Workers Strike At Defense Plant

Company Is Only Maker Of Product

CIO Unionists Refuse To Resume Work After Aluminum Company Of America Refuses To Discharge Workers For Threatening Union Official Who Attempted To Collect Back Dues

New Kensington, Penn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A strike of CIO unionists protesting the company's refusal to discharge a mill worker who allegedly threatened a union official, shut down operations at the main plant of the Aluminum Company of America here today.

The corporation, the nation's sole producer of aluminum, furnishes metal used widely for airplanes. The plant, which employs 7,500, had been operating 24 hours a day on defense orders.

William Hunker, spokesman for Local Number Two of the Aluminum Workers union, which called the strike, said both the union and the company "hated to see the defense program treated this way." The company said the strike was "not justified."

Among the defense contracts on which the plant was working was a $1,200,000 order for 25,000 sets of field kitchens for the United States army.

Hunker, referring to the reason for the walkout, said the company refused to discharge a mill worker who brandished a knife and threatened Tom Davis, chairman of the local's sheet mill committee when Davis demanded that he pay up back dues. The man also threatened the lives of Davis' wife and young daughter, Hunker said.

The strike became effective when about half of the 7,500 men and women employees appeared at the plant for the 6 a. m. and 7 a. m. shifts.

Instead of entering the plant they joined a growing picket line or stood about in the streets. There was no disorder.

Meet To Discuss Tobacco Disease

Officials of the county agent's office today again called attention of farmers to the important meeting to be held at Winterville tonight at 7 o'clock to discuss a new program aimed at tobacco disease control which is under consideration in Pitt County.

The meeting will be held at the Winterville school and will be attended by several experts from State College and the Extension Service.

In discussing the meeting, County Agent R. R. Bennett declared "this meeting is more important than an ordinary meeting and the success of this new program, which your county commissioners and I believe is vital to the welfare of the tobacco farms of Pitt county, is dependent upon your cooperation and attendance at meetings of this kind."

In addition to the several lectures, motion picture and lantern slides showing tobacco disease control measures in operation will be shown.

The first iron railroad bridge in the United States was built for the Reading Railroad in 1845.

Settled

A suit filed by L. M. Ernest Construction Company to recover some over $500 allegedly due on contract by John L. Briley and a counter-claim brought by Mr. Briley alleging that the house was not erected according to contract and seeking $1,000 from the construction company, were settled in Superior court this afternoon.

After most of the evidence had been presented, it was agreed that Ernest would pay back to Briley the $1,100 paid on the dwelling and Ernest would get the house and move it from Briley's lot.

The house involved is located at 301 Harding street.

College Official 'Conscientious Objector'

Howard Schomer (above), assistant dean of the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel at the University of Chicago, was arrested on a charge of violating the selective service act. Officials said Schomer had submitted an affidavit of "conscientious objection." He is 25.

B. B. Sugg Is Selected To Fill Mayor's Term

ATHENS HAILS ARMY VICTORY

The Greeks Parade Through City Shouting 'On To Rome'

By MAX HARRELSON

Athens, Greece, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Thousands of jubilant Greeks, elated at the fall of Koritza, paraded through the streets of Athens today shouting:

"On to Rome!"

"As I write this I can hear them beneath my hotel window singing patriotic songs."

Some enthusiastic men are carrying British soldiers through the streets on their shoulders.

Reports from the captured Albanian city say that Greek flags, hidden in the cellars of Koritza for years, were brought out today and hoisted on buildings everywhere to welcome the victorious Greek warriors who marched in after the retreating Fascist army.

Pouring into the town to meet the conquering Greeks, old men, women and children were declared to have thrown flowers in the path of the advancing army. Some knelt beside the roadway to the city, which became Italian less than two years ago.

Special groups of Greek soldiers were quickly set to work counting and sorting the great booty left behind by the Italians, who had accumulated heavy stores in Koritza to feed and supply their army in its invasion of Greece, army advisers said.

It was disclosed here meanwhile that gendarme already were enroute to Koritza to take charge of the city.

Church bells here and in other Greek cities pealed out the news of the victory for half an hour today and flags were hung everywhere.

Contract Is Let For Extending Route 11

The Chamber of Commerce announced today that information has been received from Hon. D. C. Barnes, State Highway Commissioner, at Murfreesboro, that the contract for the construction of state highway 11 had been let to C. G. Fuller.

This project begins at the end of the present pavement on number 11 a few miles north of Bethel and will connect with highway 125, near Oak City in Martin county, and is the realization of efforts over a period of several years on the part of citizens in this section and that south of Pitt county, and will provide an all-graded through route north from Greenville.

Unanimously Named In A Harmonious Meeting of Board

B. B. Sugg, prominent Greenville banker, warehouseman and farmer, last night was elected mayor by a unanimous vote of the local Board of Aldermen and immediately was sworn in and took over his new duties.

Mr. Sugg was elected to fill the unexpired term of Jack Spain, who resigned at the November 7th meeting to become secretary to Rep. Herbert Bonner.

Last night's unanimous vote was in direct contrast to proceedings at the November 7th meeting when the board attempted to name a new mayor. The board last night appeared in complete harmony, while at the first attempt to name a mayor it was deadlocked at the time the meeting was adjourned with four voting for Alderman J. A. Watson and four for L. G. Cooper. Mr. Sugg was accepted by both factions as a compromise and received the vote of each member on the board.

Mr. Sugg, who was at a Board of Welfare meeting at the time he was elected, was advised he had been selected and immediately upon arriving at the meeting was sworn in by Municipal Judge L. C. Skuimer, who also was called to the meeting.

Mr. Sugg then took over the mayors chair and briefly addressed the board and guests. He expressed his deep appreciation for the honor conferred upon him and praised the present and past boards for their aggressive spirit. He stated his intention to work with the board and the various municipal departments and urged their cooperation.

Mr. Sugg was in the mayor's office early this morning getting familiar with the various functions of the government.

One of the first acts of Mayor Sugg was to sign a formal resolution opposing the petition of the Atlantic Coast Line to remove passenger trains operating from Kingston to Rocky Mount and return daily through Greenville.

The new mayor was authorized to appear before the Utilities Commission in Raleigh on December 4, along with representatives of other governmental units and organizations to oppose the petition.

The program will be in charge of Kiwanian J. Nat Harrison, who is chairman of the Tar River Port Commission. Other members of the Commission, Irving Morgan, of Farmville, and C. W. Howard, will provide special guests of the club for this program.

NATION TO GO ON CASH BASIS

May Pay Cash for All Expenses Except Defense Needs

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Budget Bureau calculations indicated today that recently augmented federal revenues will enable the government to pay cash this fiscal year for everything but national defense.

They indicated a deficit of about $5,500,000,000, or about the same amount as anticipated military and naval expenses.

The figures were based on the preliminary computations incidental to preparation of the annual budget and as such were not final. If borne out, however, they would make possible one year ahead of time a new federal fiscal policy suggested this week by Rep. Doughton (D-NC) after conferring with President Roosevelt.

Doughton, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee—legislative source of all tax measures—said that enough new taxes should be enacted to cover all "normal expenses" of the government, exclusive of the defense program, and that no more debts should be passed on to future generations that we can pay ourselves.

Under Doughton's plan additional taxes would be necessary to the extent that the federal budget for the fiscal year beginning next July is increased over the present year's spending schedule.

Latest estimates of this year's spending approximate $13,000,000,000, the largest peace-time total in history. Congress actually appropriated and authorized contracts for more than 20 billion dollars.

Exactly how much of this grand total will be spent before the fiscal year ends depends on the speed of the conscription program, the rapidity with which factories can produce ordered war materials and on similar factors.

John R. Williams Dies At Age Of 61

John R. Williams, 61, died at Pitt General hospital this morning at 3:30 o'clock, after a critical illness of several weeks and declining health of two years.

Funeral services will be conducted from St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness church, near Greenville Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. J. G. Spivey of Greenville, assisted by Rev. J. D. Little of Chocomaity. Burial will follow in the Allen family cemetery nearby.

Mr. Williams is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nannie E. Hudson-Williams; five sons, J. Louis, Walter J. Paul, J. A., and Samuel B. Williams, all of near Greenville; five daughters, Mrs. Johnnie Harrington, Mrs. Charlie Butts, and Mrs. Wade Butts of near Greenville; Mrs. C. E. Allen and Mrs. Joseph Lester C. E. Lenoir, 33 grand children, three brothers, J. N. J. L. and J. Williams of this city.

Mr. Williams was a prominent farmer and spent his entire life in the Greenville community.

Active pall bearers will be George A. Clark, J. Key Brown, Alonza Harrington, Preston Harrington, Leon S. Hardee, John H. Cowan, Roy T. Cox, and J. Knott Proctor.

Home Ec Meeting Going on At ECTC

Delegates from home economics clubs in colleges and high schools of the state, holding their annual meeting at East Carolina Teacher College today and tomorrow, are bearing programs on the theme of Home Economics and Defense.

At the general session of the afternoon, Miss Virginia Ward, assistant supervisor of home economics in the state, spoke on the nature of the American Home Economics Association, and Dr. John Barclay of Wilson spoke on "The Home and National Defense."

Tonight the delegates will attend a 6:30 dinner in the college dining hall and later see "The Skull," Chi Psi Players' fall production. In its second performance.

The Saturday morning session will be held in the auditorium of the Training School at 9 o'clock. At this time after the business meeting Mrs. Mabel Easter, student club adviser, Miss Ellen Brewer, head of the Home Economics Department of Meredith, and Miss Frances McGregor, assistant 4-H club supervisor, will speak.

AMERICAN AID NEAR ITS PEAK

Everything Possible Being Done To Help Britain

Hyde Park N. Y., Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt indicated at a press conference today that under present conditions American aid to Britain was near its peak.

He said everything possible was being done at the present time.

Two weeks ago Mr. Roosevelt laid down a rule of thumb under which he said Britain and the United States would share 50-50 in American production of planes, guns and other war equipment.

Asked today whether in view of the recent acceleration of German bombings of English communities that rule could be altered to give more aid to the British, the President said the question was altogether too general.

If some one could point out specifically how it could be done, he said it might be a different story.

In response to another inquiry, he said it should not be taken for granted that consideration was being given to expanding American assistance to the British.

He challenged anyone to show him the way planes could be built faster and asserted that you can't pass a bill or issue an order and get planes the next day.

It informed there had been discussion of extending credit to Britain, which would require a change in the Johnson act forbidding loans to nations in default on World War debt payments and of the possibility of using American ships to convoy vessels part of the way across the Atlantic, the President said there had been nothing on those matters in the government.

Ten Are Tried In City Court Today

Three cases which grew out of a "free-for-all" at a Neeto house here were tried in Municipal recorder's court at the regular morning session.

Clemmie and Elizabeth Brown were charged with disorderly conduct and assault with a deadly weapon. Clemmie was acquitted, Elizabeth was convicted and given a 30-day jail sentence, suspended upon payment of costs. Bettie and Annie Daniels were convicted of disorderly conduct and each was given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon good behavior for one year. Ada and Walter Daniels were acquitted of charges of disorderly conduct. All defendants were negroes.

T. L. Jackson, white, was convicted of drunkenness and given a 30-day sentence, suspended upon payment of court costs.

Three Negroes, David Lee Clark, John Bryant, Jr. and Willie Grice, charged with robbing the Fourth street sub-station of the College View Cleaners, were bound over to Superior court under bonds of $500 each. The Negroes are accused of removing the cash register, emptying it of money and throwing it into Tar river.

DIES PROMISES TO ISSUE MORE WHITE PAPERS

Companion Reports To Be Made On Italy And Japan

GROUP PURSUES INVESTIGATION

Chairman Dies Himself Decides To Take Charge Of Inquiry Of Activities Unfriendly To U. S.

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Dies committee promised today to follow up its German "White Paper" with companion reports devoted to alleged Italian and Japanese activities in the United States.

The material set forth in its "white paper" of German activities the committee charged, was evidence of a closely integrated scheme of Nazi espionage, propaganda and planning in this country.

Informed sources said that an Italian "white paper" similar to the 500-page document released yesterday on German activities was being prepared by the committee and would be transmitted to Congress within a few weeks.

Committee investigators meanwhile were reported actively pursuing their inquiry into the operations of persons the committee believes to be identified with the Japanese government, but the form of the report on this material has not been determined.

Aides of Chairman Dies (D-Tex) said that he had decided to take charge personally of inquiries now underway in many cities in the hope that activities of any agent unfriendly to the United States might be discredited.

Dies himself emphasized at St. Louis that he did "not intend to move against any innocent people of whatever nationality."

He indicated, however, that the "white paper" his committee issued yesterday might not mean the end of the line of inquiry concerned with alleged German activities.

"I have a list of suspects who I have every reason to believe are Gestapo (German secret police) agents in the United States," Dies said. "As fast as possible we will move in upon them, place them under oath and take their testimony."

May Set Up Unit On Coast Of N. C.

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Plans to organize six coast artillery anti-aircraft regiments at a new training center near Wilmington, N. C., were disclosed today by the War Department in an announcement of cadres from regular army regiments to be selected between December 20 and February 15.

These cadres are nuclei of carefully selected trained personnel around which the new regiments will be rebuilt.

The announcement that six regiments and a tactical overhead unit would be organized near Wilmington was the department's first official reference to a new firing center in the Holly Ridge section of the North Carolina coast, plans for which were disclosed unofficially earlier this week.

When the organization of these units has been completed the strength was expected to total approximately 10,000 officers and men.

Big Building Lost In Snow Hill Fire

Snow Hill, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Fire destroyed today a large warehouse here filled with farming machinery, trucks and merchandise. Cause of the blaze was not known.

Josiah Exum, the owner, estimated the loss at $12,000 to $15,000, exclusive of the building.

Snow Hill volunteer firemen, aided by Kinston fire fighters, battled to prevent spread of the flames.

December Orthopedic Clinic Is Postponed

It has just been announced by Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt County Health Officer, that the December Greenville Orthopedic clinic has been postponed until the first Friday in January, that is January 3rd. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Hugh A. Thompson in the Health Department Offices, Greenville, from one to 3 o'clock.

PHILIP MURRAY CHOSEN BY CIO

New Head Protests 'Shotgun' Agreement With AFL

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Congress of Industrial Organization chose Philip Murray as its president by acclamation today, bestowing on him the mantle of leadership worn for the last five years by John L. Lewis.

In his acceptance speech the new CIO president criticized what he called "governmental pressure for a shotgun agreement" with the American Federation of Labor.

He called on the cheering delegates for limited action and an end to "bickering" within the organization.

Obviously referring to appeals by President Roosevelt for an end to the labor war through peace conferences between the CIO and AFL leaders, Murray said:

"I offer a mild protest against the use of governmental pressure to force a shotgun agreement with the American Federation of Labor. Lewis, stepping down as he promised he would do if President Roosevelt were re-elected, placed the Pittsburgh labor leader's name before the CIO convention as that of his choice as successor."

Murray was an "industrial statesman" who had established a "brilliant record," Lewis said.

As he stepped down as head of the organization he helped form, Lewis declared the CIO had built up "a proud record of accomplishments."

"It has demonstrated to the American people," Lewis said, "that it can advance the well-being of its members and yet protect the privileges and the rights of every other American."

Post Declined By General Pershing

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he had asked General John J. Pershing to become American ambassador to France, but that Pershing had declined with deep regret on the advice of his physicians.

The 80-year-old commander of the American armies in France in the last World War has been in poor health for several years.

Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference that he had not yet accepted the resignation of William C. Bullitt, now ambassador to France. The resignation was submitted on November 7.

Mussolini's Threat to Break Greece's Back Takes A Boomerang With Fall Of Strategic Italian Supply Base; Indicated Bulgaria May Soon Enter War Backed By Nazi Troops

By The Associated Press
Premier Mussolini's threat to "break Greece's back" took a boomerang setback today when his own high command acknowledged the fall of Koritza, key Italian supply base, and a Greek government spokesman said that by nightfall there might not be "a single Italian left in Greek territory."

An Athens communique said: "Our heroic troops, after hard fighting, entered Koritza today triumphantly."

"The advance of our troops continues everywhere."

The retreat from Koritza, 10 miles inside the Albanian frontier, marked the first major turning point in the 26-day-old Fascist invasion of Greece—which now has become a Greek counter invasion of Albania.

Italy's second main supply base at Ardicosta, in the southwest of the 100-mile front, was also reported threatened with capture.

A Rome communique admitted the withdrawal from Koritza and said 20 Italian divisions, about 30,000 troops, had evacuated the city after 11 days of "bitter fighting" in which "our losses were considerable."

Greek losses were described by the Italians as equally great, "perhaps heavier."

Wild excitement swept through Greece as news of the victory spread, but British military circles in London cautioned against regarding the Italian defeat as a rout.

A Greek general headquarters announcement said the little nation's defenders seized 15 Italian guns, including seven heavy artillery pieces.

Such an abandonment of heavy guns would indicate that the Fascist retreat was headlong.

On the diplomatic front, Rumania's pro-Nazi Premier-Dictator General Ion Antonescu arrived in Berlin for talks with Adolf Hitler and it was taken for granted that Rumania would follow Hungary as the newest member of the Axis-dominated "European bloc against Britain."

Bulgaria and Slovakia were expected to be next.

Rumanian dispatches from Bulgaria said that country was expected to serve a demand on Greece for a corridor across Thrace to the Aegean sea—which would indicate that Bulgaria may soon enter the war, probably supported by German troops.

Hour by hour events seemed shaping toward a heavy Axis smash into southeast Europe aimed at the vital Suez canal and possibly another at Britain's fortress of Gibraltar.

On Thursday morning at eleven o'clock, Mrs. Roland Farley entertained at an informal coffee hour at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, honoring Mrs. Wallace Bourne, a recent bride, Mrs. S. B. Underwood, Jr., a bride of the summer, and Mrs. Wolford Anderson, who has recently come to Greenville to make her home.

The living room, library, hall and sunrooms were lovely with a profusion of colorful chrysanthemums. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Farley, presented to her honor guests, and invited into the living room, where Mrs. W. E. Hooker, moderator of Mrs. Bourne, presided at the coffee table. The table was spread with a cloth of lace and held an attractive centerpiece of fall fruits and miniature turkeys emphasizing the Thanksgiving season. Mrs. Lee Folger, Mrs. Ed Williams and Mrs. Henry Harrell served chicken pastries, cheese biscuits, dainty sandwiches and assorted cookies. The honor guests were presented corsages by Mrs. Farley.

Y. W. C. A. Presents Program.

The Young Woman's Christian Association of East Carolina Teachers College last night presented a program at the meeting of the State College Young Men's Christian Association on Music in Religion, five of the cabinet members having gone to Raleigh yesterday afternoon to take part.

Using Debussy's "Claire de Lune" as a prelude, Miss Hazel Starnes, music chairman of the Y. W., introduced the program with music. Miss Rebecca Ross, Y. W. president, read an appropriate passage of Scripture.

Miss Irene Mitcham, program chairman, Miss Bessie Fay Hunt, world fellowship chairman, and Miss Erlene Sawyer, representative on the college newspaper, each took a part on the program to bring out some particular aspect of music in religion or the history of some well-known hymn while Miss Starnes played softly the music spoken of.

This program on the contribution of music to religious life will be given also the college Sunday night at the 6:30 vesper service of the Y. W. C. A.

Garden Clubs To Hold Annual Christmas Show

Scheduled For Friday And Saturday, December 6-7

Elaborate plans and preparations are well underway for the annual Christmas Show, which is sponsored by the Greenville Garden Club.

Everyone is looking forward in eager anticipation to visiting the show this year after the thrills of brilliance and beauty which we experienced last year. The show will be held at the Women's Club again on Friday and Saturday, December 6 and 7. The doors will be open at two o'clock Friday afternoon after the judges have made their awards. There will be a door prize given again this year.

The Merchants Association is working in close cooperation with the Greenville Garden Club on their show. This year the association is offering prizes totalling $125 for the best decorated homes. This will indeed help to make our city beautiful for the holiday season. If you are looking for new ideas for decorating your home, come to the Christmas Show.

Training School P. T. A. Meets.

The P. T. A. of the Training school held its meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Training school auditorium with an excellent attendance. Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, president, presided.

Miss Hazel Elsom, instructor for public school music, and director of the instrumental program in the Training school, had charge of the first part of the program. Under her most able direction the Recorder pupils played three selections, the string group, consisting of piano, violins, violas, the bass viol, and cellos played three selections, and the entire orchestra consisting of piano, strings, woodwinds and brasses played two selections. This program was nicely rendered, and Miss Elsom deserves an abundance of credit for the excellent work she is doing with the children under her direction. The Training school orchestra was organized in March, 1939, and has to date given five public performances, including a program before the music division of the district N. C. E. A., here in Greenville last week. It is strongly hoped that this orchestra is the forerunner of a children's symphony in Greenville in the near future. These children are indeed fortunate to have such fine training for no cost other than the instrument. The college officials are to be congratulated for providing such a well trained musician as Miss Elsom to direct the music program in the Training school.

A business session followed the music, during which time Mrs. D. M. Clark reported the tentative plans of the playground committee to try to secure for all the children of Greenville ample playground space and playground supervisors. Miss Cobb announced the plans of the A. A. U. W. to sponsor Claire Tree Major's production of "Alice in Wonderland," and Miss Rainwater told the group some interesting facts about Mrs. Major, her work in the theatre, her excellent knowledge of child psychology, and about the plays now being produced throughout America by Mrs. Major's six troops of adult players. Again the children of Greenville will be fortunate in being permitted to have for their entertainment a production as fine as is offered in America. The price of the tickets is extremely low to permit all children to attend. The performance will be on the afternoon of February 3, and it is hoped that Greenville will so rally to the support of the A. A. U. W. that an evening performance will be needed to take care of the adults wishing to attend. They too will be Several new classes have been added to the exhibits this year, according to Mrs. J. T. Little, chairman. Working with Mrs. Little on the show are Mrs. Graham Flanagan, as co-chairman, and the exhibit chairmen of the various entries of which they have charge.

The executive chairmen are as follows:

1. Wreaths—Swags—Mrs. K. B. Pace.
 2. Tables—Mrs. John Clark.

entranced.

Miss Wahl gave an excellent report of the educational activities which took place in Greenville last week. The week was filled with meetings with various organizations including the Welfare Association, P. T. A. district meeting, N. C. E. A. district meeting and Homecoming at the college.

The two sixth grade groups had the largest attendance of parents and the gift of a nice book goes to them this month. The same honor went to the two first grade groups last month.

The remaining part of the program was given by Miss Mary Ann Cobb, who gave a most instructive talk on "Supervised Play." The text of Miss Cobb's talk is given below.

As the purposes of the school are harmonized with the purposes of the community, the adults in the community have more to contribute to the school. So let us think together for a few minutes about this subject of supervised play, for it is as important to the community and parents as to teachers and the school.

A supervised play program tends to bring the school, the home, and the community in closer contact, because the same games and activities so often carry over into the leisure time of the children.

An adequate program should include as many different types of games and activities as fall within the interests and abilities of the children.

All children need plenty of vigorous physical activity. They must climb, swing, swim, run, jump, learn to balance, and acquire physical coordination. This physical activity often helps a child in his emotional adjustment. A shy or timid child may overcome his handicap through acquiring skill on the playground.

A program of directed play should recognize and encourage creative ability and creative imagination. This is a contribution to culture. "A child finds in his experience the impulse to express, and in his body the instrument for expression." This is why rhythms are so satisfying to children when they are allowed to interpret the music for themselves. Little children like to move for the sake of movement. They enjoy "being" what they have seen. Such activities are not taught to young children, but they should be given opportunities for self-expression.

The more a child desires to express himself through his bodily movements, the greater is his need to control his body. But directed play does more than just help with body control. It helps children learn to follow directions, to organize into groups, to plan, to share, to work for the success of a group instead of self, to be more understanding of the efforts of others, to be more courteous and considerate of others, and to have a greater variety of activities. It also provides excellent learning experiences in leadership.

Dr. John Dewey said: "Play is the chief, almost the only mode of education for the child in the years of later infancy."

Play should be a means and a way to make living with other people more meaningful, interesting and enjoyable. Supervised play encourages tolerance for widely differing points of view, opinions of others and the ability to choose wisely. This also is a contribution to culture.

The ability to play a game is more important than just to exercise certain muscles. The game has deeper meanings. Each child should know the rules, the fundamentals of the skills needed in the game, and the strategies of the game. This information will give these participants a better understanding of and appreciation for such games when they are spectators. Football, baseball and all other sports have the most meaning for those who understand them best. But skills and techniques are not sufficient in a program of directed play.

Children, as well as adults, must learn the importance of cooperative living in a democratic society. The proof of learning is in behavior. Dr. Carson Ryan said: "Three-fourths of life is conduct." Contacts with others enrich one's experience, but demand continuous adjustment, and require the cooperative solution of problems. When a large boy imposes his fist upon a smaller child, then tries to defend himself by saying, "I was only playing," it's because the large child has not yet learned that both parties must want to take part before their actions can be called play. If children could be taught from infancy to adulthood to keep their hands off of other people, this world would be saved many hurts and heartaches, especially among little children.

Dr. E. T. McSwain said, "Intelligent freedom does not mean permitting children to be the sole judge of what they are to do. Freedom cannot be given to a person; it must emerge in group thinking and acting."

Human beings give their allegiance to activities in which they have responsibility. So a part of our program of directed play, both at school and in the community, is to help children understand the social significance of their play. That is, to share play materials, take turns, be patient with the fellow who is just as well as a glad winner, and to help each individual to see that he is partly responsible for the success of the game.

If our program of directed play is to prove successful, the children must, under adult guidance, share the responsibility of planning the games and organizing the groups on a democratic basis. This is to avoid having a few dominating children forever dictating to the group what shall or shall not be done. Some may say that a dominating personality shows leadership ability which should be developed. However, a good leader is also a good follower, and is willing to take his turn. There are always others in such a group who are good leaders, but who are not willing to fight for a place of leadership.

A program of directed play should show growth in the total personality of each child included, and should show actual improvement of living in the community.

Getting along with others in play and work is an important factor in maintaining physical and mental health.

One of the most essential things in supervised play is to have every child participating and enjoying the

The play supervisor has an excellent opportunity to get acquainted with children under her direction and to know their individual needs, habits and attitudes.

The learnings that may and should result from supervised play are: Self-discipline, self-direction, poise, self-control, optimism, cheerfulness, responsibility for one's own recreation, willingness to abide by the rules of the game, and to play one's best whether losing or winning. These are valuable traits to develop in this particular era of civilization.

"Dr. J. Wayne Wrightstone has given us six major objectives for elementary education that are commonly accepted by forward-looking groups of educators, and they certainly include the objectives we strive for in supervised play: (1) to understand and practice desirable social relationships; (2) to discover and develop individual aptitude; (3) to cultivate the processes of critical thinking; (4) to appreciate and desire worth-while activities; (5) to gain command of the common integrating knowledges and skills; and (6) to develop a sound body and normal mental attitudes."

The supervised play program has an important contribution to make to the realization of the purposes of modern education.—Reported.

Forty Years Ago Today

November 22, 1900
S. T. Hooker is moving into his handsome new residence on Greene street.

Frank Wilson went to Washington this afternoon to assist the Masons there in conferring Royal Arch degrees tonight.

There is hardly a doubt that the next legislature will be asked to give Greenville the opportunity of voting on the question of issuing bonds for the construction of waterworks, electric lights, better streets and other improvements, and the Reflector predicts that when the voting time on this question comes, it is going to be carried by a large majority.

ACTIVITIES OF THE BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the B. and P. W. C. was held at the Sheppard Memorial Library Thursday evening, November 21, the president, Mrs. J. D. Simpson, presiding. Regular routine of business, reading of minutes, report of committees were soon dispensed with. Mrs. Jordan, membership chairman, welcomed two visitors.

New business or motion then being in order, the club decided to contribute $5 to the Community Chest, and to take a needy family when the opportunities are published.

Announcements of home decorations for Christmas being sponsored by the Merchants Association, the Christmas Show, sponsored by the Garden Club December 6 and 7, the Service League bazaar were made and the members were urged to cooperate with all of these.

November 25 to December 1 being National Art Week to stimulate American Art, at which time there will be on display at the W. P. A. Art Gallery paintings and all kinds of arts and crafts for sale, the proceeds will be sent to the owners of the articles. Members were asked to please visit the Art Gallery during the week.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss Patsy Davenport, program chairman for the meeting, the subject being "City and County Government."

Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, having County Government, using a map of the county, giving the different townships, precincts and districts letting us get a general lay of the lay, then saying there were living on this land $1,237 people who needed government.

Briefly discussed, the governing body known as the County Commissioners, the elective offices, Board of Education, and naming the different agencies or board, in concluding Mrs. Ragsdale said this was a subject that should be studied, taking not more than two offices at one time.

Miss Annie Moore gave an interesting talk on city government.

Several of our members were fortunate enough to hear Mrs. Roosevelt in Henderson Tuesday night, the highlights of the speech were given by several and very much enjoyed.

Lib Kasey gave the highlights of the mid-year council held in Pinehurst.

The club adjourned to meet December 12, at which time we will have a Christmas dinner meeting.

BELL ARTHUR NEWS

Mrs. W. W. Young entertained at miscellaneous shower Wednesday afternoon, honoring her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jesse Roy Young.

Mrs. Annie Flanagan and Mrs. Griger Tyson were hostesses to Circle No. 1 of the Missionary Society Saturday, at the home of the former. A delicious salad course with hot coffee was served during the social hour.

Circle No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. R. E. Willoughby. The hostesses served a tempting dessert course with salted nuts.

Plans for the December quarterly meeting were discussed by both groups. At that time, December 14.

TO GET A "VapoRub Massage" with all its benefits—massage VapoRub for 3 minutes on IMPORTANT RIB-AREA OF BACK as well as throat and chest—spread a thick layer on chest, cover with a warm cloth. BE SURE to use genuine, time-tested VICKS VAPORUB.

Hat's What They Are

(AP Feature Service)

If Lily Dache didn't say, "This is a hat," you wouldn't always be sure. In the hand, some of the confections from her new resort collection look like bouquets in search of a vase, the fringe from an old-fashioned lamp shade, the prism from a chandelier. Madame Dache can make anything into a hat, and does. Look closely, for these hats are certain to influence what we'll wear next spring.

THE "HALFWAY" HAT, derived from Hawaii. It is held on with a bicycle clip. This and other flowery halfways are supposed to cure hatlessness.

WESKIT AND HAT SET—sensational at the Dache show. It's made of multicolored ribbon, intended for wear with a plain black street dress.

THE HATPIN is the most exciting thing here. It's topped with a butterfly of Chantilly lace, and it may be removed from the hat and worn on the lapel, or as part of an evening headdress. The hat itself, like many others in the collection, was inspired by South American styles. It's of black felt.

both groups will meet together and will observe Guest day. Dr. Robert Humber has accepted an invitation to be the speaker for the afternoon.

Friday afternoon, November 22, at 2:30, a mission study class was held at the Christian Church. Mrs. Mack Smith and Mrs. Josie McArthur conducted the study.

More than twenty-five parents attended "Parents Day" at school Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hemby, Mr. Ray Hamby, Mr. N. V. Kinsaul and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McArthur and Mrs. J. R. Nichols were Greenville visitors today.

Misses Cartwright, Cotner and Whitley of the local faculty, and Janie Hemby had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Worthington on Thursday night.

In observance of Woman's Day the Missionary Society will present a play "In Times Like These" Sunday night in the Christian Church.

Regular services by the pastor will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. There will be installation services of Elders and Deacons.

Toscanini Honors Choir To Be Here

The Westminster Choir, Dr. John Finley Williamson conductor, scheduled to appear in Greenville, at the Wright Memorial auditorium February 27, under the sponsorship of the Eastern Carolina Symphonic Choral Association will broadcast on this Saturday evening, November 23, with the National Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Arturo Toscanini, at 10 p. m. The program will be carried over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company.

It is particularly significant that Mr. Toscanini should select a choral work for his first performance of this season. The works selected are both by Verdi—a short one "Te Deum" and the second, the famous "Requiem." This is the first of a series of choral performances for which Mr. Toscanini has selected the Westminster Choir. The second will occur on Saturday night December 28.

The Westminster Choir has just returned from a successful fall tour which included a performance with the Rochester Symphony Orchestra of Rochester, N. Y., under the direction of Jose Iturbi. Following the appearance with Mr. Toscanini on the 28, the choir will begin their southern tour to Havana, Cuba which will bring them to Greenville, and our section.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—"Escape." Screenplay by Arch Obeler and Marguerite Roberts from the Ethel Vance novel. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Principals: Norma Shearer, Robert Taylor, Conrad Veidt, Nazimova, Felix Bressart, Albert Basserman, Philip Dorn, Bonita Granville.

Here is effective use of Germany as setting for a film adventure capitalizing both on suspense and on psychological quirks of human minds dominated by the Nazi system.

Emma Ritter, once famous actress (Nazimova), is a concentration camp prisoner. From America comes her son Mark Preysing (Taylor) to find her. Hurling himself against official blank walls of secrecy, and confronted at all turns by the fear of ordinary citizens to whom he appeals, he meets Countess Von Treck (Shearer). She is an American-born widow who listens sympathetically but maintains a selfish silence.

Not from her, but from a young Nazi doctor (Dorn) he receives information that sends him on a daring rescue mission. When he succeeds against ever-mounting odds, the Countess again is forced to decide whether to help at her own risk or to turn against him. This time she does the human thing. She hides the fugitives in her castle where the Nazi general (Veidt) is a frequent caller. In the end, in love with Mark, she defies the general in order to cover the final escape.

Here are interesting characters although Mark often seems a trifle slow at "catching on," and Emma Ritter does little but suffer. Veidt's general is a keenly etched study and newcomer Dorn, as the doctor with a spark of conscience, is arresting. Shearer and Taylor, too, hit some high spots.

"The Mark of Zorro." Screenplay by John Taintor Foote. Directed by Rouben Mamoulian. Principals: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Basil Rathbone, Gale Sondergaard, Eugene Palette, J. Edward Bromberg, Montagu Love, Janet Beecher.

In old Spanish Los Angeles, dashing Diego arrives from Madrid to learn his father has been ousted as alcalde and the peons and caballeros are being oppressed by the successor. So you know what he does, don't you? He pretends to be an idle fop, to his vigorous old father's shame, but at night gallops about the countryside in cloak and mask and plays Robin Hood.

He's an agile, dextrous fellow, this oppression-hating Zorro, and Tyrone does well by him. Darnell gets prettier, and Palette as the padre hauls in the laughs.

There's good chase stuff, with Tyrone not quite as acrobatic as the late Doug Fairbanks in the same role but very good indeed in a spectacular duel with Rathbone.

Phantoms Finish Season With Washington Next Week

LOCALS SEEK SIXTH TRIUMPH

Phantoms Determined To Win Over Pam Pack

Coach Bo Farley's Greenville High Phantoms aren't scheduled this week but next Wednesday they tangle with the Washington High School Pack. This will top the season for the Phantoms and they intend to come away with a victory.

It seems that the local highs go into this game every season with a string of victories and a fine team—and come away with a loss. The probable cause of this is that it's the last game of the season and the boys are getting rather tired. Last season GHS was rated at least two touchdowns over Washington and then fought to a 6-6 deadlock.

Farley's Phantoms, although losing three games this season have had a rather successful time of it. After taking Plymouth, Windsor and Tarboro at the first of the season the Phantoms journeyed to Goldsboro and there they took a 6-0 setback. It was a hard fought battle for both teams but the Earthquakes were a little too powerful for the locals. The following four weeks saw the Phantoms two more setbacks at the hands of Kingston and Elizabeth City. Kingston showed a passing offense that left the Farley men baffled and Elizabeth City just rolled over our boys in power plays. Roanoke Rapids, one of the most powerful teams in the conference had a hard time gaining a tie over the local highs. After these weeks of disaster the boys from Greenville high school came back and trounced New Bern 45-13 and took Edenton 25-0.

RECORD IS SET BY STATE REA

Authority Has Heaviest Half Year In Its History

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Nov. 21.—Complete figures, of course, are not available, but it is certain that the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority will have handled, from July 1, 1940 to January 1, 1941, Federally-financed cooperatives involving more money than in all projects (cooperative, public utility and municipal) with which it was concerned in the first two years of its existence. J. M. Grainger, REA engineer, said today.

This means, Mr. Grainger added, that co-op projects calling for this expenditure of more than $7,000,000 will have come before the state unit during the period.

Not all this sum has actually been put up by Federal government; but requests for that much have been made and in most cases the expenditures have been authorized.

Completely new cooperatives have asked for more than $4,000,000 in Federal loans; while about half a dozen co-ops originally organized as "mutuals" have accomplished reorganization through the aid of the State REA. These concerns involved some $2,700,000.

STORM WARNING

By MUN

LARGE TURKEY CROP IN STATE

Farmers Therefore May Get Best Prices Of Year Now

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Nov. 21.—North Carolina farmers will likely do well to sell as many turkeys as they can for Thanksgiving rather than wait for a later market, such as Christmas; it is easy to deduce from a statement just issued by A. B. Harless, federal-state market news representative of the State Department of Agriculture.

Recent wind and snow storms in the midwest will likely result in higher prices of turkeys for Thanksgiving than prevailed a year ago, Mr. Harless pointed out.

"Some sources estimate the loss of birds in North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska at from one to three million birds," he said.

"However, retarded deliveries from the storm area and heavy arrivals of an abnormally late crop of turkeys from the southwest and middle west may result in lower prices for the Christmas trade."

Meanwhile, in this area, buyers are reported paying 18 cents per pound for live young "toms" and 20 to 22 cents for young hens as compared with 15 cents and 22 cents for hens a year ago. Some retail stores are now booking orders for Thanksgiving delivery in the 25 to 31 cents a pound range, while a year ago turkeys retailed from 24 to 31 cents and two years ago for 26 to 31 cents.

Average chain store prices, yesterday, were 25 to 30 cents in New York and 24 to 27 cents in Philadelphia, Harless said.

North Carolina's turkey crop is this year the largest since 1928, with production estimated at 329,000 birds, a 15 per cent increase over last year and a 30 per cent increase over the five year (1932-36 average).

Counties leading in production of commercial turkeys are, in order, Ashe, Alleghany, Chatham, Union, Duplin, Pitt, Mecklenburg and Madison.

will lie in state at Mrs. Gertrude Latham's home, 803 Imperial street, Saturday afternoon. Funeral will be Sunday at 2 o'clock at Mt. Zion church, near Greenville.

Pitt county teachers will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Farmville high school building, Tuesday, November 26, at 7 p. m.

The State Congress of Parents and Teachers will convene in Raleigh Saturday of this week. Several teachers, parents and the supervisors are planning to attend.

NO CHARGE FOR COTTON FORMS

Growers Not Required To Pay Any Filing Out Fee

Raleigh, Nov. 21.—Cotton growers are not required to pay lending agencies or warehouses any fee for filling out cotton loan forms under the 1940 Cotton Loan Program, E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of N. C. State College, said today.

He explained that cotton loan instructions, effective November 16, provide that the interest rate paid lending agencies and the storage rate paid warehousemen are intended to cover all services necessary in filling out loan forms.

"In a large number of cases," Floyd said, "no fee has been charged, but there have been some instances on record with the Commodity Credit Corporation in which a service charge was made. We have been asked to inform farmers that they are not required to pay any fees in this connection and to halt such practices among lending agencies and warehouses."

The revised instructions, as of November 16, require that lending agencies, order to make their paper eligible for purchase by the Commodity Credit Corporation, will be required to certify that they turned over all the loan proceeds to the cotton producer, and made no charge for services rendered in filling out the forms. Before the warehousemen can be eligible to store Government loan cotton, they will be required to enter into an agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation that they will make no charge to cotton producers for filling out forms.

WPA Gallery Will Observe Art Week

National Art Week will be observed at the Greenville WPA Art Gallery, located in Sheppard Memorial Library, the week of November 25-December 1. Mrs. J. H. B. Moore is chairman of the observance for this city. The announced purpose of Art Week is to make the American public conscious of art and State Art Week committees have been organized in all 48 states, as well as in New York City, the District of Columbia and the Territory of Hawaii. It is estimated that the best work of 10,000 artists on display to the public in more than 1,000 sales exhibition centers. Paintings, sculptures and other work will be placed on display and offered for sale during the national event.

Girl Scouts Hold Council Meeting

The Greenville Girl Scout Council held its regular meeting at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Miss McElwain, director of girls' athletics at East Carolina Teachers College, was welcomed as a member of the council.

The council feels that the Girl Scouts are indeed fortunate to have Miss McElwain and her students cooperate with the council in making the scout program one of the best. She and her girls will work with the troops and help plan and suggest many interesting things for Girl Scouts to engage in.

Probably the most interesting thing to the individual scouts that the council has to announce is that the cabin is now ready to be used and enjoyed. Through the untiring efforts of Mr. Rose, with N. Y. A. work, the cabin has been reconditioned, the grounds cleaned up, and an outdoor fireplace built. City water is now available for use at the cabin. One may permit one's girls to enjoy cooking a meal on the open fireplace, or take a lunch already prepared and enjoy several hours of wholesome outdoor fun with the assurance that the sanitary condition of the camp has been adequately taken care of. Beginning the first week after the Thanksgiving holidays, someone will be at the cabin every Saturday from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m., to chaperone Girl Scouts who wish to take advantage of the cabin. The organized Girl Scout movement, though only a year old, is reaching a large percentage of the Greenville girls, but there are many more that should be participating in the splendid things available through the organization's program.

A number of women of the various civic organizations have voiced a desire to assist some worthy girls to finance their scouting who otherwise would not be able to pay the small enrollment fee. While the girls thoroughly enjoy their uniforms, many do not have them nor are they required. Starting the first of December the council will maintain a "Scout Uniform Exchange." Girls who have outgrown their uniforms may have them laundered and placed in the Girl Scout headquarters for sale at a small sum. The wear on the uniforms is necessarily very little and they are in splendid condition when outgrown. It is to be hoped that every girl in Greenville who has a desire to be a Scout will get it by now so she may realize her wish. The program is for every girl in Greenville who desires to belong, regardless of race, color, or creed, girls who have their parents' permission, may apply for admission at Girl Scout headquarters.

Total receipts, including a balance of $8,396.92 brought forward, were $48,628.88 and expenditures were $28,450.72.

Democrats Report Balance Of $20,176

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The State Democratic Executive Committee reported today it had a record balance of $20,176 in its treasury after the recent campaign in which the party rolled up a record gubernatorial majority of 413,342 votes. State Chairman E. B. Denny filed the Democratic financial statement with Thad Eure, Secretary of State. It took 150 pages of single-spaced typing to list the individual contributors to the Democratic campaign fund. Thousands of state employees were shown as giving amounts from 15 cents up.

BOOM SEEN IN SMALL HOMES

One-Family Residences Are Going Up Throughout State

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL Raleigh, Nov. 22.—Construction of small residences continued to boom in North Carolina during October, although the estimated cost of all residential construction in 21 large cities showed a decline, according to figures issued by the State Department of Labor.

Showing this trend, the 21 cities reported authorization in October of 341 new residences against 308 for which permits were issued in October of 1939; but the 341 of last month will provide for only 388 families as compared with the 784 which could be housed in the dwellings authorized in October last year.

No less than 308 of the 341 were of the one-family type and 28 were of the two-family type; leaving only five multi-family dwellings. The smaller residences will cost, in the aggregate, less than the fewer, but larger, dwelling of October 1939, the figures dropping to $1,208,910 from $1,874,373.

Non-residential construction soared over last October, with 115 authorizations against 92, and an estimated cost of $55,709 against $176,387.

Repairs and alterations showed a slight decrease both as to number of permits and estimated cost, the figures reading 389 against 425 and $212,817 against $327,536.

Summary of all types of construction for the 21 cities showed an increase over last October in number of permits (845 to 825) but a decrease in total cost ($1,977,436 to $2,378,407).

In 28 smaller cities reporting to the Department, Roanoke Rapids led with expenditures for the month of $163,750, while Hickory was second with $127,500. Total from these smaller cities were $705,132, making the grand total of all construction reported from the large and small cities $2,682,568.

Among the large cities Greensboro led all in estimated cost of construction, with $430,911, while Charlotte was second with $396,792 and Charlotte and Fayetteville, the latter reflecting the Fort Bragg situation, led in number of buildings with 71 and 51, respectively. High Point topped the alterations and repair list with $86,701 spent.

Types of buildings in the reporting cities were:

Residential: One-family dwelling 308 to cost $1,045,460; two-family dwellings, 28 to cost $89,250; 1- and 2-family dwellings with store or shop attached, one to cost $25,000; multi-family dwellings, two to cost $7,200; lodging houses, one to cost $4,000; and other non-housekeeping dwellings, one to cost $38,000.

Non-residential: Amusements and recreation, one to cost $12,500; churches, seven to cost $40,900; factories, bakeries, etc., nine to cost $62,387; public garages, three to cost $50,500; private garages separate from dwelling, 49 to cost $6,342; gasoline and service stations, seven to cost $20,300; institutions, one to cost $18,800; office buildings, two to cost $201,200; sheds, poultry houses etc., seven to cost $655; stores and other mercantile buildings, 20 to cost $123,600; all other non-residential, five to cost $7,475.

Meeting Held By Standard Oil Men

The Esso Boosters Club, an organization composed of Standard Oil dealers in Eastern North Carolina, held a regular meeting at the Episcopal Parish House last night with approximately 100 in attendance.

In addition to dealers throughout this section, a number of Standard Oil officials and several local invited guests were present. The meeting was presided over by W. E. Sutton, manager of Sutton Service Centers of this city. The address of welcome was made by W. T. Kyzer, executive secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, who pointed out the advantages offered by Greenville from a trading center, educational center and transportation facilities. He called attention to the recently established waterway transportation service.

The principal address of the meeting was made by P. C. Harding, dean of the Pitt county bar, who discussed cooperation. He also stressed the fine service being rendered by representatives of the Standard Oil company, both as individuals and as representatives of their company.

Following a series of stunts, the oil men went into a discussion of "shop talk."

Among the officials of the Standard company here for the meeting were C. M. Byers of Charlotte, state branch manager; J. Lawrence Wright of Charlotte, state sales manager; Tom Sawyer of Raleigh district manager; W. R. Fesperman, territory salesman of the Henderson field; Jimmy Bugles, territory salesman of the Elizabeth City field; Joe Miller of Charlotte, sales manager; John Yarborough of the Charlotte branch office; W. B. McDonald, territory salesman of the Raleigh field; W. Z. Kennedy, territory salesman of the local field; Ike Stone, territory salesman of the Rocky Mount field.

Meeting Held By Standard Oil Men

The Esso Boosters Club, an organization composed of Standard Oil dealers in Eastern North Carolina, held a regular meeting at the Episcopal Parish House last night with approximately 100 in attendance.

In addition to dealers throughout this section, a number of Standard Oil officials and several local invited guests were present. The meeting was presided over by W. E. Sutton, manager of Sutton Service Centers of this city. The address of welcome was made by W. T. Kyzer, executive secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, who pointed out the advantages offered by Greenville from a trading center, educational center and transportation facilities. He called attention to the recently established waterway transportation service.
