Rome Admits Pressure In All Sections Of Ethiopia

BRITAIN CLAIMS ENEMY TRAPPED

Rome, However, Contends That Italian Stronghold in Northern Ethiopia Holding Out Defense

Rome, May 15.—(AP)—The Italian high command reported today that British forces were exerting heavy pressure on Fascist troops in all sections of Ethiopia, particularly in the Amba Alaji sector where the Italians were said to be resisting "with extreme fury."

Amba Alaji is the last Italian stronghold in northern Ethiopia and is being defended by troops under command of the Duke of Aosta who fell back to that sector after the British occupied Addis Ababa.

The British have reported that approximately 38,000 Italians are trapped at Amba Alaji with little hope of escape.

Ground operations on the North African front, the daily war bulletin said, were limited yesterday to artillery exchanges at British-held Tobruk and scouting activity east of Salum, Egypt.

Italian planes were reported to have subjected the harbor and defense works at Tobruk to a series of bombardments, during which a steamer was set afire.

Three British planes were shot down, the communique said, when Italian and German bombers attacked airbases at the British Mediterranean base of Malta.

British planes were reported to have attacked the Axis at Derna west of Tobruk.

Local Guard Unit To Receive Rifles

Rifles, complete with bayonets slings and scabbards, will be issued to the 50 members of the local unit of the State guard at the regular drill session tonight, and Captain Arthur B. Corey advised the men to wear or bring some old clothes as they would be called on to clean their rifles.

Following an almost unanimous vote on the part of the members, drills are being held twice each week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the drills last for an hour and a half.

Captain Corey expressed much satisfaction with the progress his men had made and said they were "ready for duty" any time they are called upon for service.

The unit is composed of 50 men and three officers, Captain Corey, First Lieutenant W. J. Bundy and Second Lieutenant J. L. Jones.

Two New Engagements For Professor Deal

Professor R. C. Deal of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, will deliver the commencement address at the Lewiston-Woodville consolidated schools tonight.

Backs Reynolds

Washington, May 15.—(AP)—Senator Reynolds (D-N.C.) was recommended for chairmanship of the important Senate Military Affairs Committee today after a closed session of the Senate Democratic Steering Committee.

Senators said the vote was 12 to three, with Sen. Glass (D-Va.), Sen. Guffey (D-Pa.) and Sen. Green (D-RI) asking that they be recorded as opposed to the elevation of Reynolds, who has opposed some administration foreign policies.

The Steering Committee's recommendations usually are followed, but the Senate must finally approve. The action of the Steering Committee, informed persons said, followed an earlier meeting of the Democratic leaders in the Senate at which it was decided it would be better not to wage a floor fight against selection of the North Carolinian.

Speculation Continues On Nazi Deputy Fuehrer Hess

HESS INCIDENT IS EXPLAINED

Churchill Declares Full Report Will Be Made On Bizarre Case At First Opportunity And Defends Action In Delay So Far

London, May 15.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that he would report at the first opportunity on the Rudolf Hess incident, but that he would "be guided in the selection of that opportunity by the public interest."

Pressed to explain a delay of 48 hours in the original British announcement of Hess' parachute arrival, Churchill said, "the delay certainly was not unfortunate, but if it had been unfortunate it would have been unavoidable."

"First of all we had to establish the identity of the injured German pilot who had landed, and we only had evidence which, while it was very interesting, could not be considered conclusive in view of the surprising character of the information."

Churchill said "I did not believe it when I was told in the course of Sunday, I think it was, but I immediately sent an officer who knew the deputy Fuehrer and was able to speak with him in fluent German."

Laborite Arthur Woodburn, a Scot, asked, "is there any truth in the inference suggested by the German wireless that the intelligence department has created the impression in Germany that Scotland is ready to make a separate peace with Germany?"

Churchill replied "whatever delusions may exist, that is not among them."

CITY JOINS IN COTTON WEEK

Local Merchants To Push Sales Of Products

Greenville, along with the rest of the nation, will observe National Cotton Week, May 16-23, during which 150,000 retail stores in the country will participate in the movement designed to increase sale of cotton products.

Greenville merchants will feature the sale of cotton material in an effort to help move the surplus cotton crop.

It is being pointed out that cotton not only is the most comfortable fabric for the summer season, but that purchase of cotton products is a patriotic duty in the cotton-producing areas and that each purchase will help the farmer.

Since the drastic reduction in tobacco acreage, Pitt county farmers have resumed planting their full cotton quotas. This fact is reflected in figures showing the 1939 cotton crop in Pitt county brought on $73,330, compared with a 1940 crop estimated to be valued at $497,000.

With Pitt county returning to greater production of cotton, every person who participates in National Cotton Week by purchasing cotton goods will be directly helping his neighboring farmers.

The movement has the support of the various organizations in the section and every effort is being made to make the campaign a success in this immediate section, where the production of cotton is on the increase.

Tarboro Cotton Fete To Be Held May 23rd

BRITONS TOLD BEWARE HESS

Labor Minister Expresses Belief Trip Made With Knowledge Of Hitler And That Hess Holds No Sympathy For British People

By The Associated Press British Labor Minister Ernest Bevin said today that he believed Nazi Deputy Fuehrer Hess flew to Scotland with the full knowledge of Adolf Hitler, but that he doubted Hess came "out of mad sympathy for the British people."

In the first outspoken official comment on the bizarre episode Bevin declared:

"From my point of view, Herr Hess is a murderer.

"You can understand my feeling when I tell you he was the man who collected an index card on every trade union leader in Germany and the social democrats, and when the time came, they were either sent to concentration camps or murdered."

Bevin hinted broadly that Hess' concern was for the German people—not the British—as a result of Nazi casualties in the Balkans and death and destruction wrought by RAF bombs on Germany itself.

In Berlin, Nazi sources said it was not expected that Reichsfuehrer Hitler would make a speech to the German people on the Hess affair.

Authoritative quarters in London spiced the riddle by declining to confirm unofficial but censor-passed reports that the Nazi deputy Fuehrer, in defiance of Adolf Hitler's orders, flew to Britain as a self-constituted "apostle of peace."

The new twist further complicated the war's strangest story. These facts emerged:

1. A British radio spokesman first hinted broadly that Hess was divulging vital German military secrets by declaring he was talking and writing "words which will make the German high command sweat."

2. The Berlin radio subsequently insisted that Hess, suffering a "messiah complex," flew to the Scottish estate of the Duke of Hamilton, an old friend, in the hope of bringing about an end to the war.

3. Informed British quarters then accepted this version—only to have it cast in doubt, by high officials.

Hoey-Reynolds Contest Could Be A Nice Fight

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, May 15.—This Hoey-Reynolds affair, with the national committee seat for North Carolina as the prize, could be a nice, hot political battle of the type Tar Heels have had the pleasure of enjoying only once since the halcyon days of 1936 when Clyde Hoey, Ralph McDonald and Sandy Graham went about the state casting aspersions upon each other in no uncertain terms.

Since then the only really finish fight of big time caliber was the festive speakership race of 1939 in which Lobby Ward ultimately proved (by two votes) that Durham is in the west.

STRIKES FORCE SHUTDOWN IN AUTO INDUSTRY

UAW Calls Walkouts At Three Hudson Plants

GENER'L MOTORS ANOTHER VICTIM

Workers At Flint Plant Go On Strike Despite Agreement Not To Do So Until Friday Afternoon

By The Associated Press The United Automobile Workers (CIO) union called a strike against three Hudson Motor Company plants in Detroit today and General Motors Corporation reported a walkout at four of its Flint, Mich., plants, despite agreement to postpone a strike against GM until Friday.

Company officials estimated that upwards of 25,000 workers were idle.

From Washington, R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, telegraphed members of his union to return to work on the afternoon shift if they had left their jobs, and to continue at work elsewhere until General Motors gives its answer regarding settlement of the dispute.

The telegrams said the union officials and negotiating committee had "assured the federal government that there would be no strike until 7 a. m. Friday."

"If the corporation does not accept mediation board findings by 4:10 a. m. Friday we will order the strike in effect as voted Sunday," Thomas wired.

A strike which had closed the New Haven Foundry Company at New Haven, Mich., was settled last night, permitting the Dodge division of the Chrysler Corporation at Detroit to resume full operations. Dodge obtains its cylinder block supply from the foundry company and has been forced to curtail production. No details of the issues nor settlement agreement were given.

F. C. Harding Hurt In Auto Accident

Hospital authorities this afternoon reported that the condition of F. C. Harding, who was injured in an automobile accident before breakfast this morning near Shelmerdine, did not seem to be serious, although he was being retained at the hospital for observation.

Mr. Harding, dean of the Pitt county bar, was injured when his car hit an embankment, said to be due to faulty steering apparatus. He was riding alone at the time and no other car was involved.

He was reported to be suffering severe pain between his shoulders and at the base of the neck, but is not believed to have sustained any broken bones or suffered internal injuries.

French-Mandated Syria May Be Involved In War

Petaim Yields

Vichy, May 15.—(AP)—Chief of State Marshal Petaim told the French people tonight "it is up to you to follow me without mental reservations" after he had informed them the German-French negotiations have lighted "the pathway to the future."

Petaim said, "I have approved the principle" of the meeting between Darlan and Hitler.

"For you Frenchmen, the only thing is to follow me without mental reservation on the road of honor and in the national interest."

A few minutes before it was announced that the marshal would make his short, unexpected speech, the French reestablished full censorship regarding all stories concerning negotiations between France and Germany.

The announcement said the action was taken in view of the discretionary responsibility allowed foreign correspondents in Berlin "for everything concerning French-German negotiations."

"It is normal that the same rules of courtesy be observed by foreign journalists accredited to Vichy," it said.

REP. DOUGHTON DENIES CHARGE

Says No Secret Conference Held On New Tax Bill

Washington, May 15.—(AP)—Republican charges that there had been "shenanigans" and secret conferences between Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee and the Treasury Department on the $3,500,000,000 tax bill brought prompt denial today from Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.).

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) made the charge, but Doughton told him: "If there are any conferences, the minority will be represented. There have been no shenanigans."

Knutson said there had been reports that Secretary Morgenthau gave a dinner "to some of the 'inside' Democrats on our committee for the purpose of 'softening' them up on the proposed new tax levies."

At a press conference Secretary Morgenthau declined to discuss what transpired at an evening conference with congressional leaders at his home this week.

"There have been a number of very peculiar moves in the handling of this tax measure—secret moves that make one fear that this is no longer a democracy," Knutson said. "First, Secretary Morgenthau asked a few select committee members down to his office and after outlining to them his $3,500,000,000 tax program, pledged them to secrecy. Later, Assistant Secretary Sullivan submitted the plan in secrecy to his committee, but it leaked out. Before we began hearings, a 'ledge' was extracted from the committee to raise the $3,500,000,000 in new taxes, but the Treasury failed to acquaint us with the real situation."

Hearing Called On Textile Wage Rate

Washington, May 15.—(AP)—A public hearing on a proposed 37.1-cent an hour minimum wage for 650,000 textile workers was called today with no opposition seeking an opportunity to be heard. Wage-hour officials disclosed.

A short, two-day session was in prospect with chief interest centering on a recommendation that the Wage-Hour division devise a means of preventing wage deductions for rent and supplies by company stores that might "circumvent" increased minimum wages.

Airfields Used As Stop-Overs By Luftwaffe En Route To Iraq; Many Indications That Germany May Have Already Launched New Venture In Asia Minor With Sanction Of Vichy Government

London, May 15.—(AP) Germany has moved into Iraq by way of French-mandated Syria, using Syrian air fields for Luftwaffe stop-overs, the British government announced today.

At the same time a prospect of the French mandate's involvement in the struggle over Iraq was cited in a declaration by Foreign Secretary Eden that "full authority" had been given to British forces to attack German planes in Syria.

Eden charged that the transit of German planes via Syria was "a clear breach" of the armistice agreement between Germany and France after that British ally was knocked out of the European war last June.

Iraq, scene of sporadic guerrilla fighting between native forces and the British since May 2, is one of the world's richest oil producers and a route to Britain's vital Suez Canal.

Thus, apparently, Adolf Hitler at last has gone to the aid of the Iraq against the British, fulfilling the German statement at the end of the Balkan campaign that only the first phase of the war in the Middle East was over.

Evidence that the Germans were ready, or already had launched, new military ventures on the hot sands of Asia Minor came today from several sources—including a Cairo announcement of the Middle East command. Among them were:

1. A reliable source here said German planes were landing in French-mandated Syria en route to Iraq and would be bombed and machine-gunned by the British.

2. Foreign Secretary Eden charged that the Vichy government apparently had granted transit rights to the German forces.

3. German ambassador to Turkey, Franz Von Papen, who recently returned to Ankara after consultations in Germany, conferred at length with Turkish President Ismet Inonu today and bore him "friendly greetings" from Hitler.

"The German radio said the British had ordered all British women and children withdrawn from Palestine."

Junior Woman's Club Meets.
On Wednesday afternoon, May 14, at 3:30 o'clock the Junior Woman's Club held its regular meeting at the clubhouse.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Miss Catherine Holtzclaw of E. C. T. C. Miss Holtzclaw gave a very interesting talk on "Changes in Women's Costumes." She used dolls to illustrate the fashions of the ancient Egyptians to the ladies of the nineteenth century.

The hostesses, Mrs. Billy Norman and Mrs. Ed Parkinson, then served delicious iced drinks and sandwiches.

The business meeting was called to order with the reading of the collect and the Junior pledge.

Mrs. Penrose Perkins was elected treasurer to succeed Mrs. Bill Barbre, who recently resigned that position.

Further plans were made by the members to check up on what has been done during the year-up campaign which was sponsored by the Junior organization.

The meeting was then adjourned until Wednesday, May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Kramer Entertain.
Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Kramer entertained at a very lovely dinner on Tuesday evening at their home on Harding street, in honor of Mrs. Kramer's brother, Billy Staton, who is leaving on Thursday for the army. Only members of the immediate family were present.

The home was beautifully decorated in red, white and blue.

In the dining room red, white and blue streamers extended from the chandelier and red, white and blue candles were used in candelabra on the table.

Miniature soldiers marked each guest's place.

The red, white and blue color note was repeated in the dessert course, the plates bearing American flags.

Suzanne, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kramer, and niece of Mr. Staton, dressed in red, white and blue, pulled a little red wagon into the living room and presented her uncle with go-away gifts which were numerous.

Mr. Staton had as his guest, Miss Lewis of Kinston, also Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Staton of Kinston.

Clio Club.
On Tuesday afternoon Miss Annie Shields VanDyke was hostess to the Clio Club. The living and dining rooms were beautiful with roses and other summer flowers.

Miss Jane Hadley, the president, gave a cordial welcome to the guests, Miss Sue Barrett, and Messdames Lang, Gus Critcher and Bryce Sigmon.

Many matters were discussed in the business meeting, this being the club's last meeting of the year. All business of the outgoing year was given a final survey and plans were made for the new year.

Mrs. Jack Spain had chosen as her subject "Leisure Time and Holidays." Mrs. W. S. Post, in the absence of Mrs. Spain, read her sister's paper to the club. The subject, very appropriate for the club's last meeting, was well treated by Mrs. Spain, and the paper was equally well presented by Mrs. Post.

Mrs. Spain said: "Life becomes an art when work and play, labor and leisure, education and recreation are governed by a single vision of excellence and a continuous passion for achieving it." She stressed avoiding degeneration by choosing the better ways to spend one's freedom.

She said "the efficiency of work is obviously affected by the way one spends his leisure time," and that "a man or woman educated for leisure will not depend upon someone else for amusement." Saying that "recreation is essential to the health, happiness, character, intelligence and vitality of all peoples," she complimented the people of Greenville for their interest in organized playgrounds. She said, "recreation offers an outlet which relieves the strain of our intensive living." In reference to hobbies, her summary was, "to be a collector of things is good; to be a collector of experience is better."

It is interesting that our present holidays, legal, religious, and popular, originated from the ancient holy days, at which times religious rites were celebrated in connection with games and contests. Mrs. Spain gave a very complete study of the origins and present meanings of all our holidays.

The club enjoyed Mrs. Spain's paper very much.

The hostess, assisted by Miss Sue Barrett, Mrs. Bryce Sigmon and her sister, Miss Rosamond VanDyke, served a delicious salad course with iced tea.

Named Associate Editors.
Last night at the regular mass meeting of the student body of the college, Clifton Evans and Janie Eakes of Greenville were elected associate editors of the Tecono, the college yearbook, and Margie Dudley and Maribelle Robertson of Greenville were elected associate editors of the Teco Echo, the college newspaper.

Several weeks ago in the general election James Whitfield and Woody Agnes Deal of Greenville were chosen to head the editorial and business staffs, respectively, of the newspaper; Lallah B. Waits and Ann Pythress, editor and business manager of the annual; and Virginia Spencer, editor of the newspaper.

Literature Department.
The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Ryan with Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Claud Tunstall as hostesses. Mrs. Charles Reynolds, chairman, presided over the business meeting. She reminded the club members of the flower show to be given by the Garden Club on Friday and the doll show for the benefit of the Art Gallery, which will be given on Tuesday, May 20.

The program committee gave a tentative outline of work for next year. Mrs. Reynolds announced that Miss Eunice McGee will be chairman of the Literature Department next year.

Mrs. Paul Toll introduced the main characters of Howard Spring's "Fame Is the Spur." Mr. Spring was born in Manchester, England, and was a reporter and then a book reviewer for a London newspaper before he began writing fiction. "Fame Is the Spur" is the story of a tragedy that befell a civilization. Though the main characters "are three boys who live to see their ambitions fulfilled" it tells of a world that all of us know about—the rise of the labor party in England, the votes for women and the other World War. These things were supposed to create a better place in which to live but such a disillusionment of the depression years have caused those readers of Howard Spring's novel to wonder what the future will disclose.

One commentator has said "Had Mr. Spring's novel appeared last winter when we were still hoping that somehow and in some way the world of the mad 1920's and the disillusioned 1930's would succeed in muddling through, it would have been just as much of a success as it is bound to be now. But in the winter of 1939-40 'Fame Is the Spur' would have been merely a great novel. Now it sounds like a requiem." Another commentator says that "Fame Is the Spur" will probably rank with "Gone with the Wind" in its wide circulation.

Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Perkins were very welcome guests for the afternoon.

After the program, the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Paris.—(AP)—Armor breastplates and finely carved helmets which Napoleon took from Vienna and from Ambras Castle in Tyrol have been returned from Paris to Vienna.

Much of the collection represented finest selections of German armor design. Particularly prized was a splendidly decorated war costume of Francis II of France, who began his reign in 1559, a year after he had married Queen Mary Stuart of Scotland.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER

Chapter 27
Pursued Again

Eileen climbed up to the little room where she had lived with Molly, that evening, feeling as if everything in between had been a dream. Molly shrieked and hugged her; just the same cheerful red-cheeked pony-bull girl. They sat down on the untidy made bed together in the old way, and Eileen told her tale. Eileen had forgotten how comforting that unbridled Irish sympathy could be.

"Sure, to hell with them all!" Molly said when the story was as far on as the divorce. "But you're in a good job now? I must say I think you were too high-minded about the cash. . . . And Ely! I can't give you back the whole two thousand. Would five hundred of it—"

"No, I don't want it. Milly, you darling idiot! What I do want . . ."

She went on with her story; Lewis Delevan, just as she was setting into training for a wonderful career, wanting to marry her. "But, if you'd see whether Ria could take me back?"

"I'm marrying Ria myself; next month," Molly said. "That's where I put the fifteen hundred. We bought in with a nursery garden in Rye." She sat back as if she had thrown a bombshell.

"Oh, how lovely!" Eileen said with delight.

After another long silence Molly went on. "I'm an ungrateful pig to be saying it, Eileen, and I'm fond of you as well you know. We'll save up and pay back every penny sooner or later. But I won't risk having you back; Ria was too crazy over you and that's the truth. Nor do I see what's wrong with this Delevan man. Couldn't you get to caring enough?"

"There was Martin—" Eileen said. "And a fine sweetie he turned out to be—marrying you for a good joke and he tied up with the Dempster woman. I'd have taken a sound sum from him, he'd never have been missing it." At Eileen's look she added, "You mean you really cared?"

Even Molly thought she'd married Martin for what he had.

Then Molly said unexpectedly, "You poor lamb! But all the more I'd give the other his chance. Just try and you can have a taste for him."

Molly hugged her again. They parted good friends.

She couldn't blame Molly. After all, what she said added up to good sense. Lewis Delevan wasn't hurrying her. She could go on, now she knew, thinking it over. She had been bracing unconsciously against his charm, she had somehow been vaguely distrusting him. And what good were her intuitions? She'd trusted Martin. She'd give Lewis a fair chance, let herself go. She went home, on the decision.

As time passed she found that he kept his promise at the office. But he was seeing her more and more out of office hours. He was calling for her at the Y. W. C. A., where impressed secretaries themselves were polite because she knew Mr. Delevan of the Williston Institute. He was taking her to theaters and lectures. Presently she had a raise class one-woman spy system! Sally was scarlet and almost screaming. "That you've made Miss Lee believe in you and reported every word back to Saint Lewis like a damn little dictaphone, till he did like he always does with anybody where near him on merit—threw her out! He's climbed over your hoodles like that ever since his first job at Rensselaer House, before he sold himself so big to old Williston. I hope he climbs over yours good and soon. Now get out!"

MORE MORE MORE

"You're crazy," Eileen stood with her hands clenched at her sides, hoping what she said was true. "I'm going to find out from Mr. Delevan, right now, and make you take back every word."

"Don't you worry, I won't be here; he won't keep anybody loyal to Miss Lee. Will you get out before I throw you out?"

Sally advanced on her with clawed hands, like a fury. There was nothing to do but to go.

"Outworn"

Eileen rushed into Lewis Delevan's office without warning. He looked up in surprise. He was—and her heart sank further—in conference with that very Burton; and Burton was, she had always secretly felt, very much what Sally Bernstein described him.

"Well, my dear girl," Lewis said with an open intimacy of manner. "What's happened?"

She stood still trying to speak quietly. "May I see you alone when you have finished talking to Mr. Burton?"

Mr. Burton looked at her admiringly. "My business can wait, Miss Eileen. No hurry, none at all." He rose, he was fawning on her, she was important, to be courted. She felt sick.

"Now what, darling?" Lewis smiled down at her as the door shut. It was the affectionately amused possessiveness a man gives his own little feminine thing. "Mustn't go off the handle like that."

She stepped back from his encircling arm.

"Miss Bernstein says you've discharged Miss Lee!"

"Sorry, dear, if you liked her. The board feels she's past her prime—her methods are outworn."

"She told me," Eileen said, looking him in the face, "only last week that Mr. Beasley told her she was one of the ablest women in her field. And another of the directors, Anderson, said she was a splendid administrator. She was so happy over it."

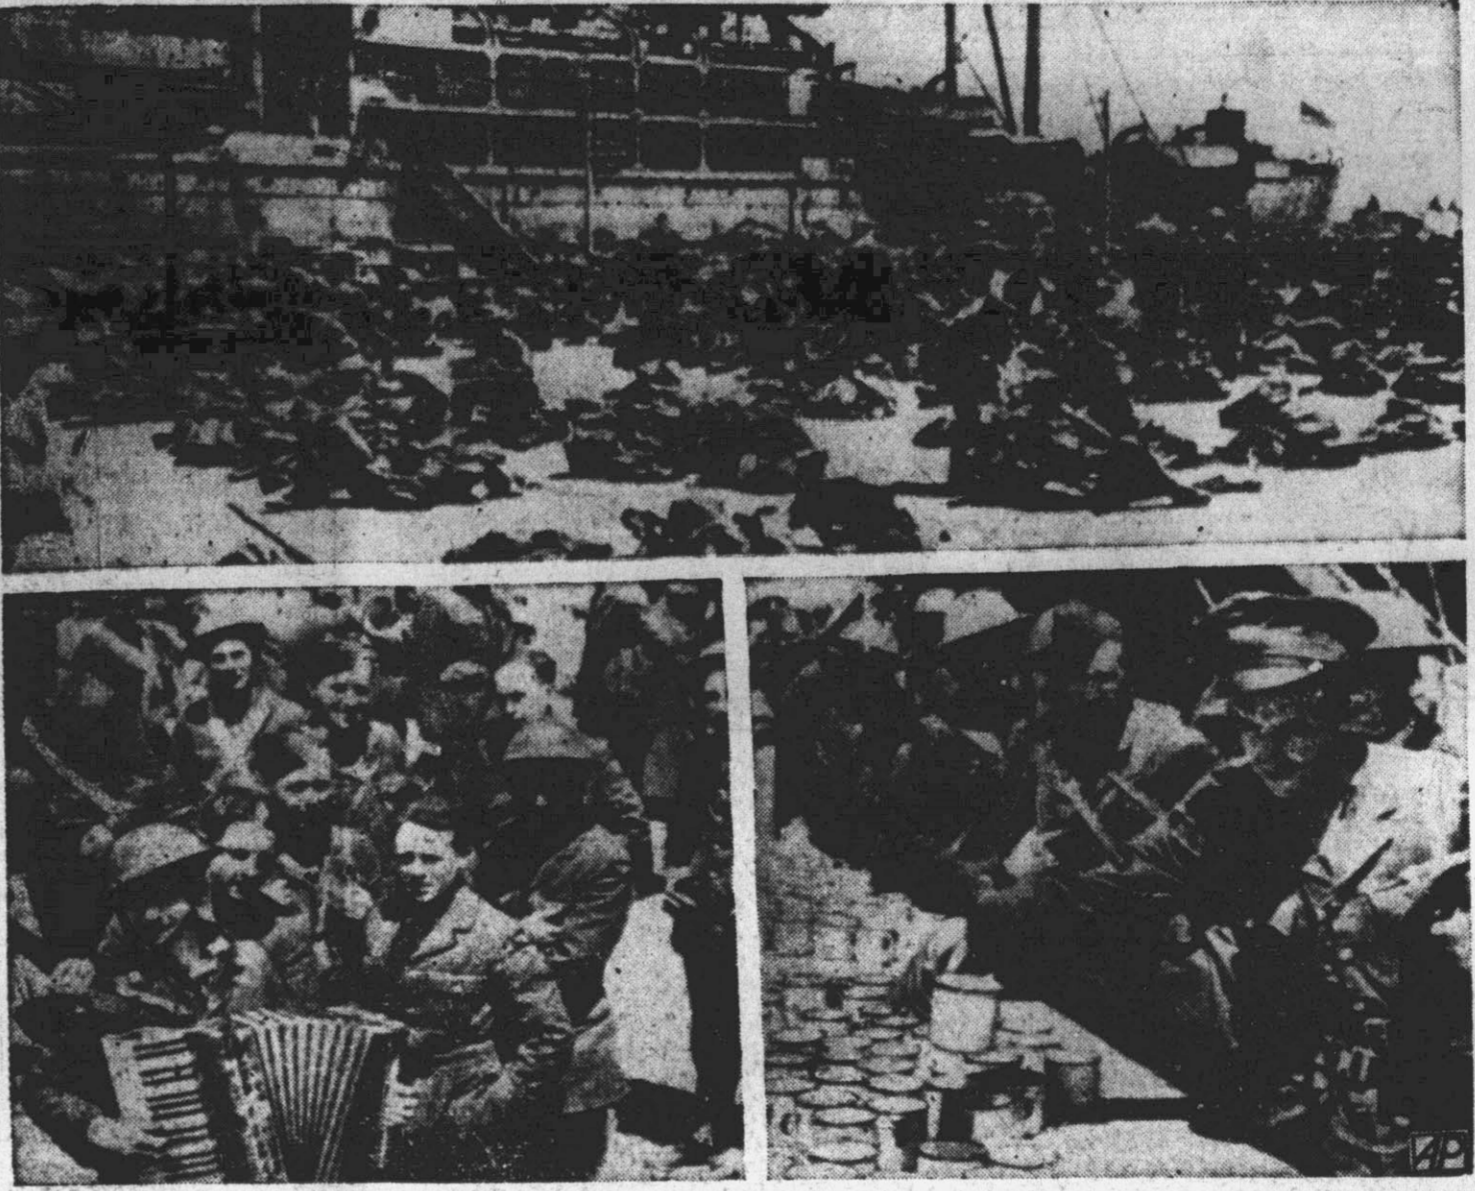

"I remember you telling me."

"I did tell you. That was why."

She was staring at him. He smiled down, affectionate and interested. She cried out, "Miss Bernstein said so! She said it was my reports on Miss Lee made you get rid of her. You were afraid she might get too near you!"

"My darling child, in social work it's dog eat dog just as it is everywhere else. Would you rather Miss Lee had gone all heartbroken and charming and misunderstood to Anderson and Beasley and eased me out? I'm worth—you and I are worth—a half-dozen Lees to the state and the country."

British Empire Troops Arrive After Greek Campaign

"Then it's been true. All the time the girls were right. I was your spy. And because Miss Lee was too decent to watch her step with me—oh!"

Lewis' hand stroked her hair. "But Eileen darling, this is an odd about-face. What's happened to the Eileen I knew, who could walk out of a Third Avenue cashier's job and made prize of an unknown millionaire by sheer cool fixity of purpose? You used to know that you can't make omelets without breaking eggs. Aren't you turning pretty sentimental, sweet?"

She drew away, beyond anger

"Good-bye, Lewis. Thank you for everything you've taught me."

"Where are you going, dear?"

"To have it out with Miss Lee first; not that she'll believe me. I don't know, after that."

"Not a bad idea. But I'd wait till she's cooled down." He did not understand her, she saw. "Be seeing you, dear."

In a less excited mood she could have forced her way past Miss Lee's doorman, her bitter-faced maid, her angry old mother. They hated her and they were right. She burst into Miss Lee's bedroom as she had into Lewis' office.

Wilson's Weekly RECIPES

Vassar girls of 1881 evidently liked ham. 303 of 'em ate 2 1/2 tons of smoked meat in 9 months. Well, if they could have eaten Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham, it would have been 5 tons. This ham that has taken America by storm comes ready to eat, or you can heat it in five minutes per pound! And what a ham! Always juicy. Always tender, and economical, too.

George Rector
Food Consultant, Wilson & Co.

Woman: "You say Tender Made gives me 25% more ham to serve?"
Rector: "Yes. There's no wasteful Oven shrinkage."

The longer meat stays in the oven, the more it shrinks. Ordinary ham can shrink up to 25%. Tender Made Ham heats in only 5 minutes per pound. This prevents costly oven shrinkage. It pays to buy Wilson's Tender Made Ham.

Easiest of Hams to Fix

Allow a Wilson's Tender Made Ham to come to room temperature (68° to 70° F.). Place in an open roaster in a 350° F. oven. Heat for five minutes per pound. Take ham from oven. Carefully remove the skin. Score the fat into large diamonds with a sharp knife. Decorate with canned pineapple slices cut in halves and maraschino cherries. Pour over it a syrup made by cooking 1 1/2 cups pineapple juice together with 1/4 cup sugar. Return the ham to a hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes and baste with the syrup.

HOW TO SELECT FRANKFURTERS

First look for the yellow tag that reads Wilson's Certified Quality. Frankfurters bearing this tag are in natural casings, thus making them so tender, so juicy and flavorful that they belong on everyone's dinner table. To cook, rub each frankfurter with Clear Brook Butter and broil or bake in a 425° F. oven. Don't prick them or you will lose that delicious goodness.

Vitamins at Their Best

Wilson's Certified Braunschweiger is rich in vitamins A, B, and G. It is high in proteins, iron, and copper. So serve it often. For a different sandwich, mash the braunschweiger and combine it with diced celery, chopped hard-cooked eggs, lemon juice, a few drops of Worcestershire sauce, and Wilson's Mayonnaise. Fill toasted rolls with this mixture and serve with slices of tomato.

Remember, Only Wilson & Co. Makes Tender Made Ham.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

RENEWAL FROM WITHIN

On a walk through the woods we passed a spring gushing from a cleft in a ledge along the hillside. The rains for the past few days had made the spring muddy. Nothing any one could do would have settled the muddied water and made it clear. But it was interesting to note that the spring was clearing itself. Water was coming out of the side of the hill, and this clear water was gradually displacing the muddy water. When we passed the spring the next day, the pool was as clear as crystal.

Rilled waters clear themselves when fresh water bubbles up from beneath. Our Lord on one occasion declared that the water He gave His disciples would be in them a well of water springing up unto everlasting life. The principle of the gospel is not to try to settle muddy water but to make it fresh and clear by the welling up of spiritual forces within the heart and mind. Sin is conquered by the expulsive power of a new affection. Anxiety is cast out by the coming of a perfect confidence in the sufficiency of God. Evil thoughts are scattered by the awakening in our hearts of a deep sense of the nearness of God.

A frontal attack on evil is not recommended in the Bible. We are advised to overcome evil with good, to clear muddy springs with fresh water.

WHAT IS OUR INTEREST IN THE WAR?

Proponents of the anti-convoys legislation in the Senate have decided to delay forcing a vote on the matter until after President Roosevelt makes his address to the nation the latter part of this month.

As we see the whole situation as regards this country and the present world war, the big question for us to decide is whether or not we can afford to let Hitler win. If we are willing to live in a world under Nazi domination then there is no use for us to do anything but sit still and await the day when Hitlerism completes its task of engulfing the whole world. If on the other hand, we feel that our own security and the freedom of the people of all nations depends upon defeat of the present forces of aggression now spreading over the entire Eastern Hemisphere, it seems to us that our future course of action should be perfectly clear.

What freedom there is in the world today was won because people were willing to fight, and die for it if necessary, and if it was worth winning, certainly it should be worth keeping. According to our way of thinking, it is not a question of whether the use of convoys will draw us into the war. It is a question of whether or not we are interested in the outcome of the war. When we have decided the latter question it will not be hard for us to decide what we should and are going to do about it.

AID FOR COTTON

Beginning tomorrow and continuing through May 25, local merchants will join with thousands of other merchandisers throughout the country in one of the biggest promotional campaigns in retail history on behalf of a basic crop—cotton.

National Cotton Week isn't just an ordinary occasion. Cotton is the underlying factor in the economies of many states. Upon cotton, millions of American families are dependent for their livelihood. Conditions in the cotton market mean good times or bad times for armies of workers employed in producing, picking, handling, processing and otherwise dealing with cotton.

Today cotton is a distressed crop. The great foreign markets are gone, swept away by the war. The long established government cotton control program has been only a partial success. The crop this year will be large and the ordinary domestic demand will be unable to absorb it. What all this adds up to is plain: More cotton and cotton products must be used by American consumers this year if the great cotton belt is to be saved from further financial distress.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stannett

Washington — The national park people have taken a look at the barometer and are preparing for the biggest tourist travel ever known in the parks.

Five Get Almost Half

Secretary of Interior Ickes already has warned his park staff in the field and they are making ready now for the banner season. Last year the first five parks in numbers of visitors were Shenandoah in Virginia; the Great Smoky Mountains, which stretch from North Carolina into Tennessee; Rocky Mountain in Colorado; Yosemite in California; and Yellowstone in Wyoming. These five alone accounted for almost half the 7,370,000 persons who visited the 26 national parks.

The reason, of course, is their accessibility. Shenandoah, on scenic Skyline Drive, is almost in the heart of the north-south travel along the eastern seaboard; and just 500 miles southwest at the other end of the Blue Ridge parkway are the Great Smokies. Probably the least accessible is Mount McKinley, but even the park there, tucked away in the heart of Alaska, drew over 1,200 summer wanderers.

A newcomer in the park lists and one for which park officials here have high hopes, is Isle Royale, 200 square miles of richly forested island in northern Lake Superior. Another island is Acadia off the coast of Maine. Close to 400,000 persons visited it last year. A third island tourist attraction is Hawaii,

Many Monuments

There are very few states that don't have either parks or national monuments. There is hardly anything that the vacationist could demand that these government owned and supervised spots don't offer.

There is fishing in the Olympic (Washington), Crater Lake (Oregon); Lassen (California); and others. There are the six-day hikes and pack trips from Yosemite into the high Sierras. There is mountain climbing in Mount Rainier National Park and in Glacier in northern Montana.

There is the breath-taking scenery of Zion and Bryce Canyons in Utah and of the Grand Canyon in Arizona. There is the historical interest in the cliff dwellings in Mesa Verde in Colorado. There is the chilling thrill of the Calabazas Caverns in New Mexico, where modern elevators drop you 750 feet in a twinkling and where, if you arrive at the right time of year, you can watch the countless bats fly out for their nightly foraging.

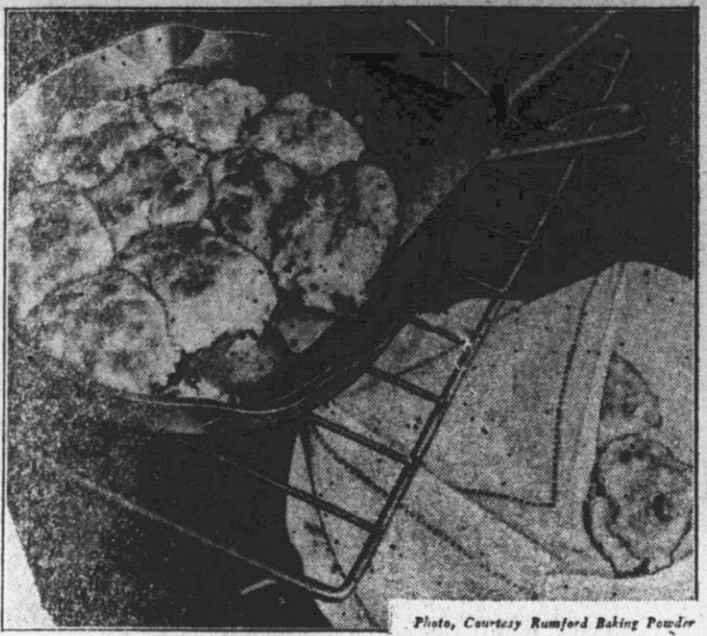

Even if it's heat you want, the park service can supply it—in degrees you'll never forget in Death Valley in California.

Short Shots

Raleigh, May 15 — A most remarkable group of youthful Tar Heel singers is soon to start west on its first "Trans-Continental Tour" which will extend to California.

It is the North Carolina Symphony Choir, conducted by Lewis Sidney Bullock, and is composed of selected singers from the high school choirs of Ayden, Snow Hill, Winterville and Hookerton.

Salute The Skillet— Biscuits Fill It!

"SKILLET Biscuits" under any other name taste just as sweet when there's all-phosphate baking powder and pure maple sugar in the making! Fresh from the fry-pan or straight from the "spider"—there's no cape-cutting here. The following recipe gives the bounding background for these easy quick breads.

Skillet Biscuit
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup soft maple sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter, melted
Sift flour, salt and phosphate baking powder together. Cut in shortening. Mix in the milk gradually adding enough to make a dough which can be handled easily. Break up the soft maple sugar and add to the dough, cutting it or working it in. Grease a frying pan. Roll the rolled out biscuit dough into it, or if preferred cut into biscuits and fit into pan, brush with melted butter and sprinkle with shaved maple sugar. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) 15 minutes or until done. Serves 6-8.

If maple sugar is not available, slightly lumpy brown sugar may be used. If dough is not cut into biscuit shapes, to serve, cut into pie shaped wedges.

He explained that the usual procedure for initiation of road projects is for its sponsors to take the matter up through the district commissioner and the commission of the county in which the work is sought. This process, he said, is slow and somewhat complicated.

He then related that Mr. Johnson's task will be to confer with federal sponsors of national defense projects, go into their high-way needs and requests and then place the matter before the highway chairman or the full commission.

"Right now, for instance, Mr. Johnson is in the east conferring about the road situation connected with construction of the Onslow county marine base," said Mr. Prince.

The chairman seemed to have no doubt that Mr. Johnson will amply earn his $500 a month in this sort of work.

Greenville HI News
By SIDNEY JOHNSON

Many questions have been asked about the kind of work Robert Grady Johnson will do to earn the $500 a month salary set up for him during the interval between his retirement as prison director and August 1, when he is slated to become ABC chairman.

So many people have seemed curious about it that your reporter asked Chairman Ben Prince of the Highway Commission the same question — what is Mr. Johnson doing?

In reply the chairman said that Johnson will be a contact man between federal officers in charge of national defense projects and the state roads commission.

Herloom lace forms the bertha on this traditional wedding gown of white satin. The bride wears a matched diamond ensemble—engagement solitaire, wedding band, and the bridegroom's wedding gift, a diamond lace bracelet. The prayer book is decorated with flowers.

June Weddings Will Share In The '41 Sentiment Boom

By AMY PORTER
AP Fashion Editor

The year 1941 will go down in history as, among other things, a time of great sentiment. A boom time for sentimental songs, sentimental clothes, and sentimental weddings. Sentimental June weddings are likely to be a bit more expensive than the casual kind, what with lace veils and diamond rings and multiple bridesmaids, but nobody seems to mind.

Of the 113,000 girls who get married each month, 84,000, or about 75 per cent, get engagement rings. The engagement ring isn't necessarily expensive. A survey of jewelers shows that about half of all engagement rings are priced at $50 or less. Only once in five years do the jewelers find a bridegroom willing and able to buy a $100,000 ring.

Wedding bands, too, are sentimental once again after about ten years of severity in styling. New ones, made of gold or platinum, are elaborately carved and often set with diamonds. Engagement ring and wedding band often are selected at the same time, in related styles—and usually the bride helps with the selecting.

Wedding bouquet idea, evolved by Emmett Holcombe: If the gift from the bridegroom is a diamond clip have the clip attached to a separate cluster of flowers in the center of the bride's bouquet. After the wedding the bride pulls out cluster and clip for wear on the lapel of her going-away costume, then tosses the rest of the bouquet to the bridesmaids.

Don't serve spinach at a wedding because "greens are food for pixies and forest sprites make mischief at weddings."

This is one of many bridal superstitions and stories gathered by Claudia de Lys, who is compiling an encyclopedia of folklore.

The wedding ring, she says, is the symbol of eternity—a circle. The diamond was first used in the betrothal ring because its mysterious sparkle was thought to be the fire of love. Also, the diamond never wears out.

In Iceland, the bridegroom thrusts his hand through a large ring when he takes his bride's hand at the altar.

The first use of orange blossoms for the bride was in Persia, as a symbol of fertility, because on the orange tree blossom and fruit appear together.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By Robb Coon

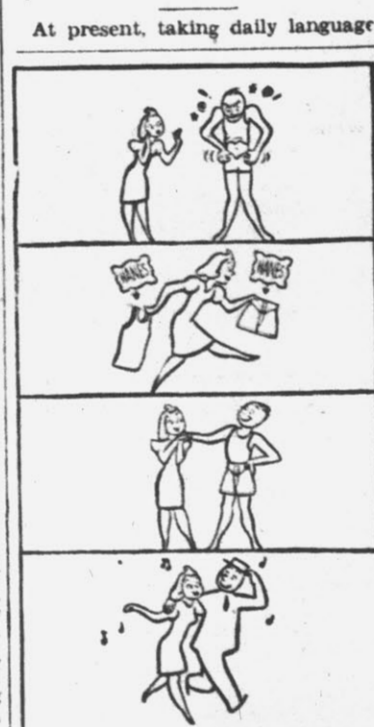

Hollywood.—That gentle zephyr blowing out of the west these days is naught but a huge, collective, feminine sigh. Jean Gabin, the leading movie actor of France, is in town.

Gabin, as you will know if you have seen "Pepe le Moko" or others of his French films, is no sleek, hand-kissing Latin. He is ruggedly handsome, in the Spencer Tracy-James Cagney style; strong chin, prominent nose, brown, graying hair, waving back from a high strong forehead, keen blue eyes with a Gallic twinkle when he smiles.

Hollywood got him not without a struggle. Gabin, long unheeding Hollywood's blandishments, was in the French navy on a minesweeper while France was in the war. He was on leave at his new home in Dreux, some 75 miles west of Paris when the Nazis broke through at Sedan. The word came they would be upon him in 15 minutes, so he packed an extra shirt, leaped into his car and headed west toward Cherbourg to rejoin his unit. The Nazis beat him there. He swung toward Brest, found the enemy ahead of him, dodged south to Toulon. There, with Paris taken, he was demobilized. He was in Marseilles bunking with friends and with only a spare shirt to his name, when Hollywood offered the way out. Andre Daven, French producer at 20th Century-Fox, brought him here and he will make a picture as soon, he says, as he can learn "not only to speak but to think in English."

At present, taking daily language lessons, going to movies, he has mastered quite a few American expressions. These he uses with small accent, fills in with eloquent gestures, but is still most at home in French with Daven or Margot Fragay, the producer's secretary, as interpreter.

Through his slight English, his gestures, and the aid of Miss Fragay (after throwing my school French out the window), I learned that Gabin, who will be 37 next month, was no stranger to German invasion. As a boy of 10, in 1914, he and his family fled their home in Creil.

His father, an actor, wanted him to become a comedian but Jean ran away in protest. He worked at manual labor before, a wiser lad, he came back to the stage. About 12 years ago he made his first movie but has cared little for the theater since.

In Paris he had his own way on scripts and roles. In Hollywood he is reading scripts with Daven, and together they will select his first movie. He does not expect to make the same kind of pictures he made in France—censorship, and all that. He does expect to remain the same kind of person—a glamour-boy stuff for him.

Divorced last year from Doryane, music-hall artist, he is fancy-free at the moment, but his name was linked frequently in Paris with that of RKO's Michele Morgan. In France, he says, no one ever asks questions about love or women.

Cotton Surplus Goes To Okies
San Francisco.—(AP)—Some of the surplus cotton that has piled up in the United States because of the war is being used supplying mattresses and bed clothing to people who need them.

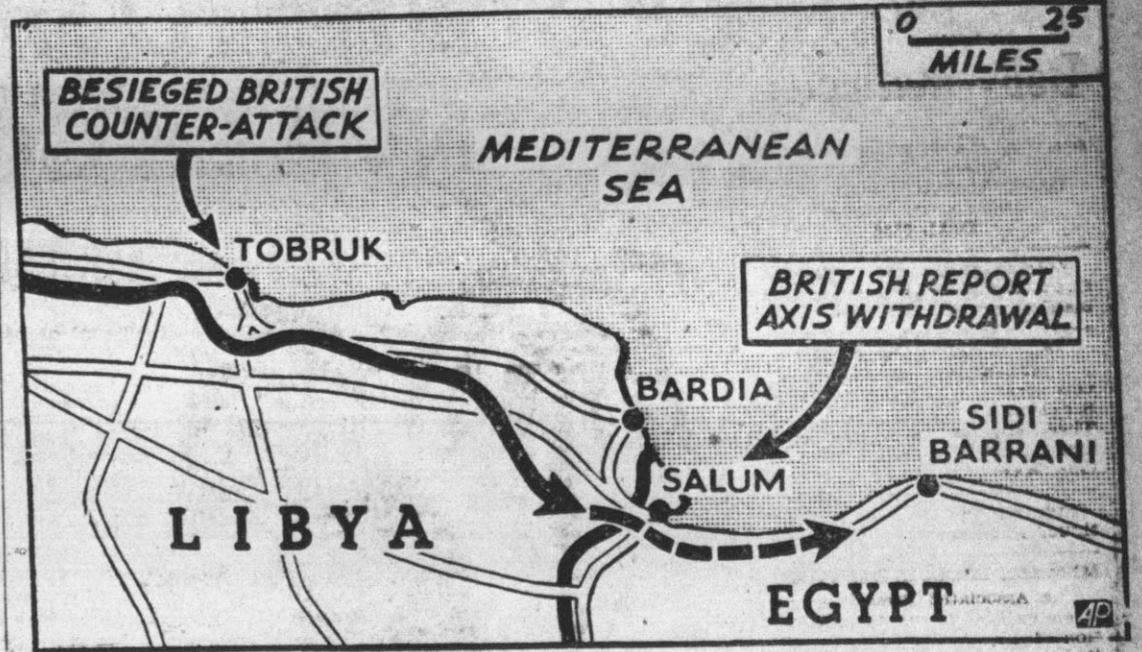

Into the camps of impoverished migratory farm laborers that dot California, the Surplus Marketing Administration has shipped many bales of cotton, together with cotton ticking for mattresses and cotton percale for quilts and comforters.

"A great many of the mattresses have lifted people off cold, damp floors," says a report to the Farm Security Administration. "Others have relieved a situation where three or four persons were sleeping in a single bed."

British Say Axis Drive Turned Back

The British reported Axis troops had withdrawn to original positions south and west of Salm. This came on the heels of a British announcement the day before that five Axis columns were thrown back to the Salm sector after penetrating 40 miles into Egypt. Broken arrow indicates the thrust; black arrow, the course of the Axis drive across North Africa. At Tobruk besieged British forces report they carried out "little offensive operations."

Greenies Score 10 In First To Defeat the Goldbugs 18-3

EIGHT WALKED IN 1ST FRAME

Four Goldsboro Hurlers Used Against Locals

Tripled by Bullock and Crowe and single by Seagr, combined with eight walks in the first inning of the Goldsboro-Greenville game in the Wayne city last night provided the locals with a 10-run rally in the initial frame as they went on to rack up an 18-3 win over the Goldbugs.

Goldsboro invaded the locals' park this afternoon to seek revenge for the whopping handed out by Rube Wilson, pitchers, both portlanders, yielded four walks each in the first frame and two more pitchers were used during the contest, which left Greenville in a tie for second place.

Mercer, who started out at third base, was injured in the last half of the fourth when he sprained his knee. He was taken to the hospital and X-rays made, but he came on home with the rest of the team last night. He probably will be out of the line-up for a while at least. Bullock, who started in right field, replaced Carraway, who went to third.

Incidentally, Bullock, who failed to show any form at the plate in the game against New Bern here Tuesday night, was the offensive star of last night's contest, getting four hits in five trips and scoring three runs. He batted in five rallies with his triple and four singles. Seagr, scored three for four.

Member of the Goldsboro team also suffered an injury in last night's contest when he was hit on the head by a thrown ball.

Kracker Ill

Sonny Kracker, scheduled to have been back in his second base position with the Greenies this year, will not be back in the lineup for several weeks. # VIRGINIA DARE IS RETURNING

Stone Carved in Rome In 1858 Going To Manteo

Reflector Bureau
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, May 15 — Virginia Dare is going back to Manteo — some three hundred and fifty years after she was born somewhere down in that section, the first English girl ever to draw her first breath in America.

She's going in stone — but not one of the several scores which have been "discovered" from Dare county half way into Georgia. This is a statue, carved in Rome in 1858, but of white Italian marble.

For a long time now the statue has stood in the office of State Auditor George Rosa Fox and it is through his efforts, in cooperation with Brad Fearing, head of the Roanoke Island Historical association, that it will be sent to the site of the first English colony in America, now better known as the locus for presentation of Paul Grech's drama "The Lost Colony."

The marble will be transported to Manteo by the state highway and Public Works commission. Chairman Ben Prince has agreed that the first time a highway truck has occasion to head for the Albemarle section with a part-load he will have Miss Virginia picked up, without having to show a hitch-hiking thumb.

The statue is the sculptor's conception of how Virginia would have looked (sans clothing, incidentally) if she had lived to young womanhood. Its undraped condition has led to many joking cracks at Auditor Fox. During the renovation of the Capitol it was moved over into the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure, and was carefully wrapped in brown parcel paper.

"Thad just couldn't take it," cracked Mr. Fox, "wishing the chance to turn the tables on his tormentors. 'He isn't the man I am.'"

Spring Takes Its Cue From Hats

SPRING TAKES (Feature) BY AMY PORTER AP Fashion Editor

Accessories make you what you are today, sartorially speaking, and we hope you're satisfied.

So many people aren't, because they get carried away with about six different ideas of themselves, and end up looking slightly scrambled. If you start with a reasonably non-committal dress, coat or suit, you can achieve any look you like with accessories. But choose them with a definite idea to the effect you wish to achieve. It shouldn't be difficult to do, because there never was a greater variety.

Start With The Hat
Hats come first, because they set the pace. You can be Victorian in a straw bonnet with the brim scooping out over pompadour or bangs, or in a swirly tulle pill-box, well tied under the chin. You can look sweetly pretty or highly sophisticated in a hat with a big, big brim. Either way, men love them.

To be sweet, a big brim should dip and wave about a bit. A sophisticated touch is lent by the new geometric hats, great black squares or triangles or hexagons worn to reveal the forehead. Later you can wear the same hat with soft prints. A white fedora would startle the public at this early moment. Or how about a hat in white silk faille laced up the side in red, and worn been a dreary six-hour wait before the passengers could have had breakfast.

For our it's-all-in-the-way-you-look-at-it department: "Writing is an agreeable way to make a living" — Rex Beach.

"Writing is a vice that should be practiced in secret" — Maxwell Anderson.

"Writing is child's play. The words are in the dictionary and all you have to do is put them after each other." — Don Marquis.

My favorite optometrist, T. Glasgow, of Passaic, N. J., tells me he is related in a sort of vague way to Ellen Glasgow, the novelist. "My great grandfather and her great grandfather were brothers," he explained. The mother of General Pershing was also a Glasgow.

It is Paul Baron, arranger, who says that singers are mere mechanics. "All they do is follow the blueprints drawn by arrangers. Name me one who ever got to the top without some arranger doing all the spade work. It just isn't done."

Mr. Baron was a little peeved when he said this. "Arranging is a thankless task," he concludes gloomily.

Coffee rich with cream—the color as well as the beverage hails from Brazil and is a favorite with a group of accessory makers who worked together to produce affluited colors for spring. The soft smooth bag, designed by Dick Korot, is matched to the gloves, while the tailored shoes are Trinidad tan in the Latin American color series.

with a red veil? Multicolor turbans are fine spring fare for sophisticates, especially turbans ranging from purple to pink. And the calot with a topknot of flowers is by no means a monopoly of 20-year-olds. Clear-skinned over-40's carry it off just as well.

Next, Bag And Shoes
Now look around for the bag, gloves and shoes that will carry out your mood of the moment. If you're being tailored and trim, spurn open toes. Choose plain shoes, perhaps with smart low heels in red, blue or a polished leather, and find a bag to match. Get both of these items in new red or blonde leather, for spice.

If you're being pretty, get flossy cut-out sandals and soft gloves in colored suede. Or go still more romantic with a soft silk faille draw-string bag, and gloves with ruffled organdy cuffs. In any case, when you choose your bag, err on the side of business. Little bags, with rare exceptions, look stingy.

- You've seen her picture in advertisements, for she combined modeling with a job in the movies. Last name the same as that of the gal who was preferred for company on a desert island. Current picture, "Million Dollar Baby." Know her?
- Who would you say is the most wooden player in pictures—and not a beauty, either?
- There are players' names that fit the blanks in the following: (a) "I don't like her; she puts on _____." (b) "She sings sweet and _____." (c) "She's a beauty; now if she could only _____."
- What in common have the following movie titles: "The Little Foxes," "Arise My Love," "The Green Pastures"?
- Most women are vitally interested in it, as the national cosmetics bill attests, and it's now a movie title. What is it?

Count 20 points for each question answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 excellent and 90 or above colossal.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York.—Shep Fields, who finally got around to sheaving his so-called rippling rhythms, is trying again with a new band that has neither brasses nor fiddles. It's all reeds and wood-winds, tied to a drum.

Salvador Dali says it is a canard that he was arrested in Spain, that his paintings were confiscated. He has been working in Virginia, and those paintings he did in Europe were only delayed in being delivered. The king of the surrealists, who first gained great fame by executing his wife's portrait with a lamb chop on her shoulder (representing desire) is on a six week's vacation in New York and his newest paintings are on exhibition at the Julien galleries. He is now completing a story of his life, "The Autobiography of Salvador Dali," which will be published in the fall.

Back into nightclub work has come slapsy happy Maxie Rosenbloom. The ex-fighter, who lost only 20 of 360 bouts, is strictly a comic and was once managed by a sharp-eyed, dark-haired product of Hell's Kitchen who later became the cinema star, George Raft. Made is something of a fancy Dan and talks in fragments. His sentences frequently begin and end with verbs. He is well liked in this town.

Delighted that his newest book "A. M. Puhnam, Esquire" has been denounced by certain censors of manners, morals and codes in Boston, John P. Marquand has gone off on a Florida vacation to hunt shells on a small island off the coast. Mr. Marquand is on the west, or gulf side of the peninsula. He likes it down there.

Before she left for Mexico Grace Moore was caught in a blizzard between Fargo and Winnipeg. She became quite a heroine to her fellow passengers when she invaded the club car, routed the help, and prepared scrambled eggs, toast and coffee for everybody in the car. There was no diner on the train and but for her there would have been a dreary six-hour wait before the passengers could have had breakfast.

For our it's-all-in-the-way-you-look-at-it department: "Writing is an agreeable way to make a living" — Rex Beach.

"Writing is a vice that should be practiced in secret" — Maxwell Anderson.

"Writing is child's play. The words are in the dictionary and all you have to do is put them after each other." — Don Marquis.

My favorite optometrist, T. Glasgow, of Passaic, N. J., tells me he is related in a sort of vague way to Ellen Glasgow, the novelist. "My great grandfather and her great grandfather were brothers," he explained. The mother of General Pershing was also a Glasgow.

It is Paul Baron, arranger, who says that singers are mere mechanics. "All they do is follow the blueprints drawn by arrangers. Name me one who ever got to the top without some arranger doing all the spade work. It just isn't done."

Mr. Baron was a little peeved when he said this. "Arranging is a thankless task," he concludes gloomily.

HOEY-REYNOLDS CONTEST

currently brewing battle will become a fizzle. It is generally believed hereabout that Dick Reynolds cannot beat Clyde Hoey for national committeeman if the Shelby man stays in there pitching; but there is an equally general belief that the Winston-Salem newcomer to the political arena can make it decidedly hot for all concerned—and it is further believed that he will—by ringing the changes on the Hoey record as an out and out foe of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

There doesn't appear one chance in ever so many that Reynolds will quit. His organization is set up and it looks like he's going to see just how many votes he can get in the state committee and thereby find out how many real political friends he has made by his tremendously effective support—financial and personal—for the national Democratic administration.

Charity To Benefit From "Blondie's" New Baby

Chie Young certainly started something when he asked readers of this and other newspapers to help him name the new baby at the home of "Blondie," his famous newspaper comic character. He got 400-800 suggestions and, more surprising, many persons sent money, photos of their own children and other gifts for the baby, some of which you see here. The more practical gifts are being donated by Mr. Young to charities. The others he is proudly adding to a collection of Blondiana.

Cathy

Miss Ruth Bray of Elizabeth City will play Emily Bronte's beloved heroine, Catherine Earnshaw, in the Chi Pi presentation of "Wuthering Heights" in Austin auditorium, Friday and Saturday nights.

Ruth, who transferred to East Carolina Teachers College from Asbury College, University of Kentucky has contributed her dramatic talent to the Chi Pi Players' endeavors since her enrollment last fall.

While at Asbury College, she did radio dramatics work in connection with the "Grigal," radio club. Among the outstanding plays with which she worked was "Wingless Victory."

Having made her debut on the E. C. T. C. stage as the heroine of "The Skull," Ruth was assistant director of "Ramona," senior play.

As a student under Mrs. J. H. Rose in the Rose School of Speech and in dramatic broadcasts from W. G. T. C. as well as appearances at different organizations Ruth has become well-known throughout Greenville.

Ruth's fine interpretation of "Cathy" and her excellent acting are expected to help make "Wuthering Heights" equal or surpass any production ever presented at the college.

On the other hand, Governor J. Melville Broughton's statements clearly indicate that the Hoey name will go before the committee, with the Hoey consent, if nothing stronger.

Despite all this there are still those who ask loudly why Mr. Hoey should run. As they see it, he has designs on the Bob Reynolds Senate seat in 1944, and therefore can hardly afford to make enemies in a side show fight out of which he can't gain much—because, they say he will not have any influence in the Washington administration, if elected.

Echo answers, "Why?" but still there's nothing to indicate that there will be a Hoey disclaimer of intent to stick around.

TEXTILE WORK TO BE PUSHED

School Project Broader in Scope Than Expected

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, May 15.—As plans for the state Textile Institute unfold it becomes clear that the project is broader in scope than was generally assumed when the 1941 legislature enacted the bill setting up a commission to pick a site for the project.

The commission is authorized to select this site, and an appropriation of $50,000 for construction of the institute and installation of machinery is authorized subject to gubernatorial approval; but it now appears that it will be much more than a $50,000 setup.

In the first place it is thought certain that a site for the Institute will be donated without cost to the state.

At least eight different localities are in competition for the plant; which should insure that it will take a really handsome offer to land it. Charlotte, Gastonia, Concord, Shelby and other cities are known to be after the school—and there are others equally anxious.

When the location has been selected, the next question will be construction and equipment—and here again it is believed that there will be little, if any, cost to the state. Probabilities are that the site selected will already have a ready-made plant building or buildings which will leave only machinery and installation unaccounted for.

Here again, it is expected that manufacturers and distributors of textile equipment will be glad to give with the expectation that graduates of the Institute will be, figuratively, salesmen for their products.

The members of the Auxiliary entertained the 1941 graduates on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Woodrow Wooten, at a weller roast.

Miss Mae Ellen Norvill and Miss Lillie Harris accompanied Mrs. R. B. Tyre to Baltimore Sunday, where they will go in training. Mrs. Tyre is at the bedside of her father, who is critically ill.

So the state thinks it will get a lot for its $50,000.

ALGERIA COPIES THE NEW FRENCH STAMP

Vichy—(AP)—The Algerian administration is following the lead of the mother country and putting out one-franc stamps with the image of Marshal Petain.

They will be like those on the continent but with the framed inscription "Postes d'Algerie" added. A similar stamp of a different color will be issued later, selling for five francs but good for only one franc postage. The four francs difference will go for relief to demobilized soldiers and war prisoners.
