Leader Of "Free Frenchmen" Says Drive Complete

BACK HALLWAY PROVIDED ARMY

General De Gaulle Declares French Possessions In Africa To Continue War on Axis

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—General Charles de Gaulle, self-named leader of "all free Frenchmen," claimed today to have obtained for Britain a 2,000-mile aerial "back hallway" by which they can reinforce and supply their army in Egypt.

At what appeared a strategic moment in the Mediterranean war with Britain looking for the momentary launching of an Italian drive into Egypt from Libya, de Gaulle announced all French equatorial Africa was now committed under his banner to continue the war against Germany and Italy.

The roll call was completed, he said, with receipt of a cable from the governor general of Gabon province, promising to adhere to his course. The French-mandated Cameroons and the provinces of Chad, Ebanl and Middle Congo had previously made similar promises.

The British war office meanwhile announced that its army in the Near East "was being prepared for offensive action" and this army would now have a solid line of communications from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan to the west coast of Africa.

The car, being driven by George Salem of New Bern, was practically demolished. The accident occurred on the Farmville highway between Red Oak church and Ballard's crossroads.

Nazi Warplanes Continue Attempts To Bomb London And Other British Areas

London Claims British Airports In Southeastern England Subjected To Heavy Bombardment And Also Reports Two British Destroyers Sunk By Torpedoes In Waters Of North Sea

Berlin, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The German air force today smashed heavily at British airports in southeastern England, military sources reported, as the high command told of the sinking of two British destroyers by torpedoes in the North sea and "successful" night attacks on such west coast ports as Liverpool, Swansea and Bristol.

Thirteen British planes were downed this morning in savage air battles over southern England which developed in the course of these raids. DNB, official German news agency, reported.

At noon new fights were reported over the English coast when smaller waves of fighting and pursuit planes approached military targets and tore through the British barrage. German military sources said.

Hangars and barracks at Admington, Kenly, near Croxson, Biggin Hill, 14 miles from Charing Cross, London, Detling, Hawkinge and Lympne, all in the southeastern corner of England, and in the London area were reported by the high command to have been partly burned by bomb hits in yesterday's air attack.

Plane losses were at a ratio of more than six to one, the high command said, with 62 British planes destroyed to nine German machines.

The important naval center at Chatham on the southeast coast was successfully raided, the communique said.

Martin Questions Roosevelt's Trip

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Joseph W. Martin, Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee, proposed today that the Senate committee on campaign expenditures investigate whether the cost of President Roosevelt's "political sally into the Tennessee Valley" was being paid out of public money.

Asserting in a prepared statement that Mr. Roosevelt "at long last has abandoned his pretext of aloof statesmanship and has decided that it has become necessary for him openly to participate in the presidential campaign," Martin said that the "political nature" of Mr. Roosevelt's utterances today raised the question of who is paying for this political excursion.

"Is the cost of his special train and his staff of aides being charged to the United States Treasury, or, as it should be, to the Democratic National Committee?" Martin asked.

Mrs. Annie Smith Claimed By Death

Mrs. Annie Smith, 34, died at her home in the Hodges apartments on East Fifth street Sunday morning at 11:20 o'clock. Funeral services were conducted from S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. C. H. Patrick, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church. Interment followed in the Cox family cemetery near Ayden.

Mrs. Smith was born and reared in Greene county, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Willie Lightfoot. She moved out of the state a number of years ago, returning here about three years ago, where she had made her home since.

Carpenters' Tools Stolen Last Night

Chief of Police George Clark today declared that "after cleaning Wilson and Rocky Mount" a group of carpenter tool robbers had descended on this city and started plying their trade last night.

He reported that a tool house on Myrtle avenue was broken into last night and tools valued at $150 stolen. The tools were the property of W. J. Barnhill, J. B. Moreadith, W. H. Rogerson and D. N. Bland.

The police chief explained that the robbers would go around in the day time and spot new houses under construction and return at night and break the locks on the doors of rooms in which the tools were locked.

THREE ESCAPE AT PITT CAMP

Freedom For Trio Lasts Only Brief Time, However

Three long-term convicts escaped from the State prison camp located just north of Greenville by cutting the wire fence around the camp grounds, but their freedom was short-lived.

The trip, believed to have escaped about 3:30, were back in the guard house by 6 o'clock after members of the sheriff's department highway patrol, city police and ABC enforcement staff, aided by bloodhounds, had conducted such an extensive search to lead one of the escapees to remark: "We can't win here. There is too much cooperation."

Persons living near the camp also were credited with helping in the quick recovery of the men.

In fact, Miss Ella Langley, saw the three men in a cornfield off the Pactolus road and officers were advised. The dogs were put on the trail on the Langley farm and soon tracked down the men in another cornfield on the W. C. Vincent farm. Miss Langley and her sisters became suspicious that the men were convicts when they noticed the three were dressed alike. They were not dressed in stripes, however.

The three men were taken about two and a half or three miles from the camp after they had crossed the Greenville-Bethel highway, made their way in front of Dail Laughinghouse's home and then cut back of Mr. Laughinghouse's farm. The trio also had to cross the Pactolus road.

The three, all of whom had been sent here from Caledonia prison farm, were:

M. J. Moore, 28, sentenced in Randolph county to serve 18 to 20 years for robbery with firearms and assault with intent to kill. He had served about eight months of the term.

Edward Stephens, 18, sentenced from Robeson county to serve 25 to 30 years for robbery. He had been serving since February, 1939.

John O'Neal, 21, sentenced in Durham county to serve 28 to 30 years for manslaughter. He started his sentence in February, 1937.

Paul Crawford, superintendent of the camp, expressed his appreciation to the various law enforcement officers and also to persons in the section for aiding in the recovery of the convicts.

It was the first escape at the camp in several months.

Pitt Commissioners In Routine Meeting

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners, in regular session today, passed a resolution of respect to the late J. H. Manning, heard a report by M. K. Blount, county attorney, and Secretary W. T. Kizer of the Chamber of Commerce on organized opposition to removal of the ACL passenger train and attended to other routine matters.

The bond of Roy T. Cox, newly appointed Register of Deeds, was presented and accepted. Reports of the various county departmental heads were heard.

London Reports Say Raiders Twice Turned Back After Encountering Stone-wall Defense Put Up By Royal Air Force; German Losses Declared to Number At Least Twenty-Five

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—German air raiders, twice turned back in thundering across the English channel, broke through defenders in cloud-banked skies to threaten the London area for more than an hour late today, and then wheeled away under the impetus of violent RAF attacks and anti-aircraft fire.

The invaders came over at great height in formation. As they approached London's defense zone, anti-aircraft fire forced them to retire.

Successive mass formations had been repelled earlier over the Thames estuary. The Air Ministry said 25 German planes had been shot down compared with a loss of seven British fighters.

To London observers the first indication of a German break-through was a sudden rush of smoke puffs which sprinkled a whole section of the sky, an indication of anti-aircraft batteries at work. Their fire was reported to have accounted for one German plane. Spitfire fighters soared aloft.

Nine parachutes were seen descending from stricken planes. The rattle of machine guns was plainly heard at one point.

"Our planes were on them like a pack of dogs," said one observer, "and almost immediately the level tones of the raiders' engines altered to a high pitch roar, varying from second to second as hurricanes and spittires dived and twisted in and around the formation."

"British fighters roared over the London area heading toward the coast where Germans had been massing attacks throughout the day."

First a formation of 50 Nazi craft centered about two huge four-motored bombers was broken up in a battle over the Thames estuary, the waterway to London.

The second raid occurred on the southeast coast early this afternoon. Four waves of fighter-escorted bombers, each of about 60 planes, were tackled by British fighters and anti-aircraft fire and turned back across the channel.

Two planes were seen diving to earth, shooting up plumes of smoke and two others were believed also, to have crashed.

The raiders, roaring over the coast so low they could be counted by ground observers, penetrated only a few miles inland before British fighters were in the air to stop them.

Up to 1 p. m. (7 a. m. EST) the Air Ministry said, British fighters had shot down nine German planes and had lost four of their own. One British pilot escaped, however.

The beginning of a six-day period of high tides favoring sea invasion put Britons on special guard.

A 46-minute alarm was in effect in London.

The sortie followed a night of quiet in the capital and only scattered raids over the rest of the country. Seven coastal towns, however, were subjected to raids for seven hours by planes flying in relay. Little damage was reported.

PARK IN N. C. IS DEDICATED BY ROOSEVELT

Chief Executive Speaks at Mile-High Newfound Gap

SAYS FREEDOM IS THREATENED

Declares It Probably Will Be Too Late If America Waits To Carry Out Preparations

Newfound Gap, Tennessee-North Carolina Boundary, Sept. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told an audience on the mile-high crest of the Great Smoky mountains today that "the greatest attack that has ever been launched against freedom of the individual is nearer the Americas than ever before."

To meet that attack, he said, "we must prepare beforehand—for preparing later may, and probably would, be too late."

In an address in which he dedicated the Great Smoky Mountain National Park "to the free people of America," the chief executive called for "absolute national unity" in the interest of total defense.

Looking across hazy ridges of mountains and a region little changed since pioneer days, Mr. Roosevelt observed that the spirit of the frontiersman was needed in this hour.

"We need a conviction felt deep in us all," he said, "that there are no divisions among us. We are all members of the same body. We are all Americans."

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Standing beside towering Chickamauga dam, President Roosevelt scoffed at critics of the Tennessee Valley Authority today and said he gloried in its accomplishment as "one of the great social and economic achievements of our time."

He dedicated the mile-long dam and with it the TVA's entire system of dams and reservoirs along the Tennessee river and its tributaries.

He dedicated them to "the benefit of all the people, the prosperity they have stimulated, the faith they have inspired, the hearts that they encourage, the total defense of the United States of America."

The TVA, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, supplies a demonstration of what "a democracy at work can do," of a people uniting "in a war against waste and insecurity."

"There were and are those who maintain that the development of this enterprise is not a proper activity of government," he declared. "As for me I glory in it as one of the great social and economic achievements of our time."

A 24-hour train trip from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., brought the President here for his first formal address since he accepted the nomination for a third term. He was to speak again in the late afternoon at Newfound Gap on the Tennessee-North Carolina border in dedicating the Great Smoky Mountains national park.

Predicting an even greater development of the TVA region as a result of the defense program, the chief executive said that he was glad that congress, in spite of partisan opposition, had voted funds for new plants which would use new defense industries are more safe from attack in this region before the mountains than if they were located on our more exposed borders," he said. "It is therefore good for our safety to develop further and to use the natural resources and the manpower of this region."

City Awaits Opening Of Tobacco Auction Season

CALL INCLUDES 85 LOCAL MEN

Greenville Guardsmen To Be Mobilized Sept. 16

Eighty-one men and four officers of Battery A, 113th Field Artillery, local unit of the National Guard have been called for one year of active army training under an executive order issued yesterday by President Roosevelt.

The local unit is part of the Thirtieth division, one of those called out by the chief executive to mobilize September 16.

Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts declared in Raleigh yesterday that while the men would be mobilized on September 16, they probably would remain at their home stations for 10 days before being ordered to move to Camp Jackson, near Columbia, S. C., where they will undergo the period of military training.

Rev. Worth Wicker is captain and commanding officer of the local unit, which only recently returned from three weeks of training in Texas and Louisiana.

The commanding officer himself will accompany his men to Camp Jackson, the act providing for the calling out of the men allowing only officers below the rank of captain to resign if they have dependents.

The unit has three other officers. They are First Lieutenant J. H. Move and Second Lieutenants Edwin Waldrop and Dan Wright. Of the three only Lieutenant Move is married and therefore subject to the dependents clause. Captain Wicker declared that Lieut. Move had indicated, however, that he would try to arrange to enter the training period.

Capt. Wicker estimated that only about 10 per cent of the 81 members of the unit, which recently returned from three weeks of training in Texas and Louisiana, would be able to resign if they desired. Resignations, however, must be filed with the local officer within 20 days.

The local unit made a good showing at the annual summer encampment and Capt. Wicker said they were ready for the training period at Camp Jackson.

Ten Jailed In City Here Past Two Days

GERMAN FLAGS HAULED DOWN

Rumanians Continue Angry Demonstrations Against Ceding Of Transylvania To Hungary; King Carol's Palace Guarded; Italian Consul Dragged From Residence And Beaten

Bucharest, Sept. 2.—(AP) Semi-official German sources, angered by continued anti-axis demonstrations, declared today that German troops would occupy all Rumania if the nation-wide agitation is not checked.

The Rumanian government struggled to quell angry demonstrations against last week's axis-dictated arbitration which gave northern Transylvania to Hungary.

King Carol's palace, public buildings and the German and Italian legations remained under heavy guard as the cry "death to traitors" echoed throughout the kingdom.

Demonstrations at Brasov, where Nazi flags were torn down over protests by German officials, particularly have aroused Nazi ire.

Further arrests of prominent persons regarded as responsible for yesterday's outbreaks were reported and many others were under detention at their homes to prevent them from organizing new demonstrations.

Transylvania leaders, nevertheless, issued a call for a mass meeting next Sunday at Brasov and said hundreds of thousands would assemble there to voice a united protest.

The newspaper Universul, whose editor was jailed yesterday for leading a demonstration, defied government censorship by publishing five columns of news on the Sunday disturbances and declared that Rumania never will forget what was done at Vienna.

Armored cars and troops with fixed bayonets patrolled Rumania's principal cities as the government took stern measures to suppress widespread bloody demonstrations.

Scenes of wild disorder which began yesterday and continued through the night reaches a new pitch this morning when an angry mob broke into the German consulate at Brasov, ripped down pictures of Adolf Hitler and trampled the Nazi flag.

At Sibiu, ancient capital of Transylvania and site of the most violent disturbances, the Italian consul was dragged from his residence and beaten. The city later was cut off from communication with the outside world.

(Reports from Budapest said the Hungarian government was holding 80,000 troops ready to march into Transylvania if disorders in the ceded territory should make intervention necessary.)

In Bucharest, where soldiers with machineguns guarded approaches to King Carol's palace, the government radio broadcast a warning that severe punishment would be meted out to demonstrators.

Real Cape Cod Style

As Cape Cod as real clam chowder is the authentic New England Colonial house of the month. Not the thin watery variety of chowder pink with tomato, that Cape Codders dispose of as "New York chowder through which a clam may have been frisked," but that thick creamy nectar, crammed with chopped clam meat, which to Down Easters is the only real McCoy, and which to the rest of us gourmets well merits an overnight trip to the Cape.

Designed for the Monthly Small House Club by Randolph Evans, one of America's most renowned small house architects, this September House of the Month is ideal for the family, small at present but looking forward to one or two blessed events, for the house is designed to be a complete living unit on one floor. But when more room is needed and the house is longed-for raise to which he is entitled, two additional bed rooms and bath may be finished in the attic.

This house passes, with flying colors, every test of good design. The front entrance is into a vestibule rather than into the large living room. There is a side entrance to the kitchen and access to the front door may be had from the kitchen without going through any room. The living room and both bedrooms have cross ventilation. There is an abundance of closet space and plenty of wall space for the proper placing of furniture to show off to advantage grandmother's heirloom. If there isn't an old spinet or Duncan Phyfe table in the family, buy a reproduction, just so the house will feel lived in by friends.

The wiring installation indicated on the floor plan is designed as economically as possible to enhance the value of the house and to function in harmony with the architect's plan for extra livability. Electrical wiring is now recognized as basic detail which must be planned as essential built-in equipment, with due regard to any possibility of increasing needs in future years. This design will adequately serve the future attic rooms and any electrical equipment which may also be added later.

This charming home, with large basement, can be built in and around Greenville for about $6,000 according to Mr. Tadlock of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, local member of the Monthly Small House Club it can be carried for about $40 a month including taxes, insurance and amortization of the mortgage. Detailed working drawings are available for inspection in the office of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

REAL MEN WANT JOBS

One of the best indications that the world is sick is the disconcerting fact that with plenty of work in the world to be done, and with plenty of people to do the work, there is nevertheless widespread unemployment.

Something seems to be holding us back. It may be wrong methods of distribution. It may be a declining birthrate in certain countries which cuts down the number of consumers.
It may be the domination in some countries of the capitalist class and in other countries of labor.

But of this we can be sure, that the greatest desire in the hearts of all people today is the desire to get to work. The totalitarian states are in a measure flourishing because they are giving military employment and paying wages to groups of men who otherwise would be unemployed.
But we are certainly right in assuming that in these totalitarian states millions of people are longing for the chance to get to work at a real job.
Here in our country every self-respecting man wants the chance to be rushed off his feet with opportunities of employment.

The world isn't loafing today because it's lazy; it's loafing because it's sick. Some spiritual malady seems to be eating at our vitals and keeping vast multitudes of people from the refreshing experience of creative labor.

MAKE THEM WELCOME

Tomorrow is a big day in Greenville—the opening of another tobacco selling season.
The tobacco market will bring many visitors to Greenville and every one of them is a potential customer for the local business houses.
The welcome these visitors receive in Greenville will have a lot to do with their coming here again, so we urge every business man and individual to miss no opportunity to extend a glad hand
to our tobacco market visitors tomorrow.

CANADIAN PACT MAKES U. S. "SILENT PARTNER"

Most observers agreed that when Prime Minister Winston Churchill spoke of coming cooperation between the British Empire and the United States in his last speech, he must have had something upon which to base his prediction. So when President Franklin D. Roosevelt announced a joint Defense Commission with Canada, and Great Britain offered
the United States long-term leases on strategic naval and air base locations in their West Indies possessions,

It was not exactly a surprise.

It is agreed that the next logical step would be to sell fifty destroyers to England to tide it over the next few weeks before British shipyards can turn out the necessary replacements in this department. An unofficial poll of Congressmen revealed that a majority favor such a course, but with the election
only two months away, few wanted to go on record to that effect. They apparently hope the transfer will be made by executive order or in some other manner that will prevent an embarrassing vote on the proposition.

Col. Henry Breckinridge,
Assistant Secretary of War
under President Woodrow Wilson, and Senator Claude
Pepper of Florida did not hang back in a radio debate,
on August 25th, with isolationist Senators Gerald P.
Nye of North Dakota and John A. Danaher of Connecticut. Colonel Breckinridge declared the United States should go to war, if necessary to defeat Hitlerism, and called for the immediate sale
of fifty destroyers to Great Britain.

The isolationist opposition retired behind the legal aspect of the case, stating such a procedure would violate the new Navy Bill, the pledge of the United States
at The Hague Convention,
resolutions of the Panama Conference of October, 1939,
and the principles laid down
by Thomas Jefferson. Senator Pepper answered by guaranteeing he would obtain a legal opinion that would stand up in the Department of Justice and before any court in the country before the sale would be made.

The stubborn resistance of the organized isolationist bloc in Congress continues to amaze the country. With the Gallup Poll showing a preponderance of public opinion
behind conscription and aid to England, it is still able to keep this legislation from coming to a vote.
Admittedly the isolationist Congressmen are not trying to aid Hitler, but their policy happens to coincide with Hitler's views. They are, as one columnist put it, enchanted by the idea that four million Americans can rise up overnight and, with pitchforks, toss invading tanks
from the roads like so much hay.—(Scottish Rite News).

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington.—The scene is the Capitol barber shop. The characters are, of course, your correspondent's own, but the talk is something very much like what you hear where politicians meet these days.
Barber—How-de-do, Senator. How are you these nice cool days?
Senator—Hot under the collar.
And don't take off too much. Been running my fingers through it so much lately, hardly got any hair left.
Representative (snickering thru the studs)—Guess you got dandruff.
Senator. It's an epidemic now, you know. Got every politician in the country jittery.
Senator.—Young man, if you mention dandruff again, I'll go right out in your ball and chain and campaign for your defeat. And, besides, when a man has been in the Senate
as long as I have, he's no longer a politician.

Rep.—All right, Senator, I'll remember. But that reminds me.
Don't you think this presidential political campaign is really beginning to take on a pattern?
Sen.—Certainly it is, young man.
Any politician with half an eye can see that. Why, I've seen it for at least two weeks now, practically ever since Mr. Wilkie made his acceptance speech and Ickes stepped up to answer him.
Rep.—You saw it when?
Sen.—Certainly. Why? It was as plain as the nose on my . . . on your face. Wilkie's idea is to try to smoke "the Champ" as he calls him, into the open. And Roosevelt's . . .
or the Democratic party's strategy (have it your own way) . . . is to keep baiting Wilkie with the boys who can ask embarrassing questions
without upsetting Presidential dig-

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanie Bowman

YESTERDAY: On her return
Constance finds that her family has published reports that the ranch will be sold and has received credit. They are entertaining lavishly. Constance, keeping her arrival secret, is nabbed by detectives.

Chapter 15 After All, John

THE French doors opened from the solarium and John Raskthorne stepped out, intent upon lighting a cigar.

"John!"
Raskthorne wheeled—"Constance—Conchita what are you doing your hands off that girl,"
he snapped at the detective.

Constance, released, fled into the security of John's arms. "Will you tell these idiots that I am a Cabrillo? And John, make them keep still; I don't want the folks to know I'm home until after the party."

The idiots didn't need to be told anything, they had started fading
into the darkness even before John bought their silence with bills; and Constance leaned for a few moments against John's shoulder, then straightened.

"I'm sorry," she apologized. "I they frightened me and I'm tired, I couldn't sleep on the plane, and I guess I forgot to have any dinner."

John patted her shoulder. "Wait
until I find my coat."
Five minutes later, Constance's little coupe, with Raskthorne at the wheel, swung out of the tradesmen's entrance.

Constance sat back watching his hands on the wheel; watching his face, relying her feeling of restful security as she leaned against his shoulder, wondering
at her feeling for John.

"I'm taking you to one of my pet hide-outs," John offered.
"They'll give us a steak two inches thick."

Constance closed her eyes to shut out the vision of a little waterfront cafe and a dark-eyed man threading his way between tables, of a voice saying: "Hi, Michael."

John's "pet" was unpretentious.
They went through a side door
to be conducted to a private booth where curtains were immediately drawn.

"Now tell me all about it," orderly, when the obsequious
waiter had disappeared.

"Oh, John, it's wonderful!
El Cabrillo, I mean, I can't give it up. It's like part of me; my blood and my flesh and my bones."

And then the words tumbled
out. The waiter brought smoking platters but still Constance wouldn't stop, he took her knife and fork, cut small sections of the steak and held them to her lips.

"Oh, John," she sighed, "you are good to me. You do take care of me."
"Some day," he threatened.

Constance looked at him and saw him as other women must see him. A stalwart, handsome man, barely thirty but seasoned by travels passing his parents, the worry over a madly-marrying younger sister, and by the cares
of the vast estate he had inherited and which he handled alone
and with wisdom.

"John," she asked impulsively,
"what do you see in me that makes you say some day? Why do you wait?"

The light gray eyes in their surprising frame of jet lashes widened. "I've asked myself that question a thousand times. And then I go back to our first meeting; do you remember that meeting, Chit?"

She remembered. But had six years passed since that night
when she, awaiting the escort her mother had arranged to accompany her to the Charity Ball, had seen her little sister in stolen clothes flash in front of her; announce that she was Miss Cabrillo, and whisk off with the waiting man?

Father, Brother, Counselor

SHE had "whisked" only as far as the elevators, then the escort had returned. "Now that the child has retired, Miss Cabrillo, shall we go on?" John Raskthorne had asked.

And to her query: "How did you know?" He had replied,
"When your mother telephoned
she was too ill to accompany you,
father told me to look for the girl
with the most beautiful eyes in the world."

It had been balm to the eighteen-year-old heart of Constance,
just as other rescues, since that time, had soothed her heart and her pride.

It had been John who had helped them move from hotel to apartment, apartment to hotel, hotel to house. John who had taken the place of father, brother, counselor.

"I thought then," said John,
handing Constance her cup of hot milk, "that you'd need someone to help you cope with your family. I elected myself."

"John, were you coping with Donna when the detectives started coping with me?"

"Yes," he admitted. "To be frank, I was giving her merry
hades for throwing this party."
"Then you do agree something must be done to check them?"
"Unquestionably."
"John, then . . . then will you help me raise the money I will

G. O. P. help. President Roosevelt knows that. What do you think he's been cleaning the New Deal house for lately? Why, certainly, young men, to make room for the good old Democratic party. They can talk all they want about the parties being dead, but you just wait till the votes are counted. This is a two party nation, young man, and if you forget that, you'll never get to the Senate.

Colombus, O. (AP)—A playloan
service maintained by the Ohio State university extension service has provided home talent drama to the folks on the farm since 1925.
Although at first opposed by publishers who thought that the groups might copy the plays and thus curtail revenue, opposition dropped when it was made a rule that the borrowed plays could not be copied.

Short Shots

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—The State Highway and Public Works Commission is running into at least one very unexpected difficulty as the result of the recent floods.
At several places, notably at North Wilkesboro, the Commission had stacks of lumber washed down stream by the swollen streams.
From Wilkes county 125,000 feet
was swept down the Yadkin river and deposited more or less without special pattern on the property of down-stream owners.
The highway folks naturally assumed they could just go on the land wherever the lumber had beached, gather it up and bring it back to North Wilkesboro; but they reckoned without the woman's disposition, at least. She positively refused to let workers set foot on her land and insists that the lumber having been floated down to her, is now hers.
So the harassed highway foreman had to come to Raleigh for legal advice. Charles Ross, the Commission's general counsel, says there's no doubt about the right of the Commission to reclaim its own lumber wherever it can be found and identified. Its only liability would be for damage done the land in removing the lumber.
They are to try to wheedle the woman, through her brother's intervention, into settling peacefully;
but if she won't, then the Commission will be forced either to have her put under a peace bond, or to seek an injunction forbidding her to interfere.

Relations between the University's associate Extension Director and a former Governor are getting so gloomy and cordial that they are now calling the former "Max" Donald.

Speaking of "Off again, on again,"
etc., consider the case of Judge A.
Hall Johnston.
He was appointed a Superior court judge by Governor Clyde R. Hoey; ousted the very first chance the people of his district had to vote on him; and reappointed by the Governor as a special judge.

In this year's primary he was the only special judge in the state who did not support the successful candidate for governor, J. M. Broughton. So it seems it may be "off again" next year when time for special judge rolls around.

The Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors committee has just completed its first year of an active
"Clean Up or Close Up" campaign, with a record of having secured revocation of 101 retail licenses in 37
counties of the state.

The committee was formally organized in May, 1939, but it did not secure its first revocation until September. Since then it has obtained 100 others in its consistent efforts to toss the few bad actors of the industry out of business.

Everything Even In Coastal Plain League Semi-Finals

EACH NINE HAS TWO VICTORIES

Goldsboro And Kinston Get Wins In Sunday Games

Victories by Goldsboro and Kinston yesterday left everything even in the Coastal Plain league semi-finals.

Goldsboro defeated Tarboro in its own park yesterday by a score of 3-2 in a ten-inning affair after having suffered a defeat in the first game at Tarboro Saturday night.

Kinston yesterday went to Wilson's park and took a 4-2 victory to make up for its defeat in its own park the night before.

The scenes of play shift tonight, with Tarboro entertaining Goldsboro and Kinston playing host to the Wilson team.

Minority President Not New For United States

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—Your Raleigh reporter has heard a great deal of ah-ing and oh-ing over various polls showing Wendell Willkie as likely to get a majority of electoral votes while President Roosevelt with a plurality of the popular votes; but as a matter of record, a minority President would be nothing at all exceptional for the United States.

As a matter of fact nine of the last 21 presidential elections were won by candidates who failed to secure a majority of the votes cast; and in two instances the successful candidate did not have even a plurality.

Furthermore, over the stretch from 1856 to 1916, inclusive, there were nine minority presidents against only seven who did have more votes than all their opponents combined.

There has not been, however, a minority president elected since Woodrow Wilson went in with a scant plurality over Charles E. Hughes, but with less than 50 per cent of all ballots cast that year.

A review of the elections from 1856 through 1936 shows that twice a defeated candidate got more votes than his successful rival.

First of these was in 1876 when Samuel J. Tilden, New York governor and Democratic candidate, was counted out by the famous Electoral Commission which decided that five is greater than four, by splitting that way in favor of Rutherford Hayes. Even the Commission could not change the record of 4,300,000 popular votes for Tilden against 4,000,000 for Hayes.

It was another Democrat who got the long end of the people's free and untrammelled suffrage, but the short end of the electoral college. That was Grover Cleveland in 1888, when he topped Benjamin Harrison by 5,538,000 to 5,440,000 but didn't get 'em in the right place to do him any good. An ironic feature was that his plurality of approximately 92,000 in 1888 was about 30,000 more than the margin by which he led James G. Blaine in 1884 when he was elected for his first term.

Here's a brief resume of the other races since 1856. Presidents who had a plurality, but not a majority:

1856—James Buchanan, Democrat, led Fremont, Republican, but the latter and Fillmore, American party, combined had 2,200,000 to Buchanan's 1,800,000.

1860—Lincoln, the Republican candidate, won with 1,900,000; but his combined opposition (J. C. Breckinridge and Stephen Douglas, two kinds of Democrats, and Bell, Union) divided 2,800,000 among them.

1868—James A. Garfield topped W. S. Hancock, Democrat, by a scant 7,000 in the popular vote (4,449,000 to 4,442,000) but there was a total of 318,000 votes for three minor candidates.

1876—Cleveland's 4,911,000 headed Blaine with 4,848,000, but the Prohibition and Greenback candidates polled 285,000.

1880—Cleveland won his second term with his largest plurality, some 400,000 over Harrison; but Weaver, Populist, and two minor candidates had an aggregate of 1,041,000.

1912—Woodrow Wilson won the famous three-cornered race with Teddy Roosevelt and President Howard Taft, getting some 6,300,000 votes to 4,100,000 for the Rough Rider and 3,500,000 for the incumbent. Then there were 1,100,000 votes for minor candidates.

1916—Again Wilson lacked a majority, with 9,100,000 to 8,500,000 for Charles E. Hughes, and 810,000 split among minor candidates.

Presidents who won with clear majorities were:

1864—Lincoln won re-election over George B. McClellan with 2,200,000 votes to the General's 1,800,000. There were no minor candidates.

1868—Strictly a two-handed game in which General U. S. Grant topped Democratic Seymour, 3,800,000 to 2,700,000.

1872—Grant again won handily, smashing Horace Greeley, running on the Democratic ticket, 3,600,000 to 2,800,000.

1896—William McKinley crushed William J. Bryan on a "Cross of Gold," 7,000,000 to the 6,500,000 the combined Democratic and Populist tickets. Four minor candidates amassed only 310,000 in the aggregate.

SEEKING LEAK IN UCC RANKS

Further Facts Regarding Promotion Of McDonold

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Aug. 31.—The Unemployment Compensation Commission, or rather two members of that commission, are not satisfied to let sleeping dogs lie.

Recently Lynn Nisbet, in charge of this bureau while your reporter was on vacation, commented at some length on the promotion of Carlton McDonald to appeals deputy for the State U. C. C.—which promotion was mentioned to other who saw no reason why McDonald (who took a leave of absence to work for Broughton) should be advanced at the expense of other good Broughtonites.

Now your correspondent learns on high authority, two members of the Commission (Chairman Charles Powell and Mrs. J. B. Spillman) have been trying rather frantically to find out who gave Mr. Nisbet the information on which he wrote his comment. They have "jumped on" Charles U. Harris, appeals deputy with whom McDonald was placed on a parity, thinking that he gave it. They have approached Commissioner of Labor Forrest Shuford, third member of the commission to find out if he "leaked."

As a matter of fact neither Harris nor Shuford was the source of the Nisbet information, which was completely accurate; nor was either the source of this further information.

1900—McKinley again knocked off Bryan, this time 7,200,000 to 6,350,000 with 310,000 for minor candidates.

1904—Theodore Roosevelt swamped Judge Alton B. Parker, conservative Democrat, 7,600,000 to 5,100,000, with 800,000 votes going to lesser lights.

1908—Howard Taft handily disposed of Bryan's third effort, 7,700,000 to 6,400,000. Minors split 800,000.

1920—Republican Warren G. Harding slaughtered James Cox, Democrat, 16,000,000 to 8,900,000; the minors being very minor.

1924—Cal Coolidge mopped up John W. Davis, Democrat, and Bob LaFollette, Farmer-Labor, 15,718,000 to 8,387,962 to 4,822,000.

1928—Al Smith almost doubled any previous Democratic vote, getting 15,000,000, but it wasn't even close to Herbert Hoover's 21,429,000.

1932—Franklin Roosevelt's 22,000,000 was 7,000,000 above Hoover's 15,700,000.

1936—Roosevelt the Second improved on his 1932 showing, smashing Alf Landon 27,751,000 to 16,811,000.

EXPECT HIGHER SWINE PRICES

Better Average Predicted By State Specialist

Raleigh, Aug. 29.—Materially higher average prices for hogs during the 1940-41 marketing season which begins October 1 were predicted today by H. W. Taylor, Extension marketing specialist of N. C. State College. He quoted the "Livestock Situation" report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, which indicated that a smaller 1940 pig crop and increased consumer demand for pork products will stimulate prices.

"This is the first indication that hog prices, abnormally low for the past year, will improve soon," Taylor declared.

The B. A. E. report showed that the 1940 pig crop was 8 per cent smaller than that of 193 for the United States as a whole. It also was estimated that the number of sows which will farrow in the fall of 1940 will be about 12 per cent smaller than the number farrowing last fall.

In North Carolina, according to the latest Pig Crop Report issued by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. D. A., the spring pig crop of 1940 and the number of sows expected to farrow in the fall tion which Nisbet did not reveal: 1. McDonald's promotion was made on motion of Mrs. Spillman with the statement that it would be very pleasing to Mr. Broughton. 2. Commissioner Shuford voted against the McDonald advancement. 3. McDonald stood no better than 20th on the "merit" list and was jumped over numerous claims deputies; as well as over at least one supervising deputy. 4. The promotion of McDonald over so many who were higher on the merit list has created hot resentment throughout the U. C. C. ranks and has decidedly lowered the morale of the force.

"It is estimated by the B. A. E. that United States-inspected hog slaughter in the marketing year beginning October 1 will be about four million head less than the number slaughtered under federal inspection in 1939-40. A large part, perhaps nearly all, of the decrease in hog marketing is expected to occur after November or December, 1940."

Minimum Reached In Cotton Acreage

Chicago, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace, who resigned as Secretary of Agriculture to become the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, said today he thought the South had almost reached the minimum for its cotton acreage.

"I think the South's cotton acreage had to be reduced," he said in an address prepared for a "non-political" appearance at the American Negro exposition, "but we can not cut much further. If we do, we stop dieting and begin starvation.

"Already too many people are trying to make a living on southern farms and the situation has been made worse by the increasing trend toward mechanization.

"On one side the market for cotton is contracting. On the other, fewer men are needed to raise the cotton crop. Cotton farmers are caught in a vise."

Nine Cases Tried In Today's Court

Nine cases were disposed of in Municipal recorder's court this morning, all of the defendants except one being Negroes.

The only white man tried, Olen Wooten, was convicted of drunkenness and given a 30-day sentence suspended upon good behavior for one year.

Charlie Hunter, convicted of disorderly conduct, was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs, but appealed to Superior court and bond was set at $50.

Knights Boyd was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of $5 on costs on a charge of disorderly conduct, but a co-defendant James Best, was acquitted.

George Barnes, convicted of drunkenness, was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of costs. Moses Moore, convicted of trespass, was given a 60-day term suspended upon good behavior for two years.

Robert Lee Williams and Alonzo Williams were acquitted of one charge of assault with a deadly weapon, but Robert Lee was convicted in another case naming the two defendants and was given a 90-day sentence.

Julius Price, convicted of assault with a deadly weapon, was given a 30-day term, suspended upon payment of costs. Charlie Barrett, convicted of assault on a female, was ordered to work about the city hall for 30 days.

Farmer Made Present Of Five Dollar Bill

C. L. Whitehurst, well known Stokes farmer, had a pleasant surprise Saturday afternoon when he was unexpectedly presented with a five dollar bill.

The bill was a present of R. V. Keel, who told Mr. Whitehurst that he was presenting him with the five dollars in recognition of the fact that the Stokes farmer was the first person to place a load of tobacco on Keel's warehouse floor after its opening in August, 1928.

Heavy Docket Facing Pitt Court Tomorrow

County court will be resumed tomorrow after having been in recess during the past two weeks during sessions of Superior court.

E. P. Tucker, clerk of the court said it probably would take the entire day to dispose of the docket since a number of cases had been added during the past two weeks. A dozen or more defendants are in the county jail awaiting trial at the session.

Gibraltar has been a British possession since 1773.

The sparks fly when Ann Sheridan meets George Raft in the exciting new picture "They Ride By Night," Pitt, Tues.-Wed.

City Police Seek Curb Pickpockets

The Greenville police department is starting an educational campaign to curb pickpocket and flimflam activities in the city.

Large posters warning farmers to "beware of strangers. Pickpockets and flimflams are operating" are being posted in the various tobacco auction houses and in the banks.

Chief Clark said he expected the "artists" to start descending on the city with the opening of the tobacco market, but added he hoped to thwart their attempts by warning the farmers.

Recalling that two local farmers had been victimized by a self-termed probable client, the chief jokingly said that he had better start a campaign to protect attorneys.

Increase Noted In Police Activities

A marked gain in activities in local police circles during August over July was reflected today in the monthly report of Municipal recorder's court.

The report showed that 82 cases were disposed of in August as compared with only 42 in July. Fines last month amounted to $45, as compared with $55 in July, while court costs in August were $186.55 and in July they were $197.40. A total of $225 was turned over each of the months to the Police Pension fund and a like amount to the Department of Justice fund.

A large number of the defendants tried in August were bound over to Superior court, thereby accounting for the smaller collection in fines and costs.

Ten Construction Permits In Month

Permits issued in Greenville for new buildings or alterations during August totaled 10 calling for construction work costing an estimated $17,900, compared with seven permits for work to cost $12,300 during the previous month.

Only one business project was included in the list of permits issued at the city clerk's office during August, this being for repairs to a garage on East Fifth street to cost $2,000. Six of the permits were for erection of new homes and three for alterations or additions to dwelling houses.

Permits issued follow:

- J. J. Perkins, alter residence on Clark street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth, $3,000.
- Mrs. Reynolds May, erect one-story, four-room dwelling on Imperial between Davis and Vance $800.

- Phil Kramer, erect one-story, six-room residence on Harding street, $3,500.

Six Negroes Held On Liquor Law Violation

Slate Highway Patrolman W. W. Massengill yesterday afternoon unexpectedly "nabbed" six Negroes with a quart of bootleg liquor and since none of the six would claim the contraband he locked them all up in the county jail.

While stationed on a curve at a railroad crossing near the Flanagan farm yesterday on the lookout for three escaped convicts, the Negroes drove up and upon seeing the officer, stopped the car, jumped out and nervously began tinkering with the engine. Suspecting that something was wrong, the officer went over to the car and found the liquor as one of the Negroes was attempting to dispose of it.

NO DENIAL BY DR. McDONALD

Finds Most Recent Rumor Too Good To Deny

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—Ralph McDonald has no doubt heard any number of reports and rumors about his own activities and purposes; but a day or so ago he heard one "too good to deny."

"Doctor," queried a prying reporter, "I've heard recently that you will soon become a member, as a tax expert, of the Washington firm of Gardner, Morrison, Rogers and McGuire. What about it?"

It took the U.N.C. Extension professor a few seconds to get the import, then he threw back his head, roared with genuine mirth, and finally managed to reply, between chuckles:

"That's entirely too good a rumor to deny. You can quote me as saying I have nothing to say about it."

When it is considered that the Gardner of this big Washington firm is none other than North Carolina's one time governor, O. Max; and when the campaign of 1936 in which McDonald opposed Gardner's brother-in-law, Governor Clyde R. Hoey, is recalled; and when a recollection bobs up of the kind of "tax expert" Gardner's friends and allies then called Doctor McDonald; it must be conceded that there was a good reason for laughter.

Speaking seriously a moment after his refusal to "deny" McDonald limited there's nothing whatever to the rumor; but hastened to add that it is not because of any feeling of hostility existing between him and the former Shelby textile tycoon.

"As a matter of fact the relations between Governor Gardner and me are very cordial," he said.

Thinking the thing over, could it be that the firm of Gardner, Morrison, Rogers and McGuire might need a "friend at court" with the Administration, if PDR is re-elected? At any rate, McDonald could well qualify for that role if not as a "tax expert."

Monthly Bulletin Issued By C. Of C.

The regular monthly bulletin issued by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, delivered today, deals with the opening of the local tobacco market and proposes that all Greenville business men and their employees boost the local market.

It also calls attention to the fact that the Imperial factory is operating.

The fact that the Atlantic Coast Line has filed application to discontinue the Kinston-Rocky Mount passenger train and adds that if the request is granted Greenville will be without ACL passenger service.

Other topics discussed in the bulletin are: lower freight rates between north and south scheduled to go into effect on all railroads in the southeast September 1, and the fact that alien registrations began August 27 at the local post office.

The nation's largest inland cotton market, at Memphis, Tenn., handled a record 3,619,579 bales last year.

Speeding Leads In August Violations

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—Speeding was far and away the major traffic violation reported last month to the North Carolina Highway Safety Division for its individual traffic violator's file.

A total of 1,668 moving violations were reported during August and 539 of these were speeding. This brought the year's total of speeding convictions to 3,515.

Other principal violations reported in August were: faulty equipment, 383; failure to have driving license, 274; running through a red light, 98; failing to stop when entering highway, 59; and driving on wrong side of highway, 32.

Of the 1,668 drivers convicted of moving violations in the state last month, 1,527 were North Carolinians and 141 were out-of-state drivers. The August convictions brought the year's total to 11,871.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and Societies Sunday, September 1, 1940.

The Golden Text was from John 3:17. "God sent not his son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples saying, Whom do men say that I the son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist; some, Elias; and others, Jeremiah, or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." (Matthew 16:13-16).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy. "Yearning to be understood, the Master repeated, 'But whom say ye that I am? With his usual impetuosity, Simon replied for his brethren, and his reply set forth a great fact: 'Thou are the Christ, the Son of the living God.' That is: The Messiah is what thou hast declared—Christ, the spirit of God, of Truth, Life and Love, which heals mentally. The supremacy of Spirit was the foundation on which Jesus built." (Pages 137-138).
