HEAVY LOSSES ARE REPORTED IN WAR AT SEA

German Sub Reported Victim of British Planes

BRITISH VESSEL IS KNOWN LOST

Two Other Merchantmen Said To Have Been Sunk In Struggle For Control Of The Seas

London, March 5.—(AP)—Stroke and counter stroke in the struggle for control of the seas today matched a report of the probable destruction of a German submarine by air attacks against the known loss of a British merchantman and a possible loss of two others.

A Royal Air Force plane scouting a German naval stronghold in Helgoland bight was reported last night by the Air Ministry to have scored a direct hit on a submarine lying at the surface of shallow water.

"After the attack the submarine was seen enveloped in a cloud of grayish-black smoke with only the upper part of its conning tower above water," the Air Ministry said.

But, against this stroke the British had to weigh the announcement early today that the 6,717-ton motorship Pacific Reliance had been sunk off the west coast "by enemy action" and SOS messages indicating that the 5,841-ton steamer El Ciervo and the 10,516-ton tanker Charles F. Moyer had run afoul of undersea raiders.

A combined tonnage of the vessels is many times over the 1,836 which the admiralty said was definitely lost to British shipping in the week ending March 3. Against the week's British sinkings the Admiralty reported that to avert capture of the crews of four German vessels totalling 18,490 tons scuttled their ships.

Start On Addition For Hosiery Mill

Work has been started on the new addition to the Davis Mill Fashioned Hosiery Mill Inc. which will house dyeing finishing and boxing operations and enable the local plant to ship the finished product direct from here.

At present there are being sent to Burlington to be finished and shipped.

W. R. Davis, president of the mills, declared that at present much money now come out of the city would be spent here when the addition is completed. He also said it was the aim of the firm to expand its knitting facilities here in the near future.

The building, being erected on Reade street between Fourteenth and the Norfolk Southern railroad tracks at an estimated cost of $15,000 will be of concrete, equipped with sprinkler system. It will be 200 by 100 feet in size, and will provide dyeing, finishing and boxing facilities for the 25 knitting machines now controlled by the Davis company.

Approximately 75 persons will be added to the present payroll of 112, Mr. Davis declared.

Cumberl'd Man Held In Death Of His Wife

Fayetteville, March 5.—(AP)—The Cumberland county grand jury indicted Charles R. Wishart of Hope Mills today on a murder charge in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Annie M. Wishart last February 18.

Wishart was arrested and held without bond.

Mrs. Wishart died of a brain hemorrhage, an autopsy report said. Corner W. C. Davis quoted her husband as saying she fell the night before and struck her head against a table at home.

Ships Halted

London, March 5.—(AP)—Five Italian ships were taken to the British command control base off Devon in southern England today in face of the growing controversy between Britain and Italy over Italian imports of German coal.

Following announcement by Minister of Economic Warfare Cross in the House this afternoon that two Italian vessels carrying German coal had already been detained, two British destroyers tonight escorted three more Italian vessels to the control base where the other Italian ships were anchored.

So heavy was the rainstorm in Berkeley, Calif., that workmen had to be called in to construct dykes in an apartment house to shunt flood waters from one room into another. The flash flood caused thousands of dollars of damage.

Negro Witness Throws Committee Into Turmoil

TWINS IN CITY COMMISSIONED

Named By Governor To Represent State At Meet

The Misses Clara and Ruth Crumpler of this city, graduates of Greenville high school last year and at present popular members of the freshman class of East Carolina Teachers College, have been officially designated by Governor Hoyer as North Carolina's College Twins to attend a convention of Texas college twins to be held at Baylor university April 5-6.

A commission so designating the local girls, daughters of Mrs. Cadmus Capehart, as the official state representatives has been received by the twins. The impressive-looking official document bears the signature of Governor Hoyer and also that of Secretary of State Thad Eure.

The girls are not quite sure they will be able to attend. They have their commission, all expenses at the convention will be paid by the sponsors, but there is the question of getting to and from Texas. Upon the advice of interested persons, the twins are taking the case to the various civic organizations of the city with the possibility that such organizations will sponsor the trip to the extent of providing transportation.

The two are filled with enthusiasm over the prospects and remarked that they hoped to go even if they had to "hop rides."

There is no doubt that they would make creditable representatives not only for the state, but for Greenville. They were popular in high school, where they were cheer leaders and drum majorettes and their popularity has followed them to the campus of East Carolina Teachers College, where they are active in various campus and club activities.

To Sponsor Dance For Hospital Bed

The Greenville Service League, which has undertaken the maintenance of the Laughinghouse hospital bed, is making plans to conduct a dance for this cause, the dance to be held early next month.

Mrs. W. L. Harrington has been named chairman of the Dance Committee. Mrs. K. B. Pace, chairman of decorations and Miss Hennie Long, chairman of publicity. This affair will be of wide interest both as an outstanding social event and as a philanthropic project.

Interest in the Laughinghouse bed has been general since it was provided by the Service League over a year ago. Mrs. R. M. Garrett, chairman of the bed committee, has received letters from many of the local doctors commending the work which provides hospitalization for many people in the community, who otherwise would be without it.

Scrap books are being made by some of the League members for children in hospital wards.

FINN DEFENSES STILL HOLDING INVADING REDS

Foes Locked In Fighting After All-Day Battle

SOVIETS TRYING ENCIRCLE CITY

Russian Forces Attacking Viipuri Across Island And Also From Finnish Shore

Helsinki, March 5.—(AP)—The Finnish defenders of Viipuri, after battling all day yesterday with Russians attacking across the islands of the Bay of Viipuri still were locked in combat in this strategic area today, the Finnish high command announced in its daily communique.

The invading Russians were attempting to encircle the city, long deserted by civilians and considered virtually lost even by the Finns themselves.

In addition to attacking the islands in the bay, the Reds attacked on the northwest shore, from where they presumably could drive against Viipuri from the rear.

"On the isthmus enemy attacks against the islands in the Bay of Viipuri and the northwest shore of the bay continued all day March 4," said the communique. "Fighting continued at the mouth of the bay; at all other points attacks were repulsed."

Although fighting was heavy on the very outskirts of Viipuri, Finnish sources maintained that Soviet troops had not yet entered the city proper. The Finns reported continuing fighting at Kuhmo with the defenders "capturing several enemy strong points." The Russians were said to have lost more than 500 killed.

Warns Of Dangers From Kite-Flying

Declaring that each year during the kite-flying season several children lose their lives by kites and strings becoming entangled in high voltage wires, Martin Swartz, superintendent of the Greenville Water and Light commission today issued a warning to all parents to guard against such a tragedy in this section.

Mr. Swartz explained that an ordinary cotton string was a conductor of electricity when wet. He said that numerous kites became entangled in high tension wires with the strings left hanging to the ground. He declared that if it rained and the string became wet it would be serious or fatal to anyone who came in contact with it. He also said the tangled kite and string were subject to cause interruption, burning down the line.

Mr. Swartz urged all parents to caution their children of the danger of kites flying into electric lines. He said that should a kite become tangled in a line the parents should notify the Water and Light Commission offices at once so that a service man could be sent to the scene to remove it immediately before any damage could be caused or anyone hurt.

Testifies Before Group Hearing Lynching Bill

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—A husky Negro communist, Benjamin Davis of New York City, threw a Senate hearing on anti-lynching legislation into turmoil today by testifying before the Senate Judiciary committee that he had been a member of the "Kluge" labor baiter.

Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.) chairman of the Judiciary sub-committee conducting the hearing and co-sponsor of the lynching bill, shouted at the Negro at one point "that's an insult" and struck from the committee records Davis's description of the Vice President and members of Congress.

"You crashed the gates of this committee just to try and send out communist propaganda," Van Nuys said when the Negro concluded after a running argument with committee members.

"You have done more harm to prevent passage of this bill than anyone who has ever appeared."

Davis, who testified he was on the editorial board of the Daily Worker, communist newspaper, protested against questions about freedom of speech and the press and communist Russia.

Before permitting the Communist party representative to testify, Chairman Van Nuys remarked that Earl Browder, general secretary of the communist party, had requested testimony by party representatives.

DEFER ACTION ON RESOLUTION

Postpone Move To Eliminate Census Questions

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The Senate Commerce committee, voted, 10 to 5, today to postpone until next Tuesday action on a resolution suggesting that questions about personal income be eliminated from the 1940 census.

Chairman Bailey (D-NC) said the action was taken "because many persons want to read the record of the hearings."

Sen. Clark (D-Mo.) termed the postponement "a filibuster" against the resolution, sponsored by Sen. Tobey (R-NH).

Clark was reported to have advised the committee in a closed session that unless action was taken promptly the census scheduled to begin April 1 "will be over."

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) was quoted as saying "if we keep on delaying like this we are going to have to rebuild all the jails in the country to hold the conscientious objectors to census questions."

Pasture is the cheapest feed that can be produced on the farm for any kind of livestock, according to F. R. Farnham, animal husbandman of the State College Extension Service.

May Restore Appropriation For 3rd Panama Canal Lock If Work Can Start At Once

Administration Leaders Reveal Plans To Include $15,000,000 in War Department's Civil Functions Fund After Conference at White House; Item Had Been Eliminated In House

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Administration leaders said after a White House conference today that a $15,000,000 item to begin work on a third set of locks at the Panama canal would be restored if a study disclosed construction could be started immediately.

The money was stricken from the War department's civil functions appropriation bill by the House Appropriations committee and its action was upheld by the House.

Sen. Barkley of Kentucky, the majority floor leader, said on leaving the White House the House committee had been under the impression the work could not start for two years.

He added that the situation would be studied and if it was found the project could be undertaken immediately, as President Roosevelt believes, the appropriation undoubtedly would be restored in the Senate.

Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead and Rep. Rayburn of Texas, House leader, also attended the conference but aside from the canal item they would not say what was taken up at the regular weekly meeting with the chief executive.

Mr. James T. Little, in charge of the Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., campaign in Greenville announced today that a booth would be maintained at the Pitt theatre for the convenience of persons wishing to make contributions to the homeless and hungry civilian population of Finland.

Outline Campaign For Finnish Fund

The Service League from 2:30 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m. but it was explained, the league is not sponsoring the drive.

Mrs. J. S. Pickles is county chairman and has named aides in other sections of the county besides Greenville.

Mrs. Little called attention to the following excerpts from an address by Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the fund.

"For 1200 years the Finns have lived in their beloved north land. During these 1200 years they have been conquered and dominated time and again. But just as often their eternal courage and their determination for freedom have regained for them their independence. And even when overrun by other nations their rugged character has held to a great measure of the rights of men."

"Today we ask the American people for help. We ask it that we may show the sympathy that lies within every American heart. We ask it that we may have human life and prevent suffering."

The new law extending the income tax to public employees is estimated to affect 2,300,000 persons heretofore exempt.

Raeder Promises "Consideration"

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder of Germany is shown in this radio-photo during an interview at Berlin in which he declared "The German navy will do its best to show every possible consideration to American vessels." Detroit City Officials Included In Indictment

Named By Judge Investigating Graft And Gambling

Detroit, March 5.—(AP)—Six high public officials of Wayne county (Detroit), including Sheriff Thomas E. Wilcox and Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, were indicted today by Judge Homer Ferguson, sitting as a one-man grand jury investigating gambling and graft.

The indictment charged conspiracy to operate or permit the operation of disorderly houses, gambling houses, handbooks and policy games.

Forty-five other persons were named in the indictment.

McCrea is already under indictment on charges of conspiracy to protect or operate a one million dollar a year baseball pool in Detroit.

The indictment followed by only a few hours an attempt by McCrea's men to invade the grand jury headquarters. Judge Ferguson, calling out police riot squads for protection, charged that McCrea was seeking to seize the grand jury's records and prevent a court examination on the earlier indictment tomorrow.

TRY EIGHT AT A. M. SESSION

Various Charges Aired At Pitt County Court

Eight cases involving various charges were tried in County court this morning and in addition three were transferred to Superior court for jury trial and another defendant was cited for contempt of court after he failed to comply with a former judgment in a domestic case.

Charles Bowen, white man now living in Snow Hill, was the man cited for contempt and the court ordered that he make certain payments for the support of his children or serve a term on the roads.

The cases charging Otis Parker white, with giving a worthless check, Rascoe Carroll, colored, with assault, and Francis Hardy, white, with driving drunk, were transferred to Superior court. Judge Dink James recommended that Hardy's license be revoked pending the trial.

Dewey W. Stokes, white, was convicted of driving drunk and was fined $50, taxed with the costs, had his license revoked for 18 months and ordered not to appear in any public place in an intoxicated condition for 18 months. The defendant appealed to Superior court.

James Henry Grey, Jr., white, pleaded guilty to driving drunk and careless and reckless and was fined $50, taxed with court costs and had his license revoked.

EXTENSION OF ANTI-POLITICS BILL DEBATED

Warm Debate Develops In Senate Over Hatch Act

STATES' RIGHTS ARE BROUGHT UP

Sen. Minton Says Proposal Might Give Federal Government Control Over State Elections

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Senator Minton (D-Ind.) declared today that expansion of the Hatch anti-politics law to include state employees paid partly by federal funds might give the federal government opportunity "to control" purely state elections.

He brought up discussion of this question in the Senate soon after Senator Hatch (D-N.M.) started off debate on an amendment to the law. Hatch said the amendment would prevent political activity by state employees paid in part from federal funds, just as the law already bars federal employees from engaging in such activity.

Minton asked whether Hatch believed the Federal government had any control "over a purely state election in which only state officers are to be elected."

Hatch replied that the government had jurisdiction only over elections in which federal officials were to be elected. But, he said, the government had a right to prevent political activity by state employees paid partly from federal funds.

"Then," Minton countered, "the government has no power to control a state election under the constitution, but it may grant or withhold funds in an effort to control state elections."

Minton asked whether the government "could use one of its powers in order to coerce state employees in a field where it has utterly no jurisdiction?"

Fines assessed during the period amounted to $125. During January costs totaled $130.15 and fines $100.

A total of 103 indictments were reported for February and of this number 44 paid the costs of court, swelling the public pension fund and the State Department of Justice treasury by $44 each.

Fines are turned over to the school system, while costs go into the city general fund.

At this meeting Miss Holtzclaw will give those present an opportunity to discuss personal problems in the family budget.

At a recent study on the values that can be bought with the food dollar five brands of peas were opened and examined. Each cost the same amount but the contents varied. It is through laboratory methods that modern wives are learning to give the family the best for the least money.

These study meetings are sponsored by the Council of Family Relations and the Social Studies Department of The University Women.

The study group met at 7 o'clock before the P. T. A. meeting. This study group is made up of parents, teachers and others interested in the problems that confront us when we deal with children.

The P. T. A. program was especially interesting. The Glee Club, a new feature of our school under the direction of Miss Ruth Ellen sang "Lonesome Road." Then Miss Smith's fifth grade presented a short play "February Day".

Our speaker for the night was Dr. H. J. McGinnis, in the absence of J. H. Rose. He gave us a brief outline of the National Education Association meeting held at St. Louis. One of the most interesting points was "What Is Right With The Schools of Today," instead of the usual "What's Wrong" topic.

Miss Smith's room was the circulating picture "The Song of The Lark" for the highest attendance of parents.

SMALL CHAT

The contractors at work on the bridge say it will be open to travel Wednesday.

It is getting to the kind of weather now that pleases the farmers. They can do some work.

Mr. Jesse Speight arrived at Greenville Saturday through the country from Wilson, and expected to leave for some point Sunday. But on account of the river bridge being down he was unable to cross the river and make his train. On his way home he bought one hundred bales of cotton.

Two new telephones were put in this week.

Bethel Round Table Meets.

Bethel, March 5.—Greeting in her usual charm of manner and spirit of genuine hospitality, Mrs. F. L. Blount welcomed the Round Table Club to her home on Tuesday afternoon.

Japanese quince and the baby spirea used in the decoration gave a cheery and beautiful message of the approach of spring. Special guests for the afternoon were Mrs. J. S. Moore, Mrs. Edwin B. Josey and Mrs. J. G. Waldrop.

The President, Mrs. J. B. Bunting, opened the meeting by having Mrs. Tom Andrews read the Club Collect. After a short business session, Mrs. A. M. McWhorter presented the program. The subject of the program was The Opera Carmen. Her arrangement of the program, given in four parts, was very effective and interesting. Her introduction of operas in the making was followed by the story of Carmen. Then the musical numbers from the opera were given by Mrs. J. P. Hooker and Mrs. M. M. Johnson, lending such a lively atmosphere. Mrs. M. Y. Self gave a very clever and enlightening biography of the greatest star of Carmen, Emma Calve.

The hostess served a salad plate with coffee. Each guest was presented with Saint Patrick's Day favors. The club adjournment elapsed over the hundred percent attendance and the superb program.

Wolfe At College Tonight.

Henry C. Wolfe, foreign affairs expert and international correspondent, who will speak at the College tonight at 8 o'clock was one of the few people who expected the Russo-German alliance. Long before it came about, he predicted it in a magazine article, which was widely read and commented on.

Now he is making another startling prediction based on information from authoritative sources: In a syndicated newspaper article that appeared in papers throughout the country on February 4, Mr. Wolfe asked "Will Hitler Have A Fatal Accident?" and gave his answer to the question.

Mr. Wolfe gets his background for his forecasts from a close study of the European situation made right on the ground. For twenty years he has been "sitting on the lid of the powder barrel" in Europe. Because of his contributions to better relations between nations he has been awarded six decorations: the Order of George I of Greece, Order of the Crown of Rumania, Order of Saint Sava of Yugoslavia, Order of Polonia Restituta of Poland, Order of the White Lion of Czechoslovakia, and the Academic Palms of France.

Mr. Wolfe will speak tonight on "What Is Happening In World Affairs?" The program is to be held in the Wright Auditorium.

Mrs. James S. Ficklen and Mrs. James T. Little, Service League members, have accepted the respective appointments of County and City chairmen of the Finnish Relief fund. Mrs. Little states that all donations to the fund will be entirely voluntary and that no amount is too small to be acceptable. Her assistants will be at the Pitt Theatre during the matinee and evening shows for several days to receive donations to the fund.

The Service League Thrift Shop is beginning now to solicit warm clothing for next winter. As Spring approaches, winter wearing apparel is being discarded. Everything that is sent to the Thrift Shop will be cleaned, mended and put away until next Fall when it can be beneficially placed among the needy. The Thrift Shop requests anything, for either adults or children, that can be spared. Buttons to be used in repair work are needed at the present time also.

The Service League layette committee, of which Mrs. E. C. Wilkerson is chairman, turned in five layettes to the County Welfare Department during February.

At a recent meeting of the Service League, Miss Virginia Boeger, member of the local Girl Scouts Council, addressed the group in behalf of the Greenville Girl Scouts. She said they need not only financial, but moral support, particularly in the form of leadership. She told of the day nursery the Girl Scouts expect to open soon, and of the cabin they hope to have for recreational purposes. Miss Boeger said there are some girls who want to join the Scouts, but are kept from it by inability to pay their dues.

At this League theme meeting, the President asked for more books for the Colored Library, particularly children's books. She said it seemed to her that the children are making even more eager and enthusiastic use of the new library than the adults.

Miss Jessie Move told the League about the puppet shows being given at the Federal Art Center and asked for scraps from which costumes for the puppets might be made. She said the next show requires elaborate costumes and that scraps of satin or velvet, and discarded trunks containing brilliants will be welcomed at the Art Center.

Campaign Dragging With Filing Deadline Nearing

LABOR IN N. C. MAY PICK MAN

Meeting Likely Have Gubernatorial Repercussions

By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, March 4.—A big American Federation of Labor meeting held in Atlanta this week-end just past is likely to have more than a little effect on North Carolina's current gubernatorial race.

The sessions were attended by delegates from all parts of the Southeast and the primary purpose was to plan for organization campaigns during 1940.

At the same time it is certain that the Tar Heels who went to the Georgia capital discussed with regional and national officials their course of action in the North Carolina primary campaign.

It is much too early yet for anything that happened along these political lines to have leaked out; and it is safe to say that there will be no official announcement from that Federation of Labor headquarters until its executive committee, at least, has held a formal session and taken up the situation in detail. Chances are strong, however, that President C. A. Fink and his closest advisers have by now made up their minds which direction they will travel.

Every one of the six gubernatorial candidates would, of course, be glad to get the announced support of the State Federation and such an endorsement for one of them is not by any means an impossibility. On the other hand, it is more likely that final action of the Federation will be publication of a statement reviewing the labor record of the candidates without any particular stress upon support of one of them.

WHAT TO TELL YOUR DAUGHTER

If your daughter is entering womanhood and you notice she's getting restless, nervous and moody—if she's bothered by cramps, headaches, embarrassing fainting spells due to female functional "irregularities"—by all means have her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, March 4.—North Carolina's many-sided gubernatorial race still drags along with no outward signs of animation, although deadline for filing by statewide candidates is now slightly less than two weeks away and in a couple of days less than twelve weeks the voters will go to the polls to express their preferences.

Not a candidate has opened Raleigh headquarters. Only three of the six had named State manager through the end of last week, and none has really begun his formal speaking campaign, although all of them were making as much political capital as possible out of addresses before this, that and the other group or organization.

That is a situation practically without precedent in North Carolina, where gubernatorial campaigns are usually filled with excitement, charges and oratory—although it's been a long time since the Tar Heel National Guard was called out to "preserve order" as has been done in some of the fellow states of the south in recent years.

This situation, it can be said without any bias or prejudice, is making for the present benefit of the three candidates who are generally regarded as having something of an edge over their competitors. The trio is composed of J. M. Broughton, W. P. Horton and A. J. Maxwell—and it will be noted they are listed alphabetically and without any attempt at ranking them as to their relative status with the voters.

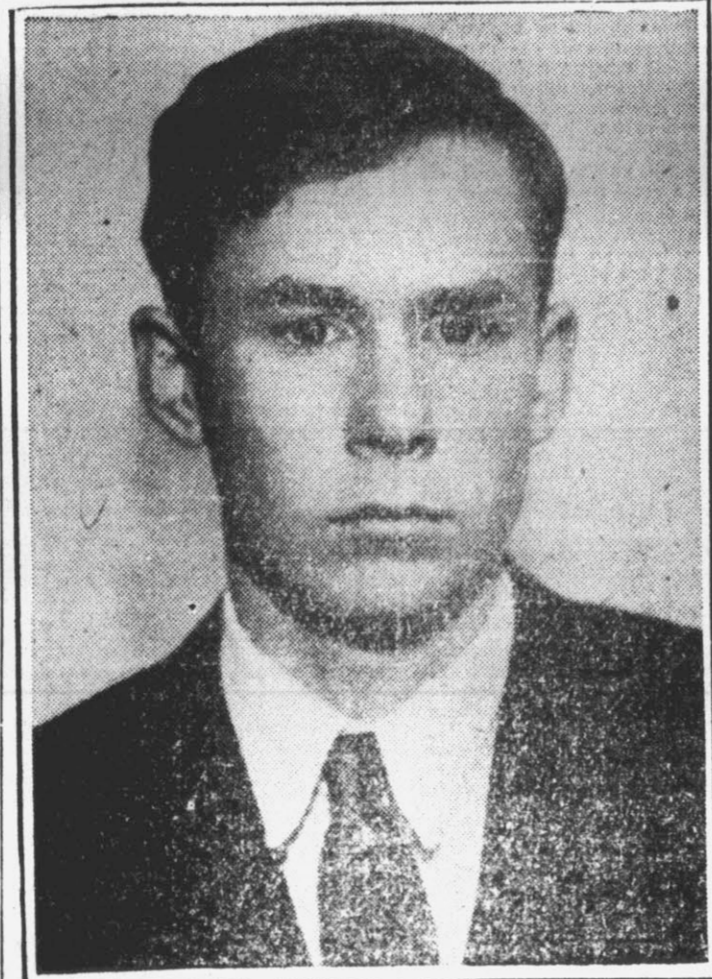

Lee Gravely, Paul Grady and Tom Cooper, the other potentially powerful candidates are not getting the mention, in Raleigh talk at least, that is coming to the three already named.

Two others who call themselves candidates (Colonel Arthur Simmons of Burlington and Bryant Thompson of Hamlet) are ignored in this summary as they are being ignored by the wholesale all over the state. It would take nothing short of a series of political miracles to make either of them a contender worth talking about—and it's been a long time since any such miracles have been worked.

There is some doubt in the mind of your Raleigh reporter whether Gravely, Grady and Cooper are really as far behind as reports heard here would indicate on their face. It must always be kept in mind that practically all the Raleigh folks who do any political talking are state officials, employes or otherwise closely connected with the administration. Visitors who are closely connected with political affairs, too, are for the most part tarred with the administration stick.

It follows that the talk here, both from home-grown politicians and from visitors is likely to be tinted according to the speaker's desires as well as his honest judgment.

Best 4-H Member In State

ROE J. DEAL

Winner of the four-year scholarship to N. C. State College for the outstanding 4-H club record of 1939 is Roe J. Deal of the Brasstown Club in Clay county, shown above. Funds for financing this scholarship were donated by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, through A. G. Floyd, state manager of the Bureau and himself a graduate of State College. The Chilean Educational Bureau also donates scholarships to the State 4-H Short Course, held at State College each summer.

There is no escaping the conclusion that the three candidates whom the administration (meaning the governor, the state department heads and the great army of the dominant political faction in North Carolina) prefers Broughton, Horton or Maxwell to any of the other three. That's perhaps why almost everybody talked to here puts one or the other of this trio in front.

But everyone who does talk—visitors or home folks—readily admits that there isn't even a flicker of real, honest interest among the great bulk of those who are qualified to vote on May 25. The papers are carrying political news and gossip, the politicians are guardedly trying to make up their minds, whom to back, the candidates are making all the noise they can; out so far they might just as well be shouting up a chimney or into a deep, dark well.

TOTAL OF 379 LOSE LICENSE

Sharp Decrease Noted in Month Just Completed

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, March 5.—There were no drivers license revocations during February in 28 North Carolina counties as the total for the entire state dropped sharply to 379 for the month, according to records of the Highway Safety Division.

It was the first time in nearly half a year that any month showed less than 500 revocations. This year started with 531 in January, while for the last quarter of 1939 the average was far above the half-thousand mark.

The counties without revocations were Anson, Ashe, Avery, Carteret, Cherokee, Clay, Currituck, Dare, Gates, Graham, Granville, Greene, Hyde, Jones, Macon, Madison, Mitchell, Onslow, Orange, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Polk, Swain, Tyrrell, Washington, Watauga and Yancey.

At the other end of the line Guilford led in total revocations with 33, followed by Forsyth with 26, Richmond 14, Wake 13, Alexander, Catawba, Pitt and Rowan, 12 each.

Revocations in other counties were: Alamance 6, Alleghany 2, Beaufort 3, Bertie 2, Bladen 2, Brunswick 1, Buncombe 10, Burke 3, Cabarrus 11, Caldwell 6, Camden 1, Caswell 2, Chatham 2, Chowan 1, Cleveland 1, Columbus 3, Craven 3, Cumberland 5, Davidson 4, Davie 2, Duplin 1, Durham 1, Edgecombe 3, Franklin 2, Gaston 6, Halifax 4, Harnett 1, Haywood 2, Henderson 2, Hertford 1, Hoke 2, Iredell 9, Jackson 1, Johnston 1, Lenoir 4, Lincoln 1, Martin 1, McDowell 5, Mecklenburg 11, Montgomery 3, Moore 6, Nash 7, New Hanover 2, Northampton 1, Pender 1, Person 1, Randolph 6, Robeson 9, Rockingham 7, Rutherford 2, Sampson 1, Scotland 1, Stanly 8, Stokes 4, Surry 8, Transylvania 1, Union 1, Vance 3, Warren 1, Wayne 5, Wilkes 4, Wilson 3, Yadkin 3.

Rural electrification projects, bringing power to farm families without this service before, are steadily increasing in North Carolina, says D. E. Jones, of State College.

The opening of a new milk receiving station in Shelby will require that farmers within a forty-mile radius put more cows on their farms to fill the station's needs.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

MAKE YOUR JOB BIG
One of the best ways to get more out of a thing for the job you have to do is to begin doing it better.

Some people never make a good job of the work at hand because they are always thinking about some other job which they hope they may get. The result of such an attitude of mind is twofold: first, one finds himself in a constant state of ferment, in a feverish restlessness, that destroys peace. In the second place, such an attitude destroys completely his ability to do the job
at hand.

So when you get sick of your job—
as everybody does at times—try the remedy of working a little harder at it and observe the result. You will find to your surprise that the job is not so unpleasant as you thought it was, or if that is not the case, then you will find that much of the trouble with the job has arisen from the fact that you have not put your best into it. You will get a new sense of exhilaration that will please you more than your fruitless dreams about promotion.

Best of all, you will make the possibilities of a new job move nearer to realization.

Big jobs are waiting only for men who are doing their present jobs in a big way.

Whether you wish to donate "Fighting Funds For Finland" or donate funds for the relief of suffering to the women and children of Finland made homeless and destitute by the Russian invasion, you have the opportunity to make your contributions locally with the assurance that the funds will be used for the purpose for which you give them. The Guaranty Bank and Trust Company is accepting the
"Fighting Funds for Finland" while a local "Finnish Relief" organization headed by Mrs. James S. Ficklen as county chairman and Mrs.
James T. Little as Greenville chairman, will be glad to accept funds for the relief work. If you desire to contribute to either or both of these worthwhile causes we urge you to contact the abov-mentioned organizations.

Two specific dangers from electricity are being brought to the attention of our people, both of which are entitled to the consideration
they deserve. Yesterday,
W. A. Darden of the local Water and Light Commission called attention to dangers surrounding home-made electric stock fences or fences of such a type that do not carry essential safeguards. The other matter deals with the dangers from kite strings hanging from electric lines that might become wet and conduct electricity of high voltage and bring death to some person who might come into contact with the string. In bringing the matter of kites to the attention of our people the city authorities have no desire to take away from our boys the enjoyment they get from their kites but they do argue that kites be flown in areas where the strings will not become entangled with the electric lines. We think both of these warnings are timely and they should be given proper heed.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—Despite all this talk about the gloomy prospects for American youth of today, everybody still has a general confidence in the future of the country. We are encouraged relatively few parents, however, who are satisfied with the present state of the Supreme Court. Perhaps something ought to be done to stimulate that ambition.

First of all a promising youngster's chance for reaching the court are statistically 9 to 1 but that the prospect for some of the White House Second, the public esteem for a justice often is equal
—and sometimes greater than—that accorded a chief executive. Third, a Supreme Court post is just about the nicest of all the nice jobs in Washington.

It's a good bet that some of the current justices are weighing the perquisites of their posts right now.

Five Are Mentioned
Gentlemen of the court, in unusually large number, are being included in this year's speculation on presidential possibilities.

Justices Douglas, Murphy and Frankfurter have been mentioned on the Democratic side. Justices Roberts and Stone on the Republican.

Only once in American political history has a justice left the bench
to become a presidential candidate. Charles Evans Hughes was "drifted" by the Republicans in 1916 and resigned from the court on the day of his nomination. Political adversaries attacked him for "quitting the sacrosanct atmosphere of the court for the sordid political arena" notwithstanding the high level of his personal campaign.

Many a congressman in the thick of legislative turmoil and facing a tight back home for reelection must look with longing on the serene round of duties of the nine men in black. Justices don't have to write explanatory letters to disgruntled constituents. They're not harassed by persistent applications for jobs from "deserving" supporters. Nobody blames them for depressions or unbalanced budgets.

Few Social Obligations
They have pleasant work, for a lifetime, in pleasant surroundings,
even the cuspidors are works of art
in the magnificent Supreme Court building. The pay of $20,000 a year
—double what a Senator gets—on at the same rate after retirement.

Since it is traditionally considered a duty for the justices to live comparatively aloof from persons active in politics, expensive entertainment is not necessary. They have high official and social rank, yet they need not attend the immen-surable staff functions that are a heavy drain on the strength of Presidents and others in the political whirlpool.

Grade A Washington hostesses
consider a justice—not to mention a chief justice—a prize catch for a dinner party. The best part of it is the justice is not obligated to return the courtesy. Some justices regularly decline White House invitations and their refusal are always accepted in good grace because of their unique social category.

Wreck Blamed On Faulty Equipment
Raleigh, March 4.—Faulty equipment nosed out speeding as the principal reported violation on North Carolina streets and highways last month, records of the Highway Safety Division show.
The primary moving violation report shows 358 convictions on charges of faulty equipment followed closely by 354 for speeding.
The third principal reported violation was failing to have driving licenses 176 having been convicted on this charge.

bought there the day before, is characteristic of him, but unfortunately not of all political candidates, many of whom are not in the least scrupulous about paying their debts—
personal or campaign.

There is a well-founded story that two days after the 1932 primary Tomi had been officially canvassed.
Mr. Maxwell went to Goldsboro and borrowed enough money to pay off every outstanding debt; sent for every person to whom anything was due and wiped the financial slate
clean.

Which will not hurt the Maxwell chances a bit in this race, either.

In contrast to the Maxwell procedure, according to reliable reports,
was that of another state-wide candidate—not for Governor, defeated in the winter election, are still believing the fact they'll never get back money they spent out of their own pockets in his behalf and upon his specific pledge to reimburse them.

W. B. Keziah, Southport and Brunswick county publicist, has put out a story recently which ought to be—if it isn't—used by the Department of Conservation and Development in defense of its action
in diverting some funds derived from fish and game licenses to forestry and forest fire prevention.

Mr. Keziah reports that his section's intensified campaign for the prevention of forest fires not only has increased game, but the supply of fresh water fish.

The prevention of fires has resulted in elimination of floods and the steady replenishment of streams throughout Brunswick. Early season catches have been the largest in many years, says Keziah.

I have never seen such big-mouth
fish and goggle-eye perch caught this early, he said. "Why, we've so many bass around now I'm worried about finding enough minnows
to use as live bait."

For some time the State's Highway Safety Division has been staffed with all kinds of safety promoters and experts in most lines of safety campaigning; but it has not had a real traffic or safety engineer.
Appointment of such an engineer
can be looked for within a comparatively short time, according to apparently reliable reports reaching your Reflector reporter.

The new engineer will not be a
"political appointee," either according to these same reports, but a man really trained in his duties.

There seems to be general agreement that the Department of Revenue "personal committee" isn't going to repeat its mistakes by adding any more ward heelers or political henchmen to the Safety Division's rolls.

Man About Manhattan
By George Tucker

New York.—There are two Billys
in New York whose establishments go back a long way, back to that little old New York of the mellow, romantic days that your grandfather remembers, perhaps with a nostalgic sigh. One is Billy Casan-ova's grandpappy, Michael, built the famous old Gaslight Saloon back in 1870. The other is Billy the Oysterman, who for 55 years has been a dictator to Manhattan epicu-res, high and low.

The old Gaslight Saloon, which is really a restaurant, is still on 56th street at First avenue, just a way off the hand from the East River wharves. It was set up 70 years ago by Grandpappy Casanova, whose design for success was based on the premise that no restaurant could fail
if the victuals were tasty and cheap.
Consequently, moderns rub their eyes when perusing the old menu of these early days. Steaks were 25 cents. Larder was a dime a throw.
You gave your order and you drank
your ale by the flare of the old gas lights.

LEAP BEFORE YOU LOOK

By Peggy O'More

YESTERDAY: Allen and Tom fly to California. Tom insists on going immediately to the farm that night. Although she insists she won't be afraid, she becomes terrified after Allen leaves.

Chapter Seven
Morning
TOMI sank deep into the divan, pillows huddled about her, and began her vigil of terror. Each tiny sound from the danger of man's proportions. Once she dozed and when she awakened, she found the fire was dying, the oil in the lamp growing low. She couldn't—she wouldn't—remain in the dark.

Bartell had said there was wood off the kitchen. She grasped the lamp and started down the hall.
The kitchen was at the end, and gloomy place with dark walls and woodwork, a gigantic stove looking like a prehistoric monster.

Two doors opened off this room.
Tomi opened one and closed it quickly, bracing a chair against it.
The stairway had led down.

Opening the second door, she caught the strong odor of salt water and, listening, heard the soft lap of waves not far away. A veranda lay outside and wood was stacked there.

Bracing an armload with her chin, Tomi stumbled back to the living room just as the lamp flickered out. She built up the fire and crouched on the hearth. Slowly the wood caught, then with a sudden burst of flame, threw the big room into full, rosy light. Tomi looked up and her hand came to her throat to crush back a scream. A man was crouching down at her.

She jumped to her feet and backed away, then started with alarm. Off came her hat and her topcoat and she stalked forward
to stand, hands on hips, chin out,
her gaze focused on a life-sized oil painting of the late Timothy Toland, which laughed down right into her face.

"You're responsible for this,"
flared Tomi, her voice sounding hoopily in the empty room, but I'm the one who's going to laugh last. This is another trick of that trained legal seal of yours, building a fire here so you'd give me a start that would send me high-tailing it down the road. Well, you're both wrong, I'm staying. And right now I'm going to sleep. With you up there no one but a To land
would dare come into this room."

Tomi felt better after that. She even welcomed a breeze which sprang up, bringing strange and ominous creaks to the old house.
She preferred them to smothering
silence.

A Navajo blanket lay over the arm of a nearby chair. Tomi carried it to the divan and, worn with excitement, illness and fear, slept
the sleep of physical exhaustion, unaware of the man who looked in through the window as dawn came; a white-faced man in a rumpled suit, who sneezed into a handkerchief and limped down the stairs, sweating softly.

Shining streaming through the windows when Tomi awakened. For a moment she lay adjusting her mind to the change in her physical outlook. She glanced up and found Great-uncle Timothy laughing down at her.

"Good morning," she said pertly.
"May I compliment you on your excellent choice of furniture and atrocious taste in wallpaper? But I'll fix that."

She hurried to the windows to find each obscured by foliage, then swiftly went upstairs and turned into the first door to rush to the view from there.

"Oh!" she breathed in rapt wonder.

Directly below lay the blue waters of San Francisco Bay, white winged sea-gulls wheeling over the waves. Across the broad expanse tiers of mountains in graduating shades of blue and purple bunched their shoulders against the pale azure of the morning sky.
To the right lay San Francisco,
the white towers of its many hills
gold in the sunlight.

recognize a skillet by finding on and placing it over the fire. She also found a knife and carefully brought it down through the bacon and her left forefinger and spoke long and earnestly, to both knife
and bacon.

"Reckon you're Tommy," observed a voice from the door.
Tomi wheeled. An old man with a walrus mustache stood there.
"And why do you reckon I'm Tommy?" she snapped.

"Timothy said as how you an
the devil was on speakin' terms,"
"Uncle Timothy," retorted Tomi acidly, "seemed to know a lo
about me."

"S'pose I did," affirmed the old man, and eased into the kitchen
"He said as how you'd be wearin pants. Said you'd come along up here because you were too cusped not to. Allen—he said you wouldn't. Reckon he's right disappointed."

Tomi stiffened. So Bartell had been sure of winning the place.
The old man rescued the smoking pan from the stove. "Bacon," he remarked laconically, "takes a cold skillet." He provided the cold skillet and stripped it with the bacon Tomi had cut.

Tomi swallowed her indignation. This was Uncle Timothy, Old Abe. He was in dire need of repair from tooth to trousers. Then Tomi saw the troubled looked in his pale blue eyes.

"Reckon to keep me on?" he queried, wistfully.

Tomi thought quickly. To whom would he be loyal—to Bartell or
to her?

"What are your qualifications?"
she asked.

"Quali—" he began, then nodded. "Oh, them—well, the frog
like me. Frogs is awful fussy."

Tomi stifled her amusement. "It wouldn't do to disappoint the frogs," she observed. "But how about yourself? Do you like it here?"

"No Place To Go"
A GNARLED hand engulfed the walrus mustache. "Well, now fact is, I ain't got no place else to go. I got to think maybe you didn't know nothin' about ranacu-ture and you wouldn't mind givin
me bed and board for teachin
you."

The hard little lump, which hac crystallized in Tomi's heart the previous night when Bartell left suddenly, melted. No place else to go. The phrase touched her sympathy.

"Bed, board and wages," vowed Tomi, and turned to the old man
"Abe, I'm depending upon you.
I couldn't get along without you.
You will stay, won't you?"

Abe's Adam's-apple worked convulsively. He blinked several times and turned to the stove. "Reckon that there bacon needs turnin', unless you like it burnt."

STATE PEANUT CROPS MOVING

Shipment 450 Cars In Excess Of 1939 Figure

Raleigh, March 4.—Shipments of shelled peanuts from the North Carolina-Virginia area are some 450 cars in excess of those to the same date last year, it was reported today by Dr. I. O. Schaub, director of the State College Extension Service, on the basis of the latest peanut situation report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Cleared peanuts (in the shell) are 100 cars ahead of the corresponding period of the 1938-39 season, he said.

"Prices are holding up well, and we are continuing to benefit from the shortage of the crop in the Southeastern states, such as Georgia and Alabama," Dr. Schaub declared. Shipments out of the Southeastern area are 500 cars behind last year's total at this time, but shipments from the Southwest are 100 cars in excess of those of last season.

The extension director said that increasing inquiry is being made for good seed peanuts for this spring's planting. "Farmers are reminded," he stated, "that whether or not the seed which they plant is large, if it is from a heavy-yielding strain, the production is apt to be about as great as if the kernels which they plant were of the larger size. The important thing is to have the seed peanuts from a strain which normally yields heavily of large-size nuts."

The U. S. D. A. report shows prices last week of 4 to 4 1/2 cents per pound for best Jumbos, and 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 cents per pound for best bunch delivered. Peanuts that will make extra large Virginia shelled are moving rather slowly because shellers are unwilling to pay the prices which holders continue to demand.

B-L FIRMS HIT BY DECISIONS

Affected By Two Recent Supreme Court Rulings

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, March 5.—Not a great deal has been said about them in the public prints, but two recent North Carolina Supreme court decisions have the building and loan folks of the state scratching their heads and wondering what to do about them.

One of the decisions they rather applaud, though it is not really a vital matter to them; but the other is of a sort which may mean a great deal of real trouble for them. The first opinion—written by Justice A. A. P. Seawell in the case of Jones, administrator, vs. Waldrop—permits the ownership of shares of stock in a building and loan association by joint title with right of survivorship. Previously many of the state's ablest lawyers had construed the North Carolina law to be otherwise.

What the decision will do in simple language is this: It will let husband and wife, or sister and brother, or any other combination for that matter, buy stock in Building and Loan associations under joint title and if either dies then the stock will forthwith vest in the other without the necessity of a will, or an administrator or any other intervening agency.

It had been thought that this could not be done with personal property in North Carolina; although in August of 1936, the Attorney General wrote an opinion which has now been held to be good law by the Supreme court's decision. Justice Seawell wrote both opinions—first as Attorney General and now as a Supreme court justice.

The second decision—and the one which is really worrying building and loan men was written by Justice M. V. Barnhill in reversing a superior court ruling in the case of J. W. Mills vs. Mutual Building and Loan Association and E. Y. Kessler. Mills owed the corporation of which Kessler was executive secretary money secured by a deed of trust on real estate with Kessler named as trustee. When he defaulted in payments, Kessler, as trustee, sold the property under the trust deed to the Building and Loan corporation, which in turn conveyed it in fee simple to an innocent purchaser.

Mills then sued the corporation and after losing an accounting and damages because of loss of his equity of redemption. In this year of grace there are at least four good and valid reasons in for a great deal of discussion and a corresponding amount of criticism. These may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. Sooner or later Commissioner of Revenue Allen J. Seawell, apostle of a $50,000,000 highway program, for the state is bound to come into open conflict with the Commission on certain counts.

2. Sooner or later Tom Cooper and perhaps Paul Grady and, conceivably, Lee Gravely, are going to jump on the Commission with both feet, with the customary indictment that the road people are improperly indulging in politics.

3. In the two extremes of the state—far northeast and far west—there is a bitter and growing hostility to the present highway setup and personnel, a hostility which is going to make it worthwhile for some candidate to give it voice.

4. Perhaps a rather unimportant reason, but it's there just the same. News men, as a whole are certainly not going out of their way to keep the Commission and the Commissioner in chairman, in particular, free from criticism. The constant highway policy of "beat 'em rough and tell 'em nothing" makes this sure.

Enlarging a bit on reason (1), it is apparent that the Highway Commission isn't in close accord or harmony with Maxwell. His endorsement of the Greater Albemarle Association's road policy for Dare, Hyde and Tyrrel was followed almost immediately by published reports that the projects involved would cost $4,500,000 or more. Nobody in the Commission assumed responsibility for these estimates, but that's where they came from.

It indicated a definite difference in viewpoint between candidate and commission, a difference which is practically certain to end in an open break of oratorical warfare.

So far Maxwell hasn't taken even an indirect fling at the Highway Commission; but have come to your Raleigh reporter authentic reports that the Revenue Commission regards it as a group which needs abouting. It can't be done, he says, because the Revenue Commission has no jurisdiction over it.

When he does, the Commission will probably have something to say in rebuttal. All of which adds up to a little more lively flaprap than the campaign has yet seen.

On reason (2) there is little to add. Every campaign has brought the road rulers, and this isn't going to be an exception. It is true, of course, that Cooper wrote Chairman Dunlap asking how he stood on the governor's race and it is equally true that Dunlap wrote back that he plans to be neutral unless the Commission is attacked.

That would indicate it's the part of wisdom for Cooper to lay off the Commission; but the logic of the situation is almost sure to drive the Wilmington mayor into opposition to the Commission.

Klan Asks Purge Of Un-American Groups

Scattered groups of hooded members of the Ku Klux Klan served warning at Atlanta, Ga., that the Klan "will not rest" until the nation has been purged of all un-American organizations, and declared the Communist party should be outlawed. This picture shows Klansmen a block from the city auditorium at Atlanta where they concentrated in distributing their warning—in the form of "an open letter" to Congress—to delegates attending the Southern labor conference of the American Federation of Labor.

Highway Commission May Become Principal Issue

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, March 2.—The present almost senseless governor's race is quite likely to be pepped up greatly before many weeks have passed—with the Highway Commission taking the center of the debating stage as the hottest question before the public.

This isn't anything strange or unusual in North Carolina politics; though reasons for the commission's entrance this time differ somewhat from previous campaigns. In this year of grace there are at least four good and valid reasons in for a great deal of discussion and a corresponding amount of criticism. These may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. Sooner or later Commissioner of Revenue Allen J. Seawell, apostle of a $50,000,000 highway program, for the state is bound to come into open conflict with the Commission on certain counts.

"OPEN HOUSE" HUGE SUCCESS

Seventeen Hundred Visit Local Beauty Shop

Announcing that approximately 1,700 persons visited the formal opening of the Greenville Beauty Shoppe on East Fifth street last night, the management today expressed itself as "very satisfied" with the manner in which the public attended the "open house."

Visitors were here from throughout the country and also from Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Washington, Wilson, New Bern, Kinston and Goldsboro. A large number of men inspected the beauty shop, which is declared to be the most modern and up-to-date in every respect in Eastern North Carolina.

Mrs. Marjorie Arnold is manager and Mrs. Ruth Carter is hostess. They head a competent and efficient corps of employees. All visitors were presented with favors and, in addition, a number of special gifts were given as follows: Margaret Nisbet, Mrs. C. A. Turner, Margaret Nisbet, Mrs. C. A. Turner, Mrs. J. R. Barker, Miss Joyce Corbett, Mrs. E. L. Baker, Mrs. W. M. Scales, Miss Sonora Moore, Mrs. Spruill Spain, Mrs. Egbert Lloyd, Mrs. Karl Pace, Mrs. David Turner, Mrs. Luther Herring, Mrs. W. E. New York Cotton

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened one to three higher. Around mid-morning the list was around opening levels, with the spot month up four points at 11:02 on covering induced by prompt stoppage of 14 notes, July (old) 10.43; December 9.60.

N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Traders worked up a mild buying urge for selected steels, aircrafts and specialties in today's stock market, but continued to ignore many issues.

Fractional gains predominated after a hesitant start and a few stocks had gains of one to two points on small turnovers near the fourth hour. Drying up of offerings more than anything else, brokers said, apparently brought in some bidding.

It's Odd But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor

Rochester, N. Y.—Probably the proper name for this in binocle, as contrasted with monocle. The binocle, supposed to be the only eye-glass of its kind in existence, is a single piece of optical glass, fashioned so that both eyes look through it at the same time, and the same as through spectacles.

The shape is roughly like a rounded letter A. The legs of this letter are lenses, the crotch fits over the nose, and above, shielding the forehead above the bridge of the nose, perhaps from dust, is the rest of the glass. A frame enables it to be worn like nose glasses.

This binocle was made in fun by Pitt H. Herbert, of the Bausch and Lomb Optical Co., to show what may happen in the evolution of the human eye in the next few thousand years.

Evolution says that man's eyes probably were once on each side of his head like the animals. Man swivelled them around so he could focus both straight ahead. If the swivelling continues, some of Herbert's associates argued, the eyes will some day meet and the future man will be a Cyclops.

Straws which point to that tendency are the fact that in many persons one eye works more and more concentrates sight on a single spot placed close in front of the face.

Three Presidents of the United States died on the nation's birthday, July 4—John Adams, Jefferson and Monroe. One was born on July 4— Calvin Coolidge.
