FERCE AERIAL BATTLE WAGED OVER DOVER CLIFFS

STRIKE TIES UP SHIPYARDS OF PACIFIC COAST

Machinists Strike Despite Pleas From Many Sources
LABOR LEADERS OPPOSE ACTION
Ships Tied In New York Harbors In Controversy Over Increase In War Risk Bonuses

(By The Associated Press)
Over the protest of the Navy Department, the Maritime Commission and labor leaders themselves, some 1,700 AFL and CIO machinists struck at west coast shipyards today, while on the east coast, vessels were tied up as crews demanded wage increases.

Eleven San Francisco bay shipyards and drydocks, heavy with defense orders, were affected by the walkout. Employers said $500,000 in contracts suffered. The workers demand $15 an hour and retention of double time for overtime. The men were offered $11.25 and time on a half.

John P. Frey, AFL Metal Trades head, said he was "disappointed" because the strike violated a coast-wise agreement. He opposed the workers' action. Yesterday Secretary Knox and Chairman Land of the Maritime Commission, jointly urged A. T. Wynn, secretary of the Bay City Metal Trades Council, to try to avert a strike. Wynn later said other metal trades union members would ignore picket lines to start Monday. Knox and Land said a strike would be against "national defense."

In New York three ships were tied up after owners refused to meet union demands for an increase from $1 to $2 a day in war risk bonuses for trips to the Far East and Australia. Vessels of the Luch-enbach and American Pioneer lines were affected. The CIO's National Maritime union and line officials, conferred today.

The National Labor Board refused, for the first time, to take jurisdiction in a labor dispute certified to it by Secretary Perkins, on the ground it involves an inter-union dispute instead of one between employer and employee.

The International Association of Machinists and the Brotherhood of Carpenters, both AFL affiliates, have local union members working on defense jobs at the plant of the Busch-Sulzer Bros. Diesel Engine Company, St. Louis. The two unions have long been in disagreement over which should erect or dismantle machinery.

Mr. Cox was alderman last year and lead the ballot this year. Rouse and Tucker were running for their first time.

Others Wanted It

Belief that the army flying school proposed to be established here in the late summer will prove a big asset to this section is shared by other cities in Eastern Carolina.
In a front-page featured story of "Thursday's" Ahoeskie County Herald headed "Greenville Gets Army Air School—Ahoeskie Wanted It, Had No Airport," the publication points out that that town was one of 60 making a bid for the project.
The story related progress on the project to date.
The paper also reprinted an editorial from The Reflector which pointed out benefits expected to be derived from the establishment of the training school here.

Doomed Esposito Brothers Balk At Prison Gate

Y. Anthony Esposito (left) is carried bodily by the feet while his brother, William (right) is grasped by deputies.

In addition to the fatalities, 60 persons received non-fatal injuries. The patrolmen investigated 67 accidents during April, compared with 75 in March. Fifty-four persons received non-fatal injuries in March. During last month the patrolmen made 603 arrests, 52 of the defendants being charged with driving drunk, while in March 574 arrests were made with 60 of the defendants being charged with driving drunk.

Of the total persons arrested 582 were convicted and 15 acquitted. Sentences meted out to the defendants totaled 41 years, six months and five days. Fines amounted to $30,303.90 and court costs came to $7,176.97.

The patrol recovered stolen property valued at $4,668 and collected $9,134.57 in highway revenue, such as from overloaded trucks and from operators of vehicles with improper licenses.

COURT SESSION IS CONCLUDED

Large Number of Civil Cases Removed From Docket

One civil session of Pitt Superior court was concluded late yesterday afternoon, but two more weeks are scheduled to start on Monday, May 19.

The next criminal session is scheduled for August.
A large number of cases were removed from the docket during the past week, many which had been on the docket for years, having been non-suited.

The Colleen Little Allsbrook vs. Mrs. James Long alienation of affections suit was non-suited when the plaintiff failed to appear in court when the case was called.
A mistrial was ordered when the jury failed to agree in the Ida Joyner vs. Edward Bowen, et al. case involving an automobile wreck in which the plaintiff lost an arm. The complaint asked $6,000.

Francis Hardy was awarded a $51.78 judgment against J. G. Stokes. The case involved an accounting for timber.
The plaintiff was awarded a judgment for $500 in the wreck case of Annie Ayres vs. Jerry Williams.

VICTORY OVER IRAQ IS SEEN

London Circles Confident Of Early British Successes

London, May 10.—(AP)—Informal circles expressed confidence today in an early British victory in Iraq because of RAF dominance in the air and the retreat of Iraq troops from Habbaniyah airdrome, where fighting began nine days ago.

Britain will demand cessation of hostilities before considering any request for mediation, these quarters said in commenting on Ankara reports that Iraq Defense Minister Madji Shemket was there asking Turkey to mediate.
The report from Ankara, which had no confirmation here, said Iraq had demanded the withdrawal of all but 2,000 British troops as a requirement for settling the dispute, but informed sources here said any such request would be rejected.

Cairo, May 10.—(AP)—British patrols pressed retreating Iraqi troops in the desert north of Habbaniyah airdrome, the British Middle East command announced, but the British air base and the port of Basara were both quiet.
Likewise only active patrolling was reported on the North African front and this in the vicinity of Salum, on the Egyptian border, where the advanced Axis lines lie.

Further progress was reported in the north and south advance on Amba Alaji, in northern Ethiopia, and in eastern Gojjam province, the British said, they had killed 80 Italians and wounded 200 of an Italian garrison retreating from Debra Markos.

SHOWDOWN ON CONVOY ISSUE IS POSTPONED

Roosevelt Expected To Make Important Statement

WILL DEAL WITH FOREIGN POLICY

Tobey Intends, However, To Force Vote On Amendment Prohibiting Use Of U.S. Convoys

Washington, May 10.—Administration leaders, confident that President Roosevelt is working on an extremely important statement regarding foreign policy, decided today to delay a Senate showdown on the convoy issue until after the chief executive has addressed heads of the Latin-American mission here next Wednesday night.

It generally was expected that the chief executive's talk would be one of the most important in months, and some informed legislators predicted it would clarify many existing questions concerning the extent to which the United States would go in insuring the safety of war supplies consigned to Great Britain.

For that reason, it was said, leaders decided to hold off a vote on the resolution by Senator Tobey (R-N.H.) to prohibit convoys—a proposal which was pigeon-holed by the Senate Foreign Relations committee last week.

Tobey intends to force a vote eventually, however, by offering it as an amendment to administration-sponsored legislation permitting the government to buy or lease foreign ships, but lying idle in American harbors. But that legislation will not be called up until after Wednesday.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), outspoken advocate of immediate action against the Axis powers, told reporters he was hopeful Mr. Roosevelt would suggest some affirmative course of action.
He predicted that after the chief executive has spoken the Tobey proposal would be defeated "by an overwhelming majority."

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said he understood some of Tobey's supporters were urging him not to force a vote on the convoy question. One of the latter, asking anonymity, said he had little liking for the language of the resolution because it "assumes" that the chief executive now has power to order convoys. This senator said he would prefer to assume that the President does not have such power.

District Meeting Is Well Attended

A meeting of the Sixth District of the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's club was held here last night with 30 present. Clubs represented were Ahoeskie, Goldsboro, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Washington, Wilson and Greenville.

Mrs. Ruby Barfield of Durham state president, was recognized and made a few remarks, including a statement that there were 1,105 members of Business and Professional Women's clubs in the state.
A trio composed of Mrs. Dink James, Mrs. E. O. Parkinson, Jr. and Miss Agnes Fullilove rendered two vocal selections.
Eli Bloom recited his humorous "Levinisky at the Wedding" to the enjoyment of all present.

The meeting then was turned over to Miss Elizabeth Rountree, director of the Sixth District, who outlined plans for the North Carolina Federation convention to be held at Wrightsville June 5-7 and discussed other business matters.
Door prizes were won by Mrs. R. T. Burnette of Greenville, Miss Bessie Prescott of Kinston and Miss Margaret Wynne of Washington. The club presented Mrs. Barfield with a register signed by all those present. Miss Rountree also was presented a prize.

The Ahoeskie club invited the district to hold the fall meeting there.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Babson Says It Is Up To Us

Babson Park, Mass., May 10.—This is a time when readers should quit arguing and get down to business. If you have a farm, live on it and watch it. If you have a store be in it every minute that it is open and attend to your customers as you never have before. If you work for someone else, give better service than you have ever given in years past. There is no use talking now as to what will happen after the war.

Let us learn something from Germany. Noted always for their industry, the Germans have to date surpassed all previous attempts at organization, efficiency, and thrift. Certainly, Germany has secured the solidarity of her citizens. In our determination to help Great Britain we must not forget there is a happy medium between ruthless autocracy and wasteful democracy.
All German life has long been subordinated to the good of the nation as a whole. Hitler has been tough. Standards of living, wages and hours, and other factors in the lives of the German people rank ahead of individual desires. Above all, discipline has been intensified and maintained. This last is not one of our own national characteristics. It was conspicuous by its absence in France and contributed to her downfall.

RAF Strikes At Several Nazi Centers

Dutch Fliers In American-Built Bombers Carry Out Their First Raid On German-Occupied Airports In Norway; Speculation Arises Over Possible Nazi Thrust Southward

(By The Associated Press)
British and German airmen battled fiercely in dog-fights high over Dover's white cliffs today, the first anniversary of Germany's invasion of the Lowlands, after a night in which RAF bombers struck hard at Mannheim and Ludwigshafen, chemical and manufacturing centers of southwestern Germany, and dropped bombs in the center of Berlin.

The Luftwaffe again raided England during the night, but the British Air Ministry said the bombing was on a much reduced scale and declared that three of the Nazi bombers were shot down, boosting the claimed toll of night fighters to 124 in May. German officials conceded factories at Mannheim had been set ablaze, but said the fires were soon put out; the Berlin raid of the RAF, they added, demolished apartment houses and killed a number of civilians.

Britain Enabled To Use Both Defense And Offense

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—The tremendous spurt in Britain's aerial warfare this week was described by some military authorities today as evidence that U. S. assistance is enabling the British to use both defense and offensive planes in much greater numbers than heretofore.

These authorities cited three recent developments involving plane supplies from this country as contributing to the RAF's reported success in taking heavy toll of Nazi attack bombers and spreading destruction over Hamburg, Bremen and other Reich cities.

They pointed first to the huge steady increase in American military plane production this spring. In March the output of both commercial and military craft totaled 1,216. Last month the output of military planes alone was 1,427 about equally divided between training and combat craft with probably more than half of the latter destined for Britain.

This was indicated by the fact that in March 414 planes were exported to the British, as compared with a total of 203 last September and only 37 last May when the Nazis were pressing their blitzkrieg into France.

Road Is Requested To Local Airport

The County Board of Commissioners, in session yesterday, passed a resolution requesting the State Highway Commission to provide a paved road from the Greenville-Bethel highway to the City-County airport.
The resolution was passed after the county commissioners, in session with the Greenville Board of Aldermen formally approved a contract with the Safair Corporation for the establishment of an army flying school at the airport.
With electric lines already extended to the airport and arrangements made for extending water facilities to the field, all conveniences will be provided if the Highway Commission builds the hard-surface road.

White Man, Negro Arrested At Still

ABC officers of Pitt and Beaufort counties yesterday arrested a white man and a Negro at a liquor still on Tranters creek.
The men, John Lilly, 19, and Willie Mitchell, 36, both of Beaufort county, were given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Gray in Washington and bound over to the Spring term of federal court.

The still was an 80-gallon capacity steam outfit, equipped with a pre-heating unit of 100-gallon capacity. Also destroyed were a 50-gallon doubler, 50-gallon cooling barrel, 300-gallon fermenter and about 300 gallons of mash ready for distillation. Four gallons of liquor also was found at the site. The plant was located on White Oak island.

The flowers used in the church will be furnished by the Junior department of the Church School, and there will be a short period of the service in which pupils from this department will sing two appropriate numbers and offer a prayer.

CONCERT PRESENTED BY SYMPHONIC CHOIR (By Lucy Cherry Crisp)

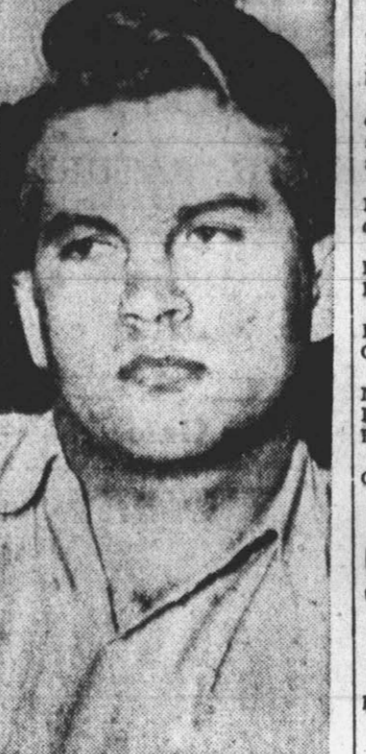

The concert presented on Wednesday evening in Wright Memorial auditorium by the North Carolina Symphonic Choir was characterized by the extraordinary excellence of performance for which this group of young high school singers, from Pitt and Greene counties, under the direction of Lewis Bullock Jr., recent brides, were also remembered with attractive gifts.

Luncheon guests included a small group of the younger married set of Greenville.

Five groups of songs made up the program, ranging from the music of Bach, Mendelssohn, Ivanhoff and Sibelius to the more modern songs of Stephen Foster and Aver; Robinson.

To each group these singers brought an ease and high quality of rendition that made of the entire program an experience not soon to be forgotten by the small, but warmly appreciative audience gathered to hear them. Out of such a program, it is difficult to select the highest points of excellence, it does seem, however, that for sheer beauty the "Cherubim Song," "Beautiful Saviour," "Sleep of the Child Jesus" and "Alleluia, Christ is Risen" deserve special mention. But that is to omit the poignant and moving arrangements of "Old Black Joe," "Swing Low" and "Song Mary," which this choir sang with an almost unbelievable delicacy and perfection of technique and understanding. The word "Symphonic" is well used for this group of 44 high school singers, many of whom do not know one note of music by its technical name. Their voices, from the light, high sopranos to the deep organ-toned basses, are like a choir of strings, which their director is able to raise into great crescendos of harmony, or lower to a hushed pianissimo, the meaning or the mood of the music may demand. It can scarcely be said too often that this Symphonic Choir, which is soon to go to California to sing for the National Federation of Music Clubs, is one of Eastern Carolina's most valuable, as well as most extraordinary, possessions. Two major reasons, among many, stand out as contributing to its significance: First, in one brief year it has attained high rank among choral groups throughout America. And second, it is a living example of what can be accomplished with young people who have had little or no previous musical experience or background, but who are willing to

Max Caldwell accused two teachers in a court charge at Camden, Mo., of flogging him in their nearby lakeside cabin, and said that the beating was done in the presence of Dr. Robert Murrell of Eldon, Mo. be trained; are not afraid of hard work; and are willing to sacrifice some pleasure for their art.

The expenses for the trip to California, which is being made at the invitation of the national president of Music Clubs, will be met in part by the singers themselves and in part by contributions from interested people in the communities from which they come. Any citizen of Greenville or other community who is interested in contributing to the expense funds for these young singers' California appearance may communicate with Mrs. Lewis Bullock.

Business On Move Las Cruces, N. M.—(AP)—Prosperity has turned the corner for a Las Cruces sign painter. As a sideline he catches terrapins and decorates their shells with scenic views. Then he ships them to other parts of the nation for sale. His best customers, he says, are Boy Scout troops of the northwest who stage terrapin parties.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

Two students, one a Chinese and the other a Japanese, were traveling recently in the same Pullman car. They maintained toward each other an attitude of alien hostility. It came to pass after the journey had progressed several hours, however, that the Japanese student opened his suitcase, and while he was engaged in looking for something therein, a copy of the Bible slipped out and fell to the floor.

Immediately the attitude of the Chinese student changed. He smiled, introduced himself and although they had progressed several hours, together they had warmed each other's hearts and dispelled the loneliness which a foreigner feels in a strange land by discussing together the deep things of their faith.

The most fundamental trouble with the world today is that it has lost its religion. The only thing that will bind nations together is the spirit of Jesus Christ. There can be no understanding between nations when the parties on one side are unbelievers and the parties on the other side are devout Christians. Conversely, there can be nothing but understanding, cooperations, and mutual respect when men are bound together by their devotion to the same Lord and Master.

MOTHER'S DAY

Tomorrow is Mother's Day, an occasion that should be close to the hearts of all, those who are fortunate enough to still have their mothers with them and those who have but a loving memory. Columns and columns could be written about mothers but they would fall far short of paying the tribute that all mothers deserve.

Naturally, if your mother is still living you will want to tell her again on this occasion of Mother's Day just how much she has meant and means to you, but after all, the finest tribute to your mother, whether she is living or dead, is for you, during a moment of quiet meditation on Mother's Day, to send up a fervent prayer that you will be strong enough to become the fine Christian man or woman that you know your mother wished you would become when she held you as a small child in her lap and kissed away your sobs and cares.

To be able to fulfill the dreams that flashed through your mother's mind on those precious occasions is the greatest tribute that you can pay your mother.

our own county near Ayden. The grower was standing by and stated that he had six acres of the berries and that he would probably get 100 crates of prime berries from each acre in addition to the smaller berries that would be marketed for preserving, syrups, ice cream and other products.

We knew that some of our farmers raised a few berries for the local market, but frankly, we were surprised to know that anyone in our county was producing such fine berries on such a large commercial scale. It just goes to show that most anything can be produced from the soils of Pitt County and that it is foolish for us to continue to depend entirely on tobacco. The best way to beat low tobacco prices is to produce other things that will bring good prices.

One of the most interesting jobs GPO does is the daily publication (when Congress is in session) of the Congressional Record. It's interesting, because you can't tell a thing about the Record. It puts GPO in the same spot as the housewife who never knows whether her spouse will eat dinner downtown tonight or bring home from one to ten guests.

What Doesn't It Print?
While I was gathering these little facts and figures, it occurred to me that I would like to know just exactly what GPO does turn out. I was sent to the superintendent of documents and what I got was a catalog of more than 3,000 pages.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
Religious education is indispensable to individual happiness and to national peace and prosperity. It is a sure foundation of virtue, and the only sure index of duty which we owe to God, and to our fellow man. How can anyone pursue a reputable course without rules and without principles which religious training affords. And what man of reasonable intelligence is so hardy as to assume the tremendous responsibility of withholding those instructions and consolations which dispels doubt, soothes affliction, calms the bed of sickness, eases the dying pillow, and opens the gates of an effulgent futurity to the young.

The best preparation which we can give them, for meeting the trials and performing the duties of life is true religious principles. Through the influence of this only can a noble character be formed, which will lead one to act, to suffer and resist wisely and honorably in every situation of life. This only can deliver from the power of evil, and secure him from becoming the slave of circumstances and accidents.

The essential truths of religion are those truths which we know concerning God, and concerning ourselves, considered as immortal beings. It is religion which teaches us what we are, and on whom we depend, and which widening immeasurably our sphere of view, discovers to us by far the most important of our relations, those which connect us with God and with eternity. It is little to say that it is the most sublime; it is the most practical, and the most essential of all the sciences.

The instilling of religious principles in the mind ought to be the primary object in the education of the young. Let it mingle naturally, easily, and gracefully in all their pursuits and acquisitions. Let it be rendered intelligible, attractive, and practical. So as to win their affections, command their reverence and ensure their obedience. Children of any class whatever may be taught in a great compass and liberality of knowledge, not only without apprehension, but with assiduity and encouragement; but let them above all things "be taught of the Lord."

SEEING THROUGH MY WINDSHIELD

By VERONA LEE JOYNER, H.D.A.

All the families in the county have been busy this week setting their tobacco and doing spring house cleaning. Even with their many farm activities 65 ladies attended the Home Demonstration Club. The garden leaders reported that they were getting from their gardens for the first time garden peas and strawberries.

Home Demonstration Clubs
Mrs. J. A. Tripp was hostess to the Factolus club on Monday afternoon with 16 of the 18 members present. Mrs. Cecil Satterthwaite, citizenship leader, gave a most interesting talk on "Democracy Is Your Business." The club contributed one dollar for seeds for British gardens.

Red Banks club met in the attractive and spacious country home of Mrs. L. W. Cherry. Mrs. Tucker Mills, market leader, explained the marketing program of Pitt County Mutual Exchange to the members, encouraging more of the members to sell on the local curb market. Mrs. Ola Kittrell, home garden leader, brought the club chrysanthemums in her choice varieties. This club also contributed one dollar for seeds for British gardens.

A most enthusiastic group of Red Oak members met in the home of Mrs. Herman Evans with Mrs. B. L. Tyson presiding in the absence of the president. An interesting report was given on garden hints for May by Mrs. H. R. Allen; marketing in Pitt county by Mrs. C. W. Bright; and summer storage of clothes by Mrs. W. T. Page. A group of ladies from this club made 20 pounds of sugar into divinity candy.

BABSON

role our country is playing, our program of defense and aid is seriously bogging down. This is not due so much to bottlenecks, strikes, priorities, lack of machine tools, skilled workers, etc., as to a lack of appreciation on the part of our people as to the seriousness of the situation. The commonly considered hindrances are largely of a "mechanical" nature. They should all including the strikes and shutdowns be cleared up in short order. The real bottleneck is our spiritual attitude.

There is too much of a tendency to believe that should Hitler defeat England that the affairs of our own country would remain relatively unchanged. Isolationists believe that instead of our trading with London our relationships would simply be transferred to Berlin. Unfortunately, the problem is not so easily solved. Should Hitler gain and remain in control of Great Britain, the Northern Continent, the continent of Europe, Africa, and of the Middle East, we would become a secondary power and be dependent upon him—invasion or no invasion.

Watch The Politicians
As a guide to public opinion, the way our Senators and Representatives vote is worth considering. Senator La Follette is very close to the President, yet he strongly opposed him when the Lend-Lease bill came up. The Senator knew that the majority of his constituents were not in favor of the passage of this legislation. Not alone in Wisconsin, but in Minnesota, Illinois, and Iowa the people were generally opposed to this bill. This does not mean that the Midwest is in love with Hitler's form of government. Rather it is either concerned over the proper way to defend this country and uncertain as to the step to take, or else it lacks courage and a willingness to sacrifice for the common good.

They squeeze Petroleum to get better orange juice

In orange groves, a gas is "injected" into irrigation water and carried to the roots of the trees to make bigger, sweeter oranges. . . . Because scientists at the "University of Petroleum," Shell's $3,500,000 research laboratories, "squeezed" a petroleum gas and got hydrogen. This they combined with nitrogen to make excellent fertilizer (Shell NH3).

Simple? Hardly that. Nor was it simple to combine the right molecules from petroleum and make synthetic rubber, glycerine, explosives, or the new Solutized Shell Gasoline.

Try a tankful of research genius...

NEW Solutized SHELL

TWO scientific factors advance the Road Performance Rating (RPR) of the new Shell Gasoline to an all-time high:

- It is refined with the Solutizer Process (originated by Shell's research laboratories, Patent No. 2,149,379). This steps up performance by removing the "pro-knock mercaptans."

2 Thermal conversion makes it extra rich in iso-compounds similar to iso-octane—first produced commercially by Shell scientists to give America 100-octane aviation gasoline.

LOSS FOLLOWS THURSDAY WIN

Wilson's Monk Webb Strikes Out Nine Local Men

The Wilson Tobs last night evened the opening series, defeating the Greenies 10-5 behind the hurrying of Monk Webb, after the locals had taken the opening tilt in Wilson on Thursday night.

Brief pre-game ceremonies saw Mayor B. B. Sugg throwing the first ball with the Club President doing the catching. Ty Wagner, director, was at the bat.

Five errors were marked up against the Greenies and these helped Wilson to victory, although the visitors out-hit the locals 14 to 10.

Scagg, Jenkins and Teller each got two safe blows for the locals while Fenrock, Crowe, Wilson and Mercer each hit safely once. Jenkins, Scagg and Wilson hit doubles with Crowe coming through with a triple.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER

YESTERDAY: Even now that she and Martin Dane are married, Eileen Gardner can scarcely decide what was luck and what was purpose in the course that brought them together. For Eileen had come to New York to find Martin without even knowing his last name, and partly because of her effort to support herself, partly because of her love for him.

That was true, literally, for Eileen had actually courted her young and rich husband.

Chapter 23

Martin's Private Devil
The latchkey clicked in the door. Martin and Eileen Dane stood in the living room of his apartment alone for nearly the first moment since the excited, frolicking marriage at the county seat nearest the lodge in the Adirondacks. She clung to him suddenly.

"Oh, Martin, I'll try never to make you sorry!" she said. But he only said, kissing her as you would a child, "You're so cute and little, I don't see how you could!"

The manservant, William, soft-footed and properly welcoming, came in to take their things. And Martin was talking about practicalities. Her allowance, the name of a good social secretary, the necessary shopping for their Honolulu trip. The intensity she had seen that once had not shown again.

By the time they were off, the transcontinental plane and aboard the luxury cruiser, she accepted the fact that the Martin of that last day at the lodge was not the Martin she was to know. Even his most passionate moments had an over-tone as if he was always watching not to care too much. Not to go too far. Not to give himself away to anyone.

But he treated her as if he liked her. As if he wanted her to have as good a time as possible. Indeed, he seemed to get a stimulus from her enjoyment of everything.

So she tried to show as much pleasure as she could. Over the new smart clothes, the luxurious steamer-room, the good food, the bowing waiters, the gala nights, the dancing, the swimming in the ship's pool, the games. The whole long bright costly playtime he was not willing that they should stay by themselves like most honeymoon couples.

"Nonsense. I don't want to coo you up like somebody in a harem," he said. She did not know how to tell him that she'd rather have been frightened. Sometimes she was frightened by the watching eyes, the whispers and excited attention that followed them everywhere they went.

"You ain't seen nothin' yet," Martin said, grinning. "Wait till we hit the cameras at Honolulu. There'll be six reporters under every leg. We played in incredible luck, getting off without them. Come on, there's a horse race down in the lower lounge."

He was half laughing, but he had bent to kiss her, like any bridegroom snatching his moment, when a voice spoke from a deeper shadow somewhere behind them.

"Did you see the girl who pulled off marrying Dane?"
The whole thing stood out sharp for the rest of her life. The moon big and low on the water. The shadowy deck. The whimpering guitars playing "Walkie" between the dances. And the sick terrified hurt feeling that shot all through her when she had been so happy before as a child at a party. Martin, as he stood away from her, tall and quiet, lighting a cigarette in cupped hands.

"A man's cheerful voice answered. "No. Anybody who could shake him off Caroline has what it takes. How come?"

"Somebody said he went slumming with his mother and met her working on gents' clothing," the girl's voice giggled. "Just a change, you know. She looks all right, little and rather cute, long eyelashes. I haven't heard her talk."

"You have to hand it to her. It will end in a swell settlement for Little Dimovitz or whatever her name is and back to some original dream man with a good radio or movie engagement and the piece of cash."

The band crashed, and the unseen couple slipped away. Martin said, exactly as if he had heard nothing, "Somebody looking for you for this one? Want to go back?"

"Say it!"
His face was as unmoved and pleasant in the bright moonlight as always.

"Didn't you hear them? Oh, Martin, they're wicked!"
He laughed. "You'll have to get used to living in a goldfish bowl. Come along."

She clutched his arm her face tipped up to his in the moonlight savagely shaking back her brown curls. "It isn't so. If you hadn't a penny 'Say it'!"

"Certainly. If I hadn't a penny which would be a nuisance. I'd hate it."

He drew her along, back into the circle of the floodlight, dancing in his arms. She thrilled helplessly as his hold tightened. She was so crazy over him that he must understand the world thought like these people should be a romantic little nut to forget that it would. But not Martin. Not Martin!

Danger
Men hated being nagged with "Do you love me?" And—remember what had been happening last month. Hard dreary work. Not enough to wear, scarcely enough to eat. No hope, nothing left—and now, this! She should be happy. She would be. The rest would come. She would awaken that aliveness and interest which she had not seen again.

But it took a Hawaiian surf which had frightened all the whites ashore to waken it. That was the next thing she learned about him; his passion for physical risks. She hadn't realized where he was, what he was doing, till little Robin Perrine screamed.

Then she saw him. Out on the surfboard, riding the terrible white breakers that nobody could ride—that nobody had any business to ride. The guards, who had bullied everybody else ashore, letting it happen because he was the millionaire Martin Dane. And she couldn't scream or swim out to him or anything an ordinary bride would have done.

He was in, safe, shouting, laughing at them. Not tired, not even serious. He went on laughing and talking as he sent a boy up the beach for cigarettes and a drink.

The edge of danger was what whipped him up to normal interest and pleasure. What had done it before, Eileen made herself smile as he threw himself down by the group, the way you smile at a difficult customer when you want to scream.

"Hey, Dane," one of the men said, "you'll have to cut out the 57 varieties of suicidal mania now you have a missis."

Martin only laughed and said throwing a wet arm around Eileen's bare shoulders, "Not a bit of it. Eileen's more of the same. Isn't she Roly? You tell 'em about the way she took that rotten ice. A man can't promote his own wife, can he kid?"

The Perrines were telling the story eagerly to the group. Martin listened with what seemed like a man's normal pride in his wife's doings to the tales of her ski flight down the thawing snow over the sagging ice, to save Robin.

"Just the same," Roly ended, "Eileen was scared stiff over you just now. Risking yourself is one thing. Watching a brand-new husband ask for trouble is something else again."

Eileen wondered how cheerful stupid Roly could know that, when Martin didn't. For he only laughed again and said, "Not Eileen!"

Later, in their suite at the hotel she said in a voice she tried to make casual, "Martin, why do you take risks like that?"

"For the kick of course," He smiled over his shoulder at her. He was standing by the window in a Japanese beach robe his hair ruffled. Her heart jumped. Being with him, alone like this, was excitement and delight enough for her. But it wasn't enough for him.

An Old Hand At Double Talk
Seattle, Wash.—(AP)—Mrs. Raymond J. Evans' eyes were drawn to a newspaper item which reported: "Twin girls were recently born to the Warren Robinsons in Holdenville, Okla. Mrs. Robinson is a twin her grandmother a twin and Robinson's uncle a twin."

Mrs. Evans promptly wrote to the Robinsons:
"We are not greatly impressed. My great aunt was the mother of four pairs of twins, my mother was a twin, my aunt had twins, my two sisters are twins, one of my sisters is the mother of twin girls, my brother is the father of twins, and last but not least, I am the grandmother of twins."

"You will understand now why we had to smile, and what prompted us to write you this note when we read the clipping."

One Man's Hobby.
Norman, Okla.—(AP)—Collecting rare orders is the hobby of Dr. Ralph Beinfang of the University of Oklahoma school of pharmacy. He has 286 of them from far corners of the earth, such as oil of rose from Bagdad; hyssop from central Asia and zdravetz from Bulgaria. Dr. Beinfang preserves the odor in oil and transfers it to a card. The card holds the odor for as long as two years and is filed in a card index.

Hog Weights.
A weight of 250 pounds is considered the most desirable weight for hogs at market. Selected light hogs, weighing from 155 to 185 pounds, are considered bacon hogs.

Carol Arrives At Port In Bermuda

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 10.—(AP)—The United States liner Excambion docked here this morning with former King Carol of Rumania and Madam Lupescu aboard. The Rumanian flag was flying from the bow.

There was little excitement in Bermuda over the arrival of the royal exile, and only a few persons turned out to see him. The former king is planning to go from here to Cuba to make his home. An official Bermuda reception was arranged for his arrival. Shortly before his boat reached Bermuda, Carol sent a ship's radiogram to his son, young King Mihail, at Bucharest, saying: "From across the Atlantic, thoughts and love."

Aemricans Refute Statement By DNB

Bern, Switzerland, May 10.—(AP)—The Germans announced—and American officials promptly denied—today that Admiral Jean Darlan had told Admiral William D. Leahy, United States ambassador to Vichy, that if the United States entered the war "the common task of Europe would be to organize a common defense."

The U. S. embassy denied the report, which came from DNB, official German news agency, in Paris and Leahy himself said the question never had arisen in his talks with the French vice-premier, who also is foreign minister and navy minister in the Vichy regime.

DNB said that Fernand De Brinon, Vichy's ambassador to the occupied zone declared that France still has a navy ready for fighting, alluding to the possibility of American intervention, particularly in Africa. De Brinon, it said, told American newspapermen that if the United States intended to occupy Dakar, French West Africa, force would be necessary.

Japs Find Chiang Not Too Agreeable

Tokyo, May 10.—(AP)—Headed now avowedly to discuss means of settling the troublesome China affair, Japan's ambassador to Nanking was quoted today as saying Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was determined not to talk peace except through the United States as mediator.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi said in a dispatch from Shanghai that the ambassador, Kumatore Honda had declared, however, "there can be no peace which will be concluded through mediation of a third nation."

Honda's return from Nanking via Shanghai to talk with Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsukawa coincided with increasingly insistent editorials in the Japanese press that the China incident be settled quickly to further the progress of Japan's greater East Asia program.

New York, May 10.—(AP)—The stock market got its back against the wall today and punched out sizable recoveries for many recent laggards. While it was far from a runaway rally, bidding was sufficient to put the two-hour volume at around 300,000 shares, against 200,000 last Saturday.

GOOD RETURNS FROM TURKEYS

Large Crop And Record Prices Reported For 1940

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, May 10.—Whether twelfth Thanksgivings were responsible for it or not, North Carolina farmers in 1940 sold a record number of turkeys and received a record high cash income from them, according to figures just released by Russell P. Handy, junior statistician of the state department of agriculture.

Tar Heel farmers raised 309,000 turkeys last year and sold 288,000. Both figures were new highs for the state. The 1940 birds averaged $2.75 per head, so that the total cash income from sales reached $792,000 compared with a 1939 cash sale value of $678,000.

An estimated 25,000 birds, valued at $69,000 were consumed in farm households, making the total gross income from turkeys (cash sales plus value of home consumption) $861,000, or about 15 per cent above the previous year.

On January 1 this year the number of turkeys on North Carolina farms was estimated at 72,000, or 8,000 under the number reported at the beginning of 1940. Total value of turkeys on farms January 1, 1941, was estimated at $176,000, an average value of $2.45 per head compared with a total value of $204,000 and $2.55 per head on January 1, 1940.

Turkeys are raised in practically all counties of North Carolina. According to the United States Census Bureau county leads in the number of turkeys raised, with Anson and Mecklenburg following in second and third places.

Committee Probe Of Strikes Asked

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) announced today that the special Senate Committee investigating national defense had asked for all information on strikes delaying defense production in San Francisco and Detroit.

"The Senate committee does not propose to substitute itself for the ordinary machinery for settling strikes by a conciliation and mediation," the senator said. "But the Senate committee does intend to insist that where work important to the national defense program is stopped, negotiation for resumption of work should be speeded."

Dittmer Featured On Club Program

The Greenville Kiwanis club last night observed National Music Week with A. L. Dittmer, head of the music department of East Carolina Teachers College, making the principal talk.

In addition to addressing the club members and guests, Mr. Dittmer rendered two violin selections. Dr. K. B. Pace appeared before the club in behalf of the Cancer Control campaign being waged.

MAKES REPORT ON APRIL WORK

Health Department Activities Are Revealed

Following is the report of Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, county health officer, on activities of the Health Department during the past month, as outlined in the Pitt County Medical Society at its regular monthly meeting:

The principal activities of the Health Department for the month of April were: pre-school examinations, diphtheria immunizations, school dental work, venereal disease control, meat market and dairy inspections, community sanitation and maternal and infant welfare work.

The important contagious disease statistics for April show 5 cases of diphtheria, 13 cases of tuberculosis, and 85 cases of measles.

Pre-school examinations for the year were completed in April, during which month there were 147 pupils examined.

The number of diphtheria immunizations for April was 625, the highest number for any month in the history of the department.

School dental work under Dr. A. D. Underwood continued through the month. He examined 469 children, referred to the private dentists 252, treated 219, with a total of 1,045 operations. It is our opinion that no money spent in the health work yields larger returns than does the money spent in the oral hygiene program. The only trouble is the program is inadequate for reaching the number of children who deserve it.

The attendance at the venereal disease clinics showed a rather satisfactory increase for April as compared with March. There was an attendance of 1426 in March and an attendance in April of 1572.

Mr. Bivens, the county sanitary officer, has been very active in meat market inspections, particularly those meat markets that are strictly rural; in other words, markets run in connection with country grocery stores, filling stations, etc.

Both the county and city sanitary officers were active in dairy inspections, a total of 21 inspections having been made. All dairies were given a Grade A rating.

Community sanitation is suffering for the want of a WPA privy project. The state privy law does not apply to residences that are not commercial. Where Mr. Warren will no doubt chuck the whole thing, which will give the education authorities a good chance to avoid performance of the remainder of the state's obligation to purchase Warren books.

"That will prove and 'out' which will enable the authorities to get from under the onus of being responsible for the teaching, in North Carolina schools, of a textbook in which it will never be possible to rephrase much confidence no matter how thoroughly it is overhauled and fine tooth-combed for mistakes.

Which will put things, officially, back where they were before the text adoption of last year, with the Warren book eliminated.

Like daily baseball boxscores and flying weather reports, the condition of the water and the high tide table are so important to the public that daily reports are made by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey and are published in all metropolitan newspapers. For instance, today at Sandy Hook, high tide occurred at 10:45 a. m. and 10:45 p. m. . . . At Oyster Bay it was 1:29 a. m. and 2:01 p. m. . . . At Montauk point it was 11:25 a. m. and 11:31 p. m.

Man About Manhattan

New York.—The first of the mackerel hauls shown up in local waters, and I can hear sighs from 100,000 fishermen in the metropolitan area being wafted gently and gratefully on the coastal breezes. When the mackerel are running New York isn't quite its natural self. There is something to the behavior of the "mottle backs" that excites most salt-water fishermen. As a result, captains of fishing sloops up and down the coast are ready for all comers.

The North Star, Pioneer II, Claire, Oblay, Fidas, Tambou II, Usona, Klontyke, Moccasin are manned with crew, tackle and bait. You don't have to have a rod, hook, line, sinker, or anything to enjoy fishing around here. The captain of the sloop provides all—for a small fee.

The Whitby II has just inaugurated its fishing season. If you ride the Whitby II, you will go after cod and black fish. She leaves every day and Sunday from pier 7 Sheepshead Bay. A couple of bucks pays for everything, and you keep all the fish you catch.

Captain Harry Berlin of the Claire, an old hand at piloting fishermen to the fishing grounds, tells me two of his guests mopped up with a catch of more than 400 flounders in a single day. They were running up to two pounds, which is nice pan size. Pollock also are appearing in satisfying numbers of the Pointe—The Point being Montauk point.

If you stand in West Street on the Hudson in the neighborhood of the 80's you can see traps in the river, set far out beyond the channel bed. Traps take mackerel as well as hook and line. These are large cone-shaped nets staked out from the Jersey side. They are plainly marked so as not to interfere with shipping.

Surprise Party For A Theater
Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Someone distributed handbills to 5,000 school children announcing a free show and pet contest at a Tulsa theater. It was a surprise to L. A. Chatham, theater manager, ut he decided it was a good idea and followed through.

Fugitive With Forethought
Alamosa, Colo.—(AP)—Eleven years ago someone stole a key to the Conojos county jail. Recently a cattle rustler was arrested. The next morning his cell was vacant. In the door was the missing key. On it was a note: "Here's your key."
