Threat Of Stoppage At Toledo Plant Is More Serious

TROUBLE CAUSED BY AFL-CIO ROW

Rumblings Of Further Trouble In Labor Circles Come From AFL Convention In Seattle

By The Associated Press
Army tank assembly lines faced a possible shutdown today as a result of a jurisdictional labor dispute between the AFL and CIO, while from the former group's national convention at Seattle there came a warning that there might be a further schism in the house of labor.

The threat to continued tank production arose at the plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Company of Toledo, Ohio, makers of approximately 70 per cent of the transmissions for army tanks, "jeeps" and half-tractor military vehicles.

The company has a contract with the CIO United Automobile Workers and employs 2,300. The firm gets many parts, however, from a subsidiary, the Hilsdale, Mich., steel products company. The AFL recently won a collective bargaining election among Hilsdale's 800 workers and employers. CIO men have served notice that they will not handle the AFL-made parts. When existing stocks are exhausted, Spicer officials said that production, already slowed to a trickle, will stop.

Federal and state labor mediators sought to end the dispute and a conference has been called for today.

The rumblings of further possible trouble in labor circles came from James M. Duffy, president of the national brotherhood of operative potteries. He told the AFL convention at Seattle that domination by large unions would bring about "not two great labor organizations, but three—and God forbid that should happen."

Duffy said eight or 10 big unions controlled the AFL and that "there are sufficient members now affiliated with the AFL who, unless the trend of power stops, will be ready to participate in a third group."

Ousted President Starts Back Home

Havana, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, the ousted President of Panama, sailed from Cuba today for Panama aboard the steamship Cefelu, due to arrive there Tuesday morning.

Arias, whose flight from Panama last Tuesday before dawn opened the way for establishment of a regime pointed toward greater collaboration with the United States, had said that he intended to return to Panama by plane.

Total Of 14 Persons Held In County Jail

A total of 14 persons are being held in the county jail today, a number regarded as high since it is almost as large as the mark reached shortly before the August term of Superior court.

Recently the cell blocks were thrown open when not a single prisoner was incarcerated in the bastille.

Of the 13 now being held, five are white men awaiting trial, five colored men awaiting trial, three colored women serving terms and one colored man serving a term.

Legion Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion will be held Tuesday night, October 14, at the High School cafeteria.

In a news story Thursday calling attention to the change both in the time and place of the meeting, the change of place from the Third Street hut to the High School cafeteria was inadvertently omitted. In a follow-up story yesterday for the purpose of advising members of the change in place it was incorrectly stated that the meeting would be held October 21.

The correct date and place: High School cafeteria, Tuesday night, October 14.

Exchange Of Prisoners Fails

A uniformed German gives a hail as he and others among a group of 103 wounded Nazi war prisoners came off a Red Cross hospital ship at Newhaven, England, after the collapse of British-German negotiations for the first exchange of wounded hostages since the war began. They had gone aboard the ship preparatory to sailing for German territory but were taken back to confinement camps.

Solon Asks Investigation Of Diplomatic Moves

Washington, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) urged the State Department today to approve a proposed senatorial investigation of the activities of Japanese diplomatic and other representatives in the United States.

The Iowa senator arranged to see Secretary of State Hull today for a discussion of a resolution which he and Senator Johnson (D-Col.) offered last week calling for an inquiry into reports that agents of Axis powers were organizing non-quota apartments and "duo citizens" into groups hostile to the country.

"We may find that the German armies are successful in their efforts to crush Russia that Japan will broaden hostilities in the Far East. We may find then that some of the oil and other war supplies which we have sent them and which have been stored for an emergency, are being used against us."

"I think the time has come," Gillette told reporters, "to drop the policy of appeasement we have followed with Japan. I have no doubt in the world that if the German armies are successful in their efforts to crush Russia that Japan will broaden hostilities in the Far East. We may find then that some of the oil and other war supplies which we have sent them and which have been stored for an emergency, are being used against us."

Be Optimistic But Up-To-Date

Cobwebs More Dangerous Than Politicians

New York City, Oct. 11.—Next to truth, the greatest need today is for faith—faith in God, faith in America, and faith in our fellow men. On the other hand, the greatest danger lies with fear—fear of death, fear of sacrifice, and fear of losses of various kinds. Yet, there are many columnists, authors, and even political leaders who make their livings crying "Wolf! Wolf! When there is no wolf."

The latest "Bad Wolf" Even radicals are now pretty much agreed to fear from Socialism or Communism. They have entirely changed their tune as to this fear. Kark Marx is no longer their idol and they have lost faith in the proletariat. They instead talk of a "Managerial Revolution."

They still pretend to believe that most stocks and bonds will become worthless through state competition—that we are entering an era when the government will become the owner of all income-producing property and will operate it along

1941 Figure 72 Per Cent Higher Than 1940 Mark

Offerings of 5,126,992 pounds, sold for $1,854,850.89 on the Greenville tobacco market for the week ended yesterday brought the high average of 36.12 cents per pound.

The five-day sales brought to 39,166,100 pounds the total for the season to date, for which farmers have been paid $12,080,236.59 to establish an average of 30.84 cents per pound. This season's figures show an increase over those of 1940 of 1,082,578 in pounds, $5,272,740.40 in money paid out and 12.95 cents per pound in the average price paid. The average increase for this year over last is 72 per cent.

Prices were high throughout the week, but a noted drop in the quality of offerings was noted after Monday's sales, as many farmers brought in the last of their crops. All warehouse floors were cleared Friday in anticipation of another big sale Monday, although it is agreed by all that the market is rapidly drawing to a close.

Franklin Vote On Liquor Held Today

Louisburg, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Voters of Franklin county balloted today on the question of retaining or abolishing county-operated alcoholic beverage control stores.

In spite of spirited campaigning by those favoring absolute prohibition and by supporters of the liquor control plan, a light vote was forecast. Political observers predicted that about 4,000 votes would be cast as compared with a normal vote of about 6,000.

Immanuel Delegates To Meeting Selected

A large delegation from Immanuel Baptist church is expected to attend the annual meeting of the Rockaway Association, which will convene in Farmville Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and close Wednesday afternoon.

The church in conference this week named the following delegates: C. L. Herring, D. W. Hardee, Mrs. J. T. Jordan, and Mrs. C. W. Willard. Alternates are: Mrs. W. B. Shoe, Mrs. S. J. Everett, Mrs. W. R. Smith and Mrs. George D. Vincent.

In addition, the pastor of the church, Rev. Hartwell Campbell, will attend and offer prayer at the opening session.

U. S. AMBASSADOR HAS NO COMMENT

Other Embassy Officials, However, Predict There Will Be No Jap Exodus from United States

They will be the first such sailings since the British-American freezing of Japanese credits.

The first ship to leave will be the Tatsuta Maru, on October 15, from Honolulu and San Francisco. The Nitta Maru is scheduled to sail from Yokohama October 20 directly for Vancouver and Seattle. The Taiyo Maru will sail from Kobe the same day and call at Yokohama two days later.

United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew would not comment, but other embassy sources expressed belief there would be no general Japanese exodus from the United States.

Observers, however, predicted a rush among native Americans and Americans of Japanese descent, particularly those of military age, for passage to the United States.

Local Civic Club Endorses Program

The Greenville Kiwanis club, at its regular weekly meeting last night, endorsed the proposed $250,000 school bond issue, to be decided at the polls Tuesday, October 28.

The action was taken after J. H. Rose, superintendent of the city schools, explained the program.

Another feature of the meeting was an address by Jack Edwards on the Constitution.

Musical entertainment was furnished by C. E. Roselle, vocal instructor at the college, and Miss Jernigan as accompanist.

Announcement was made that the annual Ladies Night would be held at the next regular meeting.

Meeting Set Monday To Plan Roll Call

An important meeting of Roll Call officials, at which a representative of national headquarters will be held in the board room of the Municipal building Monday night, it has been announced by J. Nat Harrison, Pitt county chapter chairman, who will head the Roll Call drive.

The Roll Call has been set for November 4.

All members of the Executive Committee and members of the district committee are urged to be present for the general rally, at which plans for conducting the Roll Call will be formulated.

Officials of the North Carolina Crop Improvement Association met with the local committee last night for the purpose of discussing and arranging a program for the annual meeting of the association to be held here January 30-31 in conjunction with the annual seed exposition.

Those here for the meeting were Dr. G. K. Middleton of Raleigh, director in charge of the association; A. D. Stuart of Raleigh, crop improvement specialist; Dr. Lanis S. Bennett of Raleigh, cotton improvement specialist; and J. Brantley Speight of Winterville, president of the association.

U. S. SOLDIERS GET WEEKEND

Look To Recreation After Week Of Maneuvers

Camden, S. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Thousands of Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum's first army soldiers swarmed out of their bases, camps and bivouacs today for a week-end of recreation after a strenuous week of field training initiating the two months' maneuver program for the Carolinas area.

Reports received at public relations headquarters told of preparations made in cities within and adjoining the 10,000 square mile area, and the towns and villages, to entertain the officers and men of the first army.

Numerous dances and parties were arranged, sleeping and eating facilities were offered, and other measures taken to insure the comfort of the visitors. The army assigned hundreds of trucks to the task of transporting the soldiers to the recreation areas and back to their camps.

A second series of field exercises will be inaugurated Monday with each corps operating within its own area. The next week will see an expansion of the scale of mimic warfare, one corps being pitted against another for the first time in this maneuver.

The next week will also witness the mobilization of the entire first army for the first time. Advance units of the first division, pride of the army, arrived in the Camden, N. C. region today to prepare for the coming of the remainder of the division.

Citizens Register At New City Hall

All persons desiring to participate in the $250,000 school bond issue election October 28 will be required to register during the coming week.

Citizens in all sections of the district will register and vote at the new Municipal building.

It is a special registration and all persons registering and falling to vote will be charged, as voting against the proposal to issue the bonds additions and improvements to the local school plants, both white and colored.

ECTC'S ALUMNI DAY OCT. 18TH

Annual Return To College Set Next Saturday

Next Saturday will see East Carolina Teachers College alumni returning to the campus for the annual homecoming, which according to every indication, will bring back many of the old grads.

A short program in the morning will still leave time for informal visiting, which is being given an important place in the schedule this year, says Miss Estelle McClees, Alumni secretary. President L. R. Meadows of the College, and Mrs. J. H. Holland, president of the Alumni Association, will speak briefly at 11 o'clock, and alumni groups present will be recognized.

Instead of being an outdoor occasion as in the past, the luncheon will be served in the dining hall at 1 o'clock.

A parade and game with scrappy W. C. T. C. football team will furnish entertainment for the afternoon.

At night there will be both a dance in the Wright building, with music by Billy Knauff's orchestra, and a party in the new classroom building for those who do not care to dance.

All local alumni are cordially urged to be present at all of the activities of the day.

What It Means: 'Conquerors Smallpox' and Hitler

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Columnist
Washington.—Adolf Hitler has finally shown symptoms of the disease that has affected all the dictators who preceded him in world history.

It's conqueror's smallpox. In this war, conqueror's smallpox is a third front. The first is the English Channel. The second is Russia.

Conqueror's smallpox is the malady brought on by people who are willing to risk their lives to protest conquest. So far, Hitler has not caught the disease in its most virulent form. Most international observers suspect the outbreak in Europe's states may be premature, and will not become violent at this time.

AUTO WRECKS COST BIG SUM

Collisions Expected To Cost $60,000,000 In Year

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Automobile accidents this year are going to cost North Carolina, as a community of persons and not as a governmental unit, so close to $60,000,000 that the difference will be hard to detect.

That's more than the state is going to spend on its schools and roads combined—its about three-fourths of all state taxes from all sources combined. It is a staggering sum.

Yet there is no reason to doubt the correctness of the cost. Ronald Houtt, director of the state highway safety division, recently received from the National Safety Council a detailed discussion of the calculable costs of motor vehicle accidents, and it is on this scientific basis that the estimate of $60,000,000 was reached. Here's how it was reached.

Unless there is a quick and unexpected reversal of the current trend, North Carolina is certain to report a death toll for 1941 in excess of 1,300. That with soldiers maneuvering by the hundreds of thousands over a large part of the state, it is not at all impossible that this figure is much too low, rather than too high.

The National Safety Council's estimate is that the cost per death can be put at $45,000. It's nothing but a very simple matter of mathematics to multiply 1,300, plus by $45,000 and learn that the exact figure for a $60,000,000 total would be 1,333. That total seems practically a minimum estimate.

Of course, the N. S. C. figure of $45,000 doesn't mean that each death actually costs that much. It does mean that over a period of years it has been found that the calculable costs of all motor vehicle accidents can be obtained by using the figure $45,000 per death.

This total can be subdivided thus: For each death $11,500, for each personal injury $425 and for each against planes and tanks. In the second place, the outbreak is not well enough organized to impede Hitler's war efforts. It is too sporadic.

Meanwhile Hitler has an excuse to kill off leaders in nations where revolts have occurred, together with their "tools."

How and why no dictator ever escapes this disease is a mystery peculiar to history. Tons and tons of literature have been written about it, but none of the explanations is wholly satisfactory.

Outstanding example of a ruler who suffered from conqueror's smallpox is Charles V, the first king who actually tried to set up a United States of Europe.

In his old age, Charles V stayed in the saddle for months on end, in a desperate attempt to hold together the nations he had conquered. At last he gave up, and retired to a monastery.

Plea Is Made For Britain Open Front

Soviet Officials Admit Moscow Faced By Grave New Dangers And Call On Britain To Open Activities On Western Front; No Hint Of Any Such Action Although Britons Restless

(By The Associated Press)
Great masses of Russian reserves, warmly dressed for winter action and bolstered by new tanks and fast planes were reported moving up to the front today as General Fedor von Bock's armies pressed on over blood-soaked battlefields in a steadily growing threat to Moscow.

As the war entered its 16th week, the Russians appealed more urgently to Great Britain to create a diversion by invading western Europe. Thus, Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, declared:

"Now the main forces of the German army are chained in the East, creating most favorable conditions for activation of other fronts of the anti-German coalition."

Afield, Russia's sorely pressed armies fell back to a shorter defense front during the night and were reported to have slowed down the 10-day-old German drive on Moscow, but Soviet dispatches admitted that grave new dangers had arisen in the Vyazma sector, 125 miles west of the U. S. R. capital.

"The danger is great," said Red Star, conceding for the moment at least that the Germans had numerical superiority in the all-important conflict on the Central front.

German reports asserted that hundreds of thousands of Russian corpses littered the battlefields around Bryansk, 220 miles southwest of Moscow.

Red troops attempting to escape encirclement by creeping through German lines at night, were said to have been mowed down in great numbers.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported that huge-scale slaughter of Russian forces trapped in the Bryansk and Vyazma sectors was proceeding rapidly, while on the Southern (Ukraine) front, the high command said annihilation of Soviet troops north of the sea of Azov was approaching completion.

If true, this would pave the way for a direct German assault on the Don river port of Rostov, gateway to the vital Caucasian oil fields.

In the North, around Leningrad, the German high command said all Russian attempts to break out of the old Czarist capital failed yesterday and that 28 super-heavy Soviet tanks were destroyed in three days of fighting.

Thousands of Red army reserves were reported moving up to the front in a steady stream, but the Russians made no attempt to conceal the darkness of the hour.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Winston Churchill received a demand by a group of British students for "immediate armed action to relieve pressure on our Russian allies."

There was still no hint of a British expeditionary force going to invade the continent, but restless Britons were encouraged by a War Office announcement of the formation of a corps of shock troops skilled in sea landings—called "Commandos"—and London newspapers freely asserted they would "one day storm enemy beaches."

Local Girl Scout Bureau Now Ready

The Senior Girl Scout Council, of which Miss Pat Waldrop is chairman, announces that the Service Bureau, which is to be located in the Girl Scout equipment shop at Blount-Harvey department store, is now ready to distribute service materials to Scouts.

Older girls from Troop Two worked this morning arranging the Service Bureau department and beginning next Saturday morning, Girl Scouts who intend to help the community by contributing service work hours are asked to register with the bureau in the equipment shop.

A total of 1,639 girl service hours for the year have been pledged to the Girl Scouts to Mayor E. B. Suggs. Troops intend to see that this pledge is really fulfilled in the coming year. (Continued on Page Six)

Lansing Hatfield Pleases Audience.

Lansing Hatfield, North Carolina's young Metropolitan baritone who sky-rocketed from a college glee club to grand opera at the Metropolitan, last night captivated his large audience at East Carolina Teachers College by his powerful voice, his dramatic skill, his attractive personality, and his gracious response to the demand for encores.

With a program ranging from deeply religious numbers to Negro spirituals and mountain folk songs, this young concert and opera singer made the first of the entertainment programs for the year a most auspicious occasion.

From Handel's "Thanks Be To Thee" to the rollicking Stephen Foster song which closed his program, Mr. Hatfield took his listeners through a multitude of varying emotions.

The deep, sonorous quality of this singer's baritone was given expression in many of his selections, notably his devout interpretation of the Negro spiritual "Steal Away," and his masterly rendition of "The Wanderer." One rarely hears so deeply felt a performance of this Schubert masterpiece.

Only a native southerner could have given so true a representation of folk songs of the section represented in his list group, "He's Just the Same Today," "The Little Maw-her," and "The Glendy Burk."

Most generous with encores, Mr. Hatfield did not save them until the last, but scattered through his program such extra numbers as "None But the Lonely Heart," "Old Man River," "Chip Off the Old Block," and "Through the Years."

Collins Smith, who is an emergency became Mr. Hatfield's accompanist the day before the concert, gave fine support to the singer.

Mr. Smith played Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Major" and the brilliant Chopin "Polonaise" in E Flat as solo contributions to the program. He also added the "Minute Waltz" of Chopin as an encore. The brilliance of his playing was well displayed in the Polonaise and his skill with light scale work made the Waltz particularly enjoyable.

This concert opened a tour of the South and West. Mr. Hatfield will go from here to Johnson City, Tenn., and from there through Arkansas, Texas, and back to North Carolina to close his tour with a concert in his home town of Hickory.

He will fly back to New York to appear on a Coca-Cola radio program on Sunday, October 19.

He made his debut in grand opera in Montreal last week singing the role of the king in "Aida," in cast which included Martinelli and Norman Godwin.

He has been rehearsing roles in 13 operas for the coming season.

Lansing Hatfield is no stranger in Greenville. He came here some eight or nine years ago as a traveling salesman and this time he said he was staying at the same hotel where they had the same elevator and, for all he knew, the same cook.

He loves to fly and whenever he finds it possible, he takes a plane for all his trips. He left this morning to meet relatives and friends for the week-end as he crosses the state.

RED OAK NEWS

Mr. Patrick Vainright suffered a very serious accident early this week, when he almost had one of his arms severed from his body. The accident happened when a highway truck backed into a truck driven by Mr. Vainright. He had one arm on the outside of his truck, and the other truck scraped against it, breaking the bone and cutting and bruising the flesh badly. He is in Pitt General Hospital and reports from his bedside indicate that he is resting as well as can be expected. Unless other complications set in, he probably will not lose the arm. We extend our sympathy to his family and hope that he recovers rapidly.

Over one hundred representatives from thirteen Christian churches enjoyed a Fellowship meeting at Red Oak yesterday. Several prominent speakers appeared on the program. A most delicious dinner was served cafeteria style in the community house by the ladies of the church.

The Sunshine class of Red Oak, taught by Mrs. L. W. Edwards, entertained the Rainbow class at a party last Tuesday evening at the community house. Singing, contests, games, etc., were conducted by Mrs. Leon Tyson, Miss Inez Allen and Mrs. Edwards. Other guests for the evening included about 15 boys and girls from the Lang's 4-H club with their leader, Mrs. Lionel Jones, several visitors from Pine Grove Sunday school, Greenville and Kinston. Delicious drinks and sandwiches were served by the members of the Sunshine class. About sixty young people enjoyed this delightful party.

About twenty-five interested citizens of the community met recently in the club house to work out the details of our Fair exhibit and to make plans for our lunch stand. This meeting took the place of our regular October Home Demonstration club meeting and was presided over by our president, Mrs. James Allen. Several reports were filed out and handed to the secretary. We were especially glad to have several men and boys present who signified their willingness to help in every way they could with our booths at the Fair. Mesdames Tom and Frank Manning served refreshments which were enjoyed by all present.

Last Monday night a large group of citizens met at the club house and brought gifts of money, clothes and food for the family of Mrs. Bertha Manning Jones who recently had the misfortune to lose everything she had by fire. Mr. and Mrs. Jones were very appreciative of the help of these people.

H. H. May and N. S. Tyson attended the reunion of the 81st Division in Raleigh last Sunday. They report a wonderful time.

A very kind friend of Red Oak Church, who resides in Greenville, presented a gift of a sum of money to the church recently. This gift will be used to help purchase new seats for the church auditorium. We are very appreciative of this gift from this friend.

Plans are under way to have Home-coming Day at Red Oak the third Sunday in November. We have been having this celebration in September in years past, but due to the

4-H Clubs Meet

The Falkland 4-H club met Wednesday morning with 15 girls present.

The meeting was held jointly with the boys, with Lewis Smith, president, presiding.

Miss Kirby had charge of the program. A lesson on foods and nutrition was presented, after which Mr. Griggs, assistant farm agent, closed the discussion with remarks regarding health as related to the diet, and the importance of strong, healthy people during the time of National Defense. Miss Mavis Parker, teacher leader, met with the group.

The Belvoir 4-H club met Wednesday morning with the president, Lucille Manning, presiding. There were 35 girls present. Miss Elva Templeton, teacher leader, was also present. The introduction lesson for the year's work on foods was presented. The group was given a set of 4-H club members' food rules. Members are planning to use these rules as a guide in planning diets in order that they may be healthier boys and girls. After singing "God Bless America," the meeting adjourned.

The Stokes 4-H club met Thursday morning with 32 girls present, and was held jointly with the boys. Jean Forbes, president, presided. Miss Kirby and Mr. Griggs discussed foods and nutrition. During the discussion, charts illustrating how diet is related to health were shown to the group. Vitamins were discussed by the use of charts showing rats suffering from deficiency disease as a result of the lack of certain vitamins. The daily food essentials were discussed. Club members contributed to the discussion. As a summary of the lesson the members reviewed the lesson by giving the daily food essentials and naming vitamins and telling a few things about each. The song leader led the group in a song, after which the meeting adjourned.

The Pactolus 4-H club met Thursday morning in the school auditorium. The business meeting was held jointly with the boys, with Julia Dickinson presiding. After the business, Mr. Griggs took the boys on a tour to select seed corn.

The girls had their first lesson on room improvement, a major project for the year. Miss Kirby discussed the purpose of a 4-H room improvement project. The 4-H girls' room was discussed and suggestions for improvements in various girls' rooms were discussed. All the girls stated they had rooms they would like to make improvements in. Much interest was shown in the group. Miss Nellie Manning, teacher leader, er, contributed to the discussion by suggesting various things the girls could do. The meeting was closed by a song led by the song leaders, Beulah Tyer and Hazel Weatherington.

The Farmville 4-H club met at the club house Thursday evening with six girls present. Grace Lewis, vice-president, presided, in the absence of the president, Louella Manning. After opening the meeting with a song, "America the Beautiful," the group was divided after the business meeting. Mr. Griggs had charge of the program for the boys and the girls met with Miss Kirby and Mrs. Lenwood Tugwell. The major project for the girls is room improvement. Plans and suggestions were presented concerning room improvement projects. After the program the boys and girls met together for recreation.

Older Youth Meeting

The Older Youth club met Wednesday evening in the Agricultural Building with John Watson presiding. The meeting was opened with a song "God Bless America." Officers for the new year were elected.

The speaker for the evening was R. R. Bennet, farm agent. His topic was "The Older Youth Organization and What It Can Mean to the Boy and Girl." First, Mr. Bennet discussed the problems confronting youth today, such as building character, personality and habits, education, jobs, incomes and social life. He stated that youth today had great opportunity due to the development of new industries. In closing, Mr. Bennet explained how the older youth club could help boys and girls to better their position by letting it come to mean a club of service, better living, better education, of sound wholesome social life, more affecient practices and methods applied in doing their jobs.

Plans were made for the group to sponsor organization of a club for students of E. C. T. C. After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Delicious refreshments were served. The table was very attractive with a large punch bowl in the center, green and yellow candles on either end with ivy around the bowl and candleholders. Two large hostess trays were filled with cookies, pickles and Hallowe'en candy.

We wish to express our appreciation to the National Biscuit Co., for the cakes.

Recreation was led by Mr. Griggs. Everyone present reported a most enjoyable evening. We were delighted to have Miss Katherine Holtzclaw as a guest. Mr. R. R. Bennet, Mr. C. D. Griggs, Miss Verona Lee Joyner and Miss Edna Kirby met with the group.

H. D. Clubs Meet

The Pactolus H. D. club met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. D. Taylor. Ten members were present. Mrs. Henry Pittman of the Falkland club, also attended the meeting. Plans for the Fair booth were discussed.

Mrs. W. F. Little gave a very interesting report on Home Beautification. Mrs. Cecil Satterthwaite gave a report on Better English. The program for the day was on Achievements. The hostess served delicious fruit.

The Bethel H. D. Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. G. R. Whitehurst. The president, Mrs. G. M. Burton, presided. The club collected was given by Mrs. J. L. Gurganus. Mrs. W. O. Grimes gave a most interesting talk on the Curb Market. Mrs. Gurganus also gave a report on Better English. A defense committee was appointed. Those serving on the committee are Mrs. W. O. Grimes, Mrs. J. L. Gurganus and Mrs. G. R. Whitehurst. Officers for the new year were elected. Achievements for the past year were discussed. Several of the members reported various achievements they had made. The hostess served delicious ice cream in ginger ale, cookies, toasted nuts and ice water.

Farmville H. D. club had one of the most interesting meetings that I attended during the week. Mrs. J. R. Lewis, president, presided, opening the meeting with members singing "America the Beautiful," followed by the club collect.

Three of the leaders gave reports that all present enjoyed. Mrs. R. R. Fields, Home Management leader, told the members that to use their time wisely each day a schedule should be made. She offered suggestions for doing that. Then Mrs. Herman Baker, Clothing leader, read a report from Consumer's Guide on buying and wearing cotton hose this fall. The Education leader, Mrs. B. F. Weaver, gave the Better English lesson for October.

Mrs. Herman Baker presented Mr. R. R. Bennet, farm agent, to the club, who had as his topic "What Is Our Part in National Defense Program in regard to the Food and Feed Production Program." In conclusion Mr. Bennet stated that Pitt county farm people could help by producing enough of the essential foods to assure their families a balanced diet during the coming year and by increasing peanut and soy bean production as the Secretary of Agriculture has called for an 83 per cent increase in the production of soy beans to be used for oils and fats for defense.

Mrs. R. R. Fields gave an interesting book review of "Raleigh's Eden," which was very much enjoyed by those present.

House Furnishings

We are delighted to see that many of the club women are interested in slip covers, draperies, etc. For the past two weeks we have been busy helping the club members select rugs, slip covers, and drapery material. We have several 4-H club girls interested in room improvement. Many good projects are being started in the county.

Pitt Health Work For Month Shown

Chief activities of the Pitt County Health Department during the month of September, as outlined by the health officer, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Medical Society, consisted of school work, immunization clinics, maternal and infant welfare work, venereal disease clinics and dairy, meat market and cafe inspections.

The report continues:

The contagious disease figures for the month show: Tuberculosis 7 cases, typhoid fever 2, scarlet fever 2, whooping cough 1, diphtheria 1, and measles none.

The state-county monthly orthopedic clinic showed for August, 29 cases, and for September, 39 cases. This clinic fills an important place in the medical surgical treatment facilities of this community.

At the school health work figures show that the health officer examined 30 football players, 161 school bus drivers, and that the school nurses made 5,174 inspections for pediculosis, scabies, etc.

The immunization figures show 22 vaccinations against diphtheria and 543 vaccinations against small pox.

The attendance at the maternal and infant welfare clinics dropped from 142 in August to 121 in September. It is probable that cotton picking was a factor in this reduced attendance.

The attendance at the venereal disease clinic showed a slight improvement, going up from 1418 in August to 1438 in September.

T. W. Bivens, Pitt county sanitary inspector, was called by the United States government early in September to join the sanitation forces in the army maneuvers area, where he will be engaged for a period of three months. In his absence the health officer is trying to fill the gap. The City of Greenville Sanitary Inspector J. T. Welch was very active in September, especially in meat market inspection.

I-I DON'T KNOW, MORTIMER, BUT WHEN I TOLD HIM I WOULDN'T BRING HER OVER, HE SAID HE'D SEND AN OFFICER FOR US IF WE DIDN'T!

WELL, HERE'S BABS, JUDGE, BUT WHY IS IT WE HAVE TO BRING HER BACK?

MOSTLY BECAUSE JUDGE LEVEL WANTS HER AND HE HAS DISCOVERED THAT THERE'S A FLAW IN YOUR ADOPTION PAPERS!

GO ON--I'LL BET I KNOW WHY YOU'RE TAKING HER BACK-- YOU WANT THAT THOUSAND DOLLAR REWARD OF HERS FOR YOURSELF!

THE REWARD WAS PARTLY THE REASON FOR YOUR LOSING HER.

--BECAUSE DAN DUNN FOUND OUT YOU ADOPTED HER ONLY FOR HER MONEY AND BESIDES HE WANTS HER HIMSELF--I'M SURE HE ISN'T INTERESTED IN THE DOUGH! I'LL TURN BABS OVER TO HIM IMMEDIATELY!

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter 30
The Lie
Pam turned then to meet the girl's eye.

"You'll forgive me, I hope," the girl said. "But I just had to come in and look at this tree. It's the most beautiful thing I've ever seen."

Pam smiled. "Most people down here call it the orchid tree," she said sweetly. "I—" and then Pam raised her voice.

"Something was coming over her with a chill sense of apprehension. Something familiar about the girl that in some vague way was alarming. Suddenly Pam knew. It was the girl of the beach. The girl who had waited for Jerry and had walked away with him. It swept over Pam in a cill wave that since that hour Jerry had been different. Not his usual self. She looked at the girl searchingly.

"You were going to say something," May Frisbee prompted. "Was I?" Pam was confused. It was difficult for her to pretend.

"Yes, you were telling me about this tree." May looked around. She couldn't let the conversation end there. "And that vine with those lovely flame-colored flowers!"

"That's what she called," Pam said quickly. "Flame vine. Or, botanically—begonia. And then: 'Won't you sit down?' She indicated the chair beside her, just vacated by Vin.

"Thanks," May dropped into it. She breathed a little sigh and turned to Pam. "You know, this is the first kindness I've had since arriving in this little hamlet. It almost brings tears, if you know what I mean."

"Surely you haven't found us so unfriendly?" Pam asked gently. She was trying to think, trying to connect the girl with Jerry. Obviously she wasn't of his set. She couldn't be a relative. It might have been a chance meeting. Occasionally you did walk along with people who did walk along with you to ask directions, especially in a winter vacation place where living was leisurely.

"Oh, perhaps—May was eager to talk. "I'm being unfair in judging the whole town by one man. My fiancé that was. Had he come down here, and then handed me a bunch of air as any balloonist could use."

"I don't understand." Pam turned down flat. If you need plain English, May said with an excellent imitation of concealed hurt. "What I really suspect is that he's got someone else. But he should have thought of that before he asked me to come down."

"It would seem you've had a raw deal," Pam answered politely. "It hasn't been fair, surely."

"Fair? I'm beginning to think men don't know there is such a word!"

"I'm sorry," Pam said softly. "And it hurts. I tell you it hurts to have a thing like this handed to you after you've believed in a man. They sat in silence for a while. A mocking bird in the Australian pine looked at them pertly, trying with his own chirpings to urge them to conversation to which he might add his amusing accompaniment. May turned to Pam suddenly and shrugged. But why should she be telling you my trouble? You seemed sweet and sympathetic enough."

"Hard Luck Story
"Sometimes it helps to talk," Pam said gently. "I'm sorry you should come here to unhappiness. I always like to think of this island as a place where everyone finds happiness."

"Maybe most people do," May said as she rose. "Maybe I'm just the girl holding the unlucky number!"

Pam made no effort to detain her. She wondered why she should be glad when the girl left, but she did have a definite sense of relief. It was a few days later that Pam met Lenore uptown selecting post cards at a drug store. Pam considered a moment and then felt she must speak. This was a sort of Providence-given opportunity.

"Would you mind if I talked to you a minute?" she asked of Lenore, who stared at her as if she didn't recognize her, and then said almost insultingly: "Oh, the little Conch! Did you mean you had something to say to me?"

"Yes," Pam's voice was low with indignation. But Lenore was Jerry's sister. She must do what she could. "It's about Jim Perry."

Lenore continued looking at cards for only a moment, then turned swiftly away. So that, thought Pam as she walked slowly along Duval Street was as far as she'd get trying to say anything to Lenore.

Meantime Jerry had been dropping in every day. One the surface, things seemed to be going as usual, but Pam sensed something wasn't right. There was a peculiar coyness about Jerry, a moodiness that was new and different.

And then one afternoon when Pam had felt unreasonably restless and unable to work, she rode out to the Boulevard. Parked there, verlooking the water she recognized Jerry's car and had stopped with one foot on the running board before she saw May.

"Oh, I didn't know—" she began in embarrassment and was about to move on when Jerry stopped her. "Pam—Wait, please!" There was something imperative in his voice.

"Oh, you're the girl I was talking about," May Frisbee didn't wait for her introduction. Jerry had not intended to give.

"Yes," Pam said and paused, too startled to move.

"I've been telling Jerry my troubles," May went on over Jerry's effort to silence her. "Just as if, with a bitter, hard little laugh, 'he wasn't the cause of them!'"

Pam was glad May rambled on allowing her silence with which to over her confusion. Jerry the cause of this girl's troubles? Jerry just be the man she had been talking about that afternoon. Suddenly it all seemed clear to Pam. Jerry's strangeness of late, his constraint and apparent worry, his preoccupied manner.

"I've been thrown out of my hotel room," May's words stood out suddenly in Pam's consciousness.

GRANTS STAYS FOR STUDENTS

Concession Made By Selective Service Officials

Raleigh, Oct. 10.—Procedure for postponement of induction of college students into the armed forces so that they may finish partially-completed semesters and quarter terms without undue hardship before starting military training was announced today by National Headquarters, Selective Service system.

Emphasizing the difference between a postponement of induction and an actual deferment of a student, National Headquarters in its memorandum to State Directors and local boards reiterated the necessity of deferring individual students essential to the national defense and public welfare.

Pointing out that from time to time it had advised local boards that there shortages, or prospective shortages, in certain essential occupations and that students who were preparing for these occupations could be deferred, National Headquarters said:

"If a local board determines that a particular student registrant is in training and preparation to perform a function which the national interest requires should be performed, and that at the time such induction will begin to perform that function, it should defer such student."

"It should be clearly understood that it is the shortage within the occupation which forms the basis of the deferment and not the fact that the registrant is a student."

Such deferments are granted because they are in the national interest, whereas an induction is postponed solely to prevent undue hardship to the individual. National Headquarters pointed out that headquarter postponements may be granted to a farmer to harvest a crop, to a lawyer to try a pending case, to an architect to complete a set of plans, and in addition, National Headquarters said, "a student might be granted such an extension in order to prepare for and take an examination, or to complete a college term which he started in good faith after ascertaining that his induction would not normally occur until a reasonable portion of such term had expired."

Minneapolis.—(AP)—The Minnesota State Optometric Association advises hunting and fishing for tired eyes.

Says the bureau: "Hunting gets the average office worker and laborer who use eyes for close work out in the open where the eye has a chance to get back to the fundamental purposes for which it was made. The eye was designed for hunting and outdoor work. By getting out to hunt or fish or even to play golf, the eye receives a vacation."

Aluminum owes its name to the Romans, who called certain salts, now believed to be the mixed sulphates of iron and aluminum, alumen.

It was well into the evening before anything happened that gave Pam an idea of how things were going. A taxi drove to her door at dusk. May got out and came up the steps.

"Fine way to begin a friendship by borrowing!" May was laughing. "Could you lend me the taxi fare?" "Surely!" Pam went to her purse and counted out fifty cents.

May had no baggage. The hotel was holding it for her bill.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

TRUE RELIGION

In the famous conference which Jesus had with the woman at the well, He declared that the water which He gives a needy human soul becomes in everyone a well of water springing up into everlasting life.

In other words, Jesus declared that true religion comes from the inside of our hearts, and we can tell whether religion is true or false depending upon whether it is something hung on the outside of us like a cloak or something which springs up within us like a fountain.

They key word to the understanding of Christianity is "inwardness." Jesus came to give men more abundant life, and He proposes to do so by changing not the circumstances by which we are surrounded, but the inner impulses and spirit by which they may dominate and control any circumstances. He came to make the heart clean, the spirit joyful, to fill men with the earnest desire to be helpful in a world where there is so much need.

He came to point men to God and to show them that out of the dry heart there flows a spirit as refreshing as a fountain of water, and that this spirit, springing up within the heart of man, gives him a quality of life which will persist for all eternity.

We are encouraged to look within to the deepening of our satisfactions. Happiness comes when the heart is happy, and the heart is happy when God touches it and releases within it a fountain of living water springing up unto eternal life.

BE SURE TO REGISTER

Books for the new registration for the school bond election October 28th will close next Saturday and it is necessary that those who wish to have a part in deciding this matter should register before that time. Col. E. G. Flanagan, chairman of the school board, stated this week that it was the desire of the school board for the bond election to really represent the wishes of the people, regardless of whether the election carries. This is indeed an important matter and one in which our people should show an interest.

Whether you favor the bond issue or not, it is your duty to register and vote your wishes in the matter. This question of improvement of our school facilities by voting $250,000 in bonds is too important a matter to be decided by a small minority of our citizens.

TIME TO WAKE UP

Regardless of all our recent talk of an all-out effort to aid the democracies and thereby safeguard our own future safety, reports just issued reveal that this country has done but little in the way of really getting down to the matter of producing the necessary implements to successfully prosecute a modern war. In our opinion, it's about time we stopped talking and got down to business. There was a time when big talk could stand off an enemy, but the stage

If It Hadn't Been For You Italians—has been reached in the present world conflict that implements of war backed up by men and supplies is what counts.

GO TO CHURCH

Attention is again called to the invitation of the local churches for you to attend the church of your choice tomorrow. Present world conditions are proof that there has been a turning away from the church and its teachings, and there must be a return to the teachings of Christ before there can be peace and brotherly love in the world.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington.—Congress is back on the job. Theoretically of course, it has never been off, but actually since the passage of the defense tax bill the gentlemen have been on a holiday.

Most went back home to do pulse-taking and fence mending. There are straws in the wind indicating that contact with the voters is going to change votes in the House and Senate—hints that perhaps there will not be so much opposition to the administration's foreign policy and stronger opposition to non-defense spending.

Congress takes these unofficial holidays by a simple expediency. According to the rules, neither house can adjourn for more than three days. Majority and minority leaders in both houses make a gentleman's agreement that no controversial matters will be brought up. Then on Mondays and Thursdays, or Tuesdays and Fridays, the House and Senate go through their formalities.

A handful of stay-behinds assemble. Routine business is transacted "by unanimous consent"—and this is possible because the majority and minority leaders are always on hand to see that the opposition doesn't slip something over. Since it only takes one "I object" to knock a "unanimous consent" into the middle of the next real session. It's only necessary for a few good party watch dogs to be on hand. Most of the members of Congress are away.

Now that period is over, Congress hasn't assembled in recent years, with observers more keenly observant, or the political, departmental, and administrative leaders more eager to know what direction the legislative tide is going to take.

The explanation is simple. Take one squint at the three major measures due for immediate consideration: (1) The new six billion dollar Lend-Lease bill. Of the three pending measures this is considered by most observers the least likely to encounter major opposition. However, there is one vital point in it out of which the isolationists are certain to make capital—how much of it is going to Russia? (2) Repeal or modification of the Neutrality Act. This is sure to be a battle royal. A recent senate poll, which lacked any definite commitments from 41 senators, indicated that some modification of the Act (either outright repeal or arming of American merchant vessels, which would be allowed to operate in all or part of the combat zones) is favored by the upper house. (3) Price control legislation—and this one will be a honey of a scrap. In the two latter instances, it is not certain right now that the administration knows what it wants. Expressions from administration leaders on the Neutrality Act show that there's a split in the ranks, some favoring outright repeal, others merely modification. To complicate the situation further, one administration senator declared the other day that the President, if he wanted to, could practically nullify the Neutrality Act, as far as shipping is concerned, merely by revoking his proclamations recognizing the war and establishing combat zones. He then could order merchant vessels armed and let them go anywhere. Some observers, who know their "powers of the President," point out that this technicality had already been resorted to, in a measure, in clearing the way for shipping in the Red Sea.

As for price control legislation, the big fuss will come over what kind of machinery will be established to administer and whether control should include farm prices and wages.

will do in the way of reducing the appalling toll of lives now being taken daily on North Carolina highways. By "selective enforcement" it should be distinctly understood that the commissioner does not mean that any particular class of persons will be picked out upon whom to practice enforcement. It does mean that places where the most accidents are occurring will be selected for special attention from the patrolmen and that selected officers will be instructed to beat down with particular vigor on certain offenses which the statistics show are causing a tremendous proportion of the North Carolina fatalities.

Of course, the commissioner realizes that his new plan will not be able to show all its best results until after the maneuvers are over and the hundred or more patrolmen now tied up with them are available for general duty again.

He does believe, however, that special concentrations in the zones of greatest danger, with more night patrolling than even in the past, will serve to cut down the terrible slaughter.

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Announcement by Motor Vehicle Commissioner T. Boddie Ward that there will be a drastic shakeup in Highway Patrol methods of meeting the critical accident situation in North Carolina was forecast by this bureau more than a week ago; but that is quite unimportant.

What is important is that the announcement carries with it the pledge that there will be made an honest, persistent effort to enforce some of the statutes now on the books—notably the 60 miles speed limit.

Mr. Ward's idea is that the plan of "selective enforcement" shall be given a fair chance to show what it

"TAKE YOUR CHANGE IN U.S. DEFENSE STAMPS"

Eddie Cantor, famous star of stage, screen and radio, shown purchasing a hat and receiving U. S. Defense Stamps for his change.

A policy inaugurated by Adam Hat Stores by which customers may receive their change in U. S. Defense Stamps provides an example of how industry can cooperate with the United States Treasury in helping the sale of U.S. Defense Bonds and Stamps. Officers of the company report that many customers are taking advantage of this opportunity to benefit themselves as well as their country. The idea may become the basis of many similar promotion programs launched by other companies for Defense Bonds and Stamps.

member of Woodrow Wilson's war cabinet, but he is the only man who did not wear a uniform who can truly be called "Pellon Legionnaire" by American Legion members. The veto constitution forbids honorary memberships, but Ambassador Daniels has been made a member of the "Founder's Club," composed of men who organized the Legion at Paris in 1918. Governor J. Melville Broughton plans to make every effort to be in Statesville on Monday, October 26 when Sergeant Alvin York appears there for the North Carolina premiere of the moving picture version of the World War hero's life. There is some chuckling over the fact that Judge Henry Grady, one-time Ku Klux official, has been named to preside at next week's session of Person superior court when the Roxboro mob case will be presented to the grand jury. Governor Broughton says that the late Huey Long is still almost worshipped by a large part of Louisiana's population. On a recent visit to the Baton Rouge capital and anti-Long official told the governor, "Fifty thousand armed men would spring up to protect it if any effort were made to remove the statue of Huey."

Governor Gives Serious Consideration To Commission

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Oct. 10.—Governor J. M. Broughton will appoint a "small loan" commission within the next week, in all probability.

He has not made up his mind as to the commission's composition and the only certain appointee appears to be Representative Shelly Caviness of Greensboro, who introduced the legislation authorizing creation of the commission. Another likely appointee is a member of the Duke University faculty who has made a thorough study of the small loan situation and has gathered all kinds of data on the matter. Still a third probability is a representative known to have the support of labor elements, with George Uzzell, many-times Rowan member of the House as a

EVERETT, GUARDIAN AD ITEM

The undersigned Commissioner, being thereto duly licensed, will on Wednesday, the 22nd day of October, 1941, at 11 o'clock A. M., on the premises; that is, at the Glensey Cottage property owned by Mabel Barnhill on Main Street—Tarboro Highway—in the Town of Bethel, N. C., offer for sale to the highest bidder or bidders for cash the following described real estate, to-wit:

1. That certain lot or parcel of land, together with the improvements thereon, situate in Bethel, N. C., described in Paragraph 4 of the petition as follows: an undivided one-half interest in and to a certain lot or parcel of land fronting 56 feet, more or less, on the East side of James Street, and extending back between parallel lines 150 feet, more or less, adjoining the Methodist Church property on the North, the Glensey Cottage property on the East, the property of T. FIRE MARSHAL SPEAKS TO CLUB IN GOLDSBORO

Goldsboro, Oct. 11.—Sherwood Brockwell of Raleigh, State Fire Marshal, was the speaker at a meeting of the Rotary Club here Tuesday evening. Speaking on National Fire Prevention Week, he warned of the possible fire hazard of incendiary bombs in this county.

Usual household fires originate in one of three places, said Mr. Brockwell—the basement, the attic, or the backstairs closet. These spaces should be cleaned out, he said. Club guests were State Senator Thomas O'Berry, Captain Charles Howell of the Goldsboro fire department, and Miss Bertie Rouse. John Henderson was program chairman.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE BY COMMISSIONER

Under and by virtue of an Order of J. F. Harrington, Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, made in an Ex-Parte special proceeding entitled, Ossia Epps, Willie Kirkman, Ellen Cogdell, et al., and being under Number 4206 upon the Special Proceeding Docket of Pitt County, said Order being duly approved and confirmed by J. Paul Frizzelle, Resident Judge of the Fifth Judicial District, the undersigned Commissioner will on the 10th day of November, 1941, at twelve o'clock noon at the Court House Door in Greenville, North Carolina, offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, those certain tracts of land lying and being in Swift Creek Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and specifically described as follows:

FIRST TRACT: Known as Lot No. 2 in the division of the Allen Mewburn land, beginning at a stake in Joseph Blount's line, a corner of Lot No. 1, and runs north 103-4 deg. west 148 poles to a stake in W. A stonewall defense, a lightning aerial game and a bruising running attack brought the ECTC Pirates a well-deserved 39-0 victory over the strong Portsmouth Navy Yard Apprentices here yesterday.

That forward wall of the Teachers' rose up in all its strength yesterday and smashed every offensive thought of by the visitors. The ECTC line kept the Tars well beyond the Pirate 30-yard stripe and were out of Teacher territory for most of the game. The Apprentices had a net gain from scrimmage of minus seven yards, bringing the total of yards gained through the ECTC line in the two games played this season to minus nine.

Meanwhile the offensive Teachers were busy in their own way. The local college completed five of their 12 passes, one for 46 yards, one for 41 yards, one for 17 yards and two for 14 yards each. Two of those completions resulted directly in touchdowns and all of the others set up scores. The ECTC ground attack netted 202 yards, 14 first downs and four touchdowns.

While Jerome Butler was most outstanding in line play, he was closely pushed by Captain Jimmie Gianakos, Stuart Tripp, Russell Rogerson, Billy Greene, Charlie Craven and Bill Lucas. Bill Grant, Walter Mallard, Fred Cooper, Everett Hudson, Jack Young, James Little, Paul Scott and Wiley Brown also turned in creditable performances in the line.

In the backfield it was Don Marriott and Wilson Schuerholz on running plays, Marshall Teague on passing and Dan Waddell on both rushing and blocking who showed up well. Waddell also looked good on defense. Summary by quarters: First Quarter Archer kicked off to the Pirate 15-yard line for the Apprentices, and after three exchanges of kicks the Teachers were on the Apprentice 33 with a first down. Schuerholz picked up ten yards then four, and Marshall Teague passed to Craven for 17 and a first on the Sallor two. Schuerholz cracked over, but Butler's attempted placekick for point was blocked. Rogerson kicked off to the Apprentice 15, and the Pirates took over on their own 28 after a Navy boot. Schuerholz made two; Marriott got 10 and Schuerholz gained two more. Marriott threw a 19-yard aerial at Billy Greene, and after the ball bounced around Teague grabbed it in the air and ran 27 yards to pay territory.

Second Quarter The Pirates took the ball on their 28. Teague made nine yards on an end sweep. Then Teague passed to Waddell for 41 yards and a first on the Apprentice 13. Marriott got the ball from Schuerholz on a reverse and crashed off tackle for the necessary distance and six points. Marriott converted on a perfect placekick. As the half drew to a close the visitors opened up with a passing attack which netted nothing.

Third Quarter ECTC drew a 15-yard penalty for delaying the start of the half and then Rogeron kicked off 55 yards from his own 25 to the Navy 30. Taking over on their own 29, the Teachers drove to the Tar 13 before losing the ball on downs. An Apprentice punt was poor and the Buccaneers took possession on the Apprentice 31 yard line. Marriott got 12 then one, and Schuerholz got one. Teague passed to Green for 14 yards and a first on the one. Wilson Schuerholz burrowed through for the score. Marriott's placekick was true, putting the Teachers out in front 26-0. The Pirate powerhouse drove to a first on the Navy 21 as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter Marriott made seven, and Schuerholz carried it over on five attempts. Marriott kicked the extra-point. After the Tars gamely tried to come back with a passing flurry the Bucs began to march again. Waddell intercepted a pass on the Navy 33 and ran it back 14 yards to the 19. After a five-yard off-sides penalty temporarily staved off the score, Nick Zuras picked up 13 yards then passed to Grant for 17 and the touchdown. The extra-point try was no good and the game ended one play after the kickoff.

PHANTOMS WIN ON 21-0 SCORE

Locals Victorious In Third Conference Tilt

Racking up their third and last non-conference game of the season, Coach Bo Farley's Green Wave scattered all of Plymouth's hopes for a victory when they placed them as the underdogs of a 21-0 score here last night.

Coach Louis Tronzo's Panthers were in there fighting all the way but the swiftness of the G-men backfield just proved too much for them.

Leonard Briley, tailback, and John Spearman, wingback, were the spark of the Phantom offensive, with Briley connecting for two of the touchdowns and Spearman one. The local line constituted a tough forward enabling the Greenies to make seven first downs while the Panthers followed closely with six first downs.

Greenie opened the first quarter when Troy Riddle, right end, made a lobbing kick-off to the visitors, who after trying three downs kicked back to the Greenies. Briley pulled the trick after the G-men had made consistent gains against the Panthers and Connor Merritt's educated toe accounted for the conversion which made the score 7-0.

No Tax Research Division To Be Set Up In Carolina

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 10.—There isn't going to be any head appointed for any tax research division of the Department of Revenue—not any time soon at least; nor is there going to be any special and separate tax research division set up at all.

That's what Governor J. M. Broughton told news men adding that there will be increasing emphasis placed on tax research by the present personnel of the Revenue department.

This method of studying taxes will be only about a fifth as expensive as it would be to name a research head and set up a new unit, he added.

Under a 1941 act the governor was authorized to name a tax research head, but there statute was optional and not mandatory. Governor Broughton said it would cost something like $15,000 to go through with that plan.

Nothing was said about that angle, but it is generally accepted by the news men, at least, that the reappointment of Commissioner A. J. Maxwell is really what put an end to any immediate prospects of a new tax research division. The most universal idea is that the post was created especially for Mr. Maxwell on at least one of two counts, well on at least one of two counts, possibly both—(1) It would provide a cushion for the commissioner to fall on if he were booted out of the commissioner post and (2) It would keep for the state his admitted value as probably the greatest tax expert in North Carolina.

ART LEWIS SHOWS WHICH EXHIBITED AT THE PITT COUNTY FAIR TWO YEARS AGO RECEIVING MUCH ACCLAIM

The Art Lewis Shows which exhibited at the Pitt County Fair two years ago receiving much acclaim has been contracted to show at the Beaufort County Fair at Washington all next week opening Monday, October 13th. This mammoth show today ranks as one of the largest in the country traveling in their own special train of thirty all-steel, double length railroad cars and presenting a mile-long midway of twenty monster riding devices and a score of huge tented theaters featuring stars of stage, screen and radio. Carrying more innovations than any other show on earth with mammoth World's Fair settings, avenue of flags and over thirty-five thousand feet of neon is spread lavishly around the riding devices and tented shows. Huge searchlights sweep the heavens and can be seen for 20 to 30 miles while scores of floodlights cast their beams down upon the midway masses.

Monday night will be given over to the ladies and all will be admitted free by presenting the Beaufort County Fair advertisement which will be found today in the columns of the Reflector and which must be presented at the main entrance to the Fair.

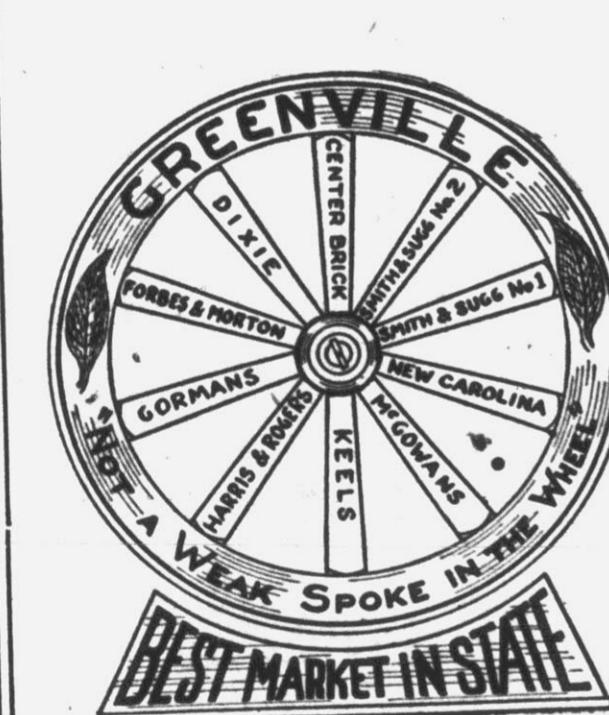

The Arab conquest, which politically altered the whole history of Egypt, had no appreciable influence on the physique of its inhabitants.

Featured are Patricia Kelly formerly a well known Broadway danseuse. Rosita, noted Hawaiian movie star. Al Mercy, the boy with the singing trumpet and his swingers while many other nationally known stage and screen stars will be found on this vast amusement zone. The Rocket, which travels a mile-a-minute, the spitfire which gives all the sensations of a dive bomber and a score of other rides will provide thrills for both young and old.

But it now seems that the governor's most recent statement completely knocks any tax research work will be given special attention under existing setup.

Keep Your Investments Up-to-Date Here is what the pessimists overlook: For every old industry any government has taken over, two new industries have sprung up in its place. This, moreover, applies to Russia and Germany as well as to the United States and Canada.

Initiative, enterprise, and invention grow best in a free soil apart from government ownership or management. As long as the English race is in economic competition with Europeans or Asiatics, you may be sure that private enterprise will be encouraged in the United States and Canada.

This means that business men and investors who keep ahead of the procession have nothing to fear from the New Deal. Those who recognize that the only thing really "permanent" is change and who wisely shift their investments accordingly, should continue to prosper. The lazy investor, the self-satisfied business man, and the so-called conservative banker who worship "bond ratings" are the ones who will suffer during the changes ahead of us.

What After The War?

Most readers are asking what will happen after World War II. Will there be a great business slump? Will revolutions follow? The current low stock market prices are due—not to present conditions—but to fear of what will happen a few years hence.

Of course, one should know how long the war is to last before answering these questions. The after-effects of a long war would be more serious than if it should end in the winter of 1942-43. But, the real answer depends upon to what extent employers, wage-workers, and investors are willing to adapt themselves voluntarily to the changed conditions. The stagecoach owners and drivers of 100 years ago who fought the railroads, went broke; but those who sold out and re-invested in railroad securities became very prosperous.

This is one reason why I prefer the chemical companies rather than the "steels"—prefer the motor coach companies rather than the "rails"; and prefer the peace stocks rather than the "war-babies." I prefer to have the bonds of some almost unknown little town run by good people than the popular bonds of great cities which are run by grafters.

Recognize change, insist upon growth, and align yourself with active people of character and you have nothing to fear. The world is constantly getting better; while more opportunities exist today than ever for those who study, pray work, save, and venture. Beware of "cobwebs" in your home, business, church, or safe deposit box!

property damage accident $125. The Council's experience table shows that there are disabling injuries per death, and 150 property damage wrecks per death.

The basis for the $60,000,000 thus explained, what does that sum represent comparatively?

As said, it is more than the total cost of all the state's schools and roads.

It amounts to about $17 per Tar Heel man, woman and child; using the 1940 census figure of approximately 3,550,000 as the state's population.

It is $5,000,000 a month—about twice the sum the state collects from the gasoline tax—its biggest single tax item.

From another angle it is more than two hundred times as much as the entire budget for the Motor Vehicle Department and it is no less than six hundred times the sum allotted the highway safety division and the highway patrol.

Items which go to make up the "cost" of motor vehicle accidents are substantial, tangible matters of dollars and cents—there's no vague guessing.

The total includes wage loss, medical expense, the overhead costs of insurance and property damage.

"Wage loss" includes loss of wages (or the value of impaired services) due to temporary inability to work, lower wages when returned to work due to permanent partial disability, and the present value of future earnings for permanent total disabilities and deaths.

"Medical Expense" includes doctors and hospital fees.

"Overhead Cost of Insurance" includes all administrative selling and claims settlement expenses for insurance companies and self-insurers, but not the amount of claims paid, which for the most part are already included as wage loss.

months.

Mrs. Ty Wagner and Mrs. H. H. Duncan, members of the Community Relations committee, have been in charge of securing service work for Scouts to do. At present Red Cross work and Bundles for Britain are available to Scouts.

In registering with the Service Bureau each girl is asked to sign her name and the number of hours she will contribute this year. As she takes material out it is checked against her name. When the article is completed the Scout will return it to the bureau and be credited with the number of hours she has spent on the article.

All Girl Scouts who participate in service activities are permitted to wear a service pin which is in the shape of a small red trefol. These pins may soon be purchased from the Girl Scout office.

Susanne Kilgo and Dorothy Nell Henderson, Senior Scouts, are the first to help in the Service Bureau. Other senior scouts have offered their assistance and under the direction of the senior girl scout committee will be responsible for the bureau this year. Girls working in the bureau are also helping some in the equipment shop and thus are gaining valuable vocational experience.

The Community Relations committee urges all girl scouts to register with the Service Bureau at their first opportunity beginning next Saturday. Girl Scouts are trying to be good citizens and the Service Bureau is their way of aiding their country in this time of national emergency, the committee announces.

symptom of conqueror's smallpox is an unkillable virus known as "the spirit of nationalism." Nothing seems able to kill this spirit if it has the will to live. Genghis Khan, Alexander, Napoleon could not muster enough terror, enough force of arms to kill that spirit.

Draw a ring around the places where major incidents of anti-Nazi rebellion have flared. Despite censorship, the showing is impressive. How many hundreds of unmentioned minor—but ultimately exhausting—incidents have occurred nobody knows.

Every "incident" is doubly debilitating to Germany. First, it detracts from the war effort against Russia and Britain. Second, it takes the effort of German occupying forces to hunt down the saboteurs.

Every German soldier required to keep the peace in a conquered country is a man lost from the fighting front. Furthermore, he sometimes is a man lost from productive enterprise in Germany proper, because it has been necessary to call up older reservists to replace young fighting men needed at the Russian front.

Germany has shown no slackening of her policy of militant reprisal for sabotage and subversion. Hundreds have been shot by fir-

BEAUTY BOARD STILL TARGET

Many Critics Aim Barbs At Cosmetology Group

Reflector Bureau.

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—It is unlikely that there is in Raleigh of the state governmental setup any agency which is right now the target of so much criticism, levelled by so many critics as the State Board of Cosmetic Arts.

So fierce is the fighting within the ranks of the cosmetologists that there is every reason to believe that the row will carry over into the next session of the General Assembly.

Once it gets there, it is not at all unlikely that the entire board will come in for a thorough going-over which will result in abolition of the present form of self-regulation and the setting up of a system which will place the business (or trade or profession, as you choose to call it) directly under the State Board of Health.

Naturally he isn't saying anything open about it, but there are indications that Governor J. Melville Broughton is being importuned by so many different factions to do so many diametrically opposite things that he is getting rather sick and tired of the whole mess.

It would, accordingly, be no great surprise if he is found supporting a new setup when the next legislative session comes round. This, it should be said, is speculation based on general observation of the whole field of controversy and does not come directly from the governor or from his office.

The fight appears to involve so many different professional and personal angles as to be almost unmanageable for the outsider. The main thing that is quite obvious, is that Mrs. Gertrude Hutchinson, chairman of the board, is recipient of the most violent attacks; and that the three-member board is itself hopelessly divided—Mrs. Katherine Burgess backing the chair while Mrs. Davis the third member is opposing it.

LARGE CROWDS TO VISIT FAIR

At Least 20,000 Expected Attend Exposition

Reflector Bureau.

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—While close to half a million soldiers are maneuvering over a part of the Carolinas in all-out war games, officials are expecting something approaching a quarter-million persons—soldiers and civilians—to see an all-out attempt to give Tar Heels the best balanced State Fair in the history of the 84-year old exposition.

If, during the five days and five nights on which the gates will be open these visitors are looking for educational displays, fun and thrills, Manager J. S. Dorton said today "they'll find an abundance of everything that goes to make up a representative exposition."

It will be the fifth Fair operated under supervision of Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott and under the direct, personal management of Dr. Dorton.

As an illustration of the means Mr. Scott takes to maintain his position that "agriculture, education and industry should be given primary emphasis," the premium list for the exposition will this year reach $23,000, the highest ever by several thousand dollars.

On the other side of the picture the entertainment features, are not being overlooked.

There will be outstanding grand-

Workers Being Told Retain Their Card

Young men and women who have been working during the summer vacation period and are now preparing to return to college were cautioned in a statement by Marshall H. Barney, manager of the Rocky Mount office of the Social Security Board, to keep the same social security account number cards issued to them when they began to work and have the numbers ready for their employers whenever they return to employment. This also applies to boys and girls of grade and high schools who have been working during vacation periods.

Many a person, after securing a social security account number and working for a short time, either misplaces or loses his account card, and we are trying to impress upon each worker the fact that he needs only one account number and should keep it throughout his working lifetime.

It was emphasized that two different social security account numbers may mean smaller old-age and survivors insurance payments when the time comes to file a claim for benefits. In case anyone loses his social security account number card, a duplicate may be secured. This chance to secure a duplicate number, however, is no reason for the holder of an account number to become careless and disregard the importance of safeguarding his original number.

"In other words," Mr. Barney explained, "young people as well as workers of all ages should understand that the same social security account number a worker secures when he began work is the one he must use whenever he returns to employment. A social security account number identifies an insurance policy and upon that number a worker builds up old-age and survivors insurance credits, based on wages received."

Uncle Sam's Soldiers To Have Plenty Food

Wilmington, Oct. 11.—Enough food to serve every man, woman, and child for one entire day in practically every large city on the eastern seaboard, including New York, has been procured by Brigadier General James L. Frink, Fourth Corps Area Quartermaster, to feed the First Army of Lieutenant General A. Hugh Drummond during the Carolina maneuvers.

Allowing each person three wholesome meals, the supplies stored in Quartermaster warehouses at Wilmington and Port Jackson, S. C., would be sufficient to serve breakfast, luncheon and dinner to the entire populations of New York city, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Pittsburgh, Washington, D. C., Buffalo, Newark, Rochester, Jersey City, Syracuse, Hartford, New Haven, and Albany with enough left over for every resident of Maine and Delaware.

The huge quantities of food which General Frink has ordered purchased for the 359,000 soldiers of the First Army during their 57-day maneuvers is enough to slagger the imagination.

According to the U. S. Office of Education, the school enrollment for 1941-42 is 41,566,000.

He's never forgotten it. That's obvious when you consider Bergen's two pet philanthropies today. He doesn't call them that, and he shies from the word "charity."

Whatever you call it, the Bergen airport newly completed near Whittier is carrying on a course in instrument flying. Lasts six weeks, and costs money—but the boys who can't make the financial grade get their chance to work out the tuition, or borrow it. So far the school has turned out 27 fliers—some of them helping get bombers to England, some in the army, some flying the commercial airlines.

The other project, more than a year under way, is for student nurses. Bergen is putting between $10,000 and $15,000 a year into his foundation, expects to build it to $50,000. That all stems from medical school, and some of the girls Bergen knew around the hospitals—hard-working youngsters who could-
