the forest service.

SOME SCARED, ALL ARE QUIET

At Any Rate "Leaders" Withholding Their Support

By HENRY AVERILL
 Raleigh, Feb. 6.—Some are scared—the others just "dassent" declare themselves for anybody.

That's truly descriptive of the so-called "leaders" with reference to the current gubernatorial race. To prove the point your Raleigh reporter gives you a true story—but a story which will have to be without names. Names, of course, would add much, but the whole thing was told "off the record" by one who was present and it came to your correspondent under promises of complete anonymity.

Half a dozen were gathered together in a room at the Sir Walter (where, incidentally, more important political decisions are made than in all the rest of North Carolina put together).

There were: a stand-out politician from the far east and whose name is known from M to M; the ace lobbyist of one of the State's most powerful power companies; an industrialist high in the inner Winston-Salem circles; a lawyer lobbyist and political boss (just one person despite the three descriptions) from the home county of one of the gubernatorial candidates; and educator of wide renown; the head of one of the state's largest non-political (so it says) organizations.

They had, in the language of today, "let down their hair." They were just bulging after having imbibed (not too freely, of course, but still they had imbibed). It was a moment when engaging frankness might have been expected. They began talking about the governor's race.

What happened? All but the lawyer, lobbyist and politician who has a candidate right in his back yard, so to speak, swore they haven't yet picked a candidate. All but the aforesaid 1, 1 and p, declared:

"I'm not going to make a choice until the second primary."

So what?—Your Raleigh reporter doesn't pretend to know, but it's something novel, at least.

In Forgery Furor

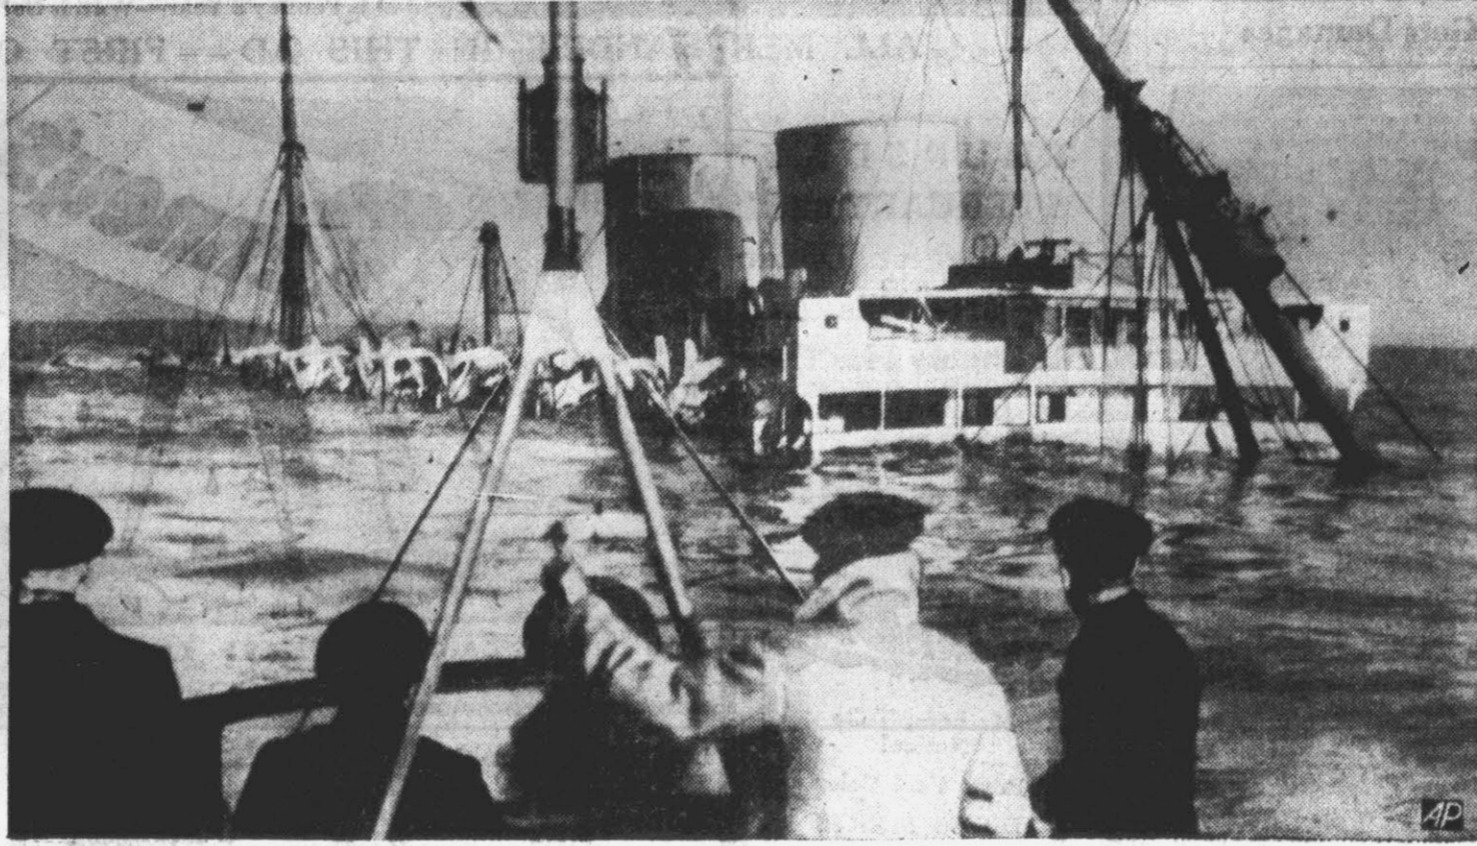

David Mayne (above) of Washington became a central figure in the furor over an alleged attempt to halt the Dies committee inquiry into un-American activities after the committee announced it had received corroboration of much of Mayne's testimony that he forged documents intended to discredit the committee's chairman, Rep. Martin Dies, Democrat of Texas.

Almost No Defense

Writing in the Coast Artillery Journal, Maj. Thomas R. Phillips (above), army officer stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., asserted the United States could be bombed by enemy planes with "almost no defense against air raids." He claimed the army is "resisting" reinforcement of air raid defenses and had failed to develop effective weapons.

Mine Explosion Sinks British Liner Off England

Viewed from an approaching ship, here's part of the super-structure of the 10,002-ton British liner Dunbar Castle protruding above the water off the southeast coast of England after the ship was torn in two by a mine explosion January 9. All of the 48 passengers aboard her and all but three of the crew of 150 escaped in lifeboats.

The End of a British Fighting Ship in War Zone

The camouflaged bow of the British destroyer Grenville is shown in this exclusive picture as the vessel sank beneath the waves after she was hit by a mine or torpedo at an undisclosed position while on war duty. Note the seaman jumping from the sinking ship. In the distance is another British destroyer. The Admiralty announced the Grenville carried 81 men to death. The picture came from London by cable.

About NEW YORK

New York—The Irish are a great people and I know God loves them, but after this I am going to eschew any further revivals or new plays by Sean O'Casey, or Liam O'Flaherty, or any of their distinguished colleagues for the purely personal reason that they leave me with the willies.

Ever since I can remember the Irish song writers have been insisting that Ireland must be Heaven, and the Irish dramatists have been doing their best to make liars out of them. At least the O'Caseys and the O'Flahertys have. There is nothing angelic about the people they write about. When the first curtain rises they are about on a level that Tobacco Road dwellers would regard as poor white trash, and they go down from there.

There is on Broadway at this moment a highly successful revival of Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock." After three acts of this I wondered why even the optimists in the audience didn't go home and open a vein. This play is billed as a comedy and the critics called it "uproariously funny," but the only message I got out of it was that life is futile and that man begins to decay the moment he is born.

"Juno and the Paycock" is the story of a family that rocks to oblivion from the dizzy heights of the gutter. There are four people—the mother, the father, the sister and the brother. The father is the Paycock, a liar and a drunk who will not work. The brother is a fear-crazed weakling who is finally executed by some free-Ireland-or-perish fanatics. The sister turns out to be a girl "who falls by the wayside," leaving only the mother to attempt in some way to hold the raveled strands of the family together.

All of their acquaintances and friends are liars who excel only in invective and who double-cross each other during and between the acts. The final curtain falls on a dead son, a betrayed daughter, a drunken father who plans to horse-whip his daughter for soiling the family name and the mother, who is now a huddled heap of misery in the center of a bare stage, all of the furniture having been taken away for lack of payment.

These are the sort of people O'Casey writes about, and therefore one must assume that they represent his point of view, or at least his idea of Ireland. None of his characters ever reaches the happy ending. They are always born in a sort of semi-purgatory of horror and their lives are always turned into a series of convulsive illiads.

But probably I am all wrong. For a generation critics on both sides of the ocean have called O'Casey a magnificent playwright, and they should know. Once a song writer said that Ireland was something like Heaven. All I can say is that if O'Casey's Ireland is this Heaven, I will take Helsinki.

First successful motorcycle model was not built until about 1900. The original two-wheeled cycle was invented in 1868 but was propelled by a steam engine.

SEVEN CARS IN POTATO TRAIN

Tour To Be Made Of Seven Eastern N. C. Counties

Five railroad cars will make up the special "Irish Potato Train" which will tour seven coastal counties of Eastern Carolina the week of February 12-17. This exhibition train is designed to aid in the rehabilitation of the $5,000,000 commercial early Irish potato industry in the State.

Cooperating in this educational movement are: The Norfolk Southern Railroad, the Extension Service of N. C. State College, the United States and North Carolina Departments of Agriculture, the Freight Container Bureau, the Fruit Growers Express, and other agricultural agencies, including the N. C. Produce Growers Cooperative Association.

Accompanying the train, and in charge of the exhibits, will be Buxton White, crops marketing specialist of the N. C. Department of Agriculture; L. P. Watson, horticulturist, and Howard G. Gattiss, plant pathologist, of the Extension Service; and John W. Gannaway of the Marketing Section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. J. F. Dalton, general traffic manager of the Norfolk Southern and representatives of the Freight Container Bureau and the Fruit Growers Express also will be on the train.

One of the cars will be a passenger coach, fitted as a projection theater for showing a projection theater of the most advanced and approved potato practices and production methods, a colored movie of North Carolina grading and loading scenes taken last season, and slides taken in Maine during the fall seed harvest.

Exhibits of grading equipment and containers will be in other cars. A box car will house displays of new varieties rotation practices, disease specimens, harvesting equipment, market grades, shipping containers, descriptive matter on machinery for handling, grading, washing and drying of potatoes, and sales promotion material.

A flat car will carry grading machinery for a demonstration of improved handling and loading practices.

The fourth unit will be a refrigerator car for detailed explanation of the various services offered through use of this equipment, such as dry ventilation, pre-cooling, initial icing, standard refrigeration and related matters. This car also will demonstrate recommended load stacking systems on bags, tubs, and crates.

The train will make its first stop at Morehead City on Monday, February 12, from 10:30 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. From there it will go to Bayboro on Tuesday, February 13, to Belhaven on Wednesday, February 14, and to Columbia on Thursday, February 15, from 10:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. stops. Continuing northward, the train will be in Elizabeth City from 9:00 a. m. to noon and in Camden from 2:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. on Friday, February 16, and in Shawboro from 9:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. on Saturday, February 17.

UNCLE SAM SUES FOR TROPICAL PARADISE

Honolulu. — (AP) — The federal government has filed suit for possession of the Palmyra Islands, a group of 54 tropical atolls which have been described as a model director's dream.

Defending ownership of the group are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fullard-Leo, who bought them for about $10,000 in 1922.

The navy wants the islands to establish a $1,100,000 naval base, and contends that the government is owner of the group in absolute fee. The Hawaii Land Court has recognized the Fullard-Leos' title and the latter have been paying taxes of about $80 a year.

Because of their wild tropic beauty the Palmyra have achieved some celebrity, though they are far off regular steamer routes. The Fullard-Leos have turned down offers from a nudist colony and from a gambling casino promoter.

Swine growers from all sections of the State are expected to attend the first annual sale and show of purebred hogs conducted by the N. C. Swine Breeders Association in Rocky Mount, February 16 and 17.

Hauptmann's Son Gets Damages

Manfred Hauptmann, six-year-old son of the Lindbergh baby kidnaper, is shown in New York with his mother after a Supreme court jury awarded him $23,500 for injuries he received when struck by the automobile of Cartoonist Frank Moser May 5, 1938. Mrs. Hauptmann also was awarded $2,000 at the same time.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbia Coon

Hollywood—People keep writing in about a chap named Glenn Ford, who it seems was in a movie called "Heaven with a Barbed-wire Fence." They want to know about Glenn Ford, so here goes: Glenn Ford is a slight young man with dark brown hair and green eyes that are almost yellow. He is slight because, ever since he appeared as Tom Thumb in a Tom Thumb wedding at the age of four years, he has wanted to be an actor. That may not be a clear connection but actually it is—he has worked so hard at acting that he never has been able to put on much weight.

He is more than slightly Welsh in descent. His real name is Gwyllyn Ford. He was born in Glenora, a province of Quebec, Canada, on May 1, 1916. He took the name Glenn Ford, after his home town, because so many people thought Gwyllyn Ford was a girl. He is now an American citizen.

Going to school in Santa Monica, Calif., he kept on being fired by Tom Thumb. He worked in school plays up to the time he finished high school, and also had jobs in all of Santa Monica's then seven little theatres. He worked late, went to school early, and lost weight he never has regained.

As soon as he finished high school he began hounding local stage producers. He wouldn't take no—"I pestered them into giving me bits." He did a few turns in west coast touring shows before he reached the high spot of his career—a show in New York. He was an off-stage voice in the ill-fated John Beal show "Soliloquy," which lasted three days. He came back home.

From one of his local stage appearances he garnered a screen test. He is not the type whose physique or features cry for testing. He reminds me a little of Mack ("The Killer") Grey, George Raft's friend, only Glenn is younger and better looking. He is a "character juvenile," meaning he isn't pretty. That was the trouble with his test.

"You're not pretty enough," they told him, "and you haven't any glimmer."

Those were the words. He took the verdict standing up like a kid who's going to act or bust. But veteran actor Tom Moore, who does some dramatic coaching out at 20th where his test had flopped, invited him back. They were reading lines together when Moore suggested another test. This time Glenn Ford expecting nothing, frowned a little and took his test in stride. That won him the part in the fenced-off "Heaven." He still wasn't the type—character juveniles never are—but now he's at Columbia, where they call him their "top prospect" among the younger players.

I found him there in a convict's suit, taking part in a prison-break for a picture called "Men Without Souls." The wall of the steam-room had been blasted by an explosion, and Barton MacLane had been knocked out. Bart was prone in the wreckage, a nasty cut over his sweaty forehead. It was Glenn Ford's job to help a stunt man (working for John Litel) carry MacLane up a flight of stairs. They were blowing steam and dust—real choking dust—into the air. Glenn Ford, like all the others, was gasping, grimy, perspiring. He plunged into the job as if he loved it. He does. He's going to be an actor.

He has to be. The folks back at Glenora, Quebec, have said they'd build a theatre and name it after him if he's a success in Hollywood.

In various sections of the State cotton is again coming into prominence as a cash crop, with the highly unfavorable prospect for tobacco in 1940 as the chief contributing reason.

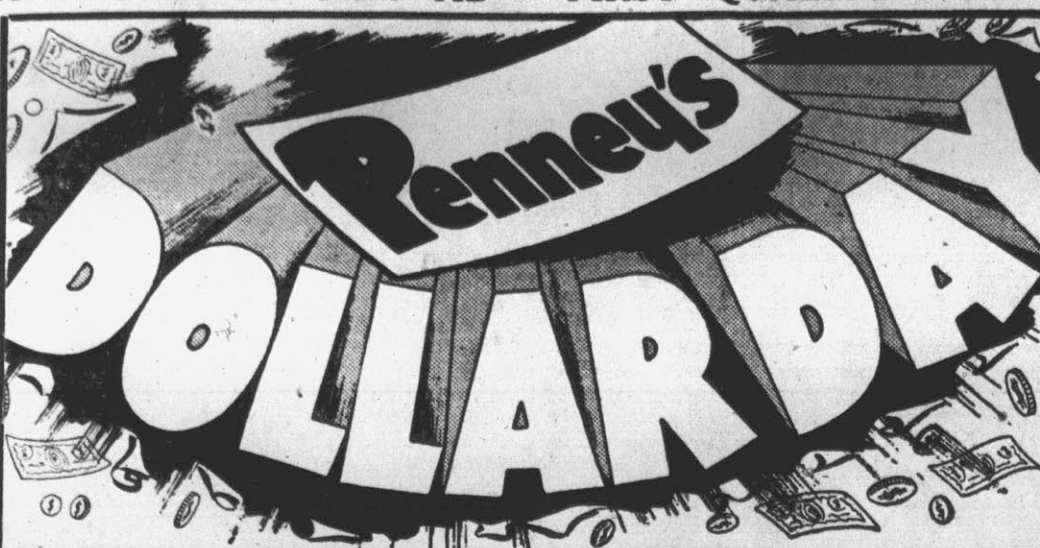

A GENTLE LAXATIVE GOOD FOR CHILDREN

Most any child who takes this modern laxative once will welcome it next time sluggish bowels have him bilious, headachy, listless or upset. Syrup of Black-Draught's fine flavor appeals to most children. By simple directions, its action is usually gentle but thorough. Principal ingredient helps tone bowel muscles. Two sizes: 50c and 25c. Next time, use Syrup of Black-Draught.

25 Miles Per Gallon of Gasoline

That's the Record posted by Mr. Martin Swartz and Mr. Royce Jones, both of Greenville, in the recent Mercury Economy Run. By making the 25 miles these men earned the first prize of 50 gallons of gasoline.

The others who competed in the run were not far behind, because the combined average of all who participated was 22.37 miles per gallon. These people were all from Greenville and vicinity.

The MERCURY has broken all Sales Records in the Automobile world today. Outstanding ECONOMY is just one of the reasons for its success. We invite you to enjoy the pleasure of driving the Mercury and to discover the "TOPS IN THE AUTOMOBILE FIELD."
