PITT RETAINS 70-CENTS LEVY FOR 1940-1941

$100,000 ABC Funds Will Be Transferred

NO TAXES FOR GENERAL FUND

Fifty Cents Of Total Levy To Be Used In Payment Of Principal And Interest On Bonds

The county-wide tax rate of 70 cents on the $100 valuation in effect last year again is provided in the tentative budget adopted by the Board of County Commissioners in session last night.

The seventy cents rate was made possible through the anticipated transfer of $100,000 of ABC funds. None of the 70 cents will be used for the general fund, county home, outside poor and relief or health department. ABC funds having been allotted to help finance these departments. The 70 cents will be divided as follows: pensions, 10 cents; schools, 10 cents; and bond and interest payments, 50 cents.

The total budget, including every county-wide item, calls for $481,499. Of this amount $100,000 is to be derived from the transfer of ABC funds, $222,222.50 from current taxes and $159,276.50 from old tax outside income, miscellaneous revenue, fees, commissions, costs and penalties and poll and dog taxes and $45,000 already set aside in sinking funds.

These figures do not include debt service funds for township road and district school bonds.

The general fund calls for expenditures totalling $108,049.50, against a 1939-40 budget of $105,215 and expenditures for that year of $95,926.97. An item of $5,000 for revaluation was added in this year's budget which was not required last year, but $2,000 of this was absorbed in other items. The funds will be raised as follows: miscellaneous income, commissions, fees, license taxes, etc., $26,650. ABC transfer of funds, $64,799.50; payment of cash advanced to Swift Creek drainage district, $6,600.

The county home budget calls for expenditures of $9,615, the same as for last year. Of this cost $500 will come from the sale of surplus products, $800 from the collection of old taxes and $8,315 from ABC funds.

The outside poor and relief item calls for expenditures of $14,971, compared with a 1939-40 budget of $13,271, and actual expenditures for that year of $14,973.31. The increase was deemed necessary to provide for greater hospitalization needs, including an increase from $2,000 to $3,000 for maintaining patients at the Sanatorium, a boost from $600 to $1,300 in the WPA sewing room fund, from which only materials are purchased to provide clothing for charity cases. A greater increase in the outside poor and relief fund is reflected through the transfer of $1,100 in blind assistance from the pension fund. Funds for the item will be raised as follows: collection of old taxes, $750; ABC funds, $14,221.

Appropriations of $24,896.50 were provided for the health department, compared with an appropriation of $22,521.50 and actual expenditures of $21,447.49 for the last fiscal year. The increase was to provide an expansion in the venereal clinic program. ABC funds totalling $12,611.75 will be used by the department, with the remainder coming from outside help and collection of old taxes.

The pension fund calls for expenditures of $37,891 for the current fiscal year, compared with a budget of $35,606 and actual expenditures of $32,818.60 last year. Of the budget increase for this year $1,100 was the transfer of the aid for blind to the

PITT RETIRING 30-YEAR BOND

Will Owe Total Of $1,631,000 at End Of Fiscal Year

Pitt county will mature its court house and jail bonds this fiscal year. When the $75,000 long-term issue dated February 1, 1911, will be paid off in full.

It was revealed at the auditor's office that the county will have paid a $112,500 in interest on the money, or a total of $187,500 paid back for the original sum of $75,000. The bond was not payable in series, it was explained, this accounting for the large sum paid in interest.

In addition to the $75,000 court house and jail bonds, the county will retire other smaller amounts, bringing to $126,000 the total amount of bonds to be retired during the 12-month period.

At the conclusion of this year the county will have a bonded indebtedness of $1,631,000, as compared with a depression high in 1933 of $2,525,000.

The county has reduced its bonded indebtedness in the past nine years by $884,000 against a total reduction of $174,000 during the entire debt history of the county prior to that time.

If the county does not issue any more bonds, nor refundance any of those outstanding at present, it will retire its total bonded indebtedness in 1966, but it will not be over its "heavy load" of large annual payments until 1950.

The figures apply to the county-wide debt only and do not include township road and school district issues.

At present there are over a million persons eligible for relief but cannot be employed because funds are not available. WPA does not have an unlimited amount of money, it must operate within a specific appropriation of Congress. It can furnish only those jobs for which it has funds.

The Windsors

London, July 16.—(AP)—A dispatch from Lisbon tonight said that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor had booked passage by clipper to New York and are expected to fly from New York to the Bahamas, where the Duke will be governor general.

It was reported they will leave the Portuguese capital this week. Their transfer to another plane to continue to the Bahamas would be quick, the dispatch said, indicating there would be little stop-over at New York.

FIGHT SEEN ON FOREIGN AIMS

Floor Fight Threatened In Democratic Convention

Chicago, July 16.—(AP)—The threat of a floor fight over the explosive issue of sending aid to Great Britain confronted democratic policy-makers today when they tackled the party's platform-building job.

Senators Wheeler of Montana and Pepper of Florida, advocates of different courses in foreign affairs, served notice that the question would be submitted to the whole convention unless their respective views were incorporated by the platform committee.

Wheeler and Senator McCarran of Nevada, members of the drafting sub-committee, have subscribed to a declaration which would pledge the party never to use the nation's armed forces for aggression nor to send them to European or Asiatic battlefields.

While opposing foreign encroachment in the western hemisphere the declaration would also express opposition to "any attempts on the part of the Americas to dictate or control the affairs of other powers."

Pepper said that the party should

REFUGEE PLAN IS POSTPONED

Britain Delays Idea Of Sending Children To U.S.

London, July 16.—(AP)—Official announcement that the government had postponed its plan to transfer British child refugees to the United States was made in Commons today and precipitated protests by Laborites that thousands of children from wealthy homes were being sent over seas while those of the poor were forced to remain and face war conditions.

One Laborite declared he was convinced that the whole plan had been merely a "camouflage" to get the children of wealthy parents out of the country ahead of the threatened German blitzkrieg.

The announcement, authoritatively forecast, was made by Clement R. Attlee, Prime Minister Churchill's lieutenant in the House of Commons.

Registration of children under the evacuation scheme continues, however. So far 50,000 have applied to go to Canada and 20,000 to the United States.

Attlee said private transfers of children would not be stopped but that the risk involved must be shouldered by their families.

The government's plan was suspended, he said, because the navy found it impossible to provide the necessary escort vessels for the Atlantic crossing, but that the government hoped ultimately that the situation at sea would permit reviving it.

Carr Is Heard At Local Civic Club

Stuart Carr, who has just returned from Canada in connection with his duties with the E. B. Ficklen Tobacco company, addressed the Greenville Rotary club last night, dealing principally with the Sino-Japanese war. The program was presented by the International Service committee and the speaker was introduced by Ty Wagner.

Mr. Carr reviewed the conflict in China and recounted some experiences he had encountered during the last several months. He explained the procedure followed by Japan after taking various cities, such setting up Japanese-dominated governments. He declared the rehabilitation had been slow in occupied cities and towns.

The speaker did not discuss the outlook for export of American tobacco to the Orient this year.

600,000 NAZIS AWAIT ORDERS

Reports From Switzerland Declare Invasion of Island Kingdom May Be Launched on Friday Night

Grenoble, France, July 16.—(AP)—Le Petit Dauphinois said today that foreign diplomatic quarters in Switzerland had heard that a projected attack on England by 600,000 Germans had been delayed because of differences in the high command, but that the attack may be launched Friday night.

The Germans have assembled hundreds of ships for the attack, the newspaper said in a dispatch from Bern.

According to the paper, the commander-in-chief of the German army and other generals opposed the plan of attack first set for July 9-10, because they thought it too dangerous to the attackers in its original form.

The ships, according to the newspaper, ranged from German and captured French, Belgian and Dutch freighters and passenger ships to fishing smacks and barges to be towed by tugs.

They are lying along the coast from Brest, France, to Bergen, Norway, the paper added.

The fleet's escort of light gunboats, submarines and fighting planes will be preceded by minesweepers and waves of bombers were ready when one group of generals protested that it was too dangerous, the paper said.

A modified plan of attack may be launched Friday night, the paper added.

U. S. Protectorate Being Considered

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—Informal persons said today the United States was sounding out other American countries on their attitude toward establishing of a protectorate over European possessions in this hemisphere.

This sounding, they said, was a part of the preliminaries on several questions likely to come before the Inter-American conference opening at Havana Sunday.

State Department officials said they had no knowledge of a formal note to the Chilean government proposing such a protectorate, but it was not denied that Ambassador Claude Bowers may have presented a memorandum on the subject.

Secretary Hull, when questioned yesterday, said the United States was exchanging ideas, suggestions and proposals on a variety of subjects which is the custom before the conference such as the one opening at Havana Saturday.

NEW DEMANDS THAT FDR RUN FOR 3RD TERM

High Praise Of New Deal Sounded By Speakers

NO WORD AS YET FROM PRESIDENT

Debate Rages Over Bonus Delegates; Anti-Third Term Plank May Be Presented

Chicago Stadium, July 16.—(AP)—New demands for the renomination of President Roosevelt, coupled with high praise of the new deal record, pierced today the dull routine of this slowly organizing convention.

In rapid order, while Mr. Roosevelt still held occasional telephone chats with Secretary Hopkins, there were these third term developments: Secretary of Labor Perkins told several thousand applauding women at a breakfast that "we are about to break tradition and nominate a man for a third term."

Rep. Arthur Mitchell of Illinois, the only Negro congressman, told a sparsely-attended mid-day convention session that eight out of every 10 negroes would vote in November for the party "whose banner I hope and pray will be carried by that great humanitarian, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, director of the national committee's women's division, appeared to her hearers to lend further support to the expected third term nomination when she told the delegates:

"There are millions of human beings throughout the self-governing nations of the world who look for leadership and faith in the principles of democracy to the United States of America and to the first citizen of the world, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

While committees worked in hotel rooms to complete a platform, the delegates traveled out to this big stadium and back again, still without word of President Roosevelt's own intentions.

Directors of the third term drive were described as still uncertain whether to put the President formally into nomination and the vice presidential problem was no nearer solution than it had been yesterday.

Chicago, July 16.—(AP)—The Democratic convention Rules committee, after a hot debate, deferred until tomorrow a decision on the question of awarding a delegate bonus in future conventions to states going democratic in prior presidential elections.

The argument developed the same fight between southern and northern states that occurred before the national convention.

Japs Meanwhile Darken International Situation

He Knows Secret

With Party Chairman James A. Farley eyeing the presidential nomination for himself, word has gone around at the Democratic National convention in Chicago that Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of commerce, is serving as President Roosevelt's chief lieutenant at the convention. Farley and Hopkins alone know the secret of the President's third term intentions. Hopkins is shown at the convention.

Simultaneously the international picture was darkened by the resignation of the Japanese cabinet headed by Admiral Yonai. It appeared likely the Yonai cabinet would be succeeded by a group favoring stronger action against Western powers in the Orient, including the United States.

This report coincided with the departure of strong forces of the United States battle fleet from Hawaii—numbering two battleships, 12 cruisers, an aircraft carrier and a powerful array of destroyers.

While the Navy Department maintained silence, speculation was aroused that the American men of war may be steaming to patrol British and French islands in the South Pacific.

The Nazi-Fascist peace move, as described by diplomatic quarters in Rome, would be sounded by Hitler in a three-point plan as follows:

1—Settlement of European affairs, presumably with Germany and Italy to dominate the continent—and Britain to keep "hands off."

2—Return of British-held colonies owned by Germany before the World war.

3—Economic rehabilitation of Europe.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a broadcast Sunday night scornfully rejected in advance any axis suggestion of a peace parley.

Nazis said Germany is ready to strike when Hitler gives the word and that a titanic blow was an "inevitable necessity" because Churchill insisted on fighting to a finish.

Informed German quarters held that British stubbornness would require the latter alternative and said bases for attack had been prepared "with German thoroughness" from Norway to the French Atlantic coast.

The daily German raids on Britain tapered off sharply. Planes were sighted over northwest England but no bombs were dropped and a lone raider was believed shot down off the southeast coast.

The British, for their part, appeared to be striking at Germany.

The British Air Ministry reported it had inflicted punishment on 22 German airports and other points in the previous 48 hours. The Germans called the raids "aimless" and scoffed at damage done.

Britain was believed to have laid new mines in waters around Italian territory of the Mediterranean. The Admiralty warned vessels that if they should venture within 30 miles of Italian territory in the Mediterranean they would do so "at their own risk and peril."

No County Court Due To Absence of Judge

No session of County Court was held today, in accordance with an announcement last Tuesday by Judge Dink James.

The judge is out of the city. Clerk E. F. Tucker said that no cases were pressing for trial, only a few having been docketed recently.

Christian Science Church
"SACRAMENT" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies, Sunday, July 14.

The Golden Text was from John 4:23. "The hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, 'Take, eat, this is my body.' And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them; and they all drank of it. And he said unto them, 'This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.'" (Mark 14:22-24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "His followers, sorrowful and silent, anticipating the hour of their Master's betrayal, partook of the heavenly manna, which of old had fed in the wilderness the persecuted followers of Truth. Their bread indeed came down from heaven. It was the great truth of spiritual being, healing the sick and casting out error. Their Master had explained it all before, and now this bread was feeding and sustaining them. They had borne this bread from house to house, breaking (explaining) it to others, and now it comforted themselves. For the truth of spiritual being, their Master was about to suffer violence and drain to the dregs his cup of sorrow. He must leave them. With the great glory of an everlasting victory overshadowing him, he gave thanks and said, 'Drink ye all of it.'" (Page 23).

lational committee two days ago. The Rules group not only postponed action on the national committee's proposal to add one delegate to each state voting democratic, but agreed to put off reporting this matter to the convention until after a presidential nominee had been selected.

Chicago, July 16.—(AP)—The possibility arose today that Democratic platform-makers might be forced to pass on a plank putting their party record against a third term for any president.

Declining to discuss details, Sen. McCarran of Nevada told newsmen that introduction of an anti-third term proposal for a showdown vote within the committee hinged on several other planks he has in mind.

He was quick to add that it was not to be taken for granted that he would be the one to offer the proposal, which most everyone around this convention city believed would be promptly killed.

department and also the transfer of the county's part of the salary and travel expenses for a child welfare worker amounting to $620.40, for a total of $1,720. The remaining increase in the budget was made for increases in salaries to case workers and office help. The pension funds will be provided as follows: state and federal funds $3,896.25; ad valorem taxes $30,794.75; and collection of old taxes $3,200. A ten per cent tax was levied for the pension fund, as compared with 8 cents last year when the department received $5,000 from the ABC funds. Bonds and interest will claim $223,180 of the total expenditures of the county for the current year. Of this amount $160,680 will be derived from current taxes; $17,500 from collections on old taxes and $45,000 from the sinking fund.

The school budget of approximately $63,000, about in line with last year's figures, will be raised from a ten cents levy, compared with a seven cent levy last year. The increase in the levy was deemed necessary because of the low collections on dog and poll taxes and fees and penalties. Last year collections on these items were budgeted at $9,957 as against $6,648 collected.

The tax rate was maintained at the 70 cent rate when it was discovered that the two cents levied for the health department last year could be eliminated by the transfer of ABC funds from the general budget and substituting $6,600.00 expected payment of funds advanced to the Swift Creek drainage district.

Raleigh, July 16.—The North Carolina Historical Commission has just issued two leaflets which tell of the work of this agency. The titles—"How the North Carolina Historical Commission Serves the Public" and "The Hall of History." Copies of these leaflets can be obtained on application to C. C. Dr. Crittenden has also just announced approval of inscriptions for ten new historical markers to be erected at various sites of interest. These markers reveal several little-known facts in connection with the state's history—facts which have been adjudged substantiated by a group of leading historians of Wake Forest College, Duke University, State College, the University of North Carolina and Davidson College.

One, for instance, commemorates an invasion of North Carolina by British troops in the War of 1812. Few are awarded, Dr. Crittenden said, that there was such an invasion.

This marker will be placed in Swan Quarter in Hyde county and will bear this inscription: "British Invasion: A British force under Admiral Cockburn occupied Portsmouth and Ocracoke, July 12-16, 1813. S. E. 30 miles across Pamlico Sound."

Another interesting fact is brought out in an inscription telling of a visit of General U. S. Grant to Raleigh in April, 1865, to confer with Sherman on terms to be granted the Confederates under General Joseph E. Johnston. The inscription will read: "General Grant: In the Governor's palace, April 24-27, Grant conferred with Sherman and approved new terms for surrender of Johnston's Confederate army."

Another significant marker will be erected in Wayneville, Haywood county, with the following inscription: "Martin's Surrender: General James G. Martin surrendered the army of western North Carolina, the last Confederate force in the state, in Wayneville, May 6, 1865."

Other inscriptions approved: In Cleveland county: "Patrick Ferguson camped in this vicinity with his Tory force, Oct. 4-5, 1780, two days before its destruction at the Battle of Kings Mountain, 5 miles S.E."

At Rocky Point, Pender county: "James Moore: Commander of Whigs in Moore's Creek campaign, 1776, brigadier general North Carolina troops at Charleston, died 1777. His home was 3 miles S.E."

In Raleigh: "Camp Polk: World war tank camp, 1,600 acres in area, established Sept., 1918, named for William Polk, colonel in the Revolution, was located here."

In Brunswick county: "Alfred Moore: Associate Justice United States Supreme court, 1790-1804, officer in the Revolution, state attorney, judge. Home was 18 3-4 miles S."

At Littleton, Warren county: "Littleton College: Chartered in 1883 as Central Institute and in 1887 as Littleton Female College. Was burned 1919. Was located here."

At New Bern, Craven county: "Washington's Southern Tour: President Washington visited in the Stanley home, one block N.W., on April 20-21, 1791."

At East Ben: "Richmond Pearson, Chief Justice, North Carolina Supreme Court, 1858-78, conducted famous law school at Richmond Hill his home, which stands 5 miles N.W."

HIGHEST PAID TRADE SHOWN

Wholesale Workers Averaged Most During June

Raleigh, July 16.—Workers in the wholesale trade were the highest-paid of any group for which statistics were kept by the State Department of Labor during June. These workers averaged $29.11 per week for the 1,181 employees reported by 77 establishments.

The next general group of workers—those in the manufacturing indus-

Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's "strong man" candidate for the presidency, is shown casting his ballot at Havana in the turbulent national election in which at least four persons were shot to death and 25 were wounded. ties—was so far behind that there can hardly be said to be any second place. The average weekly stipend of 130,445 workers reported by 350 manufacturing concerns was $15.40, not much more than half the weekly wage of the wholesale trade employees.

In the non-manufacturing group, 3,480 workers employed by 104 reporting firms, received $14.42 per week, while in the retail trade 309 employees in 4,803 firms averaged $14.16 per week.

To make the highest weekly wages, the wholesale group worked longer hours per week (43.2) than any other group. Figures for the others were non-manufacturing 43.0, retail trade 38.2, and manufacturing 34.4 hours per week.

Average hourly wages were highest in the wholesale trade, the figure reaching 69.9 cents per hour. The figure for average hourly wages were next to the printing and publishing manufacturing 45.1, retail trade 35.1, and non-manufacturing 34.1.

Highest average weekly wages for any particular trade under any of the general classification were made by the 60 employees of five broker-in the monthly report of the statistical division of the Department of Labor.

Summarizing the statistical report said: "1,071 identical establishments reported for the week ended June 15, 1940, showing employment of 139,909 workers as compared with 141,529 for the same period of the previous month; a decrease of 1.1 per cent in workers. The firms reporting for the period named showed a weekly payroll of $2,161,983, a decrease of 1.3 per cent from $2,191,451 in the corresponding period in May."

"The average weekly paycheck was $15.45 as compared with $15.48 for May, 1940."

Increased number of workers was shown for tobacco, lumber, laundries-dry cleaning, mines-quarries, and wholesale trade. These also showed payroll increases.

I Try To Be Different

A lot of people say they don't like to see a life insurance man come in the door, and I don't like to waste anybody's time. There are so many needs for insurance, however, that I've frequently been able to point out "planned protection" programs for my clients that made them glad I saw them. If you have any question about your present insurance or about what insurance can do for you, I'll be glad to come by and have a talk with you. Never an obligation—it's part of my service to this community.

REA APPROVES MEMBERSHIPS

Sanctions Principal in Switch From Mutuals

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, July 15.—The State Rural Electrification Authority has approved the principle of permitting "mutual" electric corporations to change over to "membership" corporations.

The proposed change, which will affect some ten or a dozen corporations, is for the purpose of putting all the electrical "cooperatives" on the same tax exempt footing.

At present those co-ops organized under the 1914 "mutual" law are subject to state, county and municipal taxes; those formed under the "membership" act of 1935 are exempt.

Before the REA voted to approve the principle, the matter was discussed by Director Dudley Bagley with Governor Clyde R. Hoey and Acting Commissioner of Revenue L. S. Gregory. Both agreed that all the cooperatives should have the same tax status.

Action of the board was taken in the specific case of the Davie Electric Mutual Corporation; but that is to be only a forerunner and guide for others.

At the same meeting of the board, an application for charter was received from the Burke-McDowell cooperative in order that it may apply for a Federal advance to build approximately 150 miles of rural lines. The information presented was too indefinite to enable the board to pass on the application, which will be considered later.

Director Bagley was re-elected chairman of the REA board for another year, as were all the other officers—Dr. Jane S. McKimmon, vice chairman; D. S. Weaver, secretary; J. M. Grainger, engineer and assistant secretary; and Mrs. Lina Flowers, senior stenographer-clerk.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood.—Producer Ben Hecht sat at his office desk today and wondered what movie producers find to do with their time. He went further than wondering.

"The time'll come," he said, propping his slippers on the desk and puffing at his cigar, "when there'll be no more producers in the picture business. When a little more bad luck comes to the business, they'll be done away with. It won't be easy, since the producers will have to fire themselves, but it'll come."

Hecht, large and pockmarked and very good-humored about the whole thing, seemed to be doing his best to look like a caricature of a producer, even to his blue sports shirt, his loudly striped socks, and the old felt hat he kept on his head.

But his office didn't look busy. The walls weren't covered with production charts, and no secretaries and office boys popped in with breathless messages. There wasn't even a book on the bookshelves.

There was one phone, and it didn't ring more than once.

Producer Hecht, it should be remembered, has long had it in for producers in general. He is producing and directing his own story, "Before I Die," and Doug Fairbanks, Jr., his star, is also associate producer.

"As a producer," Hecht said, "I've already given myself a story and a director, and that's all there is to it. Doug has even less than I to do. Yesterday we had big doins'. Had to choose a footsie for a dance sequence. Doug rushed to the studio and I joined him, and we chose one. Then we went home—nothing more to do."

"Having worked as a writer under at least 20 producers, I think 90 per cent of them might as well be dropped in the Pacific Ocean. Then we'd get pictures a lot better that cost half as much. As a writer I've always fought to keep the gonfalon of the writers at the most important name on them would be the printer's my hamminess demands more attention."

Hecht, whose previous producing has been done in New York where he has put out "two good ones" ("The Scoundrel" and "Crime Without Passion") and "two bad ones" ("Once in a Blue Moon" and "Soak the Rich") says working in Hollywood is tougher on the ego—there are too many people around who know more about picture-making than he does.

"Before I Die" is the story of a group of people on a rainy night in New York City. Hecht is fond of rain, says it makes people more intimate. The action of the film is concentrated within 10 hours and most of the sets are decidedly non-colossal.

Lose Weight Without Losing Your Breath, Too

This half-moon stretch, flat on your back, is a simplified method for reducing waistlines.

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer
Summer is no time for us to be puffing ourselves red in the face trying to slim our waists. There's a simple way to get a better-looking bathing-suit figure. It might be called the summer stretch. It's a favorite with several Hollywood stars and New York socialites, as well as with career women.

So, forget the thumps and bumps of winter exercise routine, and try this summer slimmer:

Lie on your back on the floor, your feet together, arms over your head. Remember, you're to keep your hips touching the floor throughout this stretch. Now, slide your legs along the floor to the right. Keep both legs together and on the floor. Edge them a little farther, gradually. Then stretch your left arm toward the right as hard as ever you can—keeping it on the floor. Push it as far as you can, as if you were trying to make fingers meet. Then you reverse legs and arms to the right. Throughout both exercises the non-pulling arm can be bent at the elbow, but it should not leave the floor.

If you really want to do something about extra waistline inches, you'll do these stretches 20 times to each side. (And it's an exercise you can easily do on the beach, if you don't mind giving your figure secrets away.)

While we're on the topic of hot weather, these are good days for increasing the raw vegetables and fresh fruits in your daily diet. It's good for your figure as well as your health; it will cut down on the fattening foods you eat.

AIDS FARMERS WITH POULTRY

New Bulletin Available For Free Distribution

Raleigh, July 15.—A valuable new bulletin for poultry raisers was announced today by the Extension Service of N. C. State College. It is entitled "The Use of Disinfectants in Poultry Production," and it is available for free distribution to persons who write to the Agricultural Editor at State College for Extension Circular No. 241.

Prof. Roy S. Dearstyne, head of the college Poultry Department, and H. C. Gauger and R. E. Graves of his staff, prepared the publication.

In discussing the circular, Prof. Dearstyne said: "The growing tendency of the North Carolina poultryman to increase the number of birds in his flock has brought about a situation which necessitates the judicious choice and use of germicidal substances in the prevention and control of poultry diseases and parasite infestations."

"It must be borne in mind, however, that germicides or disinfectants are not substances to cure diseases," he continued. "They are specifically used to destroy germs which, if allowed to live and propagate, might result in serious disease outbreaks."

The circular outlines in detail the best chemical disinfectants, although it recognizes the fact that sunlight, boiling, and boiling as physical disinfectants are the most satisfactory when they can be used. It also points out the value of cleanliness as the most important factor in the prevention of disease and parasites in the poultry flock.

Methods of disinfecting the poultry houses and such equipment as incubators, batteries, ranges and drinking water are discussed at length in the new Extension circular.

County farm agents of the Extension Service will be able to supply copies of the publication to farm-ers.

SAWDUST SUBSTITUTED FOR SAND IN CONCRETE

St. Paul (AP)—Concrete made with sawdust instead of sand has been developed at the University of Minnesota.

Searching for materials to give ordinary concrete the advantages of light weight, cheapness and high insulating value, the agricultural engineering division has found sawdust the most promising. L. W. Neubauer, assistant in agricultural engineering, who supervised the tests, said that for certain uses, where great strength is not demanded and where weathering is not severe, clean aspen, spruce or Norway and Jack pine sawdust make a fairly satisfactory substitute for sand and gravel.

Strength For The Day
By EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHY? HOW? WHITHER?

The prophet Joel said to the people of his day, "Rend your hearts and not your garments." In ancient times despairing people tore their clothes as modern man under similar circumstances is supposed to tear his hair. What's the use of such nonsense? said Joel. Rend your hearts—that is, discipline and correct the source of your trouble.
The tearing of garments in an agonizing hour of grief does exactly nothing at all but show one's lack of self-control. What needs to be dealt with vigorously is the heart, for out of the heart proceed issues of life.

People behave in strange ways
when circumstances overwhelm them. Frequently they plunge into self-pity and brood upon their misery. There are some who grow bitter under the blitzkrieg of trouble,
and others who look for some shoulder to weep on when tribulation sends her dive bombers upon them.

The wise look to their hearts and busy themselves finding out what is the cause of their troubles. Very calmly they assure themselves that it does no good to rend one's garments or tear one's hair or throw things. The sensible thing to do in an hour of trial is to ask three questions—Why, How and Whither?
If we know why we are in deep water and how to get afloat and whither the rock of safety, we are on a fair way to self-rescue.

Washington Daybook
By Jack Stinnett

Chicago.—I've never been able to figure out yet when people sleep
during political conventions. Decent and respectable folk go home and rest, leaving the city somewhat freer and easier to get around in,
but the convention gang carries on.
They must work in shifts, because no sooner are the hotel lobbies cleared of night-owls than the morning crowds come on. In the bars, it is impossible to tell who is having a nightcap and who an eye-opener. In the restaurants, you can't even guess by the food who's having a bedtime snack or who's eating breakfast.

And always, the conversation is as thick as a pea-soup. But if you listen long enough and hard enough, you'll get enough, you'll get enough
choice bits to set even the foggiest mind racing down paths of possibilities.

They'll Be In The Air

For instance, around the table at one of these midnight snack-early breakfast tables the other morning it came out that the presidential race probably will be one of the flyin'est campaigns on record.

The reasoning was something like this: Wendell L. Willkie already has demonstrated that he believes in carrying the G. O. P. banner above the clouds. In his pre-convention campaign, he made hay in his whirlwind 48-day campaign mostly by harvesting his crop of personal appearances with airplane propellers.
He recently flew from New York to Washington for the big Republican convocation of which came the naming of Rep. Joe W. Martin as campaign manager and permanent chairman of the national committee.

He flew from there to his vacation in Colorado. In other words, there's no doubt about Willkie. He'll do an air campaign from the moment he unleashes until the polls open No-

On the other side of the picture there's President Roosevelt. For something over eight years, he has been the hot-carrier of the Democratic campaigns. Not even his worst enemy would refuse to concede that he's one of our ablest campaigners,
and not even his dearest friends
would contend that Democratic constituents don't care about the intimacy of seeing F. D. R. and, after a fashion, discussing the situation with him personally. The radio is great, but it doesn't take the place of the old stump when it comes to reaching down into hearts of the people and pulling out votes.

But what is Roosevelt's predicament? He's tied to the big chair behind the gadget-strewn desk in his oval-domed office. On the speed and efficiency of the defense program depends not only our state, of preparedness for "any contingency,"
but a lot of November votes as well.
If the preparedness campaign boggs down, so does the New Deal. How, then, can the President turn his back on Washington for those long swings around the country, campaigning to keep the dominant Democratic ideology going for another four years?

He can't do it often, he might do it once. The only other answer is a series of quick thrusts by air into enemy territory—a little dive bombing from the capital base and back again before the ink is dry on his last order.

Another Precedent Gone?
If Roosevelt should, it was pointed out, it will be another precedent shatterer. Just like his flying to Chicago to accept his nomination on the convention floor in 1932. Besides, for as many years as there have been airplanes, there has been an ironclad understanding against a President's taking the airways.

But times have changed. The heads of other nations have been flying all over the place in recent years. Hitler flies, Mussolini even pilots his own plane. Chamberlain and Churchill lately have done more travel by air than any other war leader. Reynaud, Weygand and a half-dozen others all have taken wine when necessary.

Add to that the fact that Roosevelt is the most air-minded President we have had and that he is eager for the whole country to be air-minded and you have a lot of reasons why he might try to match
Willkie in an air blitzkrieg.

Casual Slaughters
By VIRGINIA HANSON

YESTERDAY: Kay tells Julia
of Sandra's intention to marry Jeff immediately. Julia is furious at Sandra's intimation that Jeff is connected with the murder.

Chapter 19
Routine Questions

"YOU just don't understand Sandra," Julia said patiently, running a comb through her long bleached bob. "She likes men—different men, lots of them. Last night it happened to be Ivan. Tomorrow it might be the chaplain or Gerald or—or Dad. But Jeff's the one she wants to marry, for the perfectly simple reason that he's the one she's in love with.
There couldn't be any other reason—he hasn't a dime."

"Maybe she is doing it to spite you."

"She doesn't hate me that well."
We went down the back stairs,
past the sound of Cora muttering
in the kitchen and out the service entrance.

"We'll take the coupe; Mimi won't want it," Julia said, crossing the gravelled back road to the double garage. "It's time for chapel to let out. We'll have to hurry."

But the chapel was closed and showed no sign of ever having been open. And when we went on to the club the first person we saw was Felicia Bridewell seated on the veranda surrounded by the Sunday paper, calmly darning.

"My babies are all getting so big!" she simpered, holding up a man's sock.

"I thought you were at church,"
I said, falling for once of appreciate my favorite brand of humor.
"No church. The chaplain fell afoul of more poison ivy last night. That poor man." She sighed piously. "I believe he sat in it
this time."

Our continued sobriety drew from her a shrewd glance which passed from one to the other of us. She became pleasantly matter of fact.

"So we came home again. Or at least I did. But if you're looking for Sandra I can only say that she's some distance from here by now."

"With Jeff?" demanded Julia
with remarkable self-control.

"With Jeff? He met us on the way home. He was driving and he had a marriage license. When he learned the chaplain was non compos mentis, or vice versa, as you might say, they set out for parts unknown. They asked me to go along, but I have Sunday dinner to supervise. Then they came here and looked for you, Kay, and when you were not to be found they up and decided that maybe two was all it took to get married, so off they went—"

I did not wait for her to finish her cheerful rattling. Julia was white as her hat. I took her firmly by the elbow and propelled her to my rooms.

The Trap

I DON'T know where our minds were that we didn't see the trap that was waiting for us.
I didn't make our plan, and I didn't decide on our stories. We were agreed to keep silence on one thing only
—our glimpse of Sandra in Ivan's arms. That agreement seemed simple enough to carry out until Colonel Pennant, smiling at me across the big mahogany desk in the library of his quarters, asked me kindly and with a routine question, when I had last seen Ivan alive.

Consider that question for a moment and you will understand the predicament I was in. To admit having seen him on the barge,
where he was later found dead,
would be to point to the very thing Julia most wanted concealed. The ensuing questions would be inevitable: Was he alone? No, Sandra was with him. Did you see anyone else on or near the barge at that time? Yes—Jeff.

Raised eyebrows.
I hesitated. Julia was sitting to one side and a little behind me.
I dared not look around at her before I answered, but I could feel her tension, the silent plea
she was sending me.

I turned to Adam, seated at one end of the big desk with a notebook and pencil; and, with such candor as I could summon, gave my answer in the form of an oblique question.

"When we walked off down the beach they were all together singing, weren't they?"

"That's the way I remember it," Adam admitted, but he looked at me for a fraction of a second longer than was necessary, and I could not guess what he was thinking. He might have been remembering the moment on the beach; or he might have been registering my evasion.

If they had pressed me further about Ivan I think I would have to them," he said.

Discussing the chances of Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, Mr. Denny said he does not think the utility magnate will do much better in North Carolina than did Alf Landon in 1936; though he agreed that in some of the industrial counties and some of the normally Republican strongholds Willkie will probably get a few thousand votes
more than did the Kansas governor four years ago when he was completely snowed under by FDR.

MINER MAKES A PROFIT

Halifax Court House, N. C.—(AP).
—His neighbors thought H. W. Passavant was making a mistake four years ago when he gave up his modest machine shop and started a gold mine. Today few wouldn't trade places with him.

There were other gold mines in Halifax county, some inactive, and about $3,000,000 had been taken out.
But Passavant, who thought he had found a vein of ore, was without mining experience.

He read up on geology, then bought a second-hand rock crusher for $5. He worked alone with a mercury and amalgam system of taking gold from ore. What he profits from his own business, but Clifton C.
Daugherty, a state assayer, says
"that little mine nets him a lot more than any machine shop I've seen around these parts."

Now Passavant plans to install a cyanide plant to refine all the crushed ore. And he expects that for every $1,000 he already has made he will recover $1,000 more.

Greenies Take Second Straight Over New Bern Bears

TELLER RACKS ANOTHER WIN

Greenies Out-Hit But Make Safeties Count Most

Rube Wilson's Greenies last night won their second straight victory over the New Bern Bears, taking a 4-2 victory although being out-hit 9-6.

It was Bill Teller's eighth victory of the season.

Dides was the only Greenville player to get more than one safety and he drove in two of the local's four runs. The others were driven in by Manager Wilson and Crowe.

New Bern made two in the first inning, but Greenville came back with one in their half of the frame. The locals took over the lead in the third when two were scored. Shelton drew a walk—one of three for the evening—stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Dides' single. Dides went to second on the throw-in and scored easily when a blow off the bat of Skipper Wilson struck the scoreboard in left.

Not a single error was chalked up during the game.

STOKES TAKES EASY VICTORY

Scores 10-0 Victory Over Oak Grove Team

Stokes ran wild over the Oak Grove outfit here Sunday. The dope bucket was given a big wallop by the Stokes crew as the game was expected to be a good one. Stokes came out on the big end of a 10-1 score.

Franklin "Lefty" Roebuck, in chalking up his seventh win against one loss, allowed only one hit, and fanned fifteen. "Lefty" also had a big day at bat with two doubles for five trips. The only hit came off "Lefty" in the fourth inning when Chestnut singled for Oak Grove.

Stokes batters counted for thirteen hits for their ten earned runs and Oak Grove's run was unearned.

"Spooky" Clark was the leading hitter for the day with a triple, double and a single for four trips. Auburn Whitehurst was next best with a double and a single for three trips. Close on their heels were Forrest Whitley and Franklin "Lefty" Roebuck with two for five.

WINDOW-SCREEN RACKS HELP IN DRYING FRUITS

Blacksburg, Va.—(AP)—One of those inexpensive window screens that can be pulled apart into two sections makes an excellent rack for drying fruits and vegetables artificially at home, according to Janet Cameron, nutrition specialist at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Put a layer of fruit or vegetables on the screen and set it in the oven to dry by retained heat—or use a warming oven, with the heat at 110 to 160 degrees. Miss Cameron recommends this method as against outdoor drying in the sun because it keeps the fruit away from insects, dust and other outdoor inconveniences.

All she had on was a nightgown, a pair of slippers and a short jacket.

Hank Danning's Success Secret: 'I Hit It They Don't Catch It'

HANK DANNING, 'I Am Waitin' Longer. Gettin' A Better Eye On The Ball'

BY FRED BROWNING

AP Feature Service Sports Writer

New York—"Danning's hittin' it and they ain't catchin' it."

That, from Harry the Horse himself, is why he led major league batters into the July stretch with a .366 average.

The matter thus simply explained, the big Giant catcher tore into a plate of bacon and eggs. Between bites, though, he amplified his explanation:

"It's mostly luck. A guy never knows. One time you hit a scorcher—and it's a bingle. Next time you get another scorcher—but some guy's right there to pull it in."

"I'm not hittin' any harder than last year (313). The fielders just aren't there when they fall."

More bacon and eggs, then:

"Tell you though, I am waitin' longer. Gettin' a better eye on the ball before I let go. And I'm trying to shorten my stride at the bat. You know, steppin' into the ball with that left foot. I seen stridin' too far."

Married Life Big Help

Now coffee. A satisfying gulp and an appreciative glance across the table toward beautiful blonde Mrs. Harry Danning, a bride of six months:

"Being married has helped more than you'd realize. You know, a regular life. Meals like this at the same hour, food as you want it. Used to eat dinner at 7 one night, 10 the next. That's bad."

Hank, 28, and the former Dian Migord—they're both from Los Angeles—say their romance started last December ("but I'd known her a long while before"). They were married in January. Big Harry thinks—and so does she—that it was the lucky start of a lucky year.

If the big-boyish, likeable guy is in for a full year of good luck it's about time. His pro ball history reads like the life story of a red-headed step-child.

Danning broke in with Bridgeport of the Eastern League in 1931, went so well at the plate that the Giants called him to New York mid-way of the next season. On the eve of departure for his big league debut, though, Harry ran smack into a teammate's line drive down the third base line. His jaw was broken.

Tough Going

Trying to eat with a broken jaw was tough but when, two weeks later, Harry contracted a tonsillar infection he had a real problem. Just to add to his misery, a severe cold set in a week later, turned to pneumonia. That finished his big league chances for the year.

The Giants called the big awkward youngster in from Buffalo in 1933 but he caught only three games after his arrival in July. In 1934 he played second fiddle to Mancuso, a 330 in pinch assignments and during the few games he caught. Despite that good mark the only chance he got in 1935 was during a 12-game period when Mancuso was out with an injured arm. A foul-tip broke his hand in 1936 and he got into only 32 games. When a broken finger stopped Mancuso in '37 Hank stepped into the breach, caught 93 games, batted near .300—but had to step out when his hand was rebroken just as he was going hottest. He caught 57 of the first 60 games in 1938—when he was laid low for three weeks by illness. But he worked 120 games that year, batted .306.

He handled the catching job in 135 of the Giants' 162 contests last year and batted .313. But the old bad luck was there. A leg infection kept him benched for three weeks and the Giants lost nine in a row.

Batting Champ? Maybe

Danning figures he'll do better than the 74 runs he batted in last year. He's batting farther back in the order than the second or third place slots he occupied in 1939, has more chance to send runs across. He's already crowding 60 in the RBI column.

Harry the Horse (he doesn't know where the name started) thinks it's improbable he'll win the batting championship. A catcher works too hard. Cool weather has helped him to date. When it gets hot, he says he may tire more easily, have less beef in his swing.

But he's aiming for the title. After all:

"It's mostly luck, and if my luck holds—who knows?"

Cola defeated Carolina Dairy 19-3 in the second contest and in the final event of the program Pepsi Cola scored a 7-6 seventh-inning victory over Carolina Sales.

The department store team got off to a good start, scoring three in the first. Neither team was able to score again until the sixth, when Blount-Harvey added four more. The team got three in the seventh to clinch the victory.

R. C. Cola scored 11 in the second and this was far more than enough, but the team continued to pile up runs, while the dairy boys were able to get only three, one in the second and two in the fourth.

Pepsi Cola eked out a 7-6 victory over Carolina Sales by scoring one in the last half of the seventh inning. Hobgood walked and scored on successive singles by Paul and Max Minges. The Pepsi Cola team had to overcome a five run lead piled up by the Sales team in the first inning. N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 16.—(AP)—The stock market shook off a portion of its gloom today and selected steels, motors, aircrafts and specialties rallied one to more than two points. Volume picked up around midday, but reverted to sluggishness in subsequent proceedings. Extreme gains were reduced at the close. Transfers were around 400,000 shares.

Democratic Convention Opens with Many Empty Seats

This general view of the opening session of the Democratic National convention in Chicago shows many empty seats in the big Chicago stadium. After a 45-minute session, the convention recessed until night. In welcoming the delegates, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago voiced a demand that President Roosevelt be drafted for a third term because "he is the kind of a man that man kind needs."

A SODA-BAR PLAYROOM—A dream come true for a modern adolescent. This is part of a dream that came true for movie star Jane Withers. After the very noisy birthday party she had last year her parents decided to build her an apartment of her own by adding an upstairs to their house. This is part of the sound-proof playroom. It has fir walls and an oak floor. The soda fountain, which joins a kitchenette, is in Sobin's egg blue. The curtains and the large chair are red-and-white silk gingham. The chair has bleached mahogany arms wide enough to sit on. The room also contains a mahogany table with a hammered copper panel top, and a coffee table of bleached mahogany built around a removable hammered copper serving tray. There is a serving wagon, a miniature piano, a bleached wood radio, shelves for books and d knick-knacks, a desk, a bridge table, and a divan big enough to seat twelve youngsters.

Jones For Vice Presidency?

The name of Jesse Jones (right), federal loan administrator, bobbed up as a vice presidential candidate just as the Democratic National convention was about to open in Chicago. He is shown in private conference with Party Chairman James A. Farley after the word got around.

NEW BOOKLETS AID TO FARMER

One Publication On Grain Crop In Eastern N.C.

Raleigh, July 16.—Two new publications, one designed to stimulate the growing of small grain crops in the Coastal Plain section of the State and the other to show farm families how to make a cotton mattress, have been prepared by the State College Extension Service. Either or both are available free to interested citizens of North Carolina upon application to the Agricultural Editor at State College. The small grain publication, entitled "Growing Small Grains in the Coastal Plain," was written by E. C. Blair, Extension agronomist.

In it he reports that oats, wheat and barley usually make better yields in the Coastal Plain area of North Carolina than on comparable soils in the Piedmont and Mountain sections.

Bath Suit Slaying

Clad in a white bathing suit, the body of pretty Gertrude Hertling (above), 23, was found in a Los Angeles apartment. Nearby lay the body of Arthur Slater, 44, railway clerk, in whose diary was revealed a cryptic story of love for the girl. She had told newly made acquaintances she was a school teacher and had come to Los Angeles for university graduate work. However, her parents at Wauwatosa, Wis., denied she was a teacher.

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—C. B. Penfield of near Plymouth, Ind. was a passenger on the first and last electric street cars to ply South Bend. The first car made its run in the fall of 1891, the last one this June. Buses have replaced them.

One third of the unemployed in the United States are young people under 25 years of age. By the end of June 140,000 individuals will have left their former slum dwellings for good homes in completed public housing projects of PWA.
