Willkie Pleads For Farm And Factory Cooperation

M'NARY ASSAILS FARM PROGRAM

Sen. Norris, On Other Hand, Says New Deal Has Done Much To Help American Agriculture

By The Associated Press Wendell L. Willkie made a plea today for farm and factory cooperation, as his running mate, Senator Charles L. McNary, attacked the administration's handling problem and Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) upheld it.

Willkie, campaigning in Ohio, said in a talk prepared for delivery at Mansfield that prosperity for the farmer is related directly to prosperity for the industrial worker.

"The tragic fallacy of that New Deal economy is that scarcity is maintained in the midst of potential abundance," Willkie said.

Norris spoke from Washington last night in a broadcast under auspices of the National Committee of Independent Voters for Roosevelt and Wallace, of which he is honorary chairman.

He said that no other administration "has done so much to help and preserve agriculture as has his administration under the wise guidance of President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace."

Senator McNary, the Republican vice presidential nominee, charged in an address at Hutchinson, Kans., that the Roosevelt administration dodged the farm problem.

"Since 1933," he said, "fifteen farm bills have become law, billions of dollars of public money have been expended. The New Deal has tried to buy its way out of trouble. He advocated a two-prong system for crops, with exportable surpluses.

Nine Enlisted In US Army Tuesday

Nine young men made applications for enlistment in the United States army here yesterday, when the Mobile Recruiting Service working out of Wilson visited this city under the command of Sergeant Clifford C. Floyd, assisted by Sergeant Charles G. Marshall.

The Greenville recruiting office was closed a short while ago and an announcement has been made regarding the possibility of reopening one even though a record number of enlistments were effected during the several months the office was maintained here.

The nine men making applications yesterday were Arthur S. Wayne, Ayden, route two; Willie L. Walston, Greenville, route one; William C. Tripp, Griffon, route two; Thomas Gray, Greenville, route five; R. Toler, Washington, route three; Robert M. Harrison, Williamson, route two; Ben D. Sutton, Grimesland, route two; Harvey L. Stalls, Oak City, route one; Thurman Stalls, Oak City, route one.

The U. S. Army Recruiting station located in the post office building at Wilson has an unlimited number of vacancies at Fort Bragg for the medical department quartermaster corps and Sixth Field Artillery. Office hours of this station are from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m., daily, except Sunday.

Party Rally

A county-wide democratic rally, for which plans have been completed, will be held in the Pitt county court house Monday night beginning at 8 o'clock, with Governor-Nominee J. M. Broughton as the principal speaker.

Herbert C. Bonner, who will assume the First Congressional District seat in Congress on November 1, succeeding Rep. Warren, also will be here and appear on the program.

All county candidates will be present and introduced. Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, will preside over the meeting.

President Asserts Nation Is Preparing For Peace In Registration Day Address

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Dr. William P. Few

Had Been President Since November 10, 1910

Dr. William P. Few, 72-year-old president of Duke University, died at Duke hospital at 7 a. m., today, after a heart attack a week ago.

Dr. Few succeeded the late John C. Kilgo as president of Trinity college November 10, 1910, before the wealthy Duke family endowed the Methodist institution, making it the southeast's largest privately endowed university.

He was a native of Greer, S. C., and went to Trinity in 1896 as professor of English and was promoted to dean in 1902. He was graduated from Wofford college, Spartanburg, S. C., and at Harvard university he received the degrees of master of arts and doctor of philosophy. He received numerous honorary degrees.

Dr. Few was an active lay leader in the Methodist church in the south and held several high church offices.

Survivors included his widow, the former Miss Beamy Thomas, and four sons, William P. Few, Jr., of Cleveland, O., Lynne and Kendrick Few of Boston, Mass., and Randolph Few of Durham.

MORE POWERS FOR PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Assumes Control Over All Defense Needs

Washington, Oct. 16. — (AP) — President Roosevelt today assumed full control over the sale or export of raw and manufactured products vital to the national defense program, after invoking the government's power to requisition any equipment, munitions, machinery, tools, materials or supplies needed to prepare the nation for any emergency.

In an executive order the President ordered the army and navy munitions board late yesterday to make an immediate survey to determine the necessity for requisitioning any of the items deemed necessary for national defense purposes.

The board was authorized at the same time to determine whether it is in the public interest to sell or otherwise dispose of any of the articles or materials requisitioned.

The President's action was considered very far-reaching and significant. Defense experts said that under that authority the United States could regain possession of many war materials, equipment and supplies already sold, but not yet shipped to foreign countries and then either retain them or dispose of them to other foreign countries or individuals.

District Masonic Meeting Is Held

Wilson, Oct. 16.—At the regular fall district meeting held here Monday night Marvin Etheridge of Wilson was elected district counselor of the 17th district of the Junior Order, according to John Hill Paylor of Farmville, who has served as district counselor during the past year.

Approximately fifty members representing all of the councils in Greene, Pitt, Lenoir and Wayne counties gathered here for the meeting.

Speakers on the afternoon and night's program included J. L. White, State Councilor, Clyde L. Stancill, state vice councilor, Forrest G. Shearin, state secretary, Roland A. Gray, past state councilor, W. M. Shuford, superintendent Lexington Children's Home, Rev. Dan W. Allen of Lexington, S. H. Williams field secretary and others.

Officers elected for the coming year were as follows: District Junior Past Councilor John Hill Paylor of Farmville, District Councilor Marvin Etheridge of Wilson, Dis-

Taken By Death

Dr. William P. Few, president of Duke university since 1910, died of a heart attack suffered a week ago. He had been at the college since 1902, when he went there as professor of English.

MARINE BAND TO BE IN N.C.

To Climax Tour Of State At Appearance In Raleigh

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Oct. 16.—The United States Marine Band will climax its tour of North Carolina by its first appearance in the state's capital in two decades.

"The President's Own" will play twice in the Memorial Auditorium here on Wednesday, October 23; the afternoon concert especially for school children.

The band will play in four other North Carolina cities on its tour—Fayetteville, Charlotte, Chapel Hill (exclusively for students with no outside ticket sale) and Winston-Salem.

Under direction of Captain William F. Santelmann, whose father once held the same post, the band is for the first time in its history playing a program exclusively of music by American composers. It has been credited for half a century with beating the tempo for the American heart, and its sponsors declare it has never done so more wholeheartedly than in the current emergency.

Its Raleigh appearances will be under auspices of Raleigh Post No. 1, American Legion.

The band has a history almost as long as the country itself. It was organized under an act of Congress signed by John Adams on July 11, 1798. It has played at every inaugural ceremony since that of Thomas Jefferson.

Every President, save Washington has called upon it to perform at White House functions.

It has performed at all important weddings in the White House, including those of Nellie Grant and Alice Roosevelt.

With a history of which it is proud, the band occupies a warm position in the affections not only of official Washington, but in the hearts of Americans everywhere.

Funeral Held For Vanceboro Citizen

Funeral services for Stephen E. Kite, 83, who died at his home near Vanceboro, were conducted from the late residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Duff Toler. Interment followed in the family cemetery.

Mr. Kite was born in Craven county and for the past 28 years had made his home in this community. He is survived by six sons, S. D. Bonnie, Steve, Jesse, Eddie and Lacey, all of Vanceboro, R. F. D.; three daughters, Mrs. Jim Lancaester of Ayden and Mrs. C. O. Lewis and Mrs. C. O. Lewis of Womoc, Mrs. G. W. Kirkman of Vanceboro, R. F. D.

Young Manhood Of America Registers For Military Service For Second Time Within Life Of Most Citizens; Sons Of Veterans And Even Some Veterans Step Into Line

By The Associated Press For the second time in the life of most Americans, the young manhood of the nation registered en masse today for military service.

"It is a day of deep and purposeful meaning in the lives of all of us," President Roosevelt said in a brief early morning address prepared for delivery as registration places across the country were opening for a 14-hour day.

Millions of men who answered the same call 23 years ago last June 5 saw their sons step into line for registration at election precincts.

Even some veterans of the AEF retraced their steps after nearly a quarter of a century to enroll again. From the pool of 16,404,000 registering today Selective Service officials expected to draw 5,000,000 men ready and able to undergo military training in the next four and a half years—nearly 750,000 more than were mobilized to fight the war of 1917 and 1918.

Where some 12,000,000 men from 21 through 30 registered for the first draft in 1917, those from 21 through 35 are registering today.

The President made another distinction, too, between this call and that of 1917 when he stated in his message:

"We prepare to keep the peace in this new world x x x. It is a program obviously of defensive preparation and of defensive preparation only."

To the 16,404,000 approaching a new experience for America—peace-time conscription the President's words were:

"Democracy is your cause—the cause of youth. Your act today affirms not only your loyalty to your country, but your will to build your future for yourselves."

The message from Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee was this:

"You are registering one more chance for freedom—your chance for freedom. He pledged his effort to 'release' the power of American industry to arm the young men who may be called to duty."

By The Associated Press At the estimated rate of 1,250,000 an hour America's young men signed up today for possible service in the nation's first peace-time draft army.

Reports going into Washington from state capitals, which in turn had gathered them from every city town and rural district, prompted selective service headquarters to announce that the whole vast registration machinery was "clipping along smoothly."

In fact officials said that if registrations continued all day at their noon estimate of 1,250,000 hourly the expected national total of 16,404,000 registrants of ages 21 to 36 would be reached before the closing hour of 9 o'clock tonight.

Pitt Duke Alumni To Meet Tonight

The annual meeting of the Pitt County Duke Alumni Association will be held tonight at 7:15 o'clock in the Parish House of the Episcopal church.

The principal address will be delivered by W. T. Laprade of the Duke faculty.

Reynolds May, president of the Association, has charge of the program and other arrangements for the meeting and is urging all Duke alumni to attend.

Holiday Spirit Noted On Registration Day

A holiday spirit prevailed in Greenville today—Registration Day—and numerous business places and offices were closed.

Balkans Fear Spread Of European War

Reported Russian military activity along the Rumanian frontier (1) as Germans moved into Rumania has caused the Balkan nations to become jittery. Turkey (2) appeared defiant of Germany and hopeful of Russian support in event of war. Turks foresaw three possible German advances indicated by arrows: Toward Egypt (3) or toward the Dardanelles or the Black sea. In the Mediterranean Italy claimed a naval victory at Malta (A), including the sinking of a British cruiser, and reported British raids had killed at least 24 persons in the Dodecanese islands.

BRITISH TRAIN HIT BY BOMBER

Three Hundred Troops Feared Dead Or Wounded

By The Associated Press The Germans announced a dive bomber attacked an English transport train today, killing or wounding at least 300 persons when the locomotive and first six cars plunged over an embankment.

Informed quarters in Berlin, describing the attack, said the rest of the train was torn apart.

Meanwhile the London Admiralty announced that British warships bombarded the Nazi-held "invasion port" of Dunkerque on the French coast last night, setting giant fires and causing "much damage."

German aerial activity during the day slowed down to sporadic attacks after an almost unprecedented night of terror for the bomb-scarred British capital.

Nazi files said they observed firing throughout an area of London 48 to 60 miles wide and they described London as "a great sea of flames."

The London Ministry of Information admitted the night raids were "of a heavy nature," but said the damage was "not as great as that done in raids in early September—raids which took a daily death toll of 300 to 400 victims."

Warren Is Hailed By Fellow Solon

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Election of Rep. Lindsay C. Warren to the post of Comptroller General fulfilled a prophecy made about him a number of years ago by a fellow member of the House from Maryland.

Paying tribute to Warren, who leaves his congressional post at the end of this month to assume his new duties, Rep. Cole (D-Md.) said: "It has been my privilege to come pretty close to Lindsay not only because of our long service together in the House, but because for several sessions we lived under the same roof in Washington."

"I marked him from the very first as a future leader and it is no surprise to me to see him develop in the fashion he has."

Strike Is Called By Tunnel Miners

Andrews, N. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Six hundred members of Tunnel Miners, local number 635 of the American Federation of Labor went on strike here today in response to a call issued last night.

The men are engaged in work on the Nantahala dam being built by the Utah Construction Company of Ogden, Utah, as part of a development by the Aluminum Company of America.

Entrances to the project were picketed. No disturbance developed during the first hours of the strike.

Thousands Registered Throughout Pitt Today

Big Task Carried Out With Cooperation Of Public

If aggressor nations could get a composite picture of what took place in Greenville, Pitt county and throughout the state and nation today, they probably would have a great deal more respect for this country.

Registrars throughout Pitt county were rushed with persons waiting to register under the Selective Service program as the various places opened at 7 o'clock and in some places it required approximately an hour to wait in line and register during the early morning rush.

Additional help was called in however, and soon the registrars practically caught up with the task and registration continued at a steady pace throughout the day.

It was estimated that 8,200 persons living in Pitt county were between the ages of 21 and 36 and were required to register. Reports from the various registering places indicated that there were equally that many and possibly more. Requests for more registration cards came in from several places.

J. H. Harrell, chairman of the County Board of Elections, whose organization was charged with the task of registering the men, declared that everything went off in an orderly manner.

He expressed his appreciation for the cooperation shown by various business firms and individuals in offering to help with the gigantic task. He said that without this cooperation it would have been impossible to have carried out the job.

Mr. Harrell said there were rush periods at all registering places, but added that for the most part the work went on at a steady pace throughout the day.

Four Cases Aired During Afternoon

Four cases were disposed of at the afternoon session of Pitt recorder's court yesterday afternoon, making a total of 17 tried during the regular Tuesday session.

No county court will be held for the next two weeks, one week each of civil and criminal Superior court being scheduled.

Two of the cases tried yesterday afternoon involved charges of driving drunk, one of driving carelessly and recklessly and while the defendant's license was revoked. The fourth case involved a charge of abandonment and non-support.

D. H. Smith, white, and Quinn Reeves, colored, were the two convicted of driving drunk and the usual sentence of $50 fine, and costs and license revoked 12 months was meted out in each case. Smith appealed from the conviction and bond of $200 was set for his appearance in Superior court.

Edgar Warren, white, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving drunk. (Continued on page six)

200 EXPECTED AT MEET HERE

Regional Garden Club Gathering Set For Friday

Some 200 garden club members from this region will convene at the Municipal Building Friday morning at 10 o'clock for the annual North Coastal Plain Regional meeting being held under the auspices of the Greenville Garden club.

Principal speakers for the occasion are Mrs. J. Buren Sidbury of Wilmington, State Garden club president, and Mrs. J. R. Bennett of Rocky Mount, North Coastal Plain director.

Mrs. R. M. Garrett, president of the Greenville Garden club, has urged all members of the local club to be at the Municipal building by 10 o'clock to receive the guests.

In announcing the meeting Mrs. Garrett declared, "Our regional meeting will take the place of the regular October meeting. All committees working on the preparations for the meeting have worked hard and untiringly and all plans are now completed. To members of the club who have not served on a committee, please give the committee your support so that their plans may be carried out successfully."

Merchants are cooperating with the Greenville Garden club to make the meeting a success.

The business session of the program will be held in the auditorium of the Municipal building. Luncheon for the local club members and visitors will be served at the Woman's club.

38 Cases Are Set On Civil Calendar

Thirty-eight cases are listed for trial at the civil session of Pitt Superior court which convenes here Monday morning with Judge Thompson of Elizabeth City presiding. The civil session will be followed by a week of criminal court.

Fourteen of the 38 cases listed on the civil calendar are divorce cases none of which are expected to be contested.

One case, set for Tuesday morning, is that of Mrs. Rena Warren of Bethel, who is seeking to collect double indemnity for the death of her son who was killed by Willie Tate, Negro who has been executed for the crime.

This will mark the fifth time the case has been tried in Superior court here. It has been sent back for trial three times by the State Supreme court and a mistrial was declared once in Superior court.

Explosives Are Loosed On Capital Last Night

Germans Compare Terrific Assaults As Zephyr To What Is To Come; Many Feared Killed When School House Used As Air Raid Shelter Bombed; Turkey And Russia May Seek Stop Axis

(By The Associated Press) Nazi quarters in Berlin threatened a triple force—"typhoon stage" to the aerial siege of Britain today after an armada of 1,000 German bombers reportedly dropped 1,000 tons of bombs on London during the night and left the British capital a scene of "indescribable chaos."

Even that terrific assault was only a "zephyr" compared to the storm ahead, the Germans said.

London dispatches said diving Nazi warplanes machine-gunned the streets and dropped the biggest explosives yet rained on the capital.

German airmen returning from the dusk-to-dawn assault told of "deafening detonations, terrific concussion, skies reddened by great fires."

Many were feared killed and wounded in the smashing of a two-story London school house used as an air raid shelter. The building, hit squarely by two huge bombs, was leveled.

Fire and oil bombs started countless fires throughout the metropolitan area and Germans said they have razed the wreckage of Warsaw, Rotterdam and Dunkerque.

Hitler's high command, complaining angrily that British bombers were "planlessly attacking non-military targets" and thus primarily against the German civilian population, said retaliatory attacks on London "therefore were considerably increased."

One bomb exploded near a shelter under a building in which 110 persons had taken refuge for the night. By mid-morning rescue crews had taken out seven dead and many wounded.

Amid this intensified Nazi onslaught the critical situation in the Balkans grew rapidly darker.

Reports that Turkey and Soviet Russia are near agreement on a "stop the axis" military alliance spread through Balkan capitals and the Turkish press declared bluntly that neither Turkey nor her "close friend" Greece could be "intimidated" by Germany or anybody else.

Massed thousands of German and Soviet Red troops faced each other across the Danube river near the Rumanian port of Galati, poised for action in what may develop into a titanic struggle on continental Europe.

Robeson WPA Project. Raleigh, Oct. 16.—(AP)—C. C. McGinnis, state WPA administrator, announced today approval of six WPA projects. They included: Robeson county, improve Maxton water system, $21,611 and 39 workers.

New Jersey voters legalized pari-mutuel horse race betting machines June 20, 1939.

Social and Personal

Social Calendar

Mrs. Kenneth Gallup has returned to her home in Rocky Mount, after visiting friends in Greenville.

Mrs. Spell, Mrs. Gus Roebuck and Mrs. D. R. Morgan of Farmville were here yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins went to Raleigh this morning to spend the day.

Mrs. I. B. McCormick, Mrs. Gertrude Taylor and Mrs. Catherine Marshall are spending today and Thursday in Richmond.

Mrs. W. R. Willis of Farmville spent Tuesday in Greenville.

A. C. E. Meeting.
There will be an A. C. E. meeting on Saturday at 2 p. m. in Sheppard Memorial Library. All members are urged to be present.

Birth Announcement.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Davis of Farmville, a daughter, Barbara Lynn, on Monday, October 14, 1940. Mrs. Davis was formerly Miss Louise Tubbs of this city.

Birth Announcement.
Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Edwards announce the birth of a son, Robert Leon, on Monday, October 14, 1940, in Pitt General Hospital. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Dorothy Ray Tyson.

Methodist Choir to Meet.
The choir of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will meet for rehearsal on Thursday night at 7:30 at the church.

Zone Meeting.
The women of the Central Zone will meet in Ayden at the Methodist Church on Friday morning, October 18, at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Gertrude Matthews of New Bern district secretary, will be present. Miss Elizabeth Pittsworth, student worker at East Carolina Teachers College, will give the noon-day devotional and inspirational talk. All the Methodist women of the Central Zone are cordially invited to attend. The meeting will close with lunch at 1 o'clock, which will be furnished by the Ayden Methodist Society of Christian Service.

To Speak in Rocky Mount.
Dr. Leon R. Meadows will attend a meeting Thursday of the Interracial Commission, in Rocky Mount, and will speak on the topic of "Housing."

Dr. Meadows has been a member of the commission for a number of years and has taken an active part in its work.

Grimsland P. T. A. Meets.
The Grimsland P. T. A. met Tuesday night, October 15. Mrs. G. F. Carr, our newly-elected president, presided over the meeting. The theme of our meeting was "A school that holds its pupils." Talks along this line were made by several of the teachers. At the conclusion of the program, Miss Vaughan, the home economics teacher, assisted by several of her students, served punch.

Attend Meeting in Raleigh.
Two members of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty, Miss Mable Graham and Professor R. O. Deal, were speakers last night at the meeting of the Raleigh chapter of the alumni of the college. Miss Graham spoke of changes at the college and told of the activities of the older faculty members known to those present.

Mr. Deal talked on the topic "Now and Then," bringing out the changes on the E. C. T. C. campus in the past ten or fifteen years that would be most striking to one who had been out of college that length of time.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. R. F. Noble, president of the chapter. Over 50 E. C. T. C. alumni were present.

Chio Book Club.
The Chio Club met Tuesday afternoon at the attractive home of Mrs. James Johnston.
After a brief business session, Mrs. Bill Wheeler gave a most interesting paper, "Fascism versus Democracy."

Fascism was founded by Benito Mussolini in Italy just after the World war. His followers, mostly Nationalists and ex-combatants of the World war enabled Fascism to become the government of the country after their famous march on Rome against the Reds.

Although party and government are separate, the connection between the two is very close, and Signor Mussolini is at once the head of the government and the leader of the party.
In the Fascist state it is the welfare of the government rather than the welfare of the individual that is of supreme importance. As Thomas Mann so ably said about Fascism and all the other "isms": "Their chief attraction is the novelty and it is only by rediscovering itself that Democracy can compete with this popular appeal of something new."
The two things that can be said about Democracy which will for all time distinguish it from all novel and popular "isms" are: First, it is chiefly concerned with the freedom and welfare of the individual citizen rather than the state; and second, it is as Abraham Lincoln said, "A government of the people, for the people, and by the people which should not perish from this earth."
At the conclusion of the program the hosts served a delicious salad course with coffee.

GREENVILLE HI NEWS

By SIDNEY JOHNSON

Student Council.
Fenner Corbett, Janet Gower, Jack Edwards and James Briley were elected by the council to act as their official delegates to the State Student Council convention last night at the student council meeting.

Whether Fenner Corbett will be allowed to represent the council at the convention is not yet known, since he is treasurer of the state student council, his right to vote on issues discussed by the convention members is questionable.

If Fenner will not be allowed to vote, James Briley was chosen to represent the council in his place.

The amendment which was proposed to the council several days ago, allowing the faculty to send a representative to the council, other than the faculty adviser, was passed last night at the meeting.

The bill will go into effect immediately and Miss Cooper Bell was elected by the faculty to represent them in the council.

Oh Happy Day!
School was released today at 12:30 o'clock to allow the students to get an early start at the fair.
"I think it's wonderful! No English!" one of the charming blondes of the senior class said enthusiastically when she was asked what she thought about the half holiday today.

Junior Club Luncheon.
The Fifteenth District of the Junior Woman's Club held its annual luncheon Tuesday, immediately following the close of the business session of the annual meeting of the Fifteenth District of North Carolina Women's Clubs. The luncheon was held in the annex of the Memorial Baptist Church and thirty-six Juniors were served.

Mrs. C. C. Hilton, district vice-president of the senior group of women's clubs, presided.

Mrs. Vance Perkins gave the invocation. Immediately following, five Saille Southall Cotten daughters of East Carolina Teachers College were introduced. The club contributes funds for these students.

A welcome was extended to the guests by Mrs. Ollie VanNortwick Jr., president of the Greenville Junior club.

An informal discussion was conducted by Mrs. R. C. Boyce, state president of Juniors, as to successful methods of raising necessary funds.

A courtesy report was given from the chairman of that committee, Mrs. Jesse Moye. She expressed appreciation of the hospitality received in Greenville, appreciation of the large response shown in attendance, and gratitude to persons contributing to the program.

The meeting was adjourned.

End of the Century Club.
On Tuesday, October 15, the End of the Century Club met with Mrs. James T. Little at Sandy Lodge camp on the Pamlico river.

We left Greenville at 10 a. m., arriving at the camp about 11:15, where we were welcomed by our hostess and served refreshing Coca-Colas.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, and the routine business disposed of. Since we are studying South America, we started on an imaginary voyage to that country. After securing our passports and tickets for passage on the Century, we left New York at noon, October 15.

Mrs. A. D. Frank was our travel guide, and in a most interesting and instructive manner, took us from point to point on the map.

She gave an interesting description of crossing the Equator and also told of the "Neptune" party which is always observed as a ship crosses the Equator line.

She stopped to give some of the highlights at Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Santiago, Lima, Bogota and other points of interest.

She told of the beautiful systematic cities, the customs of the people, the plateaus, mountains and deserts, the products of the fields, and the silver, gold and jewels of the earth. And we felt that we were better acquainted with our other half than we had ever been before.

Mrs. J. L. Hassell gave a brief outline of the Pan American Union. After the meeting was over, we were served a delicious lunch on the porch, where we could enjoy the lovely view of the river and the surrounding forest with its varied tints of red and gold.

After lunch, some of the guests escorted to the pier to fish, while others engaged in games or conversation until it was time to "wend our homeward way."

Each of us felt that we were indebted to Mrs. Little for a very happy and instructive day.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—People like Alexander Korda make it tough on Hollywood prophets. Not only Korda, but

All of us were pretty well convinced today's offerer.

But that was before Uncle John Public and his wife, Aunt Minnie, spoke their pieces. Uncle John and Aunt Minnie said they'd have none of this retrenchment talk. They said they wanted their movies bigger and better, and no foolin'!

They're never fooling when they go to—or stay away from—the box office. They weren't fooling when they "bought" the big pictures and let the other's pretty well alone.

So Hollywood changed its mind and decided, war or no war, that nothing was too good for Uncle J. and Aunt M. And Alex Korda, filming the love story of Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton, is one movie barometer.

Official index of the way things are. I don't worry about the floor much in major-budget movies. In the B's a floor is just something to step on, but in a big A the floor gets in the picture and that means floor-polishers, men with mops who work in small brigades sisking the dust off between takes.

Korda has a set today, for instance, which represents the British embassy at Naples. There's a ball in honor of Lord Nelson after his victory of the Nile. There are more than a hundred lords and ladies in silks and satins and brocades and wigs. There are wiggid and liveried lackeys, and an authentic orchestra of the period. There's a lily-studded pool, and high "marble" columns, and glittering crystal chandeliers with real waxen tapers. There is fine classical statuary, and everywhere an air of beauty and elegance—which isn't had for alalfa.

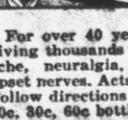

The story of Nelson and Lady Hamilton was told in 1929 in "The Divine Lady," with Corinne Griffith and Victor Varconi. (The latter plays a minor role in the present production.) For that picture the Warner lot dug its first "tank," a pool used until "The Sea Hawk" necessitated larger aquatic facilities.

But don't get the idea that lavish pictures are being made without economies. Any prop-man will tell you that the studios are watching the pennies while spending the dollars.

"It used to be," moaned a worker on the 20th Century-Fox lot, "that if we wanted anything all we did was write out an order. Now we write it and get what we want if it passes the okay of 2,764 executives and officials."

Try this new pickle combine: Cover cooked sliced beets and green string beans with leftover liquid from bottled pickles. Cover and chill several hours and you will have a delicious relish.

COLLEGE GETS NEW TEACHERS

Many Additions To Faculty Of Institution

A number of new teachers have joined the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College this fall, some filling vacancies left by resignations and some coming as additional members of the teaching staff. Of these the Home Economics department will have three; Science, two; Physical Education, one; Commerce, one; Art, one; and Music Education, one.

The new resident teacher trainer in Home Economics Education is

Mrs. Ethel Reid Watters who spent the past summer as hostess of the staff of the Ridgecrest Assembly at Ridgecrest. Mrs. Watters, a native of Jackson, Tennessee; received her B. S. degree from Union University in Jackson, her M. S. degree in Home Economics Education from Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa; and did further studying at Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. She was graduate assistant in the Home Economics Department of Iowa State College. She first taught in the public schools near Jackson, Tennessee, then in Union University.

Miss Mabel Lacy, who has been a teacher of Home Economics in the Greenville High school for the past two years, is now an itinerant teacher part of her time being spent on the E. C. T. C. campus, where her headquarters are located, and part in field work. Although she is employed by the federal government and is associated with the State Department of Education, Miss Lacy is also a member of the E. C. T. C. faculty. She visits beginning teachers in Home Economics in twenty-five counties of eastern North Carolina and helps them with any problems that they may have. She will follow up in general the work of graduates of East Carolina Teachers College.

In addition to these teachers in the College proper, Miss Jessie Schnopp, who has returned to the Greenville High school after a year's absence for study and who is taking Miss Lacy's place, will work with the college as teacher critic in Home Economics at the high school. She is studying toward her Ph.D. degree under Dr. Ernest R. Groves of the University of North Carolina.

The two new professors in the Science Department are Dr. Oca Christine Wilton and Dr. W. S. DeLoach. Miss Wilton, whose special fields of science are biology, bacteriology, and physiology, comes from the northwest section of Arkansas. She received her B. S. degree from the University of Arkansas, her M. S. degree and her Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. She has been teaching at Central College, Jonway, Arkansas.

Dr. DeLoach, who is a native of Birmingham, Ala., is a chemist. He received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Howard College, Birmingham; and his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. He taught last year in the Norfolk division of William and Mary College. His special interest outside the classroom is the chemical industries in colonial days.

In the Physical Education Department John B. Christenbury takes over the duties as head coach. A native of Statesville, he received his A. B. degree from Davidson College in 1930 and his M. A. degree from Columbia University in 1934. He has taught in the Crossnore High school; Bolles Preparatory school in Jacksonville, Fla.; Lee Edwards High school in Asheville; and Breward College in Brevard. His hobby is traveling.

YDC LEADERS IN FUND DRIVE

Assume Initiative In Roosevelt - Wallace Campaign

Raleigh, Oct. 15.—Quick and eager response of Young Democratic Club leaders all over the state in taking hold of the Roosevelt-Wallace drive for campaign funds has been very gratifying to young Dick Reynolds, director of the hunt for dollars to be used in the current campaign.

Last week Mr. Reynolds, in cooperation with Ralph Gardner, state YDC president, called upon the president of Young Democratic clubs in the several counties to assume the chairmanship in each county, or to select someone in his stead.

There are 70 such YDC units, and it is termed almost astounding that no less than 67 have either taken over the job of fund raising, or have found acceptable substitutes.

This action has put the matter of filling an adequate campaign chest squarely up to the younger generation in the Democratic party, and so far youth is meeting the situation with a vigor and ability that has convinced Mr. Reynolds of ultimate success.

Already some counties have organized their dollar collecting units down to the last precinct—Halifax being a notable example. In many cases the collecting is going to be a dollar at the time and on all sides it is recognized that the task is a tremendous one. There aren't going to be many "angels" this year willing to put up big rolls. Recognizing this, receipts for campaign contributions are being issued in $1, $5, $10, $15 and $25 denominations.

Cooperation of Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Gardner in working out the YDC lineup is an added indication that reports of friction between state Democratic headquarters and the Roosevelt-Wallace committee are without foundation.

Farmville Market Has High Average

The Farmville tobacco market continues to sell tobacco strong and Bennett Hooks of the auction center reports that on some days averages as high as $23.50 are paid.

During the past two weeks the Farmville market maintained an average in excess of $21 per hundred. More than 11 million pounds of the golden weed have been sold on the market so far this season for an average of $18.

The Farmville market has a patronage from a wide tobacco-producing section, farmers from many North Carolina counties and even some in South Carolina selling their tobacco there.

The Farmville market invites the continued patronage of its many friends and urges others to sell their tobacco there, promising the highest possible price.

On Monday of this week Farmville sold 650,000 pounds for an average of $23.24.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—If you walk into almost any store in the mid-town sector and wait a reasonable length of time you are almost certain to see a young woman canvassing public opinion as to the presidential possibilities for November.

We ran into several in one day, although in only one instance were we able to ascertain whom they represented. This was in a men's haberdashery on west 49th street and a nice-looking young woman came in with a brief-case and a lot of blanks to be filled out and quickly collared one of the clerks. She represented Fortune magazine.

We didn't know what was going on until we heard her say: "Do you know why you are going to vote for Roosevelt?"

The man said, "Well, it isn't a question of greater production in this country. You could treble the production over night. The question is to find some way to get what we already have into the hands of the people. I think Roosevelt is working along those lines. All of his reforms are directed toward that end. For some reason I simply believe he is right, and that is why I am going to vote for him."

All the while this was going on the young woman was writing furiously. She asked a lot of questions which we couldn't hear, much to our regret. Finally she said, "Thank you," gave him a big smile, and put her papers back into the brief case.

"Who's winning?" we wanted to know.

She laughed. "I'm not permitted to tell you. Anyway, what's true of Manhattan probably wouldn't be true in some other place." She went out the door, swinging her case. These girls never poll more than one person in a single store.

There is a hospital on the second floor of the NBC building in Rockefeller Center, that is free to the public. Sounds queer, I'll admit, but it's true. Such has been this reporter's experience, in any case.

We jammed our left elbow through a window pane and came up with a gash about an inch long. It looked a lot worse than it actually was. Gory, yes, but we weren't in any real danger of losing an arm. However, we went up to his hospital of which we had heard much, but never had seen.

A very pleasant young woman in white asked us what ailed us, took our name, and then introduced us to a doctor. We were led into a great white tiled room. A nurse held the arm for the doctor to examine. It wasn't much of a surgical task, but the service was wonderful. A clean scent of alcohol (the rubbing kind), big rolls of snow white bandages, and nice big smiles.

When we were all wrapped up we said, "How much, Doctor?"

"There is no charge," he said. Very, very nice. And very thoughtful, too, of Nelson Rockefeller.

Chopped apples contribute a crunchiness and new flavor to sausage stuffing used for meat, fowl or fish. About a cup of chopped apples for each 4 cups of bread crumbs.

Frozen cider punch makes a delicious tangy accompaniment for fowl. Serve in small paper or glass cups along with the main course.

If onions are strong, slice them and soak them 10 minutes in ice water with a little sugar in it—a tablespoon of sugar to a quart of water. This does not sweeten the onions but does remove some of the strong flavor.

Hang a mirror in the kitchen with a shelf or wooden box under it to hold make-up equipment. Use it for a little "pick-up" after taking up a meal and just before going to the dining table.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

BE YOURSELF
In the story of David and Goliath there occurs the interesting account of how King Saul called before him the young shepherd boy as he was about to go out to meet the Philistine warrior and handed him a great sword and a mighty shield, a helmet, and a breastplate.
Saul was great equipment, but David no doubt laughed with the glee of boyhood as he put on Saul's helmet and found that it came down over his ears. He lifted the great sword and knew how ineffective such a weapon would be in his hands. No, said the wise youngster, I cannot use these for I have not trained them. It was not because they were not good; it was because they were not his, nor were they suited to his purpose. He went out, therefore, to use what he could use, a sling-shot; and he used it effectively.

There are many people today who are not so wise as was the young shepherd boy. They make a sorry spectacle of themselves trying to wear a lot of things which fit them as poorly as Saul's armor fit young David. The virtue of the young shepherd boy was that he insisted on being himself. He was a wizard with a sling-shot, but he had neither the strength nor the training to wield Saul's sword.
The lesson to you and me is, Be yourself. Don't do things a certain way because everybody else does them that way. Don't look like a scare-crow in Saul's armor when you could do a piece of work with your own sling-shot. It may not be much of a weapon, but it has the virtue of being yours. Use it.

The exhibits at the Pitt County Fair, now in progress, are the best of the five years that the fair has been under the American Legion sponsorship. The various community booths, the school exhibits and those of the 4-H clubs and the agriculture vocational classes of the various sections of the county are well worth while and a credit not only to the fair but to those who had a part in furnishing them. This year's exhibits indicate that the fair sponsors are progressing along the road toward their goal of making a real agricultural fair in Pitt County.

FACTS CONVICT HITLER OF PLOT AGAINST U. S.

Kaiser Wilhelm II outraged the sensibilities of the people of the United States and caused them to go to war for the sake of their ideals. Twenty-three years ago Americans fought a war when their superficial, not vital interests were involved. If the Kaiser had won in 1918, it is doubtful if things in Europe would have been greatly changed. France and England would have been assessed a huge indemnity and certain areas would have come under German control, but most nations would have come through as independent states. The United States might have had some trouble evacuating its army from France, but otherwise would have been little affected by the outcome.

The United States today is faced with a different proposition. Hitler's ideas of conquest are considerably different from those of the Kaiser. The new German leader enslaves the people he conquers—has even systematically gone about the business of destroying them. His "new order" strikes at every theory of ethics and economics upon which the United States is built.

For this reason, the apathetic attitude of some Americans is incomprehensible to many observers. By his own voice and action Hitler convicts himself of plotting to destroy not only Great Britain, but the United States. His well-laid schemes to undermine American industries are already in operation. His ideas of world conquest dwarf the plans of the Kaiser into insignificance.

Yet many Americans, still bitter about the last war, not only try to keep from being influenced by propaganda, but bury their collective heads in the sand and refuse to listen to evidence based on indisputable fact.
Many are waking up to a realization of the threat of Hitler—to the fact that England is the sole remaining friend of the United States among the important world powers. But there is a smaller element that, if Britain falls, will still be screaming "propaganda" when Hitler's bombers sweep over American cities. — (Scottish Rite News).

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington—Politics is a strange disease. It's like tropical fever. Once it's in your blood, there is no telling when it's going to crop out. And for an outsider, it is pretty hard to see what the conditions are that bring about its recurrence.
For instance, in the Senatogal-

lery the other day, I witnessed this little legislative drama:

Senator Wheeler, the Montana Democrat, who has been one of the chief ramrods in opposition to administration foreign policy, stood up before the Senate the other day and offered his resolution to investigate foreign control or partial ownership by foreign companies or individuals of stock, patents, etc., in American firms which contribute to the national defense program.
There was a preamble to the resolution which stated: "Whereas authentic reports indicate that German and other foreign corporations enjoy a measure of control over some of our most important defense industries; and whereas an American corporation which supplies glass for instruments and weapons for the Army and Navy have been shown to have close relations with a German concern involving disclosure of secret processes; and whereas one of the most important metals, invaluable in the manufacture of airplanes, is controlled by a corporation half of whose stock is reliably reported to be owned by the German chemical trust...."

Following some more whereases was the resolution to investigate the situation and report to the Senate. It takes an army of reporters, working day and night, just to skim the cream of the news off this national defense program, and nobody can say that he or she knows all about it. But on the surface, this would look like a pretty worthy investigation, wouldn't it? If there are financial fifth columnists working against the defense program, one of the national legislative bodies should know about it. If there aren't, then all these rumors should be branded as propaganda and silenced forever. BUT.....

Senator Austin, Vermont Republican, brought up the question of expediency and objected to consideration of the resolution AT THIS TIME.

Senator Barkley, leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate, put in this: "Being a member of the committee on interstate commerce I am familiar with the facts connected with this resolution and the statements before the committee resulting in its report. I can state to the Senator from Vermont, that there is no politics in the resolution. It is not a political matter at all."

Senator Austin—"Does it NOT occur to the Senator from Kentucky (Mr. Barkley) that without any intention on the part of the Senate in passing the resolution, nevertheless politics might get into this matter?"
Senator Barkley—"It is not contemplated there shall be any hearings under the resolution at present.... The facts may be developed in a quiet way.... There will probably be no publicity about the matter. As the Senator from Montana (Mr. Wheeler) says, in January...."

Senator Wheeler—"There will not be any politics after January any way. Politics will be over at that time, will be adjourned, we hope, for four years.... What we want to do is gather the information between now and January."
Senator Austin—"All the learned Senators say supports my opinion that we would do well to put this off until after the first of January."
There was more to it than that, a lot more, but all in the same vein. The resolution passed and the pre-arranged and the Senate Interstate Commerce committee now is presumably going into the matter of foreign influence in companies which have to do with national defense, but since both sides admitted that it has something to do with politics, let's all put our heads together and figure out now.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

By Pink Aster Phares

YESTERDAY: Beautiful Lynn Britton is being taken by force to marry the Prince of Shani Lun. She views the prospect with horror, but strangely enough she cannot down her interest in her two captives—Sherlock, the good and friendly Buddhist priest, and Temu Darin, the handsome representative of the Prince. Now Lynn has run away from the caravan, and is escaping through the Mongolian desert with an American pilot collector in a rattling motor car.

Chapter 18 Safety—For A While

"My name is Lynn Britton," she explained. "I disappeared from civilization in a border town north of Peiping. Have you heard, this far west, of any inquiries about me?"
Wallace shook his head. "No, I haven't, though we're usually quick to get the news of a foreigner being taken by bandits in any part of China."
She smiled ruefully. "I rather fancied my friends in America might make inquiry about me when I dropped out abruptly. I was traveling with my brother, and we became separated. His name is Dick Britton."
"That name has not been in the dispatches either, I'm sure. Why should the bandits bring you across the desert instead of applying for the ransom money at once?"
"I don't know," she confessed. "We had been invited to visit the Prince of Shani Lun and were on our way. Surely, the story he was telling about his no one else was free, that was all she cared about."

"Ah," cried Mr. Wallace, "I begin to see! They planned to approach the Prince; he is an extremely wealthy man."
"Do you know him?" asked Lynn eagerly.
"No, but I hope to meet him some day. Shani Lun has great attractions for a plant specialist. It is a country where desert plants merge into rolling grasslands, and these merge into mountains clad in evergreens."
He settled down to driving as the trail improved. "We'll not waste any more time in getting to Lanfou. I left yesterday and planned to be gone a month. My wife be surprised."
"You're very kind to me," murmured Lynn. She was glad that the questions had ceased. She relaxed and watched the whirling dust-devils scuttle across the hills which were changing from grasslands to scrub growth like the sagebrush in certain parts of western America.

Occasionally the girl looked back as if she half expected to see Temu coming after them on a winged camel. Just what he was doing, she wondered. In vain, she tried to visualize his activity. One thing she was already beginning to suspect. She would miss those people; Sherlock with his wise, old twinkling eyes; Gersing with her jolly, primitive, good sense; little Baboo and her giggling, Temu—Lynn did not want to analyze her feeling about Temu.
From the divide they coasted down to a vast, sandy plain and stopped for water and a late lunch at the abandoned ruins of a large, walled town. Here, all trails met and vast herds of sheep and donkeys and camels watered at crude troughs made from popular logs.
A few hours later they came to an endless mound of earth, perhaps ten feet high and equally wide, broken occasionally by trails for entrance to the sacred soil of the Celestial Empire.

"You are seeing the Great Wall," remarked Mr. Wallace. "Here, it is merely a ridge of dirt though it started out so grandly where you first viewed it."
Taking one of the cuts through the ridge they entered a vast graveyard. Grave cones, as far as the eye could see, reached across the plain. The last resting place of those Chinese, who pioneered in Mongolia or Turkestan or Tibet, but came home eventually alive or dead, to rest inside the Great Wall. It was a desolate place.
Refuge At Last
MR. WALLACE smiled at Lynn. "Don't look so downhearted." "It makes me wonder," she said dismally, "if all the fuss and stir we make in life in order to have our own way is worth the while."
"You're tired, Miss Britton. Wait until you meet my wife and have a chance to rest. Then you will feel better."
"You are very kind to me," she said again.
"Did those brigands treat you decently?"
Lynn smiled. "I can't complain."
"The government will want a description of the men so that they can try to round them up."
"All Chinese look alike to me," she said evasively.
"You'll learn differently when you've been in the country longer," he prophesied. "When Chinese first see Americans, they all look alike."
The trail had now become a road lined with carts and caravans and steady traffic. They had reached the suburbs of the town. Passing a yamen with posted sentries, they crossed a bridge over the Yellow River and entered the town of Lanfou on the city street. The way was wide enough to accommodate an automobile. They drove beyond the wall to the in-

There are hints that some unanticipated targets may be hit in the Parker-stirred melee.
Stories are out to the general effect that at least one very prominent banker who had moved outside the city, registered for the city manager's election at his old precinct in direct violation of the law and in disregard of the "four-months in the precinct" clause of the registration oath.
His vote was cast for a city manager-form, 'tis said.

Prayer meeting, Moose, J. O. U. A. M., Lions Club, Rotary Club, P. T. A., and meetings of some kind every night. Nothing said, but when Townsend Clubs first made their appearance in Eastern Carolina those who knew little or nothing about the plan cried out loudly that it was a political organization. I am glad to say that the people of Eastern Carolina now know better, that our Clubs are composed of outstanding citizens, both Democrats and Republicans, and we stand firmly together for one thing. We are doing exactly what the American Legion did when they sat on the green at Washington, D. C. We are asking for our rights, seeking protection for our old age and will never cease until we have won.
Never in history have we faced such a crisis as now. Nations at war and the worst is yet to come. As never before we need Christian leaders, from the President down, we need statesmen, men who will stand true to Democracy and who will not break faith with those who have confidence in them. In a short time millions will have to decide. We have heard eminent speakers for both sides and the candidates themselves. There are thousands of Townsend Clubs in the United States with millions of members. Our members read the Townsend Weekly, study and are familiar with the situations, and I feel that every one will use his or her judgment and vote the right way. I am proud of the organization and feel that no man has given to this nation greater or more worthy plan than has Dr.

Phantoms To Play Roanoke Rapids Here Friday Night

HIGHS BEATEN IN 1939 GAME

So Anythng Can Be Expected At Guy Smith Park

By C. R. ROWLETT

Anything can be expected Friday night when a highly-touted Roanoke Rapids eleven pushes into the local stadium for one of the hardest fought battles of the season for either team. The contest is scheduled to start at eight o'clock.

Those high-flying Green Phantoms of last year were handed their only defeat by a Roanoke Rapids eleven; these Green Phantoms of this season are looking for revenge for that one point victory handed to the Yellow Jackets. The score last year was 7-6, and most anything is expected in this year's outcome.

Larry James, pass-snatching end has been out of practice and on the shelf with an arm injury for the past week and it is doubtful as to whether he will be ready for the tilt Friday night. Larry is one of those third year men on the Phantom roster and the kind of football player any team misses.

Paul Scott, star guard, on the shelf from injuries received during the Goldsboro game did not dress for the game last week with Plymouth but it is a certainty that his ability will be missed if he is not in uniform for the battle Friday night.

John Collins, the other half of that famous end combination, who played in the Plymouth game with a strapped up ankle will probably be in uniform for the game even though he had to leave the Plymouth game before the final whistle due to the injured ankle. John is another one of the regulars of the past three seasons and is regarded as one of the best ends in the conference along with James, the other Phantom end.

Noah Lee Edwards, first string guard will undoubtedly be out of the contest Friday night due to an arm injury received in the Plymouth game last week. Although this is Edwards' first year as a starter he has showed his ability

East And West To Meet In Grid Tilt Saturday

East Carolina To Head West Tomorrow Morning

By BURTON DANIELS

East Carolina's football outfit, 26 strong, will leave Greenville early tomorrow morning for their game with the Catamounts of Western Carolina. Teachers at Cullowhee Carolina Teachers at Cullowhee Saturday. The squad is in fine fettle with the exception of two men that are suffering with head colds; these fellows are expected to be in fettle to go at top speed ere the kickoff.

Coach Christenbury stressed the fact that the Catamounts would be playing in their own back yard, and consequently harder to handle. Cullowhee has won most of the games in the series between the two schools, and having set this one as the home-coming event will be gunning extra hard to spoil the Pirates' record.

It will be homecoming for a goodly number of the squad members of the Pirates, as 13 of the boys had from the mountains close around Cullowhee: Dan Waddell, McFee, Murray, Bob Young, Green, Roberson, Jack Young, Gianakos, Lucas, Daniels, and Roberts' hall from the territory close to the western Carolina school.

Coach Christenbury has been drilling his charges all week on an aerial attack to be used against the Catamounts, but the marked improvement has come in the running game. McFee and company were running harder during the scrimmage sessions, and picking up more ground than at any time this season. For the first time this year the interference was getting out ahead of the ball carrier and getting their ticks in without a hitch.

While the charges of Christenbury will go into the game the slight favorites due to the records of the two outfits, they realize that the Cullowhee club aren't going to be paying a great deal of attention to the press notices, and are working as never before.

In yesterday's scrimmage, Rogerson, and Butler were the shining lights of the defensive outfit, and got in some good ticks on the offense, while the downfield blocking of the Jack Young was vicious. This tackle play could have no result other than to bring smiles to the face of Coach Christenbury. The tackle play of Roberson, Young, Rogerson, and Butler has done much to hold the Pirates defense together this season, and they appear better now than at any time in the past.

The East Carolina outfit will arrive in High Point in time for a short evening workout, and spend the night there, setting sail for Cullowhee early Friday morning.

Those making the trip are: ends Craven, Green, Lautares, Cox, Futrell, and Roberts; tackles, Young, Roberson, Butler, Rogerson, and Venters; guards, Lucas, Gianakos, Polakofski, Brown and Daniels; centers, Rogers and Tripp; backs, Young, Waddell, McFee, Murray, Williams, Wilson, Evans and Sisk. Manager Mann will round out the traveling squad making 28 including Coach Christenbury.

throughout the season and is a valuable asset to the local team. Due to these injuries the probable line-up for the Phantom eleven is not a certainty as to the line but the back field will probably be made up of Britt Kittrell, Spearman and Page.

Reserves such as Sidney Johnson, Paul Britt, Alton Stoneham, Hubert Musselwhite, Snag Clark, and other capable subs will probably see much action due to the injured last Friday night.

So far this season the Phantoms have managed to score three triumphs over Windsor, Tarboro, and Plymouth, while dropping a 6-0 decision to Goldsboro.

John Collins, the other half of that famous end combination, who played in the Plymouth game with a strapped up ankle will probably be in uniform for the game even though he had to leave the Plymouth game before the final whistle due to the injured ankle. John is another one of the regulars of the past three seasons and is regarded as one of the best ends in the conference along with James, the other Phantom end.

Noah Lee Edwards, first string guard will undoubtedly be out of the contest Friday night due to an arm injury received in the Plymouth game last week. Although this is Edwards' first year as a starter he has showed his ability
