SCHEDULE SET FOR HEARINGS BY COMMITTEE

Joint Appropriations Group Outlines Program

BRIEF SESSIONS IN BOTH HOUSES Forsyth Solon Introduces Bill To Appropriate Funds to Help Eradicate Japanese Beetle

Raleigh, Jan. 15.—(AP) Legislators held very short formal sessions today, but groundwork was laid for speeding up things when the joint Appropriations committee announced a schedule for public hearings starting at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

The House got a measure from the Mecklenburg delegation to give the right of eminent domain to motor carrier and bus companies in acquiring sites for union bus terminals if the Utilities Commission authorizes the action.

Rep. Poole of Moore and Rep. Gass of Forsyth introduced a bill to appropriate $50,000 yearly from the general fund for use by the Agriculture Department in attempts to eradicate the Japanese beetle.

The Senate got three local bills at a very short session.

A new House committee was authorized to be known as the committee on reorganization of the state code.

The joint Appropriations committee's schedule for appearances by state agencies and institutions seeking more money for the next biennium called for Raleigh agencies to appear Thursday and Friday afternoons; Monday afternoon, welfare and health agencies will be heard; Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to more agencies located here; Thursday will be Highway Commission day and starting a week from Friday the educational institutions will appear. Public school matters will be discussed January 28 and the University of North Carolina, January 29. Final hearings are set for February 4.

Funeral Held For Mrs. J. G. Taylor

The funeral of Mrs. Amanda Whichard Taylor was held yesterday at 3 o'clock at her old home on the Bethel highway, the services being conducted by Elder Avers, Primitive Baptist minister of Martin county, and burial followed in the family cemetery near the home.

Mrs. Taylor was the widow of the late J. G. Taylor and was a life-long resident of Pitt county, but since 1918 she had made her home in Greenville.

Surviving are two daughters, Miss Ayla Ray Taylor of Greenville and Pinetops, and Mrs. Pauline Taylor Davis of near Greenville; four sons, Frank B. Andrew, and Jerry B. who reside near the old home, and Clarence Taylor of this city; thirteen grandchildren, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Among the out-of-town friends and relatives here for the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. L. D. Worthington, Mrs. George Sugg, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cherry, Mrs. John Martin and Mr. Leon Whichard of Kinston; Dr. Claudius H. McGowan of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Whitehurst and Mrs. Roland Whitehurst of Rocky Mount; Mrs. Myrtle Lane, Mrs. Aaron Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Little, Cecil Brake, W. D. Yarboro, R. W. Islev, Miss Lou Ellen Perry and Miss Margaret Barnes of Pine-top.

Active pallbearers serving were: Julian Whitehurst, Guy Cherry, John Martin, Henry Martin, Larry Brown, Van Taylor, Otis Britt and C. W. Martin.

The word "Yankee" has been traced to Indian attempts to pronounce "Anglais," the French settlers' name for their English rivals.

Ford Sponsors Unit For Three Months' Courses

Detroit, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Henry Ford, who believes "a navy strong enough to protect both shores of the United States presents the nation's greatest assurance of national security," saw his navy service school at Dearborn formally get under way today.

Farewell Address Delayed By Stark

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Missouri's Governor Lloyd C. Stark is waiting patiently to make a "farewell address" he expected to deliver a week ago—but the state legislature forgot him and fought instead over his successor.

Move Would Be Aimed at Aiding Troop Movement

London, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Strong aerial attacks on the British Mediterranean fleet probably will be made by the Nazi air force, military sources said today, to clear the way for shipment of German troops to Africa.

These sources characterized the attack by German dive bombers on a British naval flotilla January 10 as "the first gun of the offensive."

The British Admiralty acknowledged last night that an aircraft carrier and a cruiser had been damaged by German and Italian planes.

Construction work which has been proceeding day and night was interrupted only briefly today for a formal commissioning ceremony attended by Henry and Edsel Ford.

The trainees, all apprentices or second class seamen, are to receive three months' courses in various mechanical and technical lines in the Ford trade school for the Ford factory.

SUPPORTS BILL TO AID BRITAIN

State Department Chief First Witness To Appear Before Committee Considering Lend-Lease Measure

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Summoning the nation to "invoke the law of self-defense before it is too late," Secretary of State Hull urged upon Congress today the enactment of legislation for unlimited supplies of war materials to Britain and other nations battling a "world movement of conquest."

Hull testified before the House Foreign Affairs committee in support of President Roosevelt's lend-lease bill.

In a statement of about 3,500 words, he said that if the Atlantic ocean fell "into German control" it would "offer little or no assurance of security."

"Were Britain defeated and were she to lose command of the seas," he said, "Germany could easily cross the Atlantic, especially the South Atlantic, unless we were ready and able to do what Britain is doing now."

Pointedly he asserted that Germany, Japan and Italy had made unmistakably clear their intentions to "repudiate and destroy the very foundations of a civilized world under law" and to conquer and establish "tyrannical rules over their victims."

When Hull finished the statement, committee members turned to questioning him and Rep. Luther A. Johnson (D-Tex.) asked whether a section of the President's lend-lease bill providing for repair of belligerent vessels such as those of Britain in United States ports violated international law.

"Nothing but a realistic view of current developments can be regarded as a sane view," Hull replied.

"The question is whether, in the face of a universally recognized movement of force to invade and conquer peaceful nations, shall we until the invader crosses their boundary lines—or whether they shall recognize that this is a world movement of conquest and invoke the law of self defense before it is too late."

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Secretary Hull told the House Foreign Affairs committee today that "control of the high seas by law-abiding nations is the key to the security of the Western Hemisphere."

Man's Body Found In Tranters Creek

Edgar Ayers, 31, was found dead in Tranters creek in Pitt county near the Martin county line, not far from Bear Grass, Monday morning.

A coroner's jury was summoned to inquire into the facts and circumstances of the death and an inquest will be held at an early date to determine the outcome. It is thought that he either died from drowning or freezing to death.

Funeral services were conducted at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from the Rose of Sharon church and burial followed in the Terry family cemetery near Bear Grass.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louise Ayers.

RULE BY NAZIS COSTS CZECHS HUGE AMOUNTS

Survey Places Figure At One Billion Dollars

TRIBUTE TAXES AID GERMAN WAR

Influx Of Nazis Into Czechoslovakia Likened To Drive Of Carpet Baggers Into South

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Germany's economic conquest of Czechoslovakia has cost the Czechs at least "one billion dollars" since the "made-in-Munich" Nazi occupation 22 months ago, according to authoritative information received in diplomatic quarters.

The reports compiled by non-Czech sources state that the Germans also have imposed tribute taxes to assist in refinancing the Reich's war against Britain. The yield from these was estimated at an additional 100 million dollars annually.

On the heels of the actual military occupation, the report said, an estimated 500,000 Nazis poured in and took over practically all key positions in government, industry and trade. One account likened the influx to the swarms of "carpet baggers" who descended upon the Southern states here after the Civil war.

"Nazi decrees enforced by these 'brown-shirt carpet baggers,'" the survey stated, have enabled German interests to dominate Czech banking, industry and commerce and reap handsome profits for Germany.

The economic shift of Czechoslovakia resources from Czech to German ownership has been achieved, according to the report, by these means:

- 1. German banks took over Czechoslovakia's two dominant banking institutions.
2. All large Jewish-owned industries and companies were taken over.
3. Using German marks, German promissory notes and Czech currency "borrowed" from the Czech National bank, German interests "purchased all of the controlling interest in the nation's largest plants, factories and businesses."

Seeks To Extradite Man Held In Norfolk

Raleigh, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Governor Broughton today signed papers asking Governor Price of Virginia to allow the extradition of Kenneth Payne Williams to Beaufort county, where he is wanted, the papers said, on charges of house-breaking and larceny.

The papers said Williams is being held at Norfolk, Va. Williams and several others were arrested in connection with the investigation of a number of liquor stores and railroad freight robberies in Eastern North Carolina.

Truck Driver Killed In Cumberland Wreck

Fayetteville, Jan. 15.—(AP)—James Brooks Breeden, 34, Fayetteville oil truck driver, was killed last night in a traffic accident on the Fayetteville-Dunn highway.

State Highway Patrolmen S. B. Stevenson and R. J. Provo who were eye-witnesses, said Breeden's truck ran into the rear of a truck driven by Thomas P. Gahagan of Walterboro, S. C. as both vehicles were traveling north.

Gahagan was uninjured.

South Is Hit By Flu; Colds And Measles Here

Most Of 210 Absentees Here Today Caused by Colds

By The Associated Press Thousands of Southerners were abed today with a mild form of influenza and schools had closed in many communities because of the disease.

Additional schools were closed at scattered points in North Carolina today because of the prevalence of the disease.

An eight-year-old boy was reported to have died of intestinal influenza at Hamlet, while two persons died of pneumonia.

At Raleigh, Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer, expressed the opinion that a near epidemic of influenza was "just on its way in this state."

Two other deaths—one in South Carolina and one in Alabama—were attributed to influenza and complications.

Charlotte, N. C., and Gastonia, N. C., schools were the latest to close in that state.

At least 15,000 cases of "flu" were reported in Spartanburg, S. C. county. Restrictions continued against public gatherings.

A survey of the various schools in the city showed that 210 students out of an enrollment of 1,750 were absent today with bad colds, or a mild form of flu, and measles principally responsible.

In disclosing the 12 per cent absenteeism, J. H. Rose, superintendent said that the wave of colds prevalent in the section was not influenza, but only a bad cold in most cases. He added that most students out with colds miss only about two days before returning, with others dropping out for the brief period daily. While measles also is prevalent here, most of the absences are caused by colds.

The superintendent reported that the colored schools are showing no unusual large number of absences.

The survey showed that the high school today had 88 absentees out of an approximate enrollment of 650; the training school, 70 out of 500; Third Street school, 20 out of 280; and West Greenville 32 out of 320.

The Pitt county health officer, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, also expressed the opinion the so-called cases of influenza here were only severe colds.

W. F. DOWDY HEADS JAYCEES IN NEW BERN

New Bern, Jan. 15.—W. F. Dowdy, Jr., has been elected president of a new Junior Chamber of Commerce here. He is the son of W. F. Dowdy, former president of the North Carolina Merchants Association, with whom he is associated here in the furniture business.

CITES NEED OF MORE VESSELS

Navy Asks Authority To Build 400 Small Craft

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The navy asked Congress today for authority to build 400 small vessels, including sub-chasers, mine-sweepers and torpedo boats, and asked also for extra facilities to construct them.

Rear Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the Bureau of Ships, informed the House Naval committee that 280 of the vessels were "urgently needed" and that Congress would be asked immediately for $310,460,000 for their construction and armament and $25,000,000 for expansion of building facilities.

The bulk of the small craft, which will be completed in a year, would be constructed on the Great Lakes.

Earlier in its session, the committee unanimously endorsed the navy's request for a $300,000,000 strengthening of the fleet's anti-aircraft power.

Rear Admiral W. R. Furlong, chief of ordnance, told the committee a major part of the program would involve the installation aboard the larger warships of a new type anti-aircraft gun which he said was "the best we ever had."

In addition to the new guns, the committee was told the program provides for "splinter protection" for gun crews and other deck personnel.

Local Fire Chief Is District Officer

Chief George Gardner of the Greenville Fire Department was named vice president of the Eastern Carolina Firemen's Association at the organization's quarterly meeting held in Ayden last night and under usual procedure will be elevated to the presidency next year.

Junie Gray of the Kinston department was elevated to the presidency at last night's meeting.

The meeting was attended by Mayor B. B. Sugg, Aldermen L. B. Fleming and J. D. Simpson, Chief Gardner and ten men of the local department.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Faison the second Tuesday night in April.

Nazis Renew Daylight Raids After Being Kept Grounded By Bad Weather During Night; Royal Air Force Braves Weather To Pound Nazi Air Bases And Shipping in German-Held Norway

(By The Associated Press) Greece's mountain fighters reported today they smashed two Italian counter-attacks in the drive north from Klisura in central Albania, compelling the Fascists to retire in such haste they left dead and wounded on the battlefield.

Then, the Greeks said, they resumed their advance toward Berat.

Bad weather caused a lull in the air siege of Britain during the night, but Royal Air Force bombers flew through "dirty" weather to pound Nazi air bases, shipping, and a railway bridge in German-occupied Norway. Two direct hits were reported on a motorship on the west coast of Norway.

London's millions enjoyed another night of quiet, wondering at the continued absence of German raiders since Sunday night.

With the arrival of daylight, however, Nazi bombers returned to the assault. A lone raider machine-gunned a village in northern Scotland and dropped a single bomb.

Reports reaching Struga, Yugoslavia, said Albanian guerrillas were raiding Fascist lines of communication and ammunition depots, thus complicating the Italian efforts to stem the Greek advance.

Two Albanian battalions organized by Italians were said to have been disbanded, because they refused to fight the Greeks.

There was little news on the north African front as the British continued preparations for an assault on the surrounded Libyan port of Tobruk.

Chamber To Elect Members Of Board

The Nominating committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce has submitted 10 names from which five new directors will be chosen to serve for three-year terms each, beginning February 1.

Lists of names are being mailed to all members with the instructions that they be returned in the enclosed envelope, either by hand or by mail, on or before January 25. Members are not required to sign the ballots.

Ten members nominated were J. D. Aman, J. H. Blount, Robert A. Darr, R. M. Garrett, H. L. Ormond, Dr. K. B. Pace, C. A. Plyler, J. M. Taft, J. C. Waldrop and J. N. Williams.

By-laws of the Chamber of Commerce provide for the election of five directors for the three-year terms beginning February 1. The board is composed of 15 members, five of whom are named each year.

In mailing the ballots, Willard T. Kizer, executive secretary, pointed out that the policies of the organization are set by the membership through the Board of Directors and urged each member to exercise his privilege and duty by voting his choices for directors.

Mr. Kizer also stated that statistical experts are of the opinion (Continued on page six)

It is used for pliers, hulls, keels of ships, fishing rods and the butts of billiard cues. The native dialect of Dutch Guiana is commonly referred to as "talkie-talkie." French-Guiana does not have a single railroad. British Guiana, about the size of England, has but 272 miles of roads.

Member of FDIC The State Bank and Trust Company advertisement in yesterday's edition of The Reflector showing a comparison of the institution's condition December 30, 1940 and December 31, 1939 failed to state that the bank was a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The line stating that the bank was a member of the FDIC should have been at the bottom of the ad since the bank is a member of the agency and has been since the FDIC was inaugurated.

Fortieth Meet Held By Guaranty Bank And Trust The fortieth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company was held in Sheppard Memorial library Tuesday with E. G. Flanagan, president and chairman of the board since 1912, presiding. A large percentage of stockholders were represented in person and by proxy. J. H. Waldrop, cashier, made a report showing total assets of the bank in excess of $8,600,000 with deposits in excess of $7,700,000. He stated that the year just ended was one of the bank's most successful from the standpoint of profits and total deposits. W. H. Woolard, executive vice president since 1920, reported on the bank's investments in United States State of North Carolina, and North Carolina municipal bonds, which would show a profit if liquidated in excess of $85,000. In addition to $35,000 reserve account, the bank is carrying to take care of any fluctuation in bond prices. He stated that the bank did not have a bond in default as to principal or interest and commended the branch cashiers and other officers for their efforts in making 1940 such a successful year. N. O. Warren, former cashier of the bank, and member of the board of directors, read a report of the examining committee from the board of directors, showing that they had examined and appraised all of the assets of the bank, which were found to be in excellent condition and worth considerably in excess of book value. The president called upon all of the branch cashiers and a number of the board of directors, and branch managers, and stockholders for remarks, all of which were enthusiastic and complimentary, showing a fine spirit of harmony and efficiency existing throughout the organization. THE DAILY REFLECTOR
January 15, 1901

The grippe is getting in the country again. In some of the cities it is epidemic.

Farmers have been getting in considerable work while the nice weather was on.

The weather prophets predicted much snow for this winter. This section has had none so far.

The county Board of School Directors met on Monday and transacted the general routine business. The board is fully alive to the importance of the school work in this county. The following semi-annual apportionment of the school fund was made to the various townships of the county based upon the number of children in each township:

Beaver Dam $360.75; Belvoir $576.96; Chicod $1,367.52; Carolina $611.61; Contentnea $1,683.87; Bethel $738.15; Falkland $695.97; Farmville $902.42; Greenville $2,329.89; Pacolus $684.87; Swift Creek $1,184.37.

CHANGES MIND ON DIVERSION

Checkup Reveals A Change In Governor's Attitude

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Jan. 15.—A checkup reveals that the attitude of Governor J. M. Broughton on the question of "contingent diversion" was different on May 23 (two days before the gubernatorial primary) from the stand he took on January 14, when he transmitted the Advisory Budget Commission's report to the General Assembly.

On the May date he said the revenue section which permits transfer of highway funds to general fund under certain circumstances "should be repealed."

On the January date he wrote that the matter of deciding the fate of this section "is a matter for the General Assembly in its wisdom to decide."

Here is a part of his radio speech of May 23, 1940, over Raleigh station WPTF and connected stations: "The primary roads must be maintained, improved and safeguarded; and major emphasis must be given to the system of farm and secondary roads. The importance of this program is such that no part of the highway fund should be diverted for any purpose."

"Experience during the last biennium has shown that the revenues from other sources are sufficient for the general purposes without even the contingent provisions of the revenue act known as sub-section (b), Section 406, which permits diversion under certain circumstances."

"Accordingly, this section should be repealed to the end that the people of the state may be assured that there will under no circumstances be any diversion of our highway funds."

On January 14 he wrote, in transmitting the budget to the Assembly: "It is noted that the Advisory Budget Commission recommends and has made provision for a contingent transfer of $2,203,907 from the highway funds to the general fund for the second year of the biennium. It is reasonably believed that apart from some unexpected emergency, no recourse will have to be made to such fund and such contingent transfer will not in fact be made. In this connection it is recalled that the budget commission of 1939 recommended such a contingent transfer of two million dollars for the then current fiscal year and two and one-half million dollars for each year of the ensuing biennium, making a total contingent transfer in the sum of seven million dollars."

"Fortunately, not a dollar of this money thus contingently transferred was ever in fact transferred or used for general fund purposes. The present Advisory Budget Commission has only recommended a contingent transfer of $2,203,907 and this only for the second year of the next biennium. I am confident, upon estimates which may reasonably be relied upon, that if this contingent transfer as thus recommended by the Budget Commission should be approved by the General Assembly we would in all probability never have to resort to the fund thus contingently transferred, and the entire amount of this fund would in fact be available for highway purposes."

"Whether it is wise or necessary in these times of unusual problems and difficulties to provide for such contingent transfers as a margin of safety and as a protection to the credit of the state as unanimously recommended by the Budget Commission is a matter for the General Assembly in its wisdom to decide."

Sometimes, when Olsen is introduced and the spotlight hits him, he will leap to his feet, pick up a glass of water, and gravely turn it upside down over his head. That the water is streaming into his ears and down his shirt-front and likely as not, on the heads and down the shirt-fronts of those sitting near him he seems not to mind. It is an old, hilarious gag, proved and roved in the bygone vaudeville days, and just as effective in New York today as ever it was in Buffalo 20 years ago.

Sometimes, when the crowd is convivial and the entertainers are willing, Olsen and Johnson will "take over." They will parade their pretty girls before the admiring eyes of the swains on hand and invite them to give the girls a dance.

Then a strange, funny thing takes place. It isn't anything new. It has happened frequently before, and it will happen again. When the men get to dancing with the girls, the music stops, and the men are made to take off their coats and put them on the girls. Then they resume dancing. Suddenly Johnson screams: "Everybody change partners." After this mad scramble, and after a few moments of dancing, Olsen yells "That's all."

Whereupon the girl who is dancing with you takes off somebody else's coat and hands it to you. The location of your coat is for you to find out. While the scramble in shirt-sleeves goes on, Olsen and Johnson sit on the sidelines and about split their sides laughing.

This goes on all the time. People know what to expect now. At least they have learned never to be surprised at anything that happens, once the word is spread that Olsen and Johnson are on the premises.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—It's the men's turn now. Chivalry is back to stay—at least for a few reels. The girls are on the sidelines once more, composed and sweet and laughing like heck at the boys who used to stand on the sidelines and laugh like heck at them.

Remember? A few short reels ago we had, in this corner, Battling Dietrich—in this corner, teeth and claws bared. Unruffled Una, the pride of the Mercks. They had at each other, slapping, scrapping, scratching, wrestling on the floor for a no-decision finish. And over here was Rass-lln Russell and Punchy Paulette, the Goddard Kid. They were great days for the ladies, especially the gals with two-inch fingernails. They were great days for the beauty parlors, too, repairing permanents and pasting over cracks in the enamel. Great days for the masseuses, doctoring Charley horses and massaging the kinks out of muscle-bound glammer. Looked for a while as if a gal's left hook would be a more important screen asset than her profile.

But that sort of thing has been tapering off. True, Dietrich got in one good punch in a free-for-all in "Seven Sinners," but the men of the crew took the real beating.

Alice Faye, who last year got accustomed to custard pies in the face went through "Tin Pan Alley" without getting a hair out of place. John Payne did all the scrapping and Jack Oakie was the victim of the Sennett staff.

Barbara Stanwyck, who used to slapstick with the best of them, and once had a walloping movie fight with Katherine DeMille, is leading a quiet screen life in "The Lady Eve." It's Henry Fonda who gets the dirty work, which is largely sponsored by Barbara herself. She's the cause when he splatters over a platter of food, when he gets himself soaked with gravy, when he jumps from a train and sits in a puddle of mud during a rainstorm. Fonda's the current champion martyr.

A few of the gals are doing the man-handling in person—like Hedy Lamarr in "Comrade X" who slings a telephone at Gable, conks him with a chair, and attacks with fingernails and kicking feet. In "Love Thy Neighbor" Virginia Dale becomes champion male-abuser by kicking three different actors including Fred Allen.

And what does it mean? Simply that ferocious women have had their day on the screen for a while, and probably won't be back until the men have had their turn.

Screen credits are going a little berserk these days, or perhaps it's merely an attack of fanciness. Here we have Robert Young billed as "guest star" in a Kildare movie, and Johnny Mercer, the song writer on "Second Chorus," credited with "Contribution to Screen Play." Screen play of "The Bank Dick" is attributed to one Mahatma Kane Jeeves, which is a pseudonym for Charles Boile, which is a pseudonym for W. C. Fields, the star of the piece.

Favorite all-time "credits" however, still remain these: "Samuel Goldwyn Presents. Title of Picture. . . Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. . . A Samuel Goldwyn Production. . . And— "The Taming of the Shrew" by William Shakespeare—additional dialogue by Sam Taylor."

Orphanage Cinderella Becomes Movie Actress

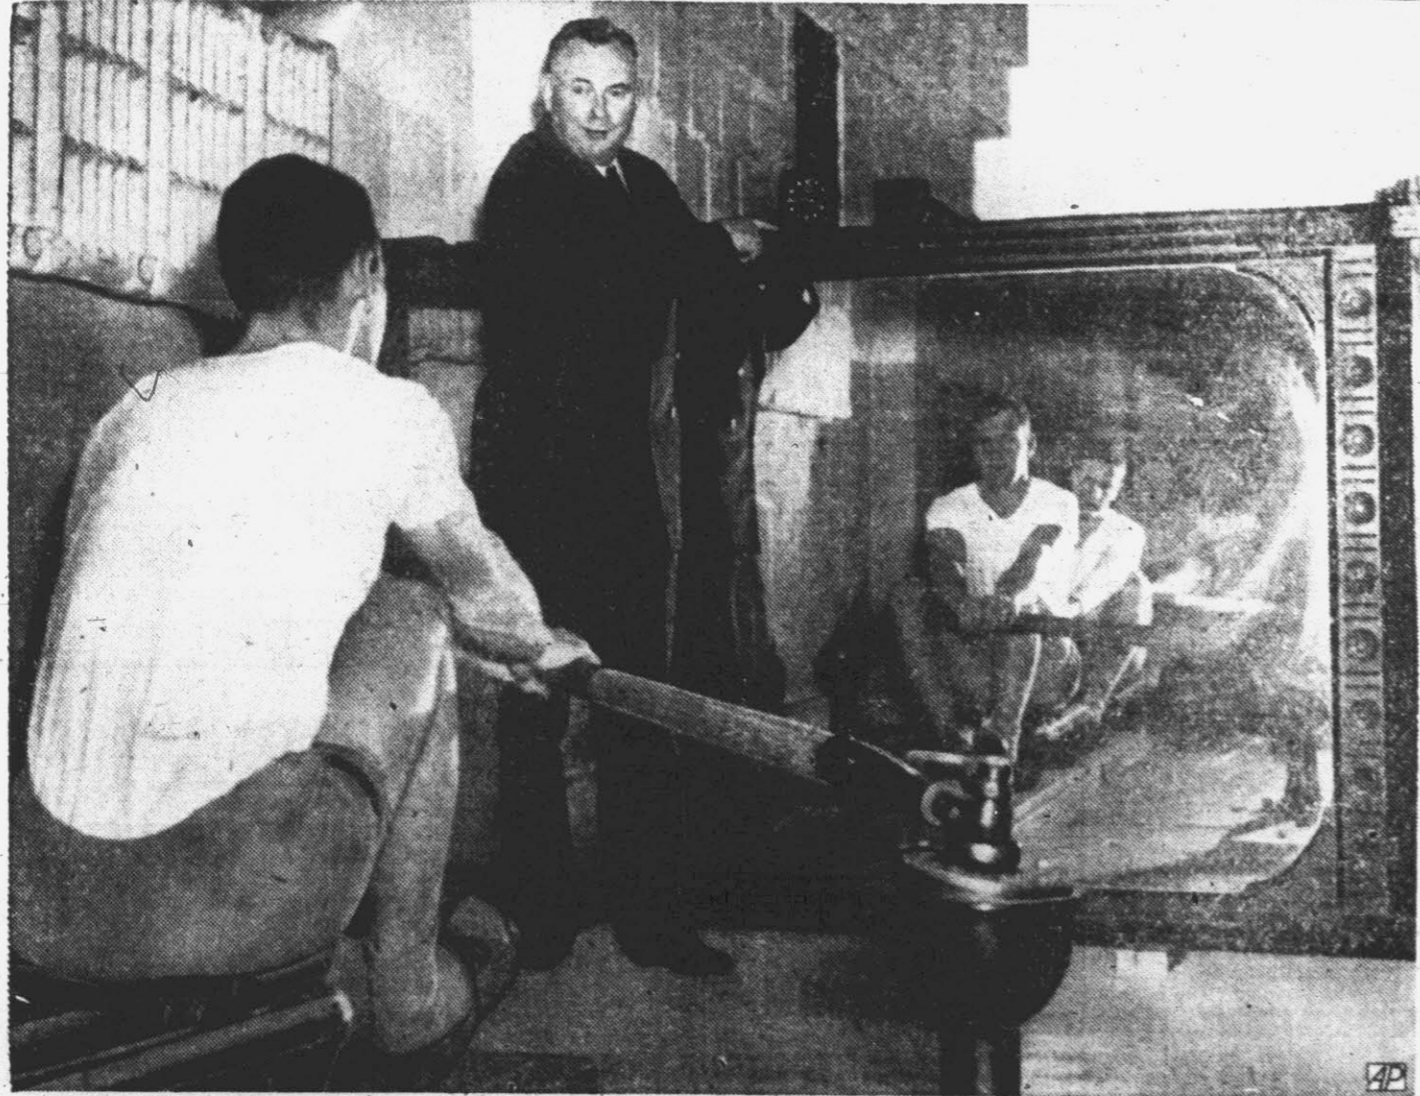

A modern Cinderella story was enacted in Hollywood when six-year-old Arlene Jackson (right), shown with Cary Grant and Irene Dunne, went to work in a motion picture. Needing a child to play an orphan role, the director suggested a canvass of orphanages, searched through several and finally chose Arlene who had never seen a movie nor a movie star. Her mother works in a factory. Grant and Miss Dunne play the roles of the little girl's parents in the picture, "Penny Serenade."

AND NOT A CENT TO SPEND—That $50,000 being examined in Washington by Frank J. Wilson (left), chief of the Secret Service, and James Haley of the contraband division won't go any farther. It's counterfeit, and was put on display as the Secret Service studied ways to protect the nation against bogus money. Millions in fake currency are in the safe (rear).

COME AND GET 'EM—When 495 student pilots, largest class ever to start flight instruction at Randolph Field, Texas, reported, their training planes were lined up and waiting.

'SEE THAT FELLOW IN THERE'—Any mistakes University of Pennsylvania crewmen make are right there to haunt them in the mirror, as Coach Rusty Callow points out. First man in the dusty reflection is Ernest Clark; next is Archie Bittner.

Propose Removing Levy From Bibles

Raleigh, Jan. 14 (AP) — North Carolina legislators regard Holy Bibles as being just as necessary as are "essential foods for human consumption."

The list of sales tax exemptions lists only Holy Bibles in addition to food items. They are already exempted, along with 11 items of basic food, and if the legislature followed the advisory budget commission recommendations given it today the new exemption list will be:

"Flour, meal, meat, fowl, lard, molasses, milk, salt, sugar, coffee, Holy Bibles, bread and rolls, eggs, cereals, grits, rice, butter, butter substitutes, fresh vegetables, canned vegetables, fresh fruits, canned fruits, tea, canned milk, evaporated milk, fish, canned fish and canned meats."

LOVE DEMANDS UNSELFISHNESS

Are there people in the world who never fall in love? Yes, millions of them. A large percentage of such people are married. Some have had several mates. But they would never be in love if they lived a thousand years and married and unmarried every year of their lives.

The truth of the matter is that millions of people are too selfish ever to fall in love. Singularly enough, they imagine themselves very romantic, and if you should smother their lives at any period of their development, you will find them moaning around about somebody and considering themselves dreadfully smitten.

But actually they can no more fall in love than a blind man can see colors. It takes character to fall in love, and the multitude of those who lack the necessary character is named legion.

Once in a while a marriage is dashed to pieces on the rocks of indescribable misfortune. Most of the time, homes are broken up because at least one and generally two people are too selfish to fall in love. And because they are not in love they think they must separate and marry somebody they do love. The truth of the matter is that they love themselves and no one else, and they will never be happy until they face that stark but unpleasant truth. Furthermore, as long as they continue to love themselves, they will be mentally, spiritually, and emotionally unable to love anyone else.

NINETY PER CENT

A poll was recently taken in Portland, Oregon, by the Oregonian, on the subject of strikes in defense industries.

Ninety per cent of the people queried said that the Federal government should take steps to prevent such strikes. Only ten per cent said No.

Of the union members queried, 83 per cent favored Federal action, as against 17 per cent which opposed it. A large number said they always had believed in labor's right to strike, but now thought the emergency justified temporary limitations of this right. National defense, they observed, overshadows all other considerations.

The poll also asked how strikes should be prevented. Seventy-nine per cent of those answering favored compulsory arbitration by the government.

This poll undoubtedly represents the collective opinion of practically all the people of this country, including thoughtful workmen. It is a bitter commentary that when the government is conscripting tens of thousands of young men and paying them a dollar a day, and offering the shortest hours, forces strikes for more.

Most significant fact produced by this poll is the attitude of union workmen.

Anotehr Ship For Britain

U.S. POCKETBOOK REG-MANNING

They, no less than the public at large, are overwhelmingly opposed to strikes in defense industries. This bears out the opinion that the majority of working men are sincerely patriotic, and want to work for their country's defense—and that the recent strikes have simply been forced on them by a small number of racketeers and malcontents. The labor leader who falls into that category—and there seems to be many of these days—is the worst enemy the worker has.

Newport News, Va. These houses are demountable under roofs of sheet steel panels and, except for outer sidewalls of asbestos shingles over insulation board sheathing, are completely of steel. In the case of the Quantico two-family units, ten men working eight hours can get one ready for occupancy in a single day. Each side of the 48-by-28-foot buildings contains a living room, combination kitchen and dinette, two bedrooms and a bath.

All Can Be Moved All of these buildings are demountable and could be knocked down and transferred to other communities with little loss of time. The Defense Commission has under construction still a third prefabricated steel housing program, the designer of which claims he can house 700,000 persons in six months.

above as examples, the Sales Tax shall not be charged on any food or product used in the preparation of meals off the premises where sold.

There is often a touch of humor, sometimes sardonic, in committee chairman appointments. In the House, for instance, R. H. Underwood of Hertford, noted for making only one kind of motion (That the bill and all amendments do now lie upon the table) will head the Committee on Oysters.

Immediately after this conversation, Mr. Underwood went to his desk in the House and found on it a special invitation—of all things, to attend an oyster supper.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Crover

Washington—The foreman of a huge airplane factory walks through the shop, tapping this man and that on the shoulder. "As part of the defense program," he says, "we're having a camouflage drill. Get up on the roof and play a round of golf."

Sounds silly, doesn't it? But take the word of a group of Pittsburgh steel firm officials here to discuss plant construction possibilities with the National Defense Commission, the something like that can happen in a few months in Texas. Here's how: Work already has started at Henry Field, near Dallas, according to J. Gordon Trumbull, steel company engineer, on a 20-acre, all-blackout, camouflaged aviation Co. Construction plans call for a dummy golf course on the 20-acre roof. And what could make the camouflage so effective as having a couple of foursomes apparently dubbing around in case enemy scouting planes were out searching for possible objectives.

Without Windows Walls of the plant are to be of pre-fabricated corrugated, splinter-proof steel. There will not be a window in the building. Exits and entrances will have double doors, like storm doors, so that under no circumstances can light escape from the building. Inside the corrugations of the walls will run the tubing for air-conditioning and wires for fluorescent lights which will illuminate the interior night and day.

The plant is the second structure built along these lines by the Pittsburgh firm from the other being the Allison airplane engine plant at Indianapolis. The company also has a number of plants in Liverpool, England, where the structures have been tested under actual war conditions.

According to cables reports from London, one of the chief benefits of the building under bomb-fire is that when direct or close hits blow out the walls damaged sections can be replaced almost instantly.

See Construction Record The Texas plant officials say, will be completed in 105 days from the time work started, believed to be a record for construction of a factory of such size.

The Dallas plant is just another step in the use of pre-fabricated steel in the defense program. At Quantico, Va., the Marine Corps base, 100 enlisted men and their families soon will be occupying the first defense housing program homes built of pre-fabricated, welded steel panels.

The same construction is being used in 100 twelve-family apartment units for shipyard employees at

Short Shots

By HENRY AVERILL and LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Jan. 15 There is now one bill before a legislative committee certain to pass if only its introducers vote for it.

The bill introduced by Representative Jim Volger of Charlotte, exempting foods for home consumption from the sales tax, bore the endorsement as sponsors of 62 House members, one more than a majority of the total membership of 120.

The measure is considerably more inclusive than the recommendations of the Advisory Commission, the Volger catch-all at the end covering many items the commission's proposed Revenue act amendment wouldn't touch.

After enumerating a dozen or more classes of food to be exempt from the Volger bill adds: "In addition to the items of food mentioned

The Appropriations bill is House Bill 13, which is probably rather appropriate. At least, many folks who wanted their pet projects put down for important increases are unlucky; because the Budget bill just doesn't contain many of them.

Usually there's a regular "ad-journer" in the House—a member who each day gets up when the work is through and move that the House quit until some other time. So far this regular hasn't been in evidence.

So on Tuesday, 1939 Speaker Lathrop rose after there had been a noticeable lull, with nobody saying or doing anything and remarking:

"Mr Speaker, if nobody else will do it—I'd like to go home, and so I move you, sir, that the House do now adjourn."

The same Mr. Ward was given credit for being very apt in his selection of adjectives in presenting little Miss Betty Uzzell for appointment as an honorary pageette of the House. "I present the handsome daughter of our distinguished member from Rowan," he said. The little lass, in fact one of the loveliest seen around the House in a long time, is generally known as "Bunny"—she'll tell you so. It's because she was born on Easter Sunday, her father explains.

John R. Morris, New Hanover representative was discussing possibility of a local law permitting Wilmington to vote on a city manager form of Government. "You can't go far wrong in permitting the people to vote on anything," intoned the Gentleman of New Hanover.

"Hey, Johnny, how about a statewide referendum on the liquor question?" queried a bystanding reporter. Mr. Morris hasn't answered that one yet but he had no more to say about letting the people vote.

The more or less sedate and dignified senate seldom breaks out in applause when in session. But yesterday when Governor Harris spied an old friend in the lobby and announced that it gave him great pleasure to "extend the courtesies and privileges of the floor to the distinguished ambassador of the United to Mexico, the Honorable Josephus Daniels," there was more than a ripple of applause throughout the chamber.

Like the three little Indians of the childhood rhyme, three governor's secretaries sat in a row on one of the not so hot radiators in the senate chamber Monday night, and another one was standing close by. The seers were: Edwin Gil, now parole commissioner, who served as secretary to Governor Gardner for the last half of his term; Hathaway Cross, assistant parole commissioner, who has just left the office with Governor Hoye, and Thomas A. Banks, Governor Broughton's assistant. The by-stander was Charles G. Powell, chairman of the G.C.C. It will be noted that each of the boys has a good job, having been well cared for upon retirement from executive offices.

One of the capital city's most prominent lobbyists—beg pardon, "legislative representatives"—heard with some concern the governor's budget message yesterday. He predicts a groundswell of opposition on the part of his business to the proposal for greatly increasing the permanent tax load of the state at this time, even if it can be accomplished this year without additional levies.

"This is not a time to anticipate revenue," he argued, "because the national and international situation may completely change the complexion of things, and find the state with definite appropriation commitments that I cannot meet." Consequently, he forecasts a long rather than a short session with the usual scramble in the appropriation committee.

Magic Spring

YESTERDAY: Two things have postponed David and Polly's wedding—the fact that David now must care for his 9-year-old cousin, Peter, and the fact that Margo Powers is back in town. Polly insists that since Margo is the daughter of David's boss, he should be nice to her. But she conceals a jealousy that David's date, tonight, with Margo is showing Margo the old and bankrupt inn his aunt left him.

CHAPTER 13

The Fall Of David "The Inn is all of that," said David. "But it's also a great burden. Taxes, repairs—things like that." He laughed. "But you wouldn't know about such things."

Margo turned to him. Her eyes were luminous, her mouth inviting. She reached up and touched David's cheek.

"I know people who would give a lot for a tan like yours," she said. "Golden brown—smooth—"

"Margo, listen, I—I—" David began. And then Margo was in his arms. She was clinging to him. He was kissing her, on the eyelids, on the mouth; kissing her with a sort of wild abandon he had never known he was capable of; holding her to him, close—close—

David—David—Margo said. In a flash David had released her. He took a step backward. It was as though he had suddenly awakened "Gosh!" he said.

"Don't look so scared," Margo said, smiling. "I wanted you to kiss me."

"Of course. And you do it amazingly well, too—for a young man who's lived in Ardendale all of his life."

"Then you're not angry?" "I should say not! I—I—liked it. David. Didn't you?"

"Why, er—yes," said David. "I did."

"Then there's nothing to worry about," said Margo. She began doing things to her hair. "I'm beginning to feel that even a war could do good. It was the war that sent me home to Ardendale, and in Ardendale I found you."

David could think of nothing to say. He was too busy thinking about Polly. Engaged to Polly, and kissing Margo. What's more, enjoying kissing her! What in heck could a fellow make go of that?

Did it mean that a man could want to marry one girl, and yet enjoy playing around with a girl he had no intention of marrying? He was all confused. He almost loathed himself. This was the first time in ages he had had a date with any girl but Polly—and look at him! Acting like one of those promiscuous, necking college fellows he had heard so much about. Being cheap. Being unfaithful to Polly.

"Come on," he said with sudden gruffness. "Let's get back to town." "But it's not terribly late," said Margo. "I've stayed up later than this many a night."

"Besides, I haven't!" David retorted. "Well, I've got to get up in the morning and go to work!" Margo looked at him. She smiled. "Dear, darling David," she said very softly. "He does take himself so seriously."

She took his arm. They moved down the path to the yellow roadster. And this time Margo forgot all about the dew. And David forgot all about those paces he was going to take, to see how much pipe he would need.

Hitch In The Plan Margo Powers had counted on that evening with David being a sort of delightful prologue to many other evenings with him, but it didn't work out that way. Not at all.

A week passed, and she heard nothing from him. He didn't come near her, nor did he telephone. It upset her at first, and then it annoyed her. She found herself growing more and more restless, thinking of him steadily—more steadily than she had ever thought of any other man she had known. She fought a mounting temptation to get into her car and drive to the lumber plant to see him.

She remembered something young Doctor Warren McNeill had said to her: Warren, the man she had met in Paris, and who had come back to America on the same boat; the man who had asked her to marry him and settle down in the small town where he planned to practice. "One of these days," were his words, "you'll feel about someone as I feel about you, Margo. Then perhaps you'll grow up."

She had laughed at him, and said: "You're sweet, Warren, but much too serious about this love business."

"Love is a serious business," he had retorted, smiling.

"Is it?" she said. "Then perhaps that's why I just can't say I'll marry you and bury myself in an obscure little town—playing the part of a doctor's wife."

"You're planning to bury yourself in a little town in the South, aren't you?"

"No, I'm not going to be buried there. I'm only going to visit. I can pick up and leave whenever I feel like it. I couldn't pick up and leave if I were married to you."

"But you'll think over my proposal, won't you, Margo? Perhaps distance and absence will work in my favor."

"A girl always thinks about her first proposal, Warren. But marriage is such a definite thing; and one ought to be very, very sure before going into it."

"I know. That's why I want you to be sure." Warren had taken her hands then, as they were standing on the deck of the liner. "I'll be in your part of the country one of these days," he went on, "and I'm going to drop in on you. At least I'll see what you look like in a small town setting."

"Do that!" she had said. "I'd like to see you again—some time, Warren." She had let him kiss her, and hadn't found it in the least unpleasant. "Since you seem to have a weakness for little towns, you might like Ardendale."

"I know I'd like it, if you were there," was Warren's reply. "Maybe it's hard for you to understand Marge, but I think there's been too much specializing among the medical profession. I think the time is ripe for the old-fashioned family doctor; you know, the sort of practitioner who ministers to all of his patients' needs. This business of sending a patient to one doctor for his liver, another for his tummy and another for his rheumatism and so on, and so on, is not only hard on the patients' physical being but on his pocketbook as well."

"But," she had asked, "don't doctors like that usually end up penniless? Don't they?"

"I've put an arm about each of the two there with him, drew them close to him."

"Maybe Freddy's Polly isn't going to be such a white elephant, after all," Polly went on. "Anyway it'll pay us some dividends in the pleasure we get out of the pool."

"Right!" said David. "Everything's hunky-dory, unless, maybe, the drainage—But I'll get that going in a few days."

"Of course," said Polly. "You can't get everything perfect all at once."

"And you sure worked hard, Cousin David," Peter said. "Every evening this week—getting those old pipes fixed, and everything Gosh! look! Oh, boy, see that old water pouring in!"

The three of them watched it for a time without speaking.

"I wish I'd thought to bring along our bathing suits," David said presently. "But I wasn't sure we'd get the pool filled in time. Looks now like it'll be all set for use in no time at all."

"I brought them," said Peter. "To Be Continued"

One Calls The Other "Dumb"

Sen. Kenneth McKellar (left) (D-Tenn.) and J. Ross Eakin (right), superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountain national park, met at a Senate committee hearing in Washington at which McKellar testified that "if ever there was a dumb man at the head of a park, he (Eakin) was that man." McKellar seeks Eakin's removal on a charge of "gross mis management."

LITTLE MISS GADABOUT—Three-year-old Gwendolyn Meisler can afford to turn up her tiny nose at persons who talk about their travels, for she's a seasoned gadabout in spite of her tender years. She's now at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Quinn of Philadelphia, after completing her third Pacific Ocean crossing. Her parents still are in China.

They stood on the edge of the swimming pool, watching it slowly fill with the water from the spring. "Look!" said Peter. "It's nearly half full!" "Oh, David," said Polly, "it's wonderful! Just think, we can have all the swans we want, from now on!" "Sure, Sweetness," said David. "He put an arm about each of the two there with him, drew them close to him."

"Maybe Freddy's Polly isn't going to be such a white elephant, after all," Polly went on. "Anyway it'll pay us some dividends in the pleasure we get out of the pool."

"Right!" said David. "Everything's hunky-dory, unless, maybe, the drainage—But I'll get that going in a few days."

"Of course," said Polly. "You can't get everything perfect all at once."

"And you sure worked hard, Cousin David," Peter said. "Every evening this week—getting those old pipes fixed, and everything Gosh! look! Oh, boy, see that old water pouring in!"

The three of them watched it for a time without speaking.

"I wish I'd thought to bring along our bathing suits," David said presently. "But I wasn't sure we'd get the pool filled in time. Looks now like it'll be all set for use in no time at all."

"I brought them," said Peter. "To Be Continued"

Plans Being Mapped For League Baseball This Summer

MEETING HELD BY DIRECTORS

Most Of Old Debt Is Wiped Out, Look To '41 Season

Work of baseball plans for the 1941 season was formally resumed last night when the Board of Directors to the Greenville Baseball Club, Inc., held its first meeting looking to the new season.

The session was held at the Proctor Hotel dining room with nine officials and Manager Rube Wilson present.

Those present were President G. V. Smith, Vice President Ty Wagner, Secretary D. C. Moore, Directors R. M. Garrett, J. G. Clark, David W. Mosier, H. H. Duncan, Reynolds May and R. E. Harris and Manager Wilson.

Although there had been little doubt that Greenville would be entered in the Coastal Plain league when play starts in April, last night's meeting would have dispelled any doubts, according to persons attending.

Financial problems held over from last year were practically ironed out in preparation to outlining plans for this year's team. Another meeting of the board has been set for Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce offices. At this meeting the board probably will set a date for a stockholders' meeting to be held within the near future to perfect an organization for the new year.

A plan adopted by the league whereby season tickets entitling the holder to see any league game for a service charge of 20 cents was outlined at the meeting. The season tickets would sell for $5. Persons holding them could see any game in the league for the additional 20 cents.

The idea is aimed at attracting larger crowds and to induce fans of one city to follow their club for out-of-town games.

As the local club makes plans for the new season, no definite word has been received from the management of the Richmond team as to whether they would train here this spring. Officials of the club here last week, however, indicated that the Colts would come here for a three weeks' period of training.

COLLEGE VICTORIOUS; HIGH SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATED

FARLEY'S BOYS DROPPED 18-16

Phantoms Again Defeated by Roanoke Rapids Team

C. B. ROWLETT
Coach Rex Carter's proteges last night reached up into the deep blue and pulled down Greenville High's high flying Green Phantoms and downed them by an 18-16 count on the Roanoke Rapids high gym hardwood in that city. This was the second defeat of the season in three starts and the second loss by less than three points. Snow Hill downed the locals with only a one-point edge.

Farley's boys offered no alibi for the licking they received by a less superior team, but it was evident that the small court to which the boys were not accustomed, hindered their style of play.

The score at the finish of the game can well account for the fact that the game was a thriller throughout. There was never over four points difference in the score during the entire game. Both teams led by four points at different stages of the game.

Led by "Chinew" Bowers and Billy Neal with a field goal apiece in that first quarter of the game the Yellow Jackets pulled into a 4-0 lead over the Green Wave. The end of the first period showed the Phantoms still behind by these four points. The Farley men were left behind and couldn't manage to garner a basket.

The second period cast a new light on the game with the boys from GHS gathered themselves together and garnered eight points on goals by Warren, Corey, James and Clark. The Jackets took the lead during that stanza and the half-time whistle showed the Phantoms ahead 8-6.

The third period of the game saw the Phantoms back and forth but the Phantoms managed to sustain the lead. It was during this period that the locals went ahead by four points. The score stood at 12-8 with the Phantoms on the long end early in the third semester, but the Jackets pulled into a 12-10 reach at the end of the period. Skeet James with two field goals during the period led the Phantoms at the basket.

With the score at the end of the third period 12-10 the Phantoms and the Jackets went into the last period on edge but the boys of Roanoke Rapids caught hold and went ahead to down the locals 18-16. The locals broke the ice in the last quarter by scoring on a field goal by Burney Warren but the Jackets doggedly hung on and came back to trounce the locals. Field goals by Warrack Bowers and Byrd made the big difference and two foul goals by Billy Neal topped the Phantoms off. Warren scored again during the last period to account for all the local points.

"Chinew" Bowers with six points and Doug Warrick and Billy Neal with four apiece led the victors on the court. "Mule" Matthews led the Jackets on defense and was tops in ball-handling.

Burney Warren and Skeet James with six points apiece led the Phantom attack on the Jackets. Snag Clark with three points took the runner-up honors and also took the honors on defensive play.

The line-up—Roanoke Rapids: Forwards, Warrick 4; Bowers 6; center, Byrd 2; guards, Neal 4, Matthews 2. Greenville: Forwards, Warren 6; Riddle, Corey 1; Horne; center, James 6; guards, Clark 3, Johnson, Musselwhite.

In a preliminary game the baby Phantoms, behind the superb ball handling of Ben Harrison and Connor Merritt and the sharp shooting of Joe Register and Sydney Dunn took a 27-21 victory over the Roanoke Rapids juniors.

The baby Phantoms were superior to the losers in every way as they seemingly scored at random. Although the Phantoms have proven their first-stringers to really be tops, Coach Pulskerson is without the advantage of experienced reserves. Pulskerson's entire first stringers are veterans of last year's squad but his reserves are playing their first games.

Sydney Dunn with nine points and Joe Register with eight led the Phantoms on attack. Ben Harrison and Connor Merritt with four apiece and Jack Teel with 2 made up the Phantom scores.

Walker and Moore with 5 apiece led the losers.

Twin-Bill Is Won By Fountain High

Fountain basketball teams took a double-header from the Belvoir boys. The girls' game was very close and exciting. The final score was 15 to 13. Galloway and Oakley were the leading scorers for Fountain. Dunn was the leader for the losers.

ECTC PIRATES TOP CAMPBELL

Pirates Come From Behind To Score 53-44 Victory

By SPENCER CARROLL
Although the Campbell college Trojans jumped into an early lead last night and gave ECTC one of her toughest battles, the Pirates put on a finish that left the visitors on the short end of a 53-44 score. The game was marred by 22 fouls and of that number, 12 were charged to the locals.

Campbell won the State Junior college championship last season and had suffered only one setback in nine starts up to last night's game. They pulled out in front and had tallied seven points before the Pirate broke the zero mark. At halftime, however, ECTC was leading 27-25.

Center George Roberts accounted for 15 of the Pirates' points, and proved to be poison to the Campbell offense. He fell short of Lee Peterson's points, as the lanky Lee capped eight field goals from a forward position. Jack Young tossed in five points and displayed a beautiful game on defense.

Wilson Schuerholz and little Bob Young, Pirate guards, took honors as they gave the 1,200 fans a fine passing game. Schuerholz scored nine and Young eight points. Floyd Hinton was the only ECTC sub.

Pawlak and Mitchell, forwards, led the Campbell attack with 15 and 13 points, respectively. Thomas, center, made good nine markers. Boston and Henderson were slow on offense, but played a jam-up game on defensive. Taylor and Creel were the lone Trojan replacements.

The ECTC Junior varsity Outlaws took a 29-13 win over the Williamson Eagles in a preliminary game. Bill Green led the Outlaws, while Tom Skinner, former GHS player led the Eagles with eight points.

Officials for the Campbell game were Johnson, North State official and Latham, Greenville.

The next game for the Pirates will be in Boone with Appalachian college on Saturday night.

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened two to eight higher. Noon values were ahead seven to nine points.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A further set down from the new year opening cut stock prices fractions to more than a point throughout the market today. In the absence of active buying interests, small offerings were enough to send quotations lower. The market near the fourth hour was about the lowest of the day.

A.A.U.W. to Sponsor Children's Theatre

Reflector Bureau. By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Jan. 15.—Former Lieut. Governor R. T. Fountain of Rocky Mount, looking in on the legislature yesterday, lets it be known that he must not be counted out of the senatorial race in 1942.

After serving as speaker of the house of representatives in 1927 and as lieutenant governor from 1929 to 1931, the Edgecombe politico made an unsuccessful stab at the governorship the next year and then took on Senator Bailey in 1936. Though defeated both times, his vote was sufficient to keep him from foregoing another try at one of the bigger offices. If he makes the race and fails to make the grade in the senatorial contest there is still a governor and a senator to be elected from the east in 1948 and Dick Fountain isn't an old man.

To Hold Auditions For Youth Orchestra

John A. Lang, State NYA administrator, announced plans today for state-wide preliminary auditions to be held during the month of February for Leopold Stokowski's All-American Youth orchestra. The announcement was made by Mrs. Mattie Moye Gaylord, NYA area supervisor.

Under an agreement which has been worked out by Aubrey Williams, National NYA administrator and the noted conductor, state and local offices of the National Youth Administration will receive applications from talented young musicians and arrange for the preliminary auditions, in which five of the best musicians in each state will be selected.

Passengers Removed From Grounded Liner

Working in ground swells that occasionally sent waves splashing over lower decks, Coast Guardsmen in small boats removed 200 cruise passengers from the United States liner Manhattan, aground near the beach, nine miles north of West Palm Beach, Fla. All passengers were taken ashore without mishap and most of them looked upon the experience as a lark. Salvage operators are trying to free the $10,000,000 ship which remains stuck hard and fast.

show down is concerned, and that there won't be much done about justicés-of-the-peace.

"Anyhow," he said, "the so-called JP racket isn't half as much a racket as the various city and county recorders' courts. If the state bar really wants some reform in inferior court procedure, the recorder court is the place to start. And the first thing to do there is to reduce the bill of costs. Under the present system of exorbitant costs, the figures running for the smallest cases as high as $25, it is impossible for the very poor man to get justice."

Then with a wry smile he added, "and there's nothing left for the lawyer, either."

VARYING IDEAS IN DRY RANKS
Forces May Have Their Fire Scattered At Session

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Jan. 15.—A bill calling for a statewide referendum on the legal sale of liquor is about as certain a prospect as anything in the current session of the legislature. In fact, there now develops prospect for several such bills.

An organization known as the United Dry Forces, headed by Cale K. Burgess, Raleigh lawyer, has "fronted" the fight against county ABC stores since 1937. That organization is planning a real fight before the legislature, and the plans are being carefully laid so far as the organization itself is concerned. There is every reason to believe that this group would like to direct the legislative campaign, introducing such bill as it wants at what it conceives to be the auspicious time.

But there are several individualists among the House members who have their own pet ideas about liquor legislation. One such is Gideon C. Boswood, member from Currituck. Mr. Boswood is getting ready to offer a bill, without benefit of co-operation with the United Drys, calling for a state-wide vote, and he may put it in the mill almost any day now.

It will be recalled that the drys were somewhat confused last session by introduction of a similar bill by Rep. Withrow of Rutherford, which caught them napping and the issue was disposed of before they could rally sufficient support to pass it. There were charges then that some astute "undry" had worked a fifth column racket. It is barely possible that encouragement for the proposed Boswood entry is partially inspired by the same motive, though no one acquainted with the Currituck solon would suggest that he knowingly would be a party to such a scheme.
