Forces Being Concentrated Around Tobruk; Other British Units Reported To Have Entered Junction Of Ethiopian Border; Air Raids Spur Uprisings by Natives

Cairo, Jan. 10.—(AP)—British general headquarters announced today "concentration" of British forces around Tobruk, Italian naval station and garrison town on the Libyan coast, while operations farther west continued.

At the same time, flaring action was reported against Italian East Africa hundreds of miles southeast of the Libyan front. The British announced that their forces had entered Buna, Kenya colony crossroads junction some 100 miles south of the Ethiopian border and that El Wak, in the Kenya-Italian Somalia border zone had been abandoned by the Italians. Buna is in a sector which the Italians have held for months. The British said there was no sign of opposition from Italians there. While the advance guard of the Army of the Nile pressed on west of Tobruk, British general headquarters said extensive Royal Air Force raids on Italian bases in Ethiopia were encouraging an incipient native uprising in that Italian colony. There were hints that Ethiopia, where fighting between British and Italian forces thus far has been limited largely to frontier skirmishes, might soon become a real battle ground.

Gale Snaps 'Hangman's Tree'

Londonderry, Ireland.—(AP)—After two and a half centuries, Ireland's famed "Hangman's Tree" has been blown down by a gale. Planted at the time of Londonderry's historic siege in 1690, the tree stood near the wall behind which the city's defenders defied the attack of the army of King James II. It was the last survivor of 13 planted after the siege to commemorate the action of the 13 Apprentice Boys who shut the city's gates in the face of the attackers.

OUR GOOD NEIGHBOR

PARAGUAY One of the two inland countries of South America, Paraguay has unusually high infant mortality. Hookworm is its most common disease. All visitors to Paraguay from abroad are asked to report to the police on arrival and to apply for a permit to leave the country. A government decree (1936) forbids the entry of Jews, irrespective of nationality, into the country. Paraguayans know that each year on the basis of reliable statistics they may expect 79 rainy, 72 cloudy, and 214 clear days. Soccer football introduced into Paraguay from England 40 years ago, has become one of its most popular sports.

Modest About Dive

Lieut. Andrew C. McDonough, youthful and modest naval reserve flier and Eastern Air Lines pilot, came back home in Atlanta, Ga., without much to say about his spectacular dive at a speed of 620 miles and hour in an Airacobra interceptor pursuit plane at Buffalo, N. Y., January 8. He did consent to sit at the controls of a big transport plane at the Atlanta airport in a sort of demonstration of how he "gave her the gun" at Buffalo.

DEFENSE AIMS ARE ENDORSED

Roosevelt's Policies Supported By N. C. Assembly

Raleigh, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The North Carolina General Assembly unanimously adopted a joint resolution today, praising President Roosevelt's program for preparedness and for "all possible aid short of war" to all Democracies. Gov. Broughton recommended such action in his inaugural yesterday. Senator Gregory of Rowan offered the resolution and it was adopted under suspended rules. The legislators also voted to hold a one-day session in Chapel Hill January 30 as a gesture of good will toward the University of North Carolina and 130 South American students now doing special work there. Rep. Umstead of Orange introduced the resolution and said it was endorsed orally and in writing by Governor Broughton and Lieut. Governor R. L. Harris. He said January 30 was chosen because it was the President's birthday and the president is attempting to improve relations between the United States and South American nations. Senator Palmer of Cabarrus introduced a bill to fix fees for licenses for private automobiles at a flat $5. The plates are sold now on a graduated scale. The House received a bill from Rep. Legrand of New Hanover to make it a misdemeanor to engage in fifth column or subversive activities. Governor Broughton called attention in his inaugural address to the possible need of such legislation. Under the measure it would be unlawful to advocate orally or in writing the overthrow of the national or state governments by force, violence or unlawful means. Another Legrand bill passed both divisions quickly and will be ratified into law tomorrow or Monday. It permits the city of Wilmington and New Hanover county to provide and operate recreational centers. Legrand explained that the city and county had surplus funds with which to build the centers and that they were needed for officers and men to be stationed at the new Holly Ridge Davis anti-aircraft flier center. Legrand sent in a resolution to speed work of the General Assembly by prohibiting introduction of any new bills after the first 40 days of the session unless three-fourths of the members consent to consider the measures. It was referred to committee. The moon is approximately 240,000 miles from earth.

Bill Would Permit Manufacture In This Country Of Any Defense Articles To Be Sent Abroad By Sale, Transfer Or Lease; Would Permit Repair of British Warships In U. S.

Washington, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Administration leaders urged Congress today to give President Roosevelt sweeping powers to transfer American-made military equipment to Great Britain and other warring "democracies." The bill, introduced in both houses of Congress today, would permit the chief executive "when he deems it in the interest of national defense to: 1. "Manufacture in arsenals, factories and shipyards under their jurisdiction of otherwise procure any defense article for the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States. 2. "Sell, transfer, exchange, lease lend or otherwise dispose of to any such government any defense article. 3. "Test, inspect, prove, repair, outfit, recondition or otherwise to place in good working order any defense article for any such government. 4. "Communicate to any such government any defense information pertaining to any defense article furnished to such government under paragraph two of this subsection. 5. "Release for export any such government article to any such government." A statement issued by congressional leaders said that the bill's provision permitting the President "to test, repair, outfit or otherwise to place in good working order any defense article" meant that repairs could be made to defense articles whether manufactured in the United States or not. "It could conceivably mean, for example," the statement said, "that the British battle cruiser Renown could be repaired in the Brooklyn navy yard if the President considered it in the interest of our national defense to do so." The measure authorizes the appropriation of funds "in such amounts as may be necessary" to carry out its provisions. Estimates of eventual cost have reached ten billion dollars and Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, has estimated that from two billion dollars to five billion dollars may be appropriated this year.

Business Women To Help Britain

The executive committee of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club in its first meeting of the new year, last night unanimously endorsed the proposal for a United Federation gift to the people of Great Britain. Under the nation-wide plan, mobile feeding units or kitchens to be used in the bombed areas of Britain will be furnished the war-pressees Britons. A single unit costs $1,500 and feeds 200 people at a time and are used to provide hot food for women, children, fire-fighters, rescue crews, then of the fighting forces defending Britain's people. It was pointed out that if each member of the National Federation gave as little as 25 cents, enough money would be provided for a number of units. The membership of the local unit was polled and showed a willingness on the part of 100 percent to make a contribution of a minimum of 25 cents. The money will be collected and a check sent to national headquarters, immediately in order to get the feeder units in operation as soon as possible.

Civic Club To Stage 1941 Teachers Night

The Greenville Kiwanis club tonight will observe its annual Teachers Night program and all members of the faculties of the Greenville schools will be guests of the club. An entertaining and interesting program has been arranged by a committee composed of W. J. Bundy, Eli Bloom and W. K. Stewart Jr. The program will be held at the Woman's club building, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

AIR ASSAULTS EXCHANGED BY RAF, GERMANS

Nazi War Industries In Ruhr Suffer Severe Raids

BOULOGNE ALSO VICTIM OF RAID

German Raiders, Meanwhile, Shower Incendiaries On Large District Of London During The Night

By The Associated Press The British Royal Air Force reported today a heavy bombing assault on Germany's vital war industries in the Ruhr. Royal Air Force bombers also carried out a large scale attack on cross-channel objectives in France shortly after noon today, apparently blasting at the German-occupied port of Boulogne. German raiders showered hundreds of incendiary bombs on London during the night, concentrating the assault on "one large district" which British censorship kept secret—in an evident attempt to reveal the devastating "fireknights" of December 29. The government declared, however, that the capitals newly-organized fire bomb fighting squads doused the incendiaries almost as fast as they fell. Premier Mussolini's high command declared Italian planes and naval units bombed a British battleship in the eastern Mediterranean, sank two submarines and two freighters and torpedoed two other merchantmen. The battleship, unidentified, was reported hit despite "violent anti-aircraft reaction" in an attack on a large British naval formation. Hitler's high command acknowledged that Royal Air Force bombers, "raided" various places in western Germany, inflicting a toll of 20 killed and many wounded.

FDR PROPOSAL BRINGS DEBATE

Measure Argued Pro And Con By Senate Members

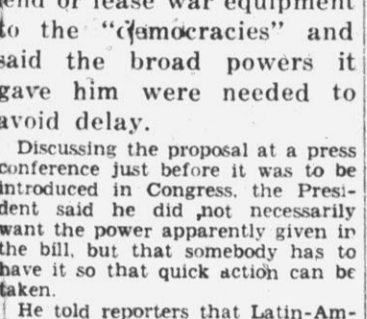

Washington, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Foes of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, criticized the bill authorizing transfer of American-made military equipment to warring "democracies" and Senator Clark (D-Mo.) declared that the legislation "is simply a bill authorizing the President to declare war." Administration supporters, however, expressed confidence that the Senate would give overwhelming approval to the measure after the House has acted. When the bill was introduced in the House by Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.) a dozen members jumped up to make remarks, but Speaker Rayburn recognized Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the Republican floor leader. Martin said that no Republican members of Congress apparently had been consulted in preparation of the legislation and inquired whether it was to be considered in a non-partisan manner. McCormack retorted that he was "very sorry that my friend should raise that question" and asserted he "assumed that national defense transcended party politics." Martin agreed, but said "we should be given some consideration in preparation of this program." In the Senate, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), termed Adolf Hitler a "devil incarnate" proposed "repeal of all laws which would in any way interfere with our giving Great Britain all aid that that President or Congress might find necessary." Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) read a message by President Millard Fillmore (1850-1853) urging non-interference in internal affairs of other nations. Sen. LaFollette (Prog-Wis.), who endorsed President Roosevelt's successful bid for a third term, told reporters that he would oppose the measure. "This is not a request for a blank check," LaFollette said, "it is a demand that Congress abdicate vital and important powers." Senator Green (D-R.I.) told reporters that "this is a bill to aid the United States, using Great Britain to help us while we prepare our defense." (Continued on page five)

Chief Executive Requests Immediate Action On Bill Providing Lend-Lease Aid

Declares Broad Powers Needed To Avoid Delay And Adds That While He Does Not Necessarily Desire Such Authority, It Must Be Delegated To Some One To Insure Speed

Washington, Jan. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt urged speedy action today on the administration bill to lend or lease war equipment to the "democracies" and said the broad powers it gave him were needed to avoid delay. Discussing the proposal at a press conference just before it was to be introduced in Congress, the President said he did not necessarily want the power apparently given in the bill, but that somebody has to have it so that quick action can be taken. He told reporters that Latin-American nations, as well as "democracies" at war, could be benefited by the lease-lending plan if it were found necessary. Mr. Roosevelt also announced that he had signed a proclamation requiring copper, brass, bronze, zinc, nickel and potash to be exported only under export licenses effective February 3. These materials, he said, are needed for this nation's defense. They were added to an already large list by recommendation of the administration of export control. Asked whether the British aid bill would have the effect of repealing the neutrality act ban against loans to belligerents and the Johnson act prohibiting against credits to World War debt defaulters, Mr. Roosevelt replied in the negative. But he added that the language employed in the proposal, namely (Continued on page two)

Several Local Projects Considered By Board

Meetings Each Thursday Night Appear To Be The Rule

The Greenville Board of Aldermen, faced with an increasing number of important problems such as the airport, curb market, a proposed super highway, a fire tower and possible legislative proposals, met last night for the second successive Thursday night and adjourned only to meet again Thursday night of next week. Another project to come to the attention of the mayor and Board of Aldermen was a proposed central bus station. Mayor B. B. Sugg reported to the board on correspondence between him and the Utilities Commission and also on conferences he has had with an official of the Carolina Coach Company, relative to erecting a bus terminal here. The mayor said he felt that progress was being made and Greenville would have such a station in the near future. The board decided to make formal approval for financial aid on the City-County airport from the government as a national defense project. It was revealed that one runway had been laid out and work was progressing on others under the supervision of C. K. Beatty, City Street Superintendent. The local curb market apparently is nearing realization, the committee on the project having been authorized to proceed with the selection of a site and the drawing of plans for the building. Both the city and county boosted their allotments of $1,500 each for the project by $800, making a total of $4,600 available to purchase a site and erect a modern building. It is proposed to erect the building with either NYA or WPA assistance. The proposed super highway was discussed and the consensus was that there was a good possibility that the Greenville-Pactiville link would be put back in the plans. The Farmville-Greenville link appears assured. The committee charged with selecting a site for erection of the $5,000 fire tower to be donated to the city by M. O. Minges was instructed to secure prices in writing on the various lots under consideration at an early meeting so actual work can get under way without further delay. The possibility of extending the present city limits came before the board when a committee was instructed to study the proposal and make recommendations to the full board. The board invited any person affected by such a proposal to make known his wishes. Letters from various fire departments in Eastern Carolina were read with the idea of enlightening the board on the proper kind of new truck which would best fill the city's requirements. GET TRAINING CITY SCHOOLS

100 ECTC College Seniors To Get Experience Here

Over 100 seniors of East Carolina Teachers College will be doing their practice teaching in the Greenville schools this term, in addition to the twelve who had to be placed in other nearby systems because of the pressure of numbers. The group that will be teaching in the primary grades, under the supervision of Miss Dora Coates is the largest, there being 18 in the Training school and one in the West Greenville school. Miss Ann Redwine, Miss Ruth Faison, Miss Lucy Nulton, Miss Christine Johnson, Miss Eunice McGee and Mrs. Elizabeth Savage are the critic teachers for these grades in the Training school and Miss Agnes Fullmore in the West Greenville school. Fifteen students are to teach in the grammar grades in the Training school under Misses Alma Browning, Louise Galphin, Cleo Rainwater, Mary Ann Cobb, Mary Eva Keeter, Elizabeth Hyman and Kathleen G. Plumb, with Miss Frances Wahl as supervisor for the college. Sixteen science majors will teach in the Greenville high school, with Miss Cooper Bell and E. R. Robinson as critics and Dr. Charles W. Reynolds as supervisor. Twelve student teachers will be in the English department at the high school. Dr. Lucile Turner supervises this work and V. M. Mullholland, R. G. Walsler, Judson White and Miss Deane Boone Haskett are the critics. Eleven students will teach in Greenville in the home economics department in the classes of Miss Shelby Micham and Miss Jessie Schnapp. There will be 11 additional teachers in this subject outside of Greenville. The supervisor is Mrs. Ethel Waters. In the mathematics department there will be seven student teachers, with Miss Elizabeth England supervising and Misses Estelle Greene and Evelyn Buchanan as critic teachers. The foreign language department will also have seven. Professor R. C. Deal is supervisor and Miss Imogene Riddick is the critic teacher. (Continued on page five)

ROBBED, SLAIN NEAR KINSTON

Fred B. Sutton, Prominent Lenoir County Man, Victim

Kinston, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The blood-stained body of Fred B. Sutton, 61, member of one of the most prominent families in Lenoir county, was found today in the service station he operated two miles from Kinston. The head had been hacked and a blood-covered axe was found on the premises. The station had been robbed. Bloodhounds were let loose soon after the body was found. Police said that Sutton was slain some time in the night. He is survived by three sons and a daughter. Sheriff Sam R. Churchill revealed he was holding two or more persons in custody in connection with the killing. He refused to reveal further details. In Raleigh, Frederick C. Handy, director of the State Bureau of Investigation announced he had assigned one of his agents to aid in the investigation. Sutton's filling station is situated about two miles southeast of Kinston at the intersection of Trenton-Kinston and Kinston-Dover roads. Reports from there indicated feeling was running high over the killing. The sheriff's office said only a "nominal" sum was obtained in the robbery.

Expect Big Crowd At Asso. Meeting

Indications point to a large attendance at the annual stockholders meeting of the Greenville Production Credit Association, which will be held on January 21 at the court house in Snow Hill at 10 o'clock, according to Jno. R. Carroll, of Winterville, president of the association. An interesting and instructive program has been arranged for the association. Mr. Carroll said, and much interest is being manifested by the members. Some new features will be introduced in the meeting this year, he said. By special invitation of the association, a representative of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia will make a brief address at the conclusion of the business session. The Greenville Production Credit Association serves Pitt and Greenville counties and furnishes short-term credit for general agriculture and livestock purposes to its members.

Athens Says Klisura In Greek Hands

Fall of Important Town On Central Albanian Battlefield May Result In Italians Being Forced To Give Up Tepeleni, Their Next Barrier In Greeks' March Toward Valona

Athens, Jan. 10.—(AP) The strategically important town of Klisura, on the central Albanian battlefield, has fallen to Greek troops after a week of bitter fighting, an official announcement said today. As a result, the Italians probably will be forced to give up Tepeleni, 15 miles to the west, the next important objective on the route of the Greek march toward Valona, military circles said. Valona is the last important port in Southern Albania still in Italian hands and is the immediate objective of the Greek drive in this sector. Two hundred more prisoners and a score of mortars were captured by Greek forces in Albania during local actions, in which they captured important positions at bayonet point, the Greek high command reported last night. Unconfirmed reports in Yugoslavia said another Italian vessel carrying war supplies to Albania had been torpedoed in the Adriatic off the Yugoslav coast—the fourth reported sent to the bottom in the last 10 days. Greek forces were reported also to have advanced a few miles beyond Klisura in the direction of Berat, with the Italians in disorderly retreat. Premier General John Metaxas announced the taking of Klisura to the cabinet this morning and sent a telegram to the Greek forces. The announcement was a signal for widespread Greek rejoicing. The Greeks said they have not had time to count their prisoners nor the "large quantity" of materials of all kinds seized.

Western N.C. Town Hard Hit By Fire

Newland, N. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A large part of this little town's business district was in ashes today. Fire, which started in a cafe about 8:30 last night, swept through the structures along three blocks on one side of the main street. No casualties were reported, but property loss was expected to amount to thousands of dollars. The blaze raged unabated for nearly an hour until assistance arrived from Spruce Pine, Boone and Elizabethton, Tenn.

Mrs. McLawhorn Dies At Home of Daughter

Mrs. Virginia Cox McLawhorn died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Allen Mills of near Grimsland last night at 10 o'clock following two weeks of illness. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Mills residence and interment will follow in the Mack Smith cemetery, Pleasant Hill, church, Shelmerline. Mrs. McLawhorn is survived by four sons, Richard of Ayden, route two, L. C. of Vanceboro, route one, Oscar of Vanceboro and Fred Arthur McLawhorn of near Grimsland; two daughters, Mrs. Maggie Adams and Mrs. Mills of near Grimsland.

Speaks To P. T. A. Dr. C. F. Keuzenkamp was the guest speaker on Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Chicod school.

Grifton P. T. A. Meets. Grifton, Jan. 10.—On Wednesday night at the community building the P. T. A. was in session for their first meeting of the new year. This was parents' night. Mrs. W. I. Bissette presided over the business meeting and the program was then turned over to Mrs. C. R. Cobb and Mrs. M. B. Hodges. An impromptu program with faculty members taking part in the stunts was put on, this being in the form of a school room with the pupils entertaining for the local school board. After this Mrs. Mattie Hooker, WPA district supervisor of lunch rooms gave an interesting talk on the lunch rooms and gardens. Refreshments were served in the lunch room by Mrs. C. C. May and Miss Elizabeth Mariner of the lunch room staff and the home economics department.

Attendance prizes went to Miss Essey, home room teacher of the eleventh grade, and the second grade, with Miss Lucy Barrow teacher.

Mrs. B. W. Moseley Hostess. The George B. Singletary chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy was entertained by Mrs. B. W. Moseley Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. R. C. Deal, the president, was in the chair and read greetings from the division president, also inspiring letters from the Confederate Women's Home at Fayetteville expressing appreciation of boxes sent at Christmas.

An invitation from Mrs. S. T. White to hear Mrs. Gold review her book "It Was Forever" Wednesday afternoon, January 15, at the Woman's Club, was accepted.

Mrs. E. T. Robeson reported that the Southern Society of New York of which her brother, Mr. John B. Glenn is president, would broadcast a program Friday evening, January 17, honoring Robert E. Lee, Thomas J. Jackson and Matthew Fontaine Maury. Douglas Freeman of Richmond will broadcast for the general division.

Mrs. Ed Harvey gave the program which was a life sketch of Rev. Ed Joyner, a Pitt county veteran, who spent his declining years in Hendersonville. The chapter maintained close contact with Mr. Joyner as long as he lived and his letters were always an inspiration. He was chaplain of the North Carolina Division of Confederate Veterans.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming gave brief pen pictures of Generals Lee and Jackson and Commodore Matthew Fontaine Maury.

The hostess invited the guests into the dining room, where amid a setting of candles and flowers, each guest served herself while Mrs. Deal poured tea. The guests were loathe to leave so hospitable a scene.

Third Street P. T. A. Meets. The P. T. A. met at Third street school on Wednesday, January 8. After the regular business program the following program was in order: Mrs. Guy Smith led a discussion concerning recommendations for a new member of the city school board, Mr. B. B. Sugg, retiring on account of being mayor Greenville. It was suggested the new member should have children in the grammar grades; also the board might have another woman. The following names were suggested for consideration: Mrs. J. A. Watson, Mrs. J. D. Simons, Mrs. Guy Smith, Mrs. Helene Higgs Kirkpatrick—all as being very worthy of consideration.

Mrs. D. M. Clark then told about the movement for directed playgrounds at the Training school.

Miss Lelia Higgs told about the Clere Tree Major children's theatre which will present "Alice in Wonderland" at the Austin building of the college on February 3. This is being done by the University Women's Club and will be a very worthwhile entertainment for Greenville children and grown-ups as well.

Mrs. George Hadley then presented Dr. Herbert ReBarker of East Carolina Teachers College, the guest speaker of the afternoon. Dr. ReBarker made a very interesting talk on "Education for a Democracy."

He started by warning us that one out of every one hundred adults in our own country is a member of the German Bund. He read excerpts from Dorothy Thompson's articles in "Look" and from Rostnig's book showing how German and totalitarian propaganda is engulfing us.

He made us aware that our patriotism is passive, not dynamic. "Ask your child what does the American flag really mean, and see what little he knows."

Dr. ReBarker also stated our real national emergency will come when this war is over, whether we enter it or not. We must train our young people to be responsible. (1) Free-

MODES of the MOMENT

by Adelaide Kerr

Glamour is a subject American designers know all about. Here's proof of it. The American made cocktail or evening mitts are of suede with gold kid bows and cuffs. The hat is a Sally Victor confection of colorful ribbon, berries and stiffened veiling. These two glamorizers would be sufficient pick-up for the plainest black dress.

Fashions Of The Future On Parade

Exhibited at the Fashion Futures show in New York were these three creations. Left: Blue and white suite ensemble in tweed with matching cape with new gashed insets. Center: Green and white taffeta strapless gown with hoop-made nape beneath the skirt, the fabrics got ed to give the striped effect. Right: Cocktail suit with "fishtail" skirt treatment, slit in front, grosgrain piping, fitted jacket. Offsetting the masculine look of the demure, high-necked blouse and cuffs that extend beyond the sleeves is a flower-piled feminine hat.

One of our greatest mistakes we are making today is that children must be entertained every minute.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR January 10, 1901

At Step At The Time If we have much winter it must come after now.

We have heard it said, talk of a thing out of season if you want it in season. So we drop a remark here in January that an ice factory in Greenville would be a paying enterprise next summer.

J. B. Higgs has taken a position with the Greenville Supply Co. As a manufacturer of "the weed," Missouri led with 67,432,305 pounds. Kentucky coming second with 40,022,401 pounds. North Carolina third with 34,952,401 and Virginia fourth with 28,842,588. These are the amounts that each of these states turned out for choppers and makers.

Upon stepping from the chair, Mrs. Kirkpatrick made a motion that we, along with every single women's club in Greenville, make a petition that:

The city board of aldermen and the county commissioners pass a law to do away with the sale and use of all fireworks except when handled by professionals, for instance, at the fair, etc.

This was discussed and made unanimous. After a delightful social hour and refreshments the meeting adjourned until called next month by Mrs. C. C. Hilton, the new president. —Reported.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE REQUESTS IMMEDIATE ACTION ON BILL PROVIDING LEND-LEASE AID (Continued from page one) that equipment loans could be made "notwithstanding" any prior acts was the usual phrase in legislation and was required to avoid conflict of laws.

If there is any conflict, the President said, the latter law supercedes the prior law.

He said he thought speed was a great essential in enacting the new law because it related primarily to Assembly Program. Yesterday the junior high school held its regular weekly assembly. Several important announcements were made which took up most of the time. The remainder of the time was spent by the group in singing.

Today in the senior high assembly Rev. W. A. Ryan delivered an address to the students. The state song was explained by Mr. V. M. Mulholland and sung by the audience.

Home Room Discussion. While the junior high was holding their assembly, the senior high was holding their homeroom discussions. Many topics were discussed but the one that created most interest throughout the school was the time for school elections. The discussion in most homerooms became quite lively when this topic was mentioned. Ever since the student council was formed there has been a difference in opinions on the time for the elections. Up to this year, the school has been divided into two parties, those who want fall elections, which we have had every year so far, and those who like spring elections best. But this year a new party has been formed—those who think mid-term elections are best.

Which party will come out victorious this year no one knows. In one of my recent columns I predicted that spring elections would be the choice this year, but I'm not predicting that again. I do think that in the finals, fall elections will be way behind mid-term and spring elections, however.

Game Tonight. Tonight the boys' basketball team will play their second game of the season, while the junior high team will play their first of this year. Both teams will meet squads from Roanoke Rapids and both games should be highlights in the 1941 cage season.

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—Spencer Tracy's assignment to do a new version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" is a good excuse to relay one of the better John Barrymore yarns.

Twenty years ago John did a horrific silent picture on the double-barreled Stevenson character—a flicker more shuddersome than the 1932 talkie with which Fredric March copped and academy Oscar. It was that picture 20 years ago, practically speaking, which launched Barrymore on his career as the Great Profile, and his casting for it was the result of a freak of chance.

John at the time was a young man about Broadway, working in the pictures as a sideline. His film work consisted mainly of heavy comedy—including falls. One day after botching a scene, he lapsed into a serio-comic delivery of lines from Shakespeare. The producer was impressed. "You do dramatic work, too?" he asked, awed.

"Every night—over at the theater," said John. "Ever catch the show?"

"No," said the producer. "I didn't know you were an actor."

But he must have "caught the show," for the direct sequel was John's casting as Jekyll and Hyde—the Jekyll role serving to spotlight his "romantic" qualities, thus paving the way for the Barrymore reign of 10 years, at least, as Great Lover of the screen.

There's a laugh in the New York opening of the Jack Benny-Fred Allen movie, "Love Thy Neighbor"—a laugh because it was originally planned for Miami, Fla.

In the movie, Allen and Benny are radio rivals (how odd!). For the Miami opening, only Allen was scheduled to appear in person. Back here in Hollywood, Benny didn't like the idea. "Me, too," he said.

But Benny's attendance meant transferring his radio show to Miami for the occasion. Allen was prepared to do this for his own show but Benny, attempting to prepare ran into a snag on facilities. Upshot: "Love Thy Neighbor" to keep both neighbors happy, was switched to New York.

Now that New York has discovered Joan Carroll, the baby blonde of "Panama Hattie," Hollywood is ready to re-discover her. A lot of people here, reading of Joan's success in the musical show, forgot that she was once under contract at 20th, where they kept her in reserve, after a fashion, as a second-team Shirley Temple. Joan made quite a few movies there, too, and one of her best roles—but for RKO—was the best in the Ginger Rogers flicker, "Framrose Path."

Shirley has been good luck of a sort, for Joan Remember Buddy DeSiva et al tried to get the retired Temple for their show and took Joan when the Temples nixed the stage?

Spending Assembly Seen By First Day's Session

Reflector Bureau
By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Jan. 9 — If there is any truth in the old adage that "first impressions are lasting" and "coming events cast their shadows before," one will be safe in the prediction that this will be the "spendiest" legislature in many years.

The two first bills introduced in the senate and passed there under suspension of the rules without dissenting vote appropriated $11,600 of public money. The bills later passed the house of representatives also and so became law, but in the house they ran into a little more difficulty.

Also it became evident that Rupert Pickens, veteran representative from Guilford, who last session started a one-man economy bloc, may again be expected to oppose any extravagant expenditures of the people's money.

Senate Bill No. 1 introduced by Senator Thos. J. Gold of Guilford, provides for increase in the salaries of the secretary of state, the state treasurer, the state auditor and the superintendent of public instruction from $6,000 a year to $6,600. In support of his bill Senator Gold produced a letter from retiring Governor Hoey heartily approving the boost. He gave as further support the fact that salaries of all state department heads, as well as all state employees were raised ten per cent in 1937, effective then. The constitution prohibits change in compensation of constitutional officers during their terms of office, so the raise did not apply to the four years for each of four officials amounting to $9,600 and the inau-

When the salary booster hit the house, however, Mr. Pickens was on his feet in a flash to oppose immediate passage and to offer a substitute motion that the bill be referred to a committee for study when such committee should have been appointed. That of course would destroy the whole purpose and effect of the measure, since no committees will be appointed until after the new terms begin and so the law if enacted could not go into effect until expiration of the new terms in 1945.

Mr. Pickens asked for the eyes and noses on his motion, but Speaker Mull ruled that there were not sufficient members supporting the call, so the vote was viva voce. However, Pickens achieved part of his aim by demanding a division so that voters had to stand and be counted. The tally was 68 to 36 and the measure went through the mill to become law.

An interesting sidelight on this proceeding is that it was all done before any rules had been adopted for guidance of the house, and so there was actually no basis for the speaker's decision that an insufficient number of members asked for a roll call. As or that, there were no restrictions whatever on the conduct of business. To remedy that the 1939 rules were adopted as in effect until this session can get around to making some.

Supporting Pickens opposition to the salary raise, Representative Worthington of Pitt brought out the fact that this increase does not equalize constitutional with appointive or other official wages because this is fixed for four years. The other salaries may be raised or lowered by executive decree or legislative enactment, but these are guaranteed. Furthermore, it was said that these gentlemen ran for the offices knowing what pay was and should be satisfied.

But greatest fear was expressed by some who had hoped this would be a short session because the precedent will rise to plague them throughout duration of the legislature. Every school teacher and office worker who wants increased pay will throw this record right into the teeth of the members. Every claimant for special appropriation for any purpose will have this to support his argument.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

TRAIN FOR LEADERSHIP
Leadership is the secret of most success. Almost every enterprise which succeeds does so because some vigorous and resourceful personality is leading it. And by the same token, most failures can be attributed to a weak or unwise leadership.

Thomas Carlyle once said, "Find your man—All will follow."
Two truths emerge from this primary truth. The first is that young people, if they are wise, will deliberately train themselves for leadership. The training program is composed of those who are unwilling to go through the discipline necessary to prepare them for leadership.

A GOOD MOVE
We agree heartily with Governor Broughton's expressed intention to divorce the highway patrol from the Revenue Department in order that the patrol might in reality become what its name implies — a highway patrol. While the patrol has already rendered valuable service to the state in the way of endeavoring to keep our highways safe, the other duties of the patrol members including tax collecting and political activities for the boss of the department, have taken so much time that the patrol could not give all the necessary attention to the highways. Our state highway patrol is at this time one of our most necessary organizations and in order to do a good job it must be unfettered by outside duties and politics. We think the proposed action by the new governor is a step toward a better highway patrol.

TIME TO QUIT STALLING
We are not against just rights for labor and for any other group, but at a time like the present, when preparedness is the most necessary function of our nation, we do not think labor's so-called rights should be stretched to the point of special privileges whereby labor can block or slow down the defense program with bickerings and threatened strikes. Despite the fact that our defense program is already far behind schedule, there are talks of strikes in automobile plants and airplane factories and other in-

Get Off The Treadmill, Sam

dustries on defense orders.
At this time our country is drafting our young manhood for military training and the young men have no choice but to obey the call and report for duty but at the same time our government sits idly by and lets labor, that should be working at full tilt to make weapons that must be used for our defense, threaten to wreck our whole program by its bickerings and unwillingness to carry its share of the burden. If our efforts to defend ourselves and preserve democracy are to succeed there must be no slowdowns and no bottlenecks in our program at this time, and there is just as much sense in the government's compelling labor to stay at its post and render a full day's work as it is to draft young men for the army and make the taxpayers bear heavier loads to pay for this necessary defense. Manpower for vital industries at this time should be subject to the same treatment as manpower for our army and if labor refuses to obey orders it should be punished accordingly.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—The opening of Congress, as a dramatic spectacle, ordinarily is a foppish, a traditionally dull matter in which certain dull traditions are observed without any training for pomp.
The House of Representatives meets, answers roll call, elects a Speaker (Sam Rayburn of Texas this time), gets sworn in en masse (unless there is someone whose credentials are challenged), appoints a committee of three to notify the President that Congress now is in session and ready to receive any communication he desires to pass along.
The Senate meets, answers roll call, swears in the new members in blocks of four, appoints a committee of two to notify the President.
The five committee members from the two houses meet in the clock-room, shake hands around, perhaps have a cup of coffee and then go back to their respective halls to report that the President has been duly notified. (He hasn't, of course, but the custom is a hangover from pre-telephone days when the boys had to take to horse and splash through the mud to the White House, or else the Presidents might not have known for days but that the gentlemen were upon the Hill fighting a mass duel.)
Then the two houses adjourn.
1,000 Bills
When the 77th Congress convened the House ran off its routine on schedule, except for the big parade to the hopper where the members drop their proposed bills. Before the gavel fell one hour and 56 minutes after convening, the boys in the House had poured approximately a thousand bills and resolutions into the hopper.

Over in the Senate, however, more than one of the members must have been bored with the lack of excitement on opening day. Or maybe it was because the spiderwork of steel rafters recently installed to bolster the chamber roof lent an air of strangeness and unreality that had the gentlemen jumpy. At any rate, in the 33 minutes that the Senate was in session plenty happened.
In the first place, 74-year-old Senator Hiram Johnson of California, re-elected on an all-party ticket, let it be known that he would have none of this business of being escorted down the aisle by his state colleague to take the oath of office.
One of the Senate's oldest customs is that the incoming senator shall be escorted to the Senate president's platform to take the oath. When Senator Sheridan Downey, California Democrat, stepped up to accompany Senator Johnson, the latter declined, and firmly. It was reported, how authentically I do not know, that the Senate veteran protested that it was a silly custom and that he was perfectly capable of walking up the aisle alone. It was the fifth time Senator Johnson had taken the trip, the first time he had taken it alone.
Custom went to pieces again when ex-Senator William H. King of Utah, kept his seat and calmly read the Congressional Record while his successor, Senator Abe Murdock, was being sworn in. According to Senate rules, Senator King, being a former member, has the privilege of being on the floor whenever he pleases, but capitol veterans said it was the first time in memory that any out-going senator had kept his seat while his successor was being given the oath of office.

It is a little too early to pick out superlatives among legislators—

have not had a chance to exert themselves. But when it comes to Any bills affecting aviation will be carefully scanned by Senator Roy Rowe of Pender county. Senator Rowe is an ardent devotee of flying and has ordered a plane, but fears it'll be a long time coming since private orders must wait for defense needs. When he got ready to Raleigh for the legislature he didn't bother with such things as automobiles, busses or trains. He just chartered a plane and flew up.

Those who believe that the practice of "kissing the book" when taking an oath in North Carolina ought to be abolished look a fine chance to give the Tar Heel legislature visual evidence of what they're talking about when they claim that practice is "unsanitary, disgusting and a menace to public health."
On each legislator's desk was a new Bible upon which he took the oath. The proponents of abolishing the custom should have done was to gather 170 Bibles from the various courthouses of the State and put them on the legislative desks. It's a safe bet few of the General Assembly members would actually have "kissed" one of those bedraggled, filthy volumes.

Miss Beatrice Cobb, Morganton

hands with everybody she met and fairly radiating happiness and good will.
She explained it thus:
"I'm not running for anything at all; but it just looks like all North Carolina is getting together today for a happy reunion."

Anybody coming into the House
chamber in the middle of Libby Ward's speech on reconsideration of the salary-raising bill passed on day number one, might have thought Governor Clyde R. Hoey had just died. Libby was referring touchingly to our "great governor's last request, which we ought to grant." But it turned out he was referring only to the last subernatorial recommendation made to the legislature, which was that the salary hike be granted four constitutional officers "as a matter of simple justice."

Add to the list of worried men at the inauguration exercises yesterday the name of Ben Tongue, superintendent of the capital city's street bus system. Every Raleigh bus traverses or crosses Fayetteville street. Yesterday the street was blocked for the parade and the overflow crowd thronged cross and longitudinally. Mr. Tongue's tongue was hanging out as he tried to preserve some semblance of schedule and routine. "All we can do," he said, "if somebody wants to ride one of our busses is to take their nickel and take them where we are permitted to go. If that's where they want to go, it's fine;
otherwise—well, we'll haul 'em around and finally get 'em back to where they started from."

Raleigh's morning newspaper produced a forty page edition for inaugural day, with a 24 page section featuring Governor Broughton and matters pertaining to the inauguration. In these forty pages the picture of Governor Broughton appeared 77 times—plus showing the new governor in varying poses and ages and styles of dress and undress from the time he was six months old to date.

"Is this a session of the senate or a meeting of the high brow social club?" Senator Sanders wanted to know in his next seat neighbor during discussion yesterday morning of whether or not legislators would be welcomed at the mansion reception attired in business clothes. It had been stated that they would be welcomed, but senators like to talk and discuss all public matters (except, maybe, raising official salaries) so it had to be explained again.

What Do You Know About ALBANIA?

1. This man lost his throne when the Italians moved into Albania. What's his name and when was he deposed?
2. The area of Albania is nearest that of which of these states: Tennessee, Arizona, West Virginia?
3. Albanians are famous for their exploits as seamen. True or false?
4. The terrain of Albania can best be likened to that of Kansas, Louisiana, West Virginia?
5. Albania was founded as a modern kingdom in 1884, 1913, 1920?

Each full question counts 20.
A score of 80 is good.

Albania Quiz Answers

1. King Zog. He was deposed in 1938.
2. West Virginia. Albania's area is 28,174 square miles compared to 24,174 for West Virginia. The other states are much larger.
3. False. Though Albania borders the Adriatic, few of its people have taken to the sea.
4. West Virginia. Mountainous.
5. 1920.

Pirates Overwhelm Atlantic Christian College 63-27

FASTEST TILT IN SOME TIME

Teachers To Buck Up Against House Of David Tonight

By SPENCER CARROLL
In one of the fastest basketball games ever reeled off on a local floor, the ECTC Pirates overwhelmed the Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs last night by a 63-27 score. The Wilson school put up a good battle, but was unable to compete with the fast-stepping Teachers as they marked up their fourth win in what may prove to be a perfect season. At the half, ECTC was leading by a 25-13 score and came back in the second stanza to "turn on the heat."

Lee Peterson, ace forward, might be called one-man outfit, for his 24 points alone was nearly enough to overthrow the invaders. Peterson and his team mates kept the 2,100 fans in a turmoil throughout the game with their all-around playing. Jack Young tallied nine markers from his forward post and saw his brother Bob turn in 12 points for the home team. Wilson Schuerholz played his usual good floor game and accounted for 10 points. George Roberts, stellar center, cornered eight points and was in the game as a defensive stand-out. He was especially handy in recovering backboard misses.

Watson, Green, Hinton, Mann and Riddick took over in the closing minutes of the game and held the Bulldogs "til the game ended."

Game Tonight
The AC team appeared troublesome during the first half and kept the game going throughout. Crow Lassiter made eleven points to pace the visitors and played a close game on defense. Bryant tallied seven and Martin four points to lead the offensive.

Wilson had high hopes of upsetting the Teachers, but for some reason, he did not. The local retained the "Bohunk" bucket trophy, which is kept by the winners of athletic contests between AC and ECTC each year.

Game Tonight
Local fans will see the Teachers pit their reputation against the House of David Pros tonight at 8 o'clock in the Wright Gymnasium. This game will not affect the Pirate schedule, but will be full of excitement and thrills.

When Ham Hamilton, Gene Brownell, Bill Steineck and others of the bearded clan meet George Roberts, Jack Young, Bob Young, Wilson Schuerholz, Lee Peterson and others on John Christenbury's team you can bet a college scholarship against a brand new razor that the game will be worth seeing.

Get Training In City Schools

History is a third subject in which seven are scheduled to teach. Prof. E. C. Hollar supervises this work and Miss Zinn, Mr. Cunningham and Mr. White serve as critic teachers. The same critics will take care of the three students teaching social science. Dr. Paul Toll is the sociology supervisor.

The physical education department will have six students doing practice teaching, all in the Training school. In response to a request from the town, the supervisor, O. A. Hankner, has arranged also for supervised play for the children after school hours, for the smaller children from 2:30 to 4:30, for the older children from 4:30 to 5 o'clock. Annie Laura Parker being scheduled to work with the girls and L. C. Capps with the boys.

The commerce department will have five student teachers in the Greenville high school, under Miss Laura Bell and Mr. Cameron and one in Avden. E. R. Browning is the college supervisor.

In music education there will be two student teachers who will work at the Training school under Miss Hazel Elsom's supervision.

Each year there is a larger number of seniors to be given this practice work under experienced teachers.

WHAT IT MEANS

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer
Washington—A new census report on employment discloses the startling fact that every fourth American woman over 14 years of age is a wage earner, or wants to be one. The total is nearly 13,000,000.

This phenomenon in our labor force is no odd bit of information for a radio quiz. It actually may be changing our way of life. The number of women holding jobs today is equal to the total number of women in the nation in 1870. In those days it was unlikeliest to work. But, to survive, 10 per cent of the women, or about 1,900,000 had to work for wages in 1870.

WORKING WOMEN

were working for a wage envelope. Take Your Choice
Ask Census Bureau officials what the sudden step-up in employed women means, and they'll give you answers which indicate that this is something to be alarmed or pleased or worried about, according to your own ideas of what women should do in life.

It means among other things that women in cities are working in far greater numbers than women in small towns and rural areas. For instance, more than 31 per cent of the women in South Bend, Ind., are working for wages.

The depression played a large part in this great shift of women into the labor market. When men lost their jobs, daughters and wives went out to hunt work. Some of them were stenographers who had given up their jobs to marry. Others were young women who entered the labor market for the first time.

The great increase in the service trade and clerical occupations had a lot to do with it. Women are good at detail in such industries—good clerks, good comptometer operators, good stenographers, and secretaries.

Machines A Factor
The great increase in machines requiring only semi-skilled workers is another cause for this change

TO BE PLAYED AT LOCAL GYM

Will Be First Conference Game For Greenville

The Phantoms of Greenville high school will swing open the Eastern Conference basketball season tonight at 8:00 as they attempt to garner a win over Roanoke Rapids' strong Yellow Jackets on the local court. The junior teams of the two schools will clash in a preliminary battle at 7:00 and the varsity encounter will follow.

Coach Bo Parley has his boys in good shape and hopes to start them off towards their third consecutive loop title. Roanoke Rapids tumbled twice to the Phantoms last season and lost a game this season to the Class A Rocky Mount Blackbirds. Greenville stuck its neck out this season and suffered a 20-19 loss to Snow Hill in a non-conference contest.

In tonight's game will be lanky Larry James, whose basketball knowledge and playing is known throughout the high schools of this section. Larry was not in the Snow Hill game, but will be starting at center tonight.

Burney Warren will take over one forward station and either Hubert Musselwhite or John Home will start at the other. Snag Clark, Hicks Corey or Gene Johnson will have charge of the guard duties.

Troy Riddle, Cecil Crawford, John Collins, James Briley, Leonard Briley, Bill Turner, Travis Flanagan, and others will be ready to sub, if Coach Parley calls them.

Herman Fulkerson's Baby Phantoms are slight favorites to win, but little is known of their opposition. Mary Shaw Robeson's Lady Phantoms open their season with Kingston next Friday night. Greenville's girls, incidentally, have a powerful sextet and are dubbed to have a perfect season.

Header Is Divided By Grifton Teams

The Grifton basketball teams split a twin bill when they met Arthur in a double-header on Tuesday night at the community building. The girls' game went to Arthur. High scorers were Crawford and Tyson for the visitors, and the home team were Gardner and Phillips. The score was 35-10.

The Grifton boys were the top scorers in a nip-and-tuck contest which ended with a 20-19 score in favor of the home team. Smith and McLawhorn led the score for Grifton, while H. Willoughby and K. Nichols were top scorers for Arthur.

Vitamins A, B, C, D and E all are found in milk.

Auto tires wear out faster at high speed than at low.

There are many machines fairly easy to teach a new woman operator.

The increasing desire of women to add to the family income or achieve independence financially that require intense detailed watching, but no special skill. It's also listed by the Census Bureau as an important cause of the shift. People buying homes, or women wanting fur coats and other luxuries their husbands' salaries will not supply are examples of this force at work.

The Social Security laws are causing more workers in the higher age limits to leave their work. The minor work of older people who have been at a detailed job for many years can often be transferred to the shoulders of young, untrained women.

Have More Time
Finally (and in the opinion of some investigators, the most important reason) the increase in women workers is due partly to the little gadgets around the house—electric irons, vacuum cleaners, electric sewing machines and a host of other things which make it easier for married women to keep house. They have more time for outside work.

Add that to the fact that food companies are processing their products so that palatable meals can be prepared in a twinkling—and you've got seven reasons why women are flocking to the labor markets.

Took Nazi Money To Other Nations

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A government prosecutor asserted today that Isidore Lazarus, who was sentenced to prison for passport fraud, had carried large sums of money from Germany for such top Nazi leaders as Hermann Goering and deposited it in other countries where some "was believed to have been used to finance espionage work and propaganda."

Lazarus, 58, had pleaded guilty to an indictment alleging he had made false statements in obtaining a passport and had used the passport so obtained. He was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $2,500 by Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibel. Assistant United States Attorney

Richard J. Burke said that the defendant, "according to his own story, said that he had been engaged in international exchange since 1933, when the Nazis came into power in Germany, and was a close friend of German leaders."

"Uncle Remus" was the pen name of Joel Chandler Harris.

Hopkins Talks To British Officials

London, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's personal envoy, had an over-time luncheon talk with Prime Minister Churchill today and in a later interview predicted that United States production of war materials would reach its peak late in 1941 or early in 1942.

In a serious mood after the luncheon, Hopkins declared that he was here to "discuss matters of mutual urgency to our two countries." He answered "no comment" to most questions.

To one, he said, "nothing is less important than my impressions of air raids."

Asked about labor's attitude toward the production program, he said: "There will be united effort and it will be very successful."

Before his luncheon engagement, Hopkins saw Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Lord Halifax, ambassador-designate to the United States.

He said he expected to stay two to four weeks—"until I have finished the job I came to do."

Australian Tanks On Warpath In Desert

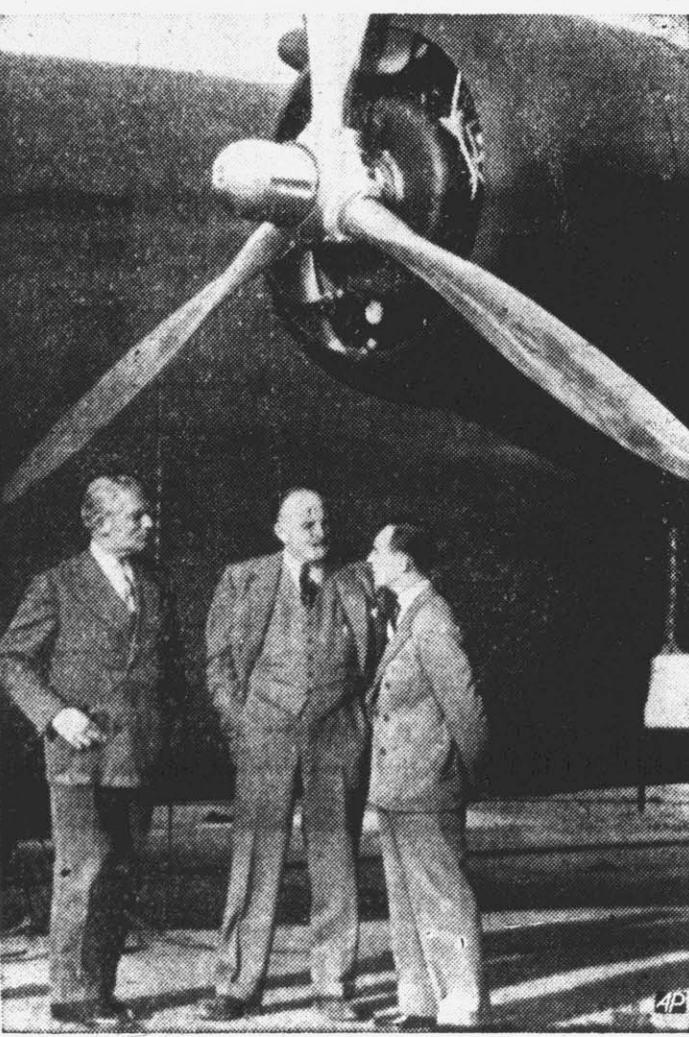

A squadron of Bren gun carriers, built in Australia and manned by Australians, moves across the desert sands of northern Africa in Great Britain's sweeping campaign against Italian forces. Tanks such as these are taking part in the British drive which has routed Italian troops from Egyptian soil, captured Bardia, Italian base, and is now reported closing in on Tobruk, important Fascist port and supply base in eastern Libya.

Knudsen, Hillman Head Up Defense Production

William S. Knudsen (right) and Sidney Hillman (left) have been named by President Roosevelt to head the supreme directorate—the Office of Production Management for Defense—to speed the output of arms. SEVERAL LOCAL PROJECTS CONSIDERED BY BOARD

(Continued from page one) officials relative to the purchase of a new truck, will be asked to come here and discuss the question with the board.

It was disclosed that the attorney general had been requested to render a ruling on the question of the county taking over the collection of the district school tax.

Chief George Gartner of the local Fire Department issued an invitation to the board members and mayor to attend a supper to be given by the Eastern Carolina Firemen's Association in Ayden on the night of January 14.

One of the most important phases of the meeting was the appointment of committees from private citizens on parks and playgrounds, cemeteries and city planning. The committees will work in cooperation with the board on problems relative to the respective departments. Mrs. J. H. B. Moore was named chairman ex-officio of each of the three committees and Mrs. W. E. Hooker was designated as vice chairman ex-officio.

Mull Qualifies As A Real Presiding Officer In House

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Jan. 10.—The ghosts of "Car" Reed, "Uncle Joe" Cannon and Champ Clark must have smiled in appreciation yesterday, while State Senator Gregg Cherry, once the iron-fisted ruler of North Carolina's House, turned a bit green with envy as Odus M. Mull qualified as steamroller operator, first class.

The gentleman from Cleveland passed his qualifying test magna cum laude by heading off a roll call on a motion to reconsider the bill raising salaries of four constitutional officers.

Representative Rupert Pickens Guilford's watchdog of the Treasury, had moved to reconsider, there had been considerable debate pro and con before the previous question was moved and carried. As the main question was about to be put the Guilford called for the "Ayes and Noes." Up rose at least forty—some say as many as fifty—House members. It takes only one-fifth of the membership (24) to sustain a call.

Even a man blind in one eye could see at half a glance that enough members were on their feet, but Mr Mull, serving only his second day as Speaker banded his gavel with awe-inspiring authority, declared crisply "Not sufficient up," and unhesitatingly ruled Pickens out of order when the High Pointer tried to protest.

Then, with nobody having to record himself indelibly on the record, the motion to reconsider lost 43 to 54 on a call for division.

In all likelihood the result would have been much the same, even with a roll call vote; but the incident did bring out the fact that Mr Mull is going to be a worthy successor to Speaker of the most dictatorial type.

PARTY OFFICE TO STAY OPEN

Miss Oliver However, Heading for Higher Company

Raleigh, Jan. 10.—Miss Mae Oliver, long prominent on the North Carolina scene, will move to bigger fields Monday when she leaves for Washington to work under Dick Reynolds, Winston-Salem man who so successfully headed the Roosevelt financial campaign in North Carolina and who was recently named treasurer of the Democratic National committee.

The department of Mr. Reynolds and Miss Oliver, however, does not mean that the Democratic money raising office here will be closed. On the contrary it will be kept open under the direction, temporarily at least, of Mrs. Mary Pollard of Raleigh who has been Miss Oliver's co-worker during the Reynolds regime.

The Raleigh office will be maintained in preparation for the usual Jackson Day dinner, which will presumably be held again this year though no definite or final announcement has yet been made. Nor is it known who will head the drive for party funds—usually necessary to wipe out the deficit left by a national campaign.

Minds Change As Rapidly As Roads

Reflector Bureau.
By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Jan. 10.—The state highway commission is as anxious as any other public agency to please the people and to serve them. Consequently when it was shown some months ago that the bridge, and approaching roadway across the Inland Waterway at Coinjock was so narrow and crooked as to be dangerous, the commission took steps to build a new bridge and approach. The job was completed last fall.

At the latest meeting of the commission, Commissioner Collin Barnes of that district brought an appeal from his people to have something done about the danger of speeding on that new stretch of broadened smooth highway. So the commission voted authority to erect signs limiting speed to 30 miles an hour.

It seems that the original complaint that led to construction of the new bridge was based on the fact that the curves slowed up traffic too much. Now the signs are designed to do the same thing. Chances are they will not be as effective but it is hoped that they may decrease the number of serious accidents—the score there being three fatalities since the new road was opened.
