NAZI DRIVE SLOWED; RUSSO-JAP CLASH REPORTED

Japan Denounced By U.S. As Aggressor In Indo-China

Welles Says Philippines Threatened

Indications Are This Country Prepared to Impose Sweeping Economic Restrictions To Parallel A Possible British Military Action To Counter Impending Nippon Occupation Of Indo-China Bases

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Japan was denounced as an aggressor in French Indo-China by the United States today in a statement declaring American security, territory and interests in the Far East were menaced by action of Tokyo forces.

The statement, issued by Sumner Welles, acting Secretary of State, was the first of expected counteractions on the part of the United States and Britain against the impending occupation of the French colony by Japanese forces.

Japanese warships were reported to have arrived at Camranh Bay and Cap St. Jacques, strategic points in the colony.

Japan's action, Welles said, was primarily in preparation for future "movements of conquests in adjacent areas." The Philippine Islands would be endangered by such moves, he added.

Innocuations both here and in London were that the American government stood ready to impose sweeping economic restrictions on Japan, paralleling possible British military action to offset the threat against their Singapore naval base and The Netherlands East Indies which would be created by establishment of Japanese bases in southern Indo-China.

That the occupation was imminent, if not actually under way, already was indicated by dispatches from Saigon, French Indo-China.

Well informed sources there said Japanese warships had appeared off Cape St. Jacques and Camranh bay and that 12 Japanese transports were en route to Saigon from Hainan, Chinese island off the Indo-China coast.

Camranh bay is a naval base on Indo-China's southeast coast and Cape St. Jacques dominates the mouths of the Saigon river by which ships reach Saigon.

Foreign consultants there, said today their representatives in Hanoi had been advised by the Indo-China government of a French-Japanese agreement granting the Japanese certain naval and military concessions in the southern part of the colony.

From Vichy came the announcement that France and Japan had agreed in principle on a basis for Japanese aid in protection of French interests, but had so far signed nothing. Negotiations on details, it was added, now have been shifted from Vichy to Hanoi, capital of the colony.

War Department Drafts Bill Extending Service Of Men Now Under Arms

SEN. WHEELER PUT ON SPOT

Urged Soldiers To Oppose American Entry in War

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) had mailed postcards to army officers and men, urging them to oppose American entry into the European war.

"I think this comes very near the line of subversive activities against the United States, if not treason," Stimson told a press conference.

The cards went out, postage free Stimson said, under the frank of the western senator.

A million of the cards had been printed in the government printing office, Stimson said, but were labeled "not printed at government expense."

Wheeler told reporters that he had sent out approximately one million cards to "a cross section of citizens" all over the country "in an effort to hold the President to his pledge to keep this country out of war."

Some of the cards "naturally reached officers and men in the army," the Montanan continued, "but they were not directed primarily to that group."

Measure Submitted By Sec. Stimson Proposes That Congress Declare National Welfare Imperilled By International Situation; General Marshall Rejects Taft's Plan To Retain Men 16 Months

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The War Department drafted for the Senate Military Committee today a bill which would retain selectees, National Guardsmen and reserves in active army service for the duration of an emergency to be declared by Congress.

Submitted by Secretary Stimson, the suggested legislation proposed that Congress declare that the "national interests and welfare of the United States are gravely imperilled by the international situation." It would lift the present restriction of 16 months on the number of draftees who might be in training at any one time.

The measure also would find that a national emergency existed, during which the President would be "empowered to employ the armed land forces of the United States in excess of those of the regular army in the national defense."

No specific mention was made in the proposed draft of eliminating present prohibitions against sending National Guardsmen and selectees outside the Western Hemisphere. Committee members said there was question whether this could be done under the proposed language.

The War Department draft received after General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, had rejected a proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to limit maximum service of reservists and selectees to 16 months.

In a formal statement filed with the Senate Military Committee, General Marshall said that Taft's plan "has great merit, but only as a long-range plan for peace-time procurement and training purposes."

The present limit is 12 months but the army wants to make the length of service indefinite.

Marshall said: "The present grave international situation prompts me again to request that Congress remove, by joint resolution or some other form of legislation, the restrictive clauses in the present law effecting the reserve components and selectees, in order that the War Department may have the maximum flexibility to meet any situation which may arise."

Committee attaches said they expected Marshall's statement to be followed later in the day by a submission of a War Department proposal that Congress declare a full emergency in which the army could be placed on a war-time footing.

The report, it was said, would renew the army's request or declaration by Congress of a full national emergency. Such a declaration would put the army on a virtual war-time basis, congressional authorities declared. The one-year limit on the service of selectees, reserves and guardsmen would be removed automatically, they added, as would the ban against the use of these men outside this hemisphere.

Nazi War Vessels Hit By RAF Bombs

London, July 25.—(AP)—The British announced tonight that Royal Air Force heavy bombers made heavy attacks last night and today on the 26,000-ton German battleship Scharnhorst, which had been moved from its old refuge at Brest to La Pallice, 240 miles to the south. Attacks were also made today on her sister ship, the Gneisenau, at Brest, and on the docks at Cherbourg, the announcement said.

Possible Japanese Moves

Japan is reported to have made sweeping demands for bases in southern French Indo-China and Far Eastern dispatches said the French have yielded. Observers at Shanghai believed the Japanese, reported concentrating at Hainan, were planning to move into French Indo-China. Far Eastern experts in Washington believe the Japanese demands were based on determination to place Japanese forces within striking distance of Singapore, British naval base, and the Dutch East Indies. Invasion of Indo-China, say the observers, would put them in position for a blow at the Burma road, China's supply line. The arrows on the map indicate the possible objectives. The shading denotes Japan's penetration into China.

RAF ASSAULTS GAIN RESULTS

Nazis Forced Withdraw Planes From Russian War

London, July 24.—(AP)—Unprecedented opposition from increasing hundreds of Messerschmitts which are rising daily to counter the Royal Air Force's incessant daylight sweeps over northern France was cited by informed quarters today as "conclusive evidence" that Germany has been compelled to withdraw substantial air forces from the Russian front.

"They are proof the sweeps are achieving the major objective of preventing the Luftwaffe from concentrating all its power for the destruction of the Soviet air force," these sources asserted.

Their comments followed the declaration of an RAF wing commander that more Messerschmitts "than ever before" were encountered in a late evening sweep yesterday.

Nevertheless, since dawn today relays of British bombers and fighters have been shuttling across the channel in attacks against Nazi-occupied territory.

Annual Supper Held By Methodist Class

The Carson Memorial Bible Class of the Methodist church enjoyed its regular summer fried chicken supper at Francis Jordan's cottage on the river below Washington yesterday evening at 6:30 with a large number of the regulars and a few visitors present. The members of the class maintained the reputation of Methodists as to fried chicken.

WILSON BOARD AND EXAMINER RESIGN POSTS

Draft Officials Advise Adjutant General Of Action

ARE REQUESTED WITHHOLD MOVE

Quit In Protest Against Rejection of Baseball Player At Ft. Bragg After Being Passed Locally

Wilson, July 24.—(AP) Wilson County's Draft Board No. Two and its chief medical examiner submitted their resignations today to Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts in protest against a rejection of Irv Dickens, Wilson baseball player, at Fort Bragg after he had been passed by the local authorities.

Board members asserted pressure had been brought to obtain his services as field captain and second-baseman of the Coastal Plain club here. They said, however, Dickens himself had no part in seeking to escape military service.

The board is composed of W. L. Trevathan, World War veteran and civil engineer, chairman; W. L. Shelton, farmer, and Ed W. Davis, Wilson newspaper man. Dr. R. H. Putney of Elm City is chief examiner.

Davis said the joint resignation to the adjutant general set forth in part: "We do not feel that we can faithfully discharge our duties under the selective service act if such methods and practices are tolerated."

Raleigh, July 24.—(AP)—State selective service headquarters said today members of Wilson County Draft Board No. Two and its chief medical examiner had been asked to defer their resignations, pending an investigation of their charges.

Funeral Held For Red Oak Citizen

Funeral services for N. W. Tyson 85, who died at his home in the Red Oak community yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock following two years of illness, were conducted at the residence this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. M. Hinnant of Miro, former pastor of Piney Grove Free Will Baptist church, and Rev. M. A. Woodard, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Burial followed in Greenwood cemetery.

Active pallbearers were George L. Allen, F. B. Manning, Jasper Joyner, J. B. Nichols, Laurie Coward, Thurman Page, R. W. Tyson and Lester Sutton.

Mr. Tyson was born, reared and spent his entire life in the Red Oak community. He was married to Miss Susan Joyner of this county in 1887. She died in 1932. Mr. Tyson had been a member of Piney Grove Free Will Baptist church for more than a half century and had served on the board of deacons for many years. An outstanding citizen of his community, he was widely known and respected throughout the county.

He is survived by four sons, B. L. R. N. S., and H. P. Tyson, all of the Red Oak community; three daughters, Mrs. James H. Tucker of Greenville, Mrs. Hubert Crawford and Mrs. Jarvis Causey of the Red Oak community, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Drive Against Russia May Have Been Halted

In Conference

Far Eastern dispatches say Japan has made demands for concessions in southern Indo-China and conferences between French Admiral Jean Decoux (top), governor general, and Major General Kaishiro Sumita (bottom), chief of the Japanese military mission, were said to be under way at Hanoi, the capital.

REVEALS PLAN CANVASS CITY

To Make House-To-House Drive In Aluminum Drive

In order to provide everyone with an opportunity to contribute to the Aluminum Roundup Campaign, a house-to-house canvass has been arranged for Friday night between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock and workers will call by the various homes to collect the metal.

The aluminumware will be taken to a central location in each zone to be set up and later dumped in the Aluminum Depot on the court house walkway to Third street.

Alton Barrett is chairman of the house-to-house campaign and is making extensive arrangements. While every home in the city will be visited, he is asking that persons with aluminumware to contribute to the national defense program leave their front porch lights on so as to make certain that a solicitor calls.

W. W. Lee is chairman of the committee in charge of setting up the zones and he and the others on his committee, L. J. Smith and H. L. Rivers, are working out districts whereby the canvassing can be carried out with the least trouble and with no over-lapping of solicitations. A central point will be established in each zone and a truck will gather up the metal from the various zone centers.

Meanwhile the pile of aluminumware in the wire-enclosed depot at the court house continues to grow and throughout the day individuals can be seen throwing old pots and pans on the pile. By Saturday, following the house-to-house canvass Friday night the pile is expected to be increased considerably in size.

Other towns in the county also are pressing the campaign and central depots have been set up.

Few Details On Reports That Japanese And Soviet Troops Have Clashed On Manchoukuo - Siberian Frontier; London Declares That German Invasion Campaign Has Lost Its Momentum

By The Associated Press Adolf Hitler's invasion of Russia is slowing down, if it has not entirely halted, authoritative London quarters said today, while at Russia's back door there were unconfirmed reports that Japanese and Soviet troops had clashed on the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier.

DNB, official German news agency, asserted that a large Russian force encircled at Nevel, north of Vitebsk on the central front, had been smashed by Nazi troops "with extraordinary heavy losses."

The agency said 13,000 Soviet prisoners were captured.

German bombers attacked Moscow for the third successive night, the Nazi war bulletin said, pounding "vital military objectives."

The Russians said that the raiders, 150 strong, inflicted some casualties in another five and one-half hour assault, but that no military objectives were hit.

Few details were immediately available on the reported clash between Japanese and Russian troops in the East.

Dispatches from Shanghai said the fighting was reported to have started last evening in the vicinity of Changkufeng, the scene of a Russo-Japanese "vest-pocket war" in the summer of 1938.

London advices, picturing the German onslaught as having lost its momentum, declared there had been no regrouping of Nazi armies for a third assault in the 33-day-old conflict—such as might explain the present slow-down.

The Soviet high command reported that bitter fighting raged throughout the night in the three main theaters of action: on the Leningrad front, the Moscow front, and the Ukraine front.

This would indicate that there was again no change in the long battle line stretching from the Baltic to the Black sea.

Meanwhile, the London radio reported that 5,000 Serbs had risen up against the German conquest in Yugoslavia, attacking Nazi garrisons and outposts.

Big Toll Is Claimed By Italian Craft

Rome, July 24.—(AP)—The Italian high command reported today that Fascist warplanes destroyed a large unidentified British warship, a destroyer and two ammunition-laden steamers in attacks on a convoy in the Western Mediterranean.

The Italians also reported they had torpedoed a 10,000-ton cruiser of the Southampton class and another 8,000-ton cruiser, and said a battleship, a cruiser, a destroyer, a large steamer and another unidentified ship had been damaged by aerial bombs.

Seven British planes were shot down during the operations, a communique said, while three Italian planes were reported missing.

Celebrates Third Birthday. Little Miss Vicki Cook celebrated her third birthday Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 at the Educational building of Memorial Baptist Church. She had as honor guests the members of the Nursery class of the Sunday school of which she is a member, and additional friends which made 50 guests present.

The three rooms of the Nursery department were beautifully decorated with a variety of summer flowers, the playground was also decorated with hanging birds from the trees, a large balloon tree and colored balloons strewn from tree to tree. All the play equipment, slides, swings, hobby-horses, wagons and playhouse were open to the children. Little Vicki brought her dolls, balls and other toys to add to the pleasure of her little guests.

The guests were welcomed by Vicki and her mother, Mrs. Lois Tucker, during which Vicki led her guests into the rooms where a surprise entertainment was given by Katherine Youngblood.

A march was played by Lois Ann Tucker, during which Vicki led her guests into the rooms where a surprise entertainment was given by Katherine Youngblood.

In the yard was a beautifully decorated round table with a white and yellow birthday cake in the center, encircled with white and pink bunny rabbits made of marshmallows. The guests were seated around the table and sang "Happy Birthday," after which a colorful plate of pink, green and white was served, consisting of ice cream, cake, candies and punch. Attractive souvenir hats were worn by each guest.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Said a beaming Chicago homemaker recently, "Mr. Receptor, every time I use Wilson's Tender Made Ham, whether I slice and serve it cold, just as it comes from the package, or heat it first, believe me, I appreciate that with this ham there's no wasteful oven shrinkage." Have you considered the thrift advantage of Tender Made Ham? Remember only Wilson & Co. makes it. It's the ham you cut with a fork.

George Receptor Food Consultant Wilson & Co.

PICNIC "Bouquet" PLATTER

Slice Wilson's Tender Made Ham, just as it comes from the wrapper (or have your dealer slice it). Arrange the slices in overlapping rows on a large platter. Pile relishes, consisting of radish roses, curled celery, green and ripe olives in the center and serve.

Ham for Any Size Family

Yes, even small families can now have baked ham. For Wilson's Tender Made Ham, boneless, cooked in its own natural juices, comes in family size tins, whole, half, and quarter hams. Ready to serve or just heat and eat. No bone or waste. My favorite baked ham recipe on each tin.

For You

Who stand in front of a display of ready-to-serve meats, wondering which is which and what to order, let me suggest Wilson's Certified Salami and Cervelat. And here are two other winners. (I know they're good, not only because I eat them, but because I know the choice meats that go into them. Both carry the Wilson Certified Lasting Flavour brand—and that means "tops" in meat quality.) One is Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Luncheon Meat—downright delicious whether sliced, baked, broiled or fried. Number two is Wilson's Certified Spiced Ham. Try this for dinner broiled with apricots. the wind blowing her hair, whipping her skirt about her. Luella and Florida! Florida and Luella. What a wonderful combination! He'd do it! He reached for the telephone, and dialed the number of his employer. Thank the Lord, Martin Greenwood was at his office. Thank the Lord, he had said he wanted to go over some accumulated data on radio stations in other parts of the country.

"Hello?" Tommy said, when a voice answered the ring. "That you, Mr. Greenwood?"

"Yes," came the reply. "But—" "Don't get excited," Tommy laughed. "This is Tommy McIntyre."

"Oh, hello, Tommy!" "You shouldn't have told me you were remaining in the office," said Tommy. "But since you did, here I am, and I've got something very important to talk about. Can you spare me a moment or two?"

Mr. Greenwood chuckled. "Of course, Tommy," he said. "Go on." "I want to leave on my vacation right away," said Tommy. "Well, I'll be—," said Greenwood. "Calling me at this hour to—"

"It's important," said Tommy. "You know I've been hanging on for over a year now without getting away, and—and—well, I sort of feel a nervous breakdown coming on."

"Nonsense! You're the healthiest-looking man in Manhattan." "Maybe so, but sometimes appearances are deceptive." "What do you call 'right away'?" Mr. Greenwood asked.

"Monday morning," said Tommy. "Good Lord, man, that's mighty short notice."

"Yes, Mr. Greenwood, I know, but—" "Wait a minute!" Mr. Greenwood said suddenly. "Maybe you can be spared, that is if you're willing to combine a little work with your pleasure."

"Now, listen, Mr. Greenwood," Tommy protested. "A vacation is a vacation. I want to go down to Florida, lie in the sand, and soak up a lot of sunshine. I want to watch the waving palms. I want to do some fishing. I want—"

"Stop it!" Greenwood laughed. "You talk like a Miami advertising circular. So you want to go to Florida?"

"Yes, on Monday morning." "Meaning you'll grant my vacation now?"

"Right, on one condition." "I was afraid of that." "Afraid of what?"

"Of a catch of some sort." "No catch at all, my boy," said Mr. Greenwood. "Go on down to Florida, and have a vacation. You deserve it. All I want you to do is do a bit of investigating, in a leisurely sort of way, mind you—keep eyes and ears open, and see how things are with some of the broadcasting stations down in that neck of the woods. Just a matter of routine, that's all. Now that we're making a lot of recordings—especially serials and hit shows in weekly installments, I like to know just what's back of the stations throughout the country, financially and all that. Get it?"

"Yes, sir!" said Tommy. "Thanks a lot!" "You don't mind mixing this investigation with your vacationing?"

"Not at all," said Tommy. "I'm so darned used to work, come to think about it, I'll probably enjoy myself more. I'm keen about those recorded serials, you know that; so I'll certainly keep my ears and eyes open."

Tommy hung up. His heart was slightly sore for once in his life of thirty-odd years he had gotten a break! He did a couple of complicated dance steps around the room, and then dropped down into a chair. He lit a cigarette—smiled at the wall facing him.

Away from New York, away from all the rush and the noise and the worry that went toward making up a city that could be beautiful at times, and hideous at others. Sunshine and palms. Long white beaches, and Luella.

He could see her—almost hear her. Luella, sweet—adorable—living in his little cottage. "And to think," he told himself, "I kept trying to persuade Marie to marry me!"

Sweet Place
Luella reached Miami Sunday morning, and lost no time in getting out to Tommy McIntyre's cottage. The keys were in an envelope in her purse. Tommy had handed them to her at the Pennsylvania station.

"Make yourself completely at home, Luella," he had said. "And try not to feel too badly over all that's happened. I'll be thinking of you—even praying for you." He grinned. "That is, if you think the prayers of an old sinner like me will be any good."

"Thank you, Tommy," she had replied. "You're a dear to do all this for me, and I'll try to find something to keep me busy. You know that's a perfect way to keep from brooding or experiencing self-pity."

"You'll find plenty to do, all right!" said Tommy. "The cottage has been unoccupied for a long, long while, and it's probably thick with dust and festooned with cobwebs."

"Splendid!" she had exclaimed. "Cobwebs and dust are my meat! Housekeeping is the one thing at which I excel, in case you didn't know."

"You excel at cooking also. Don't forget that."

"No, I won't. Housekeeping is in thought, "Here endeth the first lesson!" Sinking down upon a sand dune, she toyed with a piece of shell, and frowned. Funny thing, this business of the association between a man and a woman. Take Henry and herself, for example. They'd started out so beautifully, and look at them now. Henry in New York, she in Florida. A divorce pending.

She asked herself if she had made a mistake in giving up so soon. And she said that she had not made a mistake. Had she been fighting a woman who was beautiful and with whom Henry was infatuated—just that alone—she might have won out.

But she not only had to fight a woman who was beautiful, but a woman who lived and worked in a world of excitement—a world Henry wanted to get into. If she had merely had to fight the woman who was beautiful and with whom Henry was infatuated, she could have made herself more and more beautiful, fought the woman—and maybe have won out in the end.

But what could she do when Henry was not only showing signs of being in love with Marie Mason, but was also determined to become a part of the world in which Marie lived and worked? You couldn't fight a situation like that, Luella argued.

No, the cards had been stacked against her. She had done the right thing, in leaving New York.

Barbara Wilson, 18-year-old brunette of Maywood, Cal., was selected "Miss California" in a beauty contest held at Venice, Cal. A rival "Miss California" will be selected as another contest later this week and will be a California representative at the "Miss America" contest in Atlantic City.

my line, but keeping my home isn't evidently. She had paused thoughtfully. "I wonder now if the old-fashioned qualifications for being a wife and making a home really count for anything at all. Tommy, Glamor, the ability to say smart nothings, play bridge for high stakes, wear clothes like a movie actress, and all those things seem to be more important nowadays."

"So do I," she had said. Then: "I'm going to miss you, Tommy. You've been grand to me."

"I'm going to miss you, too, Luella—like hell!"

And now Luella was unlocking the front door of the cottage, opening it, entering Sweet place, she thought. But Tommy had been right. There were cobwebs, and dust—plenty of both. Thank God, for that! She was going to be busy terribly busy.

GALLEY TWO—HEARTBREAK
And work—cleaning up the cottage, putting it into an attractive living condition—was going to be a life-saver. She raised shades, opened windows, let in the sunshine and the sea breeze. She went on a tour of inspection.

The cottage was snug and cozy and colorful. There was a combination living and dining room, two small bedrooms with a bath between. And a kitchen! The cutest sort of a kitchen. And it opened upon a diminutive back porch, a back porch that begged for some geraniums in empty tomato cans, like her Aunt Lila used to have, and a vine to climb the posts.

"I love it!" said Luella, half aloud.

Heartbreak
She found dimity curtains in a chest in a closet, she found table cloths, bed-linen—everything she needed to set up housekeeping. Then, as the word housekeeping came to her thoughts, she remembered the apartment in New York—that place she had worked so hard to make comfortable and attractive, a place where her tired husband could come at the end of a busy day.

Tired husband! Indeed! And did he stay in the home she had worked so hard to make comfortable and attractive? Not so you'd notice it, he didn't.

Oh, no, he rushed off to write radio songs with a glamorous and beautiful radio star! No time for home. Just a place in which to grab a bite to eat. No time for a wife. She was just a human automaton who was there to light the gas, whip up a cake, make a salad. Husband wife, home.

Suddenly she turned and ran from the cottage. She headed for the beach. Down there she stood watching the blue-green waves breaking upon the unbelievably white sand, watching the palms sway gently in the breeze. And she

Half-Year Figures Show Gruesome Safety Record

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, July 23.—Half-year figures on fatal accidents and persons killed in highway accidents serve to emphasize again the gruesome story of slaughter compiled on North Carolina's roads.

The red record:
January through June, 1941—545 killed in 460 accidents.
January through June, 1940—363 killed in 325 accidents.

The increase—182 killed, 135 accidents.
Percentage increase—50 per cent in deaths! 42 in accidents.

It's on the rural roads that the sorry record is being set. The figures show only one death more than in 1940's first half when only cities of 10,000 and up are considered.

In 57 counties there has this year been an increase in highway fatalities. In 43 the record is at least no worse than last year.

And word from the highway safety division (from which these figures come) is that July is seeing the city record smeared crimson. High Point, with no deaths for about 18 months, has had two fatalities in less than a week. In other urban centers there are indications of a lengthening death roster.

Here are the counties in which there have been increases this year, with the 1941 fatalities written first:

Alamance 12 and 8; Bertie 2 and 0; Bladen 7 and 4; Brunswick 6 and 3; Buncombe 18 and 13; Caldwell 4 and 0; Carteret 6 and 3; Caswell 5 and 0; Chatham 6 and 3; Chowan 3 and 0; Clay 1 and 0; Cleveland 3 and 3; Columbus 18 and 1; Cumberland 24 and 12; Currituck 3 and 0; Davidson 11 and 4; Durham 14 and 7; Gates 2 and 0; Granville 7 and 1; Greene 2 and 0; Halifax 14 and 4; Haywood 2 and 1; Henderson 10 and 1; Hoke 5 and 0; Iredell 5 and 3; Jackson 4 and 0.

LIFE IN FOCUS AND OUT.
The difference between a picture in sharp focus and a picture out of focus is not very great so far as distance is concerned, but a great deal in the effect produced. And a picture in focus and a life out of focus is the same.

The difference, for instance, between a life lived on the basis of the Golden Rule and a life lived on the basis of selfishness may not be very much so far as daily acts are concerned, but motives and the willingness to stand firm in an hour of crisis—Germany started out demanding her rights, but little by little she edged over until she was demanding not only her rights but the rights also of others. A home filled with the spirit of love and contentment and a home surcharged with an atmosphere of discontent are like two pictures, one in sharp, satisfactory focus and the other out of focus.

There is only a thin veil between earth and heaven. Heaven and hell are not at opposite poles of the universe—they are next door to each other. One can go from blessing to blight, from happiness to restlessness and discontent by just a little turn of the lens of life, a little maladjustment which throws living out of focus.

NEW TIME SUNDAY
Greenville merchants, through their association, today advised W. L. Dowell, secretary of the State Merchants' Association, that they would cooperate 100 per cent in the proposed daylight saving time to begin next Sunday.

Under the plan, all clocks would be moved forward one hour at that time and stores would begin to operate under the new time when they open for business Monday morning.

If every resident of our county would just take the trouble to move his watch or clock one hour ahead before retiring and then upon getting up the next day, forget that the change has been made and operate according to the watches and clocks, the plan can be put into effect with little or no confusion. Daylight saving has been called for in this state by Governor Broughton at the request of President Roosevelt, and it is fitting at times like these that our citizens show a readiness to cooperate in those things that will aid even in a minor way in our preparedness program.

YOU CAN HELP

It is not much sacrifice on the part of any individual to give some aluminum article that is not in use, but in the aggregate, all such aluminum procured in this way will prove a great benefit to our nation.

On Friday night, between six and eight o'clock, there will be a house-to-house canvass for aluminum in this city, and every housewife is urged to have a part in the contribution. Aluminum is one of the metals vital to our defense program and by giving up some of your aluminumware at this time you are contributing to a national need.

I'm Under His Guard

The government does not want you to turn in articles that are so necessary that you will have to go out and buy new ones to replace them, for in this way you will not be helping to alleviate the shortage, but there is probably not a home in Greenville in which some aluminum cannot be spared. It is these unused articles that the government wants. If you have anything to contribute it is requested that you leave your porch light burning Friday night until the collectors call for your donations.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington — It was generally overlooked, but behind the President's recommendation to Congress for legislation to permit the President to establish regional or general daylight saving for all or any part of the year is a plan to circumvent one of the major political explosions of the whole of national defense legislation.

In World War I, Congress and the nation paused in its entire defense effort to wage one of its bitterest battles over whether we should or shouldn't have universal daylight saving.

Every time congressmen have made faces at the clock in the present defense effort, there have been little whirlwinds of criticism and debate all over the land.

Why? Because the controversy over daylight saving is a fight between farm communities and the large urban and industrial centers. Even some of the most vigorous advocates of universal daylight saving will admit that the farmer has a justifiable gripe. And on the other hand, some of the outstanding opponents confess that daylight saving in some areas probably is a good thing.

It undoubtedly does save electricity. According to the Federal Power Commission, national daylight saving would conserve more than 736,000,000 kilowatt-hours a year. It gives the factory workers on one or two shifts more working daylight. For many workers, even those working overtime, it provides leisurely daylight hours. These arguments are pretty well established.

Farm Routine Rigid

But what it does to the farmer is something else again. In farm communities, where the working day is from dawn to dark and there is very little waking time between, its saving in electricity (or oil for the lamps) is negligible. On the other hand, if the farmer tries to adjust himself to it, he finds that his stock won't go along with him. Chickens, cows, turkeys and pigs, eat and sleep by the sun — and the farmer regulates his hours accordingly. Also, dew doesn't come or disappear by any man-made time. And the hour when the farmer can go into the fields for working crops and for harvest is determined by summer dews. If he can't get there until noon by the clock, he has the further delay of stopping to feed the hired hands. Come supper time the farmer's "afternoon" is hardly half over.

At any rate, those are the arguments. They are the same used 28 years ago on both sides. There have been several bills on daylight saving pending in Congress for months. It looked as if none had a ghost of a chance, at least not without kicking up such a fuss that "national unity" would have looked like a free-for-all.

So what happens? The administration tosses in its own bill and if it isn't politically foolproof, it at least skirts the danger zones and leaves clear lanes in which administration leaders can argue down the most violent of the farm belt opponents.

Possible Exceptions.
The administration — backed by those powerful agencies of electrical power and national defense, the Federal Power Commission, the Department of the Interior, and the Office of Production Management — asks only that the President be permitted to determine in what areas daylight saving shall be installed.

The President's message to Congress, asking for the legislation, included the FPC's tables on possible power savings and the tables show that the least (far the least) saving would be effected in the plains states and the Pacific northwest. That includes a lot of farm land and a lot of farmers and the implication that daylight saving would not be so necessary in these areas is bound to shush a lot of bitter argument that came out in the first daylight saving fracas.

Some observers already are saying that the administration has turned up another legislative trump and an ace at that, for since 1918, the Battle of the Clocks is one no other administration has dared get mixed up in.

Short Shots

Raleigh, July 24 — Appointment of Miss Ruth Burke of LaGrange to a Probation commission post definitely rules out the last possibility that Mrs. J. B. Spillman, ousted as vice chairman of the U.C.C. and from a $5,500 job, will go to work for the division headed by J. Harry Sample. As related in this column recently, Mrs. Spillman reportedly talked herself out of the place; but that's not the view her friends are said to be taking of Miss Burke's appointment. There are charges of "undermining" by the lady from LaGrange and her friends. There are unconfirmed and undoubtedly highly exaggerated reports that Mrs. S. and Miss B. are close to the hair-pulling stage of bitter animosity.

To close political analysts, it seems unlikely that Miss Burke was forced to resort to any sapping tactics to beat out Mrs. Spillman for the probation place. Miss Burke was Governor J. Melville Broughton's second in command for the women's division during the 1940 primary — a service which gave her a distinct claim on the Broughton bounty far superior to any which might be advanced by Mrs. Spillman — politics being what it is and the spoils system being still the accepted method of parceling out all posts even to the judiciary (witness the naming as judges of Broughton county managers from Buncombe and Chowan).

The probation division being at

This and That... The two men who did not show up for trial at Oxford this week on charges of violating North Carolina's security laws by failing to register now appear to be real "professionals" at the game of shearing gullible "lamb." Secretary of State Thad Eure has the file on them. One—Enoch Arden Osborne—had a perfectly good reason for not being at the Granville courthouse the other day. He is in the Kentucky penitentiary for blue sky swindling there. The other, D. W. Emerick, is reported by the federal government to be under indictment for postal fraud efforts. Both men, it seems, have long criminal records.

Boy's State is an American Legion sponsored activity in which youngsters learn citizenship by playing at being legislators, governing, etc. So it is quite appropriate that the North Carolina Council of State should have donated funds to send one Raleigh boy to this year's session of Boy's State (at Chapel Hill for a week in mid-August). Four of the five council members (excluding the governor) are legionnaires, incidentally (Secretary of State Thad Eure, State Auditor George Ross, Treasurer Charles H. Johnson and Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde Erwin). Other member is Attorney General Harry McMullan. Item from the Robersonville paper last week will no doubt be used by Cale Burgess and the United Drys to prove their oft-repeated point. It seems a small snake was found coiled on a shelf in the local ABC store. Speaking of snakes, there seems to be an epidemic of folks (usually children) being bitten by them this season. So far, your reporter has noticed only one case out of at least a score in which the bite proved fatal.

Thomas M. Wilson (above), a native of Memphis, Tenn., has been nominated by President Roosevelt to be United States commissioner to India with the rank of minister. Wilson, now consul general at Calcutta, becomes the first United States diplomatic representative in India. (Associated Press Photo from Harris and Ewing.)

Herb Yahraes of the newspaper PM, vacationing in New Orleans sends in a post card. "From the town of Lyle Saxon, shrimp, Arnaud's, the Blue Room, hard shell crabs, and beer along the lake front—greetings." This started out to be a quiet day at home but it is rapidly turning into a field day for Louisiana. Here is a note from Bert Hickman of Baton Rouge, who chides me for being landlubberish and unauktual in references to the sea. Recently in a column we said something about tramp steamers making ten knots an hour. "For your information," writes Mr. Hickman, and rightly, "vessels make knots. They do not make knots per hour." If Secretary Knox happened to read that column, he probably wouldn't want me in the navy.

While still in the Deep South, let's hop over to Gulfport, Miss., and thank Mrs. D. J. Williams for a copy of the "Mississippi Gulf Coast," another member of the American Guide series. Mrs. Williams is president of the Woman's club of Gulfport, which sponsored the guide. Here is the story in word and picture of the old Mississippi coast, with its "moss-hung king-doms," its lighthouses, plantations, magnolias, and drives. Just as it was in the sixteen hundreds, and just as it is in 1941.

It does seem at times that one just can't make any kind of slip without being caught up. Recently we wrote about the passage concerning the beautiful rivers in one

New York—This is the day we pad about the house in grass slippers, answer letters, look at new books, listen to the ball game, and relax. We'll leap right in by acknowledging receipt of a bag of file from the Woodhill Crafts shop of Wakefield, La. You know what file is? You make gumbo with it—chicken gumbo. There's a recipe for the gumbo, too, and it looks tempting. You take a little file and a little garlic and a little onion. You take a little cayenne, a little parsley and tomatoes, a little bay leaf, a little salt. Then you get yourself a great big chicken and go to it. Now if I had a chicken.

Teller Blanks Tobs For Six Innings, But Loses 7 To 3

HOMERS PROVE WINNING RUNS

Herring and Eason Get Circuit Blows For Wilson

Bill Teller, the rest of the Greensies and a large crowd of fans witnessed victory for six innings last night as the Greenville right-hander held President-Manager-Techer Bill Herring and Company of Wilson scoreless until the seventh inning—but that was all as the Tobs got three in the seventh and put the game on ice with a run-run spurt in the first half of the ninth, giving Wilson had by the superior team in the league. Greenville has long maintained that they were just another ball team. But for the last two series Wilson has walked away with both games and most everyone now is ready to concede that no other team in the loop can compare with the Tobs.

Greenville last night got off to a free-run lead in the first inning. Caraway doubled and advanced to third on Scagg's infield out. Crowe walked and both runners scored on Teller's double. The skipper scored on Harry Jenkins' double.

Jenkins accounted for three and Wilson two of Greenville's seven hits.

To the delight of the Greenville fans, Bill Teller held the Tobs scoreless for six frames and the more optimistic were hoping that the Greensies would send the Tobs home without scoring, while others just hoped for a victory over the pace-setting Wilson team.

All went well until the seventh. With one man on first, Finrock apparently anxious for a double let a grounder get away from him, putting a man on first and one on third. Bill Teller then pitched one to Bill Herring's liking and the Wilson skipper poled one over the fence to knot the count at three-all. The side was retired, however, without any more scores.

Greenville made a serious threat to score in the eighth, to take the lead. With two out, Manager Wilson singled, Harry Jenkins came through with a beautiful double—had it not landed almost in the center of the field it would have been a homer. Wilson set out for home, but was caught on the throw-in for the last out and it was all over for the Greensies as it was three up and three out in their half of the ninth.

The Wilson Tobs again rallied in the ninth to tack away another victory. The first man up was out and began to look as if the fans would get more than nine innings for their money. Finrock made a hard try to catch a fly just back of first base in foul territory, but miscalculated and the hitter then tripped. The next Tob batter singled to score the winning run. After another Wilson man singled, Manager Wilson sent Long in to replace Teller. Runners were on first and third. The Greenville ace portside went in in grand style, fanning the first man on three straight strikes. Eason, Wilson rightfielder, had other ideas, however, and clouted a homer to make four runs for the inning and give Wilson a 7-3 victory.

What is believed to have been the most sensational defense play of the season was credited to Benny Crowe when he raced far to his right to snag a hard fly and hang on to the ball although he had to hit the dirt in reaching down to almost pick it off the ground.

The Greensies strated off the season playing the Tobs on even terms but Wilson has won the last four games between the leaders and runners-up and now Greenville is 11 and one-half games behind the pace setters.

More About DiMaggio.
New York (AP) — Here's something to consider when weighing the American League batting championship question: Willie Keeler won the championship with an average of .432, hitting in 44 straight games in 1897. George Sisler set the modern record with 420, hitting in 41 straight games. Joe DiMaggio wasn't stopped until he had hit in 56 games in a row.

Tennis Winners At Seabright

Here are some of the winners in opening rounds of the women's division of the 54th annual Invitation Tennis tournament at Seabright, N. J. Left to right: Jane Stanton of Los Angeles, Katharine Winthrop of Boston, Mrs. M. Illicent H. Lang of New York and Margaret Osborne of San Francisco.

The two sister clubs mixed it up, West Greenville winning 15-14. A large crowd witnessed the game West Greenville's batting heroes were N. Evans and G. Blizzard who hit homers for their club.

For the S. A. team Margaret Pugh banged out a homer, while T. Hammond connected with two well sparked homers.

B. Phillips for West Greenville turned in two beautiful catches.

The Violet girls, new entries in the Girls' City League, are slated to meet Greenville P. F. at West Campus playground on Cotanche Street at 6 o'clock.

Downs High School in Close Boys' League Battle

A good ball game can always be counted on when High School and West Greenville get together, today's game was no exception. West Greenville managed to down the High Schoolers after a hard tussle that saw Garrett of West Greenville and Langston of High School get together in a pitchers' battle. Garrett had the better of his opponent, he allowed less hits and had his knockout ball work with men on base.

Besides pitching Garrett led at bat with a homer and double. Wright, Williams and Wingate also of West Greenville swung potent bats. No batter for High School was able to get over one hit. John Williams of West Greenville and Jim Turner of High School were the fielding stars of the game.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Week's Schedule

The Greensies will go to New Bern tonight for a double header, returning here tomorrow night to meet the Bruins in a single game, not a twin bill as previously stated erroneously in these columns.

On Saturday night Greenville will go to Kinston, the two teams meeting at Guy Smith park in a double header here Sunday afternoon.

Benny Uses The Bean.
New York (AP) — Psychology works, says Benny Leonard. The former lightweight champion, recalled an instance where he won a fight by using it. "I'm fighting Ritchie Mitchell in 1921 and when we are called to the center of the ring for instructions I say to the referee: 'Do I get this right? When I knock HIM down, I'M to go to a neutral corner?' The referee says that's right. I look at Mitchell and see beads of perspiration on his forehead. I knock him out in six rounds."

Four-Year Sheriffs Face First Test At The Polls

Reflecter Bureau. Raleigh, July 24 - North Carolina's hundred sheriffs, all of them completing their first four-year term, will get a test at the polls next year - a year which should bring more than moderate political fireworks unless by that time the country is in a shooting-war and its citizens disposed to pay little or no attention to local affairs.

Casual thinking places next year's voting in the rather dim future, but actually it's only about ten months before the primary ballots are being cast and counted - and that's a very short time in which to organize and conduct a statewide campaign.

On the statewide front the biggest interest will center on the United States Senate seat now held by Josiah William Bailey. He will have opposition, all human probability - but who is to furnish it remains a dark secret.

Two years ago the considered judgment of most political observers was that Senator Bailey was very weak with the big majority of Tar Heel voters, but his course in the current national emergency has unquestionably been that desired by the vast preponderance of his constituents and he is now rated almost a prohibitive favorite to get renomination against almost any conceivable opponent.

Reflecter Bureau. Raleigh, July 24 - Commissioner of Labor Forrest H. Shuford views the $6,420 allotment by the governor and council of state as a start, at least, toward a valuable adjunct of his department - a conciliation service.

The allocation, made in order to ed feelings, the governor is favored to defeat any such effort, if made; though election of enough anti to make themselves decidedly a nuisance to Broughton could very possibly come to pass.

North Carolina's 21-district solicitors, too, will be up before the people - as will a considerable proportion of the 21 resident Superior court judges. All in all, next year gives promise of plenty of political fireworks. give at least a modicum of effect to a legislative act of 1941, is sufficient only to pay for one conciliator and the necessary expenses incidental to the job; but even that is probably more than many members of the assembly counted on when they voted an empty authority for a conciliation division.

The sum isn't big enough for the commissioner to go out and get an expert trained and experienced in the conciliation field; and the likely action by Commissioner Shuford is promotion of one of his regular inspectors who has had some experience in the more or less unofficial efforts the department has hitherto made toward settling labor disputes in North Carolina.

The act under which the service is to be set up was passed rather reluctantly by the 1941 legislature which was as obviously anti-labor as any in recent years. Even while giving authority for the service the
