FRANCE MAY USE CONVOYS TO DEFEAT BLOCKADE

SOVIET TROOPS ASSUME POSTS ON FRONTIERS

Take Up Positions Along Black Sea And Caspian

PREPARE TO FACE GERMAN FORCES

Action Interpreted as Movement To Make Sure Of Soviet Defense If Germans Invade Turkey

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 10.—(AP)—Week-end advices to diplomatic quarters asserted that Soviet Russian troops were moving into positions along Turkey's eastern frontier between the Black sea and the Caspian, as a German troop thrust into Greece and perhaps Turkey was feared imminent.

At the same time, reports circulated that Yugoslavia would send its foreign minister to Berlin or to Berchtesgaden tomorrow to sign a friendship treaty with Germany.

This would mean Yugoslavia's definite alignment in the German sphere, but would not place the country in the same class with Rumania, Hungary, Slovakia and Bulgaria, as adherents to the military alliance of Germany, Italy and Japan.

The reports of Russian troop movements in the Caucasus, coinciding with the strengthening of Red army forces along the Prut river frontier of German-occupied Rumania, were said to reflect the Moscow government's desire to make sure of the Russian defenses if Germany should strike at Turkey.

M. A. Woolard, 81 Claimed By Death

M. A. Woolard, 81, died at his home in Stokes at 3:15 o'clock this morning after a lingering illness. Funeral services will be conducted from the home tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock by Rev. Gilbert Davis, pastor of the Stokes Christian church, assisted by Rev. Danie Boone, pastor of the Stokes Methodist church. Burial will follow in the Woolard family cemetery near Stokes.

Mr. Woolard was born, reared and spent his entire life in the Stokes community and was one of the most prosperous farmers in Pitt county. In 1879 he married Mary Virginia Moore, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Worrell Moore of Pitt county who died April 12 1897. From this union five children survive: J. N. and K. S. Woolard of Greenville; H. W. and A. L. Woolard of Stokes and Mrs. W. P. DeBold of Richmond, Va. In 1899 he married Allie Rollins Bullock of Pitt county daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rollins, who is still living. Other survivors are eight grandchildren, five great-grandchildren one brother, S. T. Woolard of Robertsonville, two sisters, Mrs. Mollie Rawls of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. C. J. Harris of Greenville, and one step-son, W. J. Bullock of Ayden. Mr. Woolard was a member of the Stokes Christian church.

The active pallbearers will be J. B. Congleton, G. W. Roebuck, Ervin Cherry, Henry Whitehurst, J. I. Gray, and B. I. Fleming. The male members of the Christian and Methodist churches of Stokes will serve as honorary pallbearers.

Tribunal Refuses To Review Ruling

Washington, March 10.—(AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review a decision holding unconstitutional legislation which authorized a state to collect unemployment compensation assessments from small companies under the same ownership or control if their combined employment totalled eight or more persons.

More than 30 states were said by the Indiana Unemployment Compensation Board to have passed such legislation in an effort to prevent evasion of the assessment by splitting companies into small units. The Indiana board sought to review a decision by the State Supreme Court holding that legislation passed by Indiana was an unreasonable discrimination prohibited by the federal constitution.

The Supreme Court said today that the review was denied for the "want of a final judgment."

Fascist Editor Declares British Aid Bill Is Move To Involve U. S. In War

Assembly Kept Busy In Three Monday Sessions

Bill Would Require State to Maintain More Roads

Raleigh, March 10.—(AP) The House got a new bill today to require the Highway and Public Works Commission to maintain streets and roads in residential sub-divisions just as it maintains secondary highways.

Rep. Whitener of Gaston, the introducer, said the measure was primarily intended to help residents in textile areas who live outside the limits of incorporated municipalities on streets or roads not designated as highways.

The representatives passed upwards of 40 local bills quickly at their morning session. The Monday morning meeting was the first such for the 1941 legislature, who are pressing for an adjournment sine die this week. Monday's sessions have been at night and only a few committee meetings have been held on Mondays previously, but today was a day for regular work.

At 2:30 this afternoon advocates of the McGowan bill to order a state-wide referendum in November on returning the state to prohibition except for medicinal liquor was heard by the House Finance Committee. Opponents of the bill may be heard tomorrow.

The Senate met at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the House at 4 o'clock for its second gathering of the day. The plan was for each division also to meet tonight.

Two New Recruits In Home Guard Unit

Captain Arthur B. Corey of the Pitt County Home Guard announced today that the City-County Armory would be open tomorrow night, beginning at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of receiving applicants for enlistment in the unit.

Capt. Corey today also announced two more men had enlisted in the service, bringing to 13 the total having enlisted to date. A minimum of 45 men is required.

Japan Abandons East Indies Aims

Batavia, Netherlands, East Indies, March 10.—(AP)—The belief prevailed in qualified neutral circles today that Japan has temporarily abandoned plans for economic penetration of the East Indies.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Home Guard is invited to go to the armory tomorrow night, at which time officers will be present to explain the organization and accept applications.

In actual negotiations, however, they reported these subjects have been narrowed so they fall within the limits of present Netherlands East Indies laws which preclude special privileges for any country.

Consequently the talks were reported as proceeding smoothly. Well posted observers believe that Japan will concentrate for the time being on Thailand and French Indo-China.

All Bicycle Delivery Boys Called To Meet

Chief of Police George Clark today called attention to the meeting to be held at the Municipal building court room tonight at 7:30 o'clock, at which time bicycle safety rules will be discussed by Albert Blanton, safety campaign director and urged all delivery boys to attend.

Chief Clark declared that employees of delivery boys, both white and colored, were urged to encourage their employees to attend the conference since it would prove beneficial.

Safety measures, as well as rules and regulations governing the operation of bicycles, will be discussed by Mr. Blanton.

Gayda Asserts Measure is Open Intervention Which May Eventually Bring Disagreeable Surprises To England And the U.S.; No Comment On Senate Passage From Official Berlin Sources

Rome, March 10.—(AP) Virginio Gayda, Fascist editorial spokesman, declared today that the British aid bill was "open intervention in the war against the Axis" which eventually may bring into play the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact "with many disagreeable surprises to England and the United States in the Pacific."

"Isolated in its elementary reality," he declared, "Roosevelt's gesture is a deliberate unprovoked move toward war."

He called it a violation of the Hague convention on the rights and duties of a neutral and said: "So President Roosevelt voluntarily and publicly takes the United States out of the neutrality which has already been much violated in the past months and renews Wilson's war-like policy, afterward disapproved by the Senate."

"No excuse may be claimed for the change to the figure of a new aggressor which Roosevelt is preparing to attribute to the United States, dragging their people into an adventure which they do not seek and on which they have not been called to express an opinion under the sacred principles of democracy."

In Berlin, authorized sources said passage of the British aid bill by the United States Senate Saturday caused no surprise at the Wilhelmstrasse.

There was no official German comment, however, and it was indicated there would be none until the bill becomes law.

In Washington, final congressional action on the British aid bill appeared to be a matter of hours and informed persons considered it possible that the vast supply of war materials thereby made available to Britain would start moving across the Atlantic within a few days.

Eight Persons Tried In City Court Today

Eight defendants were tried at the regular Monday morning session of Municipal recorder's court, five of them being charged with drunk-driving.

Cases tried follow: Howard Belcher, colored, larceny, not guilty; Johnnie White, colored, drunk and down, 30 days work on city streets, suspended upon payment of costs; Clarence Covil, colored, drunk, 30 days on streets or pay costs; LeRoy Smith, colored, damaging personal property, 30 days on streets and payment of one dollar weekly for three weeks for damage to automobile; Roosevelt Jones, colored, drunk, 30 days on roads or pay the costs; Robert Harrington, colored, drunk, 30 days on streets; C. D. Owens, drunk and disorderly and trespass, 30 days or $5 fine and costs; Levi Walters, assault on a female, 60 days, suspended upon good behavior for one year.

Position Is Resigned By Mrs. J. B. Spilman

The resignation of Mrs. J. B. Spilman of this city as member of the North Carolina Unemployment Compensation Commission was announced by the governor's office in Raleigh Saturday night.

Mrs. Spilman was appointed for a two-year term by Gov. Ehringhaus and later was named for a four-year term by Gov. Hoyer.

The resignation of Chairman Charles G. Powell was announced at the same time as that of Mrs. Spilman. Both positions pay $5,500 yearly.

FUNDS TO RUSH AID TO BRITAIN WILL BE ASKED

Request Expected To Be Made By FDR Wednesday

LEND-LEASE BILL TO GO TO HOUSE

Lower Branch Slated To Take Up Measure Tomorrow, with Approval Expected By Nightfall

Washington, March 10.—(AP)—A prompt presidential request for funds to speed aid to Britain under the lend-lease program was forecast at the White House today by legislative leaders.

After conferring with President Roosevelt, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, and Vice-President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn said:

"The President probably on Wednesday, if the bill is signed tomorrow night, will send up some estimates. They will be for cash and contract authorizations."

Rayburn said the amounts to be included were discussed with the President, but that he could say nothing about them.

The congressional leaders said that the bill, as passed by the Senate Saturday night, would be called up in the House tomorrow for final approval and sent to the White House by nightfall.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, held reporters that he thought Mr. Roosevelt would sign the bill "some time Wednesday unless we hit a snag not now foreseen."

The request for the appropriation, Rayburn said, will probably be sent in the form of a letter from the President to him.

Informed persons considered it probable that the vast supply of war materials made available to Britain by the bill would start moving across the Atlantic within a few days.

PITT GROWING BALE TO ACRE

Among Counties Reporting Best Cotton Record

Raleigh, March 10.—A dozen bales-to-an-acre cotton counts were reported today in a final cotton review issued by the State Department of Agriculture.

The banner counties, reporting production of a bale or more to the acre, are: Camden, Chowan, Cleveland, Currituck, Gates, Hertford, Martin, Northampton, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Pitt and Wilson.

North Carolina's 1940 cotton crop was valued at $35,150,000, or about 61 per cent above 1939.

Adding the value of cotton seed, estimated at $7,370,000, to the value of cotton lint, the total value of last year's crop was placed at $42,520,000 and given the rank of number 2 among the State's cash crops, reports W. T. Wesson, junior statistician of the Department.

The 1940 cotton yield of 425 lbs. per acre eclipsed the 1911 all-time record by 83 pounds, while production totaled 740,000 bales from 833,000 acres.

"Production was about 62 per cent above 1939 and 12 per cent above the 10-year (1929-1938) average," Wesson added. "The 1940 production increase was due mainly to the large increase in acreage and yields throughout the eastern part of the State."

"For the 41 coastal counties, the average per acre yield last season was 447 pounds of lint compared with only 235 pounds in 1939. Yield increases were accompanied by an increased acreage of 73,675, resulting in a 126 per cent larger production in coastal counties compared with 1939."

12 Firemen Killed As Theatre Roof Collapses

Snow-Laden Roof Of New York Movie House Caves In

Brockton, Mass., March 10.—(AP)—Twelve firemen were killed and 16 injured early today when the snow-laden roof of the 30-year-old Strand theatre collapsed during a fire which destroyed the building.

Bodies were recovered from a smouldering mass of metal, wood and plaster.

Approximately 25 men were trapped when the roof over the theatre balcony caved in with a terrific roar.

Hundreds of Sunday night moviegoers had left the theatre less than two hours before the fire.

Trapped firemen screamed as flames licked at their hands and faces while they were caught in the debris.

A Catholic priest, the Rev. Lawrence Morrison, borrowed a fireman's helmet and rubber coat and went into the burning building to administer last rites to the dying and most seriously injured.

Air Defense Plan Is Discussed Here

Lieut. Harold Kuppinger of the Air Defense Command, conferred here today with J. H. Rose on the Voluntary Aircraft Warning program being inaugurated. Mr. Rose has charge of the district embracing the territory between Wilmington and Oxford.

The two conferred on possible locations of observation posts and later a meeting of all district chiefs will be called to plan for a test to be conducted this month and extensive maneuvers, possibly in June.

The area under the command of the following districts: First, Jerome Flora of Elizabeth City, chief, embracing Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden, Currituck and Dare; Second, Frank Miller, chief embracing Tyrrell, Washington, Beaufort and Hyde; Third, Capt. Tom C. Daniels, New Bern, chief embracing Craven, Wayne and Carteret; Fourth, J. G. Modry, Rich Square, district chief, embracing Gates, Hertford, Bertie, Martin and Northampton; Fifth, Arthur B. Corey, Greenville, chief, embracing Pitt, Edgecombe, Halifax, Nash, Greene, Wilson and Lenoir; Eighth, Perry H. Rose, Henderson, chief embracing Franklin, Warren, Vance, Granville and Person counties.

No More Pitt Court Here Until April 1st

No more Pitt county court will be held until Tuesday, April 1 Judge Dink James having gone to Florida for a vacation.

Court Clerk E. F. Tucker said in making the announcement that the County court docket was not congested and unless a large number of cases were docketed during the remainder of the month the tribunal could soon catch up with its work upon resuming hearings.

No Let Up Is Indicated By Britain

Vichy Government Informs American Press Representative That French Food Ships Will Be Convoyed Unless the British Blockade Is Discontinued; Declares Germans Are More Generous

Vichy, France, March 10. (AP)—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan informed American press representatives today that French ships would be convoyed if the British blockade of France continued.

Darlan who with Chief of State Marshal Philippe Petain and Secretary of Food Supplies Jean Achard, called the press conference declared:

"If the British continue this blockade which I consider imbecile, I will be obliged to ask permission to provide armed protection for our merchantmen. I will let nothing stand in the way of the French people's eating."

"The Germans are more generous and more comprehensive of the needs of humanity than the English."

Petain said the Germans had released 220,400 tons of wheat which had been requisitioned for the German army.

Darlan said he considered the blockade against Germany useless and declared he had told that to U. S. Ambassador Admiral William Leahy last night.

A few boatloads of wheat will not affect the outcome of the war, he said.

In London, the British intimated they would continue to force their sea blockade regardless of any protection for French merchantmen.

Flight Instructor Visits City Today

With the Civil Pilots Training program expected to get under way here with 20 students within a few days, a second flight instructor, E. F. Pullen of Rocky Mount, visited the city today.

He will return Friday to make his home. He was here today looking for a house as he plans to move his family to this city.

Pilot Cameron McLaren arrived in the city last week. The two men, one for each 10 students, will conduct the flight instruction at the local airport.

Henry Clark Bridgers of Tarboro U. S. Naval Reserve flight instructor, has been secured to conduct the classroom work to be carried on at East Carolina Teachers College, which institution already has secured a plane and other equipment for instruction work.

Horace M. Barnes, who will conduct the program under contract with the city, expected to arrive here with planes within a day or so.

Treaty Scheduled Be Signed Tuesday

Tokyo, March 10.—(AP)—Formal intialling of the peace agreement settling the border dispute between French Indo-China and Thailand is scheduled to take place at Premier Purnanara Konye's official residence at 4 p. m. (2 a. m. EST) tomorrow, informed sources reported today.

French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry conferred with Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka for 90 minutes today, after which some observers said some modifications in the phrasing of the agreement were likely. The exact nature of these remained undisclosed.

The leader of the team, Charles McAdams, was introduced by Miss Rebecca Ross, president of the Y. M. C. A. of East Carolina Teachers College, and he introduced the other members.

The topic of the evening was "The Four-Fold Life," a life of worship, love, work and play.

Selby Kornegay gave the part that worship plays in life, stressing mainly the ways of leading ourselves to prayerful attitudes.

Work in life was discussed by Jacob Tinga. In his talk Tinga gave examples of work, ranging from drudgery to exuberance, and its results.

"Love is the driving force of the world today. It draws people together. Although there are many kinds of love, each kind contains comradeship." These were the statements of Bill Karney in his talk on the part love plays in life.

The last talk was on the part that play takes in the four-fold life. This was given by Charles McAdams. "Play is an escape from dull moments. In it we have to learn to give and take," stated McAdams.

The All-American Front

In all this "war of the nerves" as it is sometimes called, almost anyone with his wits about him has become increasingly aware of the great need for the Americas to stand with a united front. Even of more importance is the need for all the countries of North America to be of one mind. And no one can hope to realize the significance of Latin America in terms of the United States without a thorough understanding of these neighbors to the South, of what makes them go, and where they are going.

Library News

The All-American Front

In keeping with the same thought the "All-American Front," by Duncan Aikman, has just been added to the large group of today-minded books that are attracting a great deal of attention at the Sheppard Memorial Library. This book (a Hemisphere Defense Edition) is a realistic, readable and well-informed appraisal of our southern neighbors, and what they mean to us in the matter of Western Hemisphere defense. It contains valuable information that may be desperately necessary to us in the near future, when Latin America may hold the key to the military safety and political independence of this hemisphere.

Warehouses May Handle All Scrap Tobacco Sales

By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, March 7 — A senate committee yesterday reported favorably a substitute bill for the one introduced some days ago by Lanier of Greenville removing the tax on sales of scrap tobacco. The substitute provides for removal of the special tax of $250 for scrap dealers, but restricts future purchases of scrap tobacco to regularly operating tobacco warehouses...

terly to achieve its aim, which was elimination of scrap tobacco from the market. To the contrary, the effect has been to restrict competition and create a virtual monopoly.

As result of that condition, tobacco farmers in North Carolina suffered loss of some $200,000 last year in discrepancy between prevailing prices in this and neighboring state for the same grade of scrap tobacco. This has hit with particular force the tenant farmers in tobacco areas, said Senator Lanier, since a majority of the scrap sales are made by tenants.

Attending the committee hearing were some two dozen warehousemen and farmers, who joined with Senator Lanier and Watson in working out the compromise agreed on.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE UNDERLYING PRINCIPLE
of a person sailing through life
is to keep his head above water and his hands busy. He would do well if he were only for a moment
and ponder his spiritual inadequacy.
On the other hand, there are people
— and many of them sincerely trying to do their best — who are constantly afflicted with a sense of guilt and unworthiness.

The gospel message strikes between these two groups. It maintains that there is no uncertain ground. It is a sinner, and being a sinner is in danger of condemnation and judgment. But it also states very clearly that there is no condemnation for those who believe about his sin. The charter of Christianity is that there is no sin too bad for Jesus Christ to save. Those who worry about their sins should remember this. The Bible is a book of promises, and God's expectation is that we will accept those promises at their face value and act upon them. The promise of all promises is the promise of forgiveness. It is our greatest need, and it is also God's greatest gift.

This then is the principle: none too good that they can do without Christ; none so bad that He cannot save them.

A FATAL STEP FOR FRANCE

Despite France's threat to use French battleships to break the British blockade if necessary in order to bring supply ships to the French shores, we still agree with the British refusal to grant
ex-President Hoover's request that ships carrying supplies to France be permitted through the blockade.
England and the rest of us know that sending supplies
to any of the Nazi-dominated countries will prove a benefit to Hitler in his war efforts and will further endanger England, and considered from this angle, we do not blame England one bit for the stand she is taking in this matter. If France undertakes to use her navy to force her way through the British blockade she is definitely aligning herself on the side of Hitler, regardless of her intentions, and must then be treated as an Axis ally. It is to be hoped that Marshall Petain's government will give serious consideration to the final consequences before taking such a fatal step.

GOD GIVE US A MAN

(Morning World-Herald, Omaha, Nebraska)

We pay tribute of admiration to Senator Bailey of North Carolina, one of the few very able members of the Senate.
He has utterly changed
his mind about the war and the attitude of the United States toward it. He frankly admits it and tells why. Little more than a year ago he declared it is a European

Monster Of The Deep

war, not our war, and that there was nothing to justify our getting into it.

Now he advocates intervention. It may mean he admits that we shall have to fight. He admits there is no assurance of victory. The lease-lend bill is a reverse of the neutrality policy he favored. But he supports it now, because "I am ready if intervention does mean war."

And—
"If anyone asks me what we are going to do when Japan and Germany declare war upon us I am going to tell them we are going to fight to the last man, to the last dollar, to the last drop of blood, and I think they ought to know it."

There, is the answer to the prayer, "God give us men!"

Josiah Bailey is a man. He has the courage to change
his mind, the courage to accept the consequences of his convictions, the courage to be perfectly candid with the people. He plasters no sugar-coating over a dangerous situation. He does not paint his policy as meaning something it does not mean. He has reached the conclusion Hitler must be resisted "to the last drop of blood" if necessary, our own blood included. So he supports the lease-lend bill.

Whether agreeing or dis-
agreeing with such a man,
you must respect him.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — For all of us who have been sweating over federal income tax returns (and there are more of us this year than ever before), here is some consolation from the men who make the laws.
It happened in the House of Representatives the other day when the discussion had turned to taxes and appropriations, and what might be needed in the overall 1941-42 fiscal year budget in way of revenues. It was Rep. Jere Cooper, the one-time Dyersburg, Tenn. city attorney, who paved the way when he said:
"The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Rep. Robert P. Rich) has made out his income tax, and I am sure he has had the same experience I have had. He will find that the Revenue Act of 1940 has already provided a substantial increase in taxes."

M.C. Can't Understand.
It was then that Congressman Rich tossed off consoling words to all who burned midnight oil trying to figure out just what we owe Uncle Sam.
He said:
"I may say that I had an income tax man make mine out because I could not understand it, and I may say further that pretty nearly every member of the Ways and Means Committee (the committee that handles the tax bills) will have to go down there and have this man

More Fishing

Senator Gay offered Saturday a bill permitting trap fishing in certain parts of the Roanoke river.
Someone asked him if the conservation department approved of his bill. He replied that he had no idea what they thought about it. Then he was asked if departmental regulations now permitted such fishing. With a very Chesterfieldian bow, the senator replied that "if so, I would not be bothering the senate with this bill."

State Manuals Enlarged

The 1941 edition of the State Manual, the year book published every two years showing the state government set up, biographic
sketches of officials and members of the legislature, is greatly enlarged this time. It includes much information not heretofore embodied in the publication. A further personal touch was made in printing the names of the governor and the members of the general assembly on their individual copies. Man-uals were distributed to legislators Saturday. Other folks will get theirs this week. Edited for years by the late Henry Long, the manual this year is produced by the office of the secretary of state.

Split The Pay

Governmental red tape is often bothersome, but in some instances it is a protection to the public treasury. A little matter of how the $200 due a senator should be divided between Dr. Long, who died some weeks ago, and Senator Travis who succeeded him, requires a special act of the legislature. Under terms of that act the widow of Dr. Long gets the pay up to the time Senator Travis qualified for the seat,
and the new senator gets the rest.

Chapter 29

So Near

Roger felt he had never walked up so many stairs in his life. The Rugby flat, he found, was on the sixth floor. He had to climb as he knocked on the door. His heart lifted with a sort of eager fear. He was sure as he stood there in the shabby hall that he caught the faint scent of Lovely's perfume. She must be behind that door! Within the time it took to open a door she would be in his arms again — arms that ached to strain her to his heart.
But no sound came from behind the closed door. He knocked again, more loudly. Still no response. Finally he called and banged on the door so wildly a neighbor poked a head out of the opposite door.
"Ain't nobody home there," the woman said shortly and was about to close the door when she paused.
It wasn't often a man so well dressed and groomed knocked on a door
in that tenement.
"Have they company, do you know? House guest I mean?" Roger asked.
"No," the woman smiled pityingly,
as if she thought he should know better. "No one around here has company. Hard enough to feed themselves, without asking other mouths in!"
Roger felt his heart turning slowly to granite as he walked downstairs. Lovely must, he thought, have been behind that door. And she wouldn't come out to see him. It was raining hard and cold wind
cut through the street like a knife.
No one would go out on such a day.
No one but himself on a love-mad
quest.
His car had just pulled away from the curb and a truck, huge and high, had fallen into line behind it when Lovely turned the corner
walking against the driving wind.
Up To Lovely
It was dark when Roger finally left the friends he had gathered during the day in one drinking place after another. And he was sentimental. A trace maudlin.
He drove home, thinking a thousand and aching thoughts. O the night in Mexico, coming north from their honeymoon when the scent of orange blossoms hung in the soft air like a benediction.
When Lovely came home with Getta sweet and laughing and gay. When she saved little Midnight at the expense of a favorite suit and a party.
Could that girl have sat behind that door laughing at him? The only answer he could think of was "No."
He stopped for dinner at the Stattamus Club. He felt unequal to facing Marcia and Kar. But by the time he reached home he had steel-ed himself.
Marcia and Kar had gone out but Emily, hearing his car, called to him as he passed her room. She stared at him a moment and then stepped back from him in distaste.
"Roger, you've been drinking!"
"What if I have?" he demanded.
"This is no time to charge me with it! A little softness and gaiety is what I could do with!" He moved toward her as if about to put his arms around her.
"Roger!" Rebuke sharp in the word. Emily stepped back still further from him.
"Afraid of me! And you thought you loved me once!" He brushed past her, and went to his room.
Sunday morning was clear but cold. Roger was at breakfast when Emily appeared in the dining room.
His face was set and stern, but he swayed as he got up to leave.
"I was pretty bad last night, Emily," he apologized. "I'm sorry."
Emily was a bit stricken as she said: "It's all right, Roger."
And Roger was aware that Lovely would have laughed at him, made a face at him. But with Emily his wrong still hung between them like a curtain. That's the way it would always be with Emily. There would be another curtain and another until they could barely see each other through them.
Marcia and Kar came in.
"Lovely getting her beauty sleep?"

And Avoid Loss Due to Counterfeits

TO THE AMERICAN PUBLIC:
The United States Secret Service and your police wish you to KNOW YOUR MONEY, and through this nation-wide educational program aim to suppress the major crime of counterfeiting.

Observance of these few simple rules will safeguard the pocketbooks of the Nation. Therefore, I urge every person to carefully study the rules and to follow them.

The United States Secret Service is grateful for the whole-hearted cooperation which it has always enjoyed from your police officers, and we now solicit the assistance of every American citizen in this effort to prevent crime through this modern method of education, instead of the age-old method of prosecutions and imprisonment.

Chief, U. S. Secret Service.

HOW TO DETECT COUNTERFEIT BILLS

1. KNOW YOUR MONEY!

2. COMPARE the suspected bill with a genuine of the same type and denomination. Observe carefully the following features:

- (a) PORTRAIT: Genuine is lifelike; stands out from oval background which is a fine screen of regular lines; notice particularly the eyes. The counterfeit is dull, smudgy, or unnaturally white; scratchy; background is dark with irregular and broken lines.
- (b) SEAL: On genuine, sawtooth points around rim are identical and sharp. On counterfeit, sawtooth points are usually different; uneven; broken off.
- (c) SERIAL NUMBERS: Genuine have distinctive style; firmly and evenly printed; same color as seal. Counterfeit, style different; poorly printed; badly spaced; uneven in appearance.
- (d) PAPER: Genuine bills are printed on distinctive paper containing very small red and blue silk threads.

3. RUBBING a bill will NOT prove whether it is genuine or counterfeit; ink will rub off of either.

4. REMEMBER—NOT ALL STRANGERS ARE COUNTERFEITERS, BUT ALL COUNTERFEITERS ARE LIKELY TO BE STRANGERS.

TYPES OF CURRENCY

The only three types of currency printed by the United States Government for circulation are:

- FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES, which bear GREEN serial numbers and seal.
- UNITED STATES NOTES, which bear RED numbers and seal.
- SILVER CERTIFICATES, which bear BLUE numbers and seal.

PORTRAITS

Denominations of bills may be identified by portraits, as follows:

WASHINGTON	on all $1.00 bills
JEFFERSON	on all $2.00 bills
LINCOLN	on all $5.00 bills
HAMILTON	on all $10.00 bills
JACKSON	on all $20.00 bills
GRANT	on all $50.00 bills
FRANKLIN	on all $100.00 bills

Lovely thought, strangely, of that woman in Acapulco known as Amalia Lily, and the way in which she had assumed authority over her. Could it be that Gert was thinking of how their own parents had deserted them, and could there be any connection between Lily and Gert's thought? Or was she merely wool-gathering, distract from too much worry?

Lovely was thoughtful as she started back to the Hulse's. It was true that her sister had been old enough when the family broke up to know something about it all. And she knew that somehow she did not fit the background against which she walked. Dingy buildings along a dingy street. Undernourished, pale children going through the motions of something they called play. Some of the children even stopped dodging trucks long enough to look at her in wonder. # Farm Aid, Exactly Eight Years Old, Remains A Billion-Dollar Business

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington — American agriculture notes a landmark date on March 8 — the eighth anniversary of the "revolution" in government aid to the farmer.

On March 8, 1933, while debt desperate farmers were rioting over mortgage foreclosures, dumping milk and battling representatives of the law, President Roosevelt sent out a call for a national conference of farm leaders.

At that conference, major farm organizations joined in recommending unprecedented action by the government to meet the agricultural emergency. Two months later, the Congress enacted the first Agricultural Adjustment Act providing for crop acreage reduction and benefit payments to farmers.

Wheat supplies are only slightly less than those of '32 but the wheat farmer in 1940 was getting an average price of 65 cents a bushel compared with 38 cents in 1932.

Cash income from farm products had dropped from $11,221,000,000 in 1929 to $5,278,000,000 in 1933. In 1940 it was $8,328,000,000, near the 1937 peak.

Increasing surpluses may lead to an expansion this year of governmental control over production and marketing. For the first time the Department of Agriculture is planning to invoke strict marketing quotas on wheat and corn. If the growers vote approval, farmers would be required to limit sales and feedings to repayment allotments or pay penalty taxes.

Meanwhile, the farm revolt had reached a climax in conservative, agriculturally-rich Iowa. A crowd of 100 Hawkeye farmers dragged a district judge from his courtroom, put a rope around his neck and threatened to lynch him when he refused to swear he would sign no more foreclosures.

Nearly 4 Billion Paid. A few months later, a flood of Uncle Sam's money began pouring into rural mail boxes. These benefit payments amounted to $131,000,000 in 1933, soared to a top of $807,000,000 in 1939 and totaled $766,000,000 last year. For the eight years the grand total of government payments to farmers is $3,860,000,000.

The "new deal" in agriculture stirred a storm of controversy. Critics said the tremendous subsidies eventually would bankrupt the nation. Others charged that farmers were being regimented by a government moving toward a "dictated collectivism." There still are reverberations of the political battle over Uncle Sam's "massacre of the pigs."

Some farmers voiced resentment at what they termed governmental interference with their business, while others expressed concern over the national debt. Acreage reductions and marketing quotas, however, were approved by huge majorities of farmers in referendums.

When the Supreme Court in 1936 invalidated the processing tax and production control provisions of the first AAA, there was an abrupt shift in the farm program. Congress enacted the soil conservation and Domestic Allotment Act providing for payments to farmers for replacing soil-depleting with soil-conserving crops.

The "Ever-Normal" Granary. The droughts of 1934 and 1935 nearly wiped out crop surpluses but with the return of good weather in 1937 coupled with an increased acreage following the killing of the first AAA — aggregate production of 53 leading crops reached an all-time high.

Came the second AAA with its "ever-normal granary" program for storing surpluses and parity payments to producers of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco. Soil conservation was continued and crop insurance was provided for wheat.

Some progress was being made in reducing surpluses of major crops when the war and the European blockade came along to knock the bottom out of the farm export market.

The surplus bugaboo now is about as bad in cotton and wheat as it was when the "farm aid revolution" began. Despite a cut from 38,494,000 acres in cotton in 1932 to 23,000,000 acres in 1940, last year's supplies of 23,200,000 bales exceeded those of 1932 by about 700,000 bales.

WHAT IT MEANS HITLER IN BULGARIA

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington — Germany's march into Bulgaria convinces military observers here that Hitler has decided to discount Mussolini about 100 per cent, and himself take up the task of deceiving Britain's forces in the Near East.

It has been more or less an open secret here that German respect for Italian arms has never been too high. There was laughing up sleeves when Field Marshal Goering spent much "vacation" time in Italy a couple of years ago, before the war started.

It was assumed the marshal was trying to figure out whether the Italian military forces could perform their appointed task of deceiving large British forces into the Mediterranean zone and holding them there, while Germany attacked the British Isles.

The Italians themselves have long assumed that the first task of their navy was decoy work. During the demonstration of Italian destroyers a few years ago for military attaches, the Italian commanders put on a burst of speed, and exclaimed: "You see, nothing will ever be able to catch us."

Up until this winter, the Italians had been highly successful as decoys. They had lured heavy British forces of from a quarter to a half-million troops, fully equipped down into the African deserts. They had kept nearly one-third of the British fleet in the Mediterranean — including four battleships, possibly six, several airplane carriers, cruisers — and many destroyers badly needed to convoy merchant ships off Ireland.

So long as Mussolini served as a decoy, he served well the grand axis strategy as conceived by Hitler. Since long before the war, this strategy has consisted of scattering the strength of Hitler opponents. The axis idea was dedicated to that job, and its extension to include Japan definitely furthered the effort to divert British — and American — opposition to Hitler.

But so superior was the showing of British land, sea and air forces in the Mediterranean during the winter, that Hitler's grand strategy the adult reading room last Monday evening. ## GREENVILLE HI NEWS

By SIDNEY JOHNSON

On Their Merry Way! By now 14 members of the staff of "Green Lights," school paper have reached New York City. The group left yesterday morning for a week's stay in New York to attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention. They spent last night in Baltimore. This is the fifth year "Green Lights" has been represented at the convention.

Members of the staff who are making the trip are: J. Hicks Corey, Troy Riddle, Jack Edwards, Larry James, Tom Williams, Snag Clark, Ollie Clark, James Register, Herbert Lee, Bernice Jenkins, J. B. Kirtrell, Edgar Denton, Bill Turner and John Collins. Oh, yes, they are chaperoned by Mr. Mulholland and Mrs. June Rose.

Dramatics The Dramatics class of senior high went to the college to hear their voices recorded. The senior high class gave readings from "The Ancient Mariner" and skits from the contest play.

The purpose of this is to show the difference between a person's voice when he first joins the dramatics class and now. Senior High Assembly Last Friday's assembly for the senior high school offered a variety of entertainment for the students. Two comedy skits, "If Shakespeare Were Writing Today," with Ralph Hunter and Margaret Jones directed by Virginia Simpson, and "Mr. and Mrs.," with Charlene Moyer and Charles Pace, directed by Carlton Wilson, were presented.

A semi-classical piano selection was rendered by J. N. Williams while Edna Earle Corbett offered a little swing music. A selection was sung by Elizabeth Bridgers, accompanied by Jennie C. Joyner. Frances Glass and Katherine Youngblood each rendered a dancing selection. Shirley Warner acted as master of ceremonies.

The program was sponsored by Miss Hasket's home room.

RED OAK NEWS

The candy sale sponsored by the Woman's Council of the Christian Church last week was a great success from every point of view. Messdames John Billy and Hazard May, Clyde Bright, N. O. Hodges, Bill Manning, Tom Manning, Jaybird Edwards, Travis Crawford, H. R. Allen, L. Tyson, Misses Frances Allen, Louise Edks and Messrs. Tom Manning, Hazard May and Billy May, and Master Don Manning met at the community building at ten o'clock. The ladies cooked the candy and the men waited on them. At noon a most delicious dinner was spread upon the table. Hot coffee added to its enjoyment. By four o'clock, the candy was done and some was delivered. We wish to take this opportunity to thank all those good people in and around Greenville who helped us so much by buying this candy.

Thank you, Miss Rose Ellwood Bryan for the write-up you gave our club in "Seeing Through My Windshield" and for a most enjoyable and informative evening spent with you as our Home Demonstration agent. It was a lovely meeting we had the clean, new home of a new member of our club, Mrs. C. S. Hunter. Soft lights, spring flowers and anticipation of seeing Miss Bryan made this one of our most outstanding meetings. After the meeting a lovely plate lunch with hot coffee, carrying out the St. Patrick's motif, was served by the hostesses, Messdames J. J. Jenkins, H. R. Allen, F. L. Allen and C. S. Hunter to the thirty-five women present. We were so glad to have two new members join our club. They were Mrs. Wilson Ferrell and Mrs. Jarvis Causey.

Attention is called to the district meeting to be held in Columbia on May 15. Since your president is from Pitt county, it will make her feel mighty good to have a large delegation present from here. Plans are being discussed to secure a bus for the trip and this will be brought up at our next council meeting, which is March 15 in the Agricultural building.

The 4-H Club will meet at the community building on Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. We hope to have every member present. Mrs. C. S. Hunter entertained at three tables of bridge recently. Mrs. J. A. Clark won the prize for high score and Wilson Ferrell for Bingo. All members of the church board of Red Oak and any others interested in the affairs of the church are called to a meeting tonight at 7:30 at the church.

Colored News Child Credit Union The Child Credit Union will meet at the Pitt County Training school Tuesday, March 11, at 7:30 o'clock. The special meeting is called to acquaint the new officers with their duties.

FOR RENT—TO COUPLE OR TWO women, apartment, living room, bedroom and bath. Located near college. 402 Jarvis St., Dial 3475. 10-3t.

New York Cotton

New York, March 10.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 11 to 27 higher. Pressure was not heavy and noon values held 13 to 25 points higher.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, March 10.—(AP)—Forward leanings were the rule in today's stock market with steels and specialties favorites. Dealings turned somewhat apathetic after the opening, but near the fourth hour prices were higher by fractions to a point or so. The principal prop for bullish sentiment, brokers said, was the expectation the British aid bill would quickly become law and a touch of a further sharp outburst of defense spending.

Plan Demonstration At Two Pitt Schools

How long it takes to stop an automobile going at various speeds will be demonstrated for the students of Stokes at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning and for students of Grifton school tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. It was announced today by the principals of the two schools. Other interested persons are invited.

The demonstrations will be made by Harry M. Pontious, assistant safety director of the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies, with a specially-equipped automobile. Yellow bullets fired from revolvers mounted on the front bumper of the car show graphically how much time each driver requires to place his foot on the brake pedal and how far the car travels before coming to a full stop.

In operation the driver being tested is warned by the unexpected flashing of a red "stop" signal above the radiator of the car. The first gun marks the pavement at the spot the warning is sounded; a second gun marks the street where the brake pedal is first depressed, thus showing the driver's reaction time; and the third gun is fired when the car is stopped, showing the distance required for stopping.

After this meeting we hope to organize a Better Farm and Home Club through the agricultural evening class. All patrons are asked to be present. On Friday night, March 14, we are asking that all patrons living in and around Simpson, meet with us at 7:30 at the Simpson school, for the purpose of organizing a Better Farm and Home Club, through our agricultural evening class.

All people living in these communities are asked to be present. Through these meetings you can do your part in the present national defense program. K. MARTIN KEYES, Teacher of Voc. Agriculture.

GHS Journalists Now In New York

Fourteen Greenville High School journalists and Faculty Advisor V. M. Mulholland left early yesterday morning to attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in New York.

The convention opens at Columbia University Thursday, March 13, and the three-day session will be attended by the local delegates. In addition to the three days in attending meetings, the boys will go on several sight-seeing tours around New York.

This is the fifth consecutive year that Green Lights has been represented at Columbia. During this time, Green Lights has been awarded the first-place honor, rating three times and last year this paper received medalist honors, or a possible rating that any paper can earn.

The C. S. P. A. is designed to aid students in becoming better journalists. At the convention outstanding newsmen will offer suggestions.

Strenuous Week Is Ahead

If Assembly Ends Work

Reflector Bureau. By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, March 8.—Getting down to work early this afternoon, following a full day on the public calendar Saturday, legislative leaders are driving hard for sine die adjournment Saturday night. Attitude of most of the veterans toward this achievement might be called wishful rather than hopeful. Many of them see little probability of the session ending before the middle of next week.

With revenue and appropriation bills out of the way, with reappointment disposed of, albeit not very satisfactorily, and with most of the governor's "must" reorganizations either accomplished or on the way to certain passage within a day or two, there is no absolute bar to adjournment any time.

On the other hand there remain so many important public measures, and a whole flock of local bills of great importance to the several counties and communities in the state, that if these bills are given any sort of decent consideration the session will have to go over two or three days into next week.

On the program for this week are such matters as election of university trustees, House action on the Board of Education amendment, Finance committee of the House, and city extension bills, including the Volger state wide act and a dozen or more local measures, among them one specifically enlarging Raleigh and another making a general rule for extension of all municipalities in Wake county.

Set for special order in the House for tomorrow is consideration of the proposed constitutional amendment consolidating all of the public school agencies into one board of education. After a hectic passage back and forth from committees, with amendments being amended and votes being reconsidered, the bill passed the Senate. It provides for a consolidated board with an appointive member from each congressional district and the lieutenant governor, the state treasurer, and the superintendent of public instruction as ex-officio members. This board would handle the fiscal affairs of the schools. Fight was made in the Senate, and in the House committee, with the assurance that it will be carried to the floor, on the further provision that this comptroller when appointed must be approved by the state superintendent. An amendment to strike out that provision was defeated in House committee by a sort of fluke, but it will be vigorously contested on the floor. Business men do not want to give professional school men too much control of the school money. It is also apparent that considerable opposition is being engineered by other state officials who now constitute the board of education, and who will be left off the new board if it is approved by the people. Predictions are made by both advocates and opponents of the text of the bill as it left the Senate, that it will not get through the House without removing that approval clause. On the other hand, Supt. Clyde Erwin is quoted as saying that "it is either that clause or nothing." Indications are that the existing school central machinery will continue for at least another three years.

Perhaps the matter of keenest interest to members of the Assembly, though of relatively less consequence to the people of the state, is the forthcoming election of 30 trustees for the State University. A joint meeting of both houses will be held for this purpose early this week. Ordinarily rather a perfunctory activity, the trustee election this time moved up to place of first importance on legislative agenda after the committee meeting Thursday night.

Governor Broughton had requested that his campaign manager and present state chairman of the Democratic party, E. B. Denny, be placed in nomination. The committee, however, did not nominate Mr. Denny. Thereupon the governor requested another meeting of the committee, which was executive session, but at which it is understood the committee members stood pat.

Meantime Dr. Ralph McDonald, who claims major credit for having the name of David Clark of Charlotte placed on the list of committee nominees, got very busy having up support for Mr. Denny and Mrs. C. W. Tillett of Charlotte. His plan was to have them nominated from the floor in joint session. Some members, however, resented this activity on several grounds, one being the injection of partisan politics into the issue. It was pointed out that the committee left off the name of Irvin B. Tucker, prominent Republican and for many years a trustee, and substituted for him the name of K. Clyde Council of the same county, an avowed "Willkie Democrat." Unusual efforts to place Mr. Denny and Mrs. Tillett, both recognized partisan Democratic leaders, on the board when the nominating committee did not so place them, was frowned upon by a group of legislators who started a campaign of their own to stand by committee nominations. The election meeting is expected to be very interesting.

After two public hearings before the propositions and grievances committee of the House, which favored the bill by a 12-11 vote, the proposal for a state referendum on liquor, wine and beer was referred to the Finance committee. Another public hearing scheduled for Tuesday afternoon. It is expected, however, that it will be a quiet affair and that the committee will report the matter unfavorably. The United Dry Forces, led by E. B. Denny of Raleigh, will make a show of resisting such report but their heads will not be in it. Liquor revenues is worth some five million dollars to the state and twice that to the counties and cities.

The so-called "crash tax" bill, the proposal to add 50c to the cost of each license plate for hospitalization of automobile accident victims, which delayed action on the public calendar in the House for a day or so last week was finally tabled Saturday and cannot be brought back except by two-thirds vote—a virtual impossibility.

A bill by Senator Transou to remove the limit of $15 as a maximum sales tax to be paid on any purchase and make the 3 per cent apply to the total purchase of whatever amount, may occasion some debate. It would add considerable revenue, but will be vigorously opposed.

Bills pending in both Senate and House to restore absentee voting privileges in primaries to men away from home in military or naval service will also be strongly supported and vigorously opposed, if advance expressions indicate the way members will vote.
