

BRITISH IMPOSE BLOCKADE AGAINST FRENCH SYRIA

Mediation Board Rebuffed For Second Time By CIO

ANOTHER BLOW TO PRESTIGE

Nine Thousand Aircraft Workers Ordered To Halt Work At California Plant While Negotiation Efforts Under Way; Lumber Workers Flatly Reject Recommendations Of Board

By The Associated Press A second sudden blow at prestige of the National Defense Mediation Board was delivered today—a call for 9,000 CIO aircraft workers to lay down tools in the North American Aviation plant at Inglewood, Calif.

The head of the CIO's United Automobile Workers union at the plant accused the board of "stalling the workers." Management and union officials were still in Washington, summoned by the board in an attempt to compromise the dispute. The plant makes warplanes for the United States and Britain.

The union placed its pickets 15 minutes before the night shift quit at 3 a. m., and said CIO men would not report at 7 a. m., with the day crew.

Company officials, preparing to use AFL help to keep up production on $198,000,000 in defense orders, simultaneously said in a statement that they were "surprised and shocked" at the strike call "while negotiations are still in progress before the National Defense Mediation board."

The statement said an agreement "ratified by the union membership" on Saturday declared that "no stoppage of work or interference in any way with production" would take place while the dispute was before the board. In exchange, it was said, the corporation agreed to make any terms arrived at retroactive to May 1.

The company reported it would hold itself available for negotiations at the request of the board "in an effort to reach an amicable settlement without stoppage of production in a unit so vital to national defense."

This new walkout decision was announced only a few hours after the board had been roundly denounced by O. M. Morton, president of 12,000 striking CIO lumber workers in the Pacific northwest. Morton accompanied the denunciation with flat refusal to abide by the board's public recommendation for settlement.

Meet Set Tonight On Stamp Program

All Pitt county merchants handling 100 per cent cotton goods are urged to attend a meeting at the court house tonight at 8 o'clock at which time the cotton stamp program will be explained. Merchants handling such goods will be eligible to participate in the program, whereby farmers will trade the stamps for 100 per cent cotton goods and the merchants will redeem the stamps at face value with the government.

Committees announced earlier in the week failed to include several members. Omitted from the general committee were Mrs. Cora S. Powell, W. T. Kizer, W. C. Whitehurst of Bethel, J. R. Conleton of Stokes, J. P. Davenport, Jr., of Pactolus and A. P. Fleming of Grimesland. The Trade Education committee composed of Mrs. Powell, chairman, J. H. Waldrop, F. R. Taylor of Ayden, L. E. Walston and F. L. Blount of Bethel, also was not included in the original list. Also omitted was the publicity committee composed of Mr. Kizer, chairman, A. P. Rowe of Ayden, J. B. Lewis of Farmville and S. C. Ives of Bethel.

Nazi Warplanes Carry Out Attack

London, June 5.—(AP)—German planes in widespread attacks overnight bombed the midlands, south-east and north-west England, East Anglia and London areas. The government said casualties were not large and no extensive damage was done. It reported three German bombers were shot down during the night. London experienced its 24th consecutive bombless night.

J. Con Lanier Announces Candidacy For Congress In First District Race

Hat In Ring

State Senator J. C. Lanier has announced his candidacy for Congress from the first district, a post now held by Rep. Herbert C. Bonner and for which two other men have previously announced. Marvin K. Blount, Greenville attorney, and Herbert Leary of Edenton are the other two candidates.

Greenville Business Man, Attorney And Farmer Becomes Third Man Formally To Enter Contest For Seat Now Held By Rep. Bonner; M. K. Blount And Herbert Leary Other Two In Race

J. Con Lanier, prominent Greenville attorney, business man and farmer, has entered the First District Congressional race, a post for which two candidates have previously announced.

The office is now held by Herbert C. Bonner, named by the Democratic Executive Committee to fill the unexpired term of Lindsay C. Warren and also appointed as the nominee for the two-year term. Although Rep. Bonner has made no formal announcement, he is regarded as a certain candidate.

The two candidates who already have announced are Marvin K. Blount of Greenville and Herbert Leary of Edenton. In 1933 Senator Lanier served the United States Department of Agriculture as tobacco expert. A year later he was appointed Code Administrator of the AAA by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and now vice-president. He was elected to serve Pitt county in the State Senate in the November election.

For five years he was captain of Battery R, 413th Field Artillery National Guard. He was mayor of Greenville for the same period of time and also served Pitt county court as solicitor for four years. Senator Lanier volunteered for service in the last World War and was commissioned as a second lieutenant of the infantry. After serving eleven and a half months he was decorated by the government for bravery in action.

He was born and reared in Pitt county son of the late J. C. and P. E. Lanier. He was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1912, and after graduation was principal of Greenville high school for two years. After studying law at the University of North Carolina and Georgetown University, he was admitted to the state bar in 1916.

U.S. MAY TAKE FRENCH ISLES

Action Indicated In Statement By Secretary Hull

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Secretary Hull told France today that Franco-German collaboration was "inimical" to the rights of the United States and other nations.

In a statement, the Secretary of State declared official reports indicated that the Vichy government had adopted a policy of collaboration with other powers "for the purpose of aggression and oppression."

In what seemed a warning that French possessions in the Western Hemisphere might be taken over by the United States and other American nations, Hull said:

"We are, therefore, undertaking as speedily as possible to assemble every material fact and circumstances calculated to shed light on this alleged course of the French government."

After reviewing American relations with the Vichy government since the French armistice with Germany, Hull said that the United States policy "has been based upon assurances by the French government that there was no intention on its part to exceed to strict limitations imposed" by the armistice terms.

Nazi Middle East Positions Raided

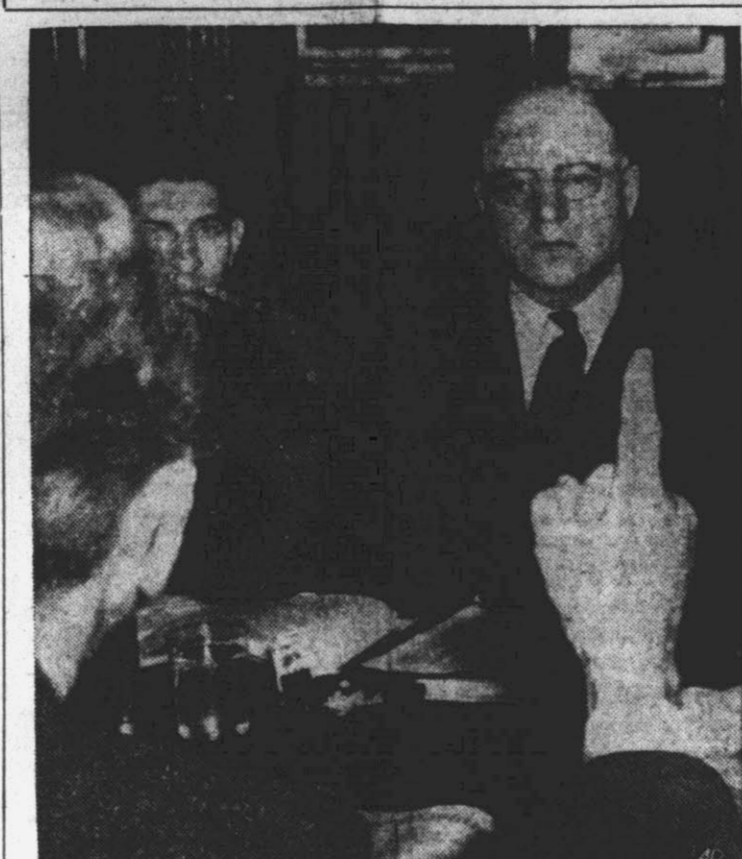

Cairo, June 5.—(AP)—Heavy damage to Axis advance posts in the struggle for the Middle East was claimed by the British Royal Air Force today in attacks on the Libyan port of Bengasi and Maritza airport on the Italian island of Rhodes.

Direct hits were scored on hangars, causing violent explosions, in the raid Wednesday night on Maritza, the communiqué said, "and a number of bombs fell among dispersed aircraft." At Bengasi, on the same night, it said heavy RAF bombers caused "considerable damage" on the waterfront of the Axis-held North African base and touched off heavy explosions on and near the city's airport.

Newell G. Bartlett Claimed By Death

Kinston, June 5.—(AP)—Newell G. Bartlett, 55, for 19 years secretary-manager of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, died today in a hospital here. He was a native of Richland, Ga. Surviving are the widow and a daughter. The funeral will be held at 5 p. m. tomorrow at the First Baptist church here.

OPM Expert Asks More For Defense

Stacy May (facing camera), chief statistician for the Office of Production Management, submits to questioning by Senator James M. Mead (back to camera and with hand raised), Democrat of New York, during his appearance before the Senate Defense Committee in Washington. May told the committee the government must virtually double present defense expenditures.

Property Seizure Bill Upheld By Sec. Stimson

PLACES GUARD IN NAVY UNIT

More Than 3,000 Guardsmen Included In Transfer

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today the Coast Guard was turning more than 3,000 of its sailors over to the navy to man new navy transports.

Morgenthau said at a press conference this transfer was the cause of an executive order signed by President Roosevelt yesterday directing that an unspecified number of Coast Guardsmen should "operate as a part of the navy."

The Treasury secretary estimated that 700 of the Coast Guardsmen would man the liner America which the Maritime Commission requisitioned from the United States Lines last week and assigned to the navy.

Some of the men going to the navy were freed for this work when 10 Coast Guard cutters were recently turned over to England.

State Bonds Sold Raleigh, June 5.—(AP)—North Carolina today sold $965,000 in permanent improvement bonds. The state will spend the money as follows: $600,000 for a tubercular hospital at Wilson; $90,000 for construction of an AAA office building on the N. C. State College campus; $275,000 to defray costs of fireproofing buildings of the state hospital for the deaf at Morganton.

PITT CLERK JAILED; IT WAS ALL IN FUN

J. Frank Harrington, clerk of Pitt Superior court for more than a score of years, was jailed here this morning on a charge of contempt of court involving the violation of a restraining order signed by Deputy Clerk E. P. Tucker and served by the sheriff's department.

The veteran clerk was immediately made a trusty by Jailer W. G. Leggett and went to his office after having been out for about two weeks with rheumatism. He was welcomed back by his many friends. The restraining order, signed and served yesterday, declared that Mr. Harrington had been confined with rheumatism and that he had continued to ignore the orders of Mrs. Harrington who was acting in behalf of her husband's welfare in seeking to keep him resting at home. The paper declared that the

BILL PROVIDES AIR CORPS OF 40,000 PLANES

Ten Billion Dollar Measure Sent To Floor of House

PLANE PROGRAM IS LARGEST ITEM

Committee Serves A Blunt Notice That Huge Fund Is Likely To Prove Insufficient For Needs

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—A $10,099,655,187 army supply bill—largest single appropriation since World war days—carrying funds to give the Air Corps a total of 40,000 planes, was sent to the House by its Appropriations committee today with a blunt notice that the huge fund was insufficient.

During secret testimony on the measure, made public today, Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of War, solemnly told the committee while discussing the vastly expanded program that:

"We have in the War Department a feeling that there will be a military need of all the planes covered by this program."

The Undersecretary did not amplify that statement for the record, but said that it was estimated conservatively that Germany's current airplane production capacity was 3,000 monthly and that the Nazis already have embarked on a program of utilizing the facilities of conquered countries which would increase her plane capacity to between 4,000 and 6,000 monthly.

In recommending the $10,000,000,000 outlay to finance the army's greatly expanded activities for the year starting July 1, the committee said it would bring the total of defense appropriations, contract authorizations and recommendations since last July to $30,115,051,142—exclusive of the $7,000,000,000 provided for the lend-lease program and the $6,000,000,000 required to complete the two-ocean navy.

Despite these gigantic outlays, the committee said that barring a slackening of the defense program's tempo, the pending bill would not be adequate for the coming fiscal year because costs already were higher than when the estimates were prepared.

TOUR STARTED BY N. C. CHOIR

Young Singers To Make Transcontinental Trip

The North Carolina Symphonic Choir composed of 40 voices from farms of Eastern North Carolina began a transcontinental tour here today following brief ceremonies during which Mayor B. E. Sugg gave the members a formal send-off and the choir sang two numbers for the large crowd that gathered at the court house square to see them off.

The choir was to broadcast on a nation-wide hook-up over the Mutual network in Raleigh this afternoon, especially sending greetings to California.

The singers, under the direction of Lewis Sydney Bullock, will make the five-weeks tour to California where they will represent North Carolina at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs June 21-25.

Traveling by bus with "North Carolina" in big letters on both sides, the singers expect to spread the state's fame across the continent. Following the radio concert the party will go to Charlotte for their first appearance of the tour before an audience. They will proceed to Hendersonville Friday, and on Saturday will make their first out-of-state appearance with a concert in Jefferson City, Tenn.

Zero Hour Appears Near For Middle East Front

Falls Dead

Rep. Michael Edelstein (above), Democrat of New York, fell dead outside the House chamber of the capitol in Washington a few minutes after making a speech on the floor. The capitol physician said heart trouble caused the death of the 53-year-old bachelor congressman.

TALKS CHANGE IN DRAFT AGE

Registrants Over 27 Years of Age May Be Deferred

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—Bridgadier General Lewis B. Hershey was quoted by senators today as saying that men inducted for military training would be limited to those 21 to 27 years old if Congress approved requested amendments to the Selective Service act.

The director of Selective Service, he said, testified this was the intent of proposals to grant the President power to defer induction of men by age groups. Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate Military Committee, before which General Hershey appeared in closed session, said the group probably would act on the requested amendments tomorrow.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) said General Hershey suggested the 27-year age limit for trainees when he was asked what would be done under the proposed amendments. Lodge then suggested that this be written into the draft law.

The general was said to have suggested that the deferment would apply to all men who had reached their 27th birthday anniversaries by next October 27.

Name E. G. Flanagan Ruritan Club Speaker

The regular meeting of the Winterville Ruritan club will be held Tuesday night of next week, at which time Col. E. G. Flanagan will make the principal address.

Previously announced plans for cooperation of the club and the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce for holding one of a series of regional defense meetings have been cancelled, it was announced by officials of the club.

Pitt Red Cross Study Gets Started Monday

Mrs. Wallace Bourne, director of the Home Hygiene and Home Care course to be conducted here under the auspices of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, disclosed today that classes would get under way Monday.

The course will be conducted in the new classroom building of the college. Mrs. Bourne said that although the required number of students had been secured, additional pupils would be accepted if application is made immediately.

Squadrons Of British Fleet Massing Off Syrian Coast; Axis Warplanes Reported To Have Bombed Alexandria; French-Type Planes Declared To Have Been Piloted By Nazi Forces

By The Associated Press Great Britain clamped a blockade on French-ruled Syria and Lebanon today, declaring them "enemy occupied territory" and potential springboards for Adolf Hitler's war machine to strike at Palestine, Cyprus and Egypt.

Powerful squadrons of the British fleet were reported massing off the Syrian coast, and all signs indicated that the "zero hour" of a vast new struggle was now very near.

Blasting at the main base of the British Mediterranean fleet, Axis warplanes were reported to have bombed Alexandria, Egypt, during the night, killing more than 100 persons. The radio said the attack supported belief that French-type planes seen flying from Rhodes to Syria were manned by German pilots.

Turkey watched the crisis with mounting anxiety. Turkish Foreign Minister Saracoglu was reported to have informed German Ambassador Franz Von Papen of Turkey's concern over the asserted debarkation of German troops in Syria.

Saracoglu told the Nazi envoy that Turkey was reported to take additional security measures along her southeast frontier, facing Syria, and Iraq, responsible sources in Ankara said.

The Turkish radio reported that 15,000 German troops had already slipped into Syria, many of them disguised as Jewish refugees, others bandaged and limping like wounded soldiers home from the war.

Under cover of darkness, the Germans were also reported landing on the Syrian coast from small fishing vessels. British news agency said that a dozen or more Nazi planes—mostly fighters—were arriving daily in Syria, and that 150 empty transport planes had arrived at Rayak airfield Monday.

With 500,000 troops in the Middle East under the command of General Sir Archibald F. Wavell, the British moved swiftly to counter the latest German threat. Imperial troops stationed in Palestine, Iraq and Cyprus were said to have been heavily reinforced in the past few days.

At Home. Miss Williams entertains at home on Tuesday afternoon at the home of her aunt, Mrs. N. H. Whitehurst, complimenting Miss Helen McGinnis.

Quantities of colorful summer flowers decorated the rooms where the bride tables were arranged.

The high score prize, a Fostoria vase filled with sweet peas, was won by Miss Jane Hadley.

During the game, Coca-Colas were served, and at the close of the playing, the hostess, assisted by Miss Mary Whitehurst and Mrs. W. G. Norman, served a delicious ice course. Corsages were given as favors.

Those calling for refreshments were: Mrs. H. J. McGinnis, Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley and Mrs. L. L. Rives.

Miss Williams remembered Miss McGinnis with crystal in her chosen pattern, and Miss Madoline Woolard, bride-elect, with linen.

Hadley-McGinnis.

The marriage of Miss Helen Virginia McGinnis and Herbert Wood Hadley was solemnized today at high noon at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. The vows were spoken before the Reverend Thomas M.C.M. Grant, pastor of the church.

The altar was decorated with tall standards of white larkspur and feverfew combined with white eysopholia, with palms and plumosa ferns in the background. Ivory tapers in tall cathedral standards burned on either side of the flowers.

As the wedding guests were assembling, a program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Guy V. Smith. Included in the organ selections were "Blair de lune," by Debussy; "Traumerel," by Schumann; "Andante Cantabile," by Tschaukowski, and "Ave Maria," by Schubert. Immediately preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Herbert Waldrop sang "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "Be cause," by d'Hardelet, with Mrs. Smith at the console.

For the processional Mrs. Smith played Wagner's "Lohengrin" and for the recessional Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" from "Midsummer Night's Dream." During the ceremony "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn, was softly played. Mrs. Smith wore a blue silk dress, a white hat and shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Waldrop was dressed in pink linen and her corsage was white gardenias.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece dress of creole blue crepe, featured with shirring at the waist and shoulders. The skirt was street length and pleated. A short blue veil fell from her pearl pink flowered turban, an original Jay Thorpe model. The bridal corsage was of white orchids.

Mrs. James McGowan Johnston was her sister's dame of honor. She wore a redingote dress of a crushed rose shade, with panels of silk braid embroidery down the front of the coat and across the shoulders. Her hat was an off-the-face model of "hacienda" blue. Her train bouquet was of pink and white larkspur and delphinium tied with blue satin ribbon.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Jacob Milton Hadley, as best man. The ushers were James Dudley Simpson of Greenville, Smith Young of Lexington, Carl Dull of Winston-Salem, and James Move of Greenville.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Justus McGinnis of Greenville. After attending the Greenville high school and East Carolina Teachers College, where she received her B.S. degree, she entered the teaching profession and is at present a member of the faculty of the Franklinton city schools.

Mr. Hadley, who is the youngest son of Mrs. George B. W. Hadley and the late Mr. Hadley, was graduated from the Greenville high school, attended East Carolina Teachers College for two years and received his B.S. degree from Wake Forest College in 1939. For the past two years he has been a medical student at Wake Forest. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma and Chi Pi fraternities.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hadley will be at home for the summer at Winston-Salem, N. C.

For the wedding, Mrs. McGinnis, mother of the bride, wore a hand-embroidered crepe dress, with which she wore a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. Her hat was a white straw with a navy blue veil.

Mrs. Hadley, mother of the groom, was attired in white silk dress, with which she wore a large white hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the rehearsal Wednesday evening, the bridal party and several close friends were entertained informally at the home of the bride's parents. Decorations in the home were in the bridal motif. The dining table, covered with a Spanish lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. R. S. Julian of Morristown, N. J., cousin of the bride, presided over the bride's book in which guests registered. Cake and bridal ices were served by Mrs. James VanDyke, assisted by Misses Rosamond VanDyke and Rebecca Williams.

Mrs. Eugene Hamric directed the guests to the gift room, where Miss Rose Hadley, assisted by Miss Edna Earl Sexton, served lime punch.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Smith Young of Lexington, Carl Dull of High Point, Miss Bertha Futrelle of Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Harris and Miss Minnie Harris of Franklinton, Miss Helen Richardson of Troy, Miss Kathryn Fuller of Spruce Knob, Robert White, Miss Mary Hadley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forbes, Miss Jane Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Arnold of Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell of Long Island City, N. Y.; Mrs. R. S. Julian of Morristown, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker, Miss Mary Alden Tucker of Warren; Miss Mrs. James Ellison of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Hassell Thigpen of Tarboro, Mrs. Harry Ruffin of Wilson, Mrs. Aubrey Shaekell of Tarboro, Mr. Frank Parrott of Goldsboro, Mr. Eddie McFey of El Paso, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hadley of Greensboro.

Joint Hostesses At Bridge. Miss Madoline Woolard, bride-elect of June 14, was honored at bridge Wednesday afternoon by Miss Margie Spivey and Miss Jane Rowlett at the latter's home.

Mixed summer flowers were used to decorate the rooms where six tables received high score prize, a double deck of cards, and Miss Ruth Crumpler received the floating prize, a string of pearls.

A frozen fruit salad course was served.

The hostesses presented the honoree with bread and butter plates in her selected pattern of china. Miss Mary Lorraine Horne, bride-elect of Friday, received a cookie jar.

Mrs. Hadley Entertains. Last evening at seven o'clock, Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley entertained at dinner honoring the Hadley-McGinnis wedding party, members of the immediate families and out-of-town guests.

A color motif of bridal green and white was carried out in the dining room. The lace covered table where the bridal party was seated, was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white flowers. Tall white tapers in holders of silver burned at either end of the table and were placed upon the buffet and service tables.

The other guests found their places at small tables grouped in the living rooms, where colorful summer flowers were used and burning tapers afforded soft illumination. A three-course dinner was served. About fifty guests enjoyed this delightful affair.

Entertain For Brides-Elect. Mrs. Lovit Hines of Kinston and Misses Marie and Jane Smith entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon on Wednesday at one o'clock to compliment Miss Lorraine Horne and Miss Madoline Woolard, brides-elect.

A delicious barbecue luncheon was served from small tables grouped in rooms which were distinctively decorated with summer flowers.

Mrs. Hines presented Miss Horne a gift of crystal, and the Misses Smith presented her with silver in her chosen pattern.

The hostesses remembered Miss Woolard with silver.

Greensboro College Alumnae. The Greenville chapter of the Greensboro College Alumnae met on Tuesday afternoon, June 3, at the home of Mrs. F. P. Brooks, with Miss Mabel Tomlinson, hostess.

The president, Mrs. J. E. Parkerson, called the meeting to order and presided over the brief business session. The secretary and the treasurer gave their reports, after which Mrs. Brooks presented the following slate of officers for next year which was unanimously accepted:

President, Mrs. J. E. Parkerson; vice-president, Mrs. J. C. Galloway; secretary, Mrs. R. R. Taylor; treasurer, Miss Mabel Tomlinson; reporter, Mrs. W. C. Harris; program chairman, Mrs. Wiley Brown. Plans were made for the annual picnic to be held on Friday, June 13.

The program consisted of interesting talks given by Mrs. F. P. Brooks and Mrs. Wiley Brown. Mrs. Brooks told of her happy visit to Greensboro College in May, when she attended the May Day exercises there, the guest of her niece; and Mrs. Brown gave a glowing report of the commencement activities which she and Miss Martha E. Tyson attended together last week-end. Mrs. Brown also read a most interesting letter in the form of greetings to the "Forty-Niners" written by a ninety-five-year-old alumna, Sophia Richardson Patrick.

A social hour was enjoyed, during which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

The United States has about 126,000 miles of oil pipeline and the rest of the world 11,000 miles.

During the evening Mr. El Bloom entertained the guests with his famous skit "Levin's at the Wedding."

Out-of-town guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Stroud, Jr., of Ayden, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. MacKenzie of Washington, Miss Elizabeth MacKenzie of New York City, Miss Gladys MacKenzie of Greensboro, Mrs. Mason Yates of Columbia, S. C., and Mr. Roland Modlin of Belhaven.

Little Miss Martha MacKenzie of Halifax said the goodbyes to the guests.

A social hour was enjoyed, during which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

THE SACRED DAGGER

By Rita Underhill

YESTERDAY: When the Emir's servants left Anne, drugged and weary, at a tiny desert oasis she had had two companions—Blaze Sherwood and Pete Mackey, to the first of whom she had been married as a means of escaping the Emir. The Emir was tricky, and betrayed them. Almost as frightening is the fact that Pete had disappeared, and apparently Anne and Sherwood must starve together.

Chapter 16
The Dead Man
Blaze gazed at her a moment longer, shaking his head. "I've a hunch that a lover, like an artist, should not be too sympathetic." Anne continued to stare at him, blinking helplessly. He drew the bed pallet that had been left them to the front of the tent and threw himself down on one side of it where he could look up and see the sky. Presently Anne sat down on the edge near him. "Hungry?" he asked, scrutinizing her face. "Not especially. A slight headache. You?" "Not so bad. Think of our blessings! Free at last from all compulsions! Nothing to do but exist!" She answered, a trace of derision in her voice. "Now is your chance to prove what absolute surrender to Destiny will bring you." "If I'm man enough," he said. Anne began to laugh a bit unsteadily. "Grandmother must be turning over in her grave. Her young man said, 'Darling, I'm not worthy to kiss your little hand.'" He grinned and persisted. "I'm trying to say that you and I belong to each other, Anne. Always have. Always will. Not in the sense of possession—love is not bound. But in the sense of having the same destiny, traveling the same road, responding to the same rhythm and, she smiled, 'enjoying the same fun.'" She eyed him skeptically. "So what?" "You know what," he retorted. "Don't pretend." "You're speaking outrageously." "Granted, Anne. I'd like to shock you out of this smugness of yours. You won't admit you're a human being. You're more than a clothes horse." She sprang angrily to her feet. "Blaze Sherwood!" "Don't high hat me, Queen Victoria." He caught her ankle and brought her down on top of him. She screamed in unexpected surprise and terror. He released her at once, rolled her over on her back on the pallet and moved away an arm's length on the rug and sat up. "Anne, you're acting like a little fool. Your body shouldn't be afraid of mine." She laid an arm across her eyes, and when she was breathing quietly again, tried to explain. "All her life a girl is trained and admonished to keep herself to herself. Then someone like you comes along and calls her a little fool." He gazed at her contritely. "I understand. I've been clumsy. Sorry precious." He clasped her hand that lay between them. "Any objection to our hands, at least, becoming acquainted?" She smiled and shook her head. "Besides, I'm here on a mission that excludes you. I will not forget that." "You can't keep from falling in love with me, Anne." "I can keep from doing anything about it." "Agreed," he admitted. "But people who live only for the future cheat themselves of both the present and the future." Anne looked at him helplessly. "You think of the strangest things." He smiled. "Maybe hunger has something to do with it." She felt that he gave all kinds of meanings to the word. "I should think you'd hate me," she remarked. "If I didn't exist you wouldn't be in this horrible predicament." "You swear you're going to live." He reminded her, suddenly changing tactics. "If so, it's not such a horrible predicament. A week or two of fasting is no more than food for the soul." He sprang to his feet. "I'm getting out. See you later."

away the bird sidled after her for a few rather terrifying moments and then desisted and began preening his wings. Despair
Sherwood had not returned when she arrived at the tent. She looked up anxiously at the rim of the bowl in the direction he had taken and then down at her body, faint with the effects of fatigue and hunger and sorrow. Suddenly she crumpled to the pallet, and when she finally roused, the sun had set and she was still alone. "Perhaps something has happened and he will never return," she thought in wild despair, as she stood in front of the tent watching the sunlight fade and the pale stars appear. If he were not here when the moon rose she would take his path and follow him. Anything better than this dreadful waiting. Her knees were trembling. She clung to the tent cloth for support, trying vainly to think of what wisdom she had been taught for such an occasion. Then she looked up and saw Sherwood coming down the path. For a moment her breathing stopped; she could not move, but stood and stared, glad the moonlight would not reveal the tear-stained face. "Anne," he called. Instantly her strength returned and she ran to him. His head hung in weariness; his clothes were caked with mud.

"Had a little difficulty," he said patting her hand that clung to his arm. "Didn't know for a while if I'd come back or not. Got caught in quicksand." He threw himself down on the ground in front of the tent and when she protested replied "I'm too dirty to go inside. Let me get my mind. Later I'll change and swim." She wanted to do something for him—bring him a drink—bathe his face. And she wanted to do something for herself—kiss him—take him in her arms—feel his nearness. But she saw his greatest need for the moment was rest and stillness. "If only she had food for him! She had lost her own hunger, but famished he must be. She picked up his hat and went down to the falls to carry him water, taking time to wash her tear-stained face. He was sitting up when she returned and drank greedily. "Why didn't you ask me to go with you?" she queried as she knelt there before him. He looked at her. "I don't know," he said. "Wanted to save your strength. I guess." "For what?" He stared again. "I don't know." After a moment's pause he asked "Want to swim with me, Anne?" She went inside the tent to change. He was floating lazily when she joined him. "The water is like cream," he called. When she saw he would say no

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR Thursday, June 5, 1901

Potatoes were quoted in northern markets today all the way from $3 to $5 per barrel. A number of Greenville people will attend the teachers' assembly at Wrightsville next week. Hugh Ragsdale left Wednesday evening for a visit to Kinston and Raleigh. Miss Nan Coward of Greene county is visiting relatives in Greenville. Miss Maud Anderson went to Ayden Wednesday evening to attend the commencement of F. W. B. Seminary. They came out together and dropped down on the sand where the dune had stuck its thirsty tongue into the lake. "I'm a new man," he said. "I wish I had something to feed you." "Love is nourishment enough, Anne." When she saw he would say no more she asked, "What did you find out today?" "Only this—there is nothing we can do to get away."

Library News

Summer Reading Club work really begins at Sheppard Memorial Library on Monday, June 9. Mrs. Kasey will be at the club table in the children's reading room to register those who come in, answer all questions, talk about the books, etc. At ten o'clock Wednesday morning, June 11, the first club meeting will be held. Children and young people are invited to this meeting. There will probably be a party feature. Talk to the desk attendant at the library and watch The Reflector for further announcements. —Mrs. W. C. Vincent.

She sat up and watched him walk to the little lake, follow the margin around to the farther side and strike off in the direction where they had seen the eagle. "Why didn't he tell me he was going up there?" she asked herself. "He's a difficult person to understand." One moment he had stabbed her heart with the words: "only a few more days in which to really feel alive" and the next he had bewitched her with the statement: "a week or two of fasting is no more than food for the soul." What was a girl to believe? The sun was low. Sherwood disappeared, a tiny speck in the distance, and she remained there alone in that strange crater of desolation so barren of life beside her own that not even a fly shared it with her. Presently she pulled a blanket about her shoulders and closed her eyes. When she opened them at dawn she saw Sherwood lying near by wrapped in a rug. They spent much of that day talking about food, though she noticed that he seemed preoccupied at the same time as if his secret thoughts were quite different from his surface speech. When she asked him what he had found among the clay ridges he answered, "An eagle's nest from which the life has flown." "I'd like to see it." "Nothing to see," he answered quickly. "You'd only tire yourself." She made a secret resolve to take the walk. Once, when he would have put an arm around her she drew away. He looked at her steadily for a moment. "Do you still think we're coming out of this alive, Anne?" "I refuse to believe anything else." He started to reply and then restrained himself. That afternoon he went off in the direction from which the carriage had brought them. "To see what I can see," he explained, but did not ask her to accompany him. When he was out of sight she headed across the basin in the direction of the eagle's nest. Strangely enough, as she approached the region she was thinking of Mackey, wondering what had become of him, for there was no evidence of a fight. Skirting a clay ridge she came to the spot where it met an encroaching dune. Suddenly she stopped and stared—stark unbelief changing to dreadful certainty. She found she was whispering to herself. An eagle's nest from which the life has flown. They killed him. He fought and the soldiers killed him. She went to the grave in the sand and knelt down. Mackey's uniform coat decorated the mound as a blanket of flowers would have done at home. She lifted a sleeve of the coat to her cheek, and crouched there crying softly until the sorrow that wrung her heart was chilled by physical exhaustion. Suddenly the flapping of wings startled her. A great eagle settled down on the comb of the dune above and watched her with his fierce golden eyes. Wonder was added to her fear of him. When she backed

Greenies Kept Idle By Rain; Wilson Tobs Win Again

TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Locals Trailing Pace-Setting Tobs By Three Games

The Greenville-Rocky Mount game scheduled for Guy Smith park last night was rained out, thereby interrupting the locals' winning streak, but Wilson took a 4-8 victory over Goldsboro to add a half game to their lead over the Greenies. The Wilson team now is three full games ahead of the Greenies. Kinston and Rocky Mount are having a nip and tuck battle for third place with both teams within striking distance of Greenville. The Eagles are only three and one-half games behind the locals, while Rocky Mount is half a game behind Kinston. The other four teams are bunched within a game and a half of each other, with Goldsboro on the bottom, 11 and one-half games behind the league-leading Wilson Tobs.

The Greenies are scheduled to go to Rocky Mount tonight and open a two-game series with Goldsboro here Friday night. After playing in the Wayne capital on Saturday, the Greenies are to entertain Tarboro here Sunday afternoon. Ladies Night was scheduled for last night and will be held tomorrow night when the Greenies play Goldsboro here.

NEXT WEEK'S MATCHES
Farmville at Greenville.
Kinston at Wilson.
Rocky Mount at Henderson.
Goldsboro at Tarboro.

The Greenville golfers were set back 30-22 in Kinston yesterday and dropped from second place as Tarboro took a 25-15 win over Rocky Mount. Wilson maintained its lead by defeating Farmville 39-28.

The Goldsboro-Henderson match was rained out and will be played on June 18, on which date the new course will be opened in the Wayne city.

Next week's play will end the regular season.

Walker of Kinston was low medalist in yesterday's Greenville-Kinston match with a 73, while Rasmussen's 74 was next low and Neal Herring of Greenville made a 75 to post the third lowest mark for the day.

Greenville golfers were "off" yesterday and several of the local aces were not able to participate.

The following scores were turned in by the locals: Massey 80, Allen 78, Carr 82, N. Herring 75, Smoot 83, B. Herring 73, Waldrop 77, Barrett 87, Brown 89, Edwards 89, Ruffin 87, Glass 83, Kilgo 84, Bilbro 89, Morton 87, Harvey 92, Peterson 92.

Danish Cattle

Berlin.—(AP)—German sources estimate the number of cattle in Denmark at the end of November, 1940, was 2,980,000, compared to 3,190,000 a year before. German agricultural experts insisted there have been no "mass slaughtering" and that Denmark has been able to cover its needs for fodder, formerly purchased largely from overseas lands, almost entirely from continental sources.

Pays To Be Honest

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Dale Ross addressed the letter to his mother, slipped in a $10 bill, and then lost the envelope. He had to send another. His mother received both in the same mail. The finder of the first had sealed it with $10 intact, placed a stamp on it, and dropped it in a mailbox.

ECTC Faculty To Travel Far
ward her Doctor's degree in the New York University.

Research on the problem of bog vegetation selected for her Doctor's dissertation in science at Duke University will keep Miss Mary Coughlin in Greenville most of the summer.

Miss Ruby Scholz of the home economics department of the College will study at Iowa A. and M. College.

After a leisurely western trip Miss Helen McElwain of the physical education faculty will spend some time at the University of Southern California observing physical education work in the physical house there.

Miss Anne Redwine of the Training School faculty will take work at the University of California, at Berkeley.

Other members of the East Carolina Teachers College group are carrying on researches at home or at some university where they are not registered for work, but are using libraries and laboratories.

Many are remaining in Greenville to teach in the summer session of the college. Still others are vacationing at home in various parts of the United States.

conflict was further high-lighted by the unexpected arrival in Vichy of Governor Pierre Boisson of French West Africa, the "defender of Dakar" against an abortive attempt by General Charles de Gaulle's "Free French" forces to seize that African coast town last September.

Diplomatic circles in Vichy, meanwhile, declared that Hitler was planning a Europe-Africa "league of nations," with France acting as a peace-making link with the Americas.

There was no confirmation of such a move elsewhere, however, and it appeared to be just another in a series of peace "trial balloons" set afloat by presumably Axis-inspired sources.

London, June 4. (AP)—The Canadian press tonight quoted reliable London sources as predicting an imminent and "far-reaching" event in the Middle East and coupled this guarded statement with reports of Nazi troops arriving in strategic French-mandated Syria.

Authoritative spokesmen, the Canadian press said, reaffirmed Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's recent declaration in the House of Commons that Britain would attack Germany wherever they are found and the news service's sources added, it follows logically that the British could not permit Syria to fall under Nazi control.

(This seemed to indicate flatly that Britain was about to occupy the mandate.)

Eden's statement was made specifically in connection with Vichy's collaboration with Germany. It came while the RAF was bombing Syrian airfields used as bases by German warplanes then being flown to the aid of anti-British Iraq forces.

Year Of Progress Reported By Asso.

Another year of progress was reported by directors of six production credit associations who gathered at Wrightsville Beach for a group conference, according to Jno. R. Carroll, president of the Greenville Production Credit Association, which serves Pitt and Greene counties.

Associations represented in addition to the Greenville association were Ahoskie, Carthage, Kinston, Rocky Mount and Washington. The secretaries of the associations also attended the conference as did several representatives of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia and of other units of the Farm Credit Administration of Columbia.

Plans for further improving the service which these farmers' cooperative short-term credit organizations offer to their members were discussed. Attending from the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia were W. A. Minor, Jr., president; Glenn R. Miller, secretary; and Jack Frost, assistant secretary. The round-table discussions were participated in by all of the directors.

Reports submitted at the meeting revealed that all of the associations represented had a good year in 1940 and that all of them are doing what they were created to do—furnishing their members with short-term credit service at the lowest cost possible.

Attending from the Greenville association in addition to Mr. Carroll were Mack G. Smith, D. F. Hardison and G. L. Mewborn, directors, and Robert A. Darr, secretary-treasurer.

The Greenville association has to date made 492 loans this year totaling $393,235.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, June 5. (AP)—While there was far from a bull stampede in today's stock market, recovery forces continued to extend their position on various fronts.

In addition to top quotations being shaved in many cases, minus signs were to be seen here and there at the close. Transfers of around 600,000 shares were the largest in a month.

New York Cotton

New York, June 5. (AP)—Cotton futures opened unchanged to one lower.

Noon prices were one to three points higher.

Futures closed four to five lower, middling spot 13.74, off four.

Tour Started By N. C. Choir
the singers to help with the crops.

Lewis Bullock, a Michigander who came to North Carolina as a student of the Westminster Choir School, organized the choir to support his theory that farms of Eastern North Carolina would produce music as well as tobacco and cotton.

The choir was acclaimed on its first out-of-state tour last year, to the New York World's Fair. On the way the singers were guests of Mrs. Roosevelt in the White House.

No charge is being made for the concerts on tour. The young members are paying their own way insofar as possible, but free will collections will be received to help them out.

On their five weeks tour they will travel more than 7,000 miles and will sing in churches, before civic organizations, in universities, and of course, before the Federation of Music Clubs as North Carolina's only accredited choir.

In California the choir hopes to reverse their opening procedure and broadcast back home over the MBS network. Tentative arrangements have been made in this end.

Sickroom Precaution.
If there is sickness in the family, see that the laundry equipment is well disinfected. Soak the laundry itself several hours in water containing a strong disinfectant. Wipe the ringers, washer and any other equipment, with disinfectant on a brush or cloth.

The annual number of pneumonia cases in the United States is about 500,000. Before introduction of sulfanilamide, about 160,000 were fatal.
