AD TO BRITAIN QUESTIONED BY NAZI OFFICIALS

Program Challenge In Formal German Memorandum

SECRETARY HULL TO STUDY NOTE

Nazis Reported To Claim British Aid Program Would Permit Confiscation Of Private Property

Washington, May 9. (AP)—The German government was reported reliably today to have challenged American aid to Britain for the first time, in a formal note in connection with pending legislation authorizing requisitioning of foreign ships.

Secretary of State Hull said a new German note sent by the German embassy to the State Department last night had not yet come to his attention, but that he would study it soon.

Officials made no comment on the note, but from reliable sources it was reported that Germany made two points in objecting to the pending legislation.

1. That it would permit confiscation of private property owned by foreigners.

2. That President Roosevelt could not properly claim the existence of a national emergency in shipping because the scarcity of ships resulted from the release of American vessels to the British.

This was understood to be the first time the German government had ever referred to aid to Britain in a formal communication to the American government.

The new German note was reported also to have contended that the requisitioning of two German ships now in protective custody even though carried out under new legislation, would violate international law and also a 1923 treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Germany.

Dies Of Injuries In Highway Mishap

Madison Thomas Roach, 55, died in the Washington hospital this morning at 2:10 o'clock from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile near his home in the Epworth community of Craven county Sunday night, April 27.

Iraqi Withdraw

Cairo, May 9.—(AP)—Remnants of the dissident elements of the Iraq army which a week ago attacked the British-held Habbaniyah airdrome, some 60 miles west of Baghdad, have withdrawn to Ramadi and Falluja, the British Middle East command announced today.

Ramadi is about 12 miles north of Habbaniyah. Falluja is some 22 miles to the north-east, across Lake Habbaniyah. Both are communication centers on the Euphrates and the east-west railway leading to Baghdad.

The daily war bulletin said British troops, which two days ago captured Habbaniyah, plan to follow up with howitzers flown in by the RAF, were continuing salvage operations.

GHS OBSERVES 'COLLEGE DAY'

Third Annual Event Opened Here This Afternoon

The third annual College Day which is sponsored by the Greenville High School Beta club, got under way this afternoon at 1:30 in the high school auditorium. Father Maurice Tew, local Catholic priest spoke on "Planning Your Future."

"The College Day program this year has been more successful and more impressive than in any previous year," commented Fenner Corbett, president of the Greenville High School honor society.

The colleges that were represented at this event are as follows: State College, Woman's College at Greensboro, Duke University, Norfolk Business College, University of North Carolina, Meredith College, Wake Forest, Smithfield-Massey, East Carolina Teachers College and Salem College. Several are sending student delegates also. Among these are Nancy Flanagan and Spruill Spain of Greenville.

The assembly program opened with an explanation of College Day by President Fenner Corbett. The delegates were introduced by J. Hicks Corey, vice president. Several selections were played by the high school band. They included a number of college songs.

Immediately after the assembly, group meetings were held in the library and journalism room, with the representatives of the various colleges presiding. Each delegate explained to his group of students the advantages and desirabilities of attending his college and attempted to familiarize students with various phases of college life. Only Juniors and Seniors participated in the event. A social get-together was held in the auditorium at 3:15, and refreshments were served.

"One outstanding thing about the College Day this year is the fact that a dance is being given tonight in conjunction with the day's events," stated Fenner. The dance will begin at 8 and last until 11 o'clock. Juniors and Seniors will be admitted free and there will be a small admission for underclassmen.

School Also To Be Established At Holly Ridge Camp; Eighty Officers And 750 Men To Comprise Unit, Which Is Slated To Get Under Way Shortly; Further Expansions Anticipated

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—The army announced today it would shortly begin training of 80 officers and 750 men at a balloon barrage training center and school at Camp Davis, N. C.

A new type of army institution, the school will conduct experiments with newly developed equipment in addition to training personnel.

The third barrage balloon squadron from Fort Lewis, Wash., was ordered transferred to Camp Davis by motor convoy and rail on or about May 15.

The balloon barrage technique is used in protection of fleet anchorages and vital military installations, particularly against dive-bombers. The balloons force the attackers to maintain a high altitude.

Col. Robert Arthur of the Coast Artillery Corps was designated commanding officer of the center and commander of the school.

The War Department said the center would be indefinitely expanded during the next year. Present organization plans call for a battalion consisting of a headquarters battery and three or more operating batteries.

Without specifying the amount, the Air Corps reported it had placed several new contracts for balloons and contemplates "further increases."

Fishing Is Banned In Durham's Creek

Durham's creek, popular fishing waters for many Pitt county sportsmen, has been closed to fishing until September 1 in order to increase the fish supply in the stream.

The Beaufort county creek was one of 15 spawning areas ordered closed by the State Department of Conservation and Development yesterday and although the fishing season opens tomorrow, many sportsmen who have often visited the stream in former years will have to drop their lines elsewhere this summer.

Open Church Meeting In City On Tuesday

A mid-year meeting of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist church will be held in Greenville Tuesday, May 13. Bishop Clare Purcell and Dr. Fred B. Newell will be two of the speakers.

Dr. J. M. Ormond, chairman of the board, will preside. Two or three hundred delegates from one-half of the conference are expected.

The Tennessee Valley Authority employs some 20,000 men and women.

14-Year-Old Girl Claimed By Death

Marion B. (Sue) Williams, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Williams, Jr., of the Pactolus community, died in the Pitt General hospital at 11:50 p. m. Thursday after several months of illness. She had been a patient in the hospital two weeks.

Funeral services will be from the graveside in the Williams family cemetery near Washington Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. W. A. Crow, Methodist minister of Grimesland.

Marion was born in Beaufort county and came to Pitt county with her parents about eight years ago. She attended Pactolus school last year and was in the eighth grade.

In addition to her parents she is survived by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. R. Lee of Greenville, and paternal step-grandmother, Mrs. W. M. Williams of Graham.

Bethel Bible School To Open On Monday The Vacation Church School at the Bethel Methodist church will begin on next Monday morning, May 12, at 9 o'clock. Each morning of next week there will be the sessions of study and play from 9 to 11 o'clock. Classes are arranged for students from the age of 4 through 16. Students who cannot be present Monday should enroll on Tuesday. Special Mother's Day features will be used in the morning and evening worship services on next Sunday, with the pastor giving the sermons.

Suez Attacked

Berlin, May 9.—(AP)—German and Italian air forces joined in an attack on the Suez canal which lasted several hours, DNE, official German news agency, said today, without explaining when the raid took place. (A dispatch from Cairo yesterday said the canal zone was raided for two hours Wednesday night.)

Not only the canal, but a railway paralleling it also was bombed, the agency said, and heavy hits were scored "at numerous places" on the railway. (The British admitted damage to railway, telegraph and telephone property.)

Power houses in the canal zone were reported damaged and high tension wires destroyed, DNE said, "in the face of heavy defense fire."

DRIVE MADE ON ALIENS IN U. S.

Immigration Operatives Arrest Several Italians New York, May 9.—(AP)—Federal immigration operatives who took 150 German seamen into custody early Wednesday, suddenly launched another roundup of aliens today arresting several Italians and searching for others accused of over-staying permits to remain in this country.

The immigration inspectors arrested four alien Italians working in mid-town hotels and other agents, supplied with warrants, went to the hotel Ritz Carlton to arrest six Italian waiters.

Still other immigration officers and city detectives launched a third sortie when, armed with scores of warrants, they left for the upper East side section on similar missions.

Some of the warrants also charged the aliens with being in this country illegally.

The wholesale arrests of German seamen—conducted on a national scale—was ordered by Attorney General Jackson, who indicated the move was a precautionary measure to forestall "fifth column activities" in this country.

None of the seamen was accused of any violation other than over-staying permits to remain in this country. In a speech following this order, Jackson said, however, that this country should recognize the "pre-invasion period" when aliens infiltrate countries.

25 Local Jaycees Going To Wilson

Approximately 25 members of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce will attend an inter-city meeting at the Cherry hotel in Wilson tonight.

Five cities will be represented at the meeting, with delegations expected from Greenville, Wilson, Zebulon, Rocky Mount and Goldsboro.

Basil Whitener, newly-elected president of the North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce organization, will be the principal speaker of the occasion. John G. Thomas, secretary of the Wilson club, is in charge of the program.

Approximately 200 Jaycees from the various clubs are expected to attend the meeting, the first of its kind to be held.

Annual Mother's Day Theatre Party

The annual Mother's Day theatre party, sponsored by the Pitt Theatre and the Daily Reflector and being joined again this year by the Greenville Floral Company, and the Carolina Dairy, Inc., will be held Monday afternoon.

The doors to the theatre will be opened at 12:45 and all Pitt county mothers 55 years or older will be admitted free up to 1:30 o'clock.

The theatre will present "The Lady Eve," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda. The Greenville Floral Company will present corsages to each mother, and the Carolina Dairy will serve ice cream.

The annual Mother's Day party has proved popular in the past and an attendance of more than 250 is expected this year. All mothers of the required age in Pitt and surrounding counties are invited to attend.

The coupon printed below will entitle any mother of the required age to a ticket to the theatre party. It is to be presented at the door of the Pitt Theatre between 12:45 and 1:30 p. m., Monday.

ENEMY RAIDER BELIEVED SUNK BY ROYAL NAVY

Armed Liner Hansa Reported Victim in Indian Ocean

SHIP KNOWN IN SHIPPING WORLD

Created Furore When Typhoid Broke Out Among Crew While In New York Harbor In August, 1937

London, May 9.—(AP)—A German raider, believed in London to have been the 21,131-ton trans-Atlantic liner Hansa, has been sunk in the Indian ocean by a British warship, the Admiralty announced today.

The Hansa, well known to the trans-Atlantic trade, created a furore in New York harbor in August, 1937, when an outbreak of typhoid was found among her crew after her 1,000 passengers had departed and scattered to their homes. Health authorities notified the passengers, but there were no reports of the malady having spread from the crewmen.

On January 8, 1939, Chinese pirates fired on a ship identified as the Hansa within a few miles of Shanghai, but the ship put on full steam and escaped up the Woesan toward Shanghai.

The British announcement said that a cruiser identified as the 10,000-ton Cornwall rescued 27 British merchant seamen from the raider and seized 53 of the raider's German crew. Authoritative London quarters estimated the vessel carried 300 crewmen and said she probably was armed with six 5.9 guns, torpedo tubes and was equipped for mine-laying. Her speed was 19 knots.

FISHING RULES ARE SET FORTH

Fishing In Open Season Subject To Regulations

Reflector Bureau By HENRY AVERILL Raleigh, May 9.—The warm water fishing season opens tomorrow throughout the state except in the western section but even then the taking of inland fish is subject to considerable regulation by the department of conservation and development's rules.

For instance, it is unlawful to take fish in inland waters other than by rod and reel or hook and line except that seining may be done for coarse fish in certain designated muddy waters and under supervision of county game and fish protectors during July and August of each year.

It is unlawful to dynamite, poison or pollute waters in any way which endangers the life of fish therein. It is unlawful for any one person to use more than two poles at any one time in inland waters.

It is unlawful to take fish by "jugging," nets, traps, baskets or set hooks. It is unlawful to buy, sell, offer for sale or ship at any time any game fish.

All persons above the age of 16 must have a license to fish elsewhere than in their home counties and a number of western units require county resident licenses.

Non-resident fishing license costs $5.10; non-resident's daily permit is $1.10; state resident fishing license $2.10; resident daily permit 60 cents; county resident fishing license (in counties requiring them) $1.10.

The daily bag and size limits are: Rainbow trout 12 and 8 inches; brook or speckled trout 12 and 6 inches; brown trout 12 and 8 inches; small-mouth bass 8 and 12 inches; large-mouth bass 8 and 12 inches; Maitamuket Lake bass 8 and 10 inches; muskallunge 8 and 22 inches; rock or striped bass 8 and 12 inches; red fin 20 and 8 inches; perch, bream, crappie, robin, sunfish 20 and 6 inches; white perch (Lake Waccamaw) 12 and 8 inches; grass perch (Lake Waccamaw) 12 and 5 inches; white perch (all inland lakes) 20 and 8 inches. It is unlawful to take more than 12 trout of all species or more than 40 of all species listed in any one day.

Raids Are Concentrated On Hamburg, Bremen

Concessions

London, May 9.—(AP)—Reuters, British news agency, quoted the Berlin correspondent of the Swiss Basler Nachrichten today as reporting it was believed that the Vichy government had agreed to the passage of German troops through French provinces and mandated territories—including Syria.

This, it was reported, was thought to be Germany's price for German concessions concerning the occupation of the French homeland.

Syria, the correspondent was quoted as saying, now seems to be "at Germany's disposal."

AIRPORT LEASE IS NEGOTIATED

City And County Officials Formally Sign Contract

The governing bodies of the City of Greenville and County of Pitt this afternoon gave final and definite approval to a contract with the Safair Corporation for the operation of an army cadet flying school at the local airport and O. P. Hebert, president of the corporation, who was in session with the two boards, disclosed that he would open negotiations at once looking toward the securing of a contract to train army pilots here.

After a few necessary changes were made in the contract, the drafts were re-written and representatives of the two boards and Mr. Hebert met to sign the papers.

Approval of the best field by army engineers is expected to be made in the immediate future and, if the corporation is successful in its efforts to secure a government contract to train fliers, as is expected, work on the erection of hangars, barracks, an administration and possibly other buildings will get under way in the near future. It is estimated that the school will start operations in the late summer.

Mr. Hebert left Greenville this afternoon for Montgomery, Ala., to formally present his application for the Greenville school to General Weaver, Commanding General of the southeastern training area. All of the other papers pertaining to the application are already in Montgomery and the contract signed here today when officially turned over to General Weaver, completes the preliminary work prior to action by the war department on the application.

F.W.B. Secretary To Speak In City

Rev. Henry Schum, of Charlotte, Field Secretary of the Young People's Fellowship Clubs of North and South Carolina and Virginia, will be the speaker for three special services for young people to be held at the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church tonight, tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon. Mr. Schum is a young Baptist minister and a graduate of Bob Jones College of Cleveland, Tenn. He has been engaged in work with young people for some time, and has met with splendid success.

The services will be of an inter-denominational nature, and young people of all the churches in Greenville are cordially invited to attend. While the services are especially planned for young people, Rev. Mr. Schum extends an invitation to people of all ages to come, promising something of benefit to all. The object of the meetings is to urge upon the young people a more definite working relationship with their various churches, especially in connection with evangelistic efforts.

Assumes New Job As County Nurse

The local health officer, Dr. Emmett, has just announced the employment of a health department nurse, Miss Katie Mae Harris, who succeeds Miss Brownette Sullivan.

Miss Sullivan resigned as of March 1 to go to the Anson county health department at a considerable increase in salary.

Miss Harris took her nurse training course at the Baptist hospital Winston-Salem, then entered the Public Health Nursing School at Peabody in Nashville, Tenn., and after completing this course, did field public health nursing work in the Orange-Durham-Person county health district under the supervision of the North Carolina State Board of Health.

She reported for duty in the Pitt County Health Department May 1 and comes highly recommended. Miss Harris is a native of Roanoke Rapids.

Berlin Also Target of British Fliers; Nazi Luftwaffe Again Loses Violent Assault On English Cities; Sea Battles Reported Both In Mediterranean And Indian Ocean

By The Associated Press Waves of British bombers—the biggest RAF smash of the war—dumped "tens of thousands" of fire bombs and "hundreds of tons" of high explosives on Hamburg and Bremen and also attacked Berlin overnight, the British said today.

In their far-ranging expedition, RAF warplanes flew as far as Posen, Poland.

Adolf Hitler's Luftwaffe again violently assaulted English cities, and sea battles were reported in both the Mediterranean and the Indian ocean.

The Germans said the British "transit port" of Hull, possibly a port of entry for American war supplies, was subjected to a major attack and that this morning the entire city (population 350,000) was shrouded in flame-tinged smoke.

Returning Nazi pilots declared the red glow of Hull's myriad fires could be seen 70 miles away. It was the eighth straight night of stepped-up Nazi attacks on the island kingdom.

Twelve German raiders were reported shot down, while the British acknowledged 10 RAF planes lost in the sweep over Germany and another by day yesterday.

"Hamburg and Bremen bore the brunt of the heaviest attack yet made by the RAF on Germany," the British Air Ministry said.

"High explosive bombs caused widespread destruction, and many great fires were seen raging in the shipyards and industrial quarters of both cities."

The Berlin and London raids were noted merely as "subsidiary attacks."

Simultaneously, the London Admiralty announced that the 10,000-ton British cruiser Cornwall sank a German commerce raider in a battle in the Indian ocean, rescuing 27 British merchant seamen from the raider and taking prisoners 53 of the German crew survivors.

In another sea battle, a Fascist war bulletin said that torpedo and bomb hits were scored on two British battleships, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, a destroyer and three merchantships, and that 16 British planes were shot down by Axis airmen in the running fight which started yesterday afternoon and raged into the night.

Campaign Nearing Successful Close

Clean-Up Week is nearing a close and an observer can readily see that the campaign sponsored by the Junior Woman's club and cooperated in by other organizations, merchants and the public in general, has met with success.

A spokesman of the sponsoring organization announced that practically all of the merchants have agreed to place trash boxes back of their establishments so that the waste will not blow away and to place locks on the boxes.

"Such cooperation as we are receiving on this phase of the campaign will always keep Greenville one of the cleanest and most beautiful cities in North Carolina," declared a representative of the club.

Cards which were distributed throughout the schools have been collected and they will be graded by the Health Department in the near future. Results will be revealed through the press.

The U. D. C. Meets. Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth was delightful hostess to the George B. Singletary chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy Thursday afternoon. Mrs. R. C. Deal, the president, presided.

Final plans for Memorial Day exercises were made. Mrs. Hollingsworth reported all financial obligations to date have been met.

Further sale of the new edition of the "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy" was urged by Mrs. Sam Broughton, the general chairman. The chapter has already surpassed its quota.

Miss Emice McGee of the college faculty, gave a wonderful paper on Benjamin Harvey Hill and John B. Gordon, two of Georgia's leading patriotic statesmen of all times, showing attractive photographs of the men and their homes. Nothing is more inspiring in these days of stress and anxiety than the story of these kindly men of the South, and what they suffered, and how they sacrificed for the love of home and country.

Besides Miss McGee, other special guests included Mrs. Virgil Farrer (a Georgia girl now residing in Greenville), Miss Ruth Harding, and Mrs. Jack Boyd.

Springtime colors were carried out in a lovely sweet plate served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Farrer.

Honored At Luncheon.
Mrs. James Moye was honored yesterday at a lovely luncheon when Mrs. Eugene Hamric entertained in compliment to her at her home on Evans street.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. W. L. Best, who presented them to the hostess, her honor guest, Mrs. Hortense Moye and Mrs. A. E. Norman of Asbury Park, N. J.

The spacious hall was beautiful with decorations of wexelia. In the living room and drawing room, appointments featured artistic arrangements of roses and gladioli in shades of pink, blending from pale to deep hues.

Mrs. C. S. Forbes invited guests to the dining room. A particularly lovely arrangement of pink carnations and baby's breath in a silver bowl centered the dining room table from which Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley and Mrs. C. A. White served a delicious barbecue luncheon. Mrs. Fred Forbes and Miss Mary Forbes presided at the tea table.

Assisting in the dining room were Misses Louise Best of Asheville, Edna Earl Sexton, Sue Barrett, Rose Hadley and Jane Hadley. Music was enjoyed during the luncheon hour.

Miss Woolard Honored.
Miss Madoline Woolard, whose approaching marriage has recently been announced, was honored last evening when Miss Dorothy Brinkley and Miss Ruth Crumpler entertained at bridge and a linen shower. Varied arrangements of roses, ragged robin, syringa and other spring flowers decorated the rooms where the bridge tables were arranged.

The place of the honor guest and that of Miss Lorraine Horne, also a bride-elect, were marked with dainty corsages of sweetheart roses. Miss Marie Smith, high scorer, was presented an embroidered linen bag. The floating prize, a box of dusting powder, fell to Miss Lillian Abee. Miss Woolard was remembered with a gift of silver and Miss Horne with attractive towels. A tempting ice course was served.

Greenville is not and does not desire to be on a "boom," but the prospects are that there is some rapid growing just ahead for the town. The improvements that come should be of a permanent nature.

The suggestion made by The King's Daughters for the establishment of a reading room ought to meet the approval of every citizen of Greenville. The town is woefully in need of something of the kind.

Someday I'll Find You

YESTERDAY, Eileen Gardner has taken Martin Dane at his word. Martin has said that he believes the teaching of his famous feminist mother, that a girl has as much right to court a man as the other way about. But now, at a houseparty in Martin's Adirondack camp, Eileen finds her going rough. Particularly rough because Caroline has foolishly turned over the sleigh the party is riding in and endangered everyone.

Chapter 22
Mad Chance
When she scrambled back, Eileen saw that one of the horses was lying, badly injured. Bill knelt by it. The other was led, limping, to a steady stream at everything. Caroline was sobbing hysterically, leaning against a boulder. Martin and Lolly and Lewis were scrambling free of the sleigh. Martin straightened himself, limping and wincing. He shouted "Ike—Bill—Quick! The Ferrines are pinned underneath!"

And then they were all, except the oblivious Caroline, working to right the wrecked sleigh under Martin's direction.
When they dragged it free, Roly stood up, staggered, with a streak of blood on his forehead. Robin did not move. She lay twisted, apparently unconscious, but keeping up a regular rhythmic moaning that rose to a cry and fell again.
Roly dropped down and caught her in his arms and shouted, "Harness the horses and drive her down the mountain! I tell you, she's in danger. Drive her down the mountain!" And Eileen remembered that Robin was going to have a baby.
"We got to carry her down, boy," she said pityingly. "The horses are out. Harry's lamed, and I guess we got to shoot Lou."

"Carry her five miles?" Roly shouted. "There isn't time!" He clambered out of the bundles of skis from under the wrecked sleigh, put his on, and tried to start down. At the first step he was deep through the crumbling snow. He tried twice more.

Martin, white with the pain of his ankle, said, "It's madness to try skiing down to the call box. We'll make her as comfortable as we can on the sleigh cushions, and walk down for help."
"Then for God's sake hurry!" Lolly Grant said in her deep voice. "I've had first-aid training. I've done what I can. There's no time to lose." She stood up, covering Robin with the robes.

Bill Grant was off at the word, running down the slippery road with a long steady lope. Eileen, too little to help lift, stood aside while they did what they could for Robin.

Madness to try to ski. Of course they were all tall and big-boned. Madness even for a light little half-starved thing. But a light little thing who was good, who was desperate, might have a half chance. She could get down the hill, pretty surely. For the rest—well at worst, nobody would worry much if there was one less outsider in the world. Her skis were on, she was launched over the trail crust and away before they saw. She heard them shout behind her. She shushed on. She was down the hill—she was out, the impetus carrying her halfway across the sinking sucking ice before she heard it crack under her. Her heart twisted in her. Not much chance for anybody tied up to skis under that freezing water.
"Long wrenching desperate strokes—there, she was away from that

Advisor

Since the organization of the Chi Pi Players four years ago, Miss Lena C. Ellis of the Commerce department of the college has been advisor to the club.
Miss Ellis graduated from Western Kentucky State Teachers College where she majored in Commerce and Dramatic Art.
At college she was a member of a dramatics club which developed into a department. Although she was active in college dramatics most of her training comes from private lessons.
At East Carolina Teachers College, Miss Ellis directed "Kewpy," a three-act play in which Clifton Britton, student director, acted.
Last year, she directed, "Rich Man, Poor Man," one of the three one-act plays presented by the Chi Pi Players.
Make-up for the various productions of the college has been her greatest contribution to the club.
Miss Ellis is serving as advisor to the Chi Pi production "Wuthering Heights," to be presented in Austin auditorium, Friday and Saturday nights, May 16 and 17 at 8:30 o'clock.

have an excuse, though, to stay in bed till the last minute. Not face anybody again. The fight was all out of her limp body and shocked mind.
It was Lewis Delevan who came for her. At her wincing move back as she saw him, he said, almost apologetically, "I asked to be the one to come..." He snatched her hands where they stood in the little country parlor. He said, his deep voice shaking, "You're a heroine, Eileen. You're the makings of something fine."
She was too tired still, to answer. She let him lift her into the sleigh. He wrapped her almost as if he was tender of her. She sat quiet. His voice went on, deep through the bells, as they drove. It was cold again, there was hard snow.
"Eileen, listen. I've been thinking about you. I've been planning for you. I'm going to find you the work where you belong; my kind of work serving humanity. It's in you, you've proved it. We'll forget all about that craze of yours for what Martin Dane could give you."
His voice went on. She was tired. She heard herself answering at intervals, saying probably he was right. Maybe she would like that kind of work. She had to have some kind...

the vagueness that seemed to hang about her like a thin, stubborn cloud.
One thing was the look in Lewis' eyes, shocked, reproachful, warning. He seemed to be focussing the whole force of his strong serious personality on her from just outside the group.
The other was the words Martin had said. Not one of them had promised her any love.

They were at the lodge gate. And Martin, bare-headed as usual, in his thick white sweater, was limping swiftly down the path to them. He had her out, he was sending Lewis around with the car in that quick way he'd ordered Ris to sell him orchids for Caroline. He was sweeping Eileen inside to the fire sitting her down on the couch in the long warm empty room. He was talking in a voice that had no easy laughter in it.
"You grand little sport—you sweet kid! You've got about everything it takes, Eileen. He was down by her close to her, excited and alive as she had never seen him. "You're the

As she stared the rest clattered in. They were all there except Robin and Perrine. They began talking, shouting, coming around her. He kept his arm around her.
"Hey folks, look what's happened. Eileen and I are about to amble afterwards. Awaiting congratulations..."
The renewed shouts and laughter, the quick congratulations and jokes and surprise sounded far off. Caroline's forced voice, Lolly's deep pleasant politeness, Bill's curt, sporting words, Roly Perrine's stammered grateful excitement.

worst, most dangerously sagging area. She avoided other tracks as she made for shore at an angle. She heard herself laugh hysterically at the thought, "I'm like Eliza in Uncle Tom's Cabin..."
And suddenly, as she laughed, she was down. The freezing water came through to her skin. There was an agonized feel of helplessness as the skis twisted. She went down under, choking and struggling and afraid. The end...
Saved
And then one ski hit something hard... a pile. The old bridge. She blindly grasped its slimy business with a hand nearly too numb to flex, and the impetus shoved her head above. Somehow she stripped off a mitten, somehow she steadied against the sunken pile and got at the knife in her jacket pocket.
Somehow, clumsily, after infinite failure, a stiff despairing hand managed to saw the fastenings through. She had time to look, now, and see she was not too far from land. Little and light—yes, but strong, she had always been strong.
She heard another shout from the hilltop. She thought it was Martin's voice... Flight to shore... grip the piles; they were above the water. Just a short, short way off if you could make it...
She had made it. She was on her face clinging to the pile beyond the ice's edge, shuddering, breathing in scobs. Presently she made herself stand up on the heavenly solid ground. Shaking with inevitable chill, cat-weak, she yet somehow managed to crawl to the call box and, heaving against its tree, ring the village, gasp her messages to the livery stable, the Dane lodge. She was in the doctor's house, in bed, herself, when she became conscious again. She said "Robin—top of Loom Mountain—quick!"
"Now, now..." said the young tidy smiling nurse. "We heard you the first time. It's all right. Doctor went straight up with the livery-stable sleigh three hours ago. The minute they get back to the lodge he's to call me. You've been saying that at intervals ever since they brought you in." She gave her hot milk and said, "You're a swell girl," and dashed to the tinkle of the telephone.
She came back saying, "Doctor says tell you it's all right. They've checked the pains and everything. But you'll have to wait for the medals and the cheering till day after tomorrow. You won't have pneumonia, but you're not out of the woods yet."
Eileen said, "No—I must take a train home," as her lids fell.
She knew better next day, of course. She was too limp to do anything but the easiest thing. She'd

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

CERTAINTY CAN BE OVERDONE

Rembrandt produced the famous picture now generally designated
"The Night Watch," and the people who had commissioned him to paint
the picture refused to accept it.
They regarded it as a hideous caricature. The canvas was therefore stored away only to be discovered many years later, brought out and given a place of conspicuous honor in the field of art. In fact it is looked upon today as one of the world's greatest pictures. Yet the generation in which it was produced saw nothing in it to praise and much to condemn.

May it be that we today are missing great values which are growing up about us? Every generation believes it is free of prejudice, and we especially so because we have experienced such profound scientific advance. But the people of the generation which believe themselves free of prejudice are the very ones who need most carefully to guard against prejudice. It is an arresting experience to wake up some day and realize that we have been tragically wrong in certain positions to which we have held with great tenacity. The people who encificed Jesus were sure as they walked up the slopes of Calvary that they were putting to death a blasphemer and an impostor. But that night as they came back to the city
they beat their breasts and realized that they had made a ghastly mistake.

It's fine to be sure in one's mind
but a great misfortune to be too sure.

MOTHERS, IT'S YOUR PARTY

On next Monday afternoon we again stage our annual Mother's Day party in co-operation with the Pitt Theatre, and it is our hope that the attendance this year will surpass the more than 250 mothers who attended our party last year. All mothers of this and adjacent counties, 55 years of age or older, are cordially invited to attend this theatre party
as our guests, and the more of you who attend the happier it will make us. This is indeed your party and we want you at the theatre
Monday afternoon.

FINE WORK

Not only have the members of the Junior Woman's Club done a good job in their sponsorship of the city-wide clean-up campaign this week, but as a whole our people in the business district have cooperated well with the effort, and should the promise of each to provide closed containers for trash
be carried out, our business section in the future will be much cleaner than in the past. Everyone should take pride in trying to keep our city streets just as clean as possible, but it is next to impossible to keep them
clean if we fill the back alleys with loose trash to be blown all over the streets at the first gust of wind.

UP TO FANS NOW

Baseball in Greenville has been a losing proposition,

financially, for several years
and it was after much difficulty that arrangements were made to again play ball this season. Now that the season is officially under way and the first game on the home ground is scheduled for tonight, it is up to those in Greenville who want baseball to support the club by attending the games. If the attendance is as poor this season as it was last year, there is a serious doubt that Greenville will finish the season and baseball in this city will be a dead issue for a long time. If you don't want this to happen, make up your mind right now to support the club and get your friends to do likewise.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinner

Washington—Don't, for goodness sake, call it a witch hunt, because it isn't like that at all. But rarely has there been so much "investigate-your-neighbor" stuff going on as there is in Washington today.

If you even plan to apply for a government job, be sure that your patriotic record is as clean as George Washington's.

It happens like this: You can't work for the government if you own allegiance to any organization that is violently "agin" our political way of life. Thus, when you apply for a job, the Civil Service Commission makes all possible investigation
within its means.

Suppose you get a job. You get assigned to a typewriter, we'll say, in the Treasury Department. The Treasury has its own investigatory staff. It gives you another going over. Still, all clear.

Then, you get an offer from a friend who has made to come over to the Office of Production Management at a better salary. You make the jump. You are investigated again—because certainly there are few spots where a person playing loose and free with his government's secrets is more dangerous than at OPM.

Refer It To FBI

Still, you come through without even a slightly muddy hem. Then, somebody hears something. You were seen last night with a very suspicious person. The "somebody" who heard something sits down and writes your boss, or the Federal Bureau of Investigation, or the Department of Justice. If the justice people think there is the slightest possibility there might be something in the case, they refer it to FBI, and J. Edgar Hoover's boys would be knitting on the job if they didn't make a thorough investigation.

So you see where this thing leads.
Working for the government is becoming a stroll through a maze of investigations. I know of one young woman who has worked for four different agencies in three years and claims she knows of six different times she has been investigated. Some of these were routine
—but a couple must have been on complaints of alleged subversive activities. She doesn't know definitely about that, but she does know that every time the investigating agency has given her a clean bill of patriotic health and her progress has been uninterrupted.

Aside from the routine initial investigations to determine if a prospective employee ever swore allegiance to an "ism" that advocates
the overthrow of our form of government, most of the proings now come as result of letters to the boss,
Civil Service, or FBI.

Nobody Is Exempt
Nobody is exempt—not even the department heads—but many of these letters can be put into the "poison pen" classification as soon as they are opened. Nevertheless, there are enough more that have to be investigated to make it a major headache with those who have to do the work. A lot of them even turn out to be nothing more than somebody's trying to get somebody's job—or hoping to even an old score
—or just being what is politely referred to as a crank.

But—and here is where the rub comes—some persons considered dangerous in their philosophies or activities have been exposed as result of these letters. The proportion is very small, still the total is enough to make it important that "no stone
be left unturned."

Serious government officials are trying to keep the thing from becoming a "witch hunt" without impairing the efficiency or trying the hands of investigating agencies.
The whole business poses a neat problem of keeping the sign "Democracy at Work" free from smears.

Short Shots

Raleigh, May 9.—The chances are very favorable that a really good road will be built to the summit of Mount Mitchell this year, with the next meeting of the Highway Commission, set for May 23, likely to be the occasion for official allocation of the $100,000 needed to build it.

Governor Broughton has made no statement, but it is known that he has been studying the matter and it is also known that he believes the project to be one of more than abstract interest. The natural and logical result of this study and this belief will be a gubernatorial go-ahead signal in the form of a special allotment of funds to the Mt.
Mitchell road.

Chief difficulties encountered in the past have been: (1) Inability to acquire property adjacent to the right-of-way without paying for it through the nose; (2) the apparent indifference of the highway commission in recent years, and (3) inability to decide how the funds for construction should be provided.

In addition there was, for a long time, no plan for location and construction; but this was removed about a year ago by a thorough survey which resulted in drafting a definite plan for the route, which would be about three miles long,
branching off from the Blue Ridge Parkway and running to within a very short distance of the summit.

Since then the department of conservation and development has been authorized to condemn the needed land if it cannot acquire it by negotiation, while Chairman Ben Prince of the new highway setup is known to realize the importance of the project. Now all that remains is to get the funds. The tenth district has objected to having the project charged against it, and the other commissioners have not been enthusiastic about putting up pro-rata from all districts. But now it seems probable that the Governor will settle the matter once and for

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—West 44th Street at 6th Avenue has become a bargain center for those who like jewelry made from shells. Nassau bubble shell, periwinkle from Haiti, carved bamboo and hoodoo beads from Haiti, Indian shell-bead work from Mexico, and sandalwood beads that retain their aromatic scent are displayed. Also white beads from Panama and bracelets of mangrove from Key West.

Fred Allen sums up H. Allen Smith thusly. "He is a waste of skin. . . . At a cannibal's buffet he would have no security. . . . When he dreams he only has time for a synopsis. . . . He was the first man to discover that you can cut a sleeping pill in half and enjoy a nap."

Remember Hoot Gibson, the ex-movie cowboy? . . . He's a song writer now. . . . Jack Leonard's new $500 a week contract ran only one week before the army called him. . . . I have never seen Katharine Cornell or Helen Hayes in night club. . . . Clifford Odets, since the collapse of the Group Theater seems moody and morose; at least he gives this impression in public.

One of those interesting fellows you meet around New York is a Mexican waiter in a 46th street restaurant named Ramon Viljos. He fought in the Mexican revolution with Villa and in several other revolutions in South America. Villa's rattlesnake pit, he says, actually existed. Villa's remedy for political doubters was to toss them into the pit where the snakes could get at them.

Winston Churchill's former secretary says in her reminiscences, "I was Churchill's Secretary" that the Prime Minister once had a "crush" on Ethel Barrymore. That was years ago when Miss Barrymore was the toast of London. In those days there were many who felt that way about the actress.

She says herself that once she fell in love with a poor and struggling musician, who prompted her to send this cable to her father, Maurice Barrymore: "Am in love with an unhappy musician. We have decided to get married and be miserable together."

Maurice cabled back, "Congratulations."

A week later Ethel cabled her father again. "All off between us. No marriage."

Again Maurice cabled back, "Congratulations."

With Paris now overrun by Germans one wonders what has happened to Arthur Lee's "Volupte," a famous torso delicately fashioned in rose marble. Lee did Volupte in Paris during the first World war. His model was the fiancée of a French officer who was at the front. He had finished the torso and was preparing the delicate task of modeling the head when the fiancée returned on furlough. She never came back to pose again.

Greenies Win Opening Tilt; Play Here At 8:00 Tonight

DOWN WILSON BY A 7-5 SCORE

Manager Wilson And McGarity Star on Offensive

With the opening game safely tucked in the official records, Ruben Wilson's Greenies will open the home season at Guy Smith park tonight at 8 o'clock, meeting Bill Herring's Wilson Tobs.

The Greenies last night took a 7-5 win from the Wilson team after having been held scoreless for five innings.

Bill Herring and Bill Severin were the mound starters, but both retired, Herring being relieved after seven innings because of a hit on the leg by a liner from the bat of Bennie Crowe, and Severin giving way to a pinch hitter in the fifth. Severin was relieved by Lefty Adams, a new-comer who received credit for the win.

Before retiring Herring had whiffed 13 batters.

Crowe got three for five to lead both teams at bat, but McGarity got a triple and a single in four trips and Wilson got two doubles in the same number of trips to the plate.

The Greenies entered the season with a makeshift infield because of the fact Sonny Kracke, regular short, was out with an injury. Hicks utility man and relief catcher, held down third base, with Harry Jenkins being transferred to short.

ECTC PIRATES BEAT ELON 7-6

Six Hits Bunched with Three Walks And Two Errors

By JIMMY GIANAKOS

Although they could garner only six hits off two opposing hurlers, the ECTC Pirates bunched them with three walks and two errors afield and manufactured enough runs to walk away victorious over the heavily favored Elon College nine, 7-6, yesterday afternoon at the Guy Smith stadium.

Lefty Dunn went the route for the Pirates and although the North State champs touched him for 14 safeties, they were well scattered and alert fielding by his mates pulled him out of several holes.

In Elon's half of the ninth with the Christians needing one run to tie the game, Gardner started things off with a sharp single to right field. Hobson then lashed a terrific blow to center that hit the fence and Gardner circled third for an apparent tying run but Norman Mayo, picked up the ball and made a beautiful heave to the plate, that just did nip the runner.

The Teachers made only one error afield that by Futrelle, third baseman, and heads-up play throughout the game served notice that Coach Christenbury's forces should well bear watching the rest of the season.

Elon drew first blood in the initial inning. Clayton singled, Gardner doubled past short, scoring Clayton. Hobson drew a walk. Daher then stepped up and lashed out a double bringing in Hobson. Dunn then proceeded to stop the uprising and struck out Tomancher and Burns.

E. C. T. C. evened up matters in their half of the first on a single by Waldrop, bases on balls to Brown and a blow by Mayo which scored the runners ahead of him. On the play Mayo was thrown out at third in an attempt to stretch the hit. The Pirates garnered another run in the second. Moritz reached first on an error, and scored a moment later on a terrific double to deep right by Ray Sisk.

The rest of the Pirates came in the fifth, when with two singles by Futrelle and Moritz were coupled with two walks and two errors by the Christians and four runs were chalked up before the relieving pitcher, Craft could stem the tide.

Gardner who led both teams at bat with a double, triple and single started the third inning for Elon by drawing a walk. He stole second and a moment later stole third. Daher then sacrificed him home on a long fly to Mayo. Tomancher ended the inning by popping up to Brown in center. More runs in the seventh. The runs Elon reached Dunn for three came on a double, single, followed by Gardner's triple, his third hit of the day. The final run came on an error by Futrelle. Elon threatened again in the ninth but Mayo's perfect throw to the plate ended the threat.

Score by innings:
Elon 201 000 300-6 14 3
ECTC 210 040 00x-7 6 1

Man vs. Plants.
In his laboratories man must use a temperature of about 2400 degrees Fahrenheit to separate the carbon and oxygen atoms of the carbon dioxide molecules; plants, in their tiny cell laboratories, separate them with ease.

Softball

Pepsi Cola trounced Carolina Sales 18-2 and Blount-Harvey eaked out a 6-5 win over Double Cola in last night's softball games.

Wells, Double Cola hurler, allowed only two hits, but his wildness in walking 10 players accounted for the loss.

Williams and Ferrell were the leading hitters as Pepsi Cola went on a batting spree to crush Carolina Sales.

Truck Driver Freed.
High Point, May 9.—(AP)—A coroner's jury exonerated William E. Sharp, Greensboro truck driver, in connection with the deaths of Mrs. Ruth Jane Phillips Martin and her two children in a truck-automobile accident near here last Friday.

It is reported that two states are considering using a new type luminous license plate.

MUST QUALIFY BEFORE MAY 22

Qualifying Now Under Way In Eastern Golf Tournament

Qualifying is now under way for the annual Eastern Carolina Golf Association Golf tournament to be held in Greenville May 23 and 24.

An 18-hole qualifying round must be played in Greenville before the night of May 22 to select flights and 36 holes of golf will be played either May 23 or 24 or both (18 holes each).

Much time has been spent in order to make this the best possible golf tournament and all local golfers are cordially invited to participate. Players are urged to consult the bulletin board at the club house for further information.

N.Y. Stock Market
New York, May 9 - (AP) - Buying of coppers, scattered rails and specialties made the stock market look as though it was set for a mild rally today, but, as it turned out, looks were deceiving in many cases. There were occasional relapses and, at the close, minor gains and declines were well sprinkled over the ticker tape. Transfers approximated 400,000 shares.

Musical Festivity To End Tomorrow

Of the series of program and concerts which has been given at the college during this week in recognition of National Music Week, two yet remain to conclude the week of musical festivity sponsored by the music department. Tonight at 8 o'clock a public concert will be given in the Wright auditorium, and on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 the band will play on the front campus lawn. Other programs which have been presented during the week have included three radio broadcasts by the band, Glee club, and vocal and piano soloists; a vocal concert by Elizabeth Coppedge and Donald Perry; and a chapel program by A. L. Dittmer and Denton Rossell of the faculty.

The public is cordially invited to tonight's program, which Mr. Dittmer announces will have three numbers by Training School organizations under the direction of Miss Hazel Elsom, one by the orchestra and the others by the chorus; one group by the college orchestra and one by the college choir, both of which are directed by Mr. Dittmer; one group by the women's glee club under Miss Gussie Kuykendall's direction; and vocal selections by Misses Clarissa Edwards, Louise Matheny, Frances Sutherland, Dorothy Massey, and Lorraine Pritchard, students in the department. Members of the music faculty of the college are A. L. Dittmer, head of the department, and Miss Lois V. Gorrell, Miss Gussie Kuykendall, Miss Hazel Elsom and Denton G. Rossell.

WINE INDUSTRY TO ADOPT PLAN

Will Attempt Self-Regulation Under John Caffey

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, May 9 - Following the example set by brewers and beer dealers, the wine industry in North Carolina will soon set up a self-regulatory body which it hopes will regulate for the vintners a share of public respect and approval. John Caffey, Greensboro lawyer sentenced, suspended upon payment of $25, costs to be deducted and the balance to go as a fine. If the defendants fail to pay, the judgement provided that the sentences are to run consecutively.

Another Negro James Payton, was convicted of carrying a concealed weapon and was given a 60-day sentence, suspended upon payment of a $50 fine and court costs. Payton was acquitted of a charge of assault on a female.

Other cases tried at the session were: William James Donaldson, drunkenness, pay costs; Joe Barber, drunkenness, 30-days or costs; Julian King, colored, 30 days, suspended upon good behavior for two years; Harp Lilly, colored, assault on a female, 60 days, suspended upon payment of a $5 fine and costs of court.

who headed the unsuccessful lobby against the 1941 bill banning sale of "fortified" wines, will be installed as head of the new organization.

Plans call for a more modest setup than the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Dealers committee headed by Colonel Edgar Bain of Goldsboro, but the wine people hope that it will be able to accomplish some of the things Colonel Bain's group is conceded to have accomplished in the matter of making the sale of beer in North Carolina a respectable business.

Complete organization details are not available, but it is thought that headquarters will be maintained in Greensboro. This is assumed because of Caffey's residence there.

There is no disputing the need for regulation of the wine industry which has been threatened with complete destruction in North Carolina because of widespread and open abuses of the "fortified" wine clause in the law as it stood prior to the 1941 legislature.

Conditions in many of the legal dry counties had grown so bad that "fortified" and high powered wine was more the target of prohibitionists than whiskey and other hard liquors.

In contrast, the beer industry's self-regulatory program has accomplished so much that it drew praise on the floor of the House from several speakers; while even such perennially "dry" papers as the Charlotte Observer plugged for exempting beer from any referendum.

Preaches On Fingers

The Secret OF BETTER REST Lies Underneath a Spring

On most springs, cross braces are riveted, like this:
But not on the KINGSDOWN. They're clinched like this:

KINGSDOWN
SMOOTH TOP SPRING

THE frame of a Kingsdown Spring couldn't be stronger if it were a single piece of steel. No rivets to pull loose, to get noisy, to tear bedclothes. Easier to clean, too, because there are no ridges or corners to catch dust. Exclusive with Kingsdown, this patented feature makes a stronger, longer-lasting spring that makes any bed sleep better. Get your Kingsdown - today.
