SLOT MACHINE DRIVE OPENED BY N. C. JUDGES

Campaign Against Devices Appears To Be Statewide

COMPANY OWNER HELD IN WAKE

Action Also Taken By Superior Court Judges In Chowan And Durham Superior Courts

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—(AP) The Wake County Grand Jury indicted Joe Calcutt of Fayetteville, two other men, and the Vending Machine Company of Fayetteville today on charges of owning illegal slot machines which were reported in Wake county.

The indictments apparently were a part of a state-wide drive against slot machines launched by Superior court judges.

Earlier in the week Judge R. Hunt Parker had expressed a desire to "get the higher-ups" when he started hearing cases against 78 alleged operators of illegal slot machines. Monday at Edenton, Judge W. C. Harris was quoted as telling the Chowan Grand Jury that "the judges have agreed that these machines should be outlawed," as he directed it to investigate the situation. He said the judge that followed him would continue the fight.

Yesterday at Durham, officers seized 91 pinball machines as they acted under orders of Judge Henry L. Stevens.

Judge Parker directed State Bureau of Investigation agents and sheriff's deputies to start an immediate search for Calcutt, B. W. Bolling, identified in testimony as an auditor of the Vending Machine Company, and C. C. Bishop, alleged contact man for the company here.

Judge Parker directed that bond of $5,000 be required of Calcutt, $2,500 of Bolling and $1,000 of Bishop. Calcutt was specifically charged, both individually and as the Vending Machine Company, with the ownership of illegal machines on location in Wake county, which were adaptable to free games or giving returns on which wagers might be made. Bishop and Bolling were named in individual charges of the same nature and both were charged with conspiring with Calcutt to distribute the machines.

Judge Parker ordered 52 of the alleged operators of the slot machines to pay court costs.

Among other things found was a copper coil, copper cap and fittings, 250 gallons of mash, three buckets, one hoe, one shovel, one 10 gallon double, and a 50 gallon condensing barrel. Fifty of the 250 gallons of mash found was of the monkey rum type.

Defense Cost

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP) Congress has appropriated $13,127,427,195 so far this session and may be asked to approve $1,500,000,000 in additional funds before adjournment.

In addition it has authorized another $5,256,082,000 for expenditure in future years—the actual cash to be voted in subsequent sessions—for a grand total of $21,383,509,204.

Appropriations and commitments for defense account for more than $15,000,000,000 of that total.

Congressional records show that the $13,127,427,195 in direct appropriations already exceed those of any full peace-time year in the nation's history. Last year's total was $9,719,256,467.

Only the world war outlays were greater—$18,881,940,243 in the fiscal year of 1918 and $27,065,148,993 in 1919.

The defense outlays include $5,959,635,896 of actual appropriations, $3,616,082,000 in contract authorizations for the army, navy and army air corps and $4,610,000,000 in a single authorization for a "two ocean" navy.

CAMPAIGN OFF IN FULL FORCE

Willkie Begins Tour Which Includes 18 States

By The Associated Press Wendell Willkie was off today on the 15-day 7,200-mile tour of campaigning that will take him into 18 states for 69 speeches, one a major address on the third term issue.

Before leaving Nashville, Ind., last night, Willkie discussed final plans for his swing to the Pacific coast with his running mate, Senator McNary, Republican National Chairman Joe Martin and Tennessee's governor Harold E. Stassen.

At Chicago Willkie told a crowd of wellcomers in the Union station upon his arrival that "I am going to give you the truth in plain Indiana language so that no one can misunderstand."

"My speeches," he declared, "will be political and I will name them as such. I will never dodge or hedge."

"This is a crusade and I call to you in the name of the democratic way of life in America."

In New York, meanwhile, Mayor LaGuardia came out for President Roosevelt's reelection, asserting that the chief executive's preparedness plans and foreign policy "are the only hope of keeping our country out of war."

LaGuardia announced that Sen Norris (Ind.-Neb.) would serve as honorary chairman of an independent committee for Roosevelt. The New York mayor elected in the past to Congress, both a republican and socialist, said he belonged to no party.

In Washington the question of political expenditures cropped up with Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) of the Senate Campaign Expenditures committee announcing that two Willkie supporters had been "invited" to testify regarding a series of magazine advertisements asking funds to further their candidate's election. Gillette said the committee wished to establish "if there is any violation of the spirit of the Hatch act," limiting these matters.

Local Women Injured In Wreck Near City

Two Greenville women suffered painful cuts and bruises and other injuries yesterday when the automobile in which they were going to Bell Arthur, where they are connected with a lunch room project, struck a tree at the intersection of the Bell Arthur road and Farmville highway.

Mrs. Nina Bell Barton is still confined at the Pitt General hospital suffering with severe cuts about the face, bruises and a broken right arm. Mrs. Lula Dilda, who suffered a back injury and cuts and bruises has been released following treatment.

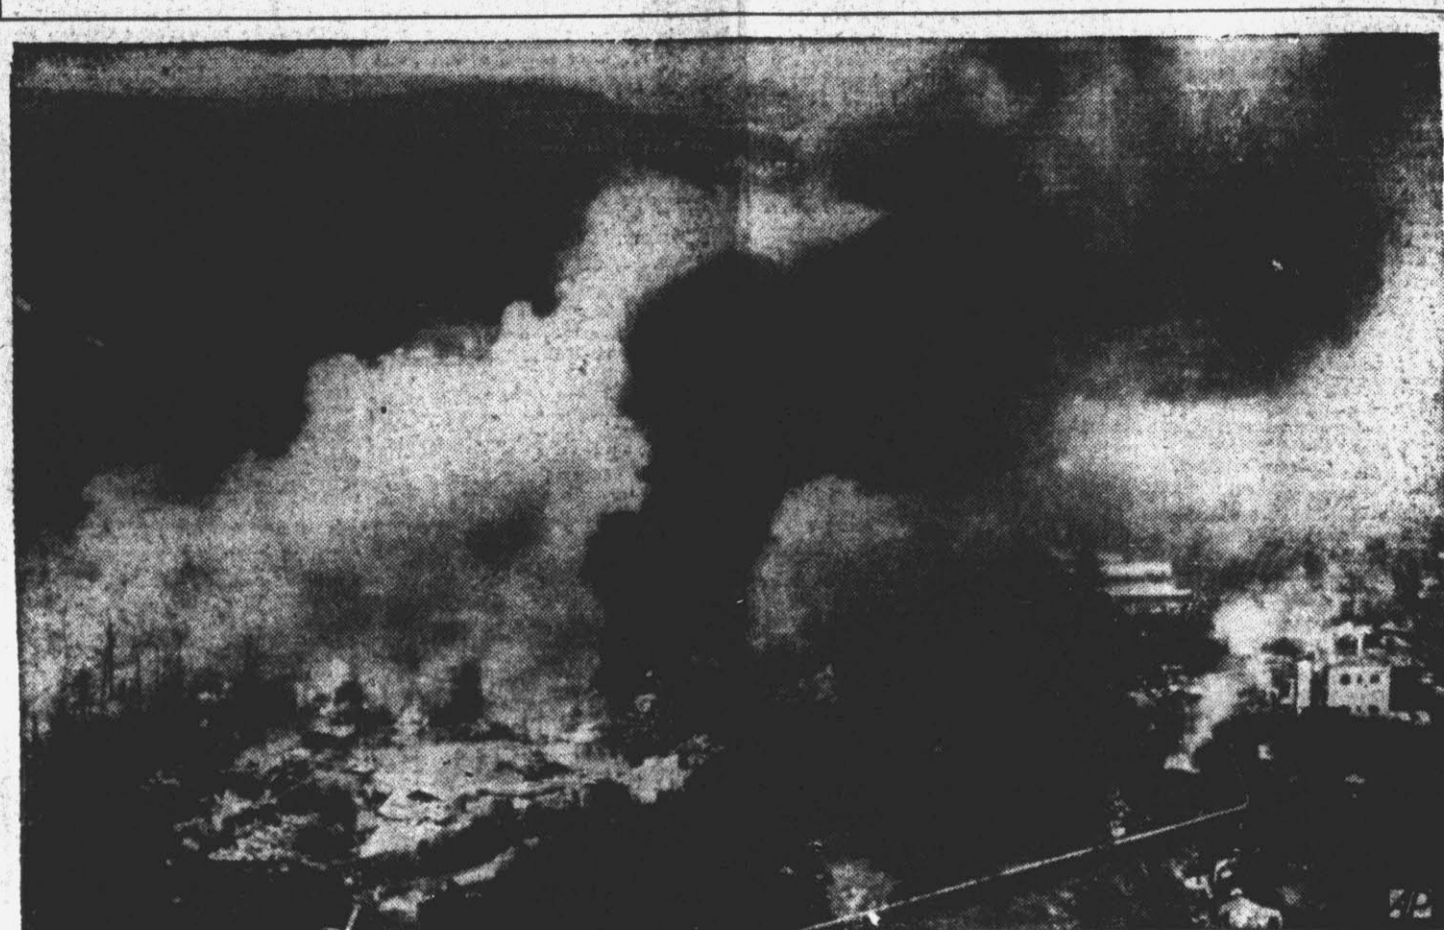

According to Patrolman W. W. Massenill the two women were riding with Mrs. Maggie Baker and when they reached the intersection one of those not driving called out that they were at the place to turn. Mrs. Baker started to make the turn but failed, striking a tree.

Powder Plant Blasts Bring Deaths In Jersey

An undetermined number of persons were killed and at least 200 were injured by two terrific explosions in quick succession in the Hercules Powder company's plant at Kenil near Dover, N. J. A cameraman in an airplane flew over the scene just after the blasts and took this picture of smoke billowing up from the devastated area. The two main explosions started fires that caused eight lesser blasts. Windows in nearby communities were shattered and the blasts were felt 100 miles away.

Sabotage Theory Studied

QUICK ACTION SEEN FOR BILL

Both Houses Concluding Action On Draft Measure

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP) Congressional leaders confidently predicted today that peace-time conscription legislation would be on its way to the White House by nightfall to become the law of the land.

In both Senate and House the plan was to obtain the quickest possible action on the compromise version of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill worked out by a joint conference committee to reconcile the differences between the two chambers on the measure.

With acceptance of the compromise generally taken for granted the day's big question was how long it would take Congress to conclude action on the precedent-making bill which orders the registration of 16,500,000 men from the ages of 21 through 35 for possible military service. Some said it would be only a few hours, others that it would take most of the day.

The Senate received the compromise version first and Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) called the chamber into session an hour earlier than usual (at 11 a. m.) to expedite consideration.

House leaders were ready to act just as soon as the Senate approved the legislation and sends it across to their wing of the capitol.

The compromise version caused some expressions of dissatisfaction chiefly from legislators who fought for the 21 through 31 age limit and the 60-day postponement in starting conscription. There were no signs, however, of attempts to "lynch" action by prolonged discussion.

Rescue Workers Continue Search For Bodies With 35 Already Recovered In One Of Nation's Worst Plant Disasters

Kenil, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP) Rescue workers poked through a tangled mass of smoldering ruins today in search of more victims of the two terrific explosions that leveled the Hercules Powder Company's plant here, killing at least 35 men, injuring 125 others and causing an estimated one million dollars damage.

Other officials of the plant and state police expected the toll of dead to reach 45 or 50. In point of fatalities yesterday's blast was one of the worst powder plant disasters in the nation's history.

The company manufactures smokeless powder and other explosives. It was engaged in fulfilling numerous national defense contracts. Today Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were investigating possibilities of sabotage.

The blast was of such intensity that the country-side was rocked for miles around. Reverberations were felt as far away as Danbury, Conn. 125 miles to the east. Thousands in surrounding districts believed there had been an earthquake.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Lee, 419 Greene street, followed by interment in Cherry Hill cemetery. The services will be conducted by Dr. J. D. Simons, pastor of Memorial Baptist church.

Mrs. Jennie James White, wife of the late H. A. White, died at the summer home of her son, J. J. White, on the Falkland highway about one o'clock this morning following a heart attack suffered about an hour earlier.

MRS. H. A. WHITE DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral Services To Be Held Saturday Morning

Mrs. White was a native of Greenville the daughter of the late Dr. John G. James and Mrs. Mary Langley James and a sister of the late Col. P. G. James. Since girlhood she had been a faithful member of Memorial Baptist church. In 1897 she married H. A. White and the union is survived by a son and two daughters. Always fond of young people and interested in what they were doing she numbered her friends among the youth of this city as well as their elders. While she has been in declining health for more than a year, she has remained active and up until bedtime last night she enjoyed the company of her children. Between eleven and twelve o'clock she suffered the heart attack which proved fatal about an hour later.

FASCIST BOMB BRITISH AREAS

Punishing Blows Claimed Along Egyptian Coast

Rome, Sept. 13.—(AP) Italy's air force in heavy day and night bombardments has dealt punishing blows at British positions along the Egyptian coast, the high command announced today amid unofficial reports that an Italian drive into Egypt already was under way.

It was the fifth successive day of such assaults, often the prelude of an offensive.

The high command communique did not mention any land offensive, but one military authority said "an operation" already had begun in Egypt. He disclosed no details, however, and other high Fascist sources expressed doubt that Italian land forces actually had crossed the British-defended Egyptian border.

But indications mounted that both the steadily increasing Italian and British forces along the desert Egyptian-Libyan frontier were preparing for major action. Day and night, the Italian communique said, Italian bombers have hammered at British motorized columns and other targets along the Egyptian coast.

A gasoline storage tank was reported set afire and trucks, armored cars and tanks put out of action by repeated hits.

Other Italian planes bombed British positions in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and a motorized column in Kenya colony, the communique said.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 13.—(AP) British patrols were reported today to be fighting hard against large Italian forces on a 200-mile front in Kenya colony, hundreds of miles south of the Libyan-Egyptian border area, where Italy's main offensive is believed imminent.

Icebergs have been seen so huge their surface has been estimated at 1,000 square miles.

Willkie Cites FDR Failures

Says He Will Never Send Men To Europe To Fight

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP) Wendell Willkie told a crowd here today that "if you elect me president I shall never send an American boy to fight in any European war."

He also pledged himself to "build a domestic economy so strong that no dictator shall ever seek to strike it."

Standing in a hay wagon in the heart of the huge packing house district, the Republican presidential nominee contended that the administration had failed to solve the unemployment problem and contended that President Roosevelt in his recent address before the Teamsters union promised labor everything except jobs.

"The failure of the last seven and a half years," he added, "has been the failure to produce jobs. No amount of talking about affairs in Europe can cover up that abysmal failure to produce jobs."

Willkie declared that he stood for the doctrine of putting America back to work and stated: "I do not promise the moon, but I do promise jobs in honest work, in honest industry. The only jobs today are in the defense program and Hitler is making us do that."

CO-ED'S 'FORCED LANDING' TURNS INTO REALISM

Minneapolis.—(AP) — Jean Margaret Swain, a University of Minnesota co-ed, obtained an airplane pilot's license under the Civil Aeronautics Authority program after inserting a bit of realism that wasn't in the curriculum.

Miss Swain's final test required that she make a forced landing. At 3,000 feet she was preparing for the stunt when the plane's motor stopped dead. She glided onto the landing field without crackup or injury.

For Defense

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP) President Roosevelt clamped license requirements today on the export of certain planes and supplies for aircraft in order to "further strengthen the national defense."

The presidential proclamation, made public at his press conference, added to the export license list equipment used for producing aviation motor fuel and tetraethyl lead or any plans or specifications used in the design, construction or operation of such equipment and plans, specifications and descriptive or technical information of any kind setting forth the design or construction of aircraft or aircraft engines.

"The present proclamation," a formal statement said, "taken with preceding ones has the effect of putting under the control of the President for export purposes not only the aircraft and engines, but also the plans and designs for building them."

Summing up his personal impressions in an interview today, Rechenberg asserted that one dock section of London had been spotted by fires, ploughed by bombs and blanketed by smoke.

GIVES ACCOUNT OF AIR ATTACK

German Ace Says London Already Filled With Chaos

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(AP)—London is chaos, according to Hans Rechenberg, Economic Minister Walter Funk's right-hand man, who has taken part in several of the German air raids—"and remember this is only the beginning."

Throughout greater London and all along the outskirts industrial plants alternate with warehouses electric power plants, gas and oil tanks and munitions dumps. All these are doomed as our attacks continue.

"Orderly life in the British capital is well nigh impossible," Rechenberg declared.

"My formation when I started out after dusk last Saturday was given as its objective—the destruction of provisions and storehouses slightly north of the U-shaped end of the Thames," Rechenberg said.

"Our fliers were happy at last to have an exciting errand. I had to have many planes started that first night and have been starting since in increasing numbers your hair would stand on end," Rechenberg said.

"Our eggs" were of formidable size, too. If they were dropped on this ministry where you and I are now sitting there wouldn't be anything left.

Christian Church At Arthur Plans Revival

Jones Nomination Disclosed By FDR

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt nominated Jesse H. Jones today to be Secretary of Commerce.

Jones succeeds Harry L. Hopkins who recently resigned because of ill health.

Young Demos In State Convention

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—(AP)—With early registrations indicating attendance would set a record, the annual convention of the North Carolina Young Democrats got under way here today.

D. Ed Hudgins of Greensboro, keynote, praised the state and national administrations, forecast a routing Democratic victory in the nation and state and urged the young party members to work vigorously to "increase the majorities in North Carolina."

At a banquet tonight, J. M. Broughton of Raleigh, Democratic nominee for governor, will speak. Also on the program are Rep. Harold D. Cooley and George Gordon Battle, New York attorney.

Five Bombs Dropped By Nazi Raider

King And Queen, Safely Huddled In Palace Air Raid Shelter, Escape Injuries Although Some Staff Members Slightly Hurt Other German Planes Bomb The Famous Downing Street

(By The Associated Press) Safely huddled in a palace air raid shelter, King George, VI, and Queen Elizabeth escaped uninjured today when a lone Nazi dive bomber screamed down from the clouds and dropped a salvo of five bombs on Buckingham palace and its precincts.

Witnesses said the German raider came out of his roaring dive into a glide—with motors silent—to check speed and get a better aim at the palace.

Other Nazi raiders flying low and fast over the heart of London dropped incendiary bombs in Downing street, where Prime Minister Winston Churchill resides at the mansion No. 10. No damage was reported.

After the raid, King George and Queen Elizabeth inspected the damage to the royal palace.

Their Majesties, who were in the palace, were unharmed, the Ministry of Information announced, "but three members of the palace staff and three plumbers were slightly injured."

Two bombs fell in the palace's inner quadrangle today, a third hit and wrecked the royal couple's private chapel in the south wing and the other two exploded on the roadway between the Victoria memorial and the palace gates—where great crowds gather to cheer their sovereigns on special occasions.

The raiders dropped countless salvos of fire and shriek bombs, setting London's fashionable West End aflame in a series of bold daylight attacks.

Batteries of anti-aircraft guns set up a terrific barrage and Royal Air Force fighters slashed in and out of the clouds, engaging the raiders in dogfights.

The daylight assaults took London's bomb-battered millions by surprise when the air raid sirens shrieked the first warning at 7:33 a. m. (1:33 a. m. EST). Less than two hours after the all-clear signal sounded the end of the capital's sixth straight dusk-to-dawn attack, lasting eight hours and 36 minutes.

The first day alarm lasted 53 minutes. Sixteen minutes later the raiders appeared again—among them several great four-motored bombers.

The second alarm lasted four hours and nine minutes.

Official casualty figures up to Wednesday night brought the toll of 1,175 killed and 4,270 wounded since Hitler unleashed successive night-long attacks on London last Saturday.

Forty Years Ago Today

September 13, 1900

Washington Fire
"The Yankees took Washington and burned the town." That was away back in the Civil war, but there are some people who yet remember. From that day to this our neighborhood has had no such serious conflagration as visited it on Thursday afternoon.

The fire started about one o'clock and for several hours raged fiercely. From the cannery factory on Water street, a distance of 200 yards to Market street, and then up Market street to Main, it swept clear of buildings. It originated in Brabbe's restaurant from a defective flue. The citizens and firemen there did valiant service but were unable to stop the conflagration. Many were prostrated with the intense heat.

About 2:30 o'clock Mayor Mayo received a message asking for the assistance of the Greenville steamer and firemen. They got away at 4:40 and the run to Washington was made in 40 minutes. About 35 men went along and when they started down the street at Washington the citizens greeted them with cheers.

The boys got back to Greenville about half past two, somewhat fatigued but very glad they were able to render our neighbors good service.

try Practitioner.
Specialist for the evening was Dr. W. M. Coppedge, Urologist of Watts Hospital, Durham. He gave an illustrated paper on Urinary Calculi. Dr. N. Thomas Bennett gave a report on the activities of the Health Department during the past month.

Lima Keyes

Mr. Julian Augustine Oneto on Tuesday, the tenth of September Nineteen hundred and forty Angles Camp, California

In a very simple, but impressive ceremony on Tuesday, the tenth of September, in Saint Patrick's Church in Angels Camp, California, Miss Lima Keyes Sermons became the bride of Julian Augustine Oneto.

The marriage took place in the morning, in the presence of only a few close friends and relatives, with the Rev. Father John Maguire officiating.

The couple was attended by the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Salari of Angels Camp, Calif.

The bride, who entered the church alone, wore burgundy velvet with black accessories. She wore no jewelry, but carried in her hands a French bouquet of orchids, lilies of the valley, maiden hair fern and tiny burgundy dahlias made on a white ruff. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man.

Mrs. Oneto is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sermons of Winterville, and was formerly a resident of Greenville. She attended East Carolina Teachers College.

Mr. Oneto is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Oneto of Carson Hill, California. He received his education at Heald's Business College in Sacramento, Calif. At present he is employed by the State of California's highway patrol, with headquarters in Sacramento.

For traveling the bride added black purse and gloves and a burgundy coat with the corsage of orchids from her bouquet.

After a brief honeymoon in San Francisco and on Treasure Island at the Golden Gate International Exposition, the couple will return to Carson Hill for a short time prior to making their permanent home in Sacramento, California.

Jitter Bugs? No Not At All
Dancing at the lunch period has been resumed after a three-month holiday. No it wasn't unconstitutional, there just wasn't any school. But now that school has started the jitterbugs, hepatois and alligators are back and seem to be making up for lost-time with some of the dizziest steps ever performed on a G. H. S. dance floor. But jitterbugging is not all they do. High school students have enough intelligence to know its still too hot for all jitterbugging so they slip in a slow selection now and then for, shall we say, "the pause that refreshes."

WHAT IT MEANS:

Thermite Bombing

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington—Read the statements of the Reich high command and the British air ministry with the help of a man who knows his military planes and his bombs and you reach the astonishing conclusion that the air war we're reading about every day is not even well started yet.

It is true, of course, that many have been lost, much property damaged. It would be hard to explain to a man who has seen his neighborhood, or to a flier who has spun out of the sky, that the air war is not on.

But, if the experts have it right, air-fighting up to now is a warm-up for the war to come, and an effort on both sides to crack morale on the other. In the warm-up, each side learns the other's long suits, his short-comings. By constantly driving civilians already fed up with war to air-raid shelters, they're inflicting a sort of third degree, intended to crack nerves, make people ask for rest, even if their country has to loose a war.

Both Sides And London Mention It
The experts will tell you that air war—all-out air war—will begin with an eight-letter word spelled "T-H-E-R-M-I-T-E!" We've already had fleeting glimpses of the word in the commiques from Berlin and London.

Thermite is a simple mixture of powdered aluminum and powdered iron oxide, all bound up with magnesium wire. Attached is a fuse to set off the magnesium, like a battery sets off a photographer's flash bulb.

When a big package of thermite is dropped, the fuse detonates, sets off the magnesium, and the thermite, thus primed, heats up. Within a few minutes it is a white hot mass of molten metal capable of melting steel. It gets hotter than 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit, which is hotter than any ladle of molten steel in a blast furnace. Therefore, it will set fire to anything inflammable. It is a small river of fire itself.

Just A Package Of Heat
All military men say thermite bombs, or incendiary bombs. But technically, the package is no bomb at all. It is merely a heater-upper. Its no secret weapon, either. The military men of all nations know the formula, use it in practice bombing attacks. Secret tests by the American air service, for instance, have convinced authorities that thermite bombing is capable of destroying any big city, and a single big raid might be enough. Maybe two hundred planes, or less.

A city can be levelled by fire, because the present war and previous wars have demonstrated that air raids cannot be stopped. There is no defense against big squadrons of airplanes. Some of them are bound to reach their objectives, no matter what the defending force does.

Will Bring Retaliation
The first great raid with thermite, of course, will bring retaliation—with thermite. That's the question mark of the coming air war. Nobody knows that will happen after it starts.

Will the people of either England or Germany rise up, overthrow the government, force a peace at any price to prevent further destruction? Both Messrs. Hitler and Churchill would like to know the answer to that one. They'd give their right arms for it, for then they'd know whether to start an "all-out" air war.

PUSH PROGRAM IN EDUCATION

Provides Specialized Training In Merchandising

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—There will soon be seven "Distributive Education" programs in North Carolina, where there was only one last year.

T. Carl Brown, in charge of this newest phase of the vocational education program in this state, is now in the field making arrangements to start these programs in the cities where facilities are best available. Last year Wilmington had the only program in North Carolina. Already similar setups are insured for Greensboro and Raleigh; while plans have been made for Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Asheville and Burlington.

Before proceeding further with the story, perhaps it ought to be stated that "Distributive Education" is nothing more or less than specialized training for workers engaged in merchandising or selling activities, distributing goods or services in either a wholesale or retail capacity. Such a program was first authorized by the Federal Congress in 1937 by what is known as the George Dean act.

North Carolina's first venture into the "D. E." field was last year. Now a big follow-through is planned. In the selected cities, teachers versed in the technique of selling and distribution will be engaged through the school superintendents and classes will be opened for two definite groups:

1. Regularly employed workers in distributive occupations, and—
2. High school seniors and graduates desiring to enter that field of work.

For the first class, evening or extension classes will be offered. Thus, salesmen of all sorts (whether employed in stores or in outside selling), buyers, managers and owners who want to learn to do their job better or to prepare themselves for advancement will have a chance to take advantage of expert teaching and assistance. Teachers for these classes must, of course, come very largely from the field of business training directors, store owners, managers, and employees who are specially qualified to teach these classes are employed and paid for this work. In addition to local instructors there are full-time traveling instructors under the supervision of Mr. Brown's division here. For the school seniors and graduates there is a cooperative part-time program. Under this plan business and schools cooperate in training boys and girls who are employed for half the day in retail or wholesale houses. They spend the other half-day in school where they are taught by a coordinator who is trained and experienced in the field of retailing. Here they take related subjects such as stock keeping, merchandise information, store organization, salesmanship, advertising and display, and the economics of retailing. As said, Wilmington last year had the only full program in North Carolina, but adult or evening school program classes were held in seventeen centers. One hundred and three courses were given with more than 2,300 persons attending. Special courses were held for those in different fields of merchandising; groceries, clothing and variety shops, furniture, route salesmen, insurance people, and restaurant workers. Trinidad island produces more petroleum than any other spot in the British Empire. Asia, most populous of the continents, contains more than one billion people. Omega is the last letter of the Greek alphabet.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

GOD LEADS US INTO NEW ROADS
We can see the hand of God in everything, if we only look for it.
For instance, we can see the hand
of God in nature's world about us.
A student of the sciences declared to me recently that a blade of grass or a leaf of a tree constitutes the most marvelous chemical machine in all the world. But we can also see the hand of God in our sorrows, our disappointments, our failures, if we are diligent enough in our seeking and faithful enough as the years glide by. We get a terrible jolt in life, and we think all is ended, but with the passing of time we see that we have only taken a turn down a new road.
The path we thought would lead
over the precipice leads instead through green pastures and beside still waters. We little thought that beyond the Slough of Despond were the Delectable Mountains, and beyond these the Celestial City.
God is round about us, and never nearer than when the night is dark and the storm is lashing us with fury. Then does his uphold us, as in days of light and gladness, and beneath us in such times are the everlasting arms.

JAPAN STILL GETS SCRAP IRON DESPITE EXPORT LICENSE LAW

When the Federal Government established an export license system for scrap iron and oil shipments out of the country, it was assumed it was aimed at Japan. For the United States, by its shipments of these two vital war materials, had long been a "silent partner" to these astrotious Japanese crimes against China.

A recent checkup revealed, however, that such is not the case, and Japan is still America's best scrap iron customer. In fact, the merchant marine was taxed to find enough ships to transport scrap iron, licensed for export to Japan, during the last two weeks in August.

No. 1 heavy melting scrap is the type affected by the licensing system. It is the kind most used by United States steel mills. Japan, however, is still able to get all its wants, though without it the Japanese would be hard pressed to carry on the undeclared war in China.
New York port officials said,
on August 29th, that licenses for exporting this type of scrap metal had been issued
"in quantity," and one of the largest exporting firms stated
it had not heard of a single license application being turned down.

During the past eighteen

--And Campaigns Cost Money!

REG-MANNING

months, about half the American scrap iron exports went to Japan. Last year, Japanese scrap metal imports totalled 2,027,000 tons—approximately 89 per cent of all Japanese imports from this country.

It is believed the United States is reserving the power to refuse export licenses as an "ace in the hole" to keep Japan from further interfering with American commercial rights. With the Japanese openly talking of a move against the Dutch East Indies, the threat that Japan may take over America's principal source of rubber is all too real. The United States' threat to Japan's scrap iron supply may have a deterring effect.

This is small consolation
to China, however, and Japanese bombs made from American scrap metal contribute to untold thousands of Chinese civilians.

Raleigh, Sept. 12. Personnel enrolled in Class V-7, Naval Reserves, will not lack for erudition, according to a breakdown issued by the Raleigh recruiting station.
Members of the class are candidates for commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve. They will be given active training about special "cruise" warships, during which they will rank as Midshipmen in the reserve. Those found qualified will be commissioned as Ensigns.
At least two years of college work
is a requirement.

In the 6 enrollments made by the Raleigh office through September 10, the University of North Carolina topped all other institutions with 25 graduates or undergraduates.
Second place was a tie between State College and Wake Forest, each with 13.

The other "Big Five" members
Duke and Davidson showed three enrollments each, which tied them
for third place with Mars Hill Junior college.

Man About
Manhattan
By George Tucker
New York.—For days now Broadway has been in a story telling mood, and at the risk of being silly
I am going to pass along the one that is getting the biggest play in the backstage dressing rooms and at restaurant tables. It's a hard story to tell, because it should be acted with gestures, but then maybe you can supply your own.

This story concerns three little kittens whose names were Phitt, Phitt-Phitt, and Phitt-Phitt-Phitt.
They were the happiest little kittens you ever saw, until, one day,
little Phitt came down with the fever.

"Little Phitt is burning up," cried little Phitt-Phitt to her little sister Phitt-Phitt-Phitt. "Oh, what shall we do to save her?"

"I know," cried little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt. "I'll run and get the doctor."
Which she did, but it was too late.
By the time that little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt returned, poor little Phitt was dead, and poor little Phitt-Phitt
was sobbing her eyes out.

For many days after this, little Phitt-Phitt and her sister, little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt, went about very sorrowfully. They gave up playing with the ball of yarn with which the three of them had so frequently cavorted in the good old days
when poor little Phitt was alive.

But time, the great healer, heals all wounds, and so one day little Phitt-Phitt and little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt forgot all about their sorrow.
They began to play again, as healthy young kittens should play. They ran out of doors and raced across the lawn. They played so hard that they scarcely noticed that the sur-
had gone down and that a cold rain was beginning to fall.

That night, alas and alack, little Phitt-Phitt bobbed up with a sore throat. By morning she was worse.
"Oh, dear," cried little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt. "The fever is burning me up. What shall I do?"

This frightened little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt almost out of her wits, as she remembered only too well what had happened to poor little Phitt when the fevers came.

So she gathered up her skirts and flew down the hill to where the doctor lived.

"Doctor," she panted, "oh, do come quickly. Little Phitt-Phitt has the ague, and I fear some harm
will come to her."

"Little Phitt-Phitt-Phitt," consoled the doctor, "calm yourself. Everything will be okay."

So they hurried up the hill to where poor little Phitt-Phitt lay wheezing and coughing. "Say, ah," said the doctor, rapping a stick down poor little Phitt-Phitt's throat. "Yep," he added thoughtfully, "just as I feared. We'll have

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY! The Cabrillos
take possession of the ranch,
and make plans for entertaining.
Constance fears they will run into debt again.

Chapter 23
Dinner Party
CONSTANCE knew she had to be alone for a few moments.
Too many unhappy situations had piled, one on the other, for her to remain poised much longer.

She slipped from under John's hand, it was a warm burden, a restraint, and smiled at Judge Frank.

"My sister is more accustomed to stellar roles than I," she said
graciously. "Please accept mother's decision. And will you excuse me, I must see if my reports have been taken to the barn."

None of those present knew of her office. She could find privacy there. She hurried to it and dropped the steel latch, and then she sought to face her problems.

They whirled around in her mind like a squirrel in a cage; Pedro, John, the family. If only she had told Pedro everything. If only she had written John about Pedro. She hadn't each was totally unprepared for the other.

And the family. Time and distance had softened her memory
of their unfeigned selfishness.
"It isn't that I wanted to be leading lady at the festa, it's...
mother and everyone thinking I'm unfitted; and why?"

Moments of bitterness passed to turn bittersweet with memory of that last hour with Pedro, the touch of his hands on her lips.

What must he have thought to see her, suddenly, in the arms of a stranger who spoke to her as though the Cabrillos that Juliano had trained them as he and his forefathers had been trained.

She knew if Peter Taylor hadn't drawn her into the conversation, drawn out her knowledge of the ranch, she would have remained mute.

John, never talkative, was unusually silent, but at the other end of the table, Donna and Mrs.
Cabrillos focused their attention
on Pedro, and Constance, remembering his virulent—"damn civilization"—of that afternoon, wondered where he had acquired such civilized social charm.

"No electric lights, no radio; no
dance," cried Donna, as she returned to the great room. "What a place! Mother, we must have lights installed immediately."
"If it please the Señorita," purred Juliano, "music, of its kind, can be provided."
"Any kind," urged Donna.

And Constance sat in wonder.
Juliano, purring.
But she decided the music. In the hour it took Juliano to round up the musicians, get them into their velvet bolero suits, she wondered if she could plead weariness,
a headache, anything.

Both pleas would have been true. She sat by the fire with John, pleasantly quiet beside her.
John, the faithful, and yet now he seemed to be the jailer who was keeping her apart from the others.
They didn't seem to miss her,
even Peter Taylor had succumbed
to the beauty of Nadine.

And then came the music. Donna was in Pedro's arms almost before the first guitar was strummed, and John was standing before her, waiting.

"Why did you run out on me
this afternoon?" he murmured in her ear.
"I didn't run out on you," she corrected. "I've never been fond of family bickering."

They circled the room—"Surprised to find me here?" he asked.
Constance wished he wouldn't hold her so tightly. Had he changed grown more possessive or was she merely aware of it for the first time because of a change in herself?

"Amazed," she confessed.
"Pleased that I came west just to see you?"
Constance looked up—"Yes,
John. She was always her opportunity of telling him what she had found too difficult to write.

"Orange blossoms are sweetest
in June, sis," offered Donna
whirling past in Pedro's arms.
Startled she looked at Donna to find her position reversed and seeing Pedro's face, white, set contemptuous. She wondered what else Donna had said in her gay, free voice which didn't reveal the studied pertinence of her remarks.

"Donna seems to have fallen for young Taylor," John remarked in an amused voice. "It won't last long. He's a first class crash at the first lift of her eyebrow."
Constance knew jealousy; a blazing searing emotion which burned the words on her lips.
Donna intended to take Pedro as she had taken the Cabrillos role that afternoon, lightly, as her just due.

It occurred to her that John Raskthorne was the only person or possession Donna hadn't been able to claim.
"I apologized for my mistake,
this afternoon," John went on.
"Told him that when a fellow crosses the continent to see the one girl in his life, he doesn't pay much attention to anyone else."
Constance knew defeat. How explain that to Pedro?

"We matched for my tip," John chuckled, "and he won. Said a funny thing. He said 'Never gamble with me, Raskthorne. I always win.'"

Kinston Evens Count In Coastal Plain Play-Off Series

ZINSER HURLS EAGLE VICTORY

Five Run Outburst In Fourth Clinches 6-3 Win

Lefty Wendell Mosser, hurling five runs in the fourth inning, led the Kinston Eagles to a 6-3 victory over the Tarboro Tigers in the fourth game of the Coastal Plain play-off series. Games are now tied up at two all.

Zinser, Kinston ace, was credited with the victory although he was relieved by Averette in the ninth. Although Tarboro connected for eleven hits, they were kept scattered enough to avert danger. Roy Kennedy and Lou Russo sparked Kinston's nine-hit attack with two for four and three for five, respectively. Russo's double in the fourth accounted for three runs. Tarboro's scoring came in the eighth and ninth innings when they scored two and one run respectively. Henry Schenz led Tarboro's attack with three hits for five trips to the plate.

The two teams play tonight in Kinston at 8 o'clock.

Grove Beats Tigers In 13 Innings

Robert Moses Grove (above) won a 6 to 5 decision over the league-leading Detroit Tigers. The Red Sox pitcher is kissing the 293rd victory ball of his career. The defeat dropped the Tigers into second place.

Your Screen Test

By ROBBIN COONS

1. She started a fashion when she came to Hollywood but now is the first time she's wearing 'em on the screen (as in the picture). Who is she and what's the movie? By the way, what's her real name?

2. Age is everything in Hollywood. Which is older—Linda Darnell, the glamour gal, or Deanna Durbin, the child singer?

3. Tyrone will be starred in a new version of a famous silent film of the sea. What's the title? What famous redhead made her film debut in the original film?

4. Would F. Hugh Herbert's friends consider him daft if he suddenly cried "Woo-woo"?

5. How's your jargon today? Can you identify the set workers known as: (a) The best boy? (b) The gaffer? (c) The juicer? (d) The genius?

Count 20 points for each question correctly answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 is excellent, and 90 or above is colossal.

Screen Test Answers

1. Marlene Dietrich popularized trousers for women but she wears 'em on the screen the first time in "Seven Sinners." Her real name is Maria Magdalena von Leusch Sieber.
2. Linda is 16; Deanna 18.
3. "Down to the Sea in Ships," in which Clara Bow bowed.
4. Probably, because F. Hugh Herbert is a writer, no relation to Hugh (Woo-Woo) Herbert, the comic.
5. (a) The gaffer's assistant. (b) The gaffer is the chief electrician. (c) Any electrician. (d) Anybody objectionable—usually the producer.

Increased Patrol Force To Be Asked At Assembly

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Sept. 13.—Increase of 15 just made by Governor Clyde R. Hoey, is almost negligible in comparison with the expansion of the State Highway Patrol which will be sought in the 1941 General Assembly.

Major John Armstrong, patrol commander, and officials of the revenue department under which the patrol functions, either haven't definitely made up their minds about the exact increase which will be asked, or they are not revealing their plans in advance; but it is known that they feel strongly that a patrol of 400 men would be none too large for North Carolina.

It is doubtful that they will actually ask for that many, because it is highly improbable that the legislators would be prepared to vote for any such increase, which would more than double the present strength, 173 when the authorized increase of 15 is effected.

The request will probably be for something like 250, a number which might conceivably be granted in view of the current emergency and the fact that the State's entire National Guard will be in South Carolina undergoing its year of training. Of course, if a Home Guard has been authorized before the legislature meets in January, it might have an adverse effect on any increase in patrol personnel; but that's something nobody can do any safe predicting about at this time.

Coupled with the request for increased personnel will be a somewhat novel idea that there should be in the bill a provision for further automatic increases should registration of vehicles continue to go upward in North Carolina.

No figures on the additional registrations to be required for additional patrolmen have been indicated; but one for every 25,000 in round numbers would appear probable based on the present registration.

This year's registration is likely to go above 630,000, which on a basis of a normal patrol of 250 men probably the top for which there is any expectation) would be in ratio of one patrolman to 25,000 vehicles in round numbers. Hence it is likely that the bill for increasing the patrol would provide that for every increase of 25,000 in registrations another patrolman could be added.
