British Desert Troops Engage Foes West Of Tobruk

CAIRO REPORTS CONTACT MADE

Battle-Wise Veterans Of Ebbing East African Campaign Aiding British Seeking To Halt Foes

Cairo, Egypt, April 12.—(AP)—British desert troops in Libya, reinforced by a flood of battle-wise veterans of the ebbing East African campaign, were reported engaged west of Tobruk today with the Axis divisions which Prime Minister Churchill has termed a threat to Egypt.

Throughout the 400-mile advance of Axis forces in the last three weeks the British have insisted they were merely withdrawing light covering forces to a concentration point where they could fight with "assurance of success."

Today it appeared this battle of Cirenaica would be fought on the rolling tableland between Tobruk and the Gebel el Achda. "The home grounds" for the British which know every water hole and gully in the area.

Beyond a terse official announcement that "our troops are in contact with the enemy west of Tobruk," no details of the British operations were disclosed. Tobruk is only 80 miles from the Egyptian border.

Cairo, Egypt, April 12.—(AP)—British and Australian air fighters destroyed or damaged nearly 100 vehicles in a panzer column of German and Italian transports in Libya, the Royal Air Force announced tonight.

Many casualties were caused, it was said. In a communiqué the British air force declared 16 German fighting planes definitely were destroyed on the ground and a bomber was destroyed as it was attempting to take off. The total toll of Axis aircraft was put at 21.

Persistency Wins For ABC Officers

After making three trips to a line still on Tranters creek, Pitt county ABC officers last night were finally successful in finding the operator at the plant.

Floyd Bonner, 40-year-old Beaufort county Negro, was found at the still, blowing on the fire under the kettle in an effort to get the blaze started.

Although the still was one of the smallest ever found on Tranters creek, officers continued to visit it in an attempt to get the operator rather than destroy it. The 40-gallon copper outfit, complete with coil and cap, was located in the Clark Neck section of Pitt county.

It was first located Thursday afternoon. The officers returned early Friday morning, hoping that the operator would be on the scene, since the 50 gallons of mash on the site was ready for distillation. When no one showed up, the officers left. They returned about 6 o'clock last night and found Bonner working on the fire.

The only way by which officers could get to the still was by a boat. Bonner was taken to Washington last night and given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Gray. The Negro was bound over to federal court under bond of $250.

Local officers were aided by L. B. Smithwick, Beaufort county ABC officer.

Prospects Bright For Better Yields

Raleigh, April 12.—(AP)—Shortage of farm labor and "better than average" prospects for yields of fruits and winter grains were reported today by Frank Parker, federal statistician with the State Department of Agriculture, in the April general crop summary.

Favorable weather during February and early March enabled farmers to complete practically all of their spring plowing at an earlier date than usual, Parker said.

Unseasonal low temperatures during most of March, however, held back all plant life, but a freeze damage was reported. As a result of recent rains and more favorable temperatures, pastures are now greening rapidly and fruit trees are blooming in most areas, Parker said.

Easter Weather

By The Associated Press
Weather prospects favor Easter parades in most sections of the nation. Unsettled in the south-east and midwest may get new hats wet in April showers, but most of the south, New England and part of the north Atlantic seaboard could expect generally fair and mild temperatures. The outlook was for clouds in the southwest and sunshine in the Rocky Mountains and war west.

The nation's capital made ready for an estimated 200,000 visitors at the annual cherry blossom festival. Despite sunny warm weather the Japanese blooms were tardy and may not be out in force until Wednesday.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who usually presides at the Easter Monday egg-rolling on the White House lawn, expects to be in Los Angeles and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, wife of the vice president, will act as hostess for the children.

WALLACE SAYS ALLIES TO WIN

Predicts British Victory With U.S. Material Aid

Winston-Salem, April 12.—(AP)—It is a "foregone conclusion" that Great Britain with the material aid of the United States will win the war, Vice President Henry A. Wallace said in a press conference here this morning.

The Vice President is in Winston-Salem to address the stockholders meeting of the Winston-Salem Federal Home Loan Bank tonight.

"The Germans just can't win," Wallace replied to the question, "Is the administration worried by the turn of events in Greece and in Africa?"

"In the very nature of things, in view of the lies and deceit of the Nazis, the Germans will fail," he said. "It is a question of time."

Necessity for cooperation now between labor and management was indicated by the vice president as he declared that "industry and labor must show vastly increased production during the next three months. With that increased production necessary materials may go to the embattled allies, he said.

"Our aid will have a profound effect on the psychology of the German leaders," Wallace said. "It will help to hold the Germans at bay through the summer and if they can be held through the summer the Allies are certain to win."

Birds Found Wedged In Pipes Of Organ

With a program calling for special Easter music having been arranged and with the organ out of order, members of the Sycamore Hill Baptist church, colored, called in S. Arthur, local organ maintenance man.

The repair man got busy and found two pipes were out of order. Continuing his work on these pipes Mr. Arthur found a full grown starling had become wedged in each of the pipes out of order.

The starlings were removed and now the congregation will be able to enjoy the Easter music program.

Taxation, Borrowing and Inflation

Babson Is Not Worried

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Tax returns and tax payments in March shattered all previous records. However, the taxes collectible this year will be far short of our requirements. Not only are our defense charges increasing rapidly; but the outlay of the civil departments of government has risen over $3,000,000,000 in the past ten years.

Opening Of Pathway To Suez Canal By President Evokes Questions Concerning Possible Search And Seizure, Or Even Attack, By Axis Raiders Seeking To Cut Off Supplies From Britain

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's opening of a pathway to Suez for American ships carrying war cargoes raised serious questions today concerning their possible search and seizure or even attack by Axis submarine or airplane raiders which might operate in that African fringe of the war.

By eliminating from the combat zone a narrow watery strip between Italian Somaliland and the Arabian post, the President opened a gateway for American vessels into the Gulf of Aden, the Red Sea and the Suez Canal. All have been closed to commerce since Italy's entrance into the war.

While the areas touched by that water route have been freed of actual warfare by British victories over the Italians or are neutral and non-belligerent, it was pointed out in informed quarters here that there would, nevertheless, be elements of danger for any American vessels plying that course, particularly if they carried war supplies for Britain, Yugoslavia or Greece.

Adolf Hitler has warned that every ship with or without convoy attempting to carry arms and munitions to aid the British would be sunk. At least one German pocket battleship has been reported raiding the routes from the United States to Suez. Axis planes reportedly have bombed ships in the Suez canal.

In Rome Stefani, Italian news agency, said that President Roosevelt's announcement opening the Red sea to United States ships was based on "one of his original, as well as arbitrary, interpretations of international law" evolving from a theory that Egypt is neutral.

PUTS LAWYER ON PROBATION

Abernethy Given Two Suspended 30-Day Sentences

Goldsboro, April 12.—(AP)—Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., New Bern lawyer, convicted of conspiracy to violate the election laws and attempting to interfere with Craven county election officials, was placed on probation for a period of five years today.

Judge Q. K. Nimocks of Fayetteville, presiding in Wayne Superior court, placed Abernethy on probation after first giving him 30-day suspended sentences on each of the two convictions.

Judge Nimocks said he thought Abernethy had been made to suffer much from "the humiliation of the trial."

The Wayne county jury convicted Abernethy last night after deliberating an hour and 25 minutes. Abernethy was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for Third District representative last year.

Anzacs Aiding In Battle Of Greece

Bristol, England, April 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today that "Australian and New Zealand troops may be in contact with the enemy today in the classic land of Greece, fighting with the sons of Britain and playing an important part in the universal drama."

He spoke in the bomb-scarred University of Bristol as the chancellor of the university invited United States Ambassador John Winant and the Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies with honorary degrees of doctor of laws. A similar degree was conferred in absentia on President Dr. James B. Conant of Harvard University. Despite last night's severe air raid, a large crowd assembled for the ceremony.

"It is indeed marvelous that Australian and New Zealand separated from us by vast ocean spaces should send their manhood and scatter their wealth under no law or constitution, bond or treaty, with thoroughness and efficiency which is not to be gained by a hard and rigid method upon which other empires have been constructed," Churchill said.

The prime minister toured bombed areas before the ceremony. Shaking hands with many grimy civil defense workers, worn by an all-night fight against air raiders, Churchill told them, "God bless you all. We will give it back to them."

The Hawaiian islands were originally named the Sandwich islands by Captain James Cook.

FORD SUCCESS HIGHLIGHT OF STRIKE FRONT

Sen. Norris, However, Warns of Congressional Move

BRANDS STRIKES AS UNJUSTIFIED

UAW International Asks Locals For Authority To Take Strike Vote In General Motors Plants

By The Associated Press
Prospective opening of the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant, largest industrial unit in the world, brightened the labor picture today, but Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.), still viewed the general problem seriously enough to warn that "drastic action" would come out of Congress unless "unjustified" strikes and "labor racketeering" are stopped.

Norris, co-author with Mayor LaGuardia of New York of the Norris-LaGuardia act limiting the rights of federal courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes, said in an open letter to his constituents that some local unions had resorted to "intimidation" in getting fees out of job applicants.

He, nevertheless, said that labor was being unfairly accused in connection with defense industry strikes.

Settlement of the Ford strike was described by Gov. Murray Van Wagoner of Michigan as "an historic step in establishing industrial peace in our country."

The great plant was expected to open again Monday. The plan for agreement calls for the return of employees to their jobs without discrimination, the re-establishment of grievance procedure and cooperation by both sides in holding an NLRB election for collective bargaining representation.

Meanwhile the United Automobile Workers International Union asked locals for authority to take a strike vote of 175,000 members in 76 General Motors plants.

The bituminous coal fields remained unmanned as southern operators quit the eight-state Appalachian conference in a dispute over terms of a new contract which would cover 325,000 workers seeking wage increases.

Fountain Citizen Claimed By Death

A. M. Wooten of Fountain died at his home yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the age of 53 years.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home by Rev. Chester Pelt pastor of Kings Crossroads Free Will Baptist church, of which Mr. Wooten was a member. Interment will follow in the Fountain cemetery.

Mr. Wooten, a prominent citizen and farmer, had lived in the Fountain community for the past 30 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Effie Wooten; two daughters, Mrs. Jarvis Pittman of Fountain and Miss Rachel Wooten of the home; one son, David Wooten, also of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Lula Lewis and Mrs. Joe Henry Forbes of Fountain; four brothers, James, of Rocky Mount; Bennett, of Fountain; S. A. of Macleesfield and Offie Wooten of Falkland.

Three of the raiders were reported officially to have been downed bringing to 42 the number destroyed since Monday.

Rome, April 12.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that one of the British generals captured in North Africa by Axis forces is Major General Carton DeWart, who commanded British troops in central Norway a year ago. He is a veteran of the World War, in which he was wounded eight times and lost an eye and an arm.

Invaders Of Yugoslavia Advancing On Belgrade

To Stay Here

Washington, April 12.—(AP) Henrik De Kauffmann expects to remain here as Danish minister, despite any criticism from his German-occupied homeland over his signing the Greenland air base and Danish ship sale agreements with the United States.

At the State Department today, the minister told reporters he had sent a full text of the Greenland agreement, together with a comprehensive explanation of his actions to the foreign office and now was awaiting a reply.

Since the air bases are designed to protect Greenland and the rest of the Western Hemisphere against possible German aggression, diplomatic quarters here explained it "would have been dumb" to have notified the German-dominated Danish government in advance.

The Danish government's official attitude toward the United States already had been made clear, it was said, by its instructions to De Kauffmann to notify the State Department that the 39 Danish vessels in "protective custody" in American ports were not for sale.

Details of the battle in the rugged Greek mountains were lacking. The Germans asserted that Yugoslav resistance in Croatia had collapsed and that "the Serbian northern army is dissolving."

British bombers were said to have pounded Germans in southern Yugoslavia and northern Greece before the land forces joined battle.

There was a diplomatic development of interest: a German radio broadcast heard in Bern, Switzerland, said Yugoslavia's premier, General Dusan Simovic had left on a mission, presumably for Moscow. It was recalled that only Thursday, Red Star organ of the Soviet army, said that the Soviet-Yugoslav friendship pact was all the more valuable under the new conditions because the Soviet union always fulfills its international pledges.

The German high command's war bulletin said Nazi troops had occupied Varazdin, a Yugoslav town on the Hungarian border, and that a Serb brigade had surrendered to the Germans. The Germans claimed to have reached the Sava river.

The battle in the Phlorina area between the Germans and both flanks of the British-Greek defense lines was forecast last night. The Greek press minister told the residents of German-occupied Macedonia and Thrace in a broadcast last night that:

"Within a few hours there will start, if it has not started already, one of the most stubborn and best battles in history between the Greeks and English on one hand and the Germans on the other. We shall win the battle."

Yugoslavia meanwhile was cut off entirely from Greece as German units driving westward established contact with Italian forces from Albania north of Lake Ochrida, Yugoslavia.

Bern, Switzerland, April 12.—(AP)—Swiss planes were reported bombing into Greece today, bombing and machine-gunning bridges, roads and tunnels along Germany's line of march toward the British-Greek defense line across the Hellenic peninsula from Phlorina east to Mount Olympus.

Greensboro, April 12.—(AP)—North Carolina income tax collections through March totaled $28,435,304.18. Federal Revenue Collector Charles H. Robertson said today. This represented a gain of approximately 40 per cent over collections for the same period last year.

Ordinarily the last quarter of the year is the biggest from the standpoint of collections and an added factor should make the final three months of this period outstanding for Robertson.

Collections this fiscal year thus far top income and excess profits tax returns for the 1939-40 period by $1,574,985.91.

March has resulted in change in dates for the annual Garden Pilgrimage in seven of the 32 communities participating.

Mrs. C. A. Gosney, state pilgrimage chairman, and the department of conservation and development which is cooperating, have announced that the garden clubs in Greenville and Raeford will hold their garden pilgrimages on Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17, instead of the dates originally announced in the pilgrimage booklet.

Likewise there has been postponement in Rocky Mount, Wilson and Fayetteville where gardens will be opened on Thursday and Friday April 17 and 18, instead of the earlier dates previously announced.

Other original dates which have been changed include the gardens on Flora Macdonald campus in Red Springs, which will be open on Thursday, April 24; Burlington where gardens will be open Thursday and Friday, April 24 and 25.

"We thought it much better to permit the garden clubs that wanted to change their garden pilgrimage dates to do so and have their gardens open when the flowers are at their best, rather than to hold to the previously announced schedule and have garden visitors disappointed," Mrs. Gosney said. "The change in dates may cause some slight confusion since a few people may not learn of the changes but on the whole we think it will be much better."

Cherish An American Tradition— GO TO CHURCH ON EASTER SUNDAY

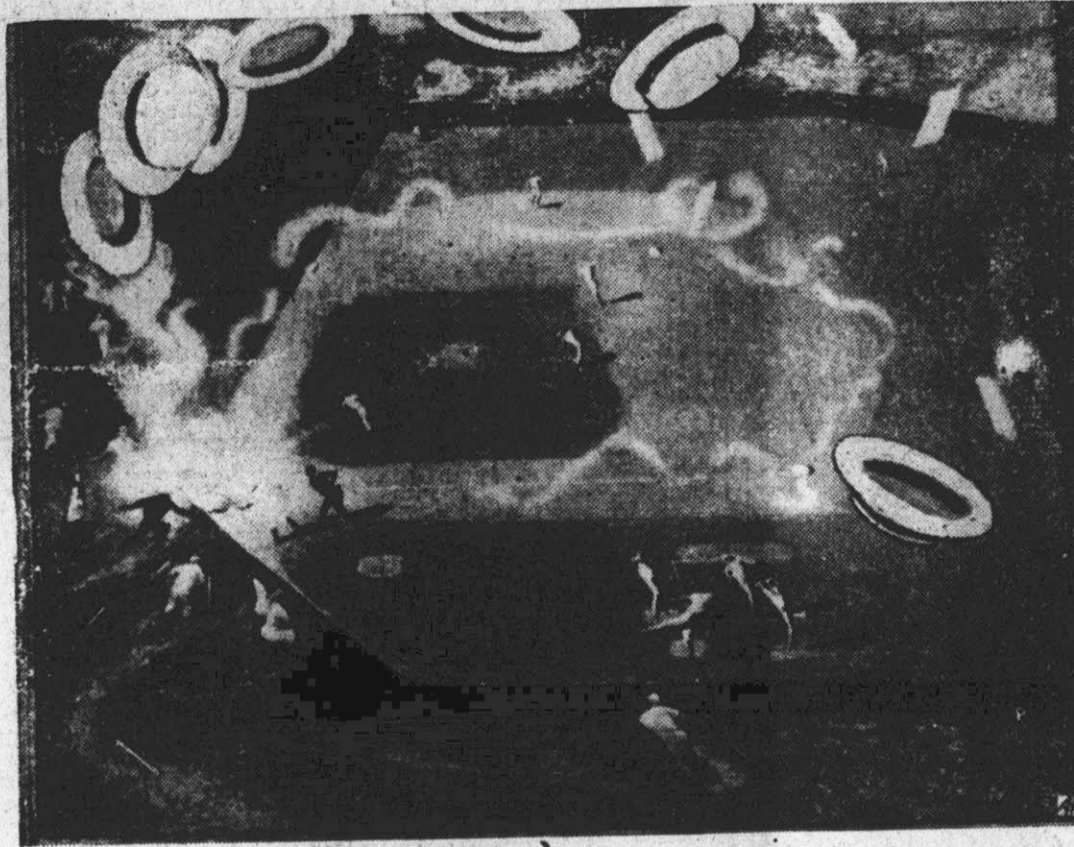

There are so few things to hold on to these days—material values, mental conditions change rapidly... affected directly and quickly by the strife, turmoil and economical upheavals of recent years. There is one thing left unshaken—the solace and peace to be found in Church. Go to Church Easter Sunday—find stable spiritual values which, in the last analysis, are enduring in peace or war, or times of sadness. Go to the Church of your choice... Easter Sunday and every Sunday—you need the comfort and companionship to be found there... The Churches need your support. Go to Church Easter Sunday in the traditional American way... to celebrate this great day in accordance with your beliefs. It's a perfect way to begin the day—and you'll enjoy the Easter parade more afterwards. You will find a warm welcome at any of Greenville's many fine Churches—and you'll find great benefit in the special Easter services planned by each. Go to Church Easter Sunday!

TANK TEST—Spray flies as army's new M3 medium tank, 25 tons and carrying two cannons and five machine guns, is given a test in water basin at Aberdeen, Md. This is a "pilot model"; accepted design will be pattern for mass production.

THE MAN WHO ISN'T THERE—Imagine the surprise of art patrons in St. Louis when they found in an exhibit above canvas by Artist Fred Conway who says it's his conception of "Pepper" Martin, long-time Cardinal star now managing the Sacramento club on the Pacific coast. "Pepper" is that swirl of dust making a circuit of the bases and clouding up the home plate.

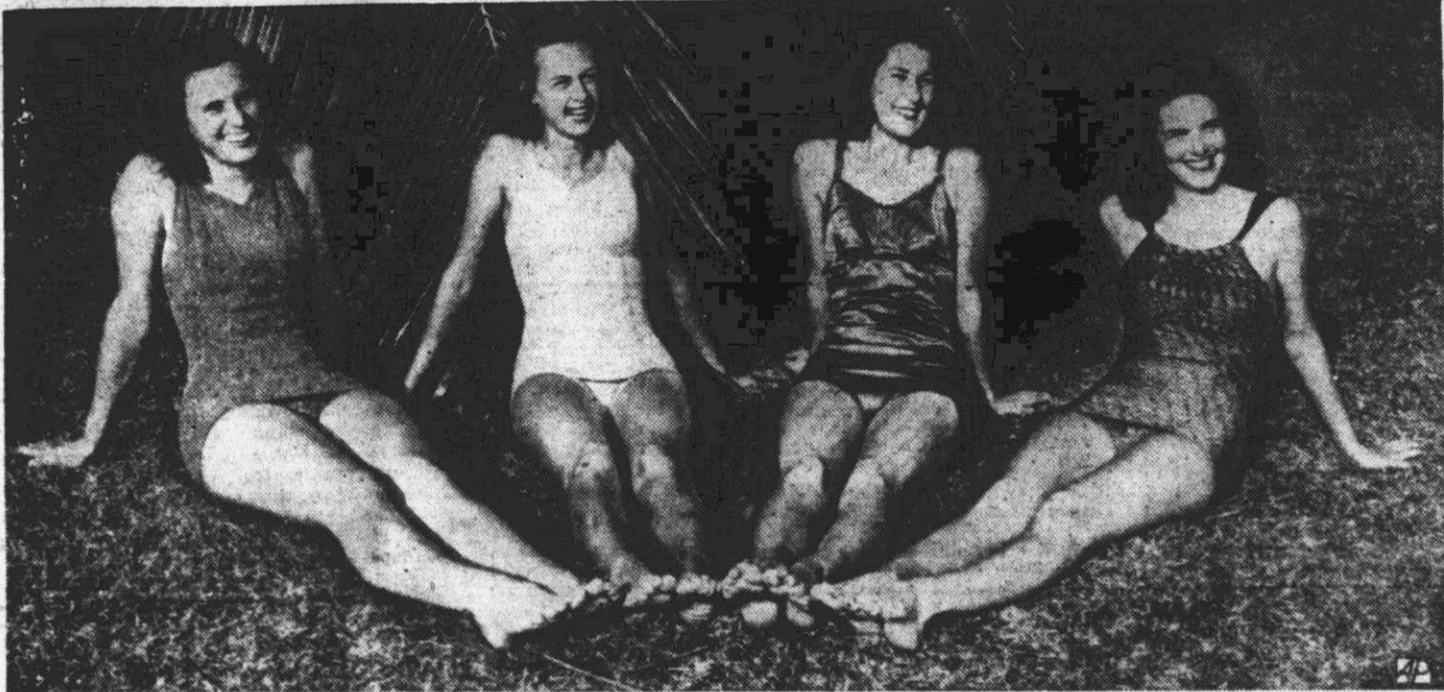

GRIEF AND POUNDS WEIGH HER DOWN—A bit dejected is the usually-gay Mrs. Ruth Pontico, circus fat lady who went to a hospital in Tampa, Fla., to have some of her excess weight reduced so she could go on tour. She weighs 300 pounds. But the hospital bed broke down and the medical treatment was postponed. Note the little dog at the left.

NOT WORK TO HIM—To N. E. Galloway, a retired wood-carving instructor at Foyil, Okla., the 70-foot totem pole he's building of concrete, steel and stone in his backyard is all play—not work. It's recreation for him, he says, creating some grotesque figures which—he admits—may confound historians 2,000 years from now. There'll be six rooms inside male.

ENSIGN—Wearing an ensign's uniform, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., reported for duty aboard the destroyer Mayrant. He's a graduate of Harvard's naval reserve officers' course.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

HIS LIVING PRESENCE
Immortal Love, forever full,
Forever flowing free,
Forever shared, forever whole,
A never-ebbing sea!

We may not climb the heavenly steeps
To bring the Lord Christ down;
In rain we search the lowest depths
For Him no depths can drown:

But warm, sweet, tender, even yet
Present help is He;
And faith has still its Olivet,
And love its Galilee.

The healing of His seamless dress
Is by our beds of pain;
We touch Him in life's throng and press,
And we are whole again.

O Lord and Master of us all,
What'er our name or sign,
We own Thy way, we hear Thy call,
We test our lives by Thine.

TAKE YOUR TIME
It is not amiss to again remind you of the greater traffic hazards over this holiday week-end. If you are tempted to step too heavily on the accelerator, remember the slogan "Lose a Minute, Save a Life."

EASTER
The sunrise service at the college athletic field tomorrow is indeed a good way to begin Easter Sunday observance, and it is to be hoped that many of our citizens will attend. But for Christ's resurrection with its promise of "Life Everlasting," which we again celebrate tomorrow, there would be little to which the world could look with hope, and our celebration of the occasion should be a time for rededication of our lives to those things taught by the Master when he was here on earth.

ARMY CADETS STUDY GERMAN
One hundred cadets at West Point Military Academy are being taught one-year's study of the German language, Secretary of War Stimson has reported. "I can make no greater inference on that than you can," he said, in answer to a question as to why the special course had been added to the Academy's curriculum.

Washington Daybook
By Jack Stinnett
(Second of two articles)
Washington.—In time of peace the Coast Guard is a part of the Treasury Department. Secretary Morgenthau is, at present, its boss man. Its commanding officer (now Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche) is appointed by the President.
In time of war, the Coast Guard goes over lock, stock and havers to the navy.
It happened the last time on April 6, 1917. A code dispatch went out that morning by wireless and telegraph to every one of the Coast Guard boats and stations. In the length of time that it took to be received the navy was augmented by 223 commissioned officers, 4,500 warrant officers and enlisted men and 47 vessels.

If we should get into war tomorrow, the navy would get a much larger personnel, not to mention 10 times as many cutters, thousands of small craft and about 60 airplanes.
What the Coast Guard would do as a part of the navy in any future war would be pure speculation, but what it has done in the past is the kind of history over which none of the boys have to hang their heads.

Got Busy Early
The Coast Guard was only seven years old when we ran into trouble with France in 1796, but in the next two years, serving with the newly organized navy, the Coast Guard accounted for 18 of the 22 prizes captured by American naval forces. The cutter Pickering, all by herself, captured 10, one of them a ship of 44 guns and 200 men—about three times her own size.
The Coast Guard was in the thick of it again in the War of 1812 and in succeeding years contributed as much as anything else to chasing the pirates out of the Caribbean and Spanish Main. It fought with the Union in the Civil War and with Admiral Dewey at Manila in the war with Spain.
Six Coast Guard cutters operated from Gibraltar during the World War, convoying both in the Mediterranean and Atlantic. Others operated in the Atlantic from the Azores to Newfoundland, doing both convoy and reconnaissance work.

Fund For Expansion
Under the national defense program, funds (although minute compared to naval outlays) have been approved to give the Coast Guard additional personnel, heavier guns and armor-plate, and anti-aircraft guns. Also, in the last two years, the Coast Guard has launched a backlog program. It is the voluntary, non-military Coast Guard Reserve, with about 3,000 persons and more than 1,600 craft. In time of war as well as peace it could help much in life-saving at sea and in harbor and coastal patrol duties.
I know that these meager national defense funds have put a new gleam in the weather eye of those men who do their steering from behind desks in the low, severely plain Coast Guard Headquarters over on the banks of the Potomac.
For a century and a half they have been doing dirty work for nearly every government department. They've pulled aching Eskimo teeth for Interior; measured whales in the Antarctic and counted seals in Bering sea for Commerce. They have chased run runners and looters and cleaned up the shipping lanes after Neptune's rampages. They have flown balloons for the Weather Bureau and taught CCC boys how to be good sailors. They have fought beside the navy.

A thousand times a year, no doubt, they have heard some government official say, "Let the Coast Guard do it," and if there is any case on record, when they answered, "With what?" I couldn't find it.

"Fellow Students—"
Peru, Neb.—(AP)—President W. R. Fate of Peru State Teachers College couldn't let his students get ahead of him. So he became one of the ten students in an airplane flight training course at the college.
British army chauffeurs averaged 300 accidents a day in the last two months of 1940.

Short Shots

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, April 12.—The WPA is down to its last $2,000,000 of a program for secondary road improvement in North Carolina which called to begin with, for expenditure of about $17,000,000. But as the level in the money box drops lower and lower, it is noticeable that the liaison man between WPA and the state highway commission is very active.

Which would seem to indicate that another program of secondary road work is in the offing, with another $17,000,000 ante from the federal government as its contribution to the pot.

Where the roads will be built and when the next phase of the program will begin cannot yet be predicted; but there is every indication that secondary roads are to be coordinated with the defense highway program. It's axiomatic that where the military is using the main highway systems for its maneuver or necessities, the general public will have to take to the secondary highway system.

Willing, But No Candidate
They aren't very loud and haven't been heard in very many quarters, but there are reports that Governor Broughton is considering Claude C. Abernathy, Nash county's perennial representative in the General Assembly, as a prospect for chairman of the Unemployment Compensation Commission. Mr. Abernathy served as chairman of the House U. C. C. committee and piloted the reorganization bill for the department as well as the bill making numerous material amendments to the commission's regulations.
Claude says he isn't a candidate.

Same Old Smokies
The Great Smoky Mountains national park has started out this season to maintain its record as the "most popular national park in the United States."
Greatest travel for any single day during the mid-winter season was reached recently when 4,535 persons entered. Travel for the year to date exceeds that of last year by 19 per cent, and with the reopening of the Blue Ridge Parkway and additional routes to the park this year national park people predict that the Smokies will have no trouble keeping the crown.

"Just Like Willie"
Maybe this won't help Dr. Ralph McDonald any, but walking down the street with your reporter Friday, a pretty well connected politician, noting the Doctor as the center of attraction in a group of fairly prominent politicians remarked: "He's just like Willie—much more popular after getting licked than he ever would have been if he'd won."

Greenies To Start Preliminary Practice On Monday

MANY PLAYERS ARE EXPECTED

Two Exhibition Tilts Already Scheduled by Locals

Manager Rube Wilson of the Greenville Coastal Plain league has called for the first regular practice on Monday, but spring training will not get into full swing with the entire squad present until one week later, April 21.

Several pitchers and catchers, as well as players of other positions, are already in the city or are expected to arrive during the week-end to start work for the 1941 season which opens on May 8.

The skipper, Kracke, second baseman; and McCarry, catcher, in fact, have been going out daily for the past few days to get limbered up for the opening.

Ten or 12 players are expected to take the field Monday. Harry Jenkins, third baseman, and sometimes pitcher; Melvin Adams, new left handed pitcher; Lefty Long, portside hurler; Bob Hicks, young catcher from Durham; Bill Severin, and Bill Teiler, pitchers, are among those expected to make their appearance Monday. Severin's signed contract was returned yesterday.

The only player who previously had not been heard from, Bill Shelton, shortstop of last year, came to Greenville yesterday and is expected to start working out with the club the latter part of next week. Shelton is teaching and coaching in Wilson.

Practices will start daily at 11 o'clock.

Two exhibition games already have been set and others are expected to be scheduled. On Friday night, April 25, the Greenies will play Sanford and is expected to play D-Bi-State League, in that city and on Sunday, April 27, the two teams will meet at Guy Smith stadium here.

Chicod Winner In Pitt Track Meet

The Pitt county schools met at the Guy Smith stadium this week and ran off their county-wide track meet with Chicod repeating last year's grand performance as winner. Points were scored as follows: Chicod 64, Stokes 37, Winterville 28, Ayden 20, Belvoir 7, Grimesland 33, Fountain 24, Bethel 19, Farmville 4, Bell Arthur 32, Pactivus 23, Grifton 11, Falkland 1.

Makeup Makes A Difference

Ogden, Utah. (AP) — An Ogden employer telephoned Weber College's business department: "I need a good office girl but no sex appeal," he advised. Ira K. Markham of the college strove to meet specifications implicitly. He called in one of his best students and sent her downtown in school-day garb—loose sweater, low-heels, ankle socks. Soon she was back; no job. Next day Markham had the girl don her most attractive ensemble and top it off with proper amounts of makeup. Then he dispatched her once more to the businessman's office. The inevitable p.s. seems hardly needed. She got the job.

HEART'S HAVEN

Chapter 28 Mrs. Jackson Talks "Well, I'm certainly glad we're leaving this place tomorrow," Mrs. Marbury put in irreverently. The lawyer brushed her words aside with a suggestion that if the men were going to make an explanation the others would have to keep quiet. "We didn't do nothing," the blond boy said sullenly.

"No need to send for me," she said harshly. "I'm here, and I'll tell you what you want to know. You might as well let these two bunglers get back to their boat. They've told you exactly what happened. And it is true they know no more about it."

"Well, then, will you please explain—" Brett began, but Mrs. Marbury interrupted him.

"No, wait a minute, Mr. Rodman," she exclaimed. "I think we should do as Mrs. Jackson suggests and let the two men go. Also Hamilton should have a cold cloth on his lip. It's swelling quite badly. I think we might even have some coffee while we are sitting around here. Eve is shaking like a leaf. We've got lots of time—I know I shan't sleep a wink tonight, anyway."

Strange Story It was almost an hour before they were all gathered in the living room.

"No, we don't see," Brett said sternly. "What was the big idea?" He turned toward the blond boy but the latter shook his head, indicating that his friend would do the talking.

"How should I know what was the big idea?" the older man asked truculently. "We're sailors, see? And when the boss tells us there's a five-spot in it if we do like he says, we go ahead and do it. But it wasn't no part of the deal that we was to get half killed."

"Who was this dame, as you call her?" the lawyer asked in his colorless voice.

"How should I know? I never seen her before. And believe me, I hope I never see her again."

"Well, that's fine," Brett said sarcastically. "We're just back where we started."

"Oh, no, we're not!" Julie spoke with sudden emphasis. "I know who the 'dame' was. It couldn't have been anyone but Mrs. Jackson! Eve, who had been sitting quietly, stunned by the events of the past hour, glanced at Julie in admiration. It had never occurred to her that the caretaker's wife had been the instigator of the plot, but she saw now, as they all did, that this must be so.

"Go get Mrs. Jackson then Drossard," Brett commanded. "But before the man could move the white-faced figure of Mrs. Jackson appeared from the hall where she had evidently been listening.

once more. The sailors had disappeared, presumably in the direction of their boat; no one bothered to inquire, and they seemed to be allowed to get away.

Ham's lip, although it still interfered with any freedom of speech was responding to the cold water treatment Gina had given it. Eve thought they both looked very smug and pleased with themselves as they took their seats near the fireplace. She even thought she detected a faint splash of color in Gina's cheeks.

Eve herself was feeling better since she had had two hot cups of coffee. She could smile when Brett whispered:

"Remember we didn't finish our talk out there on the beach. I—I sort of lost my head."

"You and me both," Eve whispered back, and he looked at her, obviously puzzled. But there was no time for further confidences.

The lawyer marshalled in Mrs. Jackson with the air of a policeman escorting his prisoner. He did permit her to sit down, much to Eve's surprise. The lean figure of Mr. Jackson who had followed them into the room, stood dejected in a shadowy corner.

Mrs. Marbury had begun to look tired and Eve suspected that she had tried to put this scene off until the next day. But the lawyer's face was uncompromising. Jim Drossard although he had no personal interest in the proceedings, seemed as eager as his employer to hear the story.

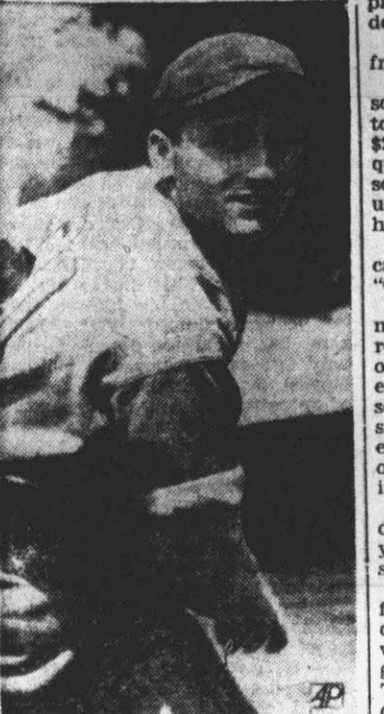

"Well, Mrs. Jackson," Robert Howe said, after a minute's silence "we are waiting for your explanation. I may say, too, that it should be a truthful one. We allowed you to remain silent about your extraordinary behavior when you returned to the house yesterday, but you may be sure that we are now going to insist upon a full statement of your position."

Mrs. Jackson's voice matched his in its lack of inflection or drama as she started to reply. Her tone in fact, seemed almost incredible when contrasted with her plump neat figure and stern expression.

"It was my sister who was the caretaker here," she began. "That was 20-odd years ago; she was hired by the estate. My husband and I came to live here about ten years ago. Agnes—that's my sister—was alling then and needed someone to look after her. When she died no one came near the place and we had nowhere else to go. So we just stayed. I guess it didn't make no difference to the estate, anyway, whether Agnes or me and my husband was caretaker."

"But they must have sent checks to your sister—they must have continued to send them—" interrupted Brett.

"Agnes wasn't able to sign her name for six months before she died. The estate never questioned any of those checks and I guess they were used to my handwriting by the time she was gone."

It occurred to Eve that Mrs. Jackson said "estate," as if it were a large fat man with whiskers, and a gold watch chain. The estate had become a personality to her and Eve could faintly sympathize with Mrs. Jackson's point of view—that everyone else in the room was an intruder.

"There is a legal aspect to that point, which we can discuss later," the lawyer had evidently no sympathy with the woman. "Please get on with your story. Why did you try to frighten us away?"

Explanation

"She came here to buy the place didn't she?" Mrs. Jackson glanced at Mrs. Marbury. "Probably she didn't want to live here anyway, but she'd stir things up and then the estate would get to inquiring about Agnes, and we'd get fired." Her voice became a whine. "We didn't mean no harm and we didn't hurt nobody."

"It sounds very touching," Brett said sarcastically. "You're just a poor, innocent couple afraid of losing your job. But it's a little late for that now. There is the matter of these sailors tonight and their story that you had been on the boat. In fact I think Mr. Jackson might find it a good time to explain that mysterious two hundred dollars.

"She can tell you," Jackson said from the corner.

"I can tell you this," Mrs. Jackson's face was bitter as she turned to Brett. "Two people can't live on $20 a month. We didn't never inquire why the boat put in here sometimes. The men didn't bother us and they never stayed but an hour or so."

"Just long enough to get rid of a cargo of stolen goods," Neil put in. "Gee, what an ideal spot for it!"

"We didn't know who they were nor what they did," Mrs. Jackson reiterated. "As long as we minded our own business there was a little extra money handed to Mr. Jackson twice a year. It was never the same—two hundred's as high as we ever got. Once in a while it would only be fifty, but it kept us alive, if you could call bein' here livin'!"

"But surely you must have found out something about this boat when you went off on it the other night," said Julie quickly.

"I didn't," the woman repeated firmly. "I just wanted to ask the captain to let these two boys who were here dress up and look like the ghosts we'd been talkin' about. They were just goin' to slip away quietly afterward."

Gina leaned over and patted Ham's hand as an expression of her approval for his part in uncovering the scheme. Eve saw his other hand clasp firmly over the girl's.

"We'll accept your explanation," the lawyer said with an air of finality, "until we can take further action." But Mrs. Jackson had not yet finished.

"You'll be wantin' us to move, I suppose?"

"Mercy, no!" Mrs. Marbury, frankly yawning, pulled herself together long enough to make this statement. "I've already told Mr. Howe that I have no intention whatever of buying the place now."

Mrs. Jackson's face was a mask of fury as she looked at the society woman. For a moment she could not trust herself to speak and the others, watching her, waited in silence to hear what she had to say.

SEEING THROUGH MY WINDSHIELD

By Verona Lee Joyner, H. D. A.

This week was spent almost entirely visiting the 4-H clubs in the various schools over the county. Pitt county has a group of boys and girls to be proud of. To select the Pitt county King and Queen requires the cooperation of Pitt County Health Department, the principals in each school and the extension workers. Mr. G. W. and I wish to thank each of you for your help and hard work in making this a success.

Spring Federation

The Farmville Home Demonstration Club will be hostess to the Spring Federation at a tea given at their club house Wednesday, April 30, from 3 to 5 p. m. They are expecting about two hundred Home Demonstration Club women to call at this time and drink a cup of tea with them.

Home Demonstration Clubs

The Bethel Home Demonstration Club was entertained by Mrs. H. W. Brown. Bethel, our second largest club in the county, plans to have one hundred per cent of its members present at the May meeting. Under the leadership of Mrs. C. M. Burton, I know all will attend the meeting.

Farmville Home Demonstration Club

This club is busy making plans for the Spring Federation of the Pitt County Home Demonstration clubs which is to be held on Wednesday, April 30 from 3 to 5 p. m. All the clubs in the county are looking forward to the day they can all visit that club and see their fine club house.

4-H Clubs

At eleven 4-H clubs, three hundred and three members were given a Health examination by Miss Emily Matthews, Mrs. Ola Joyner and Miss Fannie Roberson. We found many fine and healthy boys and girls among our 4-H club members. Watch the paper for the winner of each club which will be announced in a few days.

Mattress Centers

Our mattress centers again close while we wait for the arrival of cotton. One thousand and fifty mattresses have already been made in the centers up to this date under the supervision of our capable supervisors. On file we have applications to cover the making of 4,650 mattresses in Pitt county.

There will be available cotton and percale for one comforter for each family in North Carolina. All families eligible for a comforter visit your mattress center immediately and make application.

Why Not Cut Crime?

I have told readers of this column that I would try to warn them when the inflation situation becomes dangerous. That time is not yet at hand. The heavy taxes already assessed should postpone the evils of inflation. When taxes are raised above a certain amount however, concerns fold up and new concerns dare not start in business. ASK DEFERM'T FOR TEACHERS

Vocational Division Intervenes For Instructors

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, April 12.—Like many other private and governmental agencies, the division of vocational education finds itself confronted with a real problem in the selective service act which makes young men from 21 to 35 liable to military service at any moment.

It's a fly in the ointment which the division had not had seriously brought home to it until the 1911 legislature came through with a really fine boost in the appropriations for vocational education in North Carolina.

That meant that the division will be financially able to add numerous teachers of vocational agriculture and home economics throughout the state—although even with the fund boost it isn't possible to meet the urgent demand for more teachers.

So Director T. E. Browne (what time he has been able to wheedle his doctors into letting him work and his aides began to consider where and how the money can be spent to the best advantage.

Of course one of the first necessities for vocational instruction is a supply of trained vocational instructors; and right there Mr. Browne ran into trouble.

A very high percentage of the young men who are graduating from college after specializing in vocational education are holders of draft numbers which make their induction into the army within a comparatively short time a strong probability.

For instance, of about 35 who will graduate this spring at State College, only ten, or less, seem likely to be able to teach through even one whole school year—the others all have numbers which make their fall to the colors probable before the spring of 1942.

Right there was the problem. How to increase the number of vocational agriculture classes in the state without the required number of vocational agriculture teachers. They cannot even be obtained from outside the state, because the same draft obstacle is found in every state. The very young men wanted in the stepped-up vocational program are the very ones who cannot be had because they are the very ones whom Uncle Sam is calling.

So Director Browne, with the approval and full cooperation of Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin is going to seek action looking toward deferment of the young vocational teachers because of their value in the defense program.

Mr. Browne believes that it is much more important to the country's welfare for one of these young graduates to teach progressive and up-to-date agriculture than it is for him to shoulder a gun as a $21 to $30 a month private in the army.

The matter will be taken before Governor J. M. Broughton and the Adjutant General, it seems, as all

Most Exaggerated

London, April 12.—(AP)—Reuters, British news agency, reported from Athens today a statement by a semi-official Athens news agency branding as "most exaggerated" reports that the number of Greek troops cut off and captured east of the Vardar river exceeded 80,000.

"Greek forces in this area were much smaller than this and, furthermore, thousands of them were able to withdraw in time and reach free Greek territory, the report said.

Kiwanians Select Convention Slate

Eli Bloom, C. L. Russ, O. P. Matthews and Dr. J. M. Barrett were elected delegates to represent the local Kiwanis club at the Kiwanis International convention to be held in Atlanta June 15-19 at the regular meeting of the local club last night.

Alternates named were N. G. Raynor, Charles R. Flye, Fred Stoker, and B. W. Moseley.

The club also made plans to send a large delegation to the Seventh Division meeting to be held in Goldsboro on the night of April 28.

The Kiwanians went on record as endorsing the proposed recreational centers to be established in the ber of new teachers; but even the higher figure would mean that only about half that number will be complied with.

city after Mrs. J. H. B. Moore had suggested that such action be taken. The club also endorsed the petition of the Ricks Transfer company to establish north-south lines after Dink James called attention to the lack of bus transportation facilities in Greenville.

Berry Bostic called attention to the Easter Sunrise service tomorrow morning at 6:15 o'clock and urged Kiwanians to attend.

Guests of the club included Rev. John Armfield, Manager Rube Wilson of the local baseball team, who briefly discussed the outlook for this season; Misses Frances Dunn and Doris Briley, vocational students of the high school.

Egg Within An Egg Found By Pitt Man

John Ruffin, who lives on the Avon farm near Grimesland, had a great surprise when he broke an egg in a pan for his breakfast. John, being hungry, chose an extra large egg and when he broke it in addition to a complete egg white and yolk, there was an egg with a hard shell within the egg. John says the hen that laid this egg has often produced two-yolk eggs, but to his knowledge this is the first two-egg product delivered.
