Reorganized French Armies Fighting With New Fury

FORCES UNITED TO ENGAGE FOE

Action Called Miracle of Reorganization; Engage Germans In See-Saw Battle With Both Sides Gaining Temporary Advantages; Fall Of Boulogne To Invaders Probable

Paris, May 23.—(AP)—
The French armies, effecting what foreign military experts called a "miracle of reorganization", fought today with new fury to reunite their northern and central armies and shut off the long, sharp spearhead which the Germans have driven thru northern France to the sea.

Pocketed with their British and Belgian allies, the central French army using tanks, planes, motorized units and artillery, engaged the Germans in a bitter see-saw battle between Cambrai and Valenciennes, 25 miles away.

The battle jockeyed back and forth along the Scheldt river with temporary advantages for both sides.
At one point the French, a military spokesman said, fought their way down to the outskirts of Cambrai, territory from which they had pushed earlier in the week.

Berlin, May 23.—(AP)—Authorized German sources, although claiming to affirm or deny reports that the German armies have taken Boulogne, French seaport on the English Channel, added: "It is quite probable."

Boulogne is on the lower end of the Strait of Dover, 26 miles by sea from Folkestone, England. It is some 45 miles northwest of Abbeville, which a German army spearhead has engaged.

Since reaching Abbeville Tuesday the German southern spearhead has been groping for Boulogne, while the drive of the main German columns to divide and destroy allied armies in northern France and Belgium has produced other evidence of an imminent assault on England herself.

"The real battle is constantly being brought closer to Britain," said DNR, official news agency, "but before it can begin the pocket in the north of France and the Belgian coastal area must be completely occupied by German troops."

"In view of the strong forces encircled here it will not be done without heavy fighting."

Local Swimming Pool
To Re-Open Friday

The Greenville municipal swimming pool, closed several days ago to repair a leak that was discovered shortly after it was opened for the summer, will be reopened tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The repair has been made and the pool will be filled tomorrow morning and everything will be in shape for the re-opening at the designated hour.

Election Party

The management of The Daily Reflector today was getting everything in shape for its usual Election Night party Saturday night, to which the public is invited and which has always proved popular in past years.

Arrangements have been made for returns to be brought or telephoned to the Reflector office as fast as they are counted. They will be broadcast over a loud speaker in front of the office. If you can't leave home and desire information on any one or all of the contests—state, county or township—just call us, number 3356.

For the convenience of those who wish to attend Saturday night's ball game, returns will be announced at the local park. So you can attend the game, get results as they come in and then come on down and join the crowd.

The polls will close at 7 o'- clock.

The Reflector will issue its usual Special Election Edition and subscribers throughout the county may expect it early Suny morning.

Swastika Waves On Coast; Nazis Anxious To AttackDefense Council Meet Summoned by MussoliniSENATE VOTES FOR NAVY FUNDNational Defense Measure Nears
Final Action

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—The Senate approved the $1,473,756,728 navy appropriations bill today, hastening the administration's extraordinary national defense program far toward final congressional action.

Approval came with a speed like that which the army's share of the program was swept through the Senate yesterday.

A total of 2,970 airplanes, 2,500 of which would be training ships to fill the needs of an expanding training program, would be provided under terms of the navy bill. Counting just a relatively small number of replacements, most of these would augment the navy's present air fleet of 1,800 existing planes and 933 being built.

The roll call vote was unanimous, 78 to 0.

Proposed aviation expenditures of $326,000,000 would include $45,000, 000 also for development of airplane shore facilities.

The fleet would get $65,000,000 in emergency funds for the expedition of shipbuilding, $35,000,000 for armor and ammunition and $6,000, 000 for modernization of the battleships. These amounts would be in addition to $259,000,000 in regular appropriations to speed the work on two battleships, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, eight destroyers, four submarines and five auxiliary ships.

Emergency funds also would make possible the expansion of the navy's enlisted personnel from 145,000 to 170,000 and the marine corps personnel from 25,000 to 34,000.

In addition, President Roosevelt would be given $24,000,000 in cash and a like amount in contract authority to be spent at his personal direction in plugging up any cracks that may develop in the defense armor as the program goes along.

Are You Counted?
If Not, Call 2725

D. W. Lupton of Washington, N. C., district census supervisor, today declared that the count in Greenville was about completed, but advised that there probably were some who had not been counted.

Any individual who has reason to believe he was missed is urged to call the Chamber of Commerce offices, number 2725, immediately in order that the count will reflect Greenville's correct population.

Little Pollard Child Is Claimed By Death

Warner Brooks Pollard, two and a half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs.
T. E. Pollard of the Belvoir community, died last night at 11 o'clock in Duke hospital from a bronchial abscess. He had been ill three weeks.

Funeral services will be held from Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist church at 3 o'clock Friday, by Rev.
D. W. Alexander. Burial will be in the family cemetery in Belvoir.

Surviving are the father and mother, six half-brothers, T. M.
Pollard, Belvoir; James R. Pollard and E. D. Pollard of Baltimore, Md.; W. S. W. G. and Edie Pollard of Pitt county; two brothers, Earl and Jesse Arnold Pollard of the home; two sisters, Rachel and Ramona Pollard of the home and three half-sisters, Mrs. W. R. Tyson, Mrs.
Lloyd Ballance, Pitt county, and Mrs. Frank M. Brown of Greenville.

Situation Tense In French North Africa

Rome, May 23.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini was reported by a usually reliable source to have summoned a meeting of his supreme defense council today, while his official news agency reported from French North Africa that "the situation is tense."

Italians accused French authorities in Morocco of "renewing hateful persecutions against Italians living in the protectorate."

The official news agency reported from Rabat, French Morocco, that "without justified reasons or explanation, Italians of all social classes have been arrested, imprisoned or expelled from the territory within a few hours with disastrous consequences for their property and interests gained by decades of sacrifices and honest work."

RUMANIA GETS SET FOR WAR300,000 Reservists Head for Nation's Frontiers

Bucharest, May 23.—(AP)—Rumanian railroads and highways were jammed today with nearly 300,000 reservists heading toward the frontiers, as Rumania put into effect the greatest military concentration in her history.

The general staff yesterday had called up the reservists in a virtual general mobilization for "the highest state of preparedness" as diplomats here believed the government was apprehensive lest the Russian army move into Rumania's Besa-rabia.

Military circles said today that the men would be given intensive training in the new methods of war.
Meanwhile new measures were taken against possible "fifth column" activities.

Takes Precaution
With Pitt Ballots

J. H. Harrell, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, today revealed he had received a ro-tine telegram, sent to all county board heads, from W. A. Lucas, state chairman, cautioning to guard against the misplacement of any of the official ballots.

The wire was received after 1,500 of the tickets allegedly had been misplaced in Craven county.

Chairman Harrell said that all Pitt county tickets were in their proper place, and that a receipt had been received from all registrars to whom the ballots had been delivered.

Chairman Harrell cautioned the various registrars against allowing the ballots to get out of place and advised them to report to his office at once if any were found misplaced. He also instructed them to return what ballots were not used in the Saturday primary.

Winners Revealed
In Legion Contest

Commander J. H. Rose of the North Carolina Department, American Legion, today announced winners in the Legion state-wide school essay contest. Several hundred essays were submitted in the contest.

First prize of $25 cash went to Shirley Bowman of Marshall high school, second prize of $15 to Joseph Winslow, Jr., of the Roberson-ville high school, and third prize of $10 to Nellie Capps of the Swan-noah high school.

The subject of the essays was "Americanism vs. Conditions in Europe."

The awards have been sent to the post commanders in the area where the winners live and will be presented by the post and district commanders.

AWAIT ORDERS FROM FUEHRER

Associated Press Berlin Correspondent Finds Roads To Channel Jammed With Infantry And Artillery; Soldiers Anxiously Await Command to Invade Britain

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
With the German armies on the western front, May 23 —(AP)—I have reached the English channel to find German forces here with the Nazi swastika flying.

It seems almost unbelievable that I should find Germany at this channel.

But the Nazi swastika waving from the local commander's headquarters leaves no doubt of it.

Crews of U-boats and speed boats are champing to be sent on their errands of destruction.

Lochner, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Berlin is in the fifth day of a tour with the German forces on a personal invitation of Hitler.

He did not specify the point at which he reached the English channel, but apparently it was some place in Belgium.

"Technically the eastern limits of the channel runs between England and France, but Belgian ports popularly are considered to be on the channel."

Here, as elsewhere, the roads of approach are jammed with infantry, more infantry and still more infantry and with artillery, even more formidable back by an air force equipped to the last fine detail.

All are awaiting Adolf Hitler's final command to go to England.

Every where one hears soldiers singing the "Engelnd" song.

Young men realize such a venture would be no picnic.

"Maybe 50 of each 100 ships will be sunk by the British," one infantryman from Saxony said to me.

"But why shouldn't I be lucky and be on one of the ships that gets over."

"And if not x x x that just can not be helped."

Another lad from Mecklenburg rubbed his hands and declared:

"Oh, boy, won't it be great to march on to London."

A brown trout caught in the Logan river in Utah in 1939 weighed 36 3/4 pounds.

FRENCH GOVT.
NOT TO LEAVE SEAT IN PARIS

Reaches Decision To Stick It Out For Present

ARMY STRIKING
BACK AT NAZIS

Industry Also Ordered To Continue Its Usual Functions In Area of Capital City

France's army, striking back at the might of Adolf Hitler while the French government decided to stick it out in Paris, regained lost ground today and began a "battle of Flanders" which a military spokesman described as "extremely violent."

The battle line extended between Cambrai, about 110 miles north of Paris, and Valenciennes, about 25 miles east of Cambrai. The spokesman said see-saw fighting resulted in the French reaching the outskirts of Cambrai, territory from which they had pushed by the Nazi armored columns.

Military circles here said the fighting was progressing "satisfactorily on the whole."

Stabilizing lines along the Aisne and the Somme rivers were reported unchanged.

The decision to maintain the government's administrative base in Paris was reached at a meeting of the inner war cabinet.

It also ordered industry to continue its function in the Paris area and put a curb on the movement of civilians from the city without army orders.

But while the military arm reported this newest success in a northern battle being fought "with the greatest violence," the Admiralty announced the loss of three French naval units, a submarine, a torpedo boat and a supply ship, in operations off the Dutch and Belgium coast.

Fireside Chat

Washington, May 23.—(AP)— President Roosevelt will discuss defense conditions and needs in a "fireside chat" to be broadcast to the country Sunday night.
In announcing Mr. Roosevelt's decision to make the radio address at 9:30 p. m. EST, Stephen Early, White House press secretary, told newsmen it would be a "straight-forward and factual report from the government to the people."

He said it would be a "general discussion of the defense situation and defense needs."

Great Britain Fearful Of Invasion Through Ireland

King's Brother Wounded In War

From London comes disclosure that the Duke of Gloucester (left), brother of King George VI of Great Britain, is suffering from wounds caused by bomb explosions on the Franco-Belgian front. Drew Middleton, Associated Press correspondent nearby at the time, reported Germans bombed a hotel in which the Duke was quartered and flying fragments of a bomb wounded Gloucester's right hand. The Duke and Anthony Eden (right), British minister of war, are shown on the Western Front recently.

House Committee Votes For Immigration ShiftResolution Aimed At Dealing With Aliens

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—A special House committee unanimously adopted today a resolution for quick congressional approval of President Roosevelt's alien control order, transferring the immigration service from the Labor Department to the Justice Department.

The action came less than 24 hours after the president sent congress the order and a message saying the transfer would enable the government "to deal quickly" with undesirable aliens. He urged action to make the shift operative quickly.

The proposal was the only one of the five reorganization programs the President has submitted that won the unanimous endorsement of both republicans and democrats on the special government reorganization committee.

Leaders said they hoped to push the resolution of approval through the House before the week-end. It would make the transfer effective ten days after both Senate and House adopted it and President Roosevelt signed it.

Rep. Warren (D-NC), member of the House committee, said he had been informed that Senate leaders would attempt to pass the resolution by unanimous consent—a procedure which would require only a few seconds.

Greenville Kiwanians
To Meet At Red Oak

The Greenville Kiwanis will hold its regular weekly meeting at the Red Oak community house Friday night at the regular hour, 6:30 o'- clock.

The program will be in charge of the Kiwanis committee on Support of Churches, composed of Chairman Berry Bostic, J. Nat Harrison and B. W. Moseley.

All Kiwanians are asked to meet at the Proctor hotel at 6 o'clock to arrange transportation for all members.

GRAVE DANGER
FACES ALLIES

Abbeville Falls To Germans; Heavy Fighting Rages
Around Boulogne; Germans Smash At Channel Communications; British Soldiers In Paris Declared To Be Embarking

By The Associated Press
The fall of Abbeville, 12 miles from the English channel to German shock troops blasting their way through to the coast, was announced today by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"This country is in fearful danger," declared Alfred Duff Cooper, British minister of information.

Heavy fighting is raging around Boulogne, France, on the channel.
Churchill said.

"It is too early yet to say what the results of this coastal fighting may be, but it evidently carries with it implications of a serious character," he declared.

French reports yesterday said the Germans had been "chased out" of Abbeville, but once again the Nazi onslaught has broken through to the sea.

Simultaneously Clement R. Atlee, deputy leader in the House of Commons, disclosed that the governments of both Britain and Ireland were apprehensively "alive to the possibilities" of an invasion through Ireland.

As emphasized by Churchill, the threat of a Nazi invasion was apparently becoming hourly more grave.

Possibly as a preparation for this heralded next blow in Hitler's "total war" scheme, power-diving bombers and German speed boats smashed at channel communications.

A German break-through in the fierce fighting for control of English channel ports imperilled communications between 550,000 allied troops "pocketed" in northern France and 1,000,000 French soldiers to the south.

"There is a gap between the two armies," a British spokesman admitted. "The allied situation on the Western front is extremely grave."

Besides the vital line of communications being endangered by the new Nazi onslaught, a British expeditionary force communique acknowledged that the Germans had reached the "neighborhood of the coast" on the English channel.

The German high command reported the harbor facilities at Dover, England, and Dunkerque, France, had been "effectually bombed."

Apparently the Germans were trying to prevent either the flight of the so-called "trapped" British troops from Dunkerque or the cross-channel transportation of reinforcements from Dover.

Coincidentally, emphasizing the gravity of the allied position, Berlin sources asserted that British troops falling back toward the channel

Annual Picnic.
The Greenville Chapter of the Greensboro College Alumnae held its annual picnic in the early evening hours of Wednesday, May 22, on the beautiful grounds of Herman McLawhorn's home, just off the Kingston highway between Winterville and Ayden.

The spacious well-kept lawns and beautiful gardens, enclosed on three sides by olive green, majestic forest growth made a perfect setting for the joyous picnic group, which was composed of members of the chapter, their immediate families and more than a score of their guests, who added much to the general delight of the pleasure party.

Shortly after six o'clock a superb abundance of delicious food and drink, which had been prepared by members of the group was spread in picnic fashion and eaten in the open air.

Afterward, while everyone was seated on the ground, group singing—which was led by A. L. Dittmer—was very much enjoyed.

This delightful occasion brought to a close the activities of the local chapter for the year 1939-40.

The group wishes to thank Mr. McLawhorn publicly for his gracious hospitality in offering us the use of his lovely grounds for two consecutive years. —Reported.

Luncheon Hostess.

Green and white satin ribbon extended from the center piece to each guest's place. To the ribbons were tied miniature bags of rice. The auxiliary tables, scattered throughout the living room and drawing room, were centered with sweet peas in pastel shades.
A delightful three-course luncheon was served. The pastel shades, used in decoration, were repeated in the ice course.
Mrs. Kittrell remembered her honor guests with gifts of crystal.

Inter Se Book Club.
The age-old adage "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" has been proved by medical science within the last forty years. Since preventative medicines have been discovered longevity has been increased around twenty years, was Mrs. James Jenkins introduction in her very interesting and inspiring talk on the preventative medicines for infants and children, given to the members of the Inter Se Book Club on Tuesday afternoon, May 20 at the home of Mrs. Denver Baughn. She discussed the progress made in the treatment for the prevention of diphtheria. "In 1934 and 1935, the senate of this State voted down the compulsory diphtheria inspections, but the past year statistics were put before the house and they were shown the dire need for such a bill to be passed.
A bill was passed and already there has been a great decrease in the frequency of the disease. Typhoid fever is not nearly so prevalent in these late years as it was ten to fifteen years ago. After this inoculation is

Glee Club.
The Glee Club of the Greenville High School will render special music at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. These numbers will be directed by Miss Ona Shindler. Rev. E. R. Clegg, of Nashville, N. C., will preach in the absence of the pastor, who is attending the Jurisdictional Conference in Asheville. There will be no evening worship service.
The following is the program for the morning service: Organ Prelude—"Voluntary in G", Call to Worship.
Hymn 498—"God of our fathers", The Apostles' Creed.
Prayer (mixed chorus).
"Spacious Firmament" Haydn-Matthew (Boys' Glee Club).
Responsive Reading, 21st Sunday.
Gloria Patri.
Scripture Lesson.
Offertory—"Serenity".
The Doxology.
"Rejoice and Sing" Bach (mixed chorus).
"Listen to the Lambs" Dett (mixed chorus).
Sermon by Rev. Clegg.
Hymn 111—"Fairest Lord Jesus".
Benediction.
Postlude "Chorale".

New Officers Installed.
The East Carolina Teachers College Chapter of the Future Teachers of America installed their new officers at their last meeting of the school year on Tuesday night.

Frances Cash, Wendell, succeeds Kathleen Strickland, Rocky Mount, as president.

Other officers are Jennie L. Peebles, vice-president; Mary Helen Boykin, secretary; Themise Smith.

FALSE TEETH
Need Not Embarrass
Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTETITE, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTETITE at any drug store. (adv)

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Little Miss Bettie Gray Sutton, who has been visiting at H. L. Carr's returned to her home in Kingston on Wednesday.

Out of 79 applicants for licenses before the State Board of Medical Examiners at Tarboro, fifty-two were successful. Four ladies were among the number, and two of these—Miss Sallie Borden of Goldsboro, and Miss Elizabeth Dixon, of Raleigh, made the high grade in the class.

treasurer; Irene Mitcham, song leader; Ray Saint-Amand, parliamentarian; and Elizabeth Bryan, publicity chairman.

Miss Frances Wahl gave an interesting and helpful talk on "Balanced Education in an Unbalanced World."

Puppet Show.
Lil Hannibal will be presented in a puppet show by the Puppet Guild at the Greenville WPA Art Gallery Friday afternoon, May 24 at 4 o'clock.

Lil Hannibal will be manipulated by Joanne Bloom; Grandmammy, the cow and the pig by Joe Trotman; and Grandpappy, the hen and the bear by Sarah Kirkpatrick.

The show is free of charge and the public is cordially invited to see the performance. It is given as a special feature for "This Work Pays Our Community Week", a national observance of open house in all Professional and Service projects in the WPA program.

Dance Revue at Pitt Friday Night.
As a special added attraction at the Pitt Friday night the pupils of the Ramona School of Dancing will present their annual "Dance Revue" on the stage for one performance starting at nine o'clock. This revue will feature many talented youngsters, and is looked forward to with eager interest each year when presented for public approval.

Resort Ready for Summer Season Atlantic Beach, May 23.—The youngest and fastest-growing coastal resort in North Carolina is reported to be ready for an expected record summer season, according to John H. Singleton, who is succeeding E. G. Petry as general manager. For the past two years he has been manager of the Atlantic Beach hotel, so is familiar with all beach details.
Bath houses will be officially opened Saturday, June 1, for daily use; but they will also be open this Sunday for pre-season crowds. A pre-season dance will be held Saturday night in the casino, with music by Randy Kirby and his orchestra.

Diversified programs of fine entertainment are being planned for June, July and August, including roller skating, amateur fights and dancing, in addition to the regular beach and water sports and midway amusements. Special attractions will be announced from time to time. Many improvements in beach property have been made for the season.

Mayor Newman Willis will again act as general assistant to the beach manager; Frank Klein, of Morehead City, will be office bookkeeper; and Miss Josephine Wade, secretary.

WILSON'S Certified BACON
by the makers of Tenderloin Ham I find it a real joy to cook with Wilson's Certified Bacon. It makes my mouth water just to see those even, uniform slices, broiled to a turn, and rippling over scrambled eggs, or served with crisp muffins or succulent green vegetables. The rich, smoky flavor of this bacon is so delicious that I could "make a meal" of it. In fact, I often do.

For Better Bacon . . . BUY WILSON'S

There's a world of difference in bacon. The Wilson label on a package of bacon means that it is "top" in flavor and value. The even, uniform slices are triple-inspected and packed under the most sanitary and ideal conditions. Every slice contains just the right balance between fat and lean needed for perfect eating. And the flavor is smoked right in, nut-sweet, tangy and irresistible to the last bite.

BRING HOME THE BACON —5 WAYS

Wilson's Certified Bacon comes packed five ways to meet every need and taste—but it's all the same high quality Certified Bacon.

First, there are the thin slices. They come in pound and half-pound cartons that keep the contents sweet and fresh.

The same thin slices come also in pound or half-pound cellophane-wrapped packages or, platter-style, in 1-pound parchment wrappings.

Something NEW

FAMILY-STYLE BACON
Families that use plenty of bacon will welcome this new family-style package of sliced Certified Bacon. It's the same quality bacon, cut slightly thicker and comes in a 2-pound cellophane package, with the rind cut off but replaced to retain the original freshness.

OR BY THE SLAB
Finally, Wilson's Certified Bacon may be bought in the whole piece or by the pound. Have it sliced by the dealer, slice it yourself as needed, or boil it whole for an old-fashioned dinner, with onions, carrots, turnips and potatoes.

A TASTY DINNER
Try this quickly prepared grilled dinner tonight.
1 lb. Wilson's Certified Bacon, sliced 1 No. 2 can green asparagus 4 medium-sized cooked potatoes 4 slices pineapple
1 pint tomato Clear Brook Butter
Grated Certified Cheese
Arrange on broiler, potatoes, pineapple and asparagus, in 4 bundles slipped through pineapple rings. Brush vegetables with melted butter, sprinkle with grated cheese and broil 3 inches from source of heat until brown, and cheese is melted. Remove to hot platter. At once, place bacon on rack and broil to desired crispness. Turn once or twice. Arrange tastefully on platter with vegetables and pineapple and garnish. Serves 4.

Acrobatic Dancer

"If you wake up some morning feeling dull and stupid, just try a simple acrobatic dance," says Lita Gray, pictured above. "Acrobatic dancing is great for the hips," remarks Lita, a beautiful and talented dancer from Miami's sun-kissed shores. Miss Gray, the possessor of a sylph-like form is a master artist as she presents her acrobatic dance routines. She is but one of the myriad bright features of Bilroy's Comedians, which appears in Greenville for one performance only on the night of Saturday, May 25.

Bilroy's Comedians, with an entourage of eighty people, including many lovely girls and fifteen featured vaudeville acts, is the leading tented theatrical attraction on the road today.

Bilroy's big tented theatre will be located at the old fair grounds, opposite Guy Smith stadium. The performance lasts over two hours and is presented at popular prices, with ladies free, when accompanied by one adult paid admission. The doors of the large canvas canopy open at 7:15 p. m., with overture by the Rhythm Swing-O-Patrons, Ambassadors of Swing at 7:30 and the curtain is at 8:15.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

NOT BREAD ALONE
"Man shall not live by bread alone."

This was Jesus' rejoinder to Satan's proposal that He turn stones into bread. Our Lord's refusal to do so was not because He had anything against bread, but because He would not use His miraculous powers for the purpose of satisfying His own selfish desires.

Furthermore, our Lord has a deep conviction that when men put this unusual emphasis on the physical side of life, the result is a neglect of the spiritual. Satan wanted Him to put bread first, and Jesus, knowing only too well the human disposition to try to live by bread alone, spurned the suggestion as evil and highly dangerous to all the ideals of the kingdom.

One of the best explanations we can make of the present disturbed condition of world affairs is that man has been trying for some generations to live by bread alone. The nemeses of such a philosophy of life is that mankind has at last plunged into war, seeking more bread, and the result always is that the more the world seeks after bread and fights for it, the less bread there is in the world. The more the nations put materials first, the more do they destroy with inconceivable prodigality the material things they prize most highly.

"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

● We repeat, if you are registered and entitled to vote in Saturday's primary, we urge you to do so. It is your privilege and duty to have a part in the selection of the men who are to carry on our public affairs. Be sure and vote Saturday.

● If you have tomato plants or other garden plants or seed that you would like to donate to the school garden, Prof. J. H. Rose would be glad to know it. The burden of feeding underprivileged children during the school terms is great and an effort is now being made to produce and can enough vegetables this summer to take care of the school needs next year. The move, we believe, is a good one and if our people co-operate now by donating for the garden project, the demands should not be so great on us during the next school year for funds to help feed the needy children.

As usual we will hold our Election Matinee on Saturday night and the public is invited to spend the evening with us and receive the primary returns first hand. For the benefit of those who want to attend the baseball game in the early part of the Couldn't We Just Throw A Few Pop Bottles!

evening and at the same time receive the election news we have arranged to have the returns announced at the ball park. If there are those who cannot attend our party we will be glad to give the news to them from time to time if they will telephone us for same. It has always been our policy to give our people as complete coverage as possible on the occasions of county, state or national elections and in addition to our bulletin service throughout Saturday night, we will publish our Special Election edition just as soon as the complete returns are in early Sunday morning.

● Before the final census figures are compiled the district director has requested that any persons in Gree-ville who are not sure that they were counted by the enumerators, make the fact known at once. During the period of taking the census in this city it was necessary because of illness to make changes in some of the enumerators and it was later learned that some of our citizens had not been counted.
In order that the figures might be correct when they become official the Chamber of Commerce is anxious to know if every person in Greenville has been counted.
If you are not sure that you were included in the count, we urge you to call the Chamber of Commerce office immediately. By so doing you will be rendering a service to Greenville as it is to our advantage to show as large a population as possible in the census report.

● The candidates for public office were having a hot time of it today and their troubles were not seeking votes but dodging the peanut politicians and parasites who are always prevalent seeking handouts at election time.
Frankly it is a shame when candidates seeking public office in Pitt County find it necessary to absent themselves from their homes and places of business in order not to be pestered to death by persons seeking gifts or loans ranging from a quarter up and in return promising support in the primary. Most of these handout seekers make the rounds of all the candidates with the same story, promising support to all and not caring who gets elected just so long as they get their handouts. We repeat it is a shame for such conditions to exist in our county and yet according to all appearances and reports they have never been more prevalent than at this time.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington.—Thanksgiving Day story: The poultry industry wants to talk turkey—cold turkey—to the Federal Surplus Commodities Corp.
There are, it seems, some 60,000-900 pounds of turkey on ice in the Pacific Northwest that the industry would be delighted to have distributed to the poor—at a reasonable sum per pound. But the FSCC, although it has 40-odd purchasable surplus products on its buying list, isn't the least bit interested.
The reason: These cold storage turkeys weigh 18 to 25 pounds. Basic requirements would be an oven and a roasting pan of that size; then all the fixings for stuffing, side dishes and cranberry sauce.
The FSCC may say "Let them eat cake," but it'll never stop suggesting that they should eat turkey.

situation in Europe, and the feeling that congress should be forever on guard against "any contingency" without the delay of assembling is responsible.

If congress should act to stay on deck, it would be the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant that it has done so during an election year. Back in 1888, the 50th congress stuck until October 20th, three weeks before election. Even in 1890, when the nation was cracking up for Civil War, congress adjourned June 25 and in 1894, on July 4.

But congress has—as usual found a method: During national conventions and state elections, it can leave a special staff on duty, with the gentlemen's understanding that no business will be transacted until all the boys get back from the ballot battles. This is what is being suggested in the cloakrooms for 1940.

May Day Story—a little late: If you pick up your radio telephone (don't ask me who has 'em) and hear some one screaming "Mayday," get in touch with the FBI. Secret Service, Coast Guard. "Mayday," according to one of my federal communications commission informants, means "SOS" in anybody's language.

The distress call, "Mayday," was adopted as long ago as 1927 for all radiotelephony. It has nothing whatever to do with May 1 and those labor parades. The word is a slight corruption of the French "Maidier," meaning "help me," and was officially written into international regulations in 1938. The FCC warns that misuse of "Mayday" can get you as much as $10,000 fine and a couple of years in the hoosegow.

Trivia: A smartly dressed woman appeared at the Federal Aeronautics authority offices to ask where she could buy an "airplane skeleton."
"I have the engine," she explained. "All I want is the skeleton and some gasoline."

The FCC has received for its files announcement, in a newspaper clipping, that "WBCHD has become the union item about the nuptials of a couple of radio amateurs. You'd think the FCC had a sense of humor, but it hasn't. The notice was turned over to the man in charge of "amateur station mergers."

Martin Dies, the Texas representative in charge of all those investigations about un-American activities, has been accused of publicly seeking. If true, he sure overlooked a bet in the congressional directory.
His biography there says: "Martin Dies, Democrat, of Orange, Tex.; was elected to the 72nd and each succeeding congress." Some first-timers got more space merely by giving name, politics and hometown.

At St. Mary's College here they've

But while they've been waiting to put the official sign on it, prank-

One morning the board carried the

That having been washed off, there then appeared "Cherry Farms," which has been covered with a

To The Citizenship Of Pitt County

Roy Cox should be nominated for the office of Register of Deeds for Pitt County. He is able and competent; his character is of the very highest type. The spirit of fairness, truth and integrity is inborn in Roy T. Cox.

He has always given a large measure of his time and effort to the upbuilding and expansion of education. He has stood for the highest ideals in social and moral life in his community and county.

His public and private life stands out clear cut and clean, beyond reproach, and no man in Pitt County is more deserving of recognition at the polls in Pitt County on May 25th and we strongly commend him to the voters of Pitt County for the office of Register of Deeds.

This statement is made by friends of Roy Cox from all sections of the County. They cheerfully make this contribution in his behalf and urge the citizens of Pitt County to support him at the polls on Saturday, May 25th.

A Year of Action Results in The Old North State's "Clean Up or Close Up" Campaign

Twelve months ago the North Carolina beer industry went into action to commence weeding out those relatively few beer retailers who, by practices unbecoming good citizens, tended to bring reproach on the great law-abiding majority. "Clean Up or Close Up" was the ultimatum issued them and we feel that our action results speak for themselves.

To date, 78 beer licenses have been revoked—revoked because 78 beer dealers used their licenses to shield illegal activities. Thus are being removed the bad spots that, left alone, would smear the reputation of the thousands who operate within the bounds of decency and ethical business conduct.

As a new year begins, this committee states anew its determination to carry forward aggressively its now well-established program . . . and asks continuance of your alertness to patronize only decent, reputable beer outlets.

HIGH TIDE

By Frances Hanna

YESTERDAY: Unknown to Jan, Johnny Benton decides that she will be his wife. Derek accepts the fishing barge job although he declares that work is a nuisance.

Chapter 10 Painting Critic

DEREK's mother had kept him just long enough to extract a substantial settlement from Gregory Knowles, then shipped him back to Eton, a boy disillusioned, embittered from seeing things he should not have seen; a sensitive lad, too introspective, turning with all the zealous starved fervor of his emotional nature to music.

At eighteen his father took him to New York to live with his stepmother, a charming, quiet woman who was good to him. Trouble came. Loyal to his stepmother, hating violently his father's new-found love, a sleek young actress, he stayed on with the second Mrs. Knowles until, inadvertently, he learned that she, too, was using him as a pawn.

At nineteen he demanded to go abroad to study; his acerbic, violent dark eyes meeting his father's. He listened to copybook maxims, to fumbling words of attempted explanation and reconciliation, took his letter of credit and sailed alone.

But he could not escape being Derek Knowles, heir to a huge fortune, rich in his own right, at twenty-one, from a legacy of his paternal grandfather. He was the son of Gregory Knowles, financier, capitalist. Girls clutched at him, fawned over him, pursued him.

At twenty-one he was a cynic about women. Until he met Lenore Page.

"Nuts!" said Derek, sitting up on the sand. "Jan's right. It's a lot of fun to feel sorry for yourself."

About now, he thought, his father would be hearing from his lawyers that his son and only heir was well on his way to China.

"Might as well be," Derek reflected. "I'll never run into anyone I know down here. I'm safe enough. Safe from Lenore and Lea and all their kind. I like it. I'm going to stay."

He chuckled to himself over the fact of Jan hunting him a job. He'd never worked for anyone in his life, except his music professors; never earned a penny of his own. It would be novel, at least. Certainly, today, he was in no mood to cast himself into the water. He wondered if a great deal of money would spoil Jan. His smile soured. He had no wish to find out. She tolerated him; pitied him, probably; would in all likelihood try to manage him as she did Lance and her house, but he had no intention of letting her know who he was or how rich he was. He'd try to earn enough money to pay for his food and the rest of the time, well, the hot sun was pleasant. Tomorrow? It never comes.

When Jan heard the trap door lifted she knew it was Derek. No one else would venture up here to disturb her solitude. She didn't want him here; didn't want him to see the quite lovely sweep of beach and sky she had just sketched and painted with water colors. Yet she sensed his coming here was somehow inevitable.

"I've come to bare your soul," he announced, striding toward her, a grin on his arrogant face. "You owe it to me after yesterday I should have left that piano alone. I knew better, but—let me see your canvases."

Tender Kiss

BECAUSE the day was really warm, she had come up here in brief shorts and sun halter. As she knelt down to take a half-dozen carefully-wrapped pictures from the locker she felt Derek's eyes on her.

"You have a lovely figure," he commented casually. "Not an ounce of fat on you."

"It must be the Melba Toast and grapefruit diet, or maybe the rowing machine in the attic which I never use."

"After all, what is an attic without a rowing machine? And family skeletons."

"No skeletons," she assured him. "At least, not Merriner skeletons. Not yet, anyhow."

"Then there's no hope for you. You can't be glamorous without a skeleton or two to rattle here. Let me help you with those canvases."

Unwrapping one painting at a time, she handed it over for his inspection. He held it up in varied lights and squinted critically. She tried to read his reaction from his expression and could not. Fear mounted in her; the certain fear that he would confirm her own opinion.

"Jan," he said, when the last picture was back in its wrappings. "I think you're on the wrong track. You have ability, all right, and an eye for line and color, but—well, bluntly—I don't think—"

—artistic are your proper métier."

Farmers Received 145,548 Tons Lime

Raleigh, May 23.—North Carolina farmers participating in the 1940 AAA program have received 145,548 tons of lime under the grant-of-aid plan this year. E. V. Floyd, AAA executive officer of N. C. State College, revealed today.

Likewise, he announced that 2,601 tons of 20 per cent superphosphate have been ordered and delivered, as well as 2,755 tons of concentrated superphosphate. The materials also are being distributed through the grant-of-aid program.

Floyd explained that growers have taken these materials in place of conservation payments and are using them to carry out approved

"But the sea is the only thing I want to paint!" she insisted, tears edging her voice. "Fruit, flowers, trees, houses—not!"

"What about people?" "I never tried. Always," her voice mourned. "I've tried and it's practically an obsession. I suppose I should hate that vast murderous expanse of brine because it took my father and mother from me, but I don't."

"Then," he advised after a silence, "do nothing for a time. Let your creative ground lie fallow awhile and let other impressions crystallize. If you have genius, and you may have it lying latent, undeveloped, it's for something else perhaps. Jan! What is . . ."

For she was weeping, her hot tears pushing through her thick lashes. Consternation filled him. She was so fragile-looking, she looked like a hurt child crying out in heartbreak and disappointment. "I know I'm not a—genius," she stammered. "I've tried and I had it—but I didn't have it. It eludes me, like wind. Wanting to do a thing isn't—doing it."

"Don't I know?" he asked softly. "I guess we're just a couple of frustrated artists, Jan, and misery loves company." He put his arm around her shoulders in a gesture of sympathy and camaraderie. Her hair, fragrant and clean and unperfumed, blew against his chin. Then something, call it an emotional spark, sprang from nowhere to ignite both of them. Trembling, she turned to face him. His arm tightened, caught her close against his hard chest; his lips brushed the tear-drops from her lashes, then found her lips and held them in a kiss. A very tender kiss. He felt her mouth soft and quivering and unanswering. Unconsciously it piqued him. Again he kissed her, lips importunate. Her arms went up and around his neck and, caught by a sudden rapturous emotion, she returned his kiss. A moment he held her, then let her go, rudely, abruptly.

"Rather Melodramatic"

THROUGH tears, she saw the dark scowl on his face.

"No use making us both more miserable," he grated. "Damn it, Jan, I'm sorry this happened. I liked the basis we were on. I can't give you love, romance, marriage, and you're the sort who'd expect them. I can't give anybody anything, least of all myself. I wish you'd forget I kissed you."

She shoved her hair back of her ears and managed a very small ghost of a smile. "I have a poor memory," she said. "A gust of anger swept her. 'Aren't you being rather silly, Derek? Rather melodramatic? I didn't inquire whether your intentions were honorable or not, you—egotist! Don't you think I've been kissed before?' The shrill sound of her voice irritated her ears. 'It was just one of those things that happen sometimes. You were sorry for me—I was sorry for you—oh, Derek, for goodness' sake, stop scowling and leave me alone!'"

At the edge of the trap door he paused to look back at her queerly, uncertainly. Then from below Lance called.

When Lance called, Jan went. At once, without fuss. If she didn't he fretted himself into sick feverishness.

Jan dabbed at her eyes with her hands before she opened his door. She saw at once what had prompted his call. The clipper ship, in the process of being varnished, had slipped from his hands to the floor and one of the wings had crumpled. Lance was staring at it, white-faced, as if it were a world-shaking calamity, but Jan knew he wasn't seeing the tiny ship at all; he was living again over the times he'd piloted great planes on test flights and bailed out more than once when a wing gave way.

She went down on her knees to pick up the tiny model plane. Momentarily she forgot the scene on the roof. As she laid the plane on Lance's lap she looked into his drawn face. At first he seemed not to see her at all, then his eyes focussed and he demanded:

"What happened between you and Derek, Jan? I heard him go up on the roof. You've been crying. What did he say to you? What did he do?"

Telltale scarlet rushed up her throat and flamed in her cheeks. "Nothing, Lance."

"Don't lie to me, Jan! Did he hurt you in some way? Did he? Answer me!"

"He only agreed with me that my painting is no good," she confessed wearily. "And then I went feminine and—and cried. That's all."

His strange, beautiful eyes bored into her. "That's all you intend to tell me, at least," he amended. "Are you fainting in love with the man? Are you?"

"Of course not, silly." "You never were a good prevaricator," he frowned. "You don't know who he is. Nothing about him. An honest man is not so reticent about himself, Jan. I won't see you hurt. Tell him to go. Tell him to leave our house. Right now. If you don't tell him, I will. I mean it, Jan."

Because of the much needed rain that fell May 11, the Cherry Lane 4-H club could not hold its regular monthly meeting until May 18. On the absence of the president the meeting was conducted by the 4-H club leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

The club song was rendered by the club trio. At this meeting it was decided to hold a one day camp, the place to be named later. All hands went up in one accord at the mere thought of such a thing. Plans were also made to take a few of the members to farmers congress to be held in New Bern July 15-16. The club garden is doing fine under the circumstances. Five vegetables were found growing in this garden.

Each 4-H club leader is asked to please remember to send one boy from each club to be present at the county agent's office May 29 for the judging team. The time is 10 o'clock. —Dennis Dupree, Negro county agent.

Greenville golfers yesterday afternoon defeated Farmville 41-24 in the final match of the season, but Wilson won a doubleheader over Tarboro, 37-2, and Kinston 40-7, to end the season in top place.

Greenville finished second with eight wins against four losses, against Wilson's eight victories and three defeats.

Tarboro and Rocky Mount, with seven wins and five losses each, tied for the next place, while Goldsboro finished fifth with six wins and the same number of losses. Kinston had five wins and seven losses to finish sixth and Farmville wound up at the bottom with 11 losses to no wins.

Plans now are going forward for the Eastern Carolina Golf Association championship at Rocky Mount June 5.

During the season Greenville won from Kinston and Farmville twice and once each from Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro and Tarboro. It lost one each to Rocky Mount, Wilson and Tarboro. The last match was to Tarboro there on May 8 by one point, 27-26. A victory there would have given the locals the pennant.

Greenville golfers participating in the final match of the season and their scores follow: Points 72; Alton 74; Myrtle 75; Storm 77; Campbell 80; Snoot 81; Kock 81; Ruffin 82; Dr. Brown 83; Edwards 84; Conley 84; Taylor 84; Kileo 84; Proctor 85; Little 85; Glass 85; Blount 85; Waldron 87; Clark 87; Lanier 87; Blount 90; Jesse Moya 92.

Walk And Three Errors Give Martins Victory

Baseball fans and politicians will be able to see a game and get the primary returns at the same time Saturday night. Arrangements have been made for the Reflector to dispatch results of the primary to the ball park as fast as they are received in the Reflector office.

Attend the ball game and get the results between innings and then come on down to the Reflector office and join the crowds.

MEET IS LOST BY TRACK MEN

First Setback For Greenville In Two Years

By LARRY JAMES
Coach Herman Fulkerson's local high tracksters lost their first track meet in two years to the Rocky Mount Blackbirds yesterday afternoon by the score of 86-48 in that city. The local Phantoms have won three and lost one in dual meets this year. They also placed fourth in the Civitan meet at Greensboro and the state meet at Chapel Hill.

George Tyndall, Greenville miler, took first place in the mile run. His time was 4:16 seconds. He also placed first in the broad jump with 19 feet.

John Spearman, also of Greenville, garnered first place honors in the 100 and 220 yard run. The time for these events were 10.4 seconds and 23.3 seconds respectively.

In the 440 yard run Holscher of Rocky Mount was first. Cade and Valentine also of Rocky Mount placed second and third. The time was 56.4 seconds.

Holder, Blackbird half-miler, was victorious in the half mile run. Andrews of Rocky Mount and Briley of Greenville were second and third respectively.

Russell, Rogerson, Phantom weightman, won both the javelin and discus. He was also second to Johnson of Rocky Mount in the shot put.

In the high jump Cade and Jovner were first and second respectively while Sakas placed third.

George Sakas, captured first place in the pole vault. Cade of Rocky Mount was second in this event. The height was 10 feet.

In the last event of the day Greenville won the relay. Soeraman, Parrish, Sakas and Tyndall were the local runners.

Although Greenville won first place in most events, Rocky Mount took the majority of the second and third places.

OFFICERS SIGN NEW PLAYERS

Club Extending Efforts To Find The Winning Team

If officials of the Greenville baseball club do not assemble a winning team, it will not be for lack of trying, as changes are being made in the line-up almost daily in an effort to provide a winning combination.

Bill Shelton, who has starred at short stop on the East Carolina Teachers College team for four years, is the latest player to be signed. He is expected to see action in tonight's game in Tarboro. Drozd is being released to make room for the college ace. It also is possible that the Greenies will get another local college boy.

Walters joined the team yesterday and caught last night's game. Persons who witnessed the game declared he showed up good and it is believed he will "come through."

Negotiations for two pitchers from Oglethorpe university, from which college Greenville secured Andy Johnson and other star players of former days, have been completed and the new men probably will arrive here Monday.

Negotiations also are under way with Duke and University players in an effort to bolster the local team.

David Williams, pitcher, has been released to make room for Walters. Shelton, ECTC senior and major in physical education, has been outstanding in baseball, football and basketball during his intercollegiate athletic career.

Two years ago he was the highest scorer in intercollegiate basketball competition in North Carolina and was the first ECTC athlete to receive the M. P. Fox trophy as the most valuable athlete; he has been outstanding in both hitting and fielding in baseball, doing his major shining at the berth he now holds with the Greenville baseball team.

Shelton, a native of Danville, Va., and a resident of Greenville, has been president of the Varsity club of East Carolina Teachers college for the past two years. This year he was president also of the Men's Student Government Association, having been elevated from the office of secretary-treasurer.

Greenies At Home Friday, Saturday

The Greenies will be away from home again tonight, meeting Tarboro in that city, but will return to meet Tarboro here Friday night and Wilson on Saturday night.

The Saturday night game here will pit the leaders against the cellarites, unless the next two games holds with the Greenville baseball team.

Ladies Night

The Greenville baseball club will be host to the women of the community Saturday night when they meet the Wilson Tobs.

Decision to invite the women was announced this morning by Vice President Ty Wagner.

Club officials are attempting to get the women fans out this season, the attendance having been unusually low to date.

Local Man Wins Trip To Indianapolis, Ind.

W. P. Edmunds of this city has been advised that he has been declared winner in the Southern states in the Real Silk Hosiery company's sales contest and would be awarded a free trip to the company's mills at Indianapolis.

Edmunds will arrive in Indianapolis on May 29 and attend the Memorial day automobile races on May 30.

To The Citizens of Pitt County

On Saturday, you will nominate two men to represent you in the next Legislature. I sincerely hope you will choose me as one. If I am nominated, I promise you to try at all times to serve ALL OF YOU, fairly and honestly, to the best of my ability.

I have been unable to see each voter in the county and solicit his or her vote, and cannot possibly do this in the short time left of the campaign. If I have failed to see you, please allow me to take this means of earnestly soliciting your vote and support on Saturday. I will not forget your confidence in me.

Kitchen Full of Filthy FLIES?

Here's what to do. Close kitchen doors and windows. Use a good sprayer and fill room with room deodorizer. Leave for 15 minutes. When you go back the only flies will be dead ones on the floor. Sweep up and destroy fallen insects. Don't confuse Bee Brand Spray with other insecticides. It has no nasty kerosene smell—only a clean cedar fragrance that soon disappears. And Bee Brand really kills flies, mosquitoes and other flying insects quick—yet it's entirely safe to use in the home. Insect on gum, quick-killing Bee Brand Insect Spray—in the red and yellow can. It's sold with a guarantee of satisfaction or your money back.

MUCH IS SPENT ON RECREATION

WPA Projects Being Sponsored Over Nation

All over the country cities and towns are becoming recreation conscious as they see the value of organized leisure time instead of idleness or unplanned spare time activities. Many cities now have tax supported recreation departments operated in cooperation with the Recreation Project in the P and S Division of the WPA.

In other communities the WPA Recreation Project is sponsored by civic minded individuals and groups.
Before there were only six cities in North Carolina having permanent recreation programs. Now there are over 172 units in 82 towns and cities of the state where 542 recreation leaders serve around 600,000 men, women, and children with direction in sports, games, crafts, music and other wholesome leisure time activities. Every day new requests come in from communities who want recreation projects through WPA. In many cases these requests cannot be granted due to lack of available workers.

No one is trained to meet the demands of this new recreation need in American life. Thus it is one of the greatest functions in the WPA Recreation Project to train leaders.
A great deal of time and thought is devoted to this phase of the program. The University of North Carolina and other educational institutions have recognized the importance of this task, and lend valuable assistance in training WPA workers in Recreation. Many WPA workers who have been in the recreation work are now holding down city paid jobs, and it is to be hoped the continuance of the training program will ensure a steady supply of trained leaders as needed.

People often ask, why this sudden interest in recreation? What has happened since the day nineteen when idleness was akin to sin? First because of technological developments we as a nation do not need to work as hard as we did when our grandfathers were boys. In those days everyone had chores to perform; travel was slow and a twenty was all you could do in a day, people accepted the fourteen hour day, and mother had to do all her own working, canning and baking. Nowadays the motorcar whisks us ten miles in ten minutes and clattering machines grind out necessities by the thousands in less time than it would have taken grandfather to make one like object. This all means, according to statistics, that a man with seventy years to live, can spend twenty years sleeping, eighteen years working, and have twenty nine years left over for leisure time activities.

It is this vast amount of time available for leisure that has brought the word recreation to so many tongues. This subject is not only of interest to us as lay people, but is also of much interest to school teachers, law enforcement officers, ministers, and the social scientists; for they all see that it is not what we as a people do while we work but what we do while we are not working that makes American culture what it is today.

Leisure time activity has been approached from several angles. Of growing importance is the community festival. We need not be remembered of the recreational values of such events as the Elizabeth City Mohr Boat Regatta, the Rocky Mount Gallopade, the Kinston Music Festival, the Washington Tulip Festival, and Manteo's famous Lost Colony.
These activities give recreation to tens of thousands of people and make for community pride and civic mindedness which is inherent in a democracy such as ours.

A striking example of another angle is the tremendous growth of commercialized amusements such as the movie, and national sports such as baseball and football.

Noteworthy too, is the increase of the resort trade. As North Carolinians know our roads buzz with out of state cars attracted by the luxury hotels, camps and popular bathing places which are springing up from Maine to Florida along this beautiful coast line. A great deal more time is being devoted to fishing, hunting and camping. Our state is ranking close to first as a good hunting and fishing resort and the future looks bright for these sports.

Of more importance to the average man, however, are the multitude of low cost diversions that are becoming more popular through the work of the Recreation Project in the P and S Division of the WPA.
In accordance with the wishes of the sponsors of the program in the local units, baseball, basketball, tennis, and other games are made available to all and at the same time opportunity is given for the enjoyment of individual hobbies, group games, arts and crafts and countless other skills.

Announcement!

I hereby announce my candidacy for constable of Winterville township, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary May 25, 1940.

If elected, I will serve the public to the best of my ability.
Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated!

TODAY — "FLIGHT ANGELS" with VIRGINIA BRUCE

Eastern North Carolina tobacco fields this week will virtually complete the job of transplanting. L. T. Weeks, tobacco specialist, of the N. C. State College Extension Service, said today.

In the Piedmont, the transfer of plants from bed to field should be about half completed at the end of this week.

Weeks said growers apparently have an ample supply of plants despite heavy blue mold attacks.
