GREEKS MAKE NEW ADVANCES AGAINST ITALIANS

Turbulent Presidential Campaign Comes To An End

LAST MINUTE APPEALS MADE

Chief Executive Back In New York Home Where He Will Receive Election Returns, To Appear On Radio Program; Three Election-Eve Broadcasts Planned By Willkie

By The Associated Press

The turbulent and unpredictable 1940 presidential campaign came to the end of the trail today amid a tumult of rival claims, political oratory and urgent last-minute appeals for votes.

The crowded closing hours held little in keeping with the old tradition of a quiet election eve. Apart from the final messages which President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie were to make to the electorate, both Democratic and Republican parties marshaled speakers, national and local, for a series of 11th hour broadcasts.

Mr. Roosevelt, back in New York where he will receive the returns tomorrow night at his Hyde Park home, set aside his day for campaigning among his Hudson valley neighbors, very much as he did on the eve of the 1936 election.

His final message to the electorate will highlight the two-hour nationwide program (NBC, CBS, MBS from 10 p. m. to midnight EST) arranged by the Democratic National Committee. Mr. Roosevelt will speak from Hyde Park shortly after 11 p. m. Henry A. Wallace, his partner on the ticket, also will make a final address.

At first it was thought Mr. Roosevelt might use the occasion for another major political address, but this belief was discounted after his assertion at Cleveland Saturday that he was then making his "final national address of the campaign." Present expectations were that he would simply urge all eligible voters to exercise their franchise tomorrow.

Willkie, winding up his strenuous marathon campaign, had three major speaking engagements on his election eve schedule. The first was his closing speech to the women of America (CBS 3:15 p. m.). Then he will take to the air again (CBS 10:15 p. m.) with Senator McNary of Oregon, his running mate, and return to the networks for his last word in an hour-long program (over all major chains) ending at 1 a. m. election day.

The character of Willkie's three final addresses was not indicated. Democratic National Chairman Flynn first predicted a minimum of 427 electoral votes for Mr. Roosevelt, but then increased his estimate to an undisclosed figure.

Republican National Chairman Martin meanwhile claimed a Willkie minimum of 324 electoral votes, a comfortable margin over the 266 necessary for election.

Generally fair weather was expected to produce a record-breaking outpouring of almost 50,000,000 voters.

M. K. Blount to Make Appeal Over Radio

A 15-minute non-partisan address will be delivered over radio station WGTC by M. K. Blount tonight between 6:45 and 7 p. m.

The address will be on the subject of citizenship as it applies to voting and the purpose will be to get as large a vote as possible in tomorrow's general election.

A campaign has been waged throughout the country in the hopes of piling up a record vote here tomorrow. The drive has been under the direction of Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee.

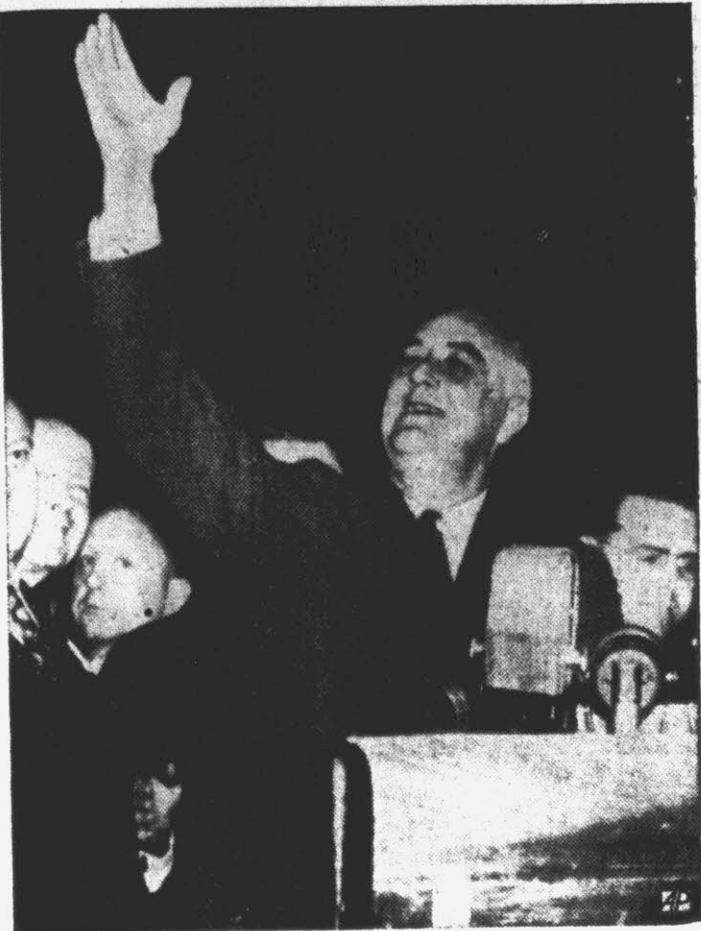

Wrong Number

Saturday's issue of the Reflector contained a story advising citizens that the City Street Department would remove leaves after they had been raked up and urging persons to call the department.

A transposition of two figures in the printing of the news story caused many citizens to call the wrong number.

The correct number of the City Sanitary Department is 3583.

President Closes Formal Campaign

Surrounded by smiling supporters at Cleveland, President Roosevelt acknowledges the ovation of a crowd estimated at 20,000 just before he delivered his final major address. The President said he was "proud" of his opposition which he described as the "forces of dictatorship."

Arrangements Made For Election Night Party

Radio Station WGTC Added To Regular Facilities

All arrangements for The Daily Reflector election returns party tomorrow night have been completed which will make it possible for the paper to furnish the most complete coverage more quickly to the entire population of Pitt County than ever before.

In addition to our usual facilities for handling returns and publishing an election extra we have secured the services of radio station WGTC and will be on the air with returns far into the night just as quickly as votes are tabulated at the various polling places throughout the country and placed on the wires.

WGTC microphones will be placed in our news rooms to bring you the returns direct from our wires simultaneously with announcing them over our own loud speaker system in front of our office. Other microphones will be placed at strategic points in order that details on the progress of the party can be broadcast for the benefit of those who find it impossible to attend in person and remain by their radio for the returns.

Reports from some sections of the county have already come in that Reflector radio parties are being arranged whereby persons of the community will gather together for an evening of fellowship and listen to the broadcasts together.

We invite all our friends in Pitt county and surrounding territory to attend our party in front of our office or keep their radios tuned to station WGTC for quick and complete Daily Reflector election returns tomorrow night.

Week's County Court Set For Wednesday

The regular weekly session of Pitt county court usually held on Tuesday has been postponed until Wednesday on account of tomorrow being Election Day and the court house, one of the polling places will be closed for the day.

The city hall, ABC stores and possibly a few other places will be closed although no general holiday will be observed.

Number One Potatoes

More than one section of Pitt county is adaptable to producing Irish potatoes and conclusive proof of this was demonstrated today by Fate Worthington of near Ballard's crossroads, who brought three number one potatoes dug from one hill to The Reflector office.

FLIERS LOCATE MISSING PLANE

Fate Of Passengers And Crew Undetermined, However

Salt Lake City, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A missing United Airlines plane with 10 aboard was located today on the ground in the mountain country north of Centerville, Utah.

The plane was sighted by searching fliers.

They radioed to the Salt Lake airport that the plane did not appear to be in bad condition, the pilot, Captain Howard Fey, seemingly having attempted a forced landing.

The transport disappeared early this morning during a snowstorm.

Ground parties started for the scene, which is 10 miles north of Salt Lake City.

A United Airlines flier who spotted the grounded plane, said low-hanging clouds obscured his vision. He was unable to determine whether any of the seven passengers or crew of three had survived the crash-up.

He said the plane was in a canyon on the south side of 7,000-foot Bountiful peak.

Illness Is Fatal To Retired Army Officer

He lived for some years at Louisville, N. C., and was a state senator. He spent the last 10 years of his life in Charleston and devoted his time to writing.

His widow and eight children survive.

RAF BOMBERS WAGE ATTACKS AGAINST FOES

Far-Ranging Planes Assault Kiel And Naples

LULL IN NAZI AERIAL SIEGE

Lone German Raider Breaks Quiet of London After Interlude Lasting Almost 24 Hours

London, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Successful attacks by far-ranging British bombers last night on Kiel, Germany's great naval base, and Naples, port and industrial city in southern Italy, were reported today by the Air Ministry.

A brief communique said the raids were carried out "in spite of extremely difficult weather conditions" by planes of the bomber command.

It was the second British raid on Naples in four days. The communique, like the announcement of the first raid, failed to indicate what bases the British raiders operated from.

The Italian communique said the British bombers were "met by a barrage of anti-aircraft fire" and were forced to drop their bombs in open country where one person was killed and several injured.

Londoners heard the scream of air raid sirens, the bark of anti-aircraft fire and the explosive thud of bombs late this afternoon after an interlude in the Nazi aerial siege lasting almost 24 hours.

Throughout last night there was quiet, but at tea time an uproar broke the silence as a single raider swooped into the metropolitan area, dropping several bombs.

The Sunday night of quiet was the first that London had enjoyed since September 7. There were reports of Nazi activity over East Anglia this morning.

First Place Won By Green Lights

A first-place award was given "Green Lights," local high school newspaper, at the sixteenth annual convention of the Southern Inter-scholastic Press Association, which met in Lexington, Va., during the week-end.

Perce Wells, Troy Riddle, and Miss Estelle Greene represented the school at the convention, which is sponsored by Washington and Lee university.

Three hundred and forty delegates, representing nine southern states, heard Peter C. Rhodes, foreign correspondent for the United Press, and Gilbert P. Farrar, making up expert, round-table discussions of newspaper problems were conducted during the conference.

The criticism given "Green Lights" was positive and suggested ways of improving the paper. "The general appearance and make-up of this paper is excellent," stated the newsmen who judged the papers.

The editorial page, setting the pace for the other pages, shows a progressive publication, and the large amount of important news which fills the inside pages shows a wide-awake school.

"The staff should strive to maintain its present standard of excellence, and work for a bi-weekly as soon as practicable."

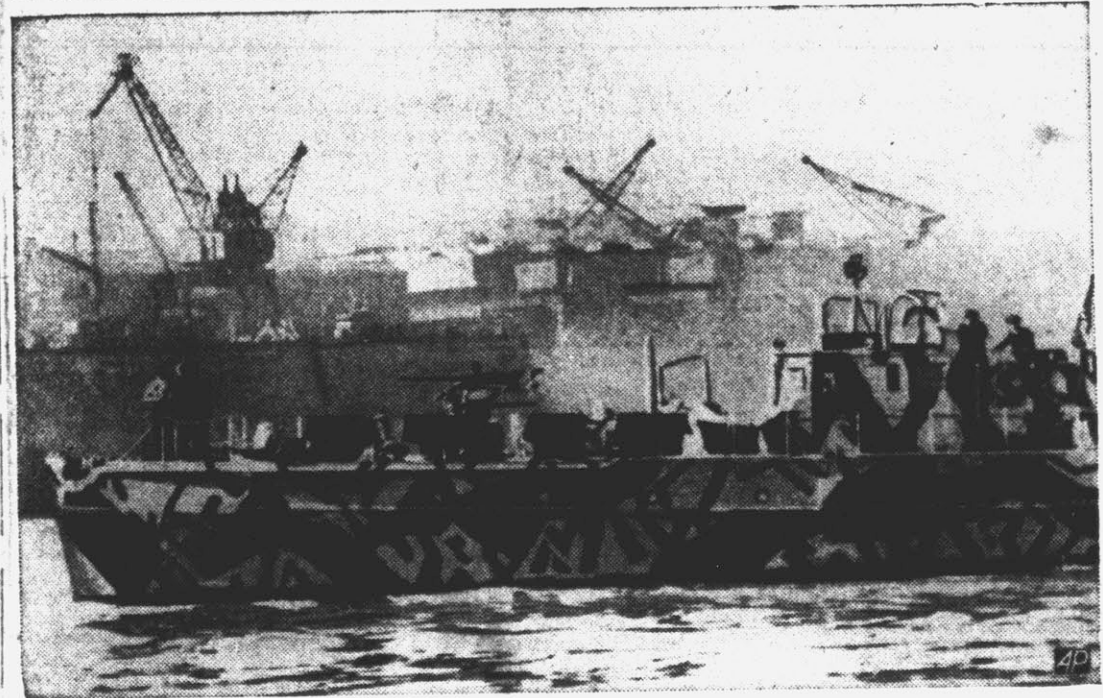

V. M. Mulholland, faculty adviser for "Green Lights," was placed on the advisory staff of the S. I. P. A. for the coming year.

In reference to advertisements, the judges stated, "The advertisements are well-displayed and the majority put across an interesting sales message."

Goldsboro, Raleigh, Durham, Rocky Mount and Statesville were also represented at the convention. Greenville has been represented at the convention for the past five years and each year "Green Lights" has been acclaimed one of the best papers in the South.

Missionary groups prefer to send into the field men from 23 to 30 years old; it is believed they learn native languages more readily than older workers.

EXPECT HEAVY VOTE IN PITT

Eleven County Candidates Without Opposition

Eleven names appear on the official Pitt county ballot to be voted in tomorrow's general election, the 11 being Democrats without any Republican opposition, 11 Democrats and 11 Republicans appear on the state ballot and the names of the candidates for president and vice president on the presidential ballot.

This year marks the first time the names of the candidates themselves appear on the presidential ballot in this state. Heretofore the names of the electors of the two parties were printed.

J. H. Harrell, chairman of the County Board of Elections, has reiterated today that the demand for absentee ballots indicated a big vote would be cast in the county tomorrow. The time for securing absentee ballots, except in case of sudden sickness which expires today, ended Saturday.

Chairman Harrell declared, however, he had been busy with requests today and explaining why they were not available.

The official ballot lists candidates as follows:

Presidential: Democrats, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Henry A. Wallace; Republicans, Wendell L. Willkie and Charles L. McNary.

Negro Is Slain In Hit-Run Accident

A Simpson Negro was killed in one hit-and-run wreck and a Williamson white man suffered a broken back in another such wreck in Pitt county during the week-end.

Alleged drivers in both instances have been arrested and each was given a preliminary hearing before magistrates this morning.

Jesse R. Chapman was killed when struck by an automobile about 8:30 o'clock on a dirt road leading from the highway to Simpson. Val Lee Gray, alleged driver of the car, who was arrested by State Highway patrolmen and members of the sheriff's office about 1 o'clock this morning, was given a preliminary hearing and bond was set at $500. Three other Negroes in the car were convicted of drunkenness and fined $17.45 each. They were Bertha Lee Coppedge, Walter Gatlin and Charlie James Little.

Grant Allen of Williamson is in a Tarboro hospital, said to be suffering with a broken back as a result of having been struck by a car purportedly being driven by Roy Howard, Tarboro Negro, on the Bethel-Tarboro highway near the county line about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. Howard was given a preliminary hearing this morning and bond fixed at $500. Allen was said to have been walking along the highway.

Howard was arrested by patrolmen who happened along the scene of the collision shortly after the man was struck.

GERMAN DRIVE ON SUEZ SEEN

Eastward Campaign Invisioned By Foreign Observers

Bern, Switzerland, Nov. 4.—(AP)—An early German drive to the east toward the Suez canal by way of Turkey's Dardanelles, was envisioned by foreign observers today as the result to be expected from an Axis conference in Germany.

Italian Foreign Minister Count Ciano was reported to have left his active command of Fascist air forces attacking Greece to meet with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Franz von Papen, the Nazi ambassador to Turkey, said by Berlin to be grousing shooting in Moravia.

British and neutral observers both said they felt the conference was a final military discussion before Germany moved out from Rumania, into which diplomatic quarters in the Balkans said the Nazis were moving great masses of troops toward the vital Dardanelles.

(Reports from Bucharest indicated Russia has 31 divisions and three mechanized brigades mobilized in Bessarabia and Bucovina on the border of Rumania, while a British military expert estimated Germany was concentrating 70 divisions in the Balkans.)

The Nazi Police Chief Heinrich Himmler, was reported in some quarters to be in Rumania and German action often has coincided with his travels.

Supply Base Of Koritza Is Circled

British Reported Preparing To Throw 45,000 Troops Into The War Against Italy; Greek And British Warplanes Attack Fascist Forces; Great Britain Also Lending Naval Assistance

By The Associated Press

Fighting over snow-blanketed mountains, Greek Alpine troops were reported to have driven seven miles into an Italian-held Albania today, ringing the Fascist supply base at Koritza and capturing 1,200 Italian prisoners.

In further support of the eight-day-old Greek defense, the British were reported preparing to send three army divisions, about 45,000 troops, to combat the Italian invasion.

British and Greek warplanes inflicted heavy casualties in low-flying attacks on Italian troops massed along the Greek-Albanian frontier, dispatches said.

A British broadcast said RAF raiders, accompanied by Greek planes, also attacked the Albanian capital, Tirana, and partly destroyed the palace of former King Zog, now being used as an Italian military headquarters.

Dispatches from Yugoslavia said that the fall of Koritza in the northern sector of the 100-mile Balkan war front was "expected momentarily."

In the southern sector Greek defenders were said to have repulsed Italian columns in fierce hand-to-hand fighting with bayonets and grenades.

The Greek high command said a heavy Italian attack in the mountains of Epirus province, preceded by 15 consecutive bombing forays against Greek defense positions, had been routed with the destruction of nine Fascist tanks.

Official circles in London confirmed that British troops now have landed on the Greek isle of Crete, opposite the Italian Bodecanese Islands. The British poured $50,000,000 into Greece's defense efforts.

British naval assistance in striking at the Italian invasion was also indicated in sketchy reports of a sea battle Sunday evening west of the island of Corfu at the lower end of the Greek-Albanian frontier.

The Athens radio said that 30 minutes after firing at sea was heard "a large vessel was seen ablaze, steaming northward" toward Italian defense bases, indicating that the ship was Italian.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

HARD TO HOLD ONE'S IDEALS

"When I was a boy," a speaker said recently in an after-dinner speech, "I had a hound dog. Early in the morning he would start out to the hills, and his bark would be deep and ominous. He was on his way to get a deer. Later in the morning you could hear him as he ran the trails up on the mountain, barking in a more staccato tone, and we knew then that he was after a fox. In the afternoon when he whined, we knew he was digging under a stone for a chipmunk."

Many lives start out that way and end that way. The first enthusiasm is for big things. This dwindles into satisfaction with little things. Life ends at last with a whine, as we dig under stones for chipmunks.

There is nothing so hard in life as to maintain through the whole of it the ideals we had in our youth—to start out for a deer and never be satisfied until we get it. There is nothing so dismal as the whine of a man who in middle age apologizes for having given up his youthful ideals, or in old age looks back and is sour about the deer from deer to fox, from fox to chipmunk, from the deep baying of a hound on the trail of something big to a pitiful whimper at the day's end, as a man declares himself satisfied with a chipmunk.

Decline is not inevitable. It occurs because men are satisfied with something less than the best. (All Rights Reserved—Babson Newspaper Syndicate)

BE SURE TO VOTE

The people of the United States will have the opportunity to go to the polls tomorrow to name their officials from President down to Township Constable, and this right to have a part in the naming of our officials is not only a privilege of our citizenship but likewise a solemn duty. Democracy is built on the rule of the majority but when qualified voters remain away from the polls they are shirking their duty and making it possible for a minority to really name our officials.

We will not try to tell you how to vote, for as a voter you have the intelligence to make your choice, but we do feel that you should perform this important duty by casting your ballot.

We have no doubt that Pitt County will, as usual, vote overwhelmingly Democratic in tomorrow's election, but remember every vote cast is a reflection of our attitudes as citizens and regardless of whether you vote Democratic or Republican, we urge you to cast your vote tomorrow. The more votes cast throughout the nation, the more representative our government will be. If you don't like Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Willkie and would rather stay away from the polls than to vote for either, we remind you that there is still your state, district and county ticket, and to be sure you should want to avail yourself of the opportunity to vote for them. While it is always most desirable that straight tickets be cast, there is still the opportunity for you to vote your choices between the individual candidates for the offices, so in this way you can express your likes and dislikes. In other words, there is no reason why the returns from Pitt County, and all other counties, should not reflect the true picture of the wishes and desires of the citizenry, and it is for this reason that we urge you to vote. How you vote is your business.

Your Most Important Task Tomorrow

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinner

Washington—When you are looking back on the Presidential campaign and sifting out the odds for your memory book, see if you can find things to match these Presidential oddities from ancient history:

John Scott Harrison was both father and son of Presidents, the father of Benjamin and the son of William Henry. . . . Martin Van Buren was the first of the Presidents who was not born a British subject. . . . Virginia still is the "mother of Presidents." Her native sons who have risen to the highest office are Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, William Henry Harrison, Taylor, Tyler and Wilson. . . . Mrs. Victoria Claflin Woodhull was nominated for the Presidency in 1872. . . . Almost one-third of the men who have been elected chief executive have been slaveholders. . . . Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Tyler, Polk, Taylor, Johnson and Grant. . . . William Henry Harrison and Zachary Taylor are the only Presidents who have died in the White House. . . . The elections of Jefferson, John Quincy Adams and Rutherford B. Hayes all were decided by Congress. . . . Lincoln, the anti-slavery President, was born in Dixie (What is now Lenoir county, Kentucky) while his chief political opponent, Stephen A. Douglas, was a son of the north born in Vermont.

The Shortest Term
William Henry Harrison was President exactly one month. David R. Atchison, senator from that state, should be listed as one of the Presidents. Polk's term expired March 3 and Zachary Taylor was not inaugurated until March 5, 1849; there was no Vice-President and as president pro tem of the senate, Atchison was President but he was not sworn in. . . . Washington received only $25,000 salary for his entire first term, after which the salary was raised to $25,000 a year, which is the same amount as the present Presidential expense fund, the salary having been raised to $75,000.

President Roosevelt's first term was 41 days shorter than that of any other President since Washington, who served a full term. . . . Cases of the "Lame Duck" amendment which showed the inauguration back from March 20. . . . In Monroe's second term, he received all but one of the votes of the electoral college. . . . Neither Lincoln nor Wilson in their first terms, received a majority of the popular vote of the country.

Taft Got Two States

President Johnson, in his early days, was an illiterate tailor—William Howard Taft carried only two states when he ran against Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, Utah and Vermont. . . . William Rufus King, Franklin Pierce's vice-president, was the only one ever to take the oath of office outside the United States and the only vice-president who never was in Washington after his election; he took the oath of office in Cuba, where he had gone for his health and died six weeks later after returning to his Alabama plantation.

Both North and South Carolina claim the birth place of Andrew Jackson. . . . The first national party convention wasn't held until 1831, when the Anti-Masonic party met in Baltimore. . . . Vice-presidents originally were the men who received the second largest number of votes for President. . . . Only since June, 1924, has an Indian been eligible for the Presidency. . . . Elbridge Gerry, who as Madison's vice-president presided over the senate, resigned the vice-presidency to become a senator.

Although it was organized in 1900 and has had a Presidential nominee in every election since, the Socialist party has had only two nominees: Eugene V. Debs and Norman Thomas.

Finn President Chips In

Helsinki (AP)—President Kaarlo, still critically ill but believed on the way to recovery after a recent heart attack, leads the nation in the "share your farm" program. About 120 acres is being cut away from his 640-acre farm to make four small farms for refugees from the war-torn border districts.

Short Shots

Raleigh, Nov. 4.—What happened in the presidential election of 1936 is perhaps no more important right now than the still unanswered question of "Who won the World War of 1914-18?" but an occasional bit of past history may not be amiss on this, the eve of the 1940 polling.

It's been said too many times to need repeating, but we start with the fact that Roosevelt received 6141 votes in North Carolina in 1936 to 223,293 for Alf Landon, G. O. P. standard bearer.

One of the first striking facts is that if the entire state should vote tomorrow in the same proportion that Allegheny, Ashe and Clay counties voted four years ago, there wouldn't be talk about a possible 900,000 votes. The question would be how far above a million and a half the total would soar.

That's true because in the presidential election of 1936, Allegheny voted 46 per cent of its 1940 population (which would make it even higher for the folks it then had); Clay counted the votes of 44.7 per cent of its total population; and Ashe got ballots from 44.6 per cent of all the men, women and children within its confines, or voted by absentee ballot.

That gives the three counties a 45 per cent average. If Tar Heels would turn out all over the state like that the poll holders would have the big job of counting 1,603,428 presidential ballots tomorrow night.

In 1936 Roosevelt carried 93 North Carolina counties, Landon had seven. The units which fought against the Roosevelt tide were Avery, Clay, Davie, Madison, Mitchell, Wilkes and Yadkin.

Biggest Landon votes was in a county where the Republicans didn't

THE ROAD TO SHAN LUN

by Rita Muller Hanson

Chapter 34

Tara's Prisoner

TEMU glanced at the mouth from which those words came as if for a moment he contemplated some sort of sweet violence against it. "Some day, somebody's going to nip off the end of that sharp little tongue of yours if you don't reform."

She shrugged. "You see," she said, "we start out to play and we end up in a quarrel. There's no goodness in me."

He turned his pony aside to round a sharp outcrop of shale. "You can be mighty sweet when you want to be. You are the Tara. You look like the Tara."

"Perhaps I do look like the Tara," she admitted, and added angrily, "It is a coincidence that Sherdick took advantage of his princeling wanted a white wife and no adventures. They looked me up and decided I'd do."

Temu's brows had drawn together. "You would make out everyone to be scheming and insincere."

She stared at him a moment, her lips parted. "You're right," she agreed suddenly. "That is the way I was taught to use my mind—to distrust everyone until he proves himself."

"You didn't distrust your half-brother."

"And I was a fool. You see the trouble it brought upon me."

"Do you still distrust me?"

"I distrust your loyalty to your Prince. A girl might forgive a man who goes to any length to win her for himself, but when he breaks all the laws to secure her for another man, it's not so complimentary."

Temu grinned. "I stand corrected."

Across the plain from the north appeared tiny moving specks on the landscape. Though the glasses they proved to be a splendidly mounted band of horsemen armed to the teeth.

"Chinese opium runners most likely," he said. "They follow the less frequented trails of hill and desert. Probably headed for Landon."

A thrill of excitement went through Lynn. "Or they may be a party of Dick's men out looking for me."

Temu increased the pace of his lame horse. "I can see they are not, but still I wish to avoid them." Lynn hung back. He halted and called, "Come! Hurry!"

She took her time and when she caught up, he deliberately dismounted. "I don't want to hurry," she said.

He was out of his saddle in a flash and strode to her side. "Mount your horse at once, Lynn."

Instead she sat down on a convenient boulder. He caught hold of her upper arms and drew her to her feet. "Lynn, my dear, you would have fallen had he not supported her. He shook her a bit. 'Shall I tie you to your horse?'"

"How long would it take?" she asked calmly, her eyes on the fast approaching cavalcade. Lynn was a tall girl, firmly built and well proportioned. He lifted her as lightly as if she were a dummy and fastened her to the saddle with a leather thong about her waist. Then he mounted his own horse, caught up her pony's rein, and made for the breaks of a deep canyon.

Hard Crossing
IT WAS one of the greatest chasms that Lynn had ever seen. On some of the more terrifying ledges she was glad to be tied to the saddle. In one particular place iron crowbars had been thrust into the perpendicular, and on these cross-pieces, broad flat stones were placed.

Temu dismounted and led his horse across while Lynn watched with suspended breath. The animal trembled with fear, but there was some power in the man that compelled obedience. When it had almost completed the passage it stumbled. Lynn stifled a scream. Lynn jumped back nimbly, escaping death by a hair's breadth, and somehow, drew the horse safely after him.

He came back to Lynn's side. A little sprinkle of golden-brown freckles stood out across the bridge of her nose. He regarded her pallor for a moment before he spoke.

"Don't be frightened, Tara Lynn. It is not in the stars that harm shall come to you on the desert road. Will you ride across or walk?"

"I'd rather fly," she said tremulously.

He smiled and unfettered the thong that bound her and had her dismount. He took one of her hands.

"To fly is not impossible." His hand on hers had power. Her consciousness lifted.

He drew her easily to the firm footing of solid ground on the farther side. She stood leaning against him a moment, breathing deep and slow, her eyes shut while he scrutinized the long lashes trembling against cheeks in which faint color pulsed. Then she stepped back and looked at him, a vague smile curving her lips.

"You must have hypnotized me," she said. He did not deny it. "All ideas are hypnotic. Cling to those that do not limit your powers."

Willkie At Final Major Rally

Wendell L. Willkie wound up the major part of his campaign in Madison Square Garden, New York, and here he is receiving a warm reception. The Republican nominee for President said he wanted to be the "master of no man" but sought to be the people's servant.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tuckman

New York.—There was once a cat. This feline belonged to Max Aronoff, violinist of the Curtis String quartet, and many were the puns as to whether poor Tabby would eventually wind up as an E-string on his master's fiddle.

No, he did not become an E-string or anything of the sort. But he is dead now, dearer than Hector. He died early one morning a few days ago.

When this happened the violinist's wife carefully wrapped him up in brown paper and set out for the pound. She reasoned that the people there no doubt could dispose of the remains more suitably than she.

But then, you know how it is on the subway. You sit down and get to thinking about things and sometimes you change your mind. That's what Mrs. Aronoff did.

"No," she decided, "I won't do it. I'll take him back home and bury him in the garden."

So she picked up poor kitty and got off the train, and got on another going in the opposite direction. Then she walked around the corner to her home. She got out a little hole and dug a little grave in the shadow of the gladioli. Then she unwrapped poor kitty, and you can imagine her consternation when kitty turned out to be a leg of lamb.

It came to her, then, that a fellow on the subway had a package that looked just like hers.

The Columbia people have brought out an album of records by the late Bessie Smith, "Empress of the Blues," who rose out of the South weighing 200 pounds some 23 years ago to become the most widely advertised blues singer in America. At one time her income reached $2,000 a week. Bessie's popularity went into a decline shortly before she died three years ago, notably because Ethel Waters came along at that time and eclipsed just about every blues singer in the country.

The interesting point about these belated releases is that some of them have never been heard by the public. They constitute a collector's item in a form of American music that is as native as catfish and cornbread.

Cops, late prowlers, and milkmen go an awful when they passed the Music Hall the other night. After the last show and efficiency crew rushed in and, between 1 o'clock and dawn, laid a new carpet in the Music Hall foyer. This carpet covered exactly 7,200 square feet, and probably cost that many dollars.

The new was an exact duplicate of the old. It was designed by Ruth Reeves, and is known as the Somerset pattern. Perhaps you remember it from your visits here.

Heroine of our non-superstition club this week is blonde Doris Dudley, star of "Meet Mr. Meek." She recently leased the apartment where George Weinberg, witness at the Hines-Dewey trial, committed suicide.

RUSSIA'S FILL BLANKS ON MAP OF ASIA

Moscow (AP)—Blank spots on maps of the Far East have been filled in by expeditions which have completed charting the vast Asiatic territory of Russia.

Two-thirds of the Far East had been explored by topographers before the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The All-Union Aerial Institute and a Cosmopol aerial photographic expedition reported they have finished the work.

East Carolina Pirates Back In Winning Column Again

TAKE VICTORY OVER QUAKERS

Score 13-0 Win Over Guilford Team On Saturday

East Carolina's Pirates had their heavy guns unlimbered at Guilford last Saturday, and swamped the Quaker school 13-0, displaying the best offense shown to date. The issue was never in doubt from the opening kickoff, as the Pirates took command of the field and pushed the heavier Guilford eleven around at will.

At no time did the Guilford eleven, playing before a homecoming crowd of five thousand, penetrate beyond the Pirates thirty five yard stripe, and most of the afternoon was spent in their territory. The Pirates got off to a good start midway in the second quarter on a home run play that featured a thirty-five yard pass McFee to Craven. Craven caught the ball on the seven yard line, eluded one tackler, and went over standing up. The rest of the second period saw the Pirates threatening time and again only to have each drive broken up by a stubborn defense in the shadow of the Guilford goal posts.

The Christenbrymen did not score again until the waning moments of the final period, when Bob Young took the ball from M. P. on a reverse and went twenty-eight yards around left end for the marker. McFee added the first try for point by plunging over, and missed the second from the playmen.

It was McFee's day from the opening whistle, as the fighting Irishman ran for a total of 112 yards and passed for 39. He has not been in better fettle all year, and until he retired from the game with five minutes to go with a shoulder injury had literally run the Quakers off the field with his savage ball carrying. He did not make the longest runs of the day, but time and again he picked up five, six and eight yards after it had appeared that he had been downed by a swarm of Guilford tacklers.

The Pirates held a distinct advantage in every department of play outlasting the Quakers 202 yards to 47, running up eleven first downs to their two, edging them in passing with a yardage of 55 for 40, while the punts of McFee and Murray averaged 41 yards to the Quakers 37.

The other men in the Pirate backfield and forward played above any performance given so far this season with Bob Young coming into his own in the last half of the game to gain 52 yards from scrimmage after being bottled up during the first period. Murray, Evans, Davidson and Waddell also carried their share of the load piling up yardage when it was needed. Davidson's savage tackling featured the final period of the game, one of them being the most vicious that any man of the East Carolina squad has made all year. The sound of contact could be heard to the sidelines every time he met a man in the final stanza.

Captain Christenbury has expressed himself as being well pleased with the manner in which the boys played and with two weeks to whip the boys into shape for the homecoming tilt against High Point should be ready for the Panthers even though they rate much stronger on paper than the Pirates.

FILLERS — FILLERS — FILLERS
WOMAN, 88, FOUNDER OF 'GLOOM CHASERS'

Bowling Green, Mo. (AP) — The Gloom Chasers' club, started a few years ago by Mrs. Sally Hogue, 88, entertains shut-ins and the aged with humorous programs. There are no dues, but members take this oath: "We who belong to the noble order of gloom chasers will support the order in spirit and truth until Old Man Gloom is banished. Old Man Gloom will never enter my workshop again, so help me gloom chasers, and we are gloom chasers until death do us part."

The Canadian National railways expect to ship about 2,000,000 Christmas trees to the United States this year.

Three Warner Coached Gridders Are Picked On All-Time Outfit

By SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer

San Jose, Calif.—The man who has coached many a football star during his long career thinks that three of them deserve places on any all-time All-American team. Pop Warner, recalling all the gridiron greats, names Jim Thorpe, Jim Peck, and Ernie Nevers to his all-time team. Only two stars of the last decade—Ernie Smith and Harry Smith of Southern California—are on the outfit.

Of his choices, Warner, now advisory coach at San Jose State, says:

"These selections cover a wide range of years, which might indicate that outstanding players keep coming up with some regularity."

"On the other hand, football has advanced so much in recent years—there are so many good players today—that perhaps some of these earlier ones would not be outstanding in the modern game. But they were standouts in their time, and their reputation has lasted through the years."

His team:

Ends, Frank Hinkey, Yale, 1892; Brick Muller, California, 1921.

Tackles, "Fat" Henry, Washington and Jefferson, 1919; Ernie Smith, Southern California, 1930.

Guards, "Pudge" Heffelfinger, Yale, 1889; Harry Smith, Southern California, 1939.

Center, Boj Peck, Pittsburgh, 1915.

Backs, Jim Thorpe, Carlisle, 1912; Willie Heston, Michigan, 1904; Red Grange, Illinois, 1925; Ernie Nevers, Stanford, 1925.

Let "Pop" tell you about his team:

Hinkey Great
"Hinkey, the great Yale end of the early 90s, was not a big fellow, but he was tricky and a great leader and field general. Muller, a member of Andy Smith's first 'wonder team' at California, was big and fast. He participated in an early Rose Bowl victory."

"Fat Henry of Washington and Jefferson was one of the best tackles I've ever seen. He was one of the fastest big men ever to play, in addition to being a great defensive tackle was a polished place kicker. For the other tackle one must consider Marshall Newell of

GLENN (POP) WARNER: With San Jose Drum Majorette

Harvard, who made Walter Camp's All-American team for four years in the early 90s, but I believe my choice would be Ernie Smith of Southern California.

"At guard 'Pudge' Heffelfinger of Yale, who played in 1889 and made the first All-American team, was one of the first to demonstrate that a lineman could get into interference. For the other guard I don't know of any man I'd rather have than Harry Smith of last year's U. S. C. team."

Peck Aggressive
"At center I'd put Boj Peck of Pittsburgh. Germany Schultz of Michigan, considered a great player was a bigger man than Peck, but Peck was wonderfully aggressive and a great leader."

"In the backfield, except for fullback—where I'd put Ernie Nevers, who played for me at Stanford—I would not designate individual positions. In addition to Nevers I want Jim Thorpe of Carlisle, Willie Heston of Michigan and Red Grange of Illinois."

Grange Tops
"Grange was the greatest open field runner. Thorpe also was a wonderful open field man. He also had plenty of weight for line plunging, was great at putting and place kicking and had speed and all round ability."

Heston was a big fellow, powerful, a good runner and very clever. Nevers, the most consistently good fullback, was fairly fast, a clever open field runner and a powerful passer and kicker."

"Some coaches would probably pick Walter Eckersall in the backfield, but I think these choices better all around. Harmon of Michigan might deserve a place, but he hasn't finished his playing career and you have to judge a man on his complete record in college."

back at the hands of rivals who liked his idea enough to attempt freezing him out; of his successful counter-attack and triumph. This comes in a dramatic climax revolving about the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, a tragedy first told in England by Reuter's service and precipitating a parliamentary discussion of Reuter's reliability. (The name as the picture insists, is Reuter, not Rooters.)

"Dulcy" Ann Sothorn, Roland Young, Billie Burke, Ian Hunter.

That dizzy dame's here again, with faux pas to spare, in a dizzy comedy helped no end by Miss Sothorn's comedy gifts.

Paris Takes Up Electric Bicycle.
Paris (AP) — A bicycle powered with a storage battery motor is the latest contribution to the transportation problem here.

The motor, placed on the front wheel, gears directly to the tire. The two batteries are fixed over the rear wheel and the whole outfit weighs about 15 pounds.

The inventor believes it will maintain a speed of about 16 miles an hour. Batteries may be electrically recharged at home at a cost of one cent and can be used for 10,000 miles.

DROP IN TAXES IS WELCOMED

This Decline Doesn't Disappoint — Encourages

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERVIE

Raleigh, Nov. 1. — For the first time in several months, the total of North Carolina's general fund tax collections has shown a decrease, but this is a decline which does not disappoint—in fact it is a decrease which Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell says testifies to a steady improvement in at least one line of business.

It may sound illogical, or paradoxical, or something to say that improved business for Tar Heel railroads has resulted in decreased tax collections for October, 1940; but that's exactly what the commissioner says, and he believes he can prove it.

Here's how his argument goes. Several years ago when the rail were having a terrific struggle to keep their tracks from becoming lines of rust, it was quite the custom for them to beg for an extension of time in which to pay their franchise taxes. Now, with better business, they pay them when they're due and without plea for postponement of the evil day.

Thus rail franchise taxes which were paid in November of 1939 were paid in October of 1939; and this year in September.

Hence the total franchise taxes collected in November of 1939 showed a marked drop, because they had been paid in October; and this year the October total went down because these levies were paid in September, when every item of receipts went soaring.

That's why yesterday's release of figures for October collections carried a notation of an 8.76 per cent ($27,193.47) decline in total Revenue Division receipts. Franchise tax collections were off almost $400,000, which more than counterbalanced increases reaching a quarter million dollars in other categories.

Take these always-barometrical levies—sales and gasoline. The former was up a cool hundred thousand, reaching $1,105,537.83 as compared with $1,005,918.19 last October, while the latter continued its practically uninterrupted climb by moving up to $2,463,605.01 from $2,278,747.34 in October, 1939.

Privilege levies were up nearly $25,000; income taxes climbed almost $30,000; the beverage tax yield was $34,000 higher. On the motor vehicle division side license taxes, driver's license title fees, bus and franchise taxes all went upward.

The motor vehicle increase was almost sufficient to wipe out completely the drop in revenue division funds caused by the franchise tax drop.

This increase amounted to $226,493.87, leaving the grand total of collections from all sources in October only $10,699 short of the October, 1939, figures—exact comparisons showing $5,221,482.29 collected last month against $5,232,181.35. The decrease was, therefore, the microscopic one of two-tenths of one per cent.

For the four months of the current fiscal year the figures still show increases of 8.10 per cent for the Revenue Division and 4.66 per cent for the motor vehicle bureau classifications.

Here are the figures:

	1939	1940
Revenue	$11,829,804.61	$12,787,511.91
Division

The growing national interest in education, welfare of youth and mobilization for democracy lends added significance to this observance. Books play an essential part in education, both in and out of school. They help to develop alert and intelligent citizens. They are "adventure, love, beauty, conscience, and the bright, shining coin of happiness." BOOK WEEK challenges us to inform ourselves of the book facilities in our community and to work with those who are trying to bring more books within the reach of our boys and girls.

Let BOOK WEEK give you a fresh start in your reading; see the new books in library and bookstore. Plan to visit the school exhibits and see what is being done in classrooms to encourage good reading. Give your children the companionship of books in your home to help them grow into happy, well balanced men and women.

The Parents' shelf has been attracting quite a bit of attention. Last week Mrs. D. M. Clark contributed four books to the shelf. And this week the Training School Parent-Teacher Association will come in a body to become acquainted with the books.

Comments on books—Mrs. Frank Wooten found "The Heart is a Lonely Hunter" fascinating reading. Mrs. Boley Farley praised very highly "Who Tells Me True." Mrs. Milton White enjoyed "Raleigh's Eden."

"I Married Adventure" was thrilling to Mrs. Carl Adams. Miss Nellie Denny recommended very highly "Polish Profile," as did also Mrs. W. A. Browne.

and make his or her own selection.

A member of the library staff overheard a little girl looking at a group of children's books and to herself, "These are my best friends."

All magazines except the current issues are circulated just as books are.

The staff of the library is working hard on the plans for National Book Week. Five radio talks are to be given on timely subjects by people who are particularly interested in the library. Ten book reviews are to be written by well-known citizens who read a great deal. Five story hours for children are being arranged and will be announced later. Also a display for the new books bought especially for Book Week is being worked out.

The new Who's Who for 1940-41 has been received by the library, as has also "American Women," who's who of American women.

Noted at the lending desk—Dr. Keuzenkamp reads more books than any other patron of the library. Mr. Ralph Deal reads more mystery stories. Miss Estelle Greene browses in stocks more than anyone else.

Mrs. Frank Brown reads more books on philosophy and religion. Sydney Dunn reads more books than any other high school student. Mrs. D. D. Haskett brings more flowers to the library.

Four book clubs of Greenville give their club books to the library. Book clubs gave special donations of new books to different shelves this year. All the Parent-Teacher associations of Greenville have contributed books to the library this year.

A human interest story—Looking in at the front door of the library was a wee boy, when asked by a staff member if he didn't want to come in, said, "No, but I went to school today. I thought I was going to get a book from you, but...they didn't learn me to read."

Feel Like Celebrating!
Yes, that's right. Those students who took an active part in preparing for the State Student Council convention held here last Friday and Saturday do feel like a vacation.

Not this Friday, but Friday after next, there will be only two periods held on this day.

The teachers of the Northeastern district will hold a meeting here on that day.

Now here's the news! (You bookworms will probably be very sad over it). This day will count as one of your 180 required days and will not have to be made up at the end of the year.

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened unchanged to three lower.

Mid-day prices fell small gains of one to two points, December 9.61; March 9.60; July 9.32.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Selling squalls hit the stock market today after a selective forenoon advance.

The list edged forward at the start in lively dealings, but soon sagged and near the close declines of fractions to around two points predominated among the leaders.

The national election tended to obscure business and war news to a large extent and with the exchange closed for tomorrow's voting, speculative forces inclined to conservatism so far as broadening of commitments was concerned.

Bonds and commodities for the most part held to a narrow range.

Fire Causes Damage At Local Shoe Store
The Miller Jones shoe store on Evans street was damaged by fire shortly after noon today, but the blaze was quickly extinguished by local firemen.

The fire broke out in the attic space above the show window, but firemen were unable to state definitely its cause.

Some stock in the show window was damaged by water and other parts of the store was damaged by smoke.

Experts estimate that it took 50,000 years of natural selection to produce the present day drought-resistant buffalo grass of the southwestern United States.

HULL RECEIVES TAKE CONTROL PETAIN REPLY OVER TANGIER

Contents Of Message, However, Are Not Disclosed

Washington, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Gaston Henry Hays, the French ambassador, today delivered to Secretary Hull a message from Marshal Petain in reply to President Roosevelt's communication to him concerning Franco-American relations.

The ambassador told newspapermen just before entering Hull's office that he was delivering Petain's answer, but declined to reveal its contents.

The contents of the President's communication were not disclosed, but informed officials had the impression that it dealt with the question of French "collaboration" with Germany and possible aspects of that "collaboration" which might affect American interests, particularly disposition of French colonies in the new world.

Whether there was any link between United States naval activity in the Caribbean and the future of French possessions in that area remained a mystery.

The Navy Department offered no information about the activities of warships in the area, beyond saying that they were engaged in training and patrol work. Other sources, however, said some of the vessels would be in the vicinity of the French island possession of Martinique.

Whether the report of a new German peace effort had any connection with previous reports of a Franco-German agreement could not be learned. The State Department said it had heard a "rumor" that Chancellor Hitler planned an address on peace to the German people, but lacked official confirmation.

In Berlin authorized sources said all talk of a new peace move by Adolf Hitler is "made in England" and is intended to influence the United States' elections.

Mention of the United States as a possible mediator is clear indication of such a trend, they asserted.

Considering the Axis military and diplomatic situation, these sources contended, there can be no doubt that it has no desire to offer England peace.
