Berlin-Rome Axis Plans For A Post War Africa

"Africa For Europeans" Will Be New "Monroe Doctrine" Of Axis Powers

Berlin, Sept. 20.—(AP)—"Africa for Europeans" will be the Monroe Doctrine of the axis powers after the Mussolini-von Ribbentrop conversations in Rome, authorized German sources said tonight.

It will depend on how soon Britain capitulates whether or not she will be considered a European power so far as Africa is concerned. This revelation of policy was made when correspondents inquired to what extent Hamburger-Frendblatt, whose Berlin correspondent, known to spend much time in the foreign office, spoke for the government in asserting the axis had expanded its aims to include elimination of Britain from Africa.

On one point the authoritative quarters were particularly emphatic—Europe and Europe alone would determine Africa's fate. Let's leave alone for the moment whether the Britain of the future may be regarded as European.

Increased assaults on Egypt and England will result from the conference.

Egypt through Nazi channels has been advised that her independence will be assured by the axis powers if she does not oppose the present Italian thrust eastward, the success of which is confidently predicted.

Farmer Of Ayden Community Dead

Charles J. Jones, 70, died at his home two miles from Ayden at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Funeral services will be conducted at the home by Rev. J. E. Wooten, at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon followed by interment in the Ayden cemetery.

Mr. Jones was a native of this county and had spent most of his life in the Ayden community. He was the son of the late George Jones and the late Mrs. Sallie Jones.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Vinie Jones, six sons, five daughters, forty-one grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and a sister. The sons are E. C. Herbert, Willie Charles, Elmer and Hubert Jones and the daughters are Mrs. Nora Manning, Mrs. Rosa Woodard, Mrs. Dulciah Manning, Mrs. Sallie Clayton and Miss Thelma Jones, all of Pitt county. The sister is Mrs. Levi Harris of Greenville.

Funeral Held For Mrs. A. P. Turnage

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie E. Turnage, 86, who died at her home near Farmville early last night, were conducted at the home at 3:30 this afternoon followed by burial in Hollywood cemetery at Farmville. Services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Moore, of Whitakers, a cousin of Mrs. Turnage.

Mrs. Turnage was a daughter of the late Joshua and Jane Moore Speight of Greene county. She was married on November 26, 1874, to A. P. Turnage, who died in October 1938, at the age of 89. Mrs. Turnage had lived 66 years in the home in which she died.

Survivors are seven sons, J. R. Turnage of West Durham, M. L. and D. L. Turnage of Greenville, A. C. and L. E. Turnage of Farmville, C. A. Turnage of Washington, N. C. and J. M. Turnage of Richmond, Va., a brother, Jesse Speight of Greenville, and nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

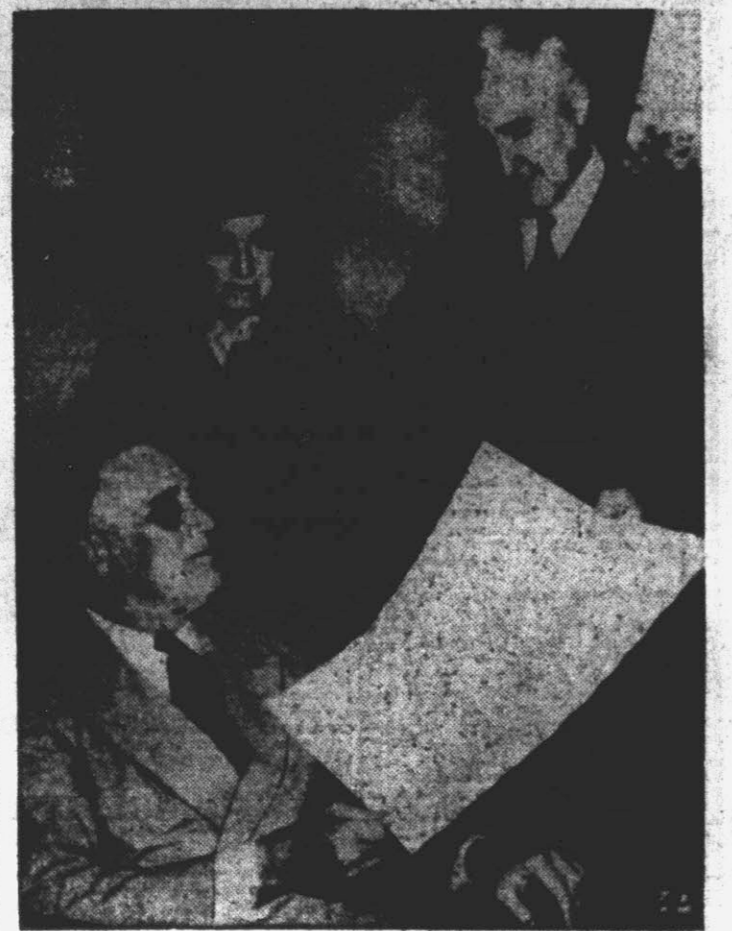

Mrs. Turnage had been a member of Tyson Primitive Baptist church 35 years.

Slight Error

Miss Billie Manly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Manly of Goldsboro, who has made application for entry at East Carolina Teachers College here, was somewhat non-plussed when she received an invitation to become a member of the college Y. M. C. A., and to make the organization the center of her activities when she arrived at the college.

Further investigation revealed that the invitation was the result of her entry on the college records because of her name "Billie" as a young man, rather than a young woman, and she had been booked for quarters in the men's dormitory with a male roommate.

Jones Becomes A Two-Job Man

Jesse H. Jones was sworn in and accepted his commission as secretary of commerce from President Roosevelt in the White House—and so became a two-job man in the New Deal administration. Already he was serving as federal administrator. Behind the President stands Mrs. Jones.

Will Protest Removal Of Passenger Trains

Four-County Group Will Fight To Retain Present Service

Chambers of Commerce and citizens of four counties, Edgecombe, Beaufort, Pitt and Lenoir, will protest removal of Atlantic Coast Line passenger trains in these counties when the petition of the railroad company for such removal is heard before the State Utilities Commission within the next few weeks. Definite decision to fight to retain the trains was reached at a meeting yesterday that ended in the formation of a four-county committee to provide ways and means of carrying on the fight. Citizens of the four counties will be asked to join in the movement and give it their support.

The action of yesterday's meeting was the culmination of a series of conferences that have been held by interested citizens since notice of intention to file the petition was posted on all the railway stations along the line now served by the trains. Favorable action on the petition would remove the passenger trains now operating between Kingston and Rocky Mount and between Parmele and Washington and would leave a number of the towns in the four counties without any railway passenger service whatever.

Interested citizens have pointed out that the removal of the trains would not only affect passenger travel in the territory but would likewise remove present facilities for the receipt of mail and express in this territory.

At yesterday's meeting held in the city hall here, Mayor Wilbur Ormond, of Ayden, was elected chairman of the four county committee. W. T. Kizer, of Greenville was elected secretary, and John H. Coward, of Greenville and Ayden, was elected treasurer. These officers together with the following representatives of the four counties will act as the advisory and steering committee: George M. Fountain, Jr. and Mrs. Mary M. Godfrey, Tarboro; Edmund Harding and A. C. Daniel, Washington; C. W. Howard, T. J. White and Frank Barfield, Kinston; S. C. Ives, Bethel; and M. K. Blount and Hoover Traft, Greenville.

Immediately following yesterday's organization meeting the steering committee went into session to begin to lay plans for waging the necessary fight to retain the trains and announced that a meeting of the full committee would be called at an early date to hear reports and get the fight under way in earnest.

Takes Own Life. Sheriff's officers were called to Swift Creek township last night to the home of Fred Koonce, about 35 who it was found had taken his own life by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun. Koonce was said to have come home in an intoxicated condition, entered the room where his wife and two small children had gone to bed and committed his act of self destruction.

SINO-FRENCH NEGOTIATIONS NEARING END

Crisis Near in French-Indo China Deliberations

SUNDAY NIGHT SET AS DEADLINE

Minister Says Japan Convinced Time-Limit Necessary For Detailed Settlement

Hanoi, French Indo-China, Sept. 20.—(AP)—With all Japanese civilian nationals removed from the French colonial capital and Japan placing a time limit for settlement of her military demands, negotiations with Japan reached a crisis today, if not a breakdown.

Major General Isaku Nishihara, head of the Japanese mission which has been trying to work out details of a Vichy authorized grant of limited facilities for Japanese troops and naval forces, terminated his personal negotiations with the French and prepared to leave Hanoi. "When I leave French territory you may know the crisis has been reached," he said in a final interview with American newspapermen.

He asserted the Japanese attitude did not threaten the colonial territory nor the French sovereignty, but said Japan was convinced the situation demanded that a time limit be set for detailed final settlement.

(At Hongkong, official quarters were said to have given the French until midnight Sunday-Monday to comply with her demands which now include some new secret clauses.)

Fountain Highway Open For Traffic

The Fountain-Palmland highway which has been closed for a little more than three weeks during construction work of resurfacing the road has again been opened to traffic. While there is still another coat of surfacing to be placed on the road, this phase of the work will not be undertaken for about two more weeks and in the meantime the public will be permitted to use the highway. The hardsurfacing of this eight miles of highway will be a great convenience to the traveling public as it offers the shortest route from Fountain to Greenville. Prior to the hardsurfacing of the road there were times during extremely bad weather when the road was impassable.

QUELL PRISON CAMP MUTINY

One Negro Shot In Prison Camp Riot Near Wilmington

Wilmington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A "riot or mutiny" which broke out in a state prison camp located near here this morning was quickly quelled after a Negro prisoner James Page, 20, was shot during a scuffle with a steward, Superintendent Ernest Alken, said.

"When the men went into the dining room to breakfast this morning they started a riot or mutiny. I guess they would call it, walking up and down the tables, kicking the pans and throwing the food off the tables."

When I saw what they were doing I hollered at them for order. They stopped. I ordered them out of door, and they went out. One man, the man who was shot, had a soft drink bottle that we used for vinegar in his hand and he ran across the tables. When he got out in the yard he also picked up a piece of coal and when Steward Jackson went up to him he began to curse Jackson and raised his hand as if to hit him with the coal. Jackson shot at him and the bullet took effect in Page's wrist. Then they tangled as Page tried to get the gun and Jackson shot him again, hitting him in the hip or thigh.

Hospital attaches said Page's condition was satisfactory.

Prison records showed that Page was sentenced in Columbus county May 3 to five years for larceny.

Bar Socialists From N. C. Ballot

Raleigh, Sept. 20.—(AP)—North Carolina election ballots this fall will contain only the names of Democratic and Republican candidates. Raymond Maxwell, secretary of the State Election Board, said today that the Socialist party had filed notice it had Norman Thomas of New York and Maynard C. Krueger of Chicago as candidates for President and vice president, but he repudiated the Socialist party was not a legal party in the state now.

Under the election laws, a party must have had three per cent of the total votes in the preceding election in order to be recognized as a legal party.

ANOTHER FETE FOR GUARDS

Community Sing And Street Dance Next Thursday Night

Local National Guardsmen will come in for another big send-off here next Thursday night in the form of a community sing, parade and street dance in their honor.

The affair is being planned by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the local post of the American Legion. Other organizations will lend a hand to make it a huge success. T. K. Fountain, commander of the American Legion, and W. T. Kizer, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, advised the Jaycees this morning that their organizations could be counted on for 100 per cent cooperation.

Preliminary plans call for the roping off of a section of the business section where the entertainment will be held. The entire citizenry will be asked to attend and take part in the general good time that will be given the soldiers before they leave the city for their year's training at Fort Jackson.

Carolina Man Heads Sanatorium In Utah

Chapel Hill, Sept. 20.—Word has been received at the Alumni office here that Dr. Rufus R. Little, a University graduate of 1928, has accepted a position as superintendent and medical director of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Ogden, Utah. Dr. Little, a native of Greensboro, has been associated with the Rhode Island State Sanatorium for the past several years. After completing the two-year medical course at Chapel Hill, he attended the University of Pennsylvania where he obtained his M. D. in 1932.

Kidnaped Babe Found In Field

Three days after two-year-old Ronald Eumbaugh mysteriously disappeared from his home near Connelville, Pa., an aviator found him in a field and guided his parents and a host of searchers to the spot. He was rushed to a hospital for observation. "The hungry," he cried to his mother, Mrs. Ralph Eumbaugh, "I'm hungry, and a nurse who comforted him. State police decided he was kidnaped and left in the field after three abductor became frightened."

ABLE SPEAKER TO VISIT CITY

Eugene Newsom To Address Merchants At Annual Banquet

M. Eugene Newsom, Durham banker and former president of the North Carolina Merchants Association and past president of Rotary International will deliver the principal address before the Greenville Merchants Association when it holds its annual meeting here Tuesday night, October 8.

Announcement of Newsom's acceptance of the invitation was made by the program committee today following a meeting this morning at which time final preparations for the annual get-together were being made.

The committee expressed pleasure at having secured Mr. Newsom for the occasion as he is a speaker of wide reputation and will bring a worthwhile message to the local association. Mr. Newsom has visited this city on previous occasions and enjoys a host of friends here who will be glad of the opportunity to hear him again.

The committee is counting on a full attendance at the annual banquet including the ladies, and promises a worthwhile program of which Mr. Newsom will be the feature.

Ten Cases Heard City Court Today

Ten cases, involving six whites and three Negroes, were aired in today's term of city court.

Willie Jones, Negro, on trial for larceny, was found guilty and was bound over to Superior court under bond of $200. Willie Jones, on trial on a second charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods, was found guilty and sentenced to 90 days on the roads. Charlie Wright, on trial for larceny and receiving stolen goods with Jones, was acquitted. Willie Jones and Charlie Wright, on trial for the third charge, accused of first degree burglary, were found guilty and bound over to Superior court under bond of $500 each.

J. F. Bright, white, on trial for being drunk, was found guilty and ordered to pay costs of court.

Monte Barnes, Negro, being tried for careless and reckless driving and driving without a license, was found guilty and sentenced to 90 days on the road, suspended upon payment of $10 fine and costs of court. Driver's license not to be issued to the defendant for a period of two years unless damage to Frank Brown's car is paid.

Robert Coggins, white, found guilty of speeding, was fined $10 to apply on costs.

Gene Meeks, white, also found guilty of speeding, was fined $10 to apply on costs.

David C. Moore, white, on trial for speeding, was acquitted.

P. J. Hudson, white, accused of being drunk, was found guilty and sentenced to 30 days on the roads, suspended on payment of costs.

President Declares No Dictator Would Dare Face Free Election

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, speaking today the complete and enduring safety of our form of government, was maintaining free election and added that "the dictator in history has ever dared to run the gauntlet of such an election."

"Yet" he said in an address maximizing the observance of the University of Pennsylvania's 200th anniversary, "there are still, some well-meaning persons who had suggested that the right to vote be denied persons who have lost their jobs and are on relief."

"Only too often in our political history the few at the top have tried to advise or dictate to the many lower down how they should vote. Even today in certain quarters there are, I regret to say, demands for a return of government to the control of those few who because of business ability or political omniscience are supposed to be just a touch above the average of our citizens."

"As in the days of Hamilton, we of our own generation should give them credit for pure intentions and high ideals. Nevertheless, their type of political thinking could easily lead to power and riches and glory—for the great danger is that once the government falls into the hands of a few elite, curtailment or even abolition of free elections might be adopted as a means of keeping them in power."

"As long as periodic free elections survive no set can permanently control our government. In the maintenance of free elections rests the complete and enduring safety of our government."

"No dictator in history has ever dared to run the gauntlet of a really free election."

The chief executive had made a morning inspection of the big Philadelphia navy yard and said he was now convinced the nation is learning to speed its armament construction.

Local Guardsmen Examined Today

Officers and men of the local National Guard unit moved a step nearer to their year of intensive training when officers of the reserve corps arrived in this city to give the guardsmen their final physical examinations before certifying them for duty at Fort Jackson.

The examining staff was composed of First Lieutenants Ralph A. Camardella, Jack G. Lustgarten and William M. Santaniello. The officers arrived in this city this morning from Edenton and expected their task here to require the full day. They have already made examinations of the units at Washington, Kinston, New Bern, and Edenton. Before the examinations actually got under way today one of the officers indicated that judging from the fine appearance of the men composing the local unit there would apparently be few turn-downs as a result of physical defects.

In case the company should lose any of its personnel as a result of the examinations there is already a waiting list of young men seeking to enlist in the battery.

Bomb Scare Brings About Extra Precautions By Police

BOMB MAILED FROM NORFOLK

Two Thousand Extra Police And Detectives Guard President's Route

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—(AP)—This city took elaborate precautions to safeguard President Roosevelt on his inspection tour of defense units as Postmaster Joseph Gallagher warned that a package containing a bomb might have been mailed to one of the plants included in the President's itinerary. Nearly 2,000 police and detectives were assigned to the route mapped for the President.

Tipped that a package containing a time bomb had been mailed from Norfolk, Va., postoffice inspectors segregated all mails from that vicinity. Inspectors from Washington took similar action in Virginia, Delaware and Maryland, said J. H. Johnston, inspector-in-charge at Philadelphia.

"It may be the work of a crank," Gallagher said, "but we are taking no chances."

TO PROBE FIRE BEACH RESORT

Mayor Of Carolina Beach Calls For Full Investigation

Wilmington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—As property owners of Carolina Beach today planned the rebuilding of the business district section of the resort town destroyed early yesterday morning by fire, steps were taken for a thorough investigation into the cause of the fire.

Mayor R. C. Fergus said "We are going to have a thorough investigation into the cause of this fire. I don't know how far we will get into it but we are going to have every available authority in the state look into the matter."

Meanwhile steps were being taken to learn the actual damage estimated yesterday between $800,000 and $1,000,000, and give the resort town a building code which would prohibit erection of such inflammable buildings as some of those burned yesterday.

Prior to the property check this morning Mayor Fergus said he did not believe the actual property damage would exceed $300,000. He said a few days check would show the actual loss.

First Fall Art Exhibit Opening at University

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 20.—The first of several exhibitions to be sponsored by the University of North Carolina Art Department this year opened today in Person Hall and will continue through October 1.

The exhibits will feature candid camera shots from New York and will be supplemented by the work of local candid camera shooters, according to John Alcott, new head of the department.

The Pictures will include character studies, athletics, landscapes, and social comment. Shown simultaneously with this first exhibition will be display of facsimile reproductions of famous drawings and paintings. These constitute the University collection and some loaned by Gene Irwin of the Art Department. Many of these will be rented to students during the year.

The next exhibition will be given sometime in October, the date to be announced later. Mr. Alcott said today that the Art Department may have a new curator this year.

The hour of the exhibition will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. week days and from 2 to 5 p. m. Sundays.

Germans Launch Fourteenth Successful Night Assaults On London

(By The Associated Press)

Indications that Germany and Italy are trying to draw Spain into the war against Britain, with French Morocco and possibly the great rock fortress of Gibraltar as a reward, were reported by foreign observers in Rome today.

The Fascist press bluntly wrote of Spain as a potential ally, lending credit to the report.

By this strategy, it is believed the axis powers hope to gain control of the Mediterranean—probably by storming Gibraltar from the rear through Spain—and thus tighten a blockade stranglehold on the British empire.

German Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Count Ciano, meeting in Rome, also were reported to have discussed a post-war division of Africa and the fate of those African peoples who will have been freed from "British tyranny" as one Rome newspaper phrased it.

London, Sept. 20.—(AP)—London's entire aircraft defenses began roaring their challenge of fire and spluttering steel to German bombers who appeared over the city early tonight to begin their fourteenth consecutive night assaults on the city.

Meanwhile, Berlin reported German raiders striking hard at London and bombing factories, railways and military objects.

A mass assault of 200 German warplanes ran into a cloud hidden ambush of Royal Air Force fighters over the Dover coast today while London's millions, huddled in air raid shelters, read in their morning newspapers a plea for ultimate assistance in the form of ultimate retaliation for the German war assaults.

"Don't worry. They'll get it back," Churchill was quoted as saying gruffly when a crowd demanded reprisals, as he was inspecting some of the bombed homes in London.

British fighters quickly attacked the Nazi aerial armada over Dover and a fierce battle developed high in the skies. Watchers far below cheered as the formation of Royal Air Force defenders came back from the battle reporting that the German raiders had been scattered and sent racing in disorder toward the French coast.

The R. A. F. stepped up the tempo of its assault on the Germans, bombing the Rhineland roads and railway communications and Nazi invasion ports along the channel.

Berlin reported 10 civilians killed in last night's attacks, including three in the ancient university city of Heidelberg. Since the start of the war, the Nazis said 600 German civilians had been killed and 1,400 wounded in the British air raids on Germany. This figure contrasts with about 3,500 British killed and more than 8,000 wounded.

As usual, London suffered the fiercest blows from the German air assaults with Nazi dive bombers taking advantage of moonlight and clouds to strafe the city for the 13th consecutive night. However, the British Air Ministry said the enemy air activity during the night was on a smaller scale and less effective than of late.

Tobacco Prices Stronger Today

Stronger tobacco prices today brought increases of more than $1.00 per hundred over the same grades yesterday, according to R. C. Rankin, local sales supervisor. Prices were said to be firm on all types with the sales showing improvement throughout. The better grades were selling as high as $39.00 per hundred pounds. The market was expected to clear this afternoon and the regular sales schedule to be carried out Monday.

Opera House

Musical and literary entertainment Tuesday evening. The many friends of Mrs. R. R. Cotten will be glad to know that she has consented to give her home people, the citizens of Greenville and Pitt county an opportunity to hear her exquisite poem "The White Doe"—as gracefully yet unaffectedly read by herself. This literary gem is the crown of North Carolina works has been read in many northern cities and in many portions of North Carolina, and has been pronounced a poem of which her state should be proud. We bespeak for her a crowded house. The entertainment will open and close with fine selections of vocal and instrumental music.

Reason for this alert and watchful attitude is the fact that the 1941 General Assembly session is drawing high space and there is a unanimously prevailing opinion that the leaders and thousands of teachers who compose the N. Politicians Keep Weather Eye Cocked On Teachers

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Sept. 20.—Every really astute politician in the state is keeping at least one ear and one eye cocked in the direction of the district meetings of the North Carolina Educational Association, now moving from west to east across the state.

Reason for this alert and watchful attitude is the fact that the 1941 General Assembly session is drawing high space and there is a unanimously prevailing opinion that the leaders and thousands of teachers who compose the N. C. E. A. are doing a little bit more at these district meetings than to "plan and

Donald (better known for his political performances than for his activities as Associate Extension Director at U. N. C.) is a part of the caravan moving toward the coast, isn't allaying their fears in the least. There is a generally held belief that something is being cooked up which will more or less put the 1941 law makers on the well-known hot spot.

The district meetings started this week, with gatherings at Waynesboro, Marion and North Wilkesboro. Today Albemarle is the site, with Guy B. Phillips, head of the department of education at U. N. C., as the principal speaker for the dinner meeting. In every case there is an afternoon session at 3:30 and later an evening session.

On the surface everything is, of course, strictly school and educational business—it's what doesn't come to the top that the politicians are interested in.

Mr. Phillips, State Supt. of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin and Julie B. Warren, executive secretary of the N. C. E. A., are doing the dinner speaking; with S. G. Hawfield, president of the association and ex officio head of its State Planning committee; Dr. Roy W. Morrison of Charlotte, chairman of that group; and Mrs. Ruth Vick Everett, N. C. E. A. secretary, in charge of the afternoon sessions.

The schedule for remaining districts, after today's Albemarle session, follows:

Hickory (Caldwell, Alexander, Irwin, Statesville, Mooresville, Catawba, Newton, Hickory, Rowan, Salisbury, Lincoln, Lincoln, Gaston, Gastonia, King's Mountain, Cleveland, Cherryville, Shelby and Lenoir), September 23, Dr. Erwin, speaker.

High Point (Stokes, Rockingham, Madison, Reidsville, Leaksville, Caswell, Forsyth, Winston-Salem, Guilford, Greensboro, High Point, Alamance, Burlington, Davidson, Lexington, Thomasville, Randolph, Asheboro) September 24, Mr. Warren, speaker.

Henderson (Person, Granville, Oxford, Vance, Warren, Halifax, Roanoke Rapids, Enfield, Weldon, Franklin, Franklinton, Northampton, Nash) September 25, Mr. Phillips, speaker.

Sanford (Orange, Chapel Hill, Durham, Wake, Raleigh, Chatham, Moore, Lee, Sanford, Harnett, Pinehurst, Southern Pines, Wayne, Fremont, Goldsboro), September 26, Mr. Phillips, speaker.

Clinton (Sampson, Clinton, Duplin, Pender, Onslow, New Hanover),

September 27, Mr. Warren, speaker. Lumberton (Scotland, Laurinburg, Lumberton, Robeson, Fairmont, Red Springs, Hoke, Cumberland, Fayetteville, Bladen, Columbus, Brunswick) September 28, Mr. Warren, speaker. New Bern (Pitt, Greenville, Beaufort, Washington, Lenoir, Kinross, Craven, New Bern, Pamlico, Carteret, Greene, Jones), October 1, Dr. Erwin, speaker.

Williamston (Tyrrell, Washington,

YOUR ARMY

A Series Describing the Arms and Services of the Regular Army

THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
If any man to do his best, he has to be well. That's the way it is in civilian life; that's the way it is in the army. Good health and good soldiers go hand in hand. And entrusted with the important job of keeping the army fit is the medical department.

In peace time five per cent of the army's total enlisted strength is engaged in keeping the other 95 per cent hale and hearty. And in time of war the scene of military operations, the medical department constitutes as much as 12 per cent of the total enlisted strength.

Who are these men whose responsibility is as fundamental as feeding, clothing and sheltering the army? They are soldiers, many of them highly-trained technicians who perform the medical services required by the army, under the supervision of medical officers and in conjunction with a corps of graduate army nurses. These services include care of the sick and prevention of disease, operation of clinical laboratories and dispensaries, examination of applicants for enlistment, testing of food supplies for the consumption of military personnel, and a host of other duties requiring technical knowledge and skill. As a whole, the medical department embraces the medical service proper, the dental service, and the veterinary service.

The liberal authorization of non-commissioned officer grades and specialist ratings makes the opportunities for promotion, with attendant increases in pay, exceptionally good in the medical department. Approximately one man in every five is a non-commissioned officer. Privates, first class, account for another twenty-five per cent of the total strength. And specialist ratings disregard forty-five per cent of the personnel would receive higher pay than that of a private.

Upon initial enlistment, young men who have the basic education and aptitude may study in one of the several professional service schools operated by the medical department. The army medical center in Washington D. C. for example, conducts two courses a year to develop X-ray, laboratory, dental, and veterinary technicians.

The medical department offers a rich field of opportunity to any ambitious young man who desires to qualify himself to earn a good livelihood, either in the army or out. The field for study and self-im-

Navy In Need Of Engineer Officers

Raleigh, Sept. 20.—Additional officers are needed for the Civil Engineering Corps Reserve of the U. S. Navy. Col. J. W. Harrison, administrative dean of State College was notified yesterday in a communication from Commander W. M. Agas, public works officer with the Sixth Naval District headquarters in Charleston, S. C. The call is for men interested in national defense work.

Civil engineers accepted cannot be called into active service except with their consent unless a state of war or national emergency exists. Commander Agas explained.

Listed as particularly desirable assets in officers of the Civil Engineering Corps Reserve are "actual field experience, especially on construction, the supervision of construction forces, familiarity with work outside the continental limits of the United States, and training in some branch of the armed forces."

Preliminary applications should be made in letter form addressed to the commandant, Sixth Naval District, U. S. Navy yard at Charleston. These preliminary applications should give a resume of the candidate's experience, briefly describing the nature of his work and the salary received during each engagement. Formal application blanks for commission will be forwarded to candidates whose preliminary applications indicate them to be men of the experience and caliber required.

The last census of Sweden, December 31, 1938, showed 6,310,214 residents, of whom the majority were females.

Cambell College Recipient Of Gift

Buie's Creek, Sept. 20.—D. Rich, wealthy tobaccoist of Winston-Salem who died 16 years ago, recently gave his fourth and last gift to Cambell College, Baptist Junior college here. This bequest came to Cambell on the death of a relative.

Mr. Rich's previous gifts to Cambell have totalled about $222,500 invested in buildings. He has invested $80,000 in the Carrie Rich Memorial Library in memory of his first wife. A donation of $2,500 helped in the construction of the college gym. At his death in 1924 he left $160,000 which the trustees used in erecting the D. Rich Memorial Administration building.

This last bequest, in stocks and bonds valued from $150,000 to $180,000, will probably be applied on endowment.

"Mr. Rich's first gifts, coming when they did, virtually saved our institution," explains President Leslie H. Campbell, son of the founder, the late Dr. J. A. Campbell. "They made possible the transition from the academy stage to the junior college at a time when institutions was becoming increasingly restricted by the growing system of public high schools."

On a visit to Buie's Creek Academy before it grew into Cambell Junior College, Mr. Rich said, "Buie's Creek must live," memorable words that have not only been emblazoned on a bronze memorial tablet in the D. Rich Memorial building, but engraved on the hearts of many alumni and friends of Cambell College. For several years prior to his death, Mr. Rich was treasurer of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. He once told Dr. Campbell, the founder-president: "You're trying to teach poor boys and girls for the Lord's glory, but you don't have enough money for needed buildings and equipment. I can't teach, but the Lord has helped me to make a little money. So if I put up the buildings and you teach them, maybe when we get to heaven, the Lord will let us share in their education." His pastor said of Mr. Rich at his funeral, "It was perhaps not as a business man and upright citizen that he was best known during his 44 years in Winston-Salem, but as a Christian."

Mr. Rich, a poor country boy born in Davie county, started working in a tobacco factory when he was 13 years old at 10 cents a day, as he was early thrown on his own resources. His formal education was limited as there was not a free public high school in the state when he was a boy, and only the well-to-do could afford to seek even a high school education elsewhere. Mr. Rich's philanthropy has embraced churches and Christian schools alike.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

BUT THE MESSAGE ALWAYS COMES

Right in the midst of an interesting broadcast to which we were all listening as we drove along the highway, the words were suddenly smothered and we lost that part of the news for which we had been eagerly waiting. The reason was that we started across a huge steel bridge just as the broadcaster reached the paragraph we all wanted to hear. The bridge absorbed the sound waves and there was practically nothing left for our aerial to pick up.

So it is in our everyday dealing with the unseen spiritual world. The messages are constantly coming from beyond, but we have to hoist an aerial and turn on a receiving set—which is another way of saying that we have to make ourselves spiritually receptive—if we are going to receive the message. And then once in a while we run into temptations, into sorrows which knock our faith galley-west, into well-laid plans that seem to be leading to some fine issue, and the hand of God puts them resolutely aside. Such circumstances are like the huge steel bridge which absorbs the sound waves and leaves us struggling to hear an incoherent broadcast. God's good messages sometime never reach us because the dire circumstances of life absorb them, and our hearts get a faint message which we can with difficulty understand.

LET'S KEEP THE TRAINS

A group of citizens of this section acted wisely yesterday when they decided to take definite action to try to prevent the discontinuance of the Atlantic Coast Line passenger trains operating in this division. The railroad has filed a petition for removal of the trains on the grounds that they are not a paying proposition, but those who will contest the removal counter that the trains are a public necessity and convenience, and that taken as a whole including express, mail and freight haulage, the branch lines in this territory are making money for the railroad, and that the picture should be viewed as a whole rather than on a piecemeal basis whereby the railroads could eliminate necessary services to the public in order that they might gain greater profits from the handling of freight alone.

While it is admitted that the better highways have taken away a lot of the railroads' passenger traffic, it is likewise a fact that had the railroads maintained better schedules more people would have continued to ride the trains. Even with the present poor schedules there are still a number of people who have to depend entirely upon the railroads as their means of travel, and as long as there are people who depend upon them the passenger trains are a necessity. There is likewise the matter of the handling of mail and express and the removal of the trains would hamper business somewhat from this standpoint.

Despite the fact that there are some citizens who might feel that they didn't care if the trains were removed, we believe a careful study of the matter would convince them that our community would be handicapped without these trains, and we urge all our citizens to get behind this fight to retain these trains and give the movement all the support possible.

Reflector Bureau
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 20.—Frank Parker, Federal statistician on duty with the State Department of Agriculture, has come back from Washington proclaiming a new "first" in fact an "only"—for North Carolina.

Mr. Parker points out that this is the only state in the Union which provided township acreages for 1939 crops, furnishing the information to Federal Department of Agriculture officials. He found this out by doing duty on the National Crop Reporting Board at Washington this month.

As a result of this "only" the United States Census Bureau has an ideal check for determining the accuracy of its own enumerations made in April and May of this year. Head Statistician Z. R. Peltier of the Census Bureau's Agricultural division, is greatly pleased with this assistance, Parker says.

As a matter of fact, only a dozen states have the annual farm census surveys, and North Carolina is the only Southern state in the number. It thereby holds a distinct edge in prestige over other states.

"Perhaps the chief advantage to North Carolina farmers is the educational feature," said Mr. Parker. "In general these are subconscious. Farmers have been unaware of the increasing familiarity they have gained due to their sizing up year by year each crop acreage. This, our farmers were really prepared for the 1939 AAA program and due to factual county information for each base year, our growers received a maximum of consideration."

The North Carolina 1939 results, for the 1939 crops, have already been published, and before the U. S. Census Bureau has issued any report at all on its current enumeration for this state.

Information from the State Highway Commission is to the effect that damage to the Blue Ridge Parkway from the torrential rains of several weeks ago is still unrepaired in many sections; despite the fact that the high location of the parkway caused it to suffer less than other low lying highways.

From Adney Gap, 17 miles south of Roanoke, Va., to State Route N. C. 16 the road has been continuously maintained open. Minor washouts along this 125 miles are being repaired by the Public Roads Administration maintenance forces, including a three mile stretch on the northern end where there was considerable slumping.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

Chapter 31
Morning After
"I JUST wanted to pick up some personal things," Constance said, quietly.

She thought, as she put down, robe, slippers and fresh clothing in her bag, that she couldn't very well insult guests by demanding her room. She'd reach an understanding with Donna later.

Stopping at the office, she put her books into the bag, then threaded the crowd that seemed to think she was dressed in a costume, and went up the hill.

Meg was in the kitchen. "Heaven preserve us," she greeted. "What brings you here?"

"May I sleep on the couch in your room? It's a mad-house down here."

"That you can. Had your supper?"

"Constance shook her head. "Peter will be glad of company. Pedro is going down to the party, so it'll be the two of you, alone."

Constance perched on a chair behind the wood stove, heels caught on the top rungs, chin in hand, watching Meg make dumplings for the Irish stew. She was thinking, "If I were the right sort I'd be down there, mixing with the crowd, having a good time... and," she admitted, "managing the cost of every bottle of wine, every sandwich, and worrying over the men not getting to bed so they'd be ready for their work in the morning."

"On my way, Meg," Pedro shouted from the door.

Constance put a finger to her lips as Meg looked from her to the departing Pedro.

Peter Taylor was glad of company. He greeted Constance jovially.

"You certainly stole the show this afternoon," he boomed. "I don't know when I've ever laughed so hard."

"I didn't mean to," said Constance contritely. "And I'm just sick over the lumber people being angry about it—"

"Angry?" cried Taylor. "They're as pleased as punch. Those city cameramen and their empty space while Pancho was trying to climb the Golden Stairs and you were riding horizontal. They'll use every foot of their film, where they'd only use a single shot of the affair that was planned; best advertising in the country."

"Oh," said Constance weakly. "You would try to spoil our fun, if you know I didn't do it on purpose?"

Peter Taylor studied her a moment with wise old eyes. "Rot," he spat. "Any man who'd ever thrown a leg over a saddle would know you didn't have a chance to hold Pancho. They count it a miracle and damn' good horse-manship that you were still on top when Pancho reached the quay."

"And," he added, "don't let anyone tell you differently."

After dinner Pedersen came in and the three of them sat before the fire discussing ranch problems.

"How long is this going to keep on?" Pedersen asked Constance. "Isn't there any way we can control the men?"

"'Queer Biped' mused Taylor. "I could, I mean I could demand they stick to their jobs but," and he shook his head, "we wouldn't have dependable workmen. You see, they didn't want the place turned into a dairy farm in the first place. The... the Cabrillos are indifferent to the success of the place, evidently, and allow Juliano full control. It's what the old reprobate has been wanting."

"But I thought that Miss Cabrillo here was in charge. And she is a Cabrillo."

"No," corrected Taylor. "She isn't. She's a throwback. She's one of these queer bipeds who can't enjoy themselves until all of the bills are paid." He chuckled. "She was in charge as long as the rest of the family didn't care enough about the ranch to interfere."

"But don't let that worry you, Carl," he advised. "A few months of this and I'll own the place."

Constance stood up. "Peter Taylor, you're..."

"Rather I'd play under-cover Michael," she asked.

"No," she returned carefully. "I don't. But you haven't asked me. And I'm going to see this through Good night."

But instead of going to Meg's room she slipped out of the house went down to saddle Pancho and rode out across the ranch. Even here in the hills you could hear echoes of the revelry below, the lights shining as though a bit of the milky way had dropped to splash its scintillating glory on El Cabrillo.

The moon came up as she crossed the summit, and enchantment, lonely enchantment lay over the inner valley.

Only Carozze was at the outdoor post. With faulty Spanish and many gestures, Constance made it clear she intended to sleep in Maria's guest room; and Carozze, candle in hand, led the way and bowed her into it.

Frankie? Oh, he's gone out west somewhere—Pittsburgh, somebody's tellin' me.

The Clemons school had its first P. T. A. meeting a few nights ago. It was a happy meeting of friends of the community who expressed their interest and desire to work in the interest of the betterment of the school and community.

This meeting was helped by the presence of Scout Executive J. B. Taft. Executive Taft gave a very interesting talk on fitting success-fully into the equation of earning and saving for future eventualities. Everyone applauded the speaker and expressed their thanks for the help-ful information given the group.

Fisherman Calls His Shots
Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—A member of Hamilton Herr's fishing party got a strike on a trout but the fish broke the line and escaped with the tackle.

Herr added to the party's disbelief by saying he saw the trout. Nettled by derision, he vowed he would go back the next day and catch it.

He did. He brought in a 19-pound trout with the hook and artificial fly caught in its mouth.

It's what the old reprobate has been wanting."

"But I thought that Miss Cabrillo here was in charge. And she is a Cabrillo."

"No," corrected Taylor. "She isn't. She's a throwback. She's one of these queer bipeds who can't enjoy themselves until all of the bills are paid." He chuckled. "She was in charge as long as the rest of the family didn't care enough about the ranch to interfere."

"But don't let that worry you, Carl," he advised. "A few months of this and I'll own the place."

Constance stood up. "Peter Taylor, you're..."

"Rather I'd play under-cover Michael," she asked.

"No," she returned carefully. "I don't. But you haven't asked me. And I'm going to see this through Good night."

But instead of going to Meg's room she slipped out of the house went down to saddle Pancho and rode out across the ranch. Even here in the hills you could hear echoes of the revelry below, the lights shining as though a bit of the milky way had dropped to splash its scintillating glory on El Cabrillo.

ADD 200 ACRES N. C. NURSERY

Department Anticipates Heavy Demand For Forest Seedlings

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, Sept. 20.—Anticipating a demand for forest seedlings of nearly ten million a year in the very near future, the Department of Conservation and Development has practically tripled acreage of its forest nursery near Clayton in Johnston county, State Forester J. S. Holmes announced today.

Purchase of 200 additional acres of forest land added to the nursery's existing acreage of 100 gives the state a tract of 300 acres for growing nursery stock and for demonstration forest areas.

Some seventy acres of the newly acquired land is cleared, the balance in woodland. For immediate use it is planned to utilize only the cleared land for seedling seed beds. The remainder will be used as demonstration forest, according to Assistant Forester F. H. Claride, in charge of forest management.

Forestry officials are particularly pleased with this additional land since it makes possible expansion of Clayton nursery's production of seedlings to a degree meeting demand for them in North Carolina.

This growing demand has made the present production of 6,500,000 seedlings a year inadequate. Last year the forestry division was forced to return orders for more than 1,000,000 seedlings because demand exceeded supply.

With the additional 200 acres it will be possible to increase seedling production to almost any reasonable figure, Claride believes. He foresees a demand of approximately 10,000,000 within the next few seasons; but points out that it will be possible to grow even more than this figure with the addition to the present nursery area.

any ideas or suggestions as to the best tobacco program.

E. Y. Floyd, head of the Triple-A tobacco extension specialists at State College; and E. G. Moss, assistant director in charge of the Oxford tobacco test farm, have been asked to meet with the tobacco committee.

Mr. Caldwell expressed the opinion that Tar Heel tobacco growers are satisfied with the basic principles of the current program. There will be, he added, several suggestions as to policies which will supplement and tend to make the present program better balanced and more likely to assist in price stabilization.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood.—Looks as if Sterling Hayden, who's been places, is going places. And maybe Errol Flynn had better start moving over now.

Hayden is the slim, broad shouldered, human skyscraper (6 ft. 4) type. He's handsome, but not overly so, and rugged. He has blue eyes, crisp blond hair, 212 pounds—and poise.

It was the poise that did it. Twenty-four years old, he boasts a theatrical background limited to one appearance as a spear-carrier in some show back east. But he's a sailing man, and somebody saw him handling a boat in a heavy blow and he looked exactly like the man in charge, which he was, of both boat and the elements. Somebody said here's a movie bet. The movies need leading men who look like the man in charge.

You'll see him first in "Virginia," in which he makes stately Madeline Carroll look like a little girl in pinafores, and in which he practically dwarfs Fred MacMurray, well over 6 feet himself. How does it come that a youngster who's merely carried a spear, and just once, gets a leading role first time at bat, and in a big picture to boot? Well, that's a chance Paramount and Director E. H. Griffith are taking.

"When you have a prospect like this," says Ned Griffith, "it's foolish to put him through the usual grind of bits and extra stuff. We know this boy has something—we're going to use it now."

A newspaperman, Tom Horgan of Boston, took steps when Sterling Hayden showed up broke in Boston after an ocean voyage. Horgan sent a letter and pictures to Hollywood and Hollywood arranged a test where Griffith put him through a scene from "Anna Christie." Griffith considers "Anna Christie" a difficult test piece—very theatrical, requiring good delivery to make it sound "natural."

Hayden had poise enough to get a contract immediately. They shipped him to Hollywood, and when Griffith started "Virginia," they put Sterling Hayden right with the major leaguers.

He's a native son of Montclair, N. J., but a dozen cities have been his home. He learned sailing up in Maine; took shore leave only long enough to make a pass at a couple of tony schools, but financial difficulties sent him back to sea.

He voyaged on the schooner Pur-tan from New London, Conn., to Balboa Beach, Calif., for 25 cents a month. Took a freight train back. He has done six round trips to the Grand Banks of Newfoundland with a Gloucester fishing crew. He was a fireman on the steamer Florida on 11 round trips to Havana, skipper on the schooner Chiva, mate on the Yankee for a "round-the-world" cruise, navigator on the Gertrude L. Thibaud when it raced the Blue-nose in the International Fisherman's race. He's been practically as many places as Errol Flynn, done practically as much—and shows it. As for pictures, he's taking "an in-poised stride."

"If this is acting," he grins, "it's better than working."

GRANGE NAMES WEED BOARD

Committee Will Recommend Tobacco Policy for Grange

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, Sept. 20.—Harry Caldwell, master of the North Carolina State Grange today announced Paul S. Oliver of Fairmont as chairman of the tobacco committee of the organization for its annual convention at Salisbury, October 23-25.

He characterized the committee as "probably the most important" of all the Grange convention committees.

Members of the group, in addition to the chairman, were announced as: Hubert Lyon, Granville; E. L. Bodenheimer, Forsyth; Charles Everhart, Davidson; M. S. Turner, Columbus; J. V. McWhite, Robeson; Roscoe Herring, Lenoir; and Joe Perkins, Rockingham.

This committee will meet at Salisbury at 8 o'clock on the morning of Thursday, October 24. Caldwell said and will likely remain in session all day.

The Grange head said that the committee will be charged with the task of reporting to the full convention recommendations for a tobacco program and policy of the Grange.

Cooperation and assistance of all North Carolina tobacco growers will be welcomed, the Grange master declared as he issued a hearty invitation to any farmer to appear before the committee in person, or to write its chairman in advance of the convention if possible, giving

Vice Chairman Of Party Calls On Women Of State

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Sadie L. McCain, vice-chairman of the state Democratic committee, has called upon women of the party for an aggressive participation in the current political campaign.

"Let's show the Republicans that we Democrats mean business," she said in closing a letter to all county vice chairmen over the state.

She called attention to two outstanding occasions upon which the feminine hosts of Democracy are expected to rally in the near future and set at least $1 per precinct as goal for a campaign fund drive by the women's organization.

This latter phase may not sound so important, but there are no less than 1,913 precincts in North Carolina, and so at one dollar each this fund would amount to $1,913, not to be sneezed at when considered in the aggregate.

Mrs. McCain was here at Democratic headquarters for only one day this week, but expects to be a regular in the tenth floor quarters of the party from and after next week. She is planning a program which will make her something of a commuter for the next month and a half.

Living in Sanatorium, about seven miles from Aberdeen, she has the very important business of sending three children to graded school to look out for as well as that of being vice chairman of the state committee. Her present intention is to do her traveling to and from her home by rail. (Maybe that item should be marked "adv.")

There are two other McCain offspring, but one has finished college and another is a freshman at Da-vision and so does not have to be washed and dressed and sent off to the schoolhouse every morning.

The two important meetings Mrs. McCain stressed in her letter to the vice-chairmen are (1) National Democratic Women's Day, September 27th, and (2) the state-wide Institute of Government for Women in the Hall of the House here at 12:30 a. m., October 4th.

C. The first she wrote: "We would like for you to have a meeting of your county committee women and others that day if you can. Certainly get at least $1.00 per precinct in your county and forward to me at Democratic headquarters at the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh. Half of the money is to be sent to the National Women's headquarters and the other half is for our own state purposes. This is very important."

Outlining the Institute of Government occasion she pointed out there will be a tea for those attending the Institute at the Governor's mansion from 3 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. McCain also advised her vice chairmen to bear down on the accomplishments of the Administration in the field of relief and employment.

"We are anxious that the women put on educational programs in each county," she said. "Ask your welfare officer for the good her office is doing, also the farm agent. Find out what WPA, PWA and NYA projects have been doing or are doing in your county. Have articles run in your local papers if possible. Who serves luncheon in the schools? How many meals were served last year at centers?"

"We are counting on you in a large way," she said before advising the women to "mean business."

Actually Mrs. McCain is very optimistic over Democratic chances, not only in North Carolina but in the whole country. Optimism is, of course, obligatory upon party campaign workers; but in her case there appears to be more than the usual perfervent prophecy of good luck at the polls.

HOW STATES WILL RESPOND TO FIRST PEACETIME DRAFT

Census experts know approximately how many men will register in each state, how many will be eligible for immediate service (Class One), how many will be in the First Quota, to be filled between mid-November and January, and how many will be in the First Call, about November 15. Phantoms To Meet Windsor To-Nite In Local Stadium

FARLEY'S BOYS BEGIN SEASON

Current Eleven Somewhat Lighter Than '39' Aggregation

By C. B. ROWLETT
Tonight at 8 o'clock in the Guy W. Stadium, the Windsor High boys will attempt to down the Greenville High Flying Green Phantoms in the season curtain raiser and seek revenge upon last season's defeat, at the hands of the Farleymen.

The Green Phantoms of last year a heavier and faster team than the current eleven, trounced the Rebels by a 33-7 score. Windsor's only score coming in the closing minutes of the game on a neat pass play, was made on the Phantom third stringers. With the exception of the line, the 1940 edition of the G-Men is made up of some of these third stringers of last year but the third stringers of last year are playing a much better game at their respective positions than they were last season.

John Spearman, tough and wiry wingback on the Phantom team, will be out of the first game of the season due to a back injury obtained this week in scrimmage. John played last season. He showed his ability as a ball carrier when he outran the entire Edenton eleven for three touchdowns. Leonard Briley, slated to start at blocking back, will probably fill Spearman's shoes for the first game.

This year's Phantom line may be a little lighter but will more than likely be tougher than last season's. John Collins and Larry James regular ends for three seasons will be on the flanks again. Both boys are large but shifty and hard hitters. They will cause opponents much worry this season. At guards will be Paul Scott and Noah Lee Edwards, both lettermen of last year. Paul was regular guard last season and Edwards was alternate.

Eric Dale, tackle, is the only non-letterman on the Phantom line. Eric is a newcomer from Gastonia and is regarded as a hard driving hard hitting tackle. Spencer Carroll, alternate tackle of last season, has won his starting berth at the other tackle. In the past Carroll has gunned up many enemy advances and will probably do so in the future.

H. R. Goodall, the other lineman, will start at center. H. R., a capable man in any line position, will probably continue to play his good game in the center slot.

Of the backs of the current eleven only J. B. Kittrell has played regular in the past. He was a former blocking back but was shifted to fullback to fill the shoes of Marvin Stocks who graduated last spring.

Billy Britt, newcomer from Warsaw has shown up exceptionally well this season and is slated to start in the tailback spot. Hubert Musselwhite will start at the other back position.

A PROFESSOR LEARNS THE WAY OF COWS

Danville, Va.—(AP)—Dr. John R. Hutcheson, director of agricultural extension for Virginia, knows more about cows than many folks who write textbooks—but he is still learning.

"I milked my way through college and at this late date had to be bowled over by an ordinarily gentle cow," mused the director, in a hospital here with a broken collar bone and fractured ankle.

He was trampled on his Halifax county farm when he entered an enclosure to see the cow and her nursing calf.

TAR HEELS SET FOR FIRST FRAY

To Clash With Appalachian Champs at Hill Tomorrow

Chapel Hill, Sept. 20.—Tar Heel coaches, students, and alumni are looking to Saturday's opener with Appalachian's North State champs to tell what's what and who's who at Carolina for 1940.

Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin, and other stars have stood out individually. The veteran first team has also looked good at times, but the squad showing has been spotty and inconsistent. And frankly not even Coach Ray Wolf knows what to expect, and won't know until he sees the Tar Heels under regular game fire.

This uncertainty, plus Appalachian's strength and chance for an upset, only heightened interest today, however, and all signs pointed to a record opening crowd of around 25,000 for the high school day feature.

Over a thousand Appalachian supporters, who are backing their team to pull a "giant-killer," are expected from Boone alone. And the high school day gathering is expected to surpass last year's peak of 17,000.

Governor Clyde Hoey has been invited to speak briefly at half-time exercises. Other events on the day's crowded program include welcoming ceremonies, campus tours, a picnic lunch, and a high school band concert.

The Tar Heels, who were to take their last polishing drill today, are somewhat crippled by last-minute injuries to Stu Richardson, Ike Cooke, and Dick White, and are expected to have their hands full Saturday.

Bumps For The Umps In Brooklyn

The umpire's lot is not a happy one, especially in the precincts of Brooklyn. Umpire George Magerkurth is learning that at first hand. He called Cincinnati runners safe in a 10th inning rally and the Reds beat the Dodgers 4 to 3. This irate Brooklyn fan (on top in both pictures) carried his taunts into action. Umpire Magerkurth, who weighs about 225, is getting his lumps and bumps from the ground looking up. The fighting fan, booked by police as Frank Germano, 200 pounds, was charged with assault.

State Fair To Offer $1,000 To Women Exhibitors

$1,000 will be offered to exhibitors skilled in sewing and cooking at the State Fair here October 8-12. Miss Ruth Current, State Home Demonstration agent at State College and director of the women's division at the Fair, said today.

One of the unusual and outstanding features on the women's program will be a demonstration of how to make a fluffy mattress from home-grown cotton. Members of the home demonstration clubs of Nash, Lenoir, Person, Swain and Wayne counties will show how these mattresses are made, step by step.

"Women's exhibits will contain information valuable to consumers on how to buy sheets, information on thread count and tensile strength, hems and selvages and whether weighting or dressing has been used in making them," Miss Current said.

"These exhibits will offer many excellent workable suggestions for those who have money can buy and for those who have materials and can make at home. Every thrifty homemaker, with her family should see the demonstration on better bedding made of cotton."

The Ayden high school faculty and music from the choral club of that school will be rendered.

All teachers are asked to note the change in date for the meeting and arrange to be present.

Deacon-Cardinal Clash Tomorrow

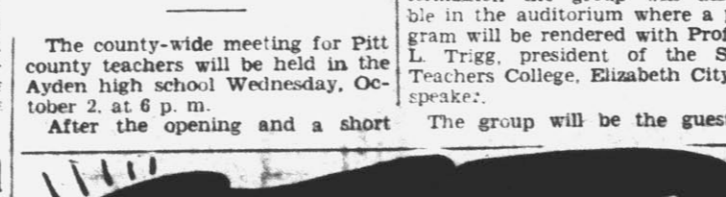

Wake Forest, Sept. 20.—Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in Winston-Salem's municipal stadium, the Deacons of Wake Forest and William Jewell's Cardinals will ring up the curtain on their 1940 grid season in a contest that will be closely watched by fans of this section.

Although this setto won't have any bearing on the Southern Conference or Big Five races, a great deal of interest is centering around it because of the Deac-Tar Heel clash one week hence and the railbirds are desirous of picking up a line on the current Deacons.

While outsiders are talking about the September 28 tilt at Chapel Hill right now Coach Peahead Walker and his Baptist gridiron charges are concentrating on their encounter with the Cardinals tomorrow. It's been the general belief that the Cards were scheduled by Wake Forest as a breather, when in reality exactly the opposite was true. Coach Walker wanted a club before the Tar Heel game that would be tough for his boys—it is his opinion that an easy game in the opener would probably do more harm psychologically.

The William Jewell team captured the Missouri Conference championship three of the past four years and their publicity chief, Jimmy Cary, is making it known that the Cards are strong contenders again this season.

First showing of the 1941 Chevrolet will be made tomorrow at the White Chevrolet Company, East Fifth street, it was announced today by Walter Harrington, secretary-treasurer. The showing will be held in conjunction with the initial nationwide display of this popular low-priced car.

"Car buyers everywhere are going to get a real surprise when they see the new 1941 Chevrolet," Mr. Harrington said. "From the standpoint of beauty, performance, economy, safety, and all-around value, the careful automobile buyer will find it entirely to his liking. The new car has a longer, larger, wider Fisher body, sturdier valve-in-head engine, and an unbelievable beauty." A cordial invitation has been extended by Mr. Harrington to everyone in the Greenville area to come in Saturday and see this remarkable new car.

Quality Chevrolet's showrooms, especially decorated for the announcement day showing, will be open from 7:50 a. m., until 10 p. m.

The last census of New South Wales, in 1938, showed roughly 1,380,000 males and 1,358,000 females.

FRENCH ARE AT WAR MOST OF THE TIME

Basel—(AP)—Of the last 500 years of France's history, 371 have been war years. A Swiss newspaper published the following table:

14th century—43 war years, including such battles as Courtrai, Crecy and Poitiers.

15th—71 war years, including Agincourt, Castillon, Montherle and Gringate.

16th—85 war years (33 civil wars and 27 big battles, including Pavia and St. Quentin).

17th—69 war years (17 civil wars, 39 major battles).

18th—58 war years (7 civil wars, 93 battles).

19th—45 war years (12 civil wars, 52 battles).

In the 20th century the French have already had the first World war, the Moroccan campaign, the second World war.

COULDN'T TRUST HERSELF AND WITH REASON

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Aware of her reputation for absent-mindedness, a Memphis woman let the contractors handle all details of her new home.

Proudly she saw it built. It was half finished the day the real estate agent telephoned her.

"You're building a house on my property," the agent protested.

"No, I'm not," she answered. "I bought the property from you."

"You told me you wanted to buy the land," the agent said, "but you never did anything about it."

"I forgot," she confessed weakly.

FREE WEDDINGS OFFERED SO YOUTH'S WONT STRAY

Charleston, W. Va.—(AP)—If you belong to the Rev. H. Lloyd Parkinson's church, and want to get married, you're in luck. It dismayed the Baptist pastor that so many young couples went to Kentucky for the ceremony. He would like to see them united at home, so he offered to officiate at the marriage of any church member until December 31—free.

READY-MADE ALIBI FOR LATE ARRIVALS

Kankakee, Ill.—(AP)—You've got to carry a couple of watches to keep time in Kankakee.

The city council voted down an ordinance legalizing daylight time, so most merchants and professional men set up their own. One hotel went on daylight time, but its bar remained on standard time to get an extra hour before closing.

The city engineer carries two watches—one (daylight) for schedules of WPA employees, the other (standard) for city street workers.

It's all very confusing.

Kentucky Belle Hadn't Time to Age

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—A soldier and his 19-year-old fiancée asked Deputy Clerk Walter Albers for a marriage license, but Albers turned them down. The girl would have to have her parents' consent, he said.

A couple hours later the soldier reappeared.

"What you here again?" exclaimed Albers.

"Yes, but it's a different girl this time."

"Nothing doing," said the observant Albers. "She's still the 19-year-old who was here this morning."

The Maoris, the aborigines of New Zealand, are divided into 20 tribes, analogous to the Scottish clans.

SPIES GET SMARTER ALL THE TIME

Berne—(AP)—International espionage has found a new way of getting information and the Swiss government has had to issue a decree declaring it unlawful for the duration of the war to insure Swiss factories and properties abroad.

It seems that the prospective customers had to give so much detailed information about the size and location of their properties that this sort of "insurance" was no longer compatible with the interests of national defense.

CRIME FORECASTER USES THE ALMANAC

Asheville, N. C.—(AP)—The population of Asheville's jail, like the tides, is largely controlled by the moon, or so Jailer V. G. Andrews figures.

"Maybe it's the clear nights that bring them out," he says; "but I can consult an almanac and tell months in advance when the jail will be crowded."
