SEVEN KILLED AND NINE INJURED IN PLANE CRASH Diplomatic Setbacks In Balkans Suffered By Germany

HITLER LOOKS TO YUGOSLAVIA

With Soviet Declared To Have Raised Objections To Troop Transfers Thru Bulgaria By Germany, Yugoslavia Speeds Up Defense In Fear Of Possible Nazi Move Through That Country

By The Associated Press Britain and Turkey were reported in "full agreement" today on Balkan and Mediterranean problems, at the same time that a report was circulated in Bucharest that Soviet Russia had intervened with Germany on behalf of her little friend, Bulgaria.

The Bucharest report said Russia had raised objections to the threatened passage of German troops through Bulgaria and diverted the Nazi pressure for a right-of-way to Greece.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Moscow, arrived by plane at Istanbul on his way to the Ankara conference of British and Turkish leaders, whence came the reports of "full agreement."

Meanwhile from Tokyo came a report that Japan had delivered an ultimatum to French Indo-China demanding that she accept Japan's mediation of her dispute with Thailand by midnight Friday.

Yugoslavia was said to fear, now that German armies massed in Rumania might attempt to invade Greece through Yugoslavia instead of Bulgaria.

Yugoslavia's foreign minister was called back unexpectedly to Belgrade from Budapest, capital of Hungary, where he had arrived only yesterday to sign a Yugoslav-Hungarian treaty of friendship. The treaty was ratified today.

Diplomatic quarters in Budapest heard that his abrupt recall was connected with "impending events of importance between the Axis and Yugoslavia."

In the Far East, Japan ordered her nationals to be prepared to leave French Indo-China and arranged to take what the Japanese press described as "appropriate measures" in the event of a breakdown in peace negotiations between Thailand and French Indo-China.

The Japanese news agency said a climax was expected within 48 hours "with present indications not too optimistic."

In the war at sea, the Germans painted another black picture for Britain's all-important convoy system.

Berlin asserted that the Nazi air force sank or damaged 16 ships totalling 102,500 tons in an attack on a British convoy yesterday 315 miles off the west coast of Ireland. Nine ships were reported sunk, three heavily damaged and four others damaged to a lesser degree.

British bombers hammered industrial targets at Cologne in the Rhine valley of Germany with a "very successful" attack last night, official sources asserted. It was the 58th British raid on the Rhineland city.

Nazi daylight raiders dropped a load of bombs on London, attacked ships off the east coast and were declared to have machine-gunned the streets of four English villages.

The Red Sea is remarkable for its coral reefs which extend generally in long strips parallel with the shore.

Snow Over N. C. By The Associated Press Snow fell over a large area of North Carolina today, but by early morning there was only a trace of the fall at most places.

The snow extended from the mountains to the coast—Elizabeth City reporting a few flakes during the morning.

At Burlington, Greensboro and other cities in the central part of the state snow began falling around 6 a. m. Raleigh reported snow beginning at 7 a. m., and it was still falling at noon. Rocky Mount reported a steady fall beginning at 8 a. m.

SEN. CHANDLER MAKES RETORT

Ohio Republican Accuses President Of Retarding Aid To Britain In Order To Put Pressure On Congress To Pass Lend-Lease Bill

Washington, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R., Ohio), asserted in the Senate today that President Roosevelt was "deliberately holding back aid to England in order to put pressure on this Congress" to pass the administration's British aid bill.

His assertion brought a retort from Senator Chandler (D., Ky.) that the "Senator from Ohio says he wants to help England, but he wants to help 'em just enough so they're certain to get beat."

Taft had interrupted Senator Brown (D., Mich.) to read a newspaper article which reported that the administration was preparing to assemble surplus defense materials to be dispatched to England when the pending British aid bill was passed.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said that President Roosevelt would continue a series of conferences with War, Navy, State and Treasury department heads so that "we will not be guilty of a minute's more delay than we can prevent" when Congress acts finally on the British aid bill.

Senator Chavez (D., N.M.) and Senator Brown took up debate on the bill in the Senate, Chavez contending that the legislation invited war, while Brown argued that it was the best, "the only weapon."

CLUBS FLY AT STRIKE-BOUND NEW YORK MILL

Violence Flares At Bethlehem Lackawanna Plant

FORD MOTOR CO. FACES THREAT

Michigan Law, However, Provides For 30-Day Cooling Off Period Before Strike Effective

The Bethlehem steel mill at Lackawanna, N. Y., important production source of defense armament, was hit by a strike today which, in its earliest stages, brought a flare of violence.

CIO strikers deployed in a two-mile picket line before the seven gates of the huge plant. Early today there were reports that clubs had swung against the windows and bodies of automobiles which carried employees toward the jobs in the mill.

The strike fell promptly on a previously announced deadline, 9 p. m. last night after an unproductive conference between union officials and representatives of the National Defense Commission and the Federal Conciliation Service.

The Lackawanna mill employs 14,000 men and union leaders declared the strike might spread soon to other Bethlehem plants at Bethlehem, Johnstown and Pottstown, Penn. At Bethlehem alone there are 21,000 employees.

The union is demanding a 25 per cent wage boost, a collective bargaining election and reinstatement of several hundred workers "indefinitely suspended" by the company.

Another giant industrial organization, the Ford Motor Company at Detroit, faced the threat of a strike at three plants employing nearly 95,000 men. However, under Michigan law, a 30-day cooling off period must intervene before the strike could take effect.

While the developments at the Bethlehem Steel and Ford Motor plants were shaping up, high officials at Washington were reported discussing the possibility of forming an 11-member "supreme court" labor board to determine and publish facts in labor disputes where the regular federal conciliation service was not able to effect a settlement.

STATE REA DUE FOR A SHAKEUP

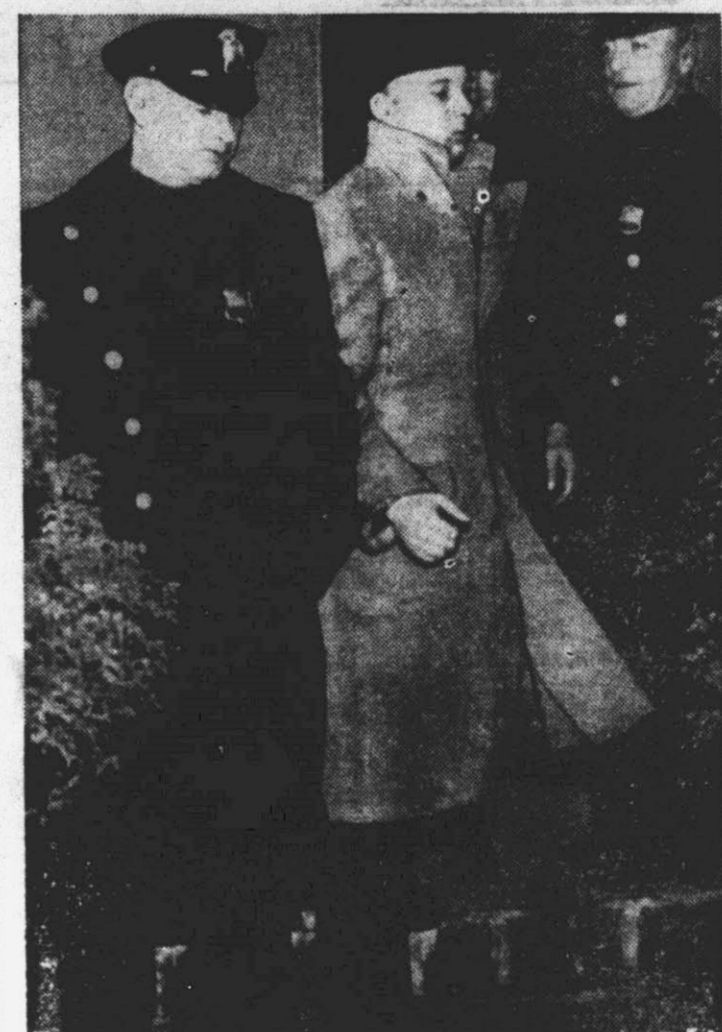

May Be Subject Of Reorganization

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—In view of the fact that the bill proposing a new Utility Commission setup has already been introduced in the legislature, it seems certain that there will be a pretty thorough shakeup by the governor.

Mr. Broughton to consolidate the State Rural Electrification setup with Stanley Winborne's department. Some months ago there was considerable talk of such a consolidation.

Despite this practical certainty that the state REA will not be tied to the utility commission, there still remains the certainty that it will be given a pretty thorough shakeup by the governor.

Highway Reorganizat' n Bill Ordered Ratified

Commissioner Bitterly Denounced During Debate

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—(AP)—After hearing a scathing denunciation of "the tenth district highway commissioner," who is E. L. McKee of Sylvania, the Senate today passed and ordered ratified into law a bill to reorganize the Highway and Public Works Commission.

Senator Howell of Buncombe did not call McKee by name, but referred to the "commissioner of the tenth district who, while putting down pretty ribbons of concrete to High Hampton had failed to do anything about the main street of North Carolina until about a year ago. That is an unfair condition and an intolerable condition."

By main street, Howell referred to Highway No. 70.

McKee owns a hotel at High Hampton.

Howell launched his attack after Senator Johnson of Sampson had explained the house-passed bill and pointed out it contained language "enjoining the commissioners to be state-minded." The bill provides for appointment by the governor for four-year terms of a highway chairman and ten commissioners and centralized power in the hands of the chairman.

The House killed, 49-39, a bill to give rule-making powers to the State Supreme court.

Another deluge of new bills hit legislative hoppers, 39 in the House and 16 in the Senate, most of them strictly local, but their introduction slowed down action on pending legislation.

Rep. Moore of Wilson introduced a bill to reorganize the wards in Wilson. He asked that the rules be suspended so that the bill could be placed on the calendar without going to committee.

The House received from Rep. Merritt of Catawba a joint resolution proposing that Congress submit an amendment to the federal constitution to limit inheritance and income taxes to 25 per cent, except in time of war.

A number of representatives, including Moore of Wilson, sent in a measure to require all milk dealers to keep records and report to the Agriculture Department.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN COMMITTEE

Bill To Eliminate Gas Pump Stickers Is Approved

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Senate Judiciary Committee Number One reported favorably today the Larkins bill to eliminate the requirement that gasoline pumps bear stickers denoting the grade of gas dispensed.

C. M. Byers of Charlotte, appearing for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, argued for the bill, while it was opposed by Walter Murphy of Salisbury and R. O. Everett of Durham, counsel for independent oil dealers "and the public," and Herbert Shankle.

Senator Funderburk of Union opposed the favorable report and Senator Wilson of Davidson served notice that he might fight the bill on the floor.

Byers termed the present law "definitely deceptive" and argued that the stickers denoting grade based on octane rating did not indicate anything as to the quality of the gas dispensed. He said no other state had such a law.

Shankle read a statement he said had appeared in the consumers' guide, a publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, which said: "Less guessing and more wise spending is what North Carolina motorists are doing as a result of a state law which requires all gasoline sold in the state to be quality graded."

The committee favorably reported Senate bill 192 to amend the charter of Greenville and Senate bill 191 to provide a public utilities commission in Greenville.

The joint roads committee heard long arguments on the Unstead-Cherry bill to earmark $2,000,000 yearly of highway funds for construction of all-weather secondary roads. Senator White of Vance spoke for the bill.

The committee also heard Senator Lanier of Pitt explain the Lanier-Blalock bill to permit farmers to buy automobile licenses for farm-used trucks at one-half the annual fee.

Injured in Wreck Billy Smith, driver of a College View cleaners truck, was reported here today to have been injured in a highway accident near Dunn last night, but details were not known here. It was reported that the local man was taken to a Dunn hospital.

Famed Flier Badly Hurt In Accident

Eddie Rickenbacker Among Those Most Seriously Injured When Eastern Air Lines Plane Crashes Near Atlanta; Rep. William D. Bryan, Maryland Democrat One Of Victims

Atlanta, Feb. 27.—(AP) Dropping away from a radio beam, an Eastern Air Lines plane ripped itself to pieces in a pine woods near here today, killing seven and injuring nine others, including the famed flier Eddie Rickenbacker.

The 14-passenger sleeper banged against a wooded knoll shortly after 1 a. m. EST, while attempting a beam landing after a run from New York, but searchers didn't find the wreckage until shortly after dawn when an injured passenger made his way to a phone to call for help.

Five miles from the airport and 700 yards from the nearest dirt road, rescue work was painfully slow and it was not until mid-morning that seven bodies had been removed from the smashed cabin and nine injured taken to hospitals.

Four of the bodies were identified as: Captain James Perry, Co-Pilot L. E. Thomas, and Steward Clarence Moore, all of New York, and Rep. William D. Bryan (D-Md.) of Williamsport, Md.

Of the nine in hospitals those in the most serious condition seemed to be Rickenbacker, who had a broken leg and back injuries; H. A. Littlefield, an assistant managing editor of the New York Times from Short Hills, N. J., and Mrs. Littlefield.

J. S. Rosenfeld of New Orleans and N. Hensell of Bronx, N. Y., were able to walk away from the shattered plane, the former giving the alarm that brought searchers to the isolated crash scene, which is about five miles southeast of the airport and some 15 miles from Atlanta.

Crowd Is Expected Hear Famed Choir

Despite the inclement weather, a large crowd was expected to hear the famed Westminster Choir which is being presented by the Eastern Carolina Symphonic Choral Association at Wright Memorial auditorium of the college tonight at 8 o'clock.

Bringing the world-famous choir here presents music-lovers of this section with a rare opportunity seldom afforded in cities of this size.

The Westminster Choir enjoys the distinction of being the only such organization to appear season after season with the most important symphony orchestras of the country.

The choir is not being brought here by the Choral Association as a money-making adventure, but chiefly for the purpose of providing citizens with an opportunity of hearing the fine music. Proceeds realized over expenses will be used to help carry on the work of the Eastern Carolina Association, a non-profit organization devoted to music.

The Westminster Choir is composed of 40 men and women highly trained and capable of expressing itself effectively in all styles of choral singing.

DECISION DAY IS UNEXCITING

No Cases of Outstanding Interest Ruled On
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Feb. 27.—There wasn't any case of outstanding public interest in the nature of a spectacular hearing in prospect for the court's session next week, when a dozen appeals (two criminal, ten civil) will be heard from the Fourth and Seventh districts.

Case No. 1 on the spring term docket might have been of more than ordinary interest had the seven justices gone into the real merits of the case propounded—especially in view of the evident tide of opinion—both judicial and legislative—against extending the powers and functions of "regulatory" associations of trades, businesses and professions.

L. A. Muse was indicted in Haywood county (home of that architect of "commissions," former State Senator Chester A. Cogburn) for violation of the plumbers commission law. He contested the statute's constitutionality and when he lost before the superior court he permitted a hearing of the evidence before the judge alone; then appealed, asserting the constitutional point.

His conviction was reversed, but because the court held he could not waive trial by jury. The justices refused even to consider the main question, which will likely come up again on a second appeal.

The court held that certain English citizens will have to pay taxes for construction of a town building, with WPA and Hyde county aid. The town hadn't had an election since 1915, but its former mayor and its still-living commissioners, set up a de facto town government in order to undertake the project.

Protest was made against payment because, it was alleged, the city fathers were without authority to do anything at all—being in fact no officers at all.

The court rebuked them rather stingingly: "They (the protesting citizens) were willing that the building be built and the county of Hyde furnish its money for such purpose. Yet they voice objection only when it comes to paying the taxes which had been levied against them."

A Haywood county case, coming up for its second hearing in Superior court, was of interest chiefly because it shows what big arguments can rise out of public jobs.

The controversy is over right to the position of tax collector for the city of Canton—a post paying $145 a month. In this, the second appeal, a 14-page opinion was written even then it seems certain that the matter is left open for further litigation.

Next week's calendar appears to involve no cases of more than passing interest to anyone except the litigants and lawyers who are always alert to the ruling of the supreme court.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

When Sarah Bernhard died at Rector's, what did she eat? Not the beruffled dishes for which our imported chefs were imported. But griddle cakes and sausages—"so teepical American!" Because of the sweet, juicy pork used and the special herb seasoning, Rector's sausages were the aristocrats of the pork world. Today a visiting celebrity could get as big a taste thrill from Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links. For these sausages are made of choice pork, expertly seasoned.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

When Sarah Bernhard died at Rector's, what did she eat? Not the beruffled dishes for which our imported chefs were imported. But griddle cakes and sausages—"so teepical American!" Because of the sweet, juicy pork used and the special herb seasoning, Rector's sausages were the aristocrats of the pork world. Today a visiting celebrity could get as big a taste thrill from Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links. For these sausages are made of choice pork, expertly seasoned.

FIRESIDE MEAL
The idea is to desert your regular dining place for the most comfortable spot in your house. It may be beside the fireplace or in a sunny alcove. Spread table or tables informally there and serve:

Hot Spiced Fruit Cup
Spinach Ring with Hominy and Fried Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages
Water-cress and Grapefruit Salad with Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise
Whipped Cream Angel Food Cake
To make fruit cup, simmer 1 dozen cloves, 2 sticks cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg in 1 qt. canned fruit juice for five minutes. Strain and serve piping hot.

SPINACH RING
To 4 cups finely chopped spinach add 1/2 cup Clear Brook Butter, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Press into buttered ring mold. Keep hot. Unmold onto hot platter. Fill center of this Spinach Ring with hot seasoned hominy. On top of the hominy arrange 1 dozen fried Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links.

WHIPPED CREAM ANGEL FOOD CAKE
Into 1 cup of cream, stiffly whipped, fold carefully the beaten whites of 3 Clear Brook Eggs. Add 1/2 cup water and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Then add 2 cups of flour which have been sifted three times with 1 1/2 cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Bake in layers at 350° F. for about 30 minutes. Use lemon filling and icing.

BIG MOMENTS WITH LITTLE SAUSAGES
Fry Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links. Slice into half-inch rounds. Add to cream soups!
Broil sausages with cooked sweet potato and peach halves... a juicy, flavorful meal-in-one.

HAM HIT OF THE WEEK
Tucked warmly away in the memory of lots of us is the rich smoke flavor that a ham had when it was home-cured in the old smokehouse. Believe it or not, the flavor of Wilson's Certified Tender Extra Mild Smoked Ham is even more delicious and the ham is more tender, juicier and milder. Fry several slices for dinner tonight.

I'll be back come next March (next week).—G. R.

ALONG CAME CINDERELLA

By VIVIEN GREY

YESTERDAY: Roger Cosgrave begins to see he has his work cut out for him. He has forsaken Emily Perry to marry Lovely Daye, a girl from the tenements whose beauty swept him off his feet. On their Mexican honeymoon, Lovely has danced much with a young Mexican named Pedro, and Pedro has misunderstood, and how Pedro has left Lovely, his heart broken. And Roger fears tragedy.

Chapter 20
Two Tragedies
"Take me back to the cottage, Roger," Lovely said dully. "Take me back."
Roger didn't ask what had happened. He didn't have to. Next morning, up earlier than usual, they heard the news about Pedro from the pretty maid who padded about in bare feet, caring for their cottage. Pedro had killed himself the night before.
At noon Roger and Lovely stood on the cliff above the ocean.
"You were right, Roger," she said as she finished the story of what had happened at the night club. "You always are. How do you keep your life so sane and steady and poised all of the time?"
Roger didn't answer. It would have been cruel to say what he thought just then.

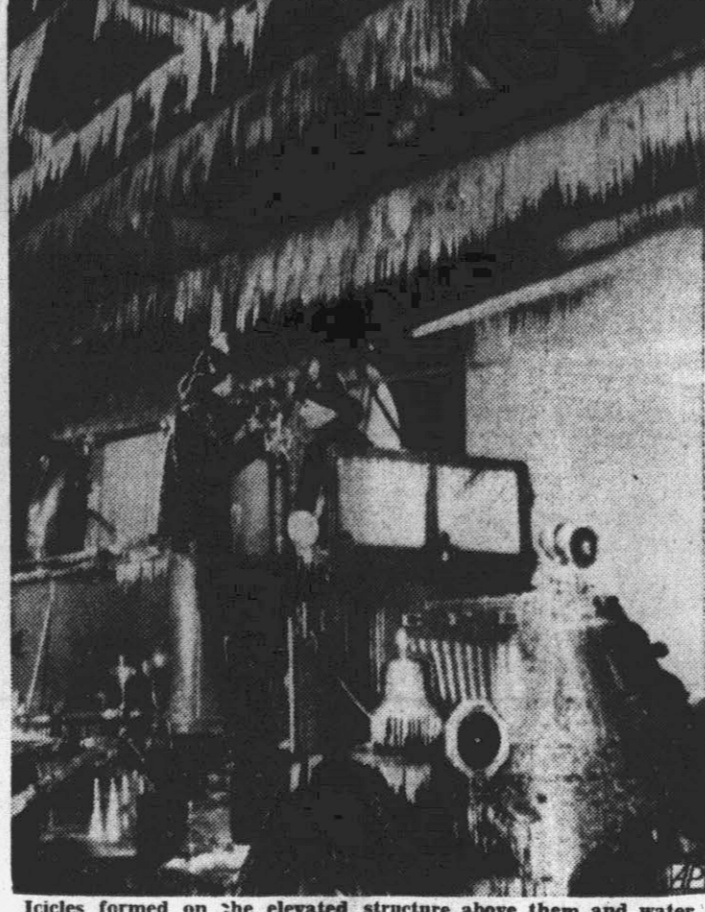

"Take me home, Roger," she said softly. "Take me home to your mother. I want to see her."
So they did not meet the Perrys in Mexico. But they heard of them the day Roger brought Lovely home, more beautiful than ever with her skin gorgeously tanned by Mexican sun. A more worldly look in her large brown eyes lent them an extra enchantment. She was somehow smooth and polished. Travel and possession of enough money to do exactly as she wished had given her assurance.
That day Roger and Lovely walked into his mother's sitting room, and Marcia looked up from her New York paper with a cry of alarm on her lips.
"Oh, Roger look!" were her first words. "Poor Emily! Now I know why they went in that worn-out old committed suicide," he said slowly. "Right there within a stone's throw of our honeymoon cottage. Or at least it looked like suicide. No one will ever know, really."

"But I thought they were vacationing?"
"So they were and that's when they did it. On their vacation right there in Acapulco where we were. They drove right through the center of town, and just kept on going."
Lovely's eyes widened with horror.
"You mean," she started to ask "But that cliff! Why they couldn't—"
"That's just it. They did. They kept on going."
Lovely read every word of the story with its screaming headlines. She had all of the tabloids brought in and sat looking at the pictures of Emily, her mother and father. Of their estate so close by. She read over and over again how their big car had climbed up the hill.
She read how it passed the brow and plunged into the little park with the natives calling to them to stop. They had bounced over the concrete wall. Observers said they saw like two people carved in marble. Only the car seemed alive as it gathered speed. There was no sound from them as they went over the cliff.
The heavy car dropped to the ledge below, shattering a concrete wall. But the two people in it were catapulted into the water that dashed and churned on the rocks below. Their bodies had not been found.
"But why? Why would they do a thing like that?" Lovely asked Roger insistently. "I can't see any reason just because their daughter didn't marry the man she intended to. Lots of engagements are broken. Engagements don't mean so much."
And Roger could only say:
"I wouldn't know, angel. I wouldn't know."
"I feel almost as if I'd killed them," Lovely said. She shivered slightly as she stood at the window and looked out over the beauty of the Cosgrave place with shrubbery and trees beginning to hint of fall charms!
"You shouldn't, honey bee," Roger put his arm around her and rested his cheek against her hair. "You had nothing to do with it. People make their own lives."
Lovely turned to him impulsively.
"Oh, Roger—if you should ever stop loving me—want someone else to do the magnitude of his ladies and then complimented them both. "That was sweet of your father," Lovely said afterwards to Roger. "I mean to compliment your mother." It shed light on a different life, this middle aged man still saying pleasant, complimentary things.

That evening Lovely trailed Roger about the place. She went to the kennels with him for a last look at the Bedingtons and Kerry Blues. She brushed their soft coats and was pleased by the adoration in their soft brown eyes as they looked up at her. She picked up Streak's puppies, limp with sleep and cooed over them. Roger watched, pleased.
"Streak's honoring you," he said. "She wouldn't let many people pick up one of her babies. She's a very careful mother."
Late Visitors
It was later that night the cards Lovely had sent her friends an-

car. They planned it. They must have. How horrible!"
"What is it?" There was a tense note in Roger's voice. He took the paper from his mother and glanced at the headlines. Lovely watched his face grow pale and saw a strange look come into his eyes.
"We must get in touch with Emily and have her come here," Marcia said. "I see it all now. That's why Della was so anxious about Emily."
"Poor Emily!" Roger said gently. "Yes, we must have her here."
Then his mother's voice came quickly again. "Lovely darling! Forgive me!" and she held out her arms to the girl, who went into them gratefully. "I'm so glad to have you and Roger back. It's good to see you, darling. Good! And how much more beautiful you are!"
Roger took Marcia in his arms then.
"And it's good to be home, mother." A deep note of happiness ran through his words.
Lovely caught it. Roger had sent roots down deep into his home soil. She had nothing like that. There had been no soil to take root in, in any of the places her life had known. Walking through the wide and pleasant hall toward the stairs, Lovely was oppressed by a sense of lack of loneliness. For no reason at all she felt like an outsider.
But upstairs in the suite Marcia had given them the weight lifted.
"Your mother's sweet, Roger," she said. "It's sweet of her to have done this," taking in the beauty of the sitting room that had been done over with her comfort in mind.
Mother's ways that way, Roger said. "She loves doing things for people. That's been her life. Just the lovely, social side of things."
Then with one of her lightning changes of mood Lovely demanded: "Love me much as ever?"
"Darling, can't you see?" Roger asked. "I'm as helpless as an oyster on the half shell before your charms!"
"What was it about Emily? Why is she coming here?" Lovely asked then.
Bitter Truth
Roger hesitated. He found it difficult to talk about Emily.
"Her mother and father have

Firemen Fight Flames And Ice Too

Iceicles formed on the elevated structure above them and water turned to ice on their uniforms as Chicago firemen fought the most spectacular loop fire in 10 years. The fire—in a building housing a furniture store and paint factory—brought out 70 pieces of apparatus. Thousands of office workers were delayed when the firemen had to use the "L" structure to combat the flames.

Union Forces Save Face By So-Called Labor Deal

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, Feb. 27.—The so-called "deal" whereby North Carolina's branch of the A. F. of L. backed off from support of the Gregory wage and hour law in return for Governor Broughton's support of its opposition to the anti-sabotage act proposed by Representative McDougle was, in reality no "compromise"; unless by that term is meant an exercise of judgment and common sense on the part of the labor folks.

It has been repeatedly pointed out in this correspondence that labor hadn't the slightest idea that it could secure enactment of even the minority report of the wage-hour commission, much less of the more radical Gregory measure; and so it is hard to see its withdrawal of active advocacy for the bill in the light of any quid for which the governor, or anybody else, would offer a quo.

What happened, it is generally agreed, is that the A. F. of L. leaders were glad of a chance to get from under a load they knew all the time they couldn't carry; and particularly happy that they could do it gracefully and without sprawling flat on their figurative face. They knew that the governor was already committed to the principle of the majority report from the wage-hour commission and they hardly counted on less than his support for it, anyway.
On the other side of the picture

Union Forces Save Face By So-Called Labor Deal

there was a realization that the anti-sabotage bill as drawn was perhaps more of a measure to sabotage labor than to protect any real defense interests, since they, too were probably glad to be able to change front without loss of "face."

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE GOAD

Mattie Babcock, whose words and writings were inspiring, his generation about the turn of the century, said on one occasion, "What a friend Necessity is. It stops our standing on one foot; it ends our looking at our watches and wondering about three or four things; it moves the previous question; it says
"This one thing you do."

Yet there is no friend toward whom we maintain cooler relationships. When the spur of necessity is dug into our flesh, it is hard to call such a one friend. And yet necessity does exactly what Babcock said it does. It whips up every flaming energy. It keeps us straight when every disposition in our life is to go crooked. It makes us kind when we want to be sharp. It plays happo with our indolence and gives us a sore conscience if we fail to live up to an imperative schedule.

Goethe spoke of "the dear must."
Emerson said that a man's task is a man's life preserver. To the prosecutor Saul of Tarsus, lying prostrate on the ground, the voice came out of heaven saying, "It is hard for thee to kick against the goad." This was only divine confirmation of a universal human experience.

The announcement that Congress will remain in session until the war ends should relieve the minds of those who have expressed the feeling that Congress was trying to relinquish its duties and place all power in Anxious eyes are turned toward the present negotiations between Anthony Eden

and the Turkish officials.
Germany for some time has been trying all its diplomatic tricks to win the Turks over to the Axis side, but it is the belief here that the Nazis
will have to be much smarter than we believe them to be if they outsmart Great Britain's young Foreign Secretary.

IT'S TIME TO ACT

There seems to be little doubt that the British aid bill will soon be passed by Congress, but after all, what good will the bill do if we continue to let strikes so hinder our defense program that we cannot procure the necessary implements of war
to lend England or to equip
our own armies?

With several strikes already in progress for some time in vital industries working on defense orders, now comes a strike in the very necessary steel plants affecting more than 12,000 workers and threatening the whole defense program. Notice of impending strikes in three of the Ford plants has already been served on the officials of the company and will become effective at the end of the thirty days' waiting period prescribed by

Can He Make 'Em Mix

Michigan law.

In spite of all these hood-lum-instigated strikes, Congress seems to have a fear of tackling the problem, for every time there is mention of legislation that would outlaw such strikes at this critical time, up goes the cry that the government cannot take away the rights of labor. It is our feeling that labor, as an organized group
as well as every individual laborer, is entitled to all his rights granted under our constitution, but we have never believed that the rights of anyone extended to the point that they permitted the endangering of the safety, lives and property of others.

In our present emergency our country has seen fit to draft our young manhood
into the armed services, it has likewise placed restrictions on activities of industries and has increased taxes
on individuals, and yet it quails at the thought of taking away the very necessary steps to see to it that labor racketeers do not slow down or completely wreck
our feverish efforts to place
our nation in position to aid England and protect itself
against aggressor nations.

No one in free America likes iron-hand methods, but it seems to us that conditions have now been reached with regard to our labor situation that the government must step in with an iron hand and force organized labor to stop its racketeering and get down to work.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett
Washington — Chatter in a Capital Cafeteria:

Browder's Term
"I see the Supreme Court affirmed the four-year sentence of Earl Browder, the Communist leader, for violation of the passport law."

"Yeah, with time off for good behavior, he'll get out just in time to run again for President on the 1944 Communist ticket."

Fear Of Panatics
"Say, is the Senate getting jittery? They've closed and bolted those gigantic wooden doors that open onto the Senate floor. An old-timer tells me that, according to the memory of his oldest pals,
the precaution hasn't been taken since the Civil War. And that ain't all. They're using the metropolitan police again as special guards in the Senate gallery. And it did not take any checking with old-timers to find out that it's the first time that has been done since the World War.

"Pal, the Senate isn't the only one that has the personal defense jitters. I hear from hired hands in the Post Office department that there are not only a heap of congressmen, but a double heap of other government officials these days, who you can't get to accept any gifts of candy or other eats for fear of poisoning. And they start saying 'Take it away' the minute
you walk in the door with any kind of a box that possibly could contain a bomb, or something."

"Well, after all, you know there was a chunk blown out of the Capitol during the World war. One of the topnotch investigators around here tells me that it isn't saboteurs and spies that worry folks who know it's the nuts — the fanatics.
The history of assassins and would-be such, this fellows says, is just a list of people who should have been committed to insane asylums
but somehow missed the bughouse draft."

Free Phoning.

"Gee, here I was sitting talking to my girl on the phone and the boss comes in and catches me and he says, 'Look here, young man,
don't you know that, by latest count
there are nearly 52,000 government telephones in Washington, and what if just a third — just a third,
mind you, of the federal employes took it into their heads to make private calls all at once? Why, you'd put the government out of business for hours.' And I said,
I guess pretty weakly, 'Gee, Boss,
I never thought of that. Do you mean there's really 52,000?' And he says, 'Well, young man, if you have to be exact, call it 51,800 —
but I think you get what I mean.'"

Army Athletics

"D'ya know what they're saying over at the army-navy morale division? They're saying that there's going to be 16,500 baseball teams this spring. Counting 20 to the team, that means about 330,000

guys or half the army playing baseball. Could that be right?"

"I don't know, friend, but remember this, a whole lot of unathletic guys were weeded out before it ever came time to issue the duffle bags and poggins. According to what I hear the army is spending around $618,000 on sports equipment. If that doesn't make the sporting goods business a defense industry, I haven't been reading the books right."

"The guy that told me this, also told me that in addition to baseball and football equipment, there were soccer balls, tennis balls, hand-balls, medicine balls and soft balls, boxing gloves and bags, table tennis sets and badminton sets. Sounds like to me the slogan should be:
'Join the Army And Be an Athlete.'
What do you suppose is going to happen when all these lugs graduate or whatever it is you do when Selective Service gets through with you? Looks to me like Mike Jacobs organized baseball, football and the Amateur Athletic Union ought to be subsidizing this defense program
instead of us taxpayers."

Raleigh, Feb. 27 — The committee hasn't got around to a vote yet, but there is every indication that Senate Judiciary No. 1 is going to kill Jimmy Howell's bill intended to give cities the right to install park-

Many of the opponents frankly base their emphy on the inconve-

they came here from time to time
during the period while the meters
were on Fayetteville street.

They freely admit that what they like to do is come to town, park
and leave their machines for sev-

Not Red Anymore
Very soon it will not be possible to identify one of the state buildings as "the red brick building";
because workmen are very busy spreading a coat of very white paint

years housed the Utility commis-

Counter-Lobby.
Activities of the News and Observer, both editorially and through its personnel, against the proposed change in the gasoline grading law have become so obvious and intense that it is now being suggested that the N. and O. ought to register as "lobbyist" in Thad Eure's book.

Whenever the committee studying the Larkins' bill is scheduled to meet, a common question is:
"Are you going to the News and Observer's hearing?"

Phi Beta Kappa.
June Rose, superintendent of Greenville's schools and immediate past department commander of the American Legion, will be made a member of the Duke University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. There wasn't any P.B.K. at Duke when June was there — which is the only reason he didn't qualify for the high scholarship honor in his undergraduate days at the Durham college.

YOUR INCOME TAX Six Million Will Pay

Third of six articles
By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer
Washington — This year's army of federal income taxpayers will be by far the biggest in American history.

Some 6,000,000 persons will pay individual income taxes as compared to 3,870,000 last year, the previous peak year. This large increase is due chiefly to the lowering of the exemptions from $2,500 to $2,000 for married persons and from $1,000 to $800 for single persons.

The reduced exemptions also increase the payments of those formerly paying income taxes. For the vast majority the increase over last year will amount to $20 for married persons and $8 for single persons, plus the new defense levy of 10 per cent of the normal tax payment.

The $20 increase results from the normal tax of 4 per cent on an additional taxable $500 provided by the exemption reduction from $2,500 to $2,000. Similarly, the $8 increase is provided by the 4 per cent levy on the additional taxable $200 resulting from lowering the $1,000 exemption to $800.

The amount of defense tax payment by the person of low income will be small because his normal tax payment will be comparatively small. For example, the defense tax on a married person who pays a normal tax of $28 on a net income of $3,000 will be $2.80, the total tax being $30.80. The single person who pays a normal tax of $40 on an earned net income of $2,000 will pay a defense tax of $4.

The defense tax runs into real money in the upper income break-
ets. A man paying a normal tax and surtax aggregating $50,000 will contribute an additional $5,000 for defense. The impact of this super-tax, however, is cushioned by a mitigation which takes effect when half of an income is taken by taxation. In the case of married persons at incomes around $175,000.

Six More Games Reeled Off In County-Wide Tourney

CONTESTS WON BY FAVORITES

Play To Be Resumed Tomorrow After Respite Today

Six more games were reeled off yesterday and last night in the second round of play in the county-wide basketball tournament and several of the contests presented lively competition with the favorites usually coming out on top.

Play was suspended today because of the appearance here tonight of the Westminster Choir, but will be resumed late tomorrow afternoon.

In the first game of Wednesday's card, Chilcoid girls took a 37-20 victory over Winterville, with Smith accounting for 23 of the winners' total points. Taylor, with 10, paced the Winterville girls.

Arthur boys took a 19-10 victory over Ayden in the first game in the boys' division. Wooten, Arthur center, was high scorer in nine points, while E. Tripp, Ayden center, paced his team. Guards of both teams were effective.

With the fairer sex taking over the court again, Fountain rolled up a 27-9 score over Belvoir, with both teams using a large number of players.

Stokes boys topped Chilcoid 45-16, with Tracy Barnhill leading the winners with 10 points and H. I. Whitehurst and C. A. Forbes each garnering eight tallies. Scoring honors for the game, however, went to

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BOYS AND GIRLS FINISH SEASON WITH EASY VICTORIES

LOCAL CAGERS LICK PAM PACK

Fulkerson's Juniors Gain Revenge Over Washington

By C. B. ROWLETT
Washington's high school's varsity and junior basketball teams last night blew into town with all the fury of a Nazi blitzkrieg and left two hours and a half later meek as lambs with two defeats chalked up against them. The largest crowd to see the Phantoms put the shackles on Washington's Pam Packs 35-24 and 13-11. Coach Mary Shaw Roberson's Lady Phantoms finished their season in a fine display of strength by taking an easy 17-5 triumph over the New Bern high lassies.

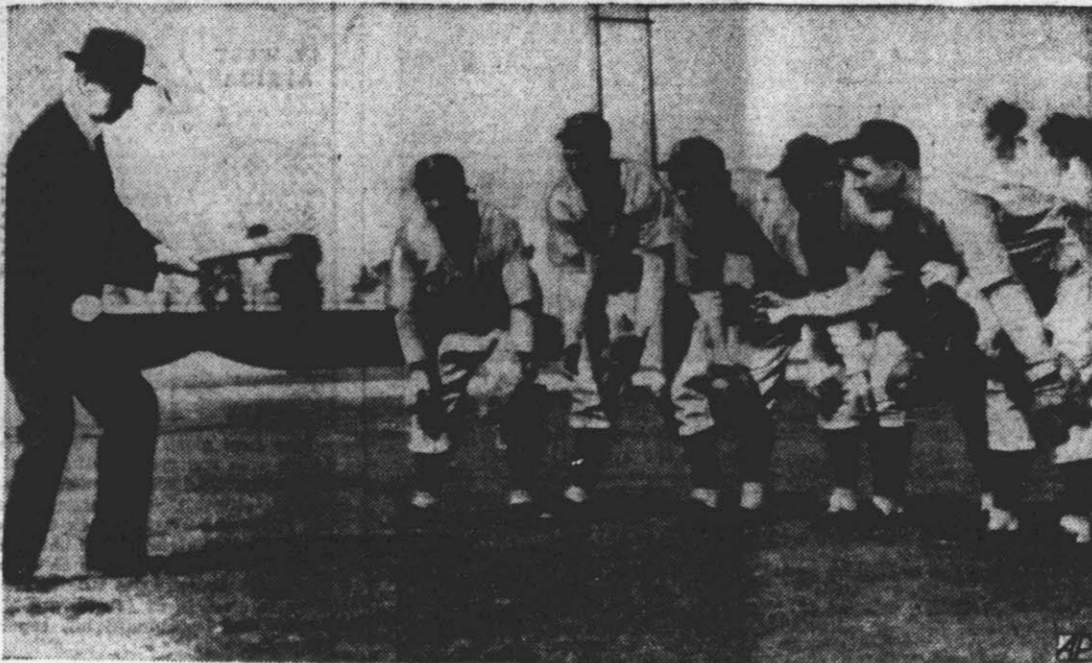

Burney Warren, high scoring center, was Greenville's big gun throughout the contest. Warren sparked a third period drive that brought the local boys from a one-point disadvantage to a nine-point advantage. Larry James took runner-up honors for the Phantom five with ten points. James was also credited with a nice brand of ball handling. George Gardner and Hoyt Roberson with ten and nine points led the Washington attack that bogged down in the last half.

With some doubt filling the minds of a number of local fans about the ability of Coach Heman Fulkerson's high flying Baby Phantoms, the little juniors came back from a one-sided defeat by Durham last week to down the Pam Pack by two points. Jack Teel, lanky center, was the big gun in the Phantom offense with four points followed by Ben Harrison and

A. Cox of the losing Chilcoid team. Bethel girls rolled up a 32-13 score over the Grimesland lassies Ruby Martin started reaching the hoop early in the game and when the final whistle sounded she had garnered 16 points to account for half of her team's total. Ek's scored 10 of Grimesland's points.

In the final game of the second round play, Farmville defeated the Grimesland boys 31-13. Rouse led the winners with nine points, while Edwards and Payne of Grimesland shared scoring honors by dropping in six points each.

Connie Mack Shows 'Em How To Lay Down A Bunt

The venerable Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics intended this to be a demonstration on the proper method of laying down a bunt. But somehow it backfired and Mack missed the ball. Benefiting from the demonstration are five pitchers (left to right): Nelson T. Potter, John McCollum, Herman Besse, John Leovich and Bill Beckman. This was at the opening session of spring training at Anaheim, Cal.

Knotty Register with three each. Behind 9-7 at the end of the third period the little Phantoms began a spurt that furnished them with a victory.

Never behind and always ahead the Lady Phantoms of Greenville High School took their second win over the New Bern lassies with Betty Tyson and Peggy West leading the way with six markers each. Captain Joy Flanagan followed closely behind with four points. Holding the New Bern girls to a mere point throughout the first half the local girls were ahead 11-1 going into the third period.

Flowers with three markers and Planner with two set the slow pace for the New Bern girls.

Washington high's varsity settled down with the beginning of the first period with what seemed to be another victory over the superior Phantom cagers. Gardner and Roberson sank two field goals apiece and Graves accounted for one while Greenville managed to collect six markers on field goals by James and Clark and free throws by Corey and Musselwhite to give the Pam Pack a 10-6 lead at the end of the first period. The Phantoms outscored the Pam Pack that second quarter but were unable to overcome their lead. Gardner again paced the Washington attack with two field goals while Roberson added another two points.

Center Burney Warren and forward Larry James took Phantom honors that second quarter with two field goals each. Riddle accounted for the other point on a gratis shot.

Going into the third period behind 16-15 the Greenville boys began to blast the basket from every angle to score 13 points. Burney Warren split the hoop three times that period for six points while James followed up with three. Musselwhite and Riddle accounted for the others. Washington's three points that period came on a field goal by Gardner and a free throw by Gerard. Nine points behind with the score at 28-19 the visitors began to give up and the Phantoms marched on to victory.

This contest finished the season for the Phantoms and also the career of a number of the local cagers. Hicks Corey, Larry James, Burney Warren, Snag Clark, John Collins, and John Horne played their last game on the courts for Greenville High School. These boys will receive their diplomas this spring.

The varsity isn't the only team losing a few top-notchers. Coach Mary Shaw Roberson will be without her entire starting line-up. Forwards Betty Tyson, Peggy West, and Joy Flanagan finished the high campaign as did guards, Jane Harrison, Doris Roberts, and Lib Wells. Jane Scoville, Doris Brown, Marguerite Hudson, capable reserves also finish this year.

Department Of Utter Confusion
White Sulphur Springs, Mont. — (AP)—In the ledger of screw doings the board of county commissioners has just about struck a balance with the town council.

First, there was the family on relief that applied to the commissioners for funds to have a child's tooth repaired. The county charged it off to the bridge fund under the heading "bride work."

Then the council heard that a house was being built without a permit. The inspector who hurried to the address found a fellow whitening a miniature house.

TICKET SALES UNIMPRESSIVE

Goal Of 500 By Saturday Night Short By 300

By TY WAGNER (Booster Ticket Chairman)
The first day's results of efforts to sell season tickets was far from being impressive. Only about 200 tickets have been sold during the canvass of the business district to date. This figure is short by 300 of the goal of 500 set for Saturday night.

The success of this drive will in a large measure foretell the kind of a team Greenville will have in the Coastal Plain League this season. If proper funds are available to begin the season a great team is promised. Seven hundred tickets in a city the size of Greenville is not a big goal. And inasmuch as the tickets represent real value to the baseball fans, a good response is expected. For the business houses which are being contacted this week the tickets can be used as the merchants see fit. In addition, the tickets are transferable and can be used by anyone in any park in the league. Let's put Greenville on the top of the Coastal Plain League again by starting out with a good fund in the treasury which will be sufficient to get the players we all want to see out there. Buy a ticket this week and get one for your family and let's put 700 good fans in the stands at Guy Smith stadium the season for every game.

Trio Arrested On Kidnaping Charge

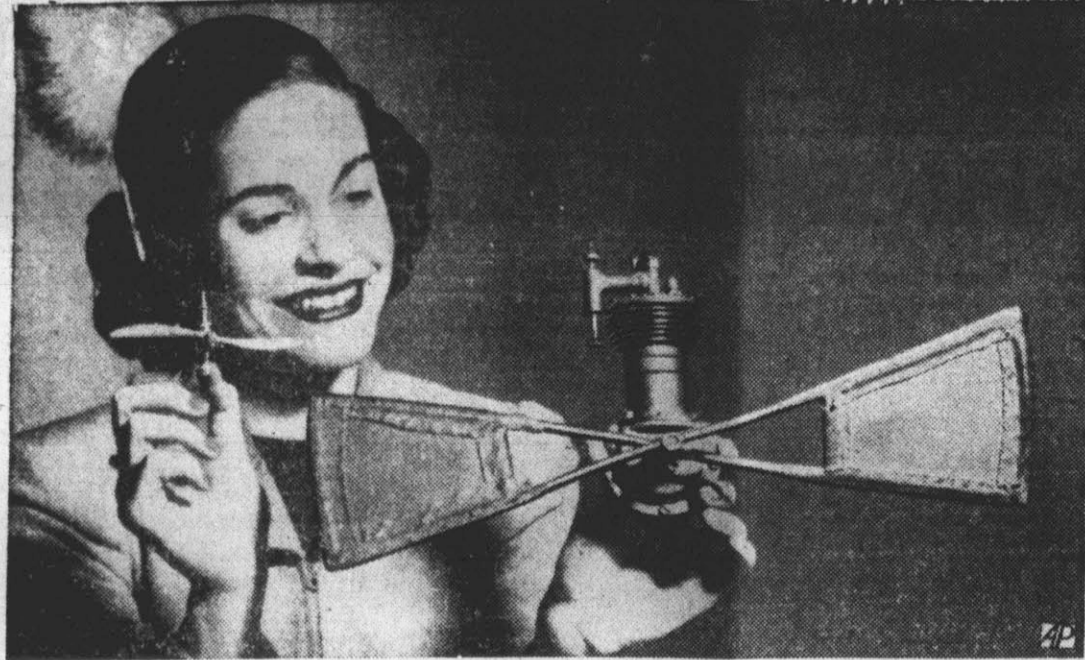

Two young white men and a girl were taken in custody here yesterday afternoon by highway patrolmen on a charge of kidnaping after a warrant had been sworn out by Arthur Hyndall of Ayden, Route Three, charging the trio took his daughter, Mary Lee Tyndall, 19, away from home Tuesday night against her will.

The two men, C. W. Whitehurst and Morris Joyner, both of whom live on the Falkland highway, were released under bond of $500 each and the girl, Miss Ebel May Sutton, waitress in a local cafe, was freed under bond of $100.

Tyndall was quoted by State Highway Patrolman W. W. Massengill as saying that the two men and girl came to his house Tuesday night for his daughter and he gave her permission to go to a filling station for a soft drink, provided the girl's younger brother went along. He was further quoted by the patrolman as saying that the boy came home a short while later saying that he was put out of the car about 200 yards from his home and the four drove off, with his sister protesting.

Patrolman Massengill, however, quoted the girl as saying that she went willingly.

After his daughter failed to return Tuesday night, Tyndall swore out a warrant yesterday morning and the four were "picked up" by patrolmen while they were riding around Greenville last night. The patrolmen said the party told him they had been to Holly Ridge.

MODELS: NEW GIRL, OLD PLANE—When air travel was in its awkward infancy, miniature plane motors were clumsy, too, as is apparent in the old style miniature plane motor (right) being examined by Greta Clement in Philadelphia at the annual exhibit of Association of Model Builders. At the left is the newest and smallest gasoline motor for a model plane.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BIG WIND—Almost completed at Wright Field near Dayton, Ohio, is the army air corps experimental station's new $2,500,000 wind tunnel, where a 50,000-horsepower electric motor will produce wind velocities up to about 400 m.p.h. The tunnel, 790 feet long, will accommodate a model plane with 15-foot wingspread. Tunnel was begun year and half ago.

School Folks Disagree On Board Of Education

Reflector Bureau.
By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Feb. 26.—With a school man making the most telling argument against the proposed substitute bill submitting a constitutional amendment on the board of education, the senate committee found itself worse confused than ever and postponed consideration of the matter to a later executive session.

HEADY—That shrubbery growing out of Soldier Haddon Codrigh's hat is part of the camouflage used during drill at Fort Benning, Ga. Haddon is an Oklahoma Indian.

bill feel so strongly about it is the fear that this same Dr. McDonald might aspire to the office of state superintendent and might get it. There is still some hangover feeling from 1936 when he came "too close for comfort" to the governorship.

Speaking in opposition to the bill was Claude P. Gaddy, superintendent of the Raleigh schools, a former county superintendent and for several years a ranking official in the state school commission. He thought that the instructional and financial phases of school work ought to be entirely separate.

He sees no particular need to change the present multiple board set-up, but if that is done he wants a business board to look after the money, while the superintendent directs the teaching service. Citing instances of delegations coming to Raleigh and begging for more money for school buses or buildings or what not, and basing on arguments such as "We represent a mighty strong Democratic section," Mr. Gaddy concluded his appeal by saying that he wanted the school handled for the interest of children and not for votes.

The cleavage of opinion is not irreparable. The opposing sides are expected to get together and work out an amendment that the people next fall will decide whether or not they want in the constitution.

Pending before the committee is a bill providing for submission of an amendment to the constitution setting up a new board of education to be composed of the lieutenant governor and an appointed member from each congressional district in the state, with the state superintendent of public instruction as executive secretary. The original proposal was for a seven man board, with the state superintendent as chairman and chief administrative officer and six appointive members, to be named by the governor without respect to residence or professional occupations. This was amended to make the lieutenant governor chairman with the state superintendent as an ex officio member. Now the whole scrap is over the one word "executive" as applying to the title of secretary.

Senator Stacy of Robeson, long active in school affairs as a committee member, and now chairman of the education committee in the senate, sponsors the bill to make the superintendent the big works in the new set up. Supporting this side of the issue appeared Dr. Clyde Erwin who confessed that while he seemed to be personally affected since he was the official about which all the squabbling was going on, that he really had no personal interest in the matter since he soon might be gone from the job—but the job would stay on.

Also speaking for the bill were representatives of the parent teacher associations, the classroom teachers, and Dr. Ralph McDonald, who made it very clear that he was representing nobody but himself. Incidentally, it is an open secret that one reason some opponents of the

Germans, British Clash In North Africa

The first clash of German land troops with the British forces in Libya was reported southeast of Agadabia (1) and the German high command said its fliers had bombed Tobruk and damaged British ships. British penetrations of the Italian empire in Africa are indicated by the black-shaded areas. British Somaliland is still under Italian domination. An Italian force still resisted at the Giarrub oasis. A Free French force also had pushed up from Lake Chad (2) to join the English earlier in the campaign. The British pushed on in Somaliland, reporting the capture of the capital, Mogadiscio (4).

Electricity Costs To Be Discussed

The Pitt-Greene Electric Membership Corporation has arranged for B. E. Jones of the Agriculture Department of N. C. State College to lead a discussion on the most efficient and economical methods in the use of electricity in the home and on the farm at a meeting in the Farmville city hall Wednesday, March 5, at 2 p. m.

R. R. Bennett, Pitt county farm agent, made the arrangements for Mr. Jones' visit and the general public is invited.

Numerous questions regarding the cost of electricity will be answered by the expert. Among the questions to be discussed will be the cost of lights, additional cost for percolator, toaster, iron and other small appliances, as well as larger appliances such as stoves, washing machines and other electrical equipment.

With the general debate now in its 10th day, some supporters of the bill manifested uneasiness over the possibility of a surprise opposition filibuster despite an agreement to start consideration of amendments next week.

There were indications, however, that the administration leadership might decide to call on its parliamentary strength in an attempt to get a final vote next week.

One well informed leader said that while unlimited debate would be acceptable for the next day or so "we may have to take steps" to terminate the speech-making.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Leading stocks left the rallying trail in today's market and stumbled into losses of fractions to around two points at the worst.

Steels led the early decline and other departments soon were well represented in the minus column. Volume slackened after a brief sprint in the forenoon and, near the fourth hour, prices were a shade above the lows in many cases.

NIGHT COUGHS

YOUR CHILD'S coughing at night—caused by throat "tickles" or irritation, mouth breathing, or a cold—can often be prevented by rubbing the throat and chest with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime.

VAPORU'S SWIFT poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, clears air passages, tends to stop mouth breathing, and invites healing, restful sleep. Try it.
