DRAFT BOARDS ARE SELECTED TO SERVE PITT

Choices of Local Recommending Group Are Revealed

GOVERNOR HOEY TO SELECT MEN

Recommendations of Local Groups Expected to Be Followed by Chief Executive, However

Selective Service boards to serve Pitt county, under the compulsory military conscription program were selected at a meeting last night of four local men charged with the task of making recommendations to Governor Hoey.

All though members of the boards are to be named officially by the governor, recommendations made by the local committee are expected to be named. The chief executive called upon the clerks of court, county election chairman, county school superintendents and mayors of principal cities in counties having more than one board to make recommendations. In this county the group was composed of J. F. Harrington, J. H. Harrell, D. H. Conley and Mayor Jack Spain.

Pitt will have two boards, having a population of approximately 63,000, and the county was divided into districts and one board named to each.

District number on includes voting precincts as follows: Greenville, one and two; Farmville, Falkland, Fountain, Beaver Dam, Belvoir, Bethel, Carolina and Pactolus.

District number two includes Greenville three and four, Winterville, Ayden, Chicod numbers one, two, three and four.

Mr. Harrell declared that the two districts have about the same population as figured by the voting strength.

The three-man board for district number one, if the recommendations are followed as is expected, will be composed of J. S. Picklen of Greenville, LeRoy Rollins of Farmville, and W. Jasper Smith of Bethel. The examining physician will be Dr. S. M. Crisp of Greenville and the appeal agent will be R. B. Lee of Greenville.

The board for district number two was named as follows: John R. Carroll of Winterville, L. B. Farris of Greenville, and Dr. M. T. Grizzle of Ayden. The examining physician will be Dr. J. M. Barrett of Greenville and the appeal agent L. G. Cooper, also of Greenville.

Members of the recommending board said that while it was not specified that the appeal agent be a lawyer, they thought it would be more in line with an attorney's experience and that they acted accordingly.

The selective service board will not begin its duties before about mid-November, according to latest advice.

Registration day will be observed on Wednesday, October 16, when all men between the ages of 21 and 36 will be required to register. The various county election machinery has been named as the instrumentality through which the registering will be carried out, but additional help will be required and a number of individuals will be asked to cooperate. No provision has been made for paying the regular election officials or the additional helpers.

Holland Freed On Bond Of $15,000.00

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—(AP)—State Bureau of Investigation agents said today that Ralph Sutton, charged with conspiracy in the death of Ray Goodman Holland in Duplin county, had been freed under $15,000 bond following a habeas corpus hearing last night at Kenansville.

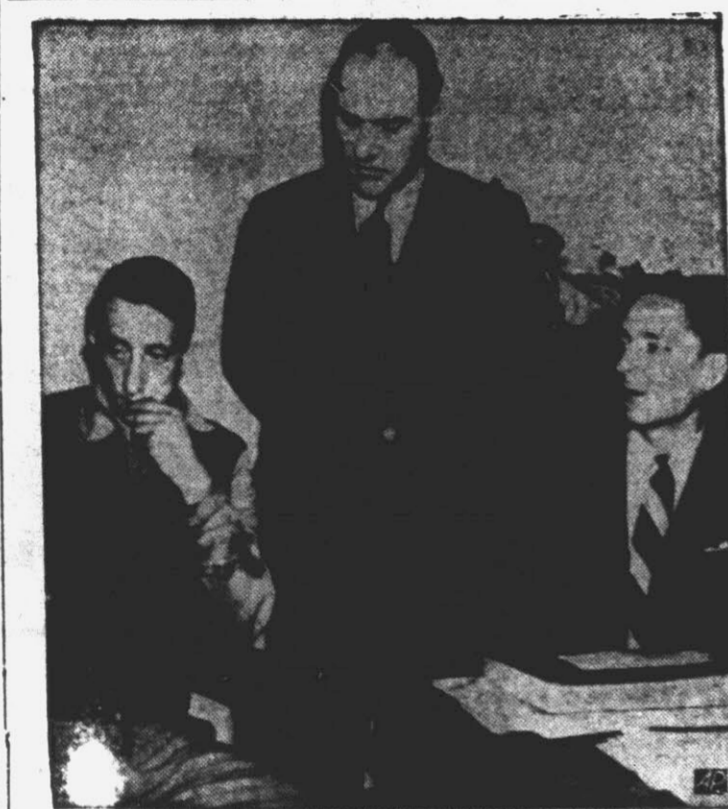

FBI Agent Howard L. Pierce said that the state "refused to show its hand" at the hearing, refused to place Shepreth Holland, who faces death in the gas chamber for the murder, on the stand and agreed to the bond. Superior Court Judge Leo Carr presided.

M. H. Sutton, Duplin miller and father of Ralph Sutton, also is charged with conspiracy and is out of jail under $10,000 bond.

The Suttons were indicted in the alleged killing for insurance of Holland's step-son after the condemned man appeared before the Duplin grand jury last summer. Holland was taken from death row of central prison here to testify at the hearings if needed.

EDITOR HEARD AT CIVIC CLUB

Kiwanians Observe National Newspaper Week

Newspaper men and women were special guests at the regular weekly meeting last night of the Greenville Kiwanis club, at which D. J. Whitchard, Jr., editor and publisher of The Daily Reflector, made the principal address.

During his brief talk the local editor declared that freedom of the press was the most significant liberty enjoyed in this country, adding that without this freedom he did not believe we would have the liberty to worship as we chose, nor would we have freedom of speech and freedom of assembly. He said that with war censorship in effect in Great Britain, this country was the only nation enjoying such freedom.

He pointed out that the press of this country, instead of being permitted to print only prepared statements handed out by government and other officials, was free to go behind the scenes and print what it found.

Mr. Whitchard said he and all other news men disliked such phrases as "the newspaper racket," "the newspaper game" and references to a newspaper as a "gold mine." Instead of being a racket or a game, the local editor declared that the newspaper field was a serious profession, and he added, far from being a gold mine. He pointed out that only about 30 per cent of (Continued on page six)

Two Pitt School Trucks Involved In Accidents

Two Pitt county school buses were involved in accidents on the return trip yesterday afternoon, several students have suffered minor cuts and bruises in one.

The more serious of the two accidents occurred when a Chicod bus started to pull back into the center of a dirt road after having turned out to pass a horse-drawn vehicle. The driver, Paul Buck, lost control of the bus, which was a new one and it crashed into a ditch, smashing the left front. The front of the truck, especially the fender and radiator, was damaged. The driver sustained a wrenched arm and one of the students who received slight injuries required several stitches in the lip.

Declares Treaties Have Failed To Promote Peace

Ulen, Minn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Sen. Charles McNary asserted today that the reciprocal trade treaties had failed to promote peace and benefit agriculture and "have lowered our resistance to an after-war flood of cheap imports."

The Republican nominee for vice president said that a post-war year in desperate need of market would undoubtedly seek to invade the American markets with goods produced at "coolie and peasant wages."

"I do not believe that the New Deal on its record will be capable of defending the farmer or any other American producer against the world trade struggle that lies ahead," the Senator said in his prepared speech.

The New Deal already has our economic borders defenseless because of the reciprocal trade treaties, our trade frontiers are unprotected.

Senator McNary listed tariff revision as the "time-honored realistic constitutional method" by which the nation could arm itself against the predicted trade war.

Upward revision of tariff schedules in 1921. Senator McNary said, "checked the declining spirals of that brief industrial depression."

Why So Many Pessimists? Babson Says: "Get Out Of Declining Industries."

Derry, New Hampshire, Oct. 5.—During the past few weeks I have talked with many directors of manufacturing corporations and National banks as well as with large investors. Most of them are very pessimistic. This probably is the real reason why securities and commodities are selling so low today with business as good as it now is in most lines. Yet, there are certain other groups who are both optimistic and are making money. Why this difference?

The Old Age Vs. Youth Most of these pessimistic directors of corporations are middle-aged men who made their money during the "good old days of the 30's." They worked without government restrictions and had a free hand to do about as they wished, except commit murder. They simply do not know how to work under present conditions. They are not interested in making "small profits." They sink at the idea of paying "heavy taxes." It is still hard "to teach old dogs new tricks."

Chief Executive Expected To Issue Order Within Few Days Revising Regulations Governing Classifications Of Potential Conscripts; Doubtful Third Class Will Be Called To Duty

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is expected within a few days to order automatic deferment from compulsory military service of all eligible men who have dependents.

Much revised regulations governing classification and training under the draft law now are awaiting the President's approval, officials said today, and these provide that potential conscripts claiming apparently valid reasons for deferment shall be placed in a deferred class, virtually without question.

It was explained this procedure was decided upon to give local selective service boards full leeway under the draft laws definition of dependency which members of the selective service committee have criticized as "entirely too strict."

That definition strictly construed would require that to be deferred because of dependents a man would have to show that his earned income was essential to them. Officials contended they could foresee many cases in which the definition, if not interpreted liberally, would work undue hardships.

Under the proposed procedure men with dependents would be placed in class three—class one being formed of men available for immediate service and class two consisting of those in essential employment.

"Because we expect to get all the men the army will require from class one," an official explained, "it is very likely that none of those in class three will ever be called."

Final Rites Held For Rufus Carson

One Man Killed In Another Explosion At Chemical Factory, But Sabotage Not Suspected

Media, Penn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Fire early today swept the Paper Cannister Company, Fernwood, Delaware county, which has been making powder containers for the government.

Three New Jersey men were held for questioning and Fire Chief Harry Straub of East Lansdowne said, "It looks very much like sabotage because the fire spread so quickly."

The plant finished a contract for the British government about a month ago and began working yesterday on a new order from the Picatinny arsenal, Dover, N. J.

Half a dozen firemen were cut by glass, but there were no other casualties.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 5.—(AP)—One man was believed killed and four were hurt in a $100,000 explosion and fire which destroyed three buildings last night at the Commercial Solvents Corporation—a big chemical factory dating from the World war.

Thomas Sankey, 50, was missing after the blast and presumed to be dead. He was working in an alcohol derivatives plant when a 30,000-gallon acetone still blew up and the fire broke out.

Earl J. Wynn, agent in charge of the Indianapolis office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, drove here to investigate. (Continued on Page Six)

PREPARED FOR NAZI INVASION

Last-Minute Preparations Completed For Attempt

Bern, Switzerland, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Neutral as well as British sources tonight placed mounting credence in what at first seemed to be axis-inspired reports that German channel and North sea forces have completed last-minute preparations for invasion of Britain and await only the word "go."

Similar reports from the Mediterranean indicated that Italian forces were all set for a land drive toward Alexandria and Suez and down the Nile valley from Ethiopia.

At the same time Spain was said to be ready for a try to snatch Gibraltar with air and sea aid from Italy and land aid from Germany, despite axis assertions that Spain is remaining non-belligerent.

Travelers from Italy brought reports that German army engineers and specialists and even some German troops had been sent steadily through the Brenner Pass into Italy and across the Mediterranean to Libya to buttress Italian African forces.

Others were reported to have flown to Italian positions on the upper Nile.

Travelers from Germany brought the report that 500 Italian planes and 3,000 Italian fighters, navigators and air gunners now are in German-occupied France and the low countries to help in an attempted invasion of Britain.

Among the recent promotions in the U. S. Army is that of Major Bromfield R. Whitthorne to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Col. and Mrs. Whitthorne, the former Miss Virginia Arthur of Greenville have been at Schofield barracks, Hawaii, for more than three years.

Col. Whitthorne expects to be stationed at Hawaii until June, 1941.

Nazi Source Says Britain Vulnerable

Spokesman Declares Blow Will Be Struck Some Where; Italy Claims New Successes on African Front; Some Observers Believe War May Be Extended To Eastern Mediterranean

By The Associated Press Authoritative sources in Berlin hinted today that Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini had decided upon a definite plan of action against England at their Brenner Pass conference yesterday.

While a German spokesman observed that "England is vulnerable in many places" and that a blow "will be struck somewhere," the Italian press continued to hold the United States for its British sympathies and included the Turks as enemies of the axis powers.

Starting the fifth week of the aerial siege of London, Nazi planes streaked in force across the Kent coast. Fifteen German planes, the British said, had fallen by mid-afternoon.

The Italian high command, reporting on the war in Africa, claimed that speedy Italian columns had routed British tanks and armored car units southeast of Sidi Barrani, Egypt, after days of apparent inactivity on that front.

The German spokesman who commented on the Brenner Pass conference emphasized the fact that Hitler and Mussolini were absolutely alone during part of their three-hour talk.

The same note was struck by Virginia Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, who declared the operations of the axis will now be intensified.

Some observers expressed fear the war might be extended to the eastern Mediterranean since Turkey, like Greece in the past, has now been heretofore by the Italian press. Greece manned her defenses on the Albanian border and Turkey took extraordinary emergency measures.

Stormy wind and wintry clouds had curtailed the war in the air last night, but the Germans were quick to take up their raids today.

For the first time in weeks the British air force let a night pass without forays into Germany or bomb blows at Nazi-held areas. The raids were reported called off because of "extremely unfavorable weather conditions" over the channel and continent.

Lone German bombers attacked scattered targets in southeastern England, the Midlands and Wales and gave London two alarms during the night, but a British communiqué said the raids were on a "restricted scale" and casualties few.

Average For Week Stated At $19.01

Sales on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday totaled 1,403,270 pounds and brought $71,821.69, for an official average of $19.37 per hundred pounds.

For the week ended yesterday offerings of 4,970,542 pounds brought $94,229.40, or an official weekly average of $19.01. This weekly average was approximately $2.50 higher than for the corresponding week a year ago.

Prices on all good tobacco yesterday maintained the high peak reached Thursday, with common and medium grades also holding their own. With tobacco selling at the peak, farmers are advised by warehousemen to sell their good tobacco now.

Gives Concert Here.
Filling the Wright auditorium with her voice at its height and reaching the last rows distinctly with her softest tones, Gladys Swarthout last night delighted one of the largest concert audiences at East Carolina Teachers College in several years. At her best last night, this popular mezzo-soprano gave an enthusiastically received program ranging from a simple presentation for an encore of "Coming Thro' the Rye" to the fish and brilliance of the Spanish "Romance de Solita" of Pittaluga.

Miss Swarthout's beautiful middle and low tones were particularly appealing in her folk-song group, "Passo pel Prat," "Malurous quo' uno fenno," and "Brezalrola," which she told her audience she used for the first time last season. And the dramatic quality for which this singer is noted was marked in many of her numbers—in the aria from one of her famous roles, "Conna-tu le pays," from "Mignon," in an encore from "Carmen," and the ballet fragment from a Pittaluga suite.

As her last encore Miss Swarthout gave a beautiful arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer."

Accompanist for the soloist was Phillip Jeffreys.

This program began the year's series at East Carolina Teachers College. The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, under the leadership of its president, Ramsay Potts, has contributed greatly to the series by helping push the sale of season tickets until it seemed possible to add to the list such a program as the concert last night.

Other numbers in the series are "The Barber of Seville," November 8; Luboshutz and Nemenoff, duopliants, January 17; Allen Jones, popular young tenor, February 14; and Lucille Browning, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan from North Carolina, April 18.

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK OCTOBER 6th TO 12th

Message From President Roosevelt

Women in the role of voters, which is the theme of National Business Women's Week, has received the warmest support of President Roosevelt. He expressed his delight in this choice of subject in a letter to Dr. Minnie L. Maffett, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs which sponsors National Business Women's Week, this year to be observed October 6 to 12.

President Roosevelt's letter follows:

"It is with real pleasure that I send my warm greetings to the members of your organization in connection with National Business Women's Week.

"International events of the past year have moved our thinking and action into lines best aimed to promote our national defense. Along with this has come, I am sure, a deeper realization on the part of all Americans of their responsibilities during these trying times. All of us are making sacrifices to promote a national defense that will insure the utmost protection for the democratic way of life.

"Surely no other responsibility of an American citizen in our democracy is greater than that of choosing our government officials. For that reason, I am delighted that the theme for National Business Women's Week revolves around women in the role of voters. May I wish you success with your undertakings."

THE NATIONAL FEDERATION OF BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUBS, INC.

Governor Hoey Has This To Say

In connection with the observance of National Business Women's Week by the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Mrs. Ruby Day Barfield, state president, has received the following message from Governor Clyde R. Hoey:

"National Business Women's Week will be generally observed throughout the United States from October 6th to 12th, 1940, and I especially call the attention of the people of North Carolina to this observance and ask for a full participation on their part.

"The prominent part which women now occupy in business, industry, and the professions justifies the setting apart of a special week in honor of their service and to dramatize the importance of women to business and the professions.

"It is remarkable to see in the hospitals, professional offices, and in all lines of business activity how the women are not only doing clerical work and filling a very important place as stenographers and bookkeepers, but see just how many have qualified and are serving in positions requiring special preparation in the various clinics and laboratories as well as other places requiring a high degree of technical training.

"North Carolina is very proud of her business and professional women and of the rank which they have taken and the success which they have achieved. So many of them are business women in their own right, and we very happily join with the nation in placing emphasis upon their accomplishments."

MAYOR SPAIN'S PROCLAMATION

Whereas the National Organization of Business and Professional Women's Club was conceived some years ago as a means through which Business and Professional Women could maintain and better their own status in their relationship to their community, state and nation and has gone forward linking its activities with that of humanity as a whole.

And Whereas our local Business and Professional Women's Club, since its organization, has been a moving force in carrying on the ideals of the National Program in our community such as "Effective Democracy"; "Opportunity"; and for 1940 their theme is "Business Women in a Democracy-Vote".

Now, Therefore, I, Jack Spain, Mayor of the City of Greenville do proclaim the dates October 6-12 as National Business and Professional Women's Week. This the 5th day of October, 1940.

JACK SPAIN, MAYOR

We Extend Congratulations To The Greenville Business And Professional Woman's Club

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

LET US SHUN HATE

The world is trying to conduct war and at the same time keep its everyday life on an even keel. This means that the kindly heart is more necessary today than it has ever been. As we read of the bombings we find ourselves glorying in retaliations. The hateful thing about war is that it can, in a year, stir up hatreds which cannot be quieted in a century.

What we need today is not more programs for human betterment; we need more people who know how to be kind and generous. We don't need efficiency nearly so much as we think we do—we need a little more brotherly helpfulness instilled into human relationships.

When we think what men have sacrificed in order to give us modern systems of industry and transportation, it makes us pause in admiration. But how much happier is the world today than it was when people traveled by oxcart? Not a great deal. And the reason is that advantages of that sort make neither the individual nor the race any happier. We are made happier by human kindness, by the gracious giving of oneself to the people and situations round about us.

One of the greatest needs today is to carry a spirit of tenderness and loving appreciation into a world that is fast bursting into the flames of hatred.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Next week is National Fire Prevention Week, so it is well for us to consider the chief causes of most of our fires, for it is only in this way that we can get at the root of our fire troubles.

According to recently compiled information based on questioning of fire chiefs in 225 cities, it was shown that more fires are started by careless smokers than any other source, 43 per cent being attributable to the careless disposal of matches, cigars and cigarettes. The second most frequent cause is "poor house-keeping" on the part of both residential and commercial owners who permit rubbish and waste materials to accumulate in and around their buildings.

Other causes in their order are miscellaneous electrical hazards, such as defective wiring, fuses, short circuits, etc.; fires of undetermined origin; chimney sparks on shingle roofs; defective chimneys; fires resulting from use of gasoline or other inflammable materials, and the careless disposal of hot ashes.

In order that we might really practice fire prevention it is well that we give thought to the above leading causes of fires and then take steps to eliminate such hazards and dangerous practices. The larger part of the millions of dollars of fire loss in this country each year could be eliminated if we really practiced fire prevention throughout the year, and it is certainly a blot against a nation that will permit so much of its resources to be destroyed as a result of carelessness.

Let's enter into Fire Prevention next week with a determination to carry it on from day to day and keep local losses down to a minimum.

Washington Daybook

Washington—Just what the army is up to, the army isn't telling these days. But it certainly has reversed itself by going in for voluntary enlistments in a big way in the face of the impending draft.

The recent order making it possible for young men to enlist for one year, and making those enlistments count on selective service quotas, is exactly opposite to what the army did in the World War. Then it suspended entirely the privilege of voluntary enlistment.

Although it's off-the-record talk, some army officials already have said that the result will be that in many districts, not a single young man will be called on the first call and possibly in some not in the first quota.

A quick survey of the figures will explain why this is a certainty. The first quota between November and January, is 400,000 men. This means approximately one-fourth of total estimated number of registrants from 21 to 35 years old.

In other words, if one young man in your neighborhood enlists, that eliminates 40 from the first quota, and more than one in 200 from the first call due within a few weeks after registration.

red to around here as "daddy of the draft," is that it moves in irregular tides. Today it may take a battalion of police to handle the applicants. Tomorrow, the most persuasive recruiting officer won't get a recruit.

Trouble in World War About one-third of the more than 4,000,000 men in all military forces during the World War enlisted before enlistments were cut off in the closing months of the war. But the trouble was that they came in waves and so upset the selective service mechanism that, before 1918 was well along, army officials had no way of estimating what they would get on a draft call.

This situation, however, did not arise until Class I was nearing exhaustion and probably could not arise under the Burke-Wadsworth bill, unless some need arose for greatly increasing the armed forces beyond a million.

In the meantime, say the sideline experts, the army is going to have a throw at the psychological effect of letting the boys enlist under requirements and for a term of service that are no more stringent than if they waited for their selective service call.

The Greenville Symphonic Chorus today announced the opening of its fourth season. This chorus is one of sixteen choruses of the Eastern Carolina Choral Association, which has its headquarters in Greenville.

The chorus is not a club but a civic institution organized and maintained for the purpose of giving everyone in Greenville and community an opportunity to sing

By united effort the chorus strives to give to the community new life, encouragement and beauty through the tremendous power of good music.

The Greenville Symphonic Chorus is open to anyone who likes to sing. It also welcomes those who think they cannot sing, but would like to learn. There will be special free courses for those just beginning since the chorus is not maintained just for experienced singers. A community cannot depend entirely upon one group, it must be continually training others.

National leaders are urging the communities to organize choruses. They realize the great role music and singing can play in this time of national crisis. Such a chorus already is in Greenville, but it needs the support of all.

Weekly rehearsals are held in the music room of the Sheppard Memorial Library every Monday evening at 7:45 p. m. Mrs. J. Knott Proctor is president; Lewis Sidney Bullock, conductor; Mrs. C. W. Hearne accompanist.

Each enrollee is required to make an allotment of $22 to dependents and is also required to remain in camp for a six-months period with an opportunity to remain two years or until he reaches the age of 23-2 years.

Any boy between the ages of 17 and 23-2 years and is physically and mentally fit is acceptable.

Hoey and Broughton To Address State Session Secretary Says Axis Alliance Aimed At U. S.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey and the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, J. Melville Broughton, will headline the one-day joint conference of county welfare board members, county superintendents of public welfare, and members of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, when officials from all North Carolina counties are expected to be in Raleigh during the Fair week meeting, October 9. The governor and the prospective governor will speak at the luncheon meeting to be held at the Carolina hotel.

Col. Blair of Winston-Salem, chairman of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, will speak at the morning session on the history, development and duties of county welfare boards. Col. Blair is now serving his 49th year as a member of the state board and his 35th year as chairman of the organization. So long connected with the North Carolina welfare program, Col. Blair, more than any one else in the state, is better equipped to give a first-hand and personal knowledge of its subject.

Nathan H. Yellon, director of public assistance and secretary of the State Board of Allotments and Appeal, will discuss the problem of financial administration in public welfare.

College President Discusses Crisis

After extending a welcome to the student body at the regular assembly Friday morning, President Meadows spoke to the group on "Education and the Present Crisis." In giving significance to his term "present crisis," he pointed out the existing conditions in the eastern hemisphere, especially the desire for territorial expansion on the part of Germany, Italy, and Japan; and those in our own Americas, with emphasis on the difficulties of trade relations with South America and the ever present fear of a fifth column which make our position today a dangerous one.

"It is the duty of educators to aid the government in its attempt to meet this crisis," he said, "to see that we are physically fit, that education is not neglected, that full cooperation is given the government defense program through conservation of resources and creation of necessities for carrying out such a program, and that loyalty to our government in spirit and in action is foremost in our minds." Dr. Meadows urged those preparing to be teachers to be loyal to the profession and to continue in it even though other work may well pay better during the emergency, because such a group as the teaching group has an almost immeasurable influence in the life of the country.

President Meadows, who himself served in the army during the war years of 1917-1918 as a volunteer, declared his belief that the boy who stays in college until needed, better fitting himself to support the democracy which has supported him, is just as patriotic as the one serving in the training camp.

Row May Develop Over Adjournment

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Demands that Congress remain in town to deal promptly with foreign policy and defense problems arose today to trouble leaders, hopefully maneuvering for a recess vote Monday or Tuesday.

With the November 5 elections only a month off, however, both Senate and House chiefs appeared confident that an arrangement would be worked out to permit the lawmakers to go home by mid-week.

The pressure to keep the session going a while longer came in part from several Republican representatives who urged immediate action to prevent rulings of the Labor board from affecting defense contracts. Rep. Tabor (R-N.Y.) told the House yesterday that otherwise 30 per cent of the contracts already let might be invalidated.

On the Senate side Senator Clark (D-Mo.) who has urged that Congress stay here as a check against any possible involvement of the country in war, told reporters he would oppose any agreement to suspend business at this time.

He said he would object either to Senate acceptance of a recess until November 18, as Speaker Rayburn of the House suggested, or to a plan for perfunctory sessions every three days with no work to be done.

Sharp Drop Noted In Building Here

Only six building permits were issued at the city clerk's office during the month of September, one of these being for a dwelling house another for a tenant house, one for a hot dog stand, two to put on new roofs and one for replastering and repainting a home.

Beer Ready For Rum Located By Officers

One hundred gallons of beer ready for distillation, a 20-gallon doubler and a 50-gallon condensing barrel were found yesterday by Pitt county ABC officers, but the kettle and worm had been moved from the still site, near Haddock's crossroads.

Alding the ABC officers were Winterville's Chief of Police Jim Buck and Fire Warden C. A. Bowling.

The part of the still found was located on the edge of an open field and officers expressed the belief it had been moved from deeper in the woods so that it would not be found by squirrel hunters.

The parts of the still found were destroyed by dynamite.

College Plays Here Tonight; Highs Lose To Goldsboro

PIRATES PLAY AT SMITH PARK

Local College Team To Try Hand Under Lights

By BURTON DANIELS
 Presbyterian Junior College's football outfit rolled into town just before noon today for their game with the Eastern Carolina Pirates tonight at Guy Smith stadium. They are an unusually husky looking bunch for a Junior College, and will match the Pirates in brawn pound for pound.

Coch Brown of the visiting team had no comment to make on the game other than that his boys would be in there trying every minute. To win this game would mean a successful season for the visitors regardless of the outcome of the rest of their games, and it is no secret that the Scotties as the visiting outfit are called, are gunning for the Junior College crown this fall.

The starting lineups have remained the same, both coaches sticking to the outfits that they mentioned yesterday. The two starting outfits will average about the same in the backfield, with the Pirates having a slight advantage in the forewell.

The Kickoff is at eight o'clock in Guy Smith stadium.

the new census figures show that the population of many of these large cities has actually decreased during the past ten years although the population of the country as a whole has increased about ten million. This has caused certain cities like San Francisco, which has lost thousands because of the C. I. O labor strikes, to demand recounts.

Yet, the smaller cities, from 10,000 to 25,000, have shown good gains. I also found that the business leaders and wage workers of the small communities are usually optimistic. Lead by their loyal local papers, they all are community-minded. Knowing one another, they naturally co-operate. A co-operative community must go ahead both materially and spiritually. And in the long run these two aims must go together—one is the lock, the other the key; one is the hatchet, the other the hand.

Conclusion
 What does all this mean? To me it means that while we are drafting young men for war, we also need them for industry and commerce; that we should sell out the old industries and invest in the new; that we should consider the advantages of the small community when being tempted by the bright lights of the big cities. The great drag upon business today is that the pessimists who are old men engaged in declining industries and who are doing business in taxburdened cities hold the strings to the money bags!

Colonial 1st Choice For House Of Month

This suburban colonial house, designed by Architect Randolph Evans for the Monthly Small House Club of New York City as its October House of the Month, will settle down as naturally in Scarsdale as in Shaker Heights, Forrest Park, or Beverly Hills. It is a most efficient adaptation of the early colonial to modern suburban requirements.

A somewhat larger house than the usual house of the month, it has been designed for the family that requires the usual six rooms with at least three bedrooms. The main portion of the house is not very much off the perfect square which, of course, is the most economical form of house that can be built. The attached garage, which furnishes a bedroom over it, lengthens out the front facade and provides a pleasing break in the roof at a minimum of additional cost.

The living room, with its open wood-burning fireplace, is twenty-two feet long and has light and ventilation on three sides. The open stairs, rising out of the back of the living room, will be welcomed by the interior decorator. There is more than the usual amount of closet space, six closets being provided on

GHS SUFFERS 6 TO 0 DEFEAT

Fourth Quarter Touchdown Gives Quakes Victory

Overpowered throughout the entire game the Flying Green Phantoms of Greenville High School dropped their third game of the season to a heavier and stronger Goldsboro High Eleven, in that city last night.

The first quarter of the game was a punting duel between Collins of Greenville and Bizzell of Goldsboro. A fumble early in the game put the Phantom team with their backs to the wall and that's how they stayed for the remainder of the period. Collins got a slight edge over the enemy booter that first quarter.

The second quarter proved to be an exact opposite of the first period. Early in the period an intercepted Goldsboro pass and a Goldsboro fumble left the Earthquakes in the shadow of their goal posts. Two pass completions by the Quakers late in the second period lifted the ball in midfield as the half-time whistle blew.

The second half began and with it began a Goldsboro power drive that could end only one thing; an enemy score. The local Phantoms managed to hold the Quakers back during the third quarter but a score seemed inevitable. The third quarter ended with the Earthquakes eleven pounding at the promised land.

The fourth quarter came and with it came a Goldsboro score. The first four downs was a nightmare to the local fans with Goldsboro fighting for a score and gaining a first down on the Phantom one-foot marker. From then on it was impossible to stop the encouraged Goldsboro eleven. With only one foot to go and four downs to do it in it was almost impossible to convert an enemy score. It was then that Goldsboro made the only score of the game. A try for the extra point failed.

It seemed to be an off-night for the Phantoms all together. Their successful passing attack which gave opponents trouble for the first two games just couldn't seem to click. Seven aeriels fell to the ground without a single completion. Goldsboro managed to connect for three of eight aeriels, but two of those tosses landed into Phantom arms.

David "Shoeball" McClenny, hard-driving full back for the Quaker eleven, was the mainstay in made continuous plunges through the line and finally drove through for the touchdown.

 Angeles bank. As I sat at the board meeting of the Boston bank, I saw that all the members were engaged in declining industries. One was president of a large anthracite coal hotel; another was high up in the railroad industry; while all were Republicans!

As, however, I sat at the board meeting of the Los Angeles bank, I found an entirely different situation. One of these directors was a very successful oil producer; another was the head of a well-known airplane factory; another was president of a movie company; while the youngest member owned a laboratory devoted to new plastic products. This board was equally divided between Democrats and Republicans!

How Localities Differ

FIRMER ACTION BY RUMANIANS

Steps Taken to Control Foreign-Owned Companies

Bucharest, Rumania, Oct. 5.—(AP)—New steps were taken today to control foreign-owned and managed corporations, including the American Telephone Company.

The new Iron Guard government appointed commissars "to investigate and supervise" the management of the 50 largest companies in Rumania with foreign connections.

Among them is the American-owned and financed Rumanian Telephone Company, which is under charter and already has been required to accept three government-appointed directors.

The Minister of National Economy was empowered to appoint commissars for any other foreign companies he desires.

It was announced that all future dealings in stock of foreign companies may be subject to government approval. Holders of such shares were ordered to register them immediately with the Rumanian government.

Iron Guard inspectors were appointed to supervise and control 20 of the largest Hungarian-managed corporations in Fumania.

Secret police investigating the mass executions of Iron Guards which followed the assassination of Chyrsler Premier Calinescu last year sought evidence to show that British and French influence was behind the death orders.

MEN SAVED BY REFUGEE SHIP

British Children Starred By Commercial Plane

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—British refugee children reported on arrival today that their ship, the Empress of Australia, stopped en route to Canada and rescued the entire crew of the Holland-American liner Volendam, which, they said, had either been torpedoed or had struck a magnetic mine.

The children said they did not know what had happened to passengers, if any, aboard the Volendam.

The rescued crew, the children said, were left at Halifax, where the Empress of Australia docked. The children went by train to Montreal, and from there to New York.

Escorts accompanying the 107 young refugees remarked that the children had withstood a "punishing" journey of three weeks from England.

Today's contingent of youngsters probably will be the last organized group to sail from England to America until the Atlantic crossing is deemed safer.

The children were so distraught today that a group of the younger ones scurried to bushes for shelter when a commercial air liner zoomed overhead.

Terrified at the approach of the giant ship, the youngsters relaxed only when the older refugees recalled that they were in the United States—not England.

EXPLOSION AT PLANT BLAMED ON SABOTAGE

Maynard Wheeler, the corporation's Terre Haute production manager, said, however, he did not suspect sabotage. He said the firm was "not concerned directly with any work in the national defense program." He estimated loss at about $100,000.

Editor Heard At Clive Club

The finished product was revenue producing.

He declared that to be a good editor one had to be fearless. While no editor desires to hurt anyone and always is hesitant to write any thing that would injure any individual, he declared it was a poor newspaper man who would not do his duty even if it required the hurting of one for the good of many.

The speaker was presented by M.

K. Blount, who declared that Mr. Whichard, who had joined in practically every worthwhile movement for Greenville for years, needed no introduction to a Greenville audience.

The program was arranged by the Publicity committee headed by D. D. Moore, jr. Special music was provided by Ed Conway, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Edna Moore.

The occasion of the special program was in observance of National Newspaper Week and the meeting was attended by representatives from The Daily Reflector, The New Leader, the College paper, Tece Echo, the high school paper, Green Lights, and correspondents of various state papers.
