BELGIAN CRAFT SHOT DOWN BY GERMAN PLANE

Four Others Crash In Series Of Air Accidents

THREE BELGIAN FLIERS KILLED

Foreign Minister Energetically Protests Against Grave Violation of Neutrality

Brussels, March 2.—(AP)—One Belgian pursuit plane was shot down by a German bomber and four other planes were reported to have crashed in a series of air encounters and accidents today, in which three Belgian fliers were killed.

The official Belgian version of a battle in which the pursuit craft was downed, said three Belgian planes encountered a large German bomber in Belgium's Luxembourg province.

The Belgians surrounded the heavily armed German craft which suddenly opened fire.

One Belgian pilot was hit several times and another lost control.

The squadron leader was shot down and killed. His plane crashed.

Belgium's foreign minister, Paul Henri Spaak, in an interview with the German ambassador, energetically protested against a grave violation of Belgian neutrality and an act of aggression by a German aviator," said an official announcement.

Workers Selected For Finnish Fund

Mrs. James S. Ficklen, chairman of Pitt county Finnish relief, today announced the appointment of Mrs. James T. Little as chairman for the city of Greenville. Local chairmen have also been appointed in Bethel, Grimesland, Farmville, Ayden and Grifton.

Mrs. Little will open the campaign for funds on Tuesday, March 5th, and reports that, in addition to the personal solicitation by her co-workers of the business firms in the city, that there will be a booth maintained in the lobby of the Pitt theater for collecting contributions through the courtesy of T. Y. Walker, manager of the theater.

In announcing the opening of the Finnish relief campaign Mrs. Ficklen, the county chairman, issued this statement:

"As always, we are counting on the sympathy and generosity of the people of Pitt county to co-operate to the best of their ability in raising funds for the war-raged, destitute people of Finland, principally the women and children, who have been left homeless and hungry. We can not fail to be moved to pity at their plight and our own comparative abundance make some contribution. No matter how small, to alleviate their suffering.

"I am confident that the citizens of Greenville and of Pitt county will respond to this worthy cause as they have always done in the past, quickly and generously. Any contribution, no matter how small, will be gratefully received.

Explains Problem Of Cotton Farmer

Charlotte, March 2.—(AP)—N. C. Williamson of New Orleans, president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, said today that the problem of the cotton farmer could not be solved except on a basis that provided for continuation of export markets.

Appearing as a witness at a hearing held by a group of 11 Republican congressmen, Williamson said "we can't live on the domestic markets for our cotton."

He asked the representatives to bear in mind in considering the farm problem that the cotton South was always at a disadvantage as compared with the remainder of the country as a result of the tariff.

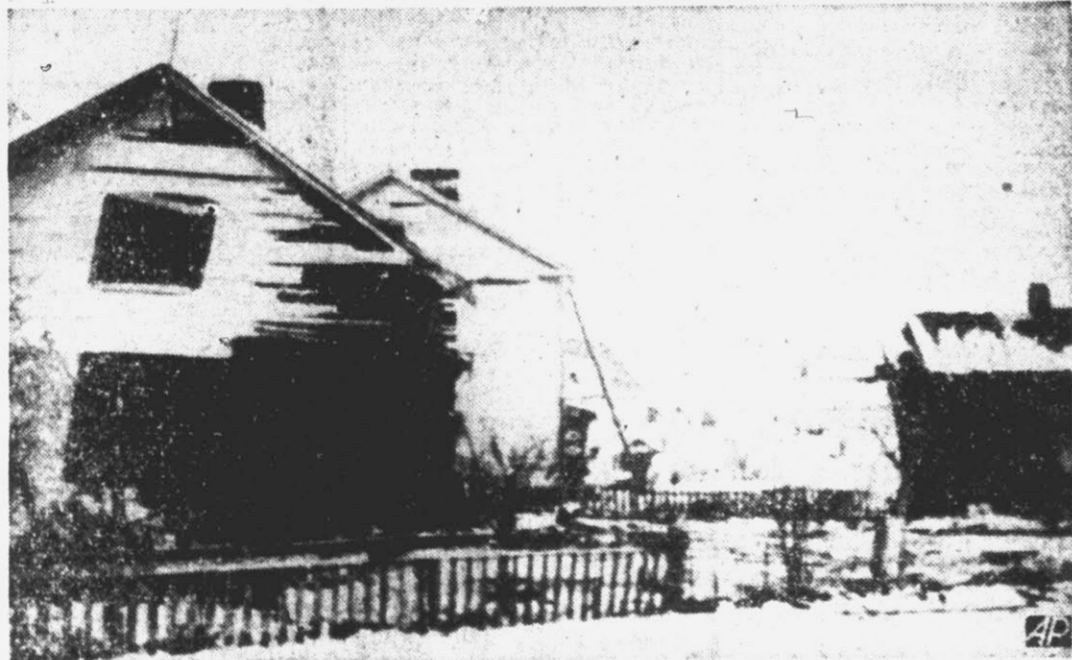

"We have to buy in a protected market," he said, "but we are compelled to sell in a world market."

In reply to a question by a committee member, Williamson said he thought the southern farmers should be compensated out of the treasury for the disadvantage which he argued they suffered under the tariff.

C. S. Whitehead of Chatham, Va., criticized the federal tobacco program and contended that control would not be necessary if the government would forbid the exportation of flue cured tobacco seed, reduce its taxes on cigarettes and provide an "orderly stabilized" marketing system to replace the present auction system, which he described as "antique."

Red Bombers Leave A Trail of Destruction

The above scenes show wrecked homes in unidentified places of Northern Finland after waves of Russian planes flew over the country side and bombed communities far and wide. Finnish sources assert, leaving a trail of death and destruction. Finland charged Soviet fliers with attacking civilian areas outside the fighting zone during a series of mass bombings begun March 1.

FEES ARE PAID BY CANDIDATES

Rockingham Man Enters Gubernatorial Race

Raleigh, March 1.—(AP)—A Rockingham county delegation today paid $100 to the state board of elections as the filing fee for Robert Steel, III, of Rockingham to enter the Democratic primary in May as a candidate for representative in the Eighth district.

Members of the five-man group said the money was donated by workers in three Rockingham mill districts.

Steel, 41-year-old business man, was the fourth to enter the race in the eighth district. Previous races were the incumbent, W. O. Burgin, C. B. Deane of Rockingham and Giles Y. Newton of Gibson.

The number of gubernatorial candidates who have filed was raised to four when Arthur Simmons of Burlington paid his $105 fee. Three announced candidates for governor have not filed yet.

Simmons has distributed cards saying he was a farmer, lawyer and soldier and describing himself as a "low tax candidate."

Earlier today Rep. John H. Kerr of Warrenton paid his $100 filing fee to seek renomination in the second district. No one has filed against him.

A speed of 90 miles an hour has been attained on skis.

Less Than One-Fifth Of N.C. Teachers Are Men

Reflector Bureau.

By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, March 2.—Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde Erwin today revealed some of the answers to many questions asked about North Carolina's public school system. How many public schools are there in the state? Is the number increasing or decreasing? How many pupils and how many teachers? What do the schools cost? These and similar questions may be answered by the facts here presented.

There are approximately 5,000 elementary and secondary (high) schools, with 881,874 pupils enrolled last year. From 1933 to 1938 the number of elementary schools decreased by 279, and the number of high schools increased by ten. Practically 80 per cent of the total enrollment is in elementary schools. It is estimated that there are more than a million children of school age in the state, so the enrollment of 881-

PLANES HOVER OVER HELSINKI

Citizenry Kept In Bomb-Proof Shelters Four Hours

Helsinki, March 2.—(AP)—Air alarms kept Helsinki's citizenry in bomb-proof shelters an aggregate of four and a quarter hours today as Russian war planes roared over the outskirts of the city on numerous occasions.

The Russians flew at a great height, bound for objectives farther north.

The air activity coincided with heavy fighting on the outskirts of Viipuri, southeastern Finnish seaport and key to the Karelian isthmus.

(A Soviet communique said the Finns were burning the city as they

NAVAL PLANES REACH VESSEL

Submarine Might Have Been United States U-Boat

Washington, March 1.—(AP)—The navy was informed today that naval planes had located the British steamer Southgate which reported a submarine attack yesterday and said the vessel was in no apparent danger.

The first news of the vessel's fate since her submarine-attacking signal late yesterday was contained in a brief wireless message from the Caribbean saying "Southgate located by planes. No apparent danger."

San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 2.—(AP)—A peaceable United States submarine mistaken for a German U-boat may have caused the 4,882-ton British steamer Southgate to believe she was being attacked in the Atlantic, United States army officers suggested today.

Two United States submarines were in the vicinity given for the Southgate when she wireless yesterday that a U-boat was attacking her, members of the general staff in charge of operations in the Caribbean defense area disclosed.

Besides three destroyers and a coast guard cutter already hurrying to her position, 130 miles northeast of San Juan, the navy sent four planes to join the search.

Two submarines left San Juan yesterday and were headed in a direction that would have placed them in the vicinity of the Southgate at the time she sent her alarm.

Whatever happened, the incident occurred in the general neighborhood of current naval war games off Puerto Rico and any German submarine that came up there could have risen right under the nose of one of Uncle Sam's big warships.

Funeral Held For Grifton Resident

Funeral services for Miss Mayme Dawson who died following a heart attack at her home in Grifton about noon Thursday, were held from the residence at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with burial in the Grifton cemetery. The Rev. Perry Case of Wilson assisted by the Rev. G. B. Stirling officiated.

Miss Dawson resided with her brother, Roscoe Dawson, who is her only close survivor. She was a daughter of the late William and Henrietta Blount Dawson and a life time resident of this section. She was a member of the Christian church and well known to many over the section. Pall bearers were: Ivan Bissette, Patrick McCotter, M. B. Hodges, R. A. Nelson, Vance Wall and Lloyd Chapman.

NAZI RAIDERS AGAIN ATTACK BRITISH SHIPS

Swoop Low Over Shipping Lanes In North Sea

BRITISH PLANES FLY OVER BERLIN

Leaflets Dropped In German Capital Remind Citizens "Our Aircraft" Again Over Reich

London, March 2.—(AP)—German air raiders, swooping low over the North sea, struck anew at Britain's shipping lanes today as British scouting planes returned to their bases after a night of reconnaissance flights which a communique said had taken them over Berlin and northwest Germany and drawn fire from Berlin's batteries.

Two of the Nazi raiders which appeared off the Scottish coast were driven out to sea by Royal Air Force fighters as the sounds of heavy gun fire rolled inland.

The crew of a steamer which reached a British port said the ship had been bombed and machine-gunned by a Nazi plane which was driven off by a war vessel.

Thousands of leaflets were scattered over the Berlin area, the communique added, and parachute flares were dropped "to drive home the fact that our aircraft were once again over the capital of the Reich."

It was the sixth flight the British have reported making over Berlin in the six months since the war started. The communique said the British scouts reconnoitered "important towns" in northwest Germany and "kept watch" on seaplane bases.

In Berlin the official German news agency announced that Nazi planes had "sunk or extensively damaged" several British ships under convoy, but the location of the raids was not immediately disclosed.

Kiwanians Decide To Meet Weekly

Effective the first week in April, the Greenville Kiwanis club will hold weekly meetings instead of every two weeks, such a decision having been reached by the membership last night with little discussion and without a dissenting vote.

The principal address of the meeting, regarded as one of the most successful in some time, was made by Miss Sadie Brewer, in charge of the Salvation Army activities in Greenville.

Miss Brewer undertook to advise the Kiwanians of some of the work the Army is carrying on in Greenville.

She outlined the training one must go through to become an official of the Salvation Army.

Reminding that meetings are held each night except Monday, she said the meetings were open to the public and attended by numerous persons not affiliated with any church.

She also outlined some of the work being carried on among the younger folks of the city.

At the conclusion of her address she expressed her appreciation of the cooperation she is receiving from the citizens of Greenville and urged them to take a greater interest in the work of the Salvation Army.

The committee in charge of the meeting was headed by Berry Bostic who conducted the program.

Two new members, R. C. Rankin, tobacco sales supervisor, and Charles E. Brewer, manager of the local employment agency, were welcomed into the club by Secretary D. C. Moore, Jr. Dr. J. L. Winstead was a guest.

A meeting of the Board of Directors will be held Monday night at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Clarence L. Rusk.

Past President G. V. Smith of the Program committee announced that the next meeting of the club, March 15th, would be held at Bell Arthur. The women of the Christian church of Bell Arthur will serve the dinner.

Reynolds Prefers Goat To A Horse

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Sen. Reynolds (D-N.C.) has decided that a goat is worth more than a race horse—even a horse named Worthwining.

Greenville To Have Its Own "Scarlett O'Hara"

Readers of Reflector To Select Local Heroine

Greenville will have its own Scarlett O'Hara when "Gone With The Wind," the picturization of Margaret Mitchell's famous novel of the Civil War South, is shown at the Pitt theater during the week of March 11-16.

Daily Reflector readers within the next few days will have the opportunity to nominate and elect their choice of the local heroine who will be honored during "Gone With The Wind" week as guest of the theater and also will be the recipient of attractive gifts from Blount-Harvey company, which is sponsoring the choice of a local Scarlett O'Hara and has complete sale of reserved seat tickets for "Gone With The Wind."

A booth for the sale of reserved seat tickets has been installed on the mezzanine floor of the Blount-Harvey company where theatre goers will have the opportunity to purchase their tickets to the show.

They will vote for the local heroine who will appear in the beautiful costumes in keeping with the period of Southern life upon which "Gone With The Wind" is based.

The announcement of the winner will be made next Friday afternoon and the young lady chosen as the local "Scarlett" will be given free

STEEL LEADS SLUMP Babson Discusses Business Decline Since New Year

Babson Park, Fla., March 2.—along at or near the top rate of Paced by the fast moving steel industry, industrial activity has dipped six per cent under the ten-year peak reached in December.

Statistics show that retail trade and service businesses, however, have been holding at the high levels of late 1939. Most people with whom I talked on my trip to Boston during the past fortnight believe that the current sag in industrial activity is no more than a natural reaction from the too rapid rise last fall. They believe the down trend will be abruptly halted and the trend reversed in the next month or two.

This same optimistic outlook was the keynote of my Annual Mid-Winter Business Conference held here in Florida within the last few days. All are agreed that industrial activity has slackened off since the turn of the year, but they also report that retail trade and service businesses have been moving

WORD IS SENT TO ROOSEVELT

Fuehrer and Sumner Welles Confer For 94 Minutes; Terms Laid Down By Hitler Disclosed By Persons Who Know Chancellor's Mind; Prefers Better U. S. Relations

Berlin, March 2.—(AP)—Germany will fight until Britain and France recognize a "German Monroe Doctrine for central Europe" and restore her war-lost colonies—this was described by sources who know Adolf Hitler's mind as the burden of the message he delivered today to President Roosevelt's emissary, Sumner Welles.

Another point in the message given by the Fuehrer to the American under-secretary of state in their 94-minute conference in the chancellery was understood to be that England must renounce her "stranglehold control" on the strategic lanes to the world's raw materials.

Germany's price of peace, according to this version of Hitler's declaration, includes permanent German hegemony—political domination—over Bohemia-Moravia, Slovakia, Poland and Hungary, making the Reich proper a solid block of about 130,000,000 population.

Furthermore it was said, he wanted guarantees that Britain and France would not stir up the Balkans or Scandinavia.

Hitler was said to have argued further that disarmament must begin by England relinquishing military control of Gibraltar, the Suez canal, and other strategic points held in the midst of non-British territories.

Improvement of German-American relations was also declared to be most desirable according to this version of Hitler's talk, but to be impossible so long as Washington declines to name an ambassador for the now vacant post in the Berlin embassy.

Legislature Again Failed Gov. Long

Baton Rouge, La., March 2.—(AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long's second effort to convene a special session of his hitherto obedient legislature failed today when the legislators in open revolt against the reputed state machine failed to report a quorum in the Senate.

Only 13 of 39 senators were present at roll call, nearly an hour after the body had been called to meet.

Senators immediately left the chamber and its president said "there can be no session because there is no quorum."

Lecturer at College Tuesday. Henry C. Wolfe, author of "The German Octopus" and authority on international relations, will give a lecture at the College next Tuesday night, March 5, on "What is Happening in World Affairs."

So important has been his contributions in the field of international relations that he has been decorated by six governments.

In reference to an article written by Mr. Wolfe, the Atlantic Monthly recently had this to say: "Henry C. Wolfe spent last summer sitting on the lid of the powder barrel in central Europe. He visited Danzig, Kovno, Warsaw, Bucharest, Belgrade, Vienna, Berlin and Budapest, holding private audiences in each place with those in authority. He knows the smell and meaning of dynamite."

However, Mr. Wolfe is not one to speak over the heads of his listeners. He is said to be a particularly effective speaker for a student group. At a university in a mid-western state recently, his audience was limited to two thousand only by the size of the auditorium, several hundred people having been turned away at the door.

The program will be held in the Wright Auditorium, and will begin at 8:00.

YWCA Nominations Made. The nominations for next year's officers for the Young Women's Christian Association for the coming year were made last night at the regular Friday night vespers service. A solo was given by Miss Elizabeth Noe; and Miss Annie Allen Wilkerson, who had charge of the program, made a short inspirational talk. Miss Joyce Dunham gave a report on a conference held in Raleigh, February 11.

Each life is being tested daily," was the topic of Miss Wilkerson's talk. She used an experience in the life of David Livingston to illustrate the fact that temptation may be a test if we recognize it as such. Other people watch us as we are being tested, she said, and they are influenced by our actions. Miss Wilkerson added that a weakness conquered gives purpose and power to one's life.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss Sarah Ann Maxwell, the President, who took charge of the nominations of officers.

W.M.S. Circles To Meet. The Circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the following homes:

Circle No. 8—Miss Hortense Moore, chairman, will postpone their meeting until Monday, March 11.

Business and Professional Women. The Business and Professional Woman's Club met at the Greenville Art Gallery Thursday night, February 29, at 6:30 p. m., for a delightful dinner and entertaining program.

After dinner, Miss Patsy Davenport, who is vice chairman of the first district of the Young Democratic Club of North Carolina, gave an interesting and informative talk on its activities, paying special attention to the work of the young women in the organization. Miss Davenport also discussed the registering of first voters and plans for a State-wide Citizenship Day which will take place on April 13th, Jefferson's birthday. This followed by an interesting contest of "Believe It or Not" questions concerning facts and facts of Pitt county and Greenville, that were answered by members of the Club.

At the conclusion of the program a brief business session held. Club members voted to continue with dinner meetings twice each month, being held at the art gallery.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, chairman; Mrs. F. A. Jordan, Misses Ruth Willard, Martha Lee Cowell, Viola Baker and Imogene Ricks.

Birth Announcement. Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Boyd announce the birth of a son on Thursday, February 29, 1940.

Alumni Association Meeting. The March meeting of the Greenville Chapter of the Alumni Association of East Carolina Teachers College was held Friday evening, March 1st in the "Y" Hut.

After a short business meeting, Herbert Waldron, a new member of the local chapter, was asked to say a few words concerning the College when he attended in 1910.

Miss Estelle McClees, alumni secretary, then explained her duties and in turn the cooperation that she would like to have from each member of the Association and all other alumni to visit her in the new Alumni Headquarters provided by the College.

The Chapter welcomes four new members: Mrs. Sabal Clark Basart, Mrs. Fannie Jones Piver, Mr. Herbert Waldron and Mr. Charles Cobb. Hostesses for the evening were Miss Mamie Ruth Tunstall, Miss Christine Johnson and Mrs. Sallie Waters Hardie.

Literature Department Meets. The Literature Department of the Woman's Club held its regular meeting in the hospitable home of Mrs. D. A. Simmons. The hostess welcomed the guests as they arrived.

Several members were present who have missed a number of meetings because of illness.

The living room with its pretty bouquets of forsythia reminded us that Spring is just around the corner.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. K. T. Futrell, who reminded the group that the March 7 meeting of the Woman's Club is in the hands of the Literature Department, and she urged all the members to attend.

The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting read by the secretary, Mrs. W. H. Woodard.

There was a short discussion as to whether the Literature Department would contribute to the National Art League or the National Opera Guild. This will be settled at the next meeting which will be held on March 26.

Miss Frances Wahl introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. A. D. Frank, professor of history at E. C. T. C.

Mrs. J. L. Savage had charge of the program and secured Dr. Frank to speak the life and public activities of the present Secretary of Labor, Miss Frances Perkins, who is Mrs. Paul V. Wilson in private life.

Dr. Frank talked impartially about the much-talked, but little photographed Miss Perkins.

Dr. Frank stated that Miss Perkins comes from Boston, and is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College. She married in 1913, has one daughter and is now 58 years old.

After graduation, Miss Perkins taught school in Chicago, and it was there she became interested in humanitarianism. She visited many settlement houses in Chicago, and became particularly interested in Hull House. It was there she and Jane Adams became close friends.

Miss Perkins went to New York City where she lectured and wrote on the subjects of humanitarianism. She became a very forceful speaker in this field, particularly concerning labor. She came to the front when Al Smith was governor of New York, then she became tensely interested in politics. Al Smith made her a member of the New York Industrial Commission. She helped to elect Roosevelt and won praise from organized labor.

Miss Perkins admits she is a feminist. In the early years of her public career she was very popular, but for several reasons, her popularity has waned. She is a very friendly, sympathetic person, but she is not sentimental. She is very eccentric in her dress. She is not radical, but not conservative. She says unemployment is not the fault of the individual, and the government should help to settle it. Although she is not popular with the cabinet, she is a loyal and faithful supporter of Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

The meeting closed with a delicious ice cream course.

First Presbyterian Church. Announcement is made of regular services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday, March 3rd.

Church schools meet at 9:45 and morning services at 11:30 o'clock. There will be no night services. At the morning service the pastor, Dr. Robert S. Boyd will speak on the subject "Choosing Good Men and Their Qualifications." March 10th will be observed as "Every Member Canvass Day." All members are invited to be at church that day and be prepared to make their pledge to the church budget, thus expressing their loyalty to Christ and their church.

The Young Peoples' Groups meet at the following hours for services: Meadowbrook and the First church groups will meet at their respective places at 6:30 p. m. The "Forum" group of the college age, will meet for lunch and "Open Forum Discussion" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Deal at 6 p. m. promptly. This is a newly formed group and a large attendance is expected.

On Monday at 3:30 p. m. the executive board of the auxiliary meets as usual at Mrs. Charles Horne's residence. The first annual fellowship supper of all members of the church will be held at the church on Wednesday night, 6:30 p. m. Cards have been sent to all members on which to reply whether they will be present. Replies should come in by Monday afternoon to the manse. This is hoped to be a joyous time and all members are urged to be present.

Meadowbrook H. D. Club. A new club was organized Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. M. Holbert. There are thirteen members with Mrs. Holbert, president; Mrs. H. R. Earley, vice-president; and Mrs. Dick Everett, secretary-treasurer. They will meet each fourth Tuesday.

Poultry School. Several men and women from Pitt county attended the poultry school conducted Tuesday in the Agricultural building in Washington, N. C.

Club Schedule for Next Week: Greenville 4-H Club: Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. in Agricultural building. Red Oak H. D. Club: Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in club building. Belyov H. D. Club: Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in school building. Stokes 4-H Club: Friday at 8:45 a. m. Pactolus 4-H Club: Friday at 10:20 a. m. Littlefield H. D. Club: Friday at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. E. F. Hart.

Pactolus H. D. Club Annual Report. The Pactolus H. D. Club made a total of 11,985 points for 1939 with 50 for home beautification; 350 for exhibiting at flower show; 250 for kitchen improvement; 678 for canning; 1490 for garments made; 1975 for books read; 300 for assisting at fair; 1290 for club meetings attended; 475 for council meetings attended; 450 for other meetings attended; 300 for tours taken; 750 for annual reports turned in; 150 for leaders' reports given; and 180 for non-members assisted.

Narrative Report. The Pactolus H. D. Club, although the baby club of the county, has made a fairly good record for the first year. Probably the outstanding achievements have been a trip to Winston by 15 members in the interest of a hard-surface road; attendance by eight to the district meeting; attendance by six to the Short Course in Raleigh; one result demonstration. The organization of a chorus of sixteen which has been asked to sing at Achievement Day exercises. A trip to Florida by one member; to Alabama and Georgia via the mountains by another. And a community booth at the fair.

The club members manifest much interest in the different phases of the club. Attendance has been good and we feel that the home demonstration club has been a real asset to our community.—Reported.

We Want To Take This Opportunity To CONGRATULATE Greenville Beauty Shoppe At The Time Of Its Grand Opening. MAY SUCCESSFUL OPERATION BE YOURS IN YEARS TO COME. BRODY'S Style - Quality - Economy.

GREENVILLE LADIES ARE MOST FORTUNATE IN HAVING NORTH CAROLINA'S MOST MODERN BEAUTY SALON IN THEIR MIDST. We too, were most fortunate in being selected to furnish the modern equipment which, heretofore, only metropolitan beauty salons had availed themselves. WE HEARTILY Congratulate THE

Officially Open Greenville Beauty Shop Monday Night

OFFER FAVORS TO ALL GUESTS

Most Modern Salon In Eastern North Carolina

The Greenville Beauty Shop will be officially opened at its new quarters on East Fifth street Monday night, with open house to be observed between 7 and 11 o'clock.

Women are invited to bring their boy friends or husbands to view the salon. Favors will be presented those attending in addition to a number of valuable gifts.

The beauty shop is regarded as the best equipped in Eastern North Carolina. The management has installed the Paider equipment, used in the larger metropolitan centers of the country.

Lighted with fluorescent daylight and the inlaid flooring present an imposing picture. The walls also are beautifully designed.

Each booth is equipped with individual telephone and sterilizer, something new in this section.

The shop is conveniently situated, with parking space provided behind the building. Persons seeking parking space can reach the lot either from Cotanche street or by the side of Pleasant's Drug store. In fact, everything has been done for the convenience of the customer and also to provide the best service available.

In announcing its formal opening program, the management expressed a desire for as many Greenville citizens to see the shop as possible, declaring it felt Greenville had been provided with a beauty shop of which to be proud.

A competent corps of expert operators has been secured. Mrs. Marjorie Arnold is manager and Mrs. Ruth Carter is hostess.

Mrs. Hutchinson of the N. C. State Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners, with headquarters in Raleigh, will be here for the official opening and will formally turn the shop over to the women of Eastern North Carolina.

LESS THAN ONE-FIFTH OF N. C. TEACHERS ARE MEN

gifts from Blount-Harvey company. The tickets will be the gift of the Pitt theater.

Permission also has been requested of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, producers of the picture, for a personal appearance upon the stage of the local heroine during the intermission of one of the performances here.

The nomination and election of the local young lady who possesses beauty, charm and personality of Margaret Mitchell's Scarlett O'Hara is open to all Daily Reflector readers, who are requested to make their nominations between now and noon Monday. The names of the nominees may be left at the box office of the Pitt theater during Sunday or at the ticket booth at Blount-Harvey's Monday morning or brought or telephoned to the Daily Reflector office.

A list of the nominees will appear in Monday afternoon's Reflector, together with voting coupons to be cast by the readers in favor of their choice among the nominees. Voting coupons will also appear in Tuesday's and Wednesday's Reflector and all coupons must be deposited in the ballot box on the mezzanine floor at Blount-Harvey company before 6 o'clock Thursday evening.

There are, no doubt, many young ladies in Greenville who possess the qualifications for selection as the local heroine and all Reflector readers are urged to submit their nominations before noon Monday and then vote every available coupon to elect their candidate.

To Be At Methodist Church Monday Night

standing organizations of the school of music at the college, and is well known throughout the south. Beginning March 3 the organization will make a ten day tour of North Carolina and Virginia which will include an appearance in Washington, D. C.

The excellently arranged sacred program to be presented here on Monday night will include: "Ave Maria" (Lugi-Luzzi); "Morning Prayer" (Gilla Recl); "Concordia Laetitia" (Arr. by Taylor); "Sanctus" (Gounod); "Hear King of Angels" (Bach); "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" (Brahms); "The Lord Is My Shepherd" (Schubert); "Celestial Chorus" (Franck); "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley" (Dawson); "Goin' Home" (Dvorak); "De Gospel Train" (Arr. Burleigh); "The Lamb" (Detl); "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel" (Arr. Burleigh); "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte); "Open Our Eyes" (Macfarlane); "The Promised Land" (Arr. Moore); "The Great Awakening" (Kramer); Miss Gwendolyn Holler, of Greensboro, is accompanist for the Glee Club. There will be no admission charge.

OPEN HOUSE 7:00 'TILL 11:00

ENTIRE PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED

Make Your Plans Now!

Don't Miss This Event!

FAVORS AND SOUVENIRS

Favors will be given each lady attending this event. More valuable gifts will be given to many of those attending. Permanents and various Beauty Treatments will be among the gifts. Plans have been carefully formulated for our "Open House" and your attendance will be well rewarded. We truly want you to see North Carolina's Most Modern Beauty Salon.

EQUIPMENT

We were most careful in our selection of equipment and consulted leaders in the industry before we bought one single item. After an exhaustive investigation we decided on the Paider equipment that was currently being used in the metropolitan areas. Each booth is equipped with a telephone, individual sterilizer, and venetian blinds. The entire salon is lighted with Fluorescent day light lighting and the floor is of inlaid modernistic covering. The walls are beautifully finished in a most beautiful design of celotex. We truly want you to see North Carolina's Most Modern Beauty Salon.

FREE AND CONVENIENT PARKING

We sought our location with a thought as to the troublesome parking problem that has always been an unpleasant thought to one visiting a beauty shop. We have undoubtedly solved this worry, we have a private parking area in rear of our shop. You may enter from Cotanche street or through an alley between the swimming pool and Pleasant's Drug Store. You don't have to dress for your appointment, you may drive down as you are dressed and without getting caught in the public eye, enter our rear door and make your exit in the same manner. We truly want you to see North Carolina's Most Modern Beauty Salon.

PURPOSE OF OPERATION

Our purpose of operation is to give the ladies of Greenville and vicinity as well as the students of E. C. T. C. an opportunity of having the finest in equipment, environment, and in convenience, to be had in their efforts to maintain their best appearance. We believe we have provided you with all of these. We truly want you to see North Carolina's Most Modern Beauty Salon.

SWEETHEARTS AND HUSBANDS

Be sure to bring your sweetheart or husband with you for our "Open House." It will be his last opportunity of ever seeing the interior of this beautiful shop. After Monday night no man or boy will be permitted to enter under any circumstances. This will insure absolute privacy for ladies seeking our services. In other words it will be a "No Man's Land" after Monday night. We truly want you to see North Carolina's Most Modern Beauty Salon.

PERSONNEL

Care was exercised in our selection of a competent force and well trained cosmetologists. We are most fortunate to have as our Hostess, Mrs. Ruth Carter. As Manager, Mrs. Marjorie Arnold very capably directs the operation of the salon. Among our cosmetologists, the following have well earned their popularity because of their ability and pleasant personalities: Mrs. Louise Teele, Mrs. Ruth Fodrie, Mrs. Clarice Donaldson and Mrs. Mat Lewis. Our registered cosmetologists have served this section faithfully for a total of 27 years. We truly want you to see North Carolina's Most Modern Beauty Salon.

Strength For The Day

YOU CANNOT BUY HAPPINESS In a certain little country village lives a dentist, known among his professional colleagues as one of the best dentists in the great state.

Some years ago an outstanding dentist in a large city offered him $25,000 a year if he would come to the city and be associated with him. The village dentist laughed and said, "Why should I move to the city for any amount of money? The folks I love live in this little town, and the hunting and fishing in this part of the country leave nothing to be desired."

So there he lives in modest comfort while the city seeks and wonders how he can be such a fool as to turn down a good thing. But he has a good thing; in fact he has the best thing any man can ever have—he has a contented heart. He never looks at his neighbor's field and thinks how green it is. He never gazes at sunset at far-off windows, and marvels at the fact his neighbor's windows appear to be gold while his are dark and dull. He has found life in the little village, and there he lives it to its full.

He who cannot be happy where he is and with what he has, could not be happy at the ends of the earth with the riches of Croesus. (All Rights Reserved—Babson Newspaper Syndicate)

SPENDING DEMOCRACY

In a recent issue of The Texas Weekly Dale Miller asks the pertinent question if instead of "saving democracy" we are not in truth "spending democracy." "Democracy is the accumulated savings of the American lifetime," says Miller. "The thought that should be indelibly inculcated on the public mind is that democracy can be spent . . . It can be squandered by indolence and waste."

We believe there is much food for thought in what Mr. Miller has to say and at a time when our public debt continues to mount and when tax burdens and government regulations are curtailing business of all kinds, which is the life blood of the nation, is a good time to consider whether we are going unless the brakes are applied and we turn about toward sanity in public affairs.

Throughout the country there has been published comments on Mr. Miller's statement, among them the following editorial from the Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nonpareil:

One of the arguments for New Deal spending has been that it is necessary to preserve democracy. We have been told over and over again that the destitute must be taken care of or they will start a revolution which will end up in a dictatorship. There may have been some basis for this fear in the dark days of 1932 and 1933. Government relief was imperative then and it was forthcoming.

Under the New Deal, relief spending was greatly increased. Appropriations were necessary and did a great deal of good, though much of the money was wasted.

But the New Dealers were not satisfied to relieve distress. They insisted that, in order to restore prosperity, government must control industry, finance, business, agriculture and labor. The abundant life had to be promoted and directed from Washington. No enterprise was too large or too small to be supervised by Federal bureaucrats.

More than fifty new bureaus were created, most of them to discipline and control private enterprise. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been appropriated to maintain these bureaus and provide them with funds to disburse.

Some conditions have been temporarily alleviated but others have become more acute. Our national debt is now nearly FORTY-TWO BILLIONS and increasing by leaps and bounds. Practically none of the country's pressing problems have been solved.

And how about democracy, which all of the spending was to save? The stark fact is that we have less democracy than ever. It is being squandered. Individuals and groups from the highest to the lowest have less freedom of action than they had before the New Deal took over the Government. Farmers, laborers, business men are bossed from Washington. Every session of Congress sets up new controls and every one of the new boards and bureaus is grabbing for more power all the time.

We have spent our democracy as well as our money. We may recover some of the money eventually. But will we ever get back any of our democracy we have spent?

Washington Daybook

Washington—Two freshman New England Senators, of dispositions as opposite as the poles, have garnered much more Congressional attention than usually comes to initiates. Both are Republicans.

Already, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, the gentle, unassuming, and mild-mannered, and Representative Reed of New York, the loud voice and mile-a-second speech, has dug up something for Republicans to yell about with his attack on housing questions in the census.

What right, he asked, has the government to send census takers into the homes of their neighbors to ask how large is the mortgage interest rate on the house, what is the interest rate, and is there a bath or shower in the home?

Eagerly, Republicans took it up on both ends of the Congress when the appropriation bill came up for money for the census. "A fundamental principle of liberty is involved here," cried red-faced Representative Reed of New York. "There is no more sacred place than the American home."

Promptly, Democratic members pointed out that sacred as the home is, a man must file a record of his mortgage at the county courthouse where all may read.

The questions about how many families use a single bath room, however, was distinctly on the personal side, a road to Tobey.

"Gun Bearer" Tobey looks just like the lead gun-bearer in that famous pointing of an early-day Pilgrim group headed for church through the snow and Indians. The lines of his face are long, up and down.

He has had legislative experience about as long as the next man's, extending back into the House and Senate of his home state legislature. Incidentally, he was at different times speaker of the New Hampshire House of Representatives and president of the State Senate.

He hasn't proved himself so ready on rough and tumble debate as yet. He reads a speech to the Senate at breakneck speed and dashes back to his office for more study.

Irish Yankee Connecticut's Senator Danaher is a Yankee of another color. His ancestry is long-time American, but his blood is thick with Irish peat juice. Dartmouth trained, Tobey but Yale sent Danaher into New England law and politics, out of which he has gained a somewhat surprising interest in foreign affairs.

He is an isolationist as Senator Johnson of California but his particular skill is in cross examining those members of the Senate who are whooping it up for giving the United States a big voice and a measure of participation in world politics.

He fought revision of the neutrality bill, declaring it gave the President too many ways to evade any obligation to keep the nation out of foreign wars. Japan and China presented a case in point at the time. The Finnish affair had not yet started.

But when the proposal for the Finnish loan came along, he attacked that, and introduced a resolution to have Congress recognize the Russian attack on Finland as a real war. That would have squashed the Finnish loan, of course, which was what he had set out to do. Better by far, he said, to keep hands off than to give Russia valid grounds for a nasty relationship with the United States down through the years.

Moreover, he said, the Neutrality act would put at least some restrictions upon Russian purchases of war materials in the United States. During 1939 Russia bought $56,038,000 in goods here, 70 per cent of which was made up of fetal-working machines, lathes and such iron-alloys, copper, aircraft and petroleum products. Danaher drew an admission from the Secretary of State that Finland was already a prohibited area for U. S. ships since the Baltic Sea had been declared a combat zone under the Neutrality act.

Danaher is barely over the edge of 40, with a boyish face inescapably reminiscent of a kewpie, but he is just about 100 per cent embodiment of the spirit of let-Europe-fight-its-own-wars.

LEAP BEFORE YOU LOOK

By Peggy O'More

YESTERDAY: The Tolands are irate at the publicity given Tomi and her inheritance. The Major says they are going to claim that Timothy was insane. Cleverly, Bartlett gets the Major to sign a paper saying there is no insanity in the family.

Chapter Five One Jump Ahead

TEN somehow Major John Toland was eased gently from the room. Bartlett and A. J. disappeared into another office, and Miss Lloyd returned to her own desk.

Tomi stood at the window, brow pressed to the cold pane. Of course the California attorney was trying to forestall a will contest based on Timothy Toland's mental incompetency. Oh, he was clever, this Bartlett. She felt a little chill of apprehension when she realized just how clever and quick thinking he was proving to be.

And he was young. The Major was old. Poor old Major. Tomi knew he was mostly noise. Oh, she'd been afraid of his noise when she first came from France. Many

"Maybe this will cheer you up. Bartlett asked me to tell you he'd deposited a certified check for a thousand to your account. He said there was more where that came from, and advised you to invest in light luggage for your plane trip. Now get out of here and go shopping. I'll have your hotel luggage transferred to my apartment. Mrs. Morris will be glad to help you repack and will forward by train what you can't carry. And remember you're having dinner with us and staying until time to go to the airport."

For the first time, Tomi actually felt like an heiress. One thousand dollars awaiting her checks against them, and more dollars where those came from.

Money, to Tomi, meant the clothes she had always wanted to buy. Not the slightly worn models of excellent cut and material which she had followed from salon to bargain rack, but originals still in their pristine freshness. Hours later, when Tomi started for the Morris apartment, twilight was a cold, blue haze over the city. Tomi, however, didn't sense the cold. She had run into a summer cruise sale. She had reveled in flowered prints, in sheer white linens, gay peasant kerchiefs, sandals, great wide-brimmed hats a time she had covered in a clothes press until his breath had petered out.

Then one night when she had been ill he had tiptoed in to pull the covers snugly over her shoulders. One couldn't take even a big noise seriously, after seeing its portly form in red-striped pajamas.

Moments passed. Tomi tried to complete her preparations for departure. She felt as though only one half of her was going West; the other half would remain in the gloomy old Toland house, hating it, pitying those who were incarcerated there through their fear of attempting to face a new world.

A. J. came in from his conference with Bartlett, rubbing his palms together in a pleased fashion. "Bartlett's gone after your reservations. There were two cancellations on the night plane, and he was able to catch them. This will enable you to get away from this unsavory publicity."

Tomi frowned. To leave within twenty-four hours of hearing of her legacy seemed too abrupt. She hadn't had time to adjust herself mentally. And then she remembered what Bartlett had said the previous evening. He had been eager to leave. Perhaps he had inspired this publicity to force her to leave at once.

"So nice of him to let me know my plans," she observed. "I don't know why he thinks I have to jump every time he whistles." "Now, Tomi," scolded A. J., "he's only looking out for your interests; trying to help you out of a difficult situation. See how quickly he grasped the insanity possibilities? Probably saved you a lot of litigation."

"Saved himself," countered Tomi. "Doesn't it occur to you that he won't stand a chance of winning the estate for himself, even though I do fail, if the family wins a contest?"

Shopping Tour

A. J. MORRIS shook his head. "Ah, me," he mourned, "I suppose living with that family would put such suspicions into one's head. Besides, what's the use of crossing bridges until you come to them?" "It's a good plan," snapped Tomi, "to look ahead and make sure somebody hasn't stolen the bridge you'll have to cross if you want to reach the other side."

Morris decided to chuckle.

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, March 2—The Atlantic and East Carolina railroad is doing unusually well in its private management and has so far been able to meet every obligation it undertook when it leased the old Mulefoot Road from the Atlantic and North Carolina, in which the State was the dominant stockholder.

That at least is the very pretty picture painted by E. R. Buchanan, president of the road, who has his headquarters in Winston. Mr. Buchanan said that the road has just mailed a check for February rental, making it paid-up in full through that month, the sixth under private operation.

Not only that, but the A. and E. C. has already laid, in the first half-year of its lease agreement, more than half the ties it agreed to lay during the first year. More than 26,000 new cross-ties are a part of the roadbed, he said, even though none at all were put down in the first sixty days after the new operators started business.

The agreement calls for laying 50,000 new ties in the first year under lease. Mr. Buchanan has become a most enthusiastic booster of eastern North Carolina and of Winston, in particular. "There isn't a finer, more hospitable table people in the world," he told your Raleigh reporter. "I haven't found a bad man in eastern North Carolina."

The Supreme Court of North Carolina hasn't any "no coaching from the side lines rules such as are in effect in football and some other sports. That at least, was obvious Friday morning when W. S. O'Brien, Robinson, senior counsel for the Duke Power company, repeatedly "cued" his younger associate, W. S. McGuire while the latter was arguing the High Point power cases.

It may have been just for show, or it may have been because his associate carried the expense money, but Wilmington's Mayor Tom Cooper strengthened the impression he will run for governor as the "broke" candidate by borrowing five dollars from Finance Commissioner Louis Fisher of Wilmington, when the two city officials found they'd have to stay over in Raleigh Thursday night after a hearing before the Highway Commission on the matter of constructing a truck lane around Wilmington.

Attorneys all always respectful, sometimes almost to the point of being obsequious, when arguing before the Supreme court, but once in a while one lets the justices know that they have only themselves to blame if the argument sometimes goes far afield. For instance, in Friday's High Point power case hearing, the Duke Power Company's chief attorney, W. S. O'Brien, Robinson, had talked on and on, bringing out points about which he had been asked specific questions.

"If I can ever get back to where I started, I'll take that up," he said as the Chief Justice queried him on a new angle. "I've been answering Your Honor's questions and it's taken me a long way from where I was."

It went into the Supreme court record that more than a score of Gullford industries which finally intervened in the power controversy thought for a long time that the City was merely bluffing about building a power plant. "We thought the whole thing was a bluff to force better rates from the Duke Power company," said Carter Dalton, attorney for the industrialists, "and it wasn't until we saw that the city actually intended to go through with building a plant that we got in."

Total of 100 Shares In Baseball Club Sold To Date

THIRD OF GOAL BEEN REACHED

Fifty - Nine Persons Have Subscribed to Favorite Sport

An even one hundred shares of stock in the Greenville baseball club had been sold up to this afternoon. It was announced by Junior Chamber of Commerce officials who have undertaken to sell the stock and insure a local entry in the Coastal Plain league.

The 100 shares are one-third of the number being offered, for $10 each.

A total of 59 persons have bought shares to date, carrying out the idea of making baseball in Greenville a community project with a large number of local citizens taking part in the operation of the club.

The campaign got underway yesterday morning at 9 o'clock with Reynolds May heading the committee in charge of the sale of stock, and it is hoped to complete the task successfully by Monday night.

With indications that Greenville is certain of a baseball team this year, announcement was made that Manager Rube Wilson is already getting a team together. Many of the players here last year will not be back as new rules provide that more rookies be played and that the league stick strictly to class D regulations.

Under this set-up the league will serve as a training ground for ambitious would-be big league players. Although the team, and all others in the league, will be composed of less experienced players this year, they are expected to make up in fighting what they lack in experience, thereby providing the towns with a "hardline" team, more interested in making a good showing than in drawing the pay check.

Persons and firms who subscribed stock in the club so far follow: Charles Cobb, W. P. Moore, W. G. Glass, M. D. Mosley, J. B. Kittrell, W. Moseley, A. M. Mosley, Dr. J. M. Barrett, Carolina Sales Corp., J. Knott, Proctor, W. I. Allen, Paul Scott.

FAILS TO FILL TREE DEMANDS

Requests For Seedlings Exceed Supply Of State

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, March 1.—Demand for seedlings for reforestation has been so heavy this year, that the nurseries of the Conservation Department were not able to supply it. Assistant Director Claude G. of the forestry division, has returned more than $750,000 in checks and his desk has a stack nearly a foot high which have not been tabulated. The division had three and a half million trees for distribution and except for a few thousand white pines at the Henderson county nursery they are all gone. Three

Green Phantoms in Win Over Tarboro Serpents

Locals Hand Old Foe Second Defeat Of Year

By BUDDY HARRINGTON. A record-breaking crowd was on hand to see the G-men of Greenville High School bag the Tarboro Snakes last night by a lead of 22-13. This was the second set-back for the Snakes by the locals this year. The first tilt slipped by a 32-31 margin.

Larry James, who has been ill for the last three games, topped the two teams with ten points followed by Sakas of the locals with half as many as James. This was the last conference tilt of the season for Greenville and they will probably see some keen competition in the tournament to be held in the Greenville High gymnasium next Friday and Saturday.

Facing the opponents was Bill Hutton with three field goals and two completed charity tosses. Captain Thayer was runner-up with three points, and Mewborn concluded their scoring with one field goal.

The Dalletymen got the first basket and they found the same path many times without much trouble. Tarboro never threatened the Phantoms' lead being behind ten points at the half, but they fought hard and kept the Greensies on the fringe.

The Snakes took advantage of the time-out periods by having had their five down by the end of the third quarter, and the Green and White only took advantage of one of theirs the entire game. This win put Greenville in top place in the Eastern conference with nine wins and three losses.

Teams crumpling beneath the power of the local giant are: New Bern, Tarboro, Washington and Roanoke Rapids, twice each and Goldsboro once. These gaining victories are Kingston twice and Goldsboro once.

SCOTT FAVORS BETTER MARTS

Declares Marketing Program N. C. Greatest Need

High Point, March 1.—Present agricultural markets must be kept greater appreciation of North Carolina produce must be created and an adequate marketing program must be the foundation of both, declared W. Kerr Scott, commissioner of agriculture in an address before a large group of Guilford county farmers here today. The occasion was the regular Kiwanis club meeting at which a number of farmers were guests.

The tobacco station at Oxford and million seedlings were shipped from the Clayton nursery, about equally divided between loblolly and long leaf pines.

Several reasons are suggested for the heavy demand this year. Reduction in other crops, increasing better prices being paid for cordwood and pulpwood, and the fact that reforestation is recognized as one of the best means of combating erosion are the most potent reasons for the increased interest in young trees.

The federal government through the Triple A program pays as much as $300 per farm in benefits for land planted in seedling trees. The forestry division of the state department of conservation and development doesn't expect to get eight short next year. Approximately twice as many trees have been planted this winter and will be available next season. However, farmers and others interested are urged to determine their needs and get orders in early so that the department may fill them promptly when the seedlings are ready for transplanting.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood.—Robert Young gave out with his final line of dialogue for the movie "Florian" and then surrendered himself into custody of Frank Borzage, who led him to the studio barber.

With Director Borzage standing by to see that the clippers and shears did exactly what he, Borzage, wanted them to do, Robert Young had a haircut. After lunch a nearly shorn lamb, Robert Young sound stage and at once went to work in Borzage's production of Phyllis Bottomo's novel of modern Germany, "The Mortal Storm."

It's a short, military haircut, and in that fact young Mr. Young saw somewhat flippant hope: "Maybe I'll get a six-weeks' vacation after this one to let my hair grow." Young Mr. Young is under contract. He is also much in demand. When an actor has time between pictures only for a haircut, and that for a picture, he's a busy lad. Young Mr. Young, like most steadily worked contract players, hasn't many vacation prospects.

That is true of a number of other "in demand" people in a town where the unemployed actors, if laid end to end, would reach the headline. It is a sad and confusing situation in which one actor is overworked and a score of actors are over-idled, but it is always the way of Hollywood and the world. Producers go to market and they buy tested, quality-proved goods.

You'd think from the rush on Paulette Goddard right now, that the supply of personable young actresses was as low as a heavy's aim. Miss Goddard is finishing "The Dictators" with Chaplin, she is doing "The Ghost Breakers" (follow-up on "The Cat and the Canary" with Bob Hope) and she is getting ready to do "North West Mounted," the Cecil B. DeMille item. Miss Goddard is so busy that she has to turn down bids like Zanuck's recent offer of the lead in "Public Debt No. 1."

Hollywood's playing of the bull market in personalities is, however, an example of that consistency in which the town is so often charged to be lacking. Let a player get on the merry-go-round marked "In Demand," and little short of an act of God, or of personal indiscretion, or of personal cussedness can knock him off.

The rush on certain personalities carries through to the top ranks of stardom, as witness the present amusing avalanche of "future roles" descended on Bette Davis and Spencer Tracy.

Miss Davis has just begun "All This and Heaven Too" and Tracy is winding up "Edison the Man." But both players are booked ahead far into the future, Tracy having nothing to worry him except "The Yearling" and "Boom Town" and a sequel to "Boys Town" and, almost certainly, a sequel to "Northwest Passage."

Miss Davis has, among other items ahead, "The Letter," "The House on the Hill" and "The Woman Brown."

Unofficially, however, both players have collected enough "vehicles" (in outside speculation) to keep them busy through 1945 at least — and somebody has just knocked himself out with the triumphant inspiration to team the pair.

Guest Of Honor

W. D. CARMICHAEL, JR.

Here is a recent photo of William D. Carmichael, Jr., Controller of the consolidated University of North Carolina who will make his first official appearance in Chapel Hill on next Friday, March 8, when he will be the guest of honor at the annual Alumni Assembly at the Carolina Inn.

Charles W. Tillett of Charlotte, president of the General Alumni Association, will preside over a program designed to demonstrate some of the distinctive work being done by members of the faculty. Class and local club officers are expected to represent their organizations and all alumni are invited to attend. Alumni Secretary J. Marion Saunders is arranging the program.

The Upper Coastal Plain station near Rocky Mount are now well equipped for use of research scientists of the state, said Mr. Scott, after pointing out that North Carolina has the largest tobacco and peanut experiment plants in the country.

"While the problem of agricultural research is ever before us, there is another problem that has been relatively neglected in seeking a solution of our farm life—that problem is agricultural marketing. North Carolina has made great strides and investments in farm production. It remains for us to protect these investments with a substantial program looking toward helping the farmer sell his products after they have been harvested. We can never have a balanced state until our farm leaders and agricultural statesmen give proportionate recognition to the marketing bills now facing our farmers. In the State Department of Agriculture we have made progress in building a better marketing program for North Carolina and we will not rest in our determination to build a balanced agricultural state—a balance that must include emphasis on standardizing grading and preparing our produce in a manner that will aid in recapturing lost markets."

Cabbages were one of the kinds this winter in the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas. The price ranges from $15 to $20 a ton and the yield was better than usual.

will sink back in their bog of inactivity. My opinion is, however, that the backlog of war business on hand will make 1940 a good year for these industries—with or without further large Allied orders.

Decline Sooner Than Expected

My outlook for the first half of 1940 called for the best six months' period since 1929, but at the same time for downward dips. The drop since the turn of the year came quicker and has been sharper than I anticipated, but the winter has also been more severe. Blizzards have tied up business from Hudson Bay almost to the Gulf of Mexico and from coast to coast. Nevertheless, business is still 14 per cent above a year ago which is in line with the 10 to 15 per cent gain that I predicted. Moreover, I agree with the summary of the Florida Business conference that the downturn should soon be halted and the background laid for renewed advance.

The European situation and the uncertainty of our own political picture have given business men another attack of the jitters. When the current period of "watchful waiting" will end, no one dares forecast, but that it must end sometime everyone is agreed. When it does, it will sign off with just as big a bang as similar periods have finished up in the past. My message today, therefore, is: Do not be caught napping when the time to move comes. With business fluctuating in these short, sharp cycles, you must be ready to work fast when the business light turns green!

WANTED: A MAN—THE LAUNDRY MADE MAD

Waco, Tex.—(AP)—As long as a wife has to buy the family niteggs, the potatoes and the baby shoes she may as well become a professional purchasing agent and select her husband's clothing, too.

Some he-men may not like it, but Mrs. T. C. Cardwell, head of the Baylor University Economics Department, is giving her co-eds that idea. She says if women are taught to realize responsibility in buying they will purchase more serviceable clothing for their husbands than the husbands themselves do.

She teaches the co-eds to give attention to buttons, correctly fitted collars, well-sewed seams, effects of laundering on fabrics, and other pertinent details.

To make the course complete she is seeking an exhibit A spectacle of a man in a tantrum just after he has discovered his self-purchased shirt shrank three sizes while in the laundry.

Submarine Is Big Show

Papeete, Tahiti.—(AP)—Although Tahitians read much of submarines, they never saw one until the United States navy's Pompano put into port recently. People came from all parts of the French colony to see the craft.

CHICOD NEWS

Rev. W. A. Crow will hold a 11 o'clock service at Salem Church tomorrow morning as usual.

The Epworth League of Salem and Grimesland churches served a supper on Thursday night of this week in the Sunday School rooms. Benefits from supper will be used for general expenses of the league.

The Missionary Auxiliary of said church, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Porter near Chicod yesterday afternoon at 3 p. m.

The meeting was well attended and much interest was shown.

Mrs. Murray Porter, hostess, assisted by Mrs. Theodore Porter, Mrs. Wilburn Spence and Miss Porter served a delicious salad course with hot coffee. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. John Porter.

Mrs. Bessie Barron, Misses Lena, and Jennie Barron and little Miss Barron are well at this writing, we are glad to report.

H. H. Porter, Sr., who has been ill with the flu, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mills, of near Chicod, have just recovered from the flu.

Mrs. J. C. Galloway, Jr., who is in Pitt General hospital, has a fine baby boy, James Carlyle Galloway. Grimesland high school boys and girls played at Winterville last night. The Grimesland girls won over Griffin. The boys were cheerful losers.

All Pitt County P. T. A. presidents with the exception of two, Stokes and Griffin at the Proctor Hotel in Greenville on Thursday.

Mrs. Fuson, our district director and Mrs. Tucker, of New Bern, were present.

Much business was discussed and lots of helpful information received. We were so glad to have the presidents from Greenville city schools present. Mrs. Parker of Fountain was chosen president of our county council. A most delicious luncheon was served. We wish to thank the manager of the Proctor Hotel and his helpers for all courtesies shown us.

The Grimesland debating team will close their triangular debate on Wednesday of this week. Affirmative: Helen Thomas and Ashley Hudson. Negative: Louise Allen and Max Tucker. The affirmative side will debate against Farmville at Grimesland. The negative will debate against Farmville negative the same day at Farmville.

Legion Will Sponsor Oratorical Contest

Chapel Hill, March 2—Plans for an oratorical contest to be held here in Gerrard Hall, Wednesday night, March 20, at 7 o'clock, under the auspices of the State Department of the American Legion, were announced today by Paul Roberson, of Chapel Hill, chairman of the 8th district. There are 20 districts in this state.

The subject of the contest will be "How the Constitution Benefits America and Its Citizens."

High school students in Vance, Warren, Granville, Orange and Durham counties comprising the 8th district, will be eligible. Towns in these counties will hold elimination contests and winners will participate in the Chapel Hill contest.

From here they will enter the regional contest and the winner will be eligible for the national event, the winner of which will receive a four-year scholarship to college and a medal.

LEAGUE'S 1940 BUDGET WOULD BUY DESTROYER

Geneva, Switzerland.—(AP)—League of Nations statisticians figured recently that the League's annual budget has dropped from the cost of a second class battleship to the price of an ordinary destroyer.

Recent budgetary cuts brought on by resignations, failures to pay the League assessments and the ousting of Russia forced the League to operate annually on about $5,000,000 instead of the previous $7,500,000.

Statisticians say you could only buy a fairly good destroyer for the 1940 budget figure while the 1939 expenditures would have paid for a light battleship.

They even went on from there and figured out that the 1940 arms budget for the United States would pay the League's operating expenses for the next 40 years.

Geneva, Switzerland.—(AP)—League of Nations statisticians figured recently that the League's annual budget has dropped from the cost of a second class battleship to the price of an ordinary destroyer.

Recent budgetary cuts brought on by resignations, failures to pay the League assessments and the ousting of Russia forced the League to operate annually on about $5,000,000 instead of the previous $7,500,000.

Statisticians say you could only buy a fairly good destroyer for the 1940 budget figure while the 1939 expenditures would have paid for a light battleship.

They even went on from there and figured out that the 1940 arms budget for the United States would pay the League's operating expenses for the next 40 years.

Trade Holding Well

Meanwhile, mail order and department store merchants all over the country report good retail trade. The early Easter this year may account for part of the current gain over a year ago, but it does not explain the entire step-up in sales tempo. Much of the gain can be credited to a substantial improvement in factory payrolls, farm income, and investors' dividends—all of which are chugging along well above last year's figures. Retail prices are four per cent above the level of last March, while increased public buying power has pushed total dollar sales up even higher.

Sparkling in the fall's boomlet was the sudden revival of the heavy industries—all of which are chugging along well above last year's figures. Retail prices are four per cent above the level of last March, while increased public buying power has pushed total dollar sales up even higher.
