MAY ASK FDR ENTER DEBATE AT BALTIMORE

Maryland Republicans Urge Willkie Renew Challenge

BOTH TO BE IN CITY SAME DAY

Willkie Takes Campaign To Wisconsin And Minnesota; Roosevelt Visits At Hyde Park

By The Associated Press Wendell L. Willkie, whose path might cross that of President Roosevelt in Baltimore October 30, was urged today to challenge the President again to debate the campaign issues.

The question of a debate was raised by Maryland Republican leaders after it developed yesterday that their presidential nominee and President Roosevelt might speak in Baltimore the same night.

The Willkie-McNary crusaders sent this wire to Willkie: "We suggest you renew your challenge to debate the issues on the same platform since this could so easily be arranged. Roosevelt refusal naturally would strengthen your Baltimore vote."

Meanwhile Willkie took his campaign into Wisconsin and Minnesota. President Roosevelt, planned for a five day pre-election drive, began a week-end visit at Hyde Park N. Y. home and fresh controversy raged over the third term issue.

That broadly was the picture of the nation's major political contests as the week before election drew to a close.

Hiram Johnson, veteran Republican senator from California who supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, entered the third term argument last night with a declaration that it presented "in greater degree than a flaming war x x x a crisis purely American." He announced the support for his party's ticket.

Johnson was followed on the air by his Democratic colleague, Sheridan Downey, speaking from Los Angeles, urged Mr. Roosevelt's reelection because of his "liberalism" and said there evidently was "no anti-third term sentiment here in California," because, he said, Johnson had been elected to the Senate for four terms and "it is apparent his people will soon honor him for a fifth time."

The Wisconsin and Minnesota speeches Willkie scheduled for today followed one last night at Springfield, Ill., in which he accused Mr. Roosevelt of favoring some form of state socialism for the United States.

Canadian Official Visiting President

Hyde Park, Oct. 19.—(AP)—For the second time within a year and a half President Roosevelt greeted members of Britain's royal family today when the Earl Athlone, governor general of Canada, arrived from Ottawa to spend the week-end at the Roosevelt home.

With a "how are you? I'm glad to see you" and an outstretched hand, the chief executive welcomed the earl, an uncle of King George VI, at a railway station at nearby Poughkeepsie.

While house officials said the Earl's visit could not be expected to result in any announcements having a bearing on Canadian-American relations or international affairs.

Smiling, the President shook hands with Princess Alice, the Earl's wife and a granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

"Is Lady May there?" Mr. Roosevelt inquired. The daughter of the Earl and princess stepped forward and the President invited the trio to get in beside him in an open White House car. They rode off to Hyde Park house.

GARDEN CLUBS MEET SUCCESS

Members From Twenty Units Attend Session Here

The Greenville Garden Club was hostess to around two hundred women members of the North Carolina Garden Clubs of the North Coastal Plains district on Friday, October 18, in the auditorium of the Municipal building.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. R. M. Garrett, president of the local club. The session was opened with an stanza of "America," after which Dr. R. S. Boyd gave the invocation. Mrs. Garrett extended a most cordial welcome from the local Garden Club and the various civic organizations of Greenville to the members of the Coastal Plains district.

Mrs. H. D. Walker, assistant district director from Elizabeth City, gave the response. She recalled the days when the surrounding towns considered Greenville so fortunate in having many nice tobacco warehouses which would accommodate large meetings. She said Greenville was still fortunate to possess such a magnificent building as the Municipal building.

Mrs. Bennett, district president, from Rocky Mount, presided over a business session. Twenty clubs were represented and gave written reports of outstanding work that is being done all over this district by Garden clubs. Around eleven were not represented, but sent in most gratifying reports. The principal speaker was Mrs. J. Buren Sidbury, president of the State Garden Club. She suggested that probably working in one's garden would prove most patriotic during this chaotic period, for it would promote a healthy mind and body to meet the many demands that may be made upon Americans. She urged the Garden Clubs to take advantage of all the service and help that is available through the different departments of the state office.

The outstanding event of the Garden Club year will be the convening of the National Garden Club in Asheville next May. This meeting will bring around six hundred women from all over the United States to enjoy for several days the unrivaled beauty of North Carolina's (Continued on Page Two)

Young Winterville Man Rated Expert Seedsman

By JOHN FOX Extension Service Publicist The agricultural firm of Speight and Speight—M. O. and L. C. Speight, brothers—had a long and successful record of successful farming in Pitt County before 1935. In the spring of 1935, J. Brantley Speight, son of L. C. and nephew of M. O. (Uncle Oscar) returned from N. C. State College with a four-year education in farm crops.

From that time until the present the Speight farms—350 acres in the Winterville section, about 10 miles from Greenville—have developed into one of the outstanding agricultural enterprises in North Carolina. With the development of the farming operations has been the development of young Brantley Speight as one of the farm leaders of Eastern Carolina.

While at State College, Brantley learned the value of pure seed. He was a member of the college crops judging team which went to the International Seed Judging contest in the fall of 1934. When he returned home he started the production of certified seed in cooperation

Dates Are Set For Call to Guardsmen

18-DATES Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Mobilization dates and camp assignments for approximately 130,000 National Guardsmen will be mobilized in the period January 3-19 and about February 3, were announced today by the War Department.

Comprising eight divisions and 84 regiments and other units, the guardsmen will be the last of such groups called out for a year's active duty and training. Already in uniform or under mobilization orders are 132,000 other National Guard officers and men. The department said the dates selected for induction of the final groups were tentative and that "no unit of the National Guard will be ordered into the federal service until proper housing is ready and adequate hospital facilities are available."

The units to be called up January 3-19 total approximately 126,000 officers and men, leaving about 4,000 to be inducted about February 3.

SNOW IN EAST, HEAT IN WEST

Winter Hits Atlantic Coast As California Swelters

By The Associated Press Winter swept the eastern seaboard today, equaling and breaking seasonal temperature records and bringing snow flurries, while the west coast experienced a heat wave. Attendance at football games in Boston and New York last night was cut by the weather and overnight mercury fell to a low of 10 degrees on Mount Washington in New Hampshire.

Snow fell in Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, western Massachusetts and northern New Jersey. In New York city a 44-year record for October 19 was shattered when the temperature touched 32 at 5 a. m. At Albany, N. Y., a reading 25 at 6 a. m., equalled the record for the day set in 1922.

In southern California a heat wave was expected to break tomorrow, while in the East some moderation was predicted for the week-end.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR STUDENTS

Woman's Club Sponsors Addresses On Americanism

Programs on Citizenship and Americanism will be conducted under the auspices of the Citizenship department of the Greenville Woman's club in the various schools of the county, at the local high school and at East Carolina Teachers College on Friday of next week.

A local man will speak at the chapel hour at each of the high schools in the county and a unique program has been arranged for the Greenville high school by the Woman's club and the student government. Two Greenville citizens who have recently returned from foreign countries will contrast citizenship in these countries with that in this nation. The two speakers will be Miss Mavis Oakley, who has recently returned from China, and James Fleming, who recently arrived here from Paris. Fenner Corbett, Jr., president of the Student government council will have charge of the meeting.

An appropriate program also is being arranged for the chapel hour at East Carolina Teachers College, with F. C. Harding as the speaker. Every boy or girl who will be 21 years of age in time to vote this year is urged to vote in these meetings in order to better acquaint himself or herself with the duties and privileges of an American citizen.

The Woman's club slogan for the special week on Citizenship and Americanism will be: "Citizenship—a heritage with which to keep faith; a possession to honor; a legacy to pass on." In announcing the program officials declared that the club has adopted the theory that "citizenship is the keystone of democracy."

The schedule and speakers for the county programs follow: Grifton, 10:30, M. K. Blount; Bethel, 10:30, Dink James; Falkland, 10:30, Dr. C. Boyd; Belvoir, 10:30, W. J. Bundy; Stokes, 10:15, Dr. A. D. NAZIS ENGAGE LONDONERS IN NIGHTLY RAID

Sirens Signal Beginning Of 43rd Successive Attack

LITTLE DAMAGE FROM DAY RAIDS

Capital's Defenders Meanwhile Work on Program To Lessen Discomforts Of Air Raid Shelters

London, Oct. 19.—(AP) The drone of invading warplanes and the sounding of sirens signalled the beginning of London's 43rd night of air siege tonight, after a day of unusual quiet.

Despite fine autumn weather, the Germans raided the London area but once today and dropped only two bombs.

A single raider was reported to have bombed a midlands town, dropping low over a new industrial building and then machine-gunning some workmen. No casualties were reported.

Night raids also were lighter than last night. The British Press Association reported a dozen bombs were dropped on a southeast coast town when Royal Air Force fighters attacked a Nazi plane. Six were said to have hit a playing field, while others demolished houses.

London's defenders worked meanwhile to lessen the discomforts of life for millions of families who have been spending their nights and much of their days in air raid shelters, with a program to feed them there, too.

Dr. J. J. Mallon, placed in charge of the feeding plan, said the first step would be to organize and stock canteens so that Londoners forced to spend an increasing amount of their time in subways and basements could buy morning and evening meals there.

DRAFT BOARDS NEED OFFICES

Efforts To Locate Space Unsuccessful Thus Far

The two Pitt county draft boards are encountering difficulty in locating suitable offices and getting down to the major task with which they are faced under the Selective Service program for inducting men into active training.

Both J. S. Ficklen, chairman of Board Number One, and L. B. Garris, secretary of Board Number Two, declared that their efforts to find suitable offices in the post office city hall, court house or elsewhere had been unsuccessful. They declared, however, that it was imperative that they locate some place to maintain headquarters at once.

Board Number One has started the task of assorting registration cards, dispatching those not in its district to their respective areas, but Board Number Two has not reached this stage as yet.

Members of the local boards have been called to attend a regional meeting in Rocky Mount Monday morning at 10 o'clock, at which high officials of the system will be present to explain various details of the program.

Although no offices have been established by either board, persons having urgent business, including those who were unable to register Wednesday because of some valid excuse may see any member of the boards. In addition to Chairman Ficklen, Board Number One is composed of Secretary W. J. Smith of Bethel and LeRoy Rollins of Farmville. Other than Secretary Garris Board Number Two is composed of Chairman J. R. Carroll of Winterville and Dr. M. T. Frizzelle of Ayden.

Board Number One includes the section of Pitt county north of the Falkland highway, Fifth street and the Washington highway and Board Number Two is composed of the area south of the dividing line.

City And County To Buy Site For Local Airport

Modern Project To Be Developed North Of Tar River

An airport for Greenville was assured last night when the County Board of Commissioners, in a special meeting, voted to join the city of Greenville in purchasing a site for the establishment of the project.

The county and city will purchase 500 acres of the Hines property about two miles north of Tar river and just west of the Bethel highway at a price of $6,500.

The next step then will be to attempt to secure federal aid for the development of a modern airport. Preliminary work on the grounds, already being used as a landing field, immediately.

The airport project was inaugurated several months ago by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and various other organizations and individuals cooperated.

Last week the city agreed to put half the cost of the site if the county would match this sum. The county commissioners held a meeting last week and the proposal was discussed, but all members were not present and definite action was deferred until last night, when interested citizens were invited to be present at the meeting and express their sentiment. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce presented written endorsement of the project by citizens of various parts of the county.

It has been pointed out that Greenville is on a direct line between Langley Field, Va., and Pope Field at Fort Bragg and probably will be used to a great extent by the army air corps.

With the recent completion of the port terminal, Greenville will have modern transportation with completion of the airport project.

Statistics On Famine Control Babson Sees No Lack Of Food In Europe

Whitefield, N. H., Oct. 19.—So much loose talk exists as to the "great famine from which Europe will suffer this winter," readers will be interested in the facts:

Outlook For This Winter

There is no famine or serious food shortage at present, in Germany, Holland, Denmark, or unoccupied France. By serious food shortage, I mean to the extent that people actually suffer hunger. There are transportation difficulties and, most important, there is control on the minds of consumers as shortages; but the background is the difference between a controlled store of food and an actual lack. All food supplies in Europe are rigidly controlled. Means of control are food cards or what we would call coupons. Everyone must have them. If one is fond of meat, he will find his allotment small; but cheese and mearhungsmitel—a catch-all nourishment—seem to suffice. Of course, in an American

Pitt County Party Rally Will Be Here

Governor-Nominee J. M. Broughton, above, will be the principal speaker at the Pitt County Democratic Rally to be held in the court house here Monday night. The program is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

There were no injuries and no arrests as the drivers of the two cars came to a satisfactory agreement. Officers Dorsey and Whitchard investigated the wreck.

BAD WEATHER HINDERS NAZIS

Attack On British Capital Lighter Than Usual, Only Sporadic Night Attacks Having Been Reported; Reports From Cairo Declare Stringent Provisions Laid Down For Greece

By The Associated Press Demands by Germany and Italy that Greece surrender territory, oust her pro-British government, sever trade relations with Britain and line up in the Axis-Balkan sphere were reported today by Greek diplomatic sources in Cairo.

Denials came swiftly from Berlin, Rome and Athens. Official Greek circles in Athens said the rumors were "unworthy of comment" and diplomatic sources in the Greek capital reported they found no evidence of increased tension in Axis-Greek relations.

The Greek sources in Cairo said their information came directly from Athens and added that the Axis powers were demanding use of Greek air bases.

Greece would be required to give Bulgaria a corridor to the Aegean sea, hand Italy a slice of territory bordering Albania, force the abdication of King George II, and remove Premier-Dictator Metaxas. Massed Fascist troops on the Albanian frontier have worried Greece into bolstering her small army close to its peak strength as anxiety in both Greece and pro-British Turkey has grown apac with Germany's push east and the movement of Nazi fighting men and war equipment into Rumania.

London had a lighter pounding than usual in the big city's 42nd consecutive overnight attack. Bad flying weather was said to have limited the Nazi air activity to "sporadic" attacks, scattered over England, Scotland and Wales.

German sources declared, however, that bombers left for England during the night "in uninterrupted succession," striking heavy blows.

The German high command said an "essential waterworks" was destroyed in London and that bombs hit British troop encampments, while at sea German submarines recently sank 31 ships totaling 173,650 tons.

In Rome the Italian high command said a 10,000-ton British cruiser was hit by a bomb in a new Italian air attack on a convoy of ships in the eastern Mediterranean, and the British were reported to have attacked Italian airfields on the island of Rhodes.

In Bucharest, Rumania, German circles charged that the British minister to Bulgaria has been secretly trying to arrange for passage of British troops through Bulgaria and Rumania.

Japanese naval warplanes struck at the reopened Burma road, hitting hardest at bridges along the precarious arms route to the Chinese government. Hundreds of trucks loaded with long delayed vital supplies for General Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese forces started north over the road yesterday.

Forty Years Ago Today

End of Century Club
At the home of Mrs. Grimes on Friday, the End of the Century Book Club spent a most delightful afternoon, the occasion being the first meeting of the club since the election of new officers.

Pending the arrival of the president and vice-president, the club was delightfully entertained by a charming song from the hostess.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the hostess furnished a very unique and interesting guessing contest in which the prize a daintily bound copy of "Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow," was won by Mrs. Bowen.

The guests were then invited by the hostess into her beautiful dining room where, in the softened glow of candlelight, the "inner man" was most daintily ministered to.

Pitt County Fair
The county fair is almost ancient history now. It is just the right time to begin preparation for the 1941 fair. Community booths as well as the canning exhibits are much better than they have been for the past few years. Experience is our best teacher. Let's use our experiences of this year to our advantage in the future.

Clothing Winner
Miss Sue Watson of Bethel practically paid for her complete winter outfit with her earnings at the State Fair. She spent $23.35 and won a blue ribbon and a $20 check with her 4-H clothing exhibit. Sue has worked hard on her project, but did not mind the work. Aside from her experience she has a suit that can easily be worn three or four winters, and has paid for it herself. Any girl can do the same thing if she is sufficiently interested.

District Meeting
R. R. Bennett, farm agent, C. D. Griggs, assistant farm agent, and the home demonstration agent attended the annual district program planning meeting in Raleigh Wednesday and Thursday. Programs were made for home demonstration clubs, Older Youth clubs and 4-H clubs. Each group has several activities. Dr. I. O. Schaub, director of extension, stated that at this crucial season our state finds itself with sufficient food, but that there is need for emphasis on nutritional problems, especially in Eastern North Carolina.

Achievement Day
It has been necessary to change the date for the achievement program from November 12 to the 14. There will be a 22-county district welfare meeting in Greenville on the 12th. Home demonstration women should attend this meeting as well as Achievement Day.

First Presbyterian Church.
The church school of the Presbyterian Church has taken on new life. The new class formed for women, of which Mrs. J. Bryan Brown is president, is redecorating their classroom and are out for a large attendance. The classroom for the college and business men has been put in readiness and the teachers, A. E. Stallworth and O. P. Matthews, invite all young men between the ages of 18 and 22, not now enrolled in Sunday school, to visit the class. This is "open week" at the college and the students who go home will be missed. But those not fortunate enough to get home—remember, the classes taught by Miss Whitmore and Mr. Stallworth expect you Sunday.

The Men's Bible Class is staging a big rally for Sunday. Some sixty men attended a barbecue given for them last Thursday and will be the beginning of a rally for a big class. A. E. Gibson, the teacher, will be on hand, he assures us. All departments of the school are supplied with a full corps of teachers and invite parents and children to be present any and every Sunday. COUNTRIES INVOLVED DENY REPORT DEMANDS MADE ON GREECE BY AXIS NAZIENS policies in line with the Axis were indicated as imminent today by Relazioni International, often authoritative Fascist weekly.

"Italian influence on the Balkans and Mediterranean countries is destined to have future developments," the paper said. "This influence in relation to war necessities is henceforth not to be restrained."

Diplomatic circles in Rome regarded as "at least premature" reports from Cairo that the Axis already has made extensive demands on Greece and Italian authorities said they knew nothing of such reported demands.

"The Italian people making a war of natural aspirations," Relazioni International asserted. "The Italian people are also following a policy of natural precautions."

"It therefore is evident that whenever obscure points still survive in the Balkans these points must clarify themselves decisively and it will be done with firmness."

The periodical said "any scruple is unjustified and any delay immoral" in attainment of the supreme objective, the "subjection of England."

4-H Clubs

The Stokes H. D. club met Monday afternoon in the Home Economics room. Annual reports were made.

Pierce H. D. Club

St. John's H. D. Club
Mrs. Alton Chapman entertained the St. John's H. D. Club Friday afternoon. Each member turned in her score card and made her annual report.

Pitt County Fair
The county fair is almost ancient history now. It is just the right time to begin preparation for the 1941 fair. Community booths as well as the canning exhibits are much better than they have been for the past few years. Experience is our best teacher. Let's use our experiences of this year to our advantage in the future.

Clothing Winner
Miss Sue Watson of Bethel practically paid for her complete winter outfit with her earnings at the State Fair. She spent $23.35 and won a blue ribbon and a $20 check with her 4-H clothing exhibit. Sue has worked hard on her project, but did not mind the work. Aside from her experience she has a suit that can easily be worn three or four winters, and has paid for it herself. Any girl can do the same thing if she is sufficiently interested.

District Meeting
R. R. Bennett, farm agent, C. D. Griggs, assistant farm agent, and the home demonstration agent attended the annual district program planning meeting in Raleigh Wednesday and Thursday. Programs were made for home demonstration clubs, Older Youth clubs and 4-H clubs. Each group has several activities. Dr. I. O. Schaub, director of extension, stated that at this crucial season our state finds itself with sufficient food, but that there is need for emphasis on nutritional problems, especially in Eastern North Carolina.

Achievement Day
It has been necessary to change the date for the achievement program from November 12 to the 14. There will be a 22-county district welfare meeting in Greenville on the 12th. Home demonstration women should attend this meeting as well as Achievement Day.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHEN IT'S ALL OVER

OF this we can be sure in these troubled times, that God has plans for humanity which are being continually put into operation no matter how much the nations of the world may decimate themselves in the fury of war.

And there is something else we should remember. It was into a world committed to militarism that Jesus Christ was born two thousand years ago amid assurances of peace.

In other words, above the folly of man reigns the infinite wisdom of God. Although men fly at each other's throats and threaten to ruin the whole social structure of the world, God and His plans are neither turned aside nor defeated.

A DREAM COMES TRUE

Those who for so long have given their time, their efforts and their financial support to the Tar River project can now at least realize a dream fulfilled when they visit our newly completed port terminal and witness the busy scenes there.

and Fayetteville should in the future become an important link in the government system of airports, and we believe that if the proper efforts are made the government will lend much aid in the development of the field here.

OUR DEMOCRATIC RALLY

For the first time in about 40 years Pitt County, in the recent Democratic primary, voted for the winning Governor and now that we will have him here as the guest of honor and principal speaker at Monday night's Democratic rally in the court house, it is to be hoped that our people will attend in great numbers to hear Governor-Nominee J. M. Broughton and let him know that we are behind him 100 per cent.

Washington—If a group of men here have their way—and they may—the United States is going to have some ski troops.

LET'S KEEP IT GOING

Now that the first hurdle in obtaining an airport here has been overcome by assurance of purchase of the site by the city and county, let's keep the project alive and moving by bending our efforts toward the development of a real airport.

mobile need readjustments to buck the rarefied air and stinging cold. Look how the Finns skied circles around the lumbering Russians and the Austrian Jaggers skinned over the crags of Norway to harass plodding Brits, says Mr. Lewis.

The Russians even ordered their troops to take up skiing, which was a laugh, the prospectus points out, because everybody knows that it takes three years of intensive training to make a good skier out of the average sod-bound citizen and that isn't taking into consideration any time for his having to learn soldiering.

Near Moffat Tunnel Here is what Lewis and his co-workers suggest: A 6,000-acre training ground at an altitude of from 10,000 to 13,000 feet in the bowl stretching up to the divide near Jones pass, below which the Moffat road ducks under the great ridge for its long dark journey to the western slope.

Twenty miles away at Fraser is a landing field where the air force could base for cooperative training with the snow troops. To the south is the Gore range and to the north the Arapahoe. These would provide opportunity for mountain operations both in winter and summer.

Dog Teams The first ski troops comprise 500 officers and enlisted men. Training would start on a great slide not far from proposed barracks with the men taking elementary spills on a half-mile run that drops 600 to 700 feet. They would go back to the top by a Swiss type tramway for another try.

There would be outdoor snow maneuvers of all kinds, including junkies to far places with dog teams. Also included would be training in the art of scaling icy peaks and education in the mountain and winter aspects of engineering, communications and supply.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

By Rita Miller Harmon

YESTERDAY Once more beautiful Lynn Britton was escorted from Temu Darin, who is taking her to marry the Mongolian Prince of Shani Lun. But once more Temu has captured her, and now he is holding her prisoner in an odd apartment over a Chinese river, while a revolution is in progress outside.

Chapter 21 Battle Of Wills

"BUT I do keep you safe, Tara Lynn," Temu repeated wiping the scratch on his chin with a fresh handkerchief.

Lynn pushed back the hair from her forehead. She felt as disheveled as if she'd been in a football scrimmage—and something else. She felt a kind of despair that he could come out of the fracas calm and cool and apparently unmoved when she had been so acutely aware of his arms.

"Safe even from yourself," she murmured. His eyes flashed at that and she caught a glimpse of passion quickly repressed. "I think," he answered, a little smile about his lips, "that I shall have to invent a machine for shaking you when you need it."

She laughed a little at his indirect tribute to herself, sat back and asked maliciously, "Did you men make a pretty good haul on the boat now that you have gone in for piracy?"

"Except for you," he remarked, lighting a cigarette after she had refused one, "all valuables will be returned." He sat down. "I have made many people happy. The tour manager has secured his wish and his clients their excitement without any consequences. The Wallaces have been given an invitation to visit Shani Lun next spring. And a troupe of Chinese actors have received the best pay of their lives for putting on a play most unusual for the Chinese theatre."

"So, that explains the dwarf and his friends and the sampan you signal? How simple and trusting! I am Temu I never expect intrigue until it is too late. I think all around a subject and then miss the point. I seem to have no defenses against cupid-ity."

He grinned. "And yet, when I tell you the truth about your destiny and I believe me. Oh, well," he rose. "You make life dramatic. You enlarge every experience with imagination. Living with you would never be dull." He came and sat down on the arm of her chair. She rested her head on his hand on the back of the chair and smiled up at him.

"What more do you want?" he demanded. "Another conquest? A chance to say 'yes' and 'no' to yet one more man?"

"Perhaps," she agreed. "Are you afraid?"

He bent toward her. "No, you don't fear Lynn. There is no alternative for you. I can't tell you these things; I must take you to Delun and prove them. You belong to the Prince, and," he added in a deeper, slower tone, "to him alone. Shercock says that in heaven you two are one spirit."

Phantoms And Jackets Battle To A 7-to-7 Deadlock

HALIFAX BOYS TOO CONFIDENT

Farley's Boys Rated As Underdogs In Last Nights Tilt

By C. B. ROWLETT

Coach Cranford Hoyte's overconfident, high riding, Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets storming into Greenville yesterday afternoon with all the fury of a blitzkrieg and departed last night with a 7-7 deadlock marked down in the record books. It was an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth throughout the battle with tension at the breaking point with five hundred excited yelling fans.

John Spearman, speedy wingback again came in to the spotlight of football stars when he took the ball on a reverse and traveled around end for sixty-five yards and a touchdown. This is the second time this season that Spearman has shaken himself loose for a long touchdown run. Spearman has made consistent gains through the line and around end throughout the season and last night but could not quite get loose for another marker against the larger Roanoke Rapids boys.

Although outweighed the Phantoms were hardly out-played when they gained as much yardage from scrimmage as the Yellow Jackets and out passed the boys from Roanoke Rapids.

The first quarter of the contest showed the superiority of weight over a lighter team when the Jackets tore off two first downs in succession leaving the ball on the Greenville 30 yard line. But there the Phantoms called time out, gathered their wits, and came back to hold Coach Hoyte's proteges and take the ball on downs, but the fans' joy was short-lived when a fumble gave the pigskin back to the visitors. History repeated itself the other way around when the Jackets fumbled on the second play and Greenville again had the ball. Two running plays failed and Greenville was forced to kick, with Collins getting off a good boot. The quarter ended with the ball about mid-field with neither team quite able to advance the necessary yardage for a first down.

The second period began with a different story when the Phantoms fished in their bag of tricks and pulled out two completed passes from Bill Britt, to John Collins for a first down. Two running plays and an incomplete pass failed to gain the necessary yardage and the Phantoms were forced to kick.

Three plays later the Greenville boys gain had possession of the ball when the visitors were forced to kick. A howl of joy went up from the fans when on the first play Spearman went around end for thirty yards, but a moon of disappointment soon followed when the play was called back due to off-sides by both teams. Two passes fell incomplete and Collins again went into the tailback slot to punt. Roanoke Rapids then took the ball and began a drive which the Phantoms could not stop but the half time mark could. The Jackets drove off the correct amount of yardage for two first downs and then a pass from Ed Moseley to Coyt Brown put the ball on the Greenville thirty, but the whistle for the half mark killed the threat.

A kick-off by Roanoke Rapids began the second half of the ball game and a threatened Greenville touchdown march, but a completed pass from Britt to Spearman, good for a first down, did not shake the Jackets and they held the Greenville boys and took the ball on a punt from the toe of John Collins and began to set up a march themselves which also fizzled out after a first down gain and they were forced to punt. That punt was costly to the Jackets. In the second play Spearman made his bid for a score and got it. Sixty-five yards around end. The conversion from the toe of Bill Britt was blocked but J. B. Kittrell recovered and took the ball over. The third quarter ended with Greenville kicking off to the visitors and Noah Lee Edwards blocking and attempted Jacket kick again. Greenville led 7-0.

A Greenville fumble early in the fourth quarter gave the ball to Roanoke Rapids from which they began a drive that the Phantoms could not quite stop. Three first downs in a row put the ball on the Greenville four yard line. From there Fullback Ken Kendrick drove over for the Jacket score conversion was good with Kendrick again going through the line. Roanoke Rapids then kicked off to the Phantoms and they immediately racked up a first down. An incomplete pass from Britt to Spearman and a completed pass from Collins to Musselwhite gave the Phantoms another first and ten. A pass from Britt to Collins fell incomplete and Roanoke Rapids took the ball on downs. The boys from Roanoke Rapids again took the ball and it was a first down. But that is where play ended when the final whistle blew and neither team was victor. Final score 7-7.

The local high continued their warfare on opponents by making a number of pass completions over the larger boys of the Jacket team. Tension broke early in the fourth quarter when a fight started on the lower end of the field but was quickly subdued when one of the players

YOUR HOUSE CAN BE SPIC AND SPAN

If you have a cleaning plan—and you let your vacuum cleaner and attachments do most of the work

By Kathleen Robertson (in McCall's Magazine)

DO YOU love your house when it's spic and span? Who doesn't? But are you one of those rare creatures who just love to clean house? Or perhaps you are one of those who hate it and don't care who knows it—although you do get it done?

Whichever you are, how do you go about the job? Do you wait until something simply has to be done—say the day before those important guests are coming to dinner? Or do you so arrange matters that you'd be willing to have those guests come any time? Do you do odd things at odd moments or do you plan your cleaning?

Above all, do you make use of every possible aid to cut down the back-aches and cut out the nuisance chores? There are, for instance, more than you imagine who use the vacuum cleaner for the rugs and carpets, but who have never gotten around to trying it on furniture or walls. Any woman who has not tried out the electric sweeper attachments for the toughest dusting job in the house doesn't really know how easy—even pleasant—cleaning can be.

Tools to make work light: Your best tool is a well-worked-out plan of attack. There are two ways of doing seasonal cleaning jobs:

1. To finish one room at a time, or
2. To complete one task, like cleaning windows, in all rooms. Work out the method that's easier for you.

List all jobs to be done during the year. Then make a chart, spacing jobs that are done weekly, monthly, semi-yearly and yearly, so that you are never overburdened.

Next, be sure that your tools are as up-to-date as your hairdo. See that vacuum cleaner and carpet sweeper are clean and in good order. Get in a supply of special cleaners, for rugs and upholstery, wall paper, metals, paint; such specialized helpers do simplify difficult tasks. See that your disinfectant, soap and scouring supplies are ample, that your special brushes and dusters are clean and ready for work, and that you have plenty of lint-free cloths and cheesecloth.

Here's how to get richly polished floors

Dust varnished floors with a lightly oiled mop. Remove soiled spots with a cloth wrung from lukewarm soapy water, dry thoroughly and polish with oil. You may safely wash waterproof varnish. Let it dry well before polishing with the oil mop.

As the deep polish of waxed floors is built up by many layers of wax, try to avoid a complete re-finishing. Remove small soiled spots with turpentine, then re-wax. Apply wax sparingly—two thin coats, each well polished, are glossier and less slippery than one thick coat. Let wax dry well before buffing. Non-rubbing wax, so easy to apply, is especially good for linoleum floors, where hard wear usually necessitates frequent re-waxing.

Here's how to get shining windows

With a damp cloth or composition sponge, spread a thin film of prepared powder on glass. (A little cleaner works as well as a lot and is easier to wipe off.) Polish with a clean chamois before the cleaner is quite dry, to avoid scattering powder on the window sash.

Here's how to get gleaming woodwork

Preserve washable paint by cleaning frequently and lightly with mild soap and lukewarm water, or with a prepared paint cleaner. As a protective measure, add a good disinfectant to the water.

Here's how to get spotless walls

Brush walls frequently with vacuum attachment or a soft wall brush so accumulated dirt won't permanently stain the paper. To avoid a zebra effect, work in small areas with even strokes, whether you're using a brush, a sponge and soapy water, or a prepared wall cleaner. Remove grease spots from wall paper with a paste of fuller's earth and dry-cleaning fluid. Apply the paste thinly and taper off the edges to avoid a ring. Brush off lightly when dry. Repeat several times if necessary.

this season but are scheduled to play both of them. The Phantoms will journey to Elizabeth City November 1st and Edenton comes here the following week. The local high trounced the Edenton eleven 51-0 last season. A contest between Elizabeth City and Greenville was not scheduled during the '39' season.

State Is Expected Furnish 15,613 Men

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Tentative quotas of selective service trainees which each state will be expected to contribute to the army between November 18 and next July 1 were announced today.

They included North Carolina, 15,613.

National Selective Service headquarters compiled the quotas, basing them on estimates of the number of men in each state who are fit and available for immediate army service, with credits to each state for the number of volunteers each is estimated to have furnished the armed forces already.

The tentative quotas will be replaced by more exact figures when it is determined how many fit and available men each state has and how many volunteers each has already contributed. Quotas will be revised periodically.

THE TALE OF A Lighting Bug

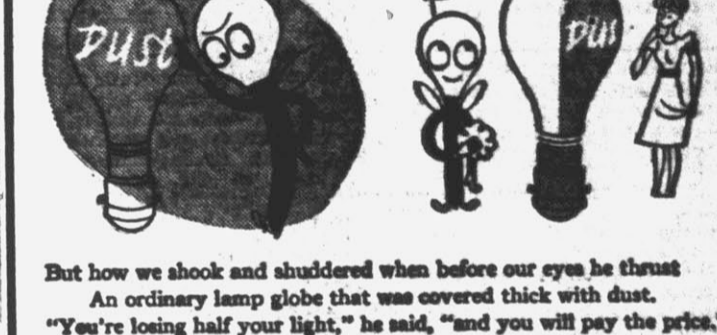

The Lighting Bug to our house one evening chanced to fare. He paused upon the threshold in the bridge-lamp's naked glare, To clap his colored glasses on and murmur, "Bless my soul, Why don't you save your vision with the new Reflector Bowl?"

Then, pouncing on the table lamp by whose enfeebled glint Poor Father sat, endeavoring to read the finer print, He cried, "That harp-shaped holder for heaven might be O. K., But here we need Reflector Bowls to turn the night to day."

A darkened corner shamed us till we heard him blithely call For vase or jug or anything just fourteen inches tall. Then, whipping out a gadget, dear, he screwed it on with ease, And lo! We owned an extra lamp, as handsome as you please.

But how we shook and shuddered when before our eyes he thrust An ordinary lamp globe that was covered thick with dust. "You're losing half your light," he said, "and you will pay the price." ... So now we live according to the Lighting Bug's advice.

New Bern Bears Hold Quakes To 0-0 Lock

Goldboro high schools' Earthquakes were stopped dead still last night by a scrappy New Bern high eleven. They fought to a 0-0 deadlock. Goldboro highs, ranked as one of the leading teams in the conference, handed the locals their only defeat this season, by a 6-0 score. Last year's game between New Bern and Greenville was a walk-away for the Phantoms, 34-0. The Phantoms will meet the New Bern aggregation later in the season in the Smith stadium.

Coach George Hunsucker's Elizabeth City gridders racked up a 58-0 win over the Edenton Aces in a conference title played in Elizabeth City yesterday. Elizabeth City is rated as the top team in the conference this season and were winners in last year's race. The Farley-men have not met either team time for such profound help has not yet come. Conditions are not yet bad enough; but they can be bad enough some time, perhaps by 1942. I, therefore, seem to me that—as part of our defense program—we should (1) Publicly make a survey of England's and Europe's needs, revising this from month to month; (2) Begin now to store in huge quantities, later to be needed supplies; (3) Constantly tell the peoples of both Great Britain and Europe that what they are teaching will sit about a conference table and settle their difficulties, we will give them these needed commodities. I believe in our present defense program; but I also know that one dollar spent on the above three-feature plan would do as much to shorten the war as five dollars spent on new battleships and the training millions of men.

cattle are butchered at one end, processed as they pass through, and come out as good cuts, sausages, and goulash at the other end. Distribution is furthered by vacuum trucks which deliver hot food 100 miles away from central sources. The same principle is used in operating bake-shops and small clothing factories on trucks. However much we hate the Nazis, we should recognize that they are teaching the world what can be accomplished with foresight and organization. One cannot over-emphasize the effect of taking an inventory of all food, clothing, and other necessities and dividing them equitably—not necessarily equally—among all.

Money Vs. Men
There is a curious development from this "control experience." Money loses its value. The rich can get no more food than the poor. The well-to-do are as limited as the less-well-off when all are on food rations. This effect, namely, the discovery that money does not bring power, is having a very great influence in Europe. Hence, the cry against Plutocrats or Plutokratens. There also is a second discovery in the Reich, namely, that to build an army and to reshape a nation under Fascism, money, as we have known it, is not needed. But I must not slip into that very interesting field of what is happening to the European money situation and to the Rothschilds as this column is about famine.

are to be found on the Speight farms. Brantley plants all of the crops on the farm from certified seed and has some left over for sale. Mrs. Speight has a flock of 200 Rhode Island Red blood-tested chickens. The foundation of the flock was Record of Performance (R. O. P.) birds. In cooperation with Farm Agent Bennett and the Poultry Extension office at State College, accurate records of production are being kept on the chickens. While at State College, Brantley was elected to membership in Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, and Lambda Gamma Delta, honorary judging fraternity. He has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Crop Improvement Association since 1938. The Speight farms are located about 2 1/2 miles south of Ballard's crossroads on U. S. Highway No. 264 between Greenville and Farmville.

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Dr. C. C. Crittenden, secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission, is today announcing approval of a batch of highway markers—featuring mostly plank roads and the famous Bechtler mint in Rutherford county.

In all the list includes eleven inscriptions, for dealing with plank roads, two with the mint and the balance about persons and things varying from Marshall Ferdinand Foch to a whale fishery.

The plank roads were forerunners of the hard-surfaced highways of today. During the fifteen years prior to the War Between the States a large number of these so-called "Farmers' Railroads" were built in North Carolina. Fayetteville led in the movement and from the Cumberland county seat they ran out in all directions.

More than two million dollars in gold was coined at the mint which was set up in 1831 in Rutherford by Christopher Bechtler, a German immigrant. It was in operation for about 25 years.

The inscriptions which have been approved, as announced by Dr. Crittenden: "Plank Roads: Fayetteville was the focal point for five plank roads chartered 1849-52. The longest was built to Bethania, 129 miles northwest." To be erected in Cumberland county.

"Plank Road: The eastern terminus of the Greenville and Raleigh plank road, chartered in 1850 and completed to Wilson by 1853 was nearby." To be erected in Wilson, Wilson county.

"Plank Road: The western terminus of the Greenville and Raleigh plank road, chartered in 1850 and completed to Wilson in 1853, was nearby." To be erected in Wilson, Wilson county.

"Bechtler's Mint: Established 1831, four miles north by Christopher Bechtler. Later stood at this point. Minted more than $2,250,000 in old. Closed about 1849." To be erected in Rutherford county.

"Bechtler's Mint: Established here, 1831. Rest of inscription as on Rutherford county marker. To be erected in Rutherford county.

"Whale Fishery: At Shackelford Banks, six miles southeast by boat, was located a whale fishery in the 18th and 19th centuries." To be erected in Beaufort, Carteret county.

"Allan Jones: Bralder General during the Revolution, member of Provincial Congress. Site of home, Mt. Gallant, 1/4 mile southwest." To be erected in Northampton county.

"Samuel Spencer: Member of the North Carolina court which, in the first officially reported opinion, declared a legislative act void as in conflict with a written constitution. 1787. Home stood 3 miles northeast."

To be erected in Anson county. "Pettigrew Hospital: Site of Confederate hospital, U. S. army barracks, Confederate Soldiers' Home, 1891-1938." To be erected in Raleigh.

"Ferdinand Foch: Commander-in-chief of allied armies, 1918, made a speech at the Union county courthouse, on December 9, 1921." To be erected at Monroe, Union county.

IT'S A GOOD TRICK WHEN YOU CAN DO IT
New York.—(AP)—Come to think about it, it really wasn't so unusual when Mrs. Louise L. Bowman, a music teacher, won an automobile for the second time this year in the Golden Key contest at the New York World's Fair. Mrs. Bowman's husband is a musician.

Is Nothing Sacred?
Durham, N. C.—(AP)—When Mrs. E. B. Cranford arose after teaching a Sunday school class she absent-mindedly left her pocketbook on the sill of an open window, facing a busy street. After the services the pocketbook was still in place but minus its contents.
