

INVADED NATIONS ARE SCENE OF BITTER FIGHTING

Strong Fight In Belgium Falls Into Nazi Hands

Defense Fortification Before Strategic Liege Reported Captured; Other Successes Reported By Hitler Headquarters at Front; Nazis Acknowledge Loss of Planes

Berlin, May 11.—(AP)—One of the Belgium's strong forts before strategic Liege, where Germans were checked crucially in the World War, is in German hands after proving "completely defenseless against surprise attacks by German warplanes," DNB, official German news agency, reported today.

At the same time, authorized sources claimed that Belgian and Netherlands airports occupied by the German air force in the new Blitzkrieg continued in German possession, although German troops there are fighting with Belgian and Dutch troops.

Liege, 25 miles within Belgium from the German border and 62 miles southeast of Brussels, capitulated in August, 1914, only after the stubborn Belgian resistance had given the Allies more than a week to concentrate forces to throw into the path of the Germans.

A high command communique from Hitler's headquarters at the front reported other successes: The destruction of between 300 and 400 enemy airplanes on the ground and the shooting down of 23 more in air fights during operations in France, Holland and Belgium.

The sinking of an enemy destroyer, one enemy submarine and two merchant ships.

Bomb hits on one British battleship and a cruiser off Narvik, Norway.

In the air, the Germans acknowledged the loss of 11 of their own planes and said 15 others were missing.

"The German western army, after crossing The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg borders everywhere repulsed enemy border troops x x x and despite the destruction of many bridges and barricades of all kinds, is on a swift forward attack," the high command reported.

Festival Concert Is Presented Here

The festival concert of the Eastern Carolina Symphonic Choral Association, presented at the college last night to an appreciative audience, climaxed a series of appearances throughout this section, prior to the organization's northern tour which will include a presentation at the White House.

Officials today issued the following statement of appreciation to individuals and organizations aiding in the festival:

"The E. C. Symphonic wishes to express its sincere appreciation to all organizations and persons who helped so willingly and faithfully to make the Festival a success.

"Special thanks must be extended to the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. Without the generous help and interest of the secretary Willard T. Kizer, and President J. Nat Harrison, the Festival would not have been possible.

"The Association is also grateful to the Greenville Merchants Association for furnishing the hot dogs and rolls, and the bottling companies, Coca-Cola, Orange Crush, Nehi, and Tip for furnishing the drinks for the young people's picnic which was greatly enjoyed.

"Again the Association is grateful to East Carolina Teachers College for the use of the Wright Memorial auditorium, and the picnic grounds. And to Mr. McHenry and his department for arranging the stage. The college is always most gracious in assisting the association in its program. Thanks to Dr. Meadows, Miss Rose and all others.

"Again we wish to thank the Greenville newspapers for their splendid support and interest."

Germany Opens Offensive On French Maginot Line

Here at a glance is the geographical and tactical contrast between the German invasion of Belgium in 1914 and the Nazi penetration into the lowland countries of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg today. Light arrows indicate the path of the 1914 sweep through Belgium. The planes and parachutes symbolize the tactics employed by Hitler 26 years later to sweep down on Holland's major cities—resulting in bloody battle in the heart of Rotterdam—over Belgium and into eastern France. The numbers point to major axes in the German 1940 land push: (1) Into Holland where the Rhine river enters the Netherlands, (2) Into Limburg, province of Holland, (3) Into Eastern Belgium, (4) Into Luxembourg. The Germans were reported over-running all Luxembourg and all of the province of Limburg.

COUNTY VOTES FOR 3RD TERM

Resolutions Endorse Roosevelt And Rep. Warren

Pitt county democrats, in convention here this morning, unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the Roosevelt administration and supporting a third term and went on record in another resolution endorsing the record of Congressman Lindsay C. Warren.

The resolution endorsing a third term pledged the county's delegates to the Raleigh convention to support a resolution instructing the state delegation to the national convention at Chicago to cast the state's votes for Roosevelt "on every presidential ballot when and as long as his name shall be presented."

The resolution was offered by Dink James and was supported by M. K. Blount, who seconded the motion, J. S. Moore and F. C. Harding.

The meeting was harmonious throughout, all action being unanimous.

Gubernatorial Candidate Speaks At Court House

Speaking to an audience of more than 200 in the Pitt county court house last night A. J. Maxwell of Raleigh, candidate for governor, presented a program of progress and expansion of public services for the benefit of the people of the state, coupled with a pledge for a sound and economical business administration.

The major item in the Maxwell program is a comprehensive plan for road building and improvement. He has sloganized that phase of his campaign with "Get the farmer out of the mud." Pointing out that 60 per cent of the people in the state live in the country, and that only about one-fourth of these live on hard surface roads, Mr. Maxwell declared that in his opinion nothing will contribute to continuing progress more than to make every important farm to mark road, rural letter and school bus route an all-weather road. He quoted figures from the state treasury showing that highway revenue has increased from nineteen million dollars a year to thirty-four million dollars a year since 1932, thus making available at present ratio of increase and with regular federal allocations upwards of seventy-five million dollars for new road work in the next four (Continued on Page Six)

Delegates chosen at the county convention will attend the district and state conventions here Friday. Under the resolutions adopted today they will instruct delegates to the national convention to vote for Mr. Roosevelt if his name is placed before the convention.

Cameron Morrison, former governor and United States Senator, moved that the Roosevelt resolution be passed by Mecklenburg delegates and the motion carried.

Bertie democrats passed the resolution unanimously after Solicitor E. R. Tyler had asked and been assured that the plan met Governor Hoyer's approval.

Other counties reported that the Roosevelt resolution had been passed were: Rockingham, Alamance, Wake, Cumberland, Wilson, Robersonville and Pitt.

Full Division Of Between 12,000 and 15,000 Men Declared To Have Been Thrust Into Drive Against French East Of Luxembourg; Paris Reports Campaign Unsuccessful

Paris, May 11.—(AP)—Germany's first large-scale drive of the war against France's Maginot line was launched yesterday in concert with the invasion of the low countries, French military sources said today.

The Nazis threw a full division of from 12,000 to 15,000 men against the French in a reported unsuccessful attack east of Luxembourg.

While French authorities termed the battle the "first great attack of the war," the high command contented itself with an announcement that the French had maintained their positions.

The attack, launched as a vast struggle began in Belgium and the Netherlands for air supremacy and advantages on land, apparently was intended to keep the French forces busy on their own heavily-fortified Maginot line and thus hamper the shifting of forces into the invaded low countries.

The general staff reported fighting continued today, French troops moving into a "spirited" battle with German infantry in two sectors.

At the same time a vast struggle for air supremacy was developing over Belgium and the Netherlands, as British and French planes fought off the thrust of German aircraft attempting to halt the flow of allied reinforcements into the beleaguered low countries.

The tiny Duchy of Luxembourg, through which the Germans were developing their drive, and the country east of the Moselle river were the scenes of the fighting today.

In the Luxembourg sector a general staff spokesman said French advance guards "were maintaining our advance" in a series of engagements with Nazi patrols.

Several Counties Endorse 3rd Term

Raleigh, May 11 (AP)—The first counties to report on the activities of their democratic convention today passed resolutions favoring the election of President Roosevelt for a third term.

Beaufort and Wayne counties, however, rejected the resolution.

Delegates chosen at the county convention will attend the district and state conventions here Friday. Under the resolutions adopted today they will instruct delegates to the national convention to vote for Mr. Roosevelt if his name is placed before the convention.

Roosevelt Talk Widely Accepted

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt's declaration last night that aggression abroad presents "a definite challenge to American civilization" brought to the White House today a steady stream of messages at which the chief executive expressed gratification.

Stephen Early, press secretary, said that of several thousands telegrams, nine of every ten were favorable and that the ten per cent which disapproved the speech were from persons who, Early declared, "favored peace at any price."

"The president was gratified at the reaction to his address," Early said.

Early also said that the question of applying the neutrality act to Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg

NETHERLANDS' LARGEST CITY IS BOMBARDED

Amsterdam Reports Twenty Persons Killed

ALLIED TROOPS HELPING DUTCH

Stout Defense Gives Engineers Time In Which To Put Flood Water Defense Into Operation

Amsterdam, May 11.—German bombs smashed today at the center of Amsterdam, the Netherlands' greatest city, killing an estimated 20 persons, while the stout defense of troops in the eastern frontier lines gave engineers time to complete the inundation of the main flood water defenses, cutting Holland in half.

One bomb fell 300 yards from the post office, demolishing dwellings. This is in the vicinity of the Plaza, on which is located the royal palace, seldom used.

The Dutch general staff announced that the British and French troops now are operating in conjunction with the Dutch forces and that the German advance has been stopped at the front.

The radio announced this afternoon that Queen Wilhelmina had sent a message to King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy, saying: "I trust your majesty will use your influence in the hope that civilian populations may be spared the catastrophes of the war and that the principles of humanity may be respected by all belligerents."

She appealed to the "noble sentiments always shown by the House of Savoy" and to the king's humanitarian sentiment in the war "which has been thrust upon Holland."

The Dutch army, after holding its own in the first surprise attack by land and air troops yesterday, fought vigorously to wipe out "islands" of German parachute troops who are trying to gain control of strategic points behind the nation's land and water defenses.

A. L. Hodges Made Local Scout Head

A. L. Hodges, formerly of Washington, N. C., will assume his duties as assistant Scout executive, in charge of the Greenville district, on May 15, it has been announced by John J. Sigwald, Council executive.

Mr. Hodges succeeds George Thompson, who was promoted to the council headquarters in Concord. The new assistant executive was heartily endorsed by members of the Greenville district and comes to this city well recommended.

Mr. Hodges will make his home in Greenville. Beginning on July 1, he will undergo a 45-day course at the National Training school.

Bridge Of Surprise

Livermore, Ky. (AP)—The course of a new Ohio River bridge here was a puzzle for local geographers. The bridge starts off in McLean County, crosses Ohio County and ends up in McLean County again. The structure is no merry-go-round. It crosses a small "V" formation where Ohio county juts into McLean county.

Churchill Named Prime Minister

Winston Churchill is Great Britain's new prime minister, succeeding Neville Chamberlain who resigned amidst a storm of criticism of his government's conduct of the war. Churchill is shown in this radiophoto leaving a British cabinet meeting in London after the German invasion of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. The allies pledged full aid to Holland and Belgium and now it's up to Churchill to see that the promises mean something.

Brussels Bombed Twice As Land Defense Holds

Allied Forces Move To Bolster Positions

Brussels, May 11.—(AP)—Brussels was bombed twice today while the Belgian army's strong line of defense continued to hold up the German invaders and British and French troops, supported by tank and artillery, moved to bolster the Belgian position.

Ambulances returning to Brussels hospitals indicated the latest raid by Nazi bombers had taken a human toll. The first bombing of the capital yesterday morning left 41 dead and 82 injured.

British and French troops with tanks, artillery, motorcycles and engineers were observed moving through Belgium this morning. But the government kept strict censorship on their movements, as well as on the situation at the front and other military information.

Military officials claimed that a lightning defense had stopped Nazi Germany's lightning invasion.

On land, declared Defense Minister Lieut. General Henri Denis, the German thrust bogged down in a maze of traps, obstructions and mined roads and bridges, long prepared to halt just such a blitzkrieg as Adolf Hitler sent upon Belgium before yesterday's dawn.

Withdraw Request To City Aldermen

The proposal to establish a riding academy on part of the Hardee property owned by the city was abandoned last night when opposition among members of the Board of Aldermen developed to the suggestion that part of the property be set aside, rent free, for the project.

The Farm Problem--7 Years Later Babson Sees No Immediate Hope Of Solution

Chicago, May 10.—Nowhere but in the running of a country could a management spend three billion dollars, accomplish nothing, and get away with it! Yet, the New Deal still has the edge in the great farm states where the agricultural problem is as unsolved today as in 1934 despite the billions spent to solve it.

Nib of the farm dilemma is the gap between what the farmer receives for the products he sells and what he pays for the goods he buys. This gap is still nearly as wide as it was six years ago.

I doubt if many voters realize the number of different government schemes to help the farmer and how much these plans cost. There are crop subsidies, cheap mortgages, seed loans, storage aid, soil conservation, parity payments in a score of different forms. Before it adjourns, Congress will probably appropriate for farm aid $200,000,000 more than the President's liberal recommendations. This will wipe out the savings painfully pared from ten other appropriation bills. It is estimated that the total cost of farm aid for 1940-41 will be over $1,000,000,000—more than the entire amount the federal government spent for all purposes in any year up to the World war!

Prices Still Low
Three billion dollars have been laid out to farmers in direct government payments since 1934. Yet, (Continued on Page Four)

Dutch Crush Nazi Forces At Cost Of 1,000 Lives

Shock Troops, in Desperate Defense Of Homeland, Report Recapture Of All Airports Taken By Germany Yesterday; Germans Said To Have Been Defeated At Rotterdam At Heavy Cost

London, May 11.—(AP)—Dutch shock troops, fighting for their invaded homeland, were reported officially today to have recaptured airdromes at The Hague and Rotterdam in bitter see-saw battles which saw The Hague field change hands three times.

The Dutch foreign minister, who made the announcement in London, declared that no airdromes in The Netherlands remained in the hands of German forces which seized them yesterday.

He declared that the German forces on the left bank of the Meuse river at Rotterdam had been crushed—but at a cost to the Dutch of more than 1,000 lives.

At the same time fresh German parachute troops were reported dropping from aerial transports.

Had the Germans been able to consolidate their hold within Rotterdam, they would have had a coastal base for assaults directly across the narrow lower neck of the North sea against the British Isles.

Other reports of the shifting fates of war included:

The announcement by British military circles that Arlon, in south Luxembourg, was in allied hands. This was one of the first concrete indications that Germany had not gobbled up all of Luxembourg.

2. Unconfirmed advice that German forces in Belgium had reached the outer defenses of Liege and had crossed the Albert canal, a main line of Belgian defense.

3. The declaration of a British source that the allied advance in Belgium is "proceeding according to plan."

*4. The Belgian claim that lightning defense had halted the German overland advance.

Dr. Frank Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

Dr. A. D. Frank of the History department of East Carolina Teachers College in an address to the Greenville Kiwanis club discussed the European situation in general.

The speaker enumerated some of the causes and events leading up to the present crisis. He also discussed the blitzkrieg tactics employed by Hitler in his lightning-like moves in Europe.

Dr. Frank displayed a thorough understanding of the situation and enlightened members and guests of the club present at the meeting.

Another feature of the meeting was the appearance of members of the Eastern Carolina Symphonic chorus in several numbers. The Choral Association, under the direction of Sidney Louis Bullock, next week will begin a northern tour which will include an appearance at the White House.

Last night's program was presided over by Dr. J. M. Barrett.

Willing Workers Class.
The Willing Workers Class of the Free Will Baptist Sunday School held a most enjoyable social and class meeting last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon S. Hardee, "Twin Elms Farm".

Griffin, teacher of the class, presided, and the pastor of the church, Rev. L. E. Ballard, and the superintendent of the school, W. F. Owen, took part in the devotional program preceding the social hour.

A most enjoyable program of games and other interesting features had been prepared by the entertainment group which included Miss Ruth Mooring of E. C. T. C., Miss Mattie Lee Ward, Miss Bertha Mae Harrington and the Misses Ruby and Irma Braxton. Delightful refreshments were served to the large crowd of young people attending, which was estimated at around 70.

The Willing Workers Class, which has been taught for several years by Mr. Griffin, is one of the most progressive classes of the Sunday School of the Free Will Baptist Church, and interest at this time is on the increase. The Class meets each Sunday morning in the Auditorium of the church, and is for young people of both sexes between the ages of fifteen and twenty-five.

Mother's Day at Presbyterian.
Mother's Day will be observed at the Presbyterian Church Sunday, May 12th in a very simple way without the emotion it often awakens. Flowers will be distributed at the entrance to the church by the girls of the Junior Department.

Dr. Boyd's sermon will be on the subject "Building Old Fashioned Homes in Modern Days". This is not mother's task alone. It is the family's job and demands the finest spirit of cooperation. All members and friends of the church are invited to come, and as far as possible sit together as a family united in prayer. The "passing of the family pie" is a thing much to be regretted in these modern days and ways of living. It is no disgrace to "youth" to be seen with father and mother at church. The great Henry W. Grady took a few days off just before he made his famous speech before the New England Society of New York to go back and live in the atmosphere of that home and the mother who was responsible for his greatness.

The church school meets as usual at 9:45 at the First Church and Meadowbrook. There will be preaching at 11 o'clock at the First church and at 7:30 at Meadowbrook by Dr. Boyd. Hollywood Sunday school meets at 2:30. Infants may be presented by parents at either preaching service, morning or evening. The young people meet at 6:30 for Vespers. The date for Meadowbrook Chapel Daily Vacation Bible School is set for June 17 to 29. Miss Mary Council Horne will have charge.

The Littlefield Club met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. L. Worthington. Reports were given by Mrs. Worthington and Miss Ella Garrison. Mrs. E. M. Hart and Mrs. Levi Worthington led the singing.

Mattress Project.
Letters have been mailed to home demonstration women and AAA families giving information concerning the mattress project that is being started. Questionnaires were enclosed requesting names and addresses of families that are eligible for these mattresses. It is very important that questionnaires be returned just as early as possible as all applications must be approved and sent to Washington before June 30. There is no guarantee that another appropriation will be made for this purpose. Families having a gross income of $400 or less for 1939 with at least half of this amount coming from agriculture are eligible. These families should come to the office and place applications as early as possible. Landowners can help very much by helping them to get their applications in. Those receiving mattresses will pay one dollar for equipment and supplies used and will assist in making them. One-third of our time should be spent in a comfortable bed. Let's do all possible to see that everyone in Pitt county has this essential.

Leadership Training Conference
A Leadership Training Conference will be held at Camp Leach May 15-19. C. D. Griggs, assistant county agent, the home agent and several leaders will attend the conference.

Older Youth Meeting.
Tuesday night at 8:00 a meeting will be held in the Agricultural Building for the purpose of organizing the older youth of the county. Young married couples and boys and girls who are out of school are eligible. Do not wait for an invitation to come. If the organization is perfected Tuesday night, all members joining later will be initiated. Pictures of charter members will be framed and hung on the walls of the Agricultural Auditorium. Making a living is the chief concern of this group. This should interest every young person.

Club Schedule Next Week.
Stokes H. D. Club: Monday 3:00 P. M. with Mrs. J. B. Congleton. Red Banks H. D. Club: Tuesday 3:00 P. M. with Mrs. F. L. Little. Older Youth Club: Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Agricultural building.

Pierce H. D. Club: Thursday at 3:00 p. m. in the club building. St. John's H. D. Club: Friday at 3:00 p. m. with Mrs. Walter Pittman.

CHICOD NEWS

The Rev. W. A. Crow filled his regular 11 o'clock service at Salem on Sunday, May 5th. Services tomorrow evening at 7:30. Church school tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. Your presence is requested.

Several teachers of our church school attended the leader's meeting held in Winston on last evening.

Mrs. J. Brooks Tucker entertained the members of our Missionary meeting yesterday afternoon at 3.

We had as our guest, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Crow, Mrs. Robert Wilson of Grimesland auxiliary, and Mrs. J. C. Galloway of Greenville.

A most interesting meeting was enjoyed by all present. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Rev. and Mrs. Crow were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards yesterday.

Several people of our community attended the funeral of H. C. Venters of Shermidine Friday afternoon. Being a former member of Salem church, we express our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mrs. S. T. Porter of near Chicod is visiting her mother, who is in a very poor state of health near Norfolk Va.

OUR MOTHERS
To thee, O Mothers of all lands In America or foreign spans We come with gratitude and song. O! May your lives be ever long. Our happy voices to you we raise And even words of love and praise We give to thee.

You are the mothers of all men, Our problem, our country men, Your place in this wide world of ours Is inscribed with roses, ah! all flowers, For you they hang in lofty bowers. The birds sing for thee, mothers all, From early Spring, all through the fall.

In winter months the snow-birds sing, For you mothers until it's spring, But dearer far than flowers or birds to thee, In our children's lives we all should see.

That gratitude, comfort, love and cheer, That makes our hearts beat high and clear, However perilous your barque may steer, Look up to our maker, He steers us clear.

Truck Overturns.
A Dr. Pepper bottling company truck overturned about three miles south of Bethel on the Greenville highway this morning, but no details of the accident were available. A Mr. Day was said to have been the driver, but was not injured.

Mother's Day
A Day of Tribute

The idea of wearing a flower as a tribute to Motherhood the second Sunday in May was suggested by Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia. She had no idea of commercializing her thought, and let us hope the day will ever carry her simplicity in loving acknowledgment of gratitude to the one so dear.

Buy your mother the world if you are able, but wear a flower, God's messenger of love, it will carry the message no words can express.

We will be open Sunday morning for your convenience. Wear a Flower

CELEBRATE JULY FOURTH
There is talk that Greenville will have a fourth of July celebration right this year. The Jr. O. U. A. M. always foremost in matters patriotic, is considering the question and will seek the co-operation of other fraternal organizations and the citizens generally in making the celebration such a one as Greenville has never seen before. Now start the ball rolling and let everybody unite in making the celebration a great success.

It will do us all good and do the town good.

has done in addition to improvements on her own room and a clothing project.

Red Oak Club Meeting.
Grace and Mimi Tripp entertained the Red Oak 4-H club at their home Wednesday evening. About 60 were in attendance, including several parents. After the business session, the boys met for a short project meeting and the girls inspected the room that has been improved by Grace and Mimi. These girls have made a vanity table, covered a chair, made a stool and painted furniture. A social hour was enjoyed.

First and Exclusive Holland War Picture to Reach U.S.

This picture, telephotoed from Amsterdam to London and then sent to New York by radio, shows buildings burning furiously on the outskirts of Schiphol airdrome at Amsterdam May 10 after a bombing raid by German planes. Amsterdam was among the cities bombed immediately after Adolf Hitler's hordes suddenly invaded the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg by land, sea and air.

STATE TO PICK BEST DRIVERS

Champion Truck Operators Will Be Designated

Raleigh, May 10.—North Carolina will select its first champion truck drivers at the Eleventh Annual Safety Conference to be held in Winston-Salem next week.

The "Rodeo" is scheduled for Thursday afternoon. There will be six winners—the two champions who will get trips to the national championships in California, two will get gold watches and two who will get silver watches.

There will be two champions because there will be two classes—for trucks without trailers and for the trucks with semi-trailers. These champions will then be qualified to compete with the winners of other state and regional contests.

The tests for driving skill will be arduous—there are really ten of them.

1. Is inspection—drivers rated for neatness, etc.

2. Is an interview—a catechism on Interstate Commerce Commission Safety regulations.

3. Is another interview—questions on safe driving and safe practices.

4. Interview again—an examination on maintenance, repairs.

5. An I. Q. test—questions about the industry.

6. Inspection—defects have been prepared in equipment and the drivers must spot them.

7. First operating test—parking in a tight squeeze.

8. Operating again—a simulated emergency to be met.

9. Operating test such as spotting semi-trailer tailgate to a 4-foot platform on a dock reached through a narrow alley (16-ft.) leading into a somewhat wider (18-foot) alley at right angles.

10. Elapsed time on the operating times.

Edison Smith, of Detroit, has twice in succession won the national title. Maybe a Tar Heel can take it from him.

RED OAK NEWS

The 4-H Club boys and girls were graciously entertained at a lovely party last Wednesday night by Misses Mimi and Grace Tripp at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp.

The home was beautifully decorated with early Spring flowers.

Group singing was enjoyed by about thirty club members and invited guests.

The club members were 100 percent in attendance.

Miss Ethel Nice was presented Rose from the club and Mr. Griggs a tie in appreciation of their work in the Red Oak Club. Mrs. B. L. Tyson was given a handbag in appreciation of her services as a leader. The presentations were made by Joe Tyson and Virginia Lee Allen.

A salad plate and drink was served by the hostesses and their mother.

Miss Minnie Ella Smith was given a surprise shower last Thursday night at the Community Building.

Miss Smith is a member of the Eastern Symphonic Chorus, which will leave on Monday morning for a northern tour and she was showered with gifts which she could use on her trip. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Miss Virginia Lee Allen and James Allen delightfully entertained a number of friends at their home last night. Music and dancing was enjoyed.

Delicious refreshments were served.

Carver Library News

By J. B. TAFT

(Chrm. Publicity Committee)

For the benefit of the Colored Citizens of Pitt County the Executive Board of the George W. Carver Library will publish through our local papers a Monthly report of all activities. The members of the executive board are: Miss I. M. Donnell, Chairman; Mrs. Edna B. Graves, v-chairman; W. P. Norcott, member at large; The (White) members are: Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, Chairman; Mrs. Judson Blount, Treasurer; Mrs. B. B. Sugg, member at large; Mayor Jack Spain, chairman of the Finance Committee; Mrs. Lizzie Kearney, chairman of Housing Committee; J. B. Taft, chairman publicity; Miss S. I. Saulter, secretary; Miss Bell Mae Atkinson, librarian.

Miss Atkinson's records reveal the following: On the opening day we had a total collection of 114 books. At present we have an addition of 327 new books, 374 used books, or a total of 815 and approximately 700 magazines. We have 312 regular readers with an average of 48 readers per day since opening. For this month we have 98 junior readers and 64 adults or a total of 162. The regular hours are the same but will be changed immediately after the school season and the public will be notified.

The library is for the benefit of every citizen of the county and we are urging you to visit, inspect, enjoy, and do whatever you can to make it a huge success. There is no rental fee and everything is being done to encourage our people to appreciate and patronize this institution.

At the last meeting of the Board, Miss Marjorie Beal, Director of the N. C. Library Commission was introduced by Mrs. B. B. Sugg. Miss Beal was very highly elated over the cooperation of the members of both races regarding the library and said: "Greenville is among the leading cities of the state where cooperation and progress are concerned," and said our library in its infancy had a better start than most libraries. She was well pleased of the work so far as the state, WPA, and the N. C. Library Commission, were concerned. The information was very valuable and the members of the Board and at large pledged to put new life into the work and make our library one of the best in the state.

178 books were sent from Newark, N. J. by Mr. Spalding Settles. They were donated by some of our friends in New York City and Newark, N. J.

Tadlock Declares Now's Time Build

A. C. Tadlock, secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Saving and Loan Association, declared today that "now is the time to build."

The official supported his statement with the declaration that the weather was more favorable, building materials were cheaper and choice lots are available.

The First Federal Saving and Loan Association is sponsoring "The House of the Month" and Mr. Tadlock said that the movement had been widely acclaimed by residents of Greenville and surrounding territory.

He pointed to the large number of homes now under construction as evidence that the "build now" movement was popular and gaining headway all the time.

perly, although the proposal was well on the way to approval by the city father.

The Parks and Recreation committee, composed of Aldermen J. A. Watson, J. A. Collins and L. B. Fleming, was instructed at the regular May meeting to investigate the proposal and last night recommended that the proposal be rejected.

The recommendation was rejected on a four-to-three vote, but before further action could be taken Mr. Garrett withdrew his petition and the matter was dropped.

Further plans of the sponsors of the project have not been revealed, although it is understood there is a possibility that they may negotiate with the American Legion posts of the county for establishing the academy at the fair grounds on the Falkland highway.

CIVIC LOYALTY

The values offered elsewhere only seem bigger

Try Your Home Town First

By J. H. ROSE
Superintendent of Greenville Schools

Often times when you put mules in a pasture with plenty of grass in the pasture, some of the mules will go to the fence and put their heads through the strands of wire and try to eat the grass on the outside of the fence instead of eating the grass which is easy to get to, which is under their feet. The mule for some reason seems to think that the grass beyond the enclosure is better than the grass in the pasture.

We people who live in towns the size of Greenville are too prone at times to think that good merchandise can only be had in the larger cities. This is wrong; one need only walk up and down the streets of Greenville and look in the show windows of the stores to see the kind of merchandise which can be had here right in our own city.

There is no fence around Greenville like the one which keeps the mules in the pasture, but there should be a community spirit within us stronger than any fence, and this community spirit should make us exhaust every effort to see whether or not our needs can be met by our own merchants at a fair price.

As the illustration above shows, very often the values offered elsewhere only SEEM bigger.

There was a time in the days of slow transportation when the stores in the larger cities had better things at better prices, but under modern merchandising methods stores in Greenville can and do have the same articles Richmond, Raleigh and Norfolk have at the same time and the same prices.

Our merchants are supporters of our schools, our churches, our city government, and our charities. They never turn down our school children, and we are trying to teach them not to turn down our merchants and our community.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

COMING TO GRIPS WITH GOD

"And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of day."

Jacob's experience has sometimes been explained as the wrestling of a conscience-stricken man with his own worst impulses. Also it has been thought to mean that when this desperate man confronted disaster he prayed in such a way that the experience constituted a true wrestling with God.

But quite evidently the meaning of the passage is that Jacob had for more than twenty years been relying upon his cleverness, his industry, and his persistence to get him what he wanted. He was now about to enter into the land which God had promised him. And again he was wrestling to get it by his own efforts. God had to stop him on the eve of his entrance, wrestle with him in the experience and teach him that no promised land was within his grasp until he was wrestling with a man who enters it with the realization that it is the gift of God.

This picture of Jacob wrestling with the angel is the picture of how a self-sufficient man was at last compelled to come to grips with the Almighty. Jacob was the forerunner of those vigorous and aggressive people today who believe that their ability and cleverness make them equal to any situation.
If they are teachable, God in His mercy often stops such in their headlong careers and makes them come to grips with Him in some arresting and significant experience.

On Monday afternoon in co-operation with Pitt Theatre we will again hold our annual Mother's Day Party and every mother in Pitt County 55 years of age or older is invited and urged to attend. Mothers, this is your party and we want you to attend and enjoy it. It will be a pleasure indeed to have you as our guests.

With the rapid succession of events in Europe and the Far East casting their shadows over the entire world this is a good time for America to remember and put into practice the admonition of George Washington, the Father of Our Country, who declared that the best way to maintain peace is to be prepared for war.

Tomorrow is Mother's Day, the one day in the year that is set aside specifically to give praise and do honor to all mothers. There is no human devotion so great and so sacrificing as that of a mother for her child and certainly it is most fitting that at least one day in the year should be set aside to pay homage to the mothers, but wouldn't it be a lot better if,

A Wonderful Opportunity For Somebody

instead of just one day's observance in honor of mothers, each of us would strive to so live our daily lives as to bring joy, happiness and comfort to those mothers who have given us life.

Washington—If you are one of those who put it in your pipe that CIO boss John L. Lewis is going to the polls in November with an effective third party, you better put your pipe back on the rack and get yourself a stogie.

Lewis' siren song to bring the nation's youth, the farmers, the aged, and the negroes into step with John L. Lewis and his labor legions is just some more of Willy John's political maneuvering. Capital politicians at first pucker their brows every time Lewis let off a batch of political fireworks, and asked themselves: "What's he want?" "Where's he going?"
"What's he doing?" Now they are pretty certain.

If the wisecracks are right what he's doing is organizing for a little collective bargaining on a big scale.
Where he's going is into the thick of the campaign . . . the political market place for all good bargain-ers.

What he wants is perpetuation and strengthening of the influence of John L. Lewis and the labor movement he represents.
A person who knows the bushy-browed labor leader intimately once said, "Don't ever forget that he's a great poker player." And if Lewis could make his cards read labor, farmers, aged, youth, and negroes, that would be five aces in anybody's political poker game.

That "Third Party"
Let's see why the third party possibility won't hold any more water than a rattan basket:

1. As far as 1940 is concerned, the movement was far from getting started. Not even a genius for blitz-krieg could get an effective force in the field before election.

2. In Lewis' own CIO ranks, there's a formidable pro-Roosevelt bloc made up of the garment and textile workers led by such men as Sidney Hillman and Emil Rieve.
CIO vice president. They don't just favor a third term; they want Roosevelt drafted.

3. In Lewis' own coal miners' union convention, where he predicted an "ignominious defeat" if President Roosevelt runs again, there were 47 resolutions favoring a third term.

4. Leadership in the American Youth Congress is reported divided on the question of stringing along with Lewis so closely as to affiliate with Labor's Non-Partisan League.

5. Two of Lewis' influential lieutenants, who walked with him through unionism's lean days, will sit in the Democratic convention as delegates. They are Philip Murray and Thomas Kennedy of Pennsylvania.

6. It's not a third party year.
Third parties are insurgent groups.
They stem from the left, the right (conservatives or reactionaries); or the center. Now the New Deal has the left well covered; the Republicans have the right well covered. Both are too close together in the center for a third party to squeeze in, even if Lewis could formulate a middle-of-the-road platform.

He's Got A System

Don't think that any of this is news to John L. Lewis. He holds to the theory that political action by labor and other organized groups is necessary to attain economic and social goals.

Just now he's bent on getting further action on such things as unemployment, taxes, the national debt, and more adequate pensions to take older people out of the competitive labor market.

Even if his 1940 cards turn out to be deuces, he still has a playing hand and who knows? . . . by 1944, he may be able to turn up jacks, at least.

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, May 11 — Members of Raleigh's American Legion post are still talking about the fine example of loyalty and service to the organization given them Thursday night by Joseph Daniels, Jr.

Daniels, son of the Ambassador to Mexico of the same name, has served in virtually every important position of honor and influence in North Carolina Legion circles. He has headed national committees of the Legion.

Yet when he was more or less jokingly nominated for sergeant-at-arms of the local post, he did not disdainfully decline (as had already been done by others) to stand for the comparatively insignificant office.

"If you comrades want me as sergeant-at-arms, I'll gladly do so," he said.
So far as your Raleigh reporter has learned, the only neon campaign sign in North Carolina is at the Kannapolis headquarters of A.

J. Maxwell. It was donated by R.
L. Clyburn, a Towel City sign man.
Lee Gravelly, another gubernatorial candidate, seems to have a monopoly on the big outdoor billboards for advertising purposes. Some score of them throughout the state exhort all and sundry to vote for the Rocky Mount "business man" candidate.

Maxwell supporters are claiming two more "firsts" for their candidate.

At a night ball game in Kannap-olis the other night the crowd saw a large white sheet with a big question mark tacked to the fence. Just before game time four boys pulled down the "unveiled" the following sign: "Get a home run with Maxwell—Don't strike out or miff the ball with any other candidate."

Lynn Nisbet, Maxwell publicity chief, who told these items to your reporter says that purely by coincidence the band struck up

LITTLE SPITFIRE

By Jean Randall

Chapter 32

Spitfire At Work

"WELL, Mac hasn't lost his job—entirely," Eric said in answer to Brenda's question. "That is—I mean to say—well, the nephew is here, all right. Maybe they're keeping Mac on to coach him a bit."

Anger began to kindle in Brenda's eyes. "Why don't you say straight out he's been fired? Bringing the boy here is the equivalent of it. I wonder that Mac stays on after being insulted like that! He ought to have turned on his heel and marched out; and let the nephew go to the dickens with his old accounts!"

"What a little spitfire you are, my dear!" Eric said admiringly. "Temper becomes you, too. If I may say so. But about Mac. He couldn't walk out on his job like that, you know. It wouldn't be square. No matter whether he likes it or not, Mac's not the sort to leave things in a mess."

"And I suppose you haven't tried to help him!" It was an accusation rather than a question. "You haven't seen this Mister—"

"You know his name is Hopkins," Brenda said.

"Well, Mr. Hopkins, then I suppose he never occurred to you to go and speak a good word for your friend—!"

He laughed in genuine amusement. "What could I have said? Hopkins knows a darn sight more about Mac's ability than I do. Of course," he went on kindly, "I could have mentioned that he always leaves the bathroom tidy, and that his table manners are good, and that—"

She turned on a vicious high heel and walked away.

"Men," she said coldly, "are absolutely spineless! They are utterly without resource!"

"Mm. Try your hand at helping old Mac, why don't you? I know for a fact he won't be let out before the first of the month, and that's eighteen days from now. Time for plenty of action!"

Brenda, her head held high, was thinking the same thing as she marched away. She had had a vague plan in the back of her mind all along, she now realized. It seemed the time had arrived to put it into execution.

In her own room, she opened out the drawers of her bureau. From beneath piles of fragrant silken things, she drew a neatly tied flat package. It was what Mac called a "layout." He had considered it the best thing he had ever done in that particular line. So, also it seemed, had the villainous Mr. Hopkins. A number of details had been changed so Mac made two suits. Brenda had salvaged this from the wastebasket where he had thrust it.

Now she wrapped it more carefully and addressed it to a man she knew in New York.

"I'll write him to hurry the answer back at once. And then push for you, Mr. Hopkins, sir! Mac'll have a job twice as big and important as the one you took away from him!"

Better, Then Worse

WHEN both package and letter were gone, she felt better; at least for a few days. Then she felt very much worse. Before even she had expected it, the answer came from New York. "Good work," was the brief comment. "You made two suits without doubt. But I couldn't get my own brother a job here right now, supposing I had a brother, and he needed a job in anybody's advertising department!"

She crept about the house, crushed. She had shot her bolt and it had come back and rapped her smartly on the head.

But Brenda never remained crushed over long. Corklife, her mind bobbed up and set to work anew on the problem.

"Eric, how is young Hopkins getting along?" she demanded on an evening perilously close to the first of the month.

"Not too well, it seems. I was talking to Mac today. We lunched to get her. I honestly believe the old man would send the boy back to his first job—if someone who counted applied a little pressure."

"Good Lord, not even a girl ought to know Mac's the last one who can do it!"

"You, then."

as the sign was uncovered.

The other "first" which Lynn claimed is the Maxwell speech of last Wednesday night from Salsbury was the first political address ever to be broadcast from the Rowan capital's station WSTP.

Headquarters for Wilkins P. Horton announce that a poll held at State College here, showed their lead. The balloting, they said, was supervised by Paul Lehman of Winston-Salem, president-elect of the State student body, and Henry Rowe of Mount Airy, editor-elect of the campus newspaper.

Conducted among graduate students and seniors who are eligible to vote in the primary the poll showed Horton 228, J. M. Broughton 169, A. J. Maxwell 63, Lee Gravelly 11, Tom Cooper 9, Paul Grady 7, and Arthur Simmons none.

Here are the most recent figures available to your reporter on some other polls:

Statesville Record: Maxwell 71, Gravelly 29, Broughton 22, Horton 18, Grady 3, Cooper 1.

Sandhill Citizen: Gravelly 48 per cent, Broughton 20 per cent, Cooper 13 per cent, Horton 8 per cent, Maxwell 6 per cent, Grady 4 per cent, Simmons 1 per cent.

Kannapolis Independent: Horton 47, Maxwell 1688, Broughton 121, Cooper 28, Gravelly 2.

He shook his head. "Hopkins knows I'm Mac's friend. I explained that to you before."

"Who, Eric? Could Hugh Sal-
tus? Judge Harper?"

"He doesn't know either of 'em from Adam. Moreover their opinion wouldn't count with Hopkins."

"Somebody in his own field, I suppose. Forgive me, Brenda, but you know that letter and package you gave me to mail last week? I couldn't help but recognize the name and address. If an expert like Wilkinson boosted Mac's work—"

"He did! Oh, he did! Wait! I'll show you." She ran upstairs eagerly and brought down the letter. "See, it says it's good work and Mac has brains!"

Eric's face underwent a sort of convulsion. He looked over Brenda's curls straight into space. After a moment he said: "Yes. Yes, I think we can take it for granted he has brains. Well, it's pity Hopkins doesn't know about this letter. It might make all the difference."

She thrust it into his hand with feverish eagerness.

"Take it to him! Make him read it!"

"No," he answered sadly. "Don't you see it wouldn't carry any weight in that case? Hopkins knows I've never been in New York; that I don't know Wilkinson."

'All Mixed Up'

BRENDLA thought confusedly that there was a flaw in this reasoning, but she was too worried to hunt for it. She gazed at Eric sternly.

"Then I'll take it to him myself!"

Eric jumped. "No, no, Brenda! I didn't mean that at all! What I meant is that if you'd show Mac the letter, and tell him how you wrote this Wilkinson, he could—maybe—accomplish wonders with it. Anyway," he finished, "it would certainly buck him up to know you'd been trying to help him!"

"You give it to him, and tell him!"

Eric hesitated. "I'd rather not, if you don't mind. Mac would think I'd been appealing to you on his behalf, don't you see? You could explain it so much better. Brenda, I'll tell you I happen to know he's going to be home tomorrow evening. There's a sort of lobby where he lives. How would it be if I borrowed Isobel's car and drove you down right after dinner? Just for a few minutes, you know."

Her dark brows drew together anxiously. "You're getting me all mixed up about this, Eric. If Mac has the letter, I can't see what difference it makes who gives it to him."

"But you've been giving me thunder for not helping Mac," he reminded her. "And now when you have an opportunity—maybe—not only to save his job for him but to give him a big promotion and a raise besides—and I'm here to tell you, Brenda, Mac needs friendly encouragement mightily bad just now—you go all haughty and mid-Victorian—"

"Don't! I'm not! If Isobel will let us have her car, I'll go with you. If she won't—she paused and added impressively—'we'll take a taxi!'"

But after Eric had taken his departure for his office the next morning, she charged her mind. Afterward she blamed Adelaide's calendar for it. It hung in a conspicuous place by her landlady's desk in the library. Brenda, wandering restlessly about the lower floor of the house, was transfixed by the date which stared in accusing black numbers at her. Two more days left in the month! And then it would be the first of the next, and any business man (the unlucky Mr. Hopkins' business ability had long had a low rating with Brenda but she had managed to keep aloof, it appeared) would certainly conclude any arrangements he might intend to make two or three days before a given date.

She made her decision on the instant. Running upstairs, she got into street clothes, examining with a sort of detached interest the small brilliant face above the collar of the fur coat Aunt Anne had given her last Christmas.

Half an hour later, she was being politely seated in a chair by old Mr. Hopkins' desk.

their unhappy plight is still unsolved. The war has boosted the price of a few farm products such as corn and wheat. On the whole, however, farm products on the average are not much firmer today than they were in 1934 when the AAA got under way. While the expenses of the Department of Agriculture for the coming year may set a new all-time record, the seven-year attempt to "purchase" farm property has been a dismal failure. Because of the unbridled spending, there must be some fancy juggling of figures in Washington this year. Otherwise the Treasury's bills will exceed the federal debt limit of $45,000,000,000. Either this debt limit must be marked up or taxes must be boosted; although this year the government may take a short cut by using the paper profits made by certain departments. Continuing these huge agricultural outlays only hastens the day when Congress must boost taxes for both farm and factory. And higher taxes will raise further the prices of city-made goods which the farmer says he already cannot afford to buy.

Subsidies Here to Stay
Seven years of fruitless handouts ought to prove to even the hardest-to-convince that farm prosperity cannot be legislated or bought. However, one does not have to look far to find the reason for Congress' great concern for the farmers again this year. Certain farm groups are well-organized and speak for the blocs of voters. The politicians have their big feet planted solidly in the farm problem and it will be no easy task to yank them out. Handouts and subsidies will bulk large in "farm economics" for years to come. Government checks will continue to be stuffed into R. F. D. mail boxes.

There is nothing unusual in the procedure. I am not blaming the farmers. Other groups are "getting theirs." Why should the farmers be any different? The farm problem will never be solved by subsidies, benefits, relief. It will only go from bad to worse until nature's laws of rewards and punishments are allowed again to function freely. Perhaps if farmers should organize into strong unions and force their prices up artificially just as labor has done, it might bring both the unions and the politicians to their senses!

New Uses Needed
Basically, however, the answer lies in finding new industrial uses for farm products; but this solution is too far off, too intangible to satisfy the politicians. Consequently, billions more will be spent in trying to buy farm property (and incidentally the farm vote). Again I say this: only the government could manage to spend $3,000,000,000 and, without showing any results, get away with it! Or can they? November 5 will tell the story. It will be a vital story, too, because the election of 1940 will be the most significant since 1890!

So much for farm politics; but let me add another word. As I travel during the past week through our great central west, I wondered whether any of us should complain. Conditions at their worst in America are better than in any other country in the world. And of this I know because I have visited most of them. As I saw the sun rise over the great fertile plains of Illinois, blessed with an abundance of seed, rain, and freedom, I said a prayer of thankfulness. I resolved whatever might come to me—I shall never complain!

Man About Manhattan

By George Tieder

New York—If Kate Smith thought as much of Kate Smith as Katherine Carruthers thinks of Kate Smith, Kate Smith wouldn't be able to live in the same house with Kate Smith.

Katherine Carruthers is unquestionably the world's No. 1 fan, and Kate Smith is her hobby. This is a hobby that over a period of seasons has been developed into a high school science, and if you are inclined to doubt such a statement, kindly consider these facts:

Katherine Carruthers lives on Long Island and works in a New York bank. I would say that she is in her 30's. Every Friday evening, without fail, she arrives for the Kate Smith broadcast, at the CBS studio No. 2, in 45th street. And every Friday night, without fail, she sits in the same seat, on the aisle, and takes down in shorthand every word that is uttered on the program. She notes the sequence of the show and makes a detailed record of the entire hour.

Then she waits around for the "repeat" broadcast, which is three hours later, and she again takes shorthand notes on everything that is said and sung and done. Invariably she then hurries to the stage door and waits until Miss Smith comes down. She says hello and congratulates her on her performance. By this time Kate Smith is climbing into her own car, and then Miss Carruthers goes on to her home on Long Island. It is then 1:30 a. m.

In addition, she is the head and founder of the Kate Smith Fan club, which puts out a regular Kate Smith newspaper (the last edition had 40 pages). One of the features was a story entitled, "How I would Entertain Kate Smith If She Were a Guest in My Home for a Day."

Miss Carruthers also maintains an extensive clipping service, and every word printed about Miss Smith goes into her private press books. Sometimes she sends these books to Kate's office for her staff to look at, and invariably they are more newly complete than Miss Smith's own records.

When stories that are erroneous appear in the papers, Miss Carruthers writes protesting letters to the editors. When new studio pictures are made of Miss Smith, Miss Carruthers orders duplicate copies for herself. Once on a western tour Miss Carruthers wired ahead and had photographers meet the entourage and take various pictures of Miss Smith amid western scenes. All of these activities are done at her own expense.

MONDAY NIGHT'S GAMES

Pepsi Cola vs. Water and Light.
R. C. Cola vs. Carolina Sales.

Double Cola strengthened hold on the Greenville lead of the Greenville softball league last night by taking a 17-12 victory over Carolina Dairy, which team has yet to win its first game.

In the other game of the evening Blount-Harvey defeated the hither-to runner-up team, R. C. Cola by a score of 6-3. The Carolina Sales team moved into second place by virtue of R. C. Cola's defeat.

The Double Cola-Carolina Dairy game rocked along on fairly even terms until the fourth, when the bottlers scored seven runs. Carolina Dairy pushed over three, but fell short.

Clark and Halem hit home runs for the winners, while Dempsey poked out a circuit blow for Carolina Dairy.

The six-to-three Blount-Harvey victory came on a much better game than the first scoring affair. The winners made two each in the first and third and one each in the fifth and sixth, while R. C. Cola, pace-setters at the start of the season, made one each in the fourth, fifth and seventh.

Ramsey Potts, star of the links as well as on the softball diamond, held the R. C. boys in check throughout. After allowing one hit in the first, he tightened down and held his foes hitless until the fourth, when one more R. C. man hit safely. Another safety was made in the fifth and three in the seventh. Two men were left on the bases when the third man went out at first base in the final frame.

BATTER UP! BLIND MEN PLAY 'CABLE BALL'

1. The blind play "baseball" now in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The game, devised by blind man Bill Schmidt, is played with a metal ring on a wire cable. Players lined up along the "field" here are (front to back) the catcher, batter, pitcher, second baseman, third baseman. Batters try to hit the metal ring as far as possible along the cable.

2. The pitcher, at a signal from the umpire (not blind), whips the ring toward the batter, 35 feet away, with a steel rod. The pitcher also acts as the first baseman.

3. The batter uses his sense of hearing to determine when to swing. He attempts to drive the ring past the grasping gloves of the three fielders who also depend on hearing alone.

4. The hitter, shown running to first, is awarded a single if the pitcher stops the ring but does not return it to the catcher before the batter reaches the first base post.

5. If the ring gets to the second baseman, shown grabbing at it, and the batter beats his throw the hit is a double—a triple if third man falls. If all fielders miss it's a home run.

TAYLOR HURLS PHANTOM WIN

Highs Get Credit For Two Wins Over Tarboro

Herman Dally's Greenville high baseball aspirants won a double bill over Tarboro here yesterday, when Bill Taylor hurled a two-hit affair. The Phantoms were credited with two wins because the first game was rained out several days ago and Eastern Conference rulings gave them a double victory.

Taylor fanned nine batters and let up only two fluke hits. This was his first win of the season in three starts. His win yesterday gave the locals two victories and five losses. Tarboro failed to get a hit until the sixth. In this frame two errors and a walk filled the sacks and a single broke the ice. The Edgecombe team scored again in the same inning when a runner came home on a throw to second.

Troy Riddle pounded out three hits in four batting turns to lead both teams with the stick. Riddle, a tenth-grader, holds first base for the Phantoms. Polly Williams, Eddie Curry and Buddy Harrington each made two safeties in five trips. Third-Sacker G. A. Stroud was issued three free bases, which makes a total of seventeen walks he has received this season.

Stroud walked in the first, Harrington singled and both advanced a base on a passed ball. Taylor smashed out a single through the infield to score both runs. Two more scores were carded for the locals in the sixth when three consecutive singles and two stolen bases came to light.

GOOD BATTERS SHOULD STICK TO FAVORITE STYLE

AP Feature Service
Louisville — "Good hitters," says Henry W. Morrow, "never change the model of their bat."

Morrow is supervisor at the Hill-erich and Bradys bat factory here.

"But," he says, "that wasn't true years ago."

Honus Wagner, the great short-stop hitter, came to the plant some 20 years ago, looked around and picked out a dozen bats from various bins. Every one was different. A few weeks ago Al Simmons of the Athletics visited the plant.

He swung and tested a number of bats. Finally Al picked one up, jiggled it in his hands and said:

"This is what I've been looking for in a bat. Now, maybe I can hit."

The company man took Al's order but laughed and said they varied little from the Simmons model that Al had used for years.

TENNIS MATCH WON BY HIGHS

Five Of Six Events Won Over Vanceboro Teams

Winning five of six matches, Greenville high school's tennis team won 5-1 over Vanceboro's netmen in a meet held here yesterday. Vanceboro's only point came when Huff defeated Bobby Babcock 6-3, 2-6, 6-4. This was the locals' second meet with Vanceboro. The Craven lads won the first by a score of 4-2.

In the feature of the meet Warren Picklen defeated Lancaster of Vanceboro by the score of 12-14, 6-4, 6-2 in match that required two hours and twenty minutes to complete.

Other results:

Gene Johnson scored a 7-5, 6-4 revenge victory over Don White. Sidney Johnson smashed Guthrie 6-1, 6-0 in the other singles match.

Gene Johnson and Percy Wells came from behind to defeat Huff and White 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. Sidney Johnson and Warren Picklen rounded out the victory with a 6-2, 6-0 win over Roberson and Guthrie.

That is the thing which has caused the undesirable flocking of big business interests to the standard of either Horton or Maxwell. They do know that neither the Lieutenant Governor nor the Revenue Commissioner has a "radical" bone in him. (Radical, in this case not being synonymous with Republican, but being used in its ordinary dictionary sense).

It follows, as a matter of course, that these business men will be against Broughton in a second primary, should he get there, no matter which of the Horton-Maxwell

Race Now Takes Form of Broughton Against Field

By HENRY AVERILL.
Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, May 15.—The current gubernatorial race has reached the point where it can be clearly and definitely declared to be a case of Broughton against the field—in the sense that the groups supporting some of the others are more anti-Broughton than they are pro-anybody in particular.

For instance there are a large number of conservative folks who flatly say that if the first primary should leave Lieutenant Governor W. P. Horton and Commissioner of Revenue Allen J. Maxwell as the two candidates entitled to call for a second balloting, then the "whole thing should be called off."

Those holding this view contend that either Horton or Maxwell is perfectly "safe" and, therefore, perfectly satisfactory to the group of industrialists who are always so keenly interested in seeing to it that no "unsafe" fellow ever gets into the governor's chair.

It isn't that they have any definite knowledge that J. M. Broughton would be anything but ultra-conservative; but that they just don't know what he would be. They fear, in spite of Broughton's flat denials, that the Raleigh lawyer has some sort of agreement with the group of which Ralph W. McDonald is the typical if not titular leader; and they dread the very suggestion that any of McDonald's tax ideas may get onto the North Carolina statute books.

That is the thing which has caused the undesirable flocking of big business interests to the standard of either Horton or Maxwell. They do know that neither the Lieutenant Governor nor the Revenue Commissioner has a "radical" bone in him. (Radical, in this case not being synonymous with Republican, but being used in its ordinary dictionary sense).

It follows, as a matter of course, that these business men will be against Broughton in a second primary, should he get there, no matter which of the Horton-Maxwell

Speedway Fatality

thousands more than it will lose him. The really important thing, though, is that the McDonald support probably has increased the campaign chests of both Horton and Maxwell, while at the same time causing something of a financial stringency in the Broughton exchequer.

BILLIES BEAT LOCALS, 10-2

Three Hurlers Fail To Check Snow Hill Nine

Three Greenville hurlers failed to check Snow Hill's Billies yesterday and the locals dropped another contest, this time to the tune of 10-2. The Greenies scored one in the first inning, but the lead was short-lived, as the Billies came right back in their half of the frame to match it. Each team scored one in the fifth and it looked for a while as if the Greenies would match run for run, but then came the fatal sixth, when the Billies pushed across seven runs before the Greenies could get out three men.

Norwood and Samocki got two for four each to lead the locals at bat, while Kracke and Norwood looked good in the field.

The Roosevelt resolution follows: Whereas, seven years ago the Democratic Party brought to a Presidency this Nation a President whose vision, wisdom, humanity and statesmanship lifted the American people from the depths of depression and despondency to the high place of recovery and hope; and

Whereas, in this time of fear, and amidst the horrors of war abroad, the American people look to Franklin Delano Roosevelt to protect us and preserve our peace; and

Whereas, full confidence of the people is well founded in him;

Now, Therefore, we the Democrats of Pitt County in convention assembled, do hereby resolve, that:

The Delegates from this county to the state democratic convention support a resolution to instruct the casting of North Carolina's delegates vote at Chicago on every presidential ballot when and as long as his name shall be presented, for the world's greatest humanitarian, the champion of Americanism, the great democratic statesman, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The Warren resolution follows: The following motion was unanimously adopted by the Pitt County Democratic Convention in meeting assembled in Greenville on May 11, 1940:

WHEREAS this county and district is most fortunate in having as its representative in Congress that distinguished statesman and loyal democrat, Lindsay C. Warren;

AND WHEREAS, his outstanding ability, his liberal leadership and his stalwart democracy is now recognized throughout the length and breadth of this nation;

AND WHEREAS his distinguished services has gained for him national recognition, and thereby has brought honor and distinction upon him and his district;

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that this convention unanimously go on record as endorsing the record of our beloved Congressman Lindsay C. Warren.

The speaker was introduced by J. S. Moore, member of the legislature, as the one candidate for governor whose experience and training, coupled with outstanding ability, qualifies him for the duties of the office.

Harvey Ward, Pitt county manager in the Maxwell for Governor organization, presided.

Mr. Maxwell prefaced his remarks by referring to the progressive spirit of Pitt county, which had manifested itself in a bond issue some years ago to bring the state teachers college here, and in pioneer road building.

He recalled that Pitt turned into the state highway system many miles of splendid roads.

Other phases of the program discussed by Mr. Maxwell included his plea for a more intensified public health service in the schools. "An educational authority recently said that one out of every five pupils entering the first grade fail to reach the fifth grade on time. Many of these failures are due to physical deficiencies which can be corrected if caught in time. That will actually save money by not having to teach one-fifth of the children over for at least one year. Besides, by catching the troubles in time, such a health service will greatly reduce the number of people the state must care for later in its various institutions."

"There must be more vocational training in the schools," he continued. "The state department of public instruction advises that only about three per cent of the pupils entering school ever go to college."

Declaring emphatically that the expanding all state services, he pointed out that only about three per cent of the total tax collections go for administrative expenses.

Referring to his statewide organization, the speaker said that there is an efficient Maxwell organization in 98 counties, the only two being home counties of other candidates. This is a better organization than any other candidate for governor ever had, he said.

Mr. Maxwell, accompanied by Mrs. Maxwell and a press representative, has just completed a swing through the west and Piedmont sections. He speaks this afternoon at Hertford and tonight at Elizabeth City where his address will be broadcast over WCNC.

A program of training in useful occupations must be provided for the other 97 per cent."
