AXIS SUFFERS LOSSES AFTER NIGHT ATTACK

Seven Italian, One Nazi Plane Downed In Daylight

NIGHT ASSAULT WAGED BY NAZIS

Intense Overnight Raids Resumed On Midlands Industrial Centers With Heavy Damage Reported

London, Nov. 23.—(AP) A small formation of German or Italian bombers penetrated the London area in one of today's three daylight raids and dropped bombs on a southern suburb and a town on the Thames estuary, the Ministry of Home Security announced.

England's Spitfire defenders, however, took a toll of seven Italian fighters and one German over the Strait of Dover without any British losses. It was stated authoritatively, and a German fighter was shot down while approaching London.

The communique said the number of casualties from the bombardments was believed to be small.

In all, according to the Air Ministry, ten invading planes were shot down by British fighters up to 5:30 p. m., three German and seven Italian.

In Berlin, DNB, the German official news agency, reported tonight that 300 German bombers dropped 300 tons of bombs on Birmingham last night in a renewal of assaults on the huge British industrial center.

The raiders renewed their attack after an intense overnight hammering of two west midlands manufacturing cities, in which a record number of planes appeared over that "workshop" area of Britain.

Churches, hospitals, convents and many dwellings and other buildings were riddled, British reports said and piles of debris littered the two midlands towns after the severe 11-hour attack.

Casualties were believed heavy. Rescue and fire-fighting squads worked until daybreak quenching fires and digging out trapped victims.

British censors did not permit mention of the names of the midlands towns under bombardment, but a communique of the German high command reported renewed onslaughts on Birmingham and Coventry. The ports of Southampton and Bristol also were listed, with aircraft factories the chief objectives of dive bombers.

German sources reported that huge fires in Birmingham were visible on the French coast—nearly 200 miles away.

London's two daylight raids were of brief duration. Birmingham members of Parliament moved to "make the strongest possible representations" to Prime Minister Churchill to give midlands defense "immediate and urgent" consideration.

Signs Of Settlement In Strikes At Defense Plants In Widely Separated Areas

Government Intervention In Strike At Kensington Aluminum Plant Appears Only Solution in Dispute Called After Company Failed To Fire Employee For Threatening Union Official

New Kensington, Penn., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Government intervention today appeared to be the only hope of settling a CIO union strike over one man which left idle the 7,500 employees of the Aluminum Company of America plant here.

Officials of the company and two locals of the Aluminum Workers union were deadlocked on the strikers' sole announced demand—that the firm discharge a sheet mill worker who, they said, threatened a union official when he asked the worker to pay up about $12 in back dues.

The company, feeling that the demand was "not justified," declined to take any action and issued no further statement.

That was the situation confronting E. C. McDonald, United States Labor department conciliator, dispatched here at the request of the National Defense Commission in an attempt to settle the dispute.

While mills that had been busily turning out aluminum for airplanes and other defense items remained closed for the second day, Union Business Agent John Haser notified the company that strikers had reaffirmed their strike vote and would not return to work until you fire the one irresponsible worker.

BRITAIN NEEDS FINANCIAL AID

Available Gold And Securities Virtually Exhausted

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, said today that Great Britain was "beginning to come to the end of her financial resources."

He made the statement on his return to this country aboard Pan-American Airways Atlantic clipper after a vacation in his war-torn homeland.

It was the only remark in a half-hour interview that was not optimistic in respect to Britain's situation in its war with the axis powers.

He said that 1941 would be a "difficult year" and that England needed all kinds of war supplies, including munitions, ships and "perhaps finance."

Questioned further, he added that available gold and securities had been virtually used up and that this factor figured in 1941 calculations. The financial problem, he said, was "becoming urgent."

He expressed satisfaction with aid given England by the United States, pointed out it was increasing and added there was no feeling at home that "American assistance was not enough."

No Sign Of Peace In Sino-Jap War

Shanghai, Nov. 23.—(AP)—High Japanese sources declared today that Japan would recognize the Tokyo-dominated Nanking regime of President Wang Ching-Wei as the "national government of China" within the next 10 days, possibly in a prelude to a new Japanese drive in southeastern Asia.

These sources said the move would mean that Japan has abandoned hope of making peace with the Chungking government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Recognition of the Nanking regime, set up last March as the "Chinese Central Government," would be intended to convince the Japanese public that the "China incident has been terminated successfully" before undertaking any new campaign, informed foreign sources said.

War Department Negotiator Accused Of Holding Up Negotiations In Dispute Between Labor And Management At Big Vultee Aircraft Factory, Where Salary Dispute Agreement Reached Thursday

Downey, Calif., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Acting independently of a War Department negotiator accused by the union of "holding up the settlement" of a strike at Vultee aircraft's big plant, management and labor representatives arranged a new conference today.

Walter Smethurst of Detroit, a national director of the CIO United Automobile Workers, issued a statement last night from the 11-man negotiating committee which declared:

"We believe that in the interests of national defense we are obliged to inform the public that it is a representative of the government who is holding up the settlement of this dispute."

Major Sidney Simpson of the War Department flew here last Sunday from Washington to institute hearings between the two factions over salary matters. With him was Neil Arnold Tolles, representing Labor Coordinator Sidney Hillman of the National Defense Advisory Council. Tolles returned to Washington later in the week.

Smethurst said the union charges against Simpson had been wired to Philip Murray, new president of the CIO, at Atlantic City. Simultaneously, the Los Angeles Industrial Union Council, local governing body for the CIO, announced it had voted to dispatch an informative telegram to President Roosevelt.

Later Smethurst announced he and President Richard W. Millar of Vultee had agreed to other conferences beginning at noon today.

May Link Killing To Labor Trouble

Andrews, N. C., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Officers sought today to determine whether there was any connection between a shotgun slaying here Thursday night and an outbreak of violence earlier in the week among workers employed on the $6,500,000 Nantahala dam project.

James Workman, a welder on the project, was shot at his home two miles from here. Two men are being held in custody pending further investigation and officers are hunting a third who, Workman's widow said, did the shooting.

Work was halted on the project Tuesday after a series of fist fights among natives of this area and workmen imported from the East.

Make Retail Purchases Now

Babson Sees Heavy Holiday Business

New York City, Nov. 23.—Christmas trade during the coming holiday season should be the best in many years. Business volume on my Babson chart is estimated at 118 for November. This is approximately six points higher than for November of last year. Moreover, all business activity between now and Christmas. The rate of rise in retail spending will be sharper both prior to Christmas and in the closing weeks of 1940 than was the case a year ago.

The bitter election campaigns are being forgotten. The war is still 3,000 miles away. People are determined in spite of future uncertainties to have a good Christmas. Last year my optimism for a holiday rush—and it came—was based mainly on figures rather than on hopes. This year I base my conclusions upon figures, but in addition upon the feelings and the spirit of 120,000,000 people.

Lid Coming Off Business. Armament payrolls are being felt in the heavy industry states. Cantonment construction is likewise providing new and larger payrolls. Activity in this field will certainly continue through and beyond the year-end. Retailers will benefit greatly from the wage spending embraced in these and other groups.

TURKEY UNDER MILITARY LAW

Step Taken Because Of "General Political Situation"

Ankara, Turkey, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Sections of Turkey surrounding the strategic Dardanelles which straddle the land route from Europe to the Near East and Africa were under martial law today because of "the general political situation."

The Turkish government ordered a corps general to take charge of this district last night, only a short time after German Ambassador Franz Von Papen returned from Germany, presumably with a virtual ultimatum that Turkey affiliate with the Axis "new European order."

The government announcement said "the Prime Ministry and Council of Ministers as a result of its deliberations November 8 have deemed it necessary to proclaim martial law x x x for one month."

Observers expressed belief that Von Papen might be carrying a mere ultimatum proposal that Turkey, a friend of Great Britain, agree to stand aside in the event Bulgarian and German troops move to help Italy down Greece, another British friend.

Asked by Istanbul newspapermen if "normal relations" between Germany and Turkey would continue, the ambassador replied: "I have no declaration of any kind to make."

The Istanbul press reiterated statements that Turkey, while not looking for a fight, would fight if it seemed necessary.

LEAHY CHOSEN FRENCH ENVOY

Appointed By FDR to Succeed Ambassador Bullitt

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt announced today through a secretary that he would appoint Admiral William Leahy, retired, new governor of Puerto Rico and former chief of naval operations, ambassador to France to succeed William C. Bullitt.

The secretary, William D. Hassett, said it had not been determined when Leahy's nomination would be submitted to the Senate.

Hassett told reporter: "You know what the president thinks of his naval ability. What he thinks of him as a counselor on defense and as a man of superb all-around ability. As you know, the president depended heavily on him as chief of naval operations."

Leahy will succeed Bullitt, who submitted his resignation on November 7. Hassett said he did not know whether the resignation had been accepted formally, but that it is "safe to assume that it will be."

Mr. Roosevelt had offered the French post to General John J. Pershing, but the World War American expeditionary force commander declined in advice of his physician.

There was no indication of who might succeed Leahy as governor of Puerto Rico nor was any word forthcoming as to Bullitt's future.

Murray, who succeeded John L. Lewis in the CIO presidency yesterday, made his announcement at a post-convention meeting of the CIO's executive board.

BRIGHT FUTURE SEEN FOR PORT

U. S. Army Engineer Address Local Kiwanis Club

Col. Earl L. Brown, U. S. Army engineer with headquarters at Wilmington, in an address before the Greenville Kiwanis club last night, declared that the Tar river port terminal here had more than justified expectations and predicted a bright future for Greenville as a distributing center as a result of the project.

Mr. Brown was presented to the club by J. Nat Harrison, chairman of the Tar River Port Commission. Irving Morgan of Farmville, a member of the commission, also was present for last night's meeting.

The engineer reviewed the history of the terminal, how at first it appeared to have been lost because of the enormous cost and how plans were revised to locate the terminal on Hardee's creek and the subsequent approval and completion of the project.

Another highlight of last night's meeting was the round of applause accorded B. B. Sugg, newly named mayor of Greenville. Mayor Sugg was late coming in and as he entered members wildly applauded him.

The new mayor expressed his appreciation to the club and also to the Board of Aldermen for having placed confidence in him. He pledged to do his utmost to administer the city's affairs in an efficient manner and urged the cooperation of the citizenry as a whole.

George E. Barber, engineer at East Carolina Teachers College, was inducted into membership by Dr. R. S. Boyd. The meeting was presided over by Dr. S. M. Crisp.

They were the Blairek, 3,300 tons, the Tmyeric, 5,228 tons, and the S.135 the Swedish Anten.

Nazi Sphere Is Extended By Decision

Premier Antonescu, In Signing Pact, Says Axis Have Victory In Their Hands And Adds That Inwardly Rumania Joined Axis Long Ago; Italians Retreating from Koritza To New Defense

By The Associated Press Rumania followed Hungary's lead today and joined the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo military, political and economic alliance. Bulgaria and the Nazi-dominated state of Slovakia are expected to come in next week.

Rumania's willingness to join Adolf Hitler's "new order" of things in Europe extended the Nazi sphere to territory less than 250 miles from the Dardanelles, key to the Near East.

The Italians, driven out of Koritza, Albania, retreated toward a second defense line 30 miles inside Albania.

As Berlin leaders entertained General Ion Antonescu, Rumania's dictator, Bulgarian deputies openly voiced demands for territory from Greece and Yugoslavia.

Premier Bela Tuka of Slovakia is coming to Berlin to sign for his country tomorrow as the sixth member of the Nazi's military alliance. It was learned tonight.

Turkey, apparently in anticipation of a Nazi thrust through Bulgaria, ordered martial law in areas near the Dardanelles and instituted gasoline rationing.

Greek spokesmen said at least 72,000 Italians fled westward after giving up their base at Koritza and abandoning stores of supplies and quantities of armaments.

Captured Italian equipment, the Greeks said, included 80 small and heavy guns, 55 anti-tank guns, 20 tanks, more than 1,500 motorcycles and bicycles, 250 automobiles in 25 days of war.

Antonescu, in signing the pact with Germany, said the Axis powers already have victory over Britain in their hands and said Rumania inwardly had joined the Axis long ago.

"An effective tool for the reorganization of Europe and the world has been created by the three-power pact," Antonescu declared.

IN MEMORIAM

A tribute of love and devotion to the memory of our loved one, Rudolph J. Tyson, who departed this life June 21, 1940.

Today recalls sad memories of a loved one gone to rest, and those who think of you today are the ones who loved you best. Some think we are not lonely when at times they see us smile; little do they know the heartache that we suffer all the while. We think of you in silence, no one can see us weep; but silent tears are shed when others are asleep. His loving father, mother, brother and sisters.

Play At College Last Night.

The chill-producing situations and laugh-packed lines of "The Skull," mystery-comedy by McOwen an Humphrey, which had a long run in New York before being released for amateur groups, entertained a large audience at East Carolina Teachers College both Thursday and Friday nights, when the play was given by the Chi Pi Players of the college.

The complications of the plot arise from the fact that a professor of spiritualism and a young lady, ostensibly interested in communication with the spirit world, choose the same night as that selected by the weird criminal, "The Skull," and his accomplices to visit an abandoned country church, said to be haunted because of a murder committed there.

The background for the action is the dimly lighted chancel of the church. From the first scene of the play—when members of these two groups and detectives on the trail of the "Skull" begin encountering each other in the dimly lighted chancel or the subterranean passages of the church, and repulsive figures slide in and out—the suspense is sustained. Not until the final curtain is the "Skull" unmasked and nowhere during the three acts does the audience know what to expect next.

George Latare of Greenville, as the professor, helped create the mood of the play by the tone and manner in which he kept bringing to the forefront the idea of the nearness of the spirit world and its effect on the living. Miss Ruth Bray of Elizabeth City, as Dorothy Merrill, his pupil in psychic phenomena, worked well with him to build up to the surprise at the end. By their interpretation of the difficult roles of the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde doctor and the hunchback who helps clear up the mystery, Waylan Tucker and William Burks of Greenville, added to the horror of the play. James Dempsey of Wilson, took the part of the lover. The role of Dorothy's elderly aunt who fainted at every crisis and that of the timid reporter who would have been glad to faint, emphasized the farcical element and gave the audience many a laugh. They were played by Sibyl Taylor of Seaboard and Bill Dudash of New York.

The part of the Scotland Yard detective was taken by Dubose Simpson of Greenville; and Ophelia Hooks of Whiteville, was the ghostly Anna, who also helped to unmask the "Skull."

Much of the mood necessary for such a play was obtained by the effective set, designed by William Harris, and the careful lighting effects worked out by Fenzy Spear, assisted by Bob Whitchard. The sound effects, which also contributed to the atmosphere, were managed by Laura Haskins, Jean King and Walter Mallard.

Clifton Britton, director of "The Skull," has a long list of previous successes at E. C. T. C., to his credit. Among them are "Stage Door" and "Milky Way" of last year. He is a graduate student at the college.

WE CAN BE TOO PARTICULAR

A young woman whose husband is a distinguished research scholar in a scientific laboratory, complains of the fact that they almost never hear radio programs in their home because her husband, who is an expert in the radio field, always has the home receiving set apart trying to eliminate some little imperfection. They miss all the good programs because, as the young wife said, "George just can't stand it if the reception isn't perfect all the time."

AN IMPORTANT PART OF OUR DEFENSE

The Dies committee reports, based on records seized from various Nazi and anti-American organizations in this country, might prove an eye-opener to some of our people who have had the idea that talk of spy rings in this country was just so much imagination, and that efforts of the FBI are plain "witch hunting."

As a matter of fact, however, the spy rings do exist on an elaborate scale and not even the Dies committee can get the full facts because it is generally conceded that most of the work is being carried on under direction of the German ambassador and consular officials, and that records are kept at the embassy and consulates where they are exempt from inspection or seizure by America. Unfortunately, our country still abides by provisions of treaties that take for granted that representatives of foreign countries in our midst are honest and would take no steps against this country, and because of these treaties we are in truth giving protection to spy rings operating from such bases.

There is little doubt that the ranks of workers in every vital industry in our defense program includes many persons who are taking their orders from Berlin, and when the time comes they will stop at nothing to halt or wreck our program. Some of the high Nazi followers in this country boast openly that Germany will not have to worry about out-fighting America, for it has already outsmarted it and has only to say the word to bring this country to its knees when the proper time comes.

It seems to us that the great increase in the number of attaches to the German embassy and the German consulates in this country since the war in Europe began should be evidence enough to warrant our government to "smell a rat" in the whole set-up and begin to take steps to get rid of the menace even if it means the closing of the consulates and the banishment of the officials from this country. Such a step would naturally bring about a definite break with Berlin, but in the end the break will come anyway when Berlin gets ready for it, and the longer we permit present conditions to exist here the easier it will be for Germany when Hitler decides to take action against America.

This statement might seem a bit drastic, but in the face of the ever growing menace we feel that the necessity for the safety of America justifies the means.

Washington Daybook

Washington—Answering the mail orders: M. B. Southampton, N. Y., 161 State department says that it is making no further plans to bring United States nationals out of Greece. This means that there are no plans at all at present. The government points out that it gave adequate warning long ago for American citizens to get out of Greece and the complications of transportation are now such that they can do nothing about it. If your son and daughter are still there and (although they were born in this country and hence entitled to U. S. citizenship) if you had not taken out naturalization papers until recently they may be in for complications. Greece is one of the many countries where the dual citizenship problem arises. There are several countries that say children born of natives living abroad still are citizens of the country of their parents. This claim is re-established when those children return to the land of their parents. It is even possible that your son, now close to maturity, had been called for service in the Greek army. If this has not happened, and you can afford an expensive transportation, it is possible that the boy and girl can get out through Turkey and the East. One person here who recently returned from Europe tells me that it still is possible to get out of Greece through Yugoslavia, northern Italy (by "sealed express"), occupied France, Spain, and Portugal, but I am unable to verify either of these routes.

C. A. P. Biloxi, Miss.—You are right. I did jump the gun a bit on the Socialist party candidates for President since 1900 and I'm glad to straighten out my record as well as that of my informant. Eugene V. Debs was the candidate every four years from 1900 to 1912, inclusive, and again in 1920. Allan L. Benson was candidate in 1916 and resigned from the party two years later. Frank T. Johns, a carpenter, was the candidate in 1924 and Norman Thomas has been the candidate in each succeeding four years since then. This gives Debs a record of having been candidate for President on a national ticket five times and Thomas four.

Short Shots

Reflector Bureau By HENRY AVERILL Raleigh, Nov. 23.—Death of Chatham county's register of deeds, who was elected in November to serve another four year term beginning in January, posed a rather nice question for Attorney General Harry McMillan who was called on for an opinion on the question of appointment of successor. It was elementary law that the Board of County Commissioners could proceed at once to appoint a successor to serve until expiration of the present term; but whether it could now name a new man not only for the couple of months but for the ensuing four year period was something of a puzzle. Reading of Corpus Juris, some-thing of a lawyer's "Bible," and of the North Carolina case, Worley against Smith (decided in 1878) resulted in a ruling that the present board can appoint until January, but that no vacancy in the new term will exist until expiration of the old one, when a new board of county commissioners if there were any changes made at the November elections will be in office.

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By MEDORA FIELD

YESTERDAY: First Aunt Maggie was murdered. Then it was found impossible either to telephone the police, or to go for them, because of a blinding storm and the fact that someone had let the air out of all the tires on all the cars. And now Sally has left Bill, her husband, on guard and has gone to her room and slept. But neither she nor the other members of what had been intended as a quiet house-party have had much rest. A murderer if, they are convinced, still in the house.

Chapter 16 No Answer

WHEN I awakened at a little after eight o'clock in the morning I discovered that the fastening of one of the window blinds had come loose in the night.

This was, no doubt, responsible for the cold draft which had blown across me in my dream, but I still had an uncomfortable feeling that the secret of the hidden room might be somewhere right under my nose. After all, this was the room in which the warning message had been left.

But a hurried survey revealed no clue. Later, I would make a more thorough examination. Just now I could not hurry fast enough with my bathing and dressing, so anxiously was I for the comfort of Bill's presence, his reassurance that daylight meant a straightening out of at least some of our difficulties.

The rain had stopped in the night, but the sky was leaden, as though a downpour might begin at any moment. On the way downstairs I remembered the matches I had lost the night before somewhere near the landing. This was easy enough to find this morning, but, except for the fact that I had automatically looked for them along the way, I should have passed unnoticed a small scrap of rose-colored taffeta which evidently had been snagged off by a nail projecting from one of the rounds supporting the stair rail.

Of course, there should not have been a nail in the first place, and it was easy to see that it had been used in a crude attempt to repair a split in one of the delicate rounds.

"Some of Thomas's work," I told myself, with a mental note to have the repair looked after properly. Thomas had been my grandmother's gardener and general handy man for many years, and as she had grown older he had grown a bit slovenly. He and Lindy, his wife, had lived in the servants' quarters back of the house until a month or so ago, when they had moved to a tenant house about a quarter of a mile distant.

It occurred to me now that I might question Thomas along with Bessie and Andrew about the secret room.

Thinking of all this, I picked up the small piece of silk as any housewife would. I noticed that tiny feathers or down clinging to the cloth and wondered just where such a scrap could have come from. Then I remembered that Alice had been wearing a rose quilted robe the night before.

But Alice had said she went only to the head of the stairs. I stuffed the matches and the bit of silk into a pocket of my red cadin and hurried on to the dining room. Bill, usually almost too bright and cheerful in the mornings, now looked like death warmed over. The knot on his head had gone down, but the discoloration had spread to the area around his eye.

Nobody else appeared to be up and Bill explained that Andrew had set out on foot for Roswell, "to spread the alarm," and also to try to stir up an electrician and a wrecker for the cars.

"Of course, it's Sunday, and everything will probably be shut up in Roswell," he added. "But, anyway, Andrew can at least find a telephone."

"Maybe we can get everything cleared up today and there won't be a lot of wild headlines in the papers."

"Of course, there's the radio," Bill reminded me. "Don't they have news broadcasts on Sunday?"

Red Light WHAT little appetite I had disappeared as I followed this gloomy trail of thought, but at Bill's insistence I forced down toast and coffee. At the same time I related to him the reason for my trip downstairs in the small hours of the morning.

Neither Kirk nor I had mentioned to Bill the fact that the sheet over Aunt Maggie had been disturbed. I had purposely omitted discussing it and Kirk, I am sure, had refrained out of consideration for me.

This ghoulish detail now impressed Bill where he might otherwise have been inclined to try to explain away my theory that the secret room was in some way connected with Aunt Maggie's death. "It's possible you are right," he admitted. "God knows there must be some reason back of it all. But why on earth didn't you let me go on this little research expedition?"

"I was trying to let you get some sleep," I said. "Besides, it all seemed so crazy. I didn't know what you would say. My consid-

Pirates Close Season With Victory Over Naval Team

FOES ARE SUNK BY 44-0 SCORE

Outcome Never In Doubt After First Minutes Of Play

By BURTON DANIELS
The Pirates of East Carolina put one over on the Navy yesterday afternoon sinking the Apprentice School from Norfolk under a 44-0 score, in their final game of the season.

The issue was never in doubt from the first few minutes of the game, when acting captain Cinakos fell on a fumbled punt on the visitors' third yard line after the first exchange of kicks, two plays later seeing Schuerholz going over for the initial touchdown and McFee adding the point from placement. From there the Pirates went on to score in each of the other three quarters adding another in the first, two in the third, and another two in the last period.

McFee set up the second touchdown with two runs that totaled 35 yards carrying to the visitors' eight from where Schuerholz took it over on a line plunge. A pass, Evans to McFee, carried to the ten about midway of the second quarter, and McFee circled his own right end for the marker, converting from placement. Later in the period, just before the half, Pittrell, Greenville flash, took the ball on a triple reverse and galloped 18 yards before being pulled down to set up the Pirates' fourth touchdown. Evans passing to big George Roberts for the final marker before the half. The score at halftime, East Carolina 26, Apprentice School 0.

After a slow start in the third period, Wadell passed to Schuerholz for a gain of 25 yards carrying to the eight yard marker. Schuerholz blasted the center of the line for the marker two plays later after an attempted pass fell incomplete short of the goal line. The Pirates had driven to the visitors' eight yard line as the third period ended, and McFee drove over from the end post. Murray flipped a pass good for 17 yards to Roberts for the Pirates' last touchdown.

The visitors scored in the waning moments of the game. Cooper blasting across from the three yard line with Boyd adding the point from placement.

The entire Pirate outfit turned in some splendid football, and while Schuerholz and McFee dominated the play for the Pirates on offense that was to be expected from their performances in games of the past. The outstanding feature of the day's game was the performance of two rookies: Tripp in for the injured Rogers at center and big George Roberts at the end post. Tripp played behind Rogers all season had not had the opportunity of seeing much action as the Pirate captain gloried in doing an iron man stunt of duty in each game, but with Rogers out of the line-up, he filled the shoes of the star center and at times seemed to stretch them to the bursting point. He is slated to fill in at regular center next season, and from here it looks as if he will do a mighty fine job of it. Big Roberts was the best ball player on the field at times yesterday despite his lack of experience, and it is evident that he would be able to make any eleven in the nation with the experience that he has gained this season. He is the Pirate to watch in future years, the big fellow has got the goods.

WEE WARRIORS OF 1940 GRIDIRONS MAKE BIG BOYS STEP TO KEEP UP

By FERG BROWNING
AP Feature Service Sports Writer
New York.—The little men have had a busy year.

Every week-end on the nation's gridirons some wee warrior steps into the midst of 21 collegiate colossuses and scats off with the major honors.

Like 155-pound Little Butch Hovious, the Mississippi triple threat or 145-pound Pete Petrella, Penn State's peppercorn, or Johnny Bosch of Georgia Tech, or Bunky Morris, Syracuse sophomore, or Ted Mazur of Manhattan, each one a 145-pound package of poison.

These guys don't seem to realize they're making an average 40-yard concession to the 11 opponents across the line. They just go on running around and under—and sometimes right through—those hostile masses of muscle.

Hovious Consistent
Most consistently terrific of the tiny terrors has been Hovious. Against L. S. U. he took a 51-yard pass and went on 17 yards for a touchdown, then scampered 20 yards for another. He went marching through Georgia for 96 yards and six points on a punt return.

E. CITY BOYS EAST CHAMPS

Edenton and New Bern Tie—Goldsboro Licks Kinston

While Elizabeth City was licking Sanford for the Eastern Class B Title, Goldsboro was shelling Kinston 13-6, and Edenton and New Bern were fighting to a 6-6 deadlock, the Greenville High Phantoms were taking it easy for the Washington Classic next week—and Washington was taking it easy.

Coach George Hunsucker's Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets continued their march of destruction by romping Sanford High School for a 25-6 win and the Eastern Class B Title.

To the fans of our local leather chasers, it was Elbert Fearing who was the big gun against Sanford, incidentally he was also the big gun against the Phantoms in the locals 19-2 loss. One of his modest little bits of hipper-dipper and so forth was the 90 yard return of the opening kick-off for a touchdown, but the hero was the goat on the next play that fell neatly into the arms of Quarterback Donnell of the Sanford team and he raced almost the length of the field for a touchdown to tie the score. All this happened fast in the first quarter.

Donnell's nice piece of running only served to get the boys from Elizabeth City mad and they began a goalward march that stopped on the Elizabeth City eight yard line. There they lost the ball on downs but a penalty put the boys from Sanford back to the one and Ike Perry, Elizabeth City, end, blocked the Sanford punt, caught it and went over for a touchdown. The other two Elizabeth City touchdowns came on an off-tackle slice kicking (win, both scale 155, and Ted Arico, Dartmouth's most threatening runner and a fullback, weighs only 145. Walter Pawlowski, 157-pounder at Michigan State, scored State's two touchdowns against Michigan (21-14) and two more in the 29-7 triumph over Purdue. Al Cole, 153, is the phoooper-upper at quarterback for the Stanford Indians.

Small passers—but good— are plentiful. Ernie Allen of Kentucky (145), Harold Hamberg (145), Arkansas, Walter Emmett (150) Washington, and little Heyward Allen Georgia, can fling 'em with the best of the beefsteak.

Edenton and New Bern high schools played to a 6-6 tie yesterday in Edenton for the second tie in the last two years. Last year the contest ended in a scoreless deadlock. In the second quarter Charles

Warrenton ploughed through center for 10 yards and the New Bern touchdown. Edenton's score came when George Byrum tossed a 54 yard aerial to Noah Goodwin that simply nestled into his arms and he went over standing up. Edenton threatened again in the last period but Brown intercepted an aerial and almost turned the threat around but Goodwin caught him before he could get to pay dirt. The locals took both of these teams by three margins, New Bern 45-13 and Edenton 25-0.

The United States purchased Alaska from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000.

Goldboro Wins
Led by "Shoebay" McCleeny on the attack, the Goldsboro Earthquakes marched over Kinston for a 13-6 win. Both of Goldsboro's scores came in the third quarter and the win gave the Quakes second place in the Conference.

Kinston drew first blood in the second quarter when a pass from Roland Paylor to Hunter Moore was good for 53 yards and it gave the Red Devils a first down on the Goldsboro six yard line. There Edorn Pittman took over and hammered the line for the remaining six yards and a score.

In the third quarter the Earthquakes got a break and took advantage of it. A Kinston fumble on their own 25 proved costly when Goldsboro covered it and in five plays McCleeny went over for the score. Bizzell took off down the sideline later in the quarter for 50 yards and the last touchdown of the game. McCleeny made the extra point after the first touchdown. Incidentally the Phantoms took a kicking from both teams but neither team can say it was a pushover. Goldsboro took a 6-0 in one of the hardest fought battles of the season and Kinston broke a 15 year record and beat the Phantoms 14-13.

Edenton-New Bern Tie
Edenton and New Bern high schools played to a 6-6 tie yesterday in Edenton for the second tie in the last two years. Last year the contest ended in a scoreless deadlock. In the second quarter Charles

New Davidson President

Davidson, Nov. 21.—Dr. John Rood Cunningham, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Winston-Salem and an outstanding leader of the Southern Presbyterian Church, was elected President of Davidson College Tuesday afternoon to succeed Dr. Walter L. Lingle, head of the century-old college for the past eleven years.

Dr. Cunningham was selected by the College Trustees after a seven-month search in which a total of 177 candidates were considered. The Nominating Committee of the Trustees, headed by J. Archie Cannon of Concord, notified the Winston-Salem minister immediately and he is expected to make his decision within the next few weeks. If he accepts he will probably take office February 1 at the beginning of the second semester.

The new Davidson President was born in Williamsburg, Missouri, in 1891. A graduate of Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri, and the Louisville Theological Seminary, he was ordained a Presbyterian minister in 1917.

PLAN RESUME POWER BATTLE

High Point Dispute To Come Up In High Court

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Nov. 23.—The prolonged and bitter High Point power battle will be renewed in Supreme court here next Tuesday.

Only one safe prediction can be made regarding the coming chapter—it will not be the last. That much is certain because it is only a question of oral argument, after which the cause will pass into the "bosom of the court" to await preparation and handing down of an opinion, which may or may not terminate the litigation in which the Duke Power Company has been successful so far in preventing construction by the Guilford city of a plant power project on the Yadkin river.

It's the perennial and everlasting fight of privately owned utility against governmental operation of such projects.

The specific points involved in the coming verbal clashes involve modification of a previous injunction, sustained by the Supreme court, which modifications would permit the city to proceed toward its long-sought objectives.

The last round won by the power companies came when a lower court grant of an injunction was affirmed on two grounds:

1. That the plant and system, if constructed, would be under and subject to the provisions of the Federal Power act, to the rules and regulations of the Federal Power Commission and to the terms and conditions of a federal license; and that the City of High Point had no authority under the laws of this state to construct a plant and a system which would be subject to such federal control and authority.

2. That the undertaking came under the Revenue Bond act of 1938 and that the city had not obtained a certificate of convenience and necessity as required by that act. Also the city had been restrained

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Quiet strength seeped into parts of today's stock market, but the list as a whole failed to develop a real trend. The proceedings were sluggish from the start and transfers of around 250,000 shares for the two-hour session were the smallest in more than a month.

Traders had plenty of good home business to go on, but the majority apparently thought a fair amount of liquidity was preferable to an expansion of commitments over the week-end. At the close numerous issues were exactly where they finished yesterday and negligible minus and plus marks were well distributed.

In another case, brought by Yadkin county, on the grounds that it did not have the right to acquire by condemnation the lands of another governmental unit (the county, from which it was proposed to take the county home site and several highway rights-of-way).

Thereafter, the City of High Point and the County of Yadkin agreed on a purchase price for these public lands and the two, in cooperation, sought modification of the injunction terms. This modification was opposed by intervenor Yadkin county citizens. The city and county won a modification in lower court; and this cause is to be argued on appeal in consolidation, probably, with the other action which is technically termed McGuinn vs. City of High Point, although McGuinn has passed completely out of the picture.

To meet the restraints of the Supreme court decision last spring the Board of Power Commissioners of the City of High Point adopted two resolutions. On the basis of these resolutions the city filed a motion for modification of the final judgment and decree of injunction.

It won that modification in superior court, and it is this modification which now is to be reviewed on appeal.

The parties are in sharp disagreement as to the purport and effect of the two resolutions of the High Point power commission. The city contends that they made material changes in the undertaking and brought it into conformity with the Supreme court ruling. The Power company contends that it made no material change and that the Board of Power Commissioners had no authority under the act creating it to make any material change.

Briefly, Duke maintains that the city proposes to issue the same bonds for the construction of the same plant and system which were enjoined by the Supreme court, and that the resolution which purports to take bonds out of the Revenue act provisions for a certificate of convenience and necessity does nothing but restate the contentions which the Supreme court rejected. The other resolution recited decision of the Supreme court that the city had no authority to accept a Federal license and provided that the city shall not be bound by its terms.

The parties are in sharp disagreement over the effect of this resolution, too. The city contends, it releases the plant, if constructed from all federal control and authority. The Duke company contends that the resolution does not and cannot have the effect of releasing a finding of the Federal Power Commission that the project would affect the interests of interstate and foreign commerce.
