KNOX ASSERTS NAVY IS READY FOR NEW DUTY

To Protect Lease-Lend Cargoes In U. S. Waters

ACTION SLATED START TUESDAY Although Word Convoys Not Used, Declaration Taken To Mean That Such Practices To Be Adopted

Milwaukee, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Secretary Knox told the American Legion convention today that, beginning tomorrow, the United States Navy would protect all lease-lend cargoes traversing the sea "between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

The navy chief described the Atlantic fleet's orders in unequivocal language—"to capture or destroy" every Axis surface or sub-surface raider encountered.

Although Knox avoided the particular word "convoy," his announcement recalled the interpretation given President Roosevelt's shoot on sight speech of Thursday night in London, particularly by the British press which broke out with such jubilant headlines as: "U. S. to Guard Our Ships."

The Knox announcement constituted the first official disclosure of how the navy was preparing to carry out the new policy enunciated by Mr. Roosevelt—that henceforth Axis war vessels entering United States "defensive waters" would do so at their own peril and that American naval vessels would not wait for them to shoot first.

Milwaukee, Sept. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in a personal message to the 23 annual American Legion convention, told the legionnaires today that it had been "a source of satisfaction to me to have had your full cooperation in the development of our national defense program in all of its aspects."

No Occupants Injured As Two Cars Collide

Eight occupants of two automobiles involved in a collision at the corner of West Third and Washington street last night, about 10 o'clock escaped injury, although one of the vehicles was turned completely over.

Henry Bonner, mechanic at the White Chevrolet Company, was driving a coach south on Washington street, with J. B. Newton and Miss Mavis Perry and Helen Brown as passengers. William J. White of Rocky Mount, was the driver of the other car. Riding with him were Harry Abott of Wilson and Miss Helen and Charlotte Perkins of Greenville.

Legion

Milwaukee, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Sergeant Alvin C. York of Tennessee, one of the ranking heroes of the World War and an advocate of all-out aid to Russia as a means of stopping Nazi Germany, wants the American Legion national convention to play an important part in molding the foreign policy of the United States.

Sergeant York spoke last night at a religious-patriotic service for legionnaires on the eve of the first business session of the 23rd annual convention—faced with serious decisions on problems arising from the foreign conflict.

An avowed interventionist, York urged the Legion to stay out of politics, but to take a big hand in shaping the nation's foreign policy.

USSR MISSION NOW IN LONDON

Stop-Over Talks To Be Made With British Officials

London, Sept. 15.—(AP)—With a wing of the Royal Air Force reported already in action against Germany on the Eastern front, the entire United States mission to Moscow has arrived in Britain for stop-over talks before continuing on to the Russian capital for consultation with the British and Russians on how to beat Adolf Hitler.

The RAF units now in Russia were only the advance guard of greater forces to go, informed quarters indicated, and the British press carried reports that American-made planes already were in the service of the Red air force.

Junior members of the American mission reached London yesterday with the Russian ambassador to Washington, Constantine Gumanzky, after a trans-Atlantic plane flight, and the American embassy announced today that W. Averell Harriman, head of the mission, and the remainder of the delegation had arrived "somewhere in the United Kingdom."

Harriman was expected to reach London tonight.

The delegation has been commissioned, with its British counterpart, to study with the Russians all means of speeding supplies and weapons of war to the Russian front.

Greenville Man Hurt When Struck By Auto

Bill Tony of Chestnut street was injured, although not seriously, Saturday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile driven by a man declared to have been John Wilks a Negro, who left his car with his daughter and small boy at the scene of the wreck and has not been found by officers.

Tony was taken to his home and later was taken to the hospital for observation.

A warrant has been issued for Wilks, said to live in the Ayden section.

The accident occurred at the corner of Tenth street and Dickinson avenue.

Speaker Rayburn Discloses There Had Been 'A Lot of Talk' About Revising Act Which Forbids Merchantships From Entering The Combat Zones; Act Also Prohibits Arming of American Merchantships

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Speaker Rayburn told his press conference that revision of the neutrality act was discussed by legislative leaders at a conference with President Roosevelt at the White House today, but that no conclusions had been reached.

The Speaker did not disclose the details of the discussion, but said, in answer to a question, that there had been "a lot of talk about it."

At the same time, Rayburn said the President would send a message to Congress Thursday on the subject of a new lend-lease appropriation which informed sources said would amount to about $6,000,000.

Since President Roosevelt's order to the Navy to shoot Axis sea raiders on sight in American defensive waters, there has been considerable speculation as to whether outright repeal of the neutrality law, which forbids entry of American merchantships into combat zones, might be proposed or whether the arming of merchant vessels would be undertaken.

A provision of the neutrality law forbids the arming of merchantships engaged in commerce with any foreign nations after the President has proclaimed a state of war exists between any country.

Removal of Trains Planned By A.C.L.

M. K. Blount, Greenville lawyer and one of the attorneys employed by the four-county organization to oppose the petition of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway to discontinue passenger trains, including the Kingston-Rocky Mount line through this city, said today the next step, if any, probably would be determined at a conference of attorneys and others to be held in the near future.

The North Carolina Utilities Commission a few days ago overruled exceptions filed in behalf of the four-county organization against the Commission's ruling that the railway could discontinue the lines.

The fight to remove the trains was started by the railway in 1938 under a consent decree the railway agreed to retain the Kingston-Rocky Mount line and also the mixed train between Washington and Rocky Mount. Some smaller lines were discontinued under the decree.

About a year ago the railway asked the Commission for permission to remove those two trains. The Commission granted the petition and it was this ruling to which the exceptions were filed.

So far no official word has been received as to when the line will be discontinued. It is regarded as probable that an appeal will be made to Superior court. It was not definitely known whether the railway will be permitted to discontinue the trains pending such an appeal if one is made.

GERMAN DRIVE ON PENINSULA IS PREDICTED

Rumanian And Bulgarian Ports Closed To Shipping

AXIS MASSING MEN AND SHIPS Believed In Turkey Preparations Promoted By Dissatisfaction With Campaign In Ukraine

Ankara, Turkey, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A sea-borne Nazi drive against Russian forces on the Crimean peninsula was forecast by observers here today as Balkan sources reported the Germans had ordered all Rumanian and Bulgarian Black sea ports closed to commercial shipping.

The reported German action capped recurring rumors that both the Germans and Italians had been concentrating men and ships in Bulgarian ports, presumably for an attempt to land forces behind the Soviet Dnieper river defense line in the Ukraine.

Only last Thursday it was disclosed that Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov had protested to Bulgaria that she had overstepped the bounds of neutrality by permitting German naval preparations in her harbors.

(Dispatches from Sofia last night said partial mobilization of the Bulgarian army had been ordered for today and that the government was putting into effect decrees providing severe penalties for sabotage and subversive activities.)

It was believed here that the reported German preparations were promoted by dissatisfaction with progress of the campaign in the Ukraine, in which the Rumanian army has been playing an important part.

There have been repeated reports that both the Rumanian public and army leaders were opposed to continuing the war against Russia, now that the provinces of Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina, which the Soviet took by ultimatum more than a year ago, had been won back.

Winston-Salem, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Lightweight, medium grade tobacco was in abundance on the floors of the old belt today.

North Carolina Film Viewed by Thousands

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—With exhibition by the donor, Mayor Richard J. Reynolds, to the National Boxing Association convention in Winston-Salem last week the film "North Carolina, Variety Vacationland," reached its 175th showing since it was released last spring by the State Advertising Division of the Department of Conservation and Development. More than 25,000 persons have seen it.

North Carolina Selected For Recruiting Campaign

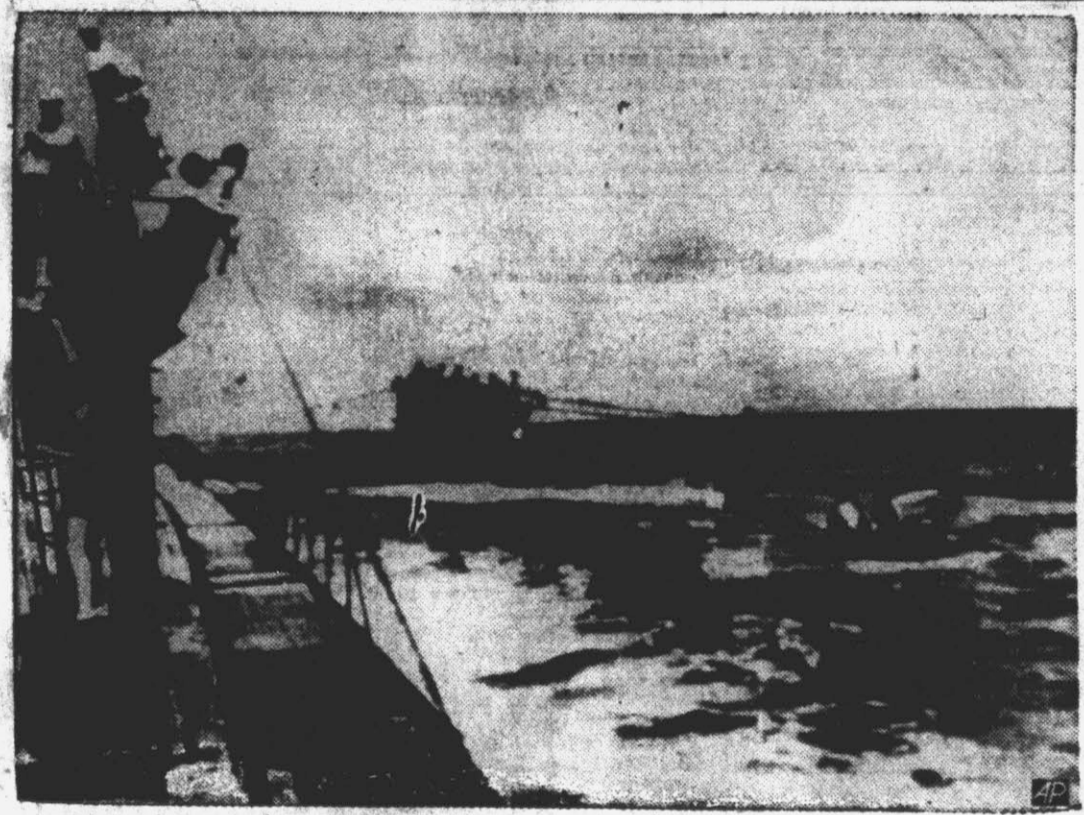

North Carolina has been chosen as one of the key states from which to procure recruits to man America's two ocean navy and through the cooperation of the newspapers a statewide drive will get under way next week.

At a meeting in Raleigh Saturday, attended by Governor J. M. Broughton, a number of Navy recruiting officers, nearly two hundred North Carolina newspaper men, and representatives of the advertising agency designated to handle the campaign, all features of the drive were discussed. Governor Broughton in his brief address pointed out that North Carolina was the cradle of liberty in this country and expressed confidence that this state would come through with all that was expected of it and more.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the navy has much to offer the young man in the way of training, agency benefits of home and in addition such young men would receive pay while training as well as being performing a patriotic service to their country in the time of great peril.

A letter from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, addressed to all the newspapers in the state sets forth the vessels for our two-ocean navy are coming off the ways far ahead of schedule and it is necessary at this time to procure trained men to man these vessels if they are to serve their usefulness. He urged the full co-operation of all newspapers in the state as well as the general public in seeing to it that the necessary number of young men are secured.

Axis Drive Into Egypt Forced Back By British

NEW ADVANCES ARE REPORTED

Estimated 40 Percent Of Tobacco Crop Already Sold

Prices on the Greenville tobacco market today were declared to have shown a further advance, following substantial increases on the last two sales days of last week.

The market was declared by Sales Supervisor R. C. Rankin to have opened stronger this morning than on any previous day this season.

Approximately 1,500,000 pounds were on the 10 local warehouse floors at the start of the new week, but all of the offerings were expected to be sold and the warehouses cleared for tobacco coming in for tomorrow's sales. It was declared however, that it would have been impossible to have cleared the floors had farmers had favorable grading weather. It was explained that cool weather for the past few days had hindered farmers and had delayed grading.

Growers are marketing their crop as fast as they can in order, it is assumed, to take advantage of the prevailing high prices.

It was estimated that with the completion of sales last Friday 40 per cent of the 1941 crop already had been disposed of as offerings continue to exceed those for the corresponding period in the 1940 season.

Weekend Arrests Are Made By City Police

The Greenville police department had a comparatively busy weekend and a total of 25 persons having been booked on Saturday and Sunday. Most of those arrested were charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct or assault.

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Office of Production Management announced today that December production of passenger automobiles would be cut 48.4 per cent below the output of last December to conserve essential materials for defense.

Manufacturers will be permitted to produce only 204,848 passenger cars in December, compared with 396,823 in December, 1940, it was made known at a meeting of Leon Hendersop, director of OPM's civilian supply division, with the automotive defense industry advisory committee.

Thrust Said To Have Cost Considerable Axis Losses

Cairo, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Two Axis armored columns based in Libya penetrated 35 miles into Egyptian territory yesterday, but were routed by British mechanized forces operating under close cover of the Royal Air Force, the British reported today.

The disorganized Italian-German forces were said to have fallen back to Libyan territory.

British general headquarters called the Axis thrust "a reconnaissance in force" and said that it reached "some miles" into Egypt. Falling back, the invaders lost considerably in men and equipment, the daily communique said.

The British at the same time announced "a series of brilliant raids" against Axis siege positions at Tobruk, Libya, in which an Italian officer and three other men were captured at one point. A British force has been under siege at Tobruk since mid-April.

The raids were carried out by British patrols Saturday night, a communique said.

Local Unit Makes Another Shipment

Proof of the continued untiring support of earnest workers for Bundles for Britain is the recent shipment made for the month of August. Two boxes were shipped which contained knitted articles and other hospital supplies. All this work has been carried on by the women of Greenville and surrounding communities.

In the box of hospital supplies were: six lavettes, 12 dresses and bonnets, size two, 24 abdominal sheets, 24 arm slings, 6 dozen tray cloths. In the box of knitted articles were: 30 scarfs, 20 pair of socks, 10 pair of seatbags.

The local unit is endeavoring to fill the many urgent pressing needs and invites all interested to work with it in the local work room at the fire station. The office will continue to stay open on Tuesdays and Fridays from ten to one until cool weather. Materials may be worked on and worked on at convenient moments.

Plans are being made for a most interesting winter of work and it is felt that volunteers will find this work a pleasure and gratifying time spent in helping those who are so closely facing disaster and perils of life.

REPORTS FLOW OF U. S. HELP

Roosevelt Advises Congress On Lend-Lease Program

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt reported to Congress today that actual exports of American war supplies to nations fighting the Axis, under the lend-lease program had totaled $19,447,670 up to August 31.

This figure represented expenditures for weapons and other supplies actually sent abroad. But, the President added, defense articles transferred, including some still waiting to be shipped, amounted to an additional $35,946,701, while various services, such as repairing naval vessels, added up to still another figure of $78,169,377.

Thus in services, transfers of title and actual exports, the United States has provided $234,563,748 in assistance to the foes of the Axis.

Furthermore, expenditures for articles and for services not yet finished added up to approximately $162,000,000, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Thus, the President figured in his report that "through the month of August the total dollar value of defense articles transferred and expenditures for other lend-lease purposes," amounted to approximately $487,000,000.

"Planes, tanks, guns, and ships have begun to flow from our factories and yards," he said, "and the flow will accelerate from day to day, until the stream becomes a river, and the river a torrent, engulfing this totalitarian tyranny which seeks to dominate the world."

Kiev Facing New Threat By Invaders

Rail Junction 175 Miles Below Ukraine Capital City Falls Into Nazi Hands Following First Crossing Of Great River; One Hundred Planes Take Part In Aerial Duel Over Leningrad

Moscow, Sept. 15.—(AP) The first German crossing of the great Dnieper river south of besieged Kiev was admitted today by Soviet Russia in an official report that the rail junction of Kremenchug, 175 miles below the Ukraine capital, had fallen to the Nazis "after many days of fierce fighting."

(The Germans, however, some time ago claimed they crossed the lower Dnieper to take Zaporozha, 140 miles southeast of Kremenchug.)

Further south, the Red armies were reported holding firm against German attempts to cross the Dnieper while to the north fighting was reported over Leningrad and on the land and sea approaches to Russia's second city.

The Russians said 100 planes fought in the latest duel over Leningrad, with the Germans fleeing after losing 17 machines.

The Soviet afternoon communique again reported merely that the Red armies fought the invaders along the entire front last night.

Just when Kremenchug, on the east bank of the Dnieper, was abandoned to the Germans was not told in the early morning Soviet communique, nor did it indicate whether the Germans had made progress in their evident attempt to extend the southern jaw of a wide pincer movement against Kiev.

The loss of Kremenchug apparently increased the danger facing Kiev, for only last Friday the Russians acknowledged the evacuation of Chernigov, a city 80 miles north of Kiev between the Dnieper and Desna rivers.

The movement of the German armies north and south of Kiev indicated they were trying to meet behind the city, which still was fiercely resisting the Nazis as the war went into its 13th month.

The fighting on the central front saw increased Russian pressure in the direction of burned and wrecked Smolensk, a key point on the road Napoleon took to Moscow.

The 129th anniversary yesterday of the occupation of Moscow and the Kremlin by Napoleon found the German still roughly 300 miles west of the Russian capital and their campaign already had exceeded Napoleon's by two days.

John G. Clark Named On Railroad Board

John G. Clark, prominent Greenville man, has been advised of his nomination by Governor Broughton to the Board of Directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad.

Mr. Clark went to New Bern this morning to attend a meeting of the board.

The nomination was for a four-year term.

The local man said the news of his appointment came as a complete surprise to him as he did not even know that he was being considered for the post.

She has a "Biter" just fifteen, slim, real graceful, where Judy is undoubtedly pudgy; self-contained, where Judy is bouncingly impulsive as a puppy. She has a mother,

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIAN GREY

Chapter Seven Tragedy For Pam

Freda started. It was the first time she had been forced to think of Pam's and Jerry's evident attraction for each other as something permanent; something growing from roots that would give it a lasting quality. She looked at Pam. There was something about the girl. She looked down at her left hand. Jerry's diamond was gleaming there. It gave her a sense of security. Nothing could actually happen so long as she had that.

"Dance, Freda?" It was Jerry standing beside her, smiling.

"I'd love to."

"Who are you making eyes at tonight?" Jerry asked as they moved smoothly away.

Freda laughed. "Anyhow, you'll admit I'm efficient! Why waste time putting into words things you can do with your eyes? Besides, what you don't say, you never have to be sorry for."

"If that's the way you feel about it, I've noticed that native lad from the beach hanging around here. Why don't you pick on men that might have a chance? You're not being fair. It isn't nice of you."

"Jerry, you sound exactly like a maiden aunt!" she answered, still laughing at him.

Jerry was grateful to a cut-in who claimed her then. Looking around, he glimpsed Pam and made his way to her. He led her to a table at the side of the dance floor.

"Pam, you're lovely," he said, as he sat down opposite her and looked at her. "What would your answer be if I told you I loved you?" He waited for a moment her reply; then thought he saw it in her eyes, though she made no audible rejoinder. "I'm telling you, Pam, I love you. I'll love you forever and ever. I'll love you all my life, little island flower."

Across the room he saw Freda, who was wearing his diamond. He knew he should not have spoken so to Pam, at least not until that diamond was reclaimed. Then Edmund Antoine asked Pam to dance.

Jerry watched them move away, scarcely conscious of the girl who had dropped into a chair at his table, a girl from Virginia. He remembered her. He'd met her at several smart places. She spoke in broken little phrases and Jerry recalled having kissed her one evening during a foolishly romantic interval in the shadows of a Spanish lime tree. She had seemed lovely then, but now there was something annoying about her. She followed Jerry's eyes with a sort of helpless defeat in her own. She said finally in her fragile little voice:

"I understand. I've seen it myself just that way. A man comes up in your life like the moon in the sky, and he's just there—and what are you going to do about it? She's like that with you."

But Jerry was staring out at the dancers.

"Let's dance," the girl said. She was that kind. A man never really minded dancing with her, but he never asked her.

Good Time

And on the dance floor Antoine had kept Pam only a little while. A cut-in had taken her, and then another. It was new to Pam and grand fun. She looked up happily when Algar Bruce claimed her.

"Hello, pretty!" he said.

"Hello, yourself!"

"So you know the answers. Come on out under the Royal Poinciana tree. They'll sound so much sweeter out there."

"Oh, no! Wait! I want to hear this!" So Pam and Algar, found chairs at an unoccupied table. The orchestra had swung into a melody that cascaded and rippled through the room. Lenore Winthrop walked into a little circle of light that had been cleared on the dance floor.

She was breathtakingly lovely. All in white. Pam reflected that few girls were naturally equipped to wear white so dramatically. Her dark hair was drawn back from her oval face and fell in soft curls on her shoulders. Her hands clasped a large bunch of violets. Pam recognized them. The violets she had given Lenore's mother.

Antoine, directing his boys brought the music to a swelling crescendo. The winds and brasses swept the melody clear and high. The strings echoed it softly, mutedly. A dramatic pause. Then Antoine's fingers in that striking chromatic so characteristic of him. And Lenore started to sing. Her voice was a low, compelling harmony, accompanied only by the mellow wood winds, sobbing softly about a man she'd found and lost again.

As Lenore stopped singing Pam led the applause. She clapped madly, her hands high in the air.

"But there were tears in her eyes! Real tears. That girl's got what it takes to put a song over." Pam heard a girl near her say.

Real tears in Lenore's eyes? Then that's why they had sparkled so. But why? Why? Pam wondered. She looked then to where especially loud applause was coming from and saw a native Key Wester — she could tell him by his dark, Cuban cast — clapping as wildly as she had, but there was something warm and eager in his eyes as he looked at Lenore.

The young man was sitting on the window sill, his feet outside. He had evidently come from outside to listen.

Jerry, in another part of the room, had seen the young man, too, and recognized him, with distinct displeasure, as the young man he had seen that afternoon he'd been on the beach with Freda.

Then Jerry's eyes caught Pam and he went to her.

"Oh, Jerry, she sings beautifully! Lenore's wonderful!"

"Yes, and I saw you leading the applause, angel. That was sweet of you, considering." He dropped down beside her.

"And she's so beautiful to look at too," Pam said.

"Your violets were the touch that made that, darling. It took some persuasion to get Mother to let her have them for tonight. You're a sweet little thing, Pam—doing all that work for Mother. She adores you for it."

"You're such a lovely family Jerry." The words were spoken wistfully, for in that moment Pam seemed to miss more than ever having no family of her own.

There were a thousand things that came to Perry's mind then, a thousand eager ways to ask her to be one of that family. But Antoine had crashed into a swinging melody; dancers were moving about on the floor. A young man claimed Pam. And Jerry, remembering the ring on Freda's finger, stayed his words and let her go.

Almost immediately Algar Bruce was beside her again, cutting in.

"I want that dance I was cheated out of, beautiful," he said easily. "And," as they whirled away together, "has anyone told you you're the most beautiful girl here?"

"No, I think everyone here is honest," Pam laughed. "They're a bunch of meases, or they'd have told you long ago. Everybody here is raving about some little Conch gal that's supposed to be tops. They say she mows 'em down like nobody's business! I haven't seen her yet, and I don't want to. I've seen you!"

The Bet

"Conch girl?" Pam caught only one word. She was Conch. She'd never been anything but proud of it. It meant that she had been born on the island. She was native to its beauty. But there had been something in the way Algar said it that caught her attention.

"Yes, Conch, beautiful. But let's not talk about her. Let's talk about you. You're the real thing. You're as real and wholesome as a bottle of certified milk. And so much more intriguing!"

"But this Conch girl—" Pam started to say.

"Oh, haven't you heard? Some local beauty that Jerry Winthrop bet he could date, and the rest of his crowd bet he couldn't. Well, he did. This supper tonight is the pay-off. Antoine was the one who bet against Jerry. So he gave the supper, and Jerry has the girl here somewhere. I haven't seen her yet. But the girl can't mean anything to Jerry. He's engaged to Freda Barington."

Pam missed a step.

"Engaged? Engaged to Freda Barington?"

"Sure! Haven't you seen that diamond she's wearing? Big as a house. That's the engagement ring Jerry gave her."

"Jerry Winthrop engaged?" The words came slowly from Pam.

"Sure. Everybody knows that."

"And he bet?"—it seemed to Pam it was some other girl's voice she heard asking the question—"he bet about—that Conch girl?"

"She had almost said 'about me.'"

"Sure. You're not telling me you didn't know that, beautiful?" Algar was too engrossed—in his own thoughts to notice that some of the brightness had faded from his partner's eyes. "It's some girl who's never noticed any of the winter boys around here in looks, and all that. And Jerry, with his usual good looks, and all that. And Jerry, with his usual good luck—"

"I'm tired," Pam interrupted. "Let's stop." Suddenly she didn't want to hear any more. She wanted Algar to stop talking about Jerry and the bet. But Algar, with a sort of affable determination, continued: "Yeah! Jerry always does play in luck and it didn't fail this time. He dated the girl for lunch or something and the supper was on Antoine. So here we are, beautiful—you and I dancing!"

Pam stopped dancing.

"Excuse me!" she said hurriedly. Algar's words had been like a blow that shook the very foundations of her life.

Pam went out into the room where the orchestra was already beginning a new number. Across, just beyond a little eddy of dancers, Jerry's handsome face stood out. It seemed to Pam there was nobody else in the room. Then she was aware of the girl he was talking to Freda Barington. Sleek sophisticated Freda.

HIGHER PRICES . . . HAPPIER FARMERS

Today's prices are the highest of the season and as prices continue to climb tobacco growers continue to express satisfaction over sales made on the Greenville market.

Here's an expression from Mr. Fred A. Elks of Grimsland, a well known Pitt county tobacco grower: "When I first heard about Greenville's new sales system, Bill Hudson, Ben Winfield and myself discussed it and decided that we weren't going to be please with it. However," said Mr. Elks, "SINCE WE HAVE SOLD UNDER THIS NEW SYSTEM AND FOUND OUT HOW MUCH BETTER IT IS FOR THE TOBACCO GROWER, I, FOR ONE, CANT. PRAISE IT TOO HIGHLY."

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

PONDER THE NEED OF BRAKES

In a recent novel, one of the characters makes the statement that going through life with a conscience is like driving a car with the brakes on.

Perhaps the best way to assess the value of such an outlook on life is to ask ourselves what it would be like to go through life without a conscience. Certainly it would be like driving a car without brakes. There are some stretches of highway where it is very pleasant to glide along without thinking much about the brakes, but when one comes to the crest of a steep hill, he wants brakes and he wants good ones. The man who would start down a hill knowing he had no brakes to hold his car back, would be as foolish as the chap who rejoices over the fact that when he confronts life's temptations he has no inner restraint in heart and in mind which bids him pause.

Perhaps the place we need brakes most is in the line of heavy traffic. Nothing tries our patience more than to get in a traffic jam. It is then we need brakes. And nothing tries our patience any more than to have to accommodate ourselves continually to the welfare and convenience of others. The closer we live to the needs and problems of our fellows the worse the traffic jam becomes, and the heavier the traffic the more we need a good set of brakes.

LABOR AND DEMOCRACY

(Industrial News Review)

The president of one of the principal labor unions recently said this: "To make secure the gains that we have made in the past, our union, as well as all labor, must hold fast to the principles of democracy."

No one can quarrel with that statement. It is an unanswerable truth. But the unpleasant fact is that certain labor leaders have been about the worst and most persistent enemies of democratic principles this country has known.

It is these leaders who want to make it impossible for any man to hold a job and earn a living unless he pays dues to a union. It is these leaders who often establish exorbitant initiation fees to their unions—fees that are far beyond the ability of the majority of workers to meet. It is these leaders who have closed unions to new men, and said, in effect, that non-members cannot be employed, and can starve so far as they were concerned.

You can't have a labor monopoly, or any other kind of a monopoly, and also have democracy. Many labor leaders are sincere and far-sighted men. But that proportion of labor leaders which is making a racket out of unionism casts a growing stigma on the entire trade union movement, because they are destroying democracy.

But It Turns Out To Be Buckshot!

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—Tucked away in the $3,500,000,000 federal tax bill is a little-discussed tax which some pretty shrewd observers of John Q. Taxpayer's reactions say is going to cause more squawks than anything else in the whole measure.

It's the $5 "use tax" on motor vehicles. It means very plainly that every one of the 32,000,000 owners of trucks, buses and private automobiles in the land will have to work over $5 a year, beginning February 1, 1942, for the privilege of using their vehicles.

The auto people and the American Automobile Association (which has withdrawn its traditional opposition to any tax on auto transportation for the duration of national defense) gave me this analysis of the new tax.

First, it should be pointed out that the fewer cars the next year or so, the better for national defense (because of needed materials) and anything that taxation does to reduce the number will have the double-barreled benefit of bringing in revenue and saving those materials. Then, too, when there is anything on which you can slap a little $5 tax and add $160,000,000 to the Treasury's income it's not to be tossed off because of a few squawks. At least, that's the way the tax framers must have reasoned.

To go back to the other side of the picture, the $5 "use tax" is in addition to doubling of existing rates on cars, parts, accessories, tires and tubes and a continuation of the tax on gasoline and lubricating oils. This, according to the AAA, means that motorists will pay $300,000,000 more in federal taxes next year, bringing their total federal tax payment for operating a car to approximately $750,000,000.

These taxes are in addition to all state, county and city taxes on automobiles and their drivers of which there are by actual count 14 different varieties. Although not all of these bloom in any section, majority do in many.

The thing about some of them (and all of the federal taxes) is that, until now, you couldn't see them unless you looked at the bill of sale, or the posted price of gasoline and oil.

Short Shots

Raleigh, Sept. 15 — Announcement of the special prizes for hen eggs at the State Fair here October 14-18 is going to raise a question of much greater moment than (1) Why does a chicken cross the road? or (2) Which came first, the hen or the egg?

In fact, there are many who will not even admit there is any question about the Fair folks being way off base in their statement in a publicity release: "Eggs will be judged on exterior quality (64 points) and interior quality (36 points)." There is already comment that there is absolutely no point at all to this sort of thing.

Which seems to this corner quite logical, because, after all, who cares about the exterior quality of an egg? No matter whether the shell is white or brown, clear or speckled, rough or smooth, it's the taste that counts, or the "interior quality."

Still, the experts who run Fairs ought to know what they're doing and this column would be the last to set its amateur egg judging ability up against theirs, but it is repeated that your reporter will let the experts do all the exterior quality testing they want; he'll still form his opinion of the egg from the way it eats.

The egg show will be in charge of C. W. Sheffield, marketing specialist of the state Department of Agriculture; Dr. Roy S. Dearstine, head of the poultry department, State College; and C. P. Parrish, State College extension poultryman. Ralph B. Kelly, department poultry and egg marketing specialist will be judge of the exhibits.

This and That . . .

The Young Democrats, having nothing else to beat the publicity tom toms about have gone to speculating on Bill Davis' chances to be president of the club in 1942. He's general convention chairman this year . . . Up in Winston-Salem they have been amusing themselves with the antics of Marshall Kurfies who said he is going to run for Y.D. president this time. The Wilsonian club has refused his application for membership, because he booted to Wilkie last year and this year permitted his name to be put up by the Republicans as a candidate against John Folger for Congress in the Fifth . . . Three North Carolina counties haven't a bank, according to a report of Banking Commissioner Gurney P. Hood on loans made by banks in 1940. They are Camden, Clay and Graham. . . You can borrow on the "dollar when you can catch me" plan in 81 counties . . . Speaking of this "dollar a month 'till dead" idea, it is noticeable that many stores, particularly furniture stores, are advertising that the supposed Federal restrictions on installment buying are not as stringent as many seem to think. . . Sometimes it seems they are as phony as the gasoline shortage. . . But Raleigh doesn't think there is anything the least phony about President Roosevelt's talk last week. State officials and employees, and the public at large for that matter, appear almost unanimously in agreement with FDR's strong words and only wish he'd translate them into stronger action. . . The day who looked so fresh and pretty on Friday before their big coming out party, weren't quite so attractive when seen Saturday morning—though not many

TONIGHT'S GAME
Wilson at Greenville.

The Greenies meet Wilson in the fifth game of the series finals at Guy Smith park tonight, with the Tobs holding a three-to-one advantage in games played, the locals having won Saturday night's contest 6-1 and lost yesterday 5-2.

Lefty Joe Long, who pitched two Greenville victories in the New Bern series, hurled Greenville's win over Wilson Saturday night, holding the Tobs to four hits and a single tally.

The Greenies reached Earl Carnahan for two runs in the first inning and pushed three more across in the second. The final local run came in the fourth. Wilson and Pierce each got two safe hits to lead the Greenies at bat.

Bill Teller hurried yesterday's tilt for the Greenies and allowed only one earned run. The Tobs scored four runs in the sixth, all of them being unearned as the locals made four miscues. Up to that point neither team had been able to threaten seriously as Teller matched pitch for pitch with Webb. The locals got their two runs in the 8th. Wilson got its fifth—the only earned tally for the Tobs—in the last half of the 8th.

Red Treadway opened the seventh with a single to right. Fred Eason fanned and Earl Carnahan hit to Jenkins who pegged wild to cond and both runners were safe. Hoyle was safe, filling the bases when Pierce dropped his pop short left after colliding with Teller. Treadway counted as Jenkins miscued on Ray Murphy's punder and Pete Stuart hit to Jenkins forcing Carnahan at the plate. With the bases loaded Monk Webb drove a double down the left field four-line, scoring Hoyle and Murphy and Stuart romped home as the ball got through Scagg.

Greenville's eighth opened with Carraway working Webb for a pass. Overton then lashed out his second straight hit and Teller hit to Stuart at short who bobbed, filling the cushions. A walk to Finrock forced Carraway over the plate and Overton counted when Pierce hit into a double play.

The Tobs added their final run in the eighth on a single by Treadway, Carnahan and Hoyle.

WAR FELT BY LABOR OF N. C.

Commissioner Shuford Says Impact Now Evident

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Sept. 13.—Rapidly changing conditions brought about by the great defense effort are presenting a challenge of the first magnitude which will entail sacrifices and additional burdens to the state and its citizens; but these sacrifices and burdens can be made to fall equally on all, and not solely upon Tar Heel workers, Commissioner of Labor Forrest H. Shuford believes.

The impact of the defense program upon labor standards in North Carolina is already apparent in many ways, Mr. Shuford said, mentioning specifically:

- (1) A tremendous increase in child labor certificates, (2) the mushrooming of numerous, but uncoordinated, training programs for workers, (3) a rising cost of living, (4) a rapid increase in industrial accidents and fatalities, (5) a general increase in employment and a rise in wages, and (6) a new type of unemployment due to shortage of raw materials.

REVEALS DATA ON BANK LOANS

Total of 233,227 Commercial Loans Made 1940

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Sept. 15.—It isn't true what they say about bankers, that they are cold-blooded, stony faced characters who say "No" automatically when asked for a loan—not about North Carolina bankers, anyway.

Commissioner of Banks Gurney P. Hood today rubbed out any such picture by release of a statement on the lending activity of state commercial and industrial banks for the year 1940.

This report, which incidentally is the first of its kind ever prepared by any state in the union, discloses that last year the men who pass on loans for Tar Heel commercial banks said "Yes" no less than 233,227 times to new borrowers who signed notes aggregating $186,138,399.

The report makes it plain that the notes in many cases should have been written "60 (or 90 or whatnot) days after date I promise to renew" rather than "to pay," because there were renewed in 1940, 380,136 loans in the total amount of $334,380,778.

The commercial banks also made 50,575 installment loans aggregating $9,685,467.69, though the installment loan is primarily the function of the industrial, rather than the commercial banks.

As for the industrials, they made 122,577 installment loans totalling $18,784,562.82, and in addition handled 7,457 new loans (not of the installment variety) for $3,814,105.78 and renewed 2,958 loans for $2,127,833.94.

Thus the state banks, commercial and industrial made in all 240,684 new loans for $189,952,504.78. The sum of renewals was 383,094 for $336,508,612.92; and for installment loans 173,152 for $28,470,090.51.

Combining all these into an overall statement of loans made by state banks, it is found that the bankers said "Yes" no less than 796,930 times and handed over to happy (for the moment at least) borrowers a total of $654,931,148.21 (less discount in advance) in cash or in paper redeemed by renewal.

Assuming that there are 300 banking days each year (the banks like the postoffices close for numerous holidays), that's an average of 2,656 loans totalling $2,183,104 a day. Which would make the average loan made by the bankers one for $822.

Summing up the lending report Commissioner Hood said: "This report shows that the banks in the state are doing their part in financing all business and especially in making loans for defense purposes. The large number and amount of installment loans made would indicate that the banks are lending money, even in small amounts, to all classes of people."

He pointed out that his report does not include all bank loans made in the state, because he has no jurisdiction over the national banks operating in it. It is likely that a similar report for the lending activities of these national banks will be made public sometime soon. As for the number of banks making the loans already detailed, there were 154 commercial banks with 130 branches, making a total of 274 doing business in North Carolina in 1940. Of this number 92 banks, with 54 branches were making installment loans while 62 commercial banks with 66 branches were not making installment loans.

Words Of Christ Cited By Pastor

By WYATT BROWN

Instead of a theology and a church, Christ left us a life and the simple forceful exhortation, "Follow me," declared Rev. T. M. Grant, pastor, in his sermon yesterday morning at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Mr. Grant pronounced himself as being glad this was true.

Etching in the background of the occasion, Mr. Grant revealed the proper emphasis and importance of Christ's simple and forceful statement to those who chose him above all else as He was taking His leave - just said three times, "Follow me," and "Feed My lambs." To emphasize further the effectiveness of Christ's injunction, Mr. Grant contrasted the simple, concise dependable statements of President Roosevelt with the wordiness and independability of the pronouncements of Hitler to bringing into bolder relief the forcefulness and effectiveness of the simple statement of Christ on finally departing this earth, leaving naught else with those to carry on.

"That exhortation was daring adventurous - not great in language but dynamic and electric in that it came out of the heart of the Master himself. No definite instructions as to plan or organization. Just simple words, 'Follow me' burst into forceful being because they came out of the heart of the Master," said the pastor.

"The Master speaks to you this morning. Do His words hold you, appeal to you. The established church of that day was disappointed in the Man of Galilee," he went on.

Then Mr. Grant told his congreg-

Destruction of Woodlands Continues at Fast Pace

Raleigh, Sept. 15. - Despite all the work to promote forest protection and growth, the destruction of woodlands continues in North Carolina at an alarming rate. R. W. Graeber, extension forester of N. C. State College, said today.

National defense has called for great quantities of timber. Forest owners and timber operators have responded in a way that will leave a great hole in the productive capacity of Tar Heel forests.

Competent authorities, Graeber continued, have estimated that the 1941 timber cut in North Carolina for lumber, veneers, poles, piling pulpwood, fuel wood, and other products will amount to 1,500,000,000 board feet more than the timber growth for the same period.

"This heavy cut will lower the growth capacity for the next ten to 15 years," the State College specialist pointed out. "Waste now means future scarcity."

"Since white man first set his foot on North Carolina soil, Graeber went on, 'he has slaughtered her forest resources, cutting greedily, promiscuously without heed to the future. He has mined her timber with no other thought than to 'cut out and get out.' Only in the past few years has he become conscious of the fact that where there once was abundance, he now faces scarcity."

Fifty-nine per cent or 18,402,400 acres of the land area of the state is in forest. Of the productive forest land, 6,037,377 acres are on farms, this being nearly 50 per cent of all forest land and one-half of all farm acreage.

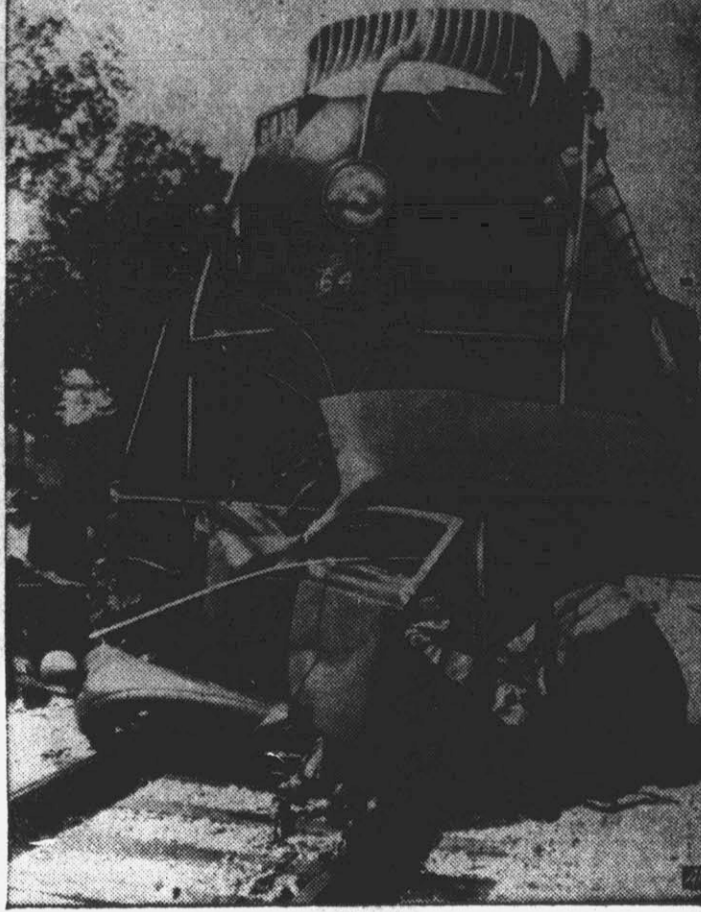

Made Chief Dispatcher.

New Bern, Sept. 15. - H. T. Brooks, formerly of the Georgia Northern Railroad, has become chief dispatcher and trainmaster of the Atlantic and East Carolina Railroad here. Paul Gillikin of Goldsboro, is the new chief clerk to the president, H. P. Edwards; and J. W. King of Sanford, has been named car accountant.

gation that the Master knew the world was full of mystery, knew men did not understand themselves knew men's hopes, knew they went to pieces, knew that men often do not know where they are and it is to them he speaks when he exhorts men to follow Him. In a time like this when men do not know their way out Christ extends his hand and says he is patient.

"Restrain yourselves from judgment of others. Be careful in bringing down condemnation. Stay out of bigotry. Believe in the integrity of spiritual authority which will lead men into communion with God Himself," Mr. Grant exhorted.

Train-Auto Crash Kills Seven

Seven members of one family, all occupants of this badly crumpled automobile, were killed when the streamlined locomotive of a Grand Trunk passenger train collided with the car near Hammond, Ind. One of the bodies hangs from the front seat of the auto. Others were strewn along the railroad tracks. The dead were Andrew Schafer of Schererville, Ind., his wife, their four children, and Mrs. Schafer's father.

Crash Kills Seven.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 15. - (AP) - An east bound Grand Trunk passenger train struck an automobile at Highland, three miles south of here, and killed outright all seven occupants of the car.

Railroads in the United States handled an average of 850 tons of freight per train in 1940, the greatest total on record.
