ICKES ASSERTS GAS SHORTAGE NEAR AN END

Says Prospect Of Severe Situation Been Erased

PRESENT SUPPLY TOPS LAST YEAR

Improvement In Situation Credited By Ickes To Program Of Petroleum Coordinator's Office

Washington, Oct. 23. (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said today that the prospect of a severe petroleum shortage in the East, about which he warned often in recent weeks, now was virtually erased.

Gasoline supplies are now actually above last year Ickes reported. For the first time since he gloomily told last summer of possible gasless autos and homes with less heat this winter, the coordinator declared the outlook on the Atlantic seaboard now was "optimistic," but he did not say when rationing of gasoline to filling stations would be ended.

Rapid improvement in the situation was attributed by Ickes to the program of the petroleum coordinator's office, coupled with continued widespread warm weather which held down the consumption of heating oils.

The announcement said that shortly after the coordinator's program was launched last summer, petroleum stocks on the east coast were 9,000,000 barrels less than at the same time last year, but that inventories for the week ended October 18 showed "this deficit now has been reduced to 476,000 barrels" for all oils.

McLendon Defends Tobacco Company

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Tobacco anti-trust trial jurors were told today that the R. J. Reynolds Company had caused certain burley to rise in value to the "highest priced" the farm grows.

L. P. McLendon, attorney for Reynolds, declared in argument to the jury that this leaf was known as "trash" and that it "had no value" until Reynolds produced its Camel cigarette, the first to contain burley in 1913.

McLendon recited that the burley-blend cigarette achieved such popularity with the public that Reynolds' co-defendants, the Liggett & Myers and American tobacco companies, were compelled to follow Reynolds in producing burley blends.

Dead Shot McAlester, Okla.—(AP)—J. A. Brantley, nightwatchman at a lumber company near here, heard a pack of dogs yowling, picked up a rifle and stepped to the door. A moment later a timber wolf ran by. Brantley let fly and the wolf dropped. It measured 5 feet, 4 inches from nose to tail tip.

American sailors will have to do without canned asparagus during the coming fiscal year. Unfavorable labor conditions during the canning season resulted in a price rise from approximately 11 cents to 21 cents when bids were opened in July for 4,000,000 pounds.

Tobacco Still High

Despite the fact that the end of the season is nearing and much inferior tobacco is being offered daily, offerings of 1-769,626 pounds sold during the week which ended with the close of sales today, brought $530,616.24, or an official average of 31.62 cents per pound. This average was declared to have been the highest of any of the larger Eastern Carolina markets.

So far this season 2,734,640 less pounds have been sold than during the corresponding period last year, but the total money paid out this year exceeds the 1940 figure by $5,231,607.49 and the 1941 average is 13.23 cents per pound in excess of the corresponding figure for last season. That prices continue high is reflected by the fact that the quality of offerings during the past week was far below that of tobacco marketed the first of the month. Prices remain at about the season's peak.

Increased British Action Proposed In House Debate

Russia Is Bolstered By Flow Of British Goods

Lord Beaverbrook Reports On Moscow Mission

London, Oct. 23.—(AP) Lord Beaverbrook told the House of Lords today that the United States and British missions to Russia had promised Joseph Stalin to make up Russia's losses in tanks and planes in the war against Germany by shipments from their two countries.

Beaverbrook, Minister of Supply and head of the British war aid mission to Moscow, declared that Russia has lost textile, munitions and heavy machine industries of great value and compared the U. S. S. R.'s position to that of Britain after Dunkerque.

Stalin told the mission that the Germans had changed panzer tactics in the attacks on Russia by using small numbers of tanks with infantry instead of in masses, Beaverbrook said in a long review of the Moscow conference.

Beaverbrook, who recently returned from the Moscow consultations with Stalin and W. Averell Harriman, head of the American mission, disclosed that Stalin promised Great Britain raw materials from Russia to meet "many of our needs" and said the Russian leader "agreed to supply us with pitch, chrome, potash, magnesite, potassium, timber and canned salmon."

"I promised him aluminum, copper, lead, zinc, brass, phosphorus and shellac. The Americans promised oil and petrol from the United States and that was very gratifying."

"Stalin told us this war was being decided by tanks. He said it was a tank war. I asked him about aircraft, but he replied that it was essentially a tank war."

Beaverbrook said "we have made available the October quota of all things promised by us in the agreement signed in Moscow."

Jack Spain Named Party Club Head

Washington, Oct. 23.—Jack Spain, attorney and former mayor of Greenville, North Carolina, and now secretary to Honorable Herbert C. Bonner, Congressman from the First District of North Carolina, was signally honored here last night in being elected president of the North Carolina Democratic Club of the District of Columbia.

At the present time the Club has a membership of approximately 1,000 North Carolinians.

Girl Scout Leaders Meet At 6:30 Tonight

14-GIRL MM Leaders Association of the local Girl Scout Council will attend a dinner training meeting at the home of Mrs. L. R. Meadows this evening at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner and business meeting training will be given by Miss Florence Lanning, local director concerning the principles of Girl Scouting and the program fields. Mrs. R. C. Rankin, chairman of the Juliette Low Committee will be present and will present plans for National Girl Scout Week. Mrs. H. H. Duncan will give additional information about the Service Bureau and to conclude the training meeting. Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, commissioner of the Girl Scout Council will talk to leaders about the relation of the organization to the community. Mrs. Meadows is chairman of the Training Committee. She is being assisted by her committee of Mrs. Sam Underwood, Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Tittsworth.

Condemn Strikes

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Three congressmen assailed strikes in national defense industries today. Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) termed the walkouts "the most disgraceful situation that ever existed in this country."

"And the shameful part about it is that neither the executive nor the legislative branches of the government are doing anything about it," Cox told the House. "The people are beginning to wonder who is their commander in chief, Franklin Roosevelt or John L. Lewis."

Rep. Rich (R-Pa.) accused "radical labor leaders" of causing strikes. Rich said Sidney Hillman, head of the labor division of OPM, was "more concerned over his own union than over the country."

Rep. Ford (R-Calif.) said Congress should be concerned over the 17,000,000 work days which he claimed had been lost because of strikes in defense work.

POLICE GUARD STRUCK PLANT

Management States Aim to Open Michigan Plant

By The Associated Press One hundred Michigan state police this afternoon took up guard duty at approaches to the closed plant of the Great Lakes Steel Corporation after the management announced plans to resume operations.

The plant has been closed for eight days by a walkout described by company and CIO officials as a "wildcat" strike.

Strikers asked a new contract, reinstatement of their strike leaders and removal of a CIO regional official.

The strikers refused offers of CIO leaders to go to work, and union officials then suspended 16 strikers and rejected terms under which the strikers said they would resume work.

Closing the plant in suburban Detroit stopped work by 8,600 employees on defense contracts for high-velocity steel.

Management seven large steel companies today faced the prospect of strikes in their "captive" coal mines next Monday midnight, while 20,000 Alabama coal miners remained idle in a wage dispute.

The CIO-United Mine workers last night issued a formal strike call in the captive mines, renewing their demand for a union shop.

A similar demand last month caused a seven-day strike of 43,000 workers, ended by a 30-day truce arranged to permit the National Defense Mediation Board to consider the dispute.

About 21,000 of the miners live in western Pennsylvania. The captive mines are operated by the H. C. Frick Coke Company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, the Youngs and Shute and Tube Company of Bethlehem, Wheeling, Crucible and Republic Steel companies. (Continued On Page Eight)

Full Dress Debate On Conduct Of War Opened In House Of Commons With Suggestion That Britain Attack Italy, Land Raiding Parties On Continent By Night And Send Troops Into Ukraine

London, Oct. 23.—(AP) Members of the House of Commons in a war debate today suggested attacks on Italy, night landings on the continent by raiding parties and sending British troops to the Ukraine as a means of helping Russia.

Laborite Philip J. Noel-Baker, opening for the opposition in a full dress debate on the conduct of the war, declared Britain's frontier was now on the Volga and suggested that Britain's forces in the Middle East be sent to support the Russians in the Ukraine.

"This country is ready for any sacrifice to help the Russians," he declared. "The army wants to fight."

No longer the Rhine, but the Volga and Don are Britain's frontier, he said, expressing the belief that "the government's greatest mistake was not seeing the total identity of interests between our allies and ourselves."

While praising Prime Minister Churchill for refusing to discuss questions on strategy, he declared "there is deep and widespread anxiety about the war in Russia and what British forces have done to help Russia in her hour of need."

"We now have powerful forces in the Middle East," he said, "and I believe our people would be very happy if some part of these forces could be sent to support Russian armies in the Ukraine."

"While our fighters are doing a grand work here they could be better employed in Russia if we wanted to smash the power of the Luftwaffe and we must get Spitfires up against Stukas in land battles wherever we can."

Gets Equipment

Captain Arthur B. Corey today announced that the local company of the state guard has now received its uniform shirts and chevrons.

BIG AUDIENCE HEARS BRITONS

Mrs. Murrow, Capt. Bissett Appear On Program

A large and interested audience heard Mrs. Edward R. Murrow, British representative for the American organization of Bundles for Britain, and Captain A. W. LaT. Bissett of H. M. S. Formidable on a program last night at the Austin auditorium, sponsored by the local unit of Bundles for Britain.

Mrs. Murrow was high in her praise of the organization aiding Britain and declared it was filling a great need in the war-torn country. She recited numerous individual instances where some garment or article made in this country and received in Britain was received with delight. She also stated that persons receiving the articles evidenced much interest in the places from which the bundles were sent. All articles contain a tag stating the unit from which it came. Through this method, she said, Britons are learning much about this country and are becoming familiar with numerous towns and cities of this country. Mrs. Murrow paid tribute to the fine spirit shown by British women, children, the aged and hospitalized. They are carrying on in the face of hardships, she declared. Thanking Americans for what they are doing, she urged them to greater efforts. Captain Bissett, who has had extensive experience during the war related many personal experiences, but was careful not to reveal any military secrets. He, too, expressed his appreciation for the assistance being rendered and also for the friendly attitude shown by Americans. He related a recent experience in which he took part in the laying of a keel of a battleship at the Elizabeth City naval yards. He expressed the hope that as the bolts hold the keel together, the friendly attitude of the Americans will hold together. (Continued on page eight)

NEW COMMAND REVEALED FOR WESTERN USSR

General Zhukov Succeeds Marshal Timoshenko

PRAVDA PRAISES NEW COMMAND'R

Official Sources Report Moscow's Defense Line Already Tightened Following Change Sunday

Kuibyshev, Russia, Oct. 22. (Delayed) — (AP) — General Gregory K. Zhukov has supplemented Marshal Semeon Timoshenko in supreme command of the western zone, it was disclosed today, and his forces were credited already with having tightened Moscow's defense despite the admitted numerical superiority of German tanks and infantry being hurled in mass assaults at the approaches of the city.

Zhukov, chief of the Soviet general staff and commander of the western army before Moscow, was praised by Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, as a "fighting, experienced leader" and as a soldier of "immense energy."

There was no report here of a new post for Timoshenko. (After the German invasion began last June 22, Premier Stalin divided responsibility for the defense among a triumvirate of marshals—Timoshenko in the center, flanked by Voroshilov on the north, entrusted now with the defense of Leningrad, and Budenny, commanding the hard-pressed southern wing of the Red army in the Ukraine.)

Stalin announced Sunday Zhukov's new appointment and said he would have charge of defense and policing at the approaches of Moscow. At the same time Lieut. Gen. Artemiev was assigned to command the city's garrison. Nothing, however, was said of Timoshenko.

Pravda said Zhukov had served the Red army for 26 years, starting as a private, and that his "gallantry" and courage are widely known.

FRENCH TO PAY FOR SLAYINGS

Vichy, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The French people must turn over to German authorities the two slayers of Lieut. Colonel Paul Hotz, chief of the German field gendarmerie in Nantes, by midnight (5 p. m. EST) today, or 50 more Frenchmen must pay with their lives for Hotz's death.

Those are the terms of the German ultimatum upon the French as the assassination of a second German officer within 48 hours, a judicial counselor at Bordeaux, causal arrest of another 100 and raised the grim prospect of still further executions.

Fifty persons already have been put to death for the killing of the commandant, the latest of reprisals in which Nazi retaliation squads Frenchmen for the deaths of five members of the German occupation forces.

Marshal Petain himself told the nation yesterday that 150 French lives may be the penalty unless the Nantes and Bordeaux assassins are found and, in trembling voice, exhorted his people by radio to let no more harm befall France.

"The ransom is frightful," he cried. The 50 executed so far for the Nantes killing included some from the Paris region, an authorized source said, but all were killed at Nantes.

This informant explained that the hostages chosen for execution had been taken from their home districts and confined in concentration camps in western France in the region where Hotz was shot.

They were picked according to the gravity of the accusations against them, he said, with alleged Communists heading the list. All presumably died simultaneously at several different camps, he said.

U.S. Ships Sunk In Atlantic

The crosses on this map indicate where the United States freighters Bold Venture and Lehigh were torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic ocean. The Lehigh, flying the Stars and Stripes, had unloaded a cargo from New York at Bilbao, Spain, and was sailing empty off the west coast of Africa when struck. The Bold Venture, flying the flag of Panama, was attacked en route from Baltimore to England.

New Attendance Record Set By Fair Yesterday

The largest number of men, women and children ever to attend a Pitt county fair jammed and crowded the grounds yesterday afternoon and last night to set an attendance record for the local Legion-sponsored exposition.

From the front gate, through the exhibit hall and all along the midway thousands "took in" the fair, keeping the many shows and rides running at full blast until late at night. Every available parking space was filled, as well as vacant lots adjoining the grounds which had been converted into parking lots for the duration of the fair.

Fair officials are doing the utmost to cope with the dust problem and it rained on the grounds through much of the night, a sprinkler having been secured to help lay the dust. Today more shavings were being spread in an effort to help solve the problem.

All judging has been completed and winners designated with ribbons. Most of the exhibits entered in competition feature living at home and the proper and wrong way to live at home and to farm. In the Home Demonstration department Red Oak won first place with an exhibit showing a well stocked pantry of home grown food. It was entitled "When Winter Comes." Other booths were judged in the following manner: Red Bank, Farmville, Ballards, Pactus, Chico and Farmville.

In the Agriculture teachers' department, first prize was awarded to the exhibit entered by the Grimesland and Farmville schools jointly showing the right and the wrong way to live at home. Other winners were Winterville and Griffon. The winners were Winterville and Griffon, Stokes and Bethel, Winterville and Chico, Belvoir and Fountain. The work shop entered through the cooperation of all the schools also was awarded a cash prize.

The Arthur and Belvoir schools' "Canning For Defense" project won the first prize in the Home Economics division. Other winners in their order were Winterville and Griffon, Chico and Grimesland, Stokes and Bethel, Ayden and Farmville.

In the Arts department exhibits Third Street school was awarded the grand trophy for the best display. Other individual exhibits winning prizes were John Sauced's block printing, J. L. Brandt's charcoal drawing and also water colors, Larry Tucker, poster and Douglas Nelson's crayon drawing.

A booth in the exhibit hall which is attracting much attention is that offered by the local Lions club showing handwork made by blind people. The club's major project for this year is aiding the blind, in connection with the North Carolina Blind Commission.

The North Carolina Crop Improvement Association, which will hold its annual meeting here next January in conjunction with the seed exposition, also has a booth in the exhibit hall.

No Kick On Boots Mangum, Okla.—(AP)—War veteran Frank R. Baker still does his gardening and heavy chores in the boots in which he sloshed through the mud of World War I.

Line Broken By Invaders In Southwest

Bitter Fighting Reported Raging In The Streets Of Kalinin In Section Northwest Of Capital; Germans Resort To Parachute Troops As Winter Sets In With Planes Landing Tanks And Guns

(By The Associated Press) Adolf Hitler's high command, in a special communique, asserted today that Nazi columns had smashed through Moscow's outer defenses on a broad front from the southwest and west, reaching several points only 38 miles from the beleaguered capital.

Soviet dispatches said that bitter fighting was raging in the barricaded streets of Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, and that large forces of fresh Italian, Hungarian and Rumanian troops had been thrown into the Southern front battle for the vital Donets river industrial basin.

Russian correspondents said Red troops had fought off the Germans for eight days at Kalinin, with the Nazis hurling masses of men and tanks into the assault.

Now fighting is going on in the city streets, reporter Tass, the official Soviet news agency. "Anti-tank obstacles and barricades are being erected in the streets. Squares are furrowed by trenches. The struggle goes on for every inch of Soviet land—for every street, every house. Some city blocks have changed hands several times."

Reports reaching London said the Germans, handicapped by winter's first snows blanketing the Moscow front, were taking to the air with parachute troops in great numbers. German transport planes were reported landing light tanks, armored cars and small field guns behind the Soviet lines, while Stuka bombers carried out mass raids on Red army communication lines.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters said the breakthrough was made in a broad front, despite severe weather conditions. "Rain or snow by day and freezing conditions at night" prevailed over the whole battlefield, according to word received in London.

Latest Soviet military dispatches acknowledged that the Germans had scored a slight advance in the Maloyaroslavets sector, 65 miles southwest of Moscow, pushing toward the village of "V" from which they had been driven by an earlier counter-attack.

But the Russians declared they were holding fast in the critical Mozhaisk sector, 57 miles west of Moscow, halting a thrust by Nazi tanks, and that Red troops were counter-attacking heavily against the jaws of the German pincer at Orel, 200 miles south of the capital.

Watches Stolen From Local Jewelry Store

Lautares jewelry store on Evans street was robbed of five watches some time during last night. Police reported that the five watches were taken after a brick had been thrown through a front window.

No arrests had been made this afternoon, but officers are conducting an investigation although they admit having few clues to work on.

Chatham Book Club.
The Chatham Book Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Rufus Stark on Eastern street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Luther Bowling, the president, presided.

Mrs. Stark, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker, Mr. J. Con Lanier. Mr. Lanier gave a most informative talk on National Army Defense.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Stark served a sweet course with coffee, assisted by Mrs. N. S. Beard and Mrs. Harvey Clayton.

Inter Se Club.
Members of the Inter Se Book Club enjoyed a most delightful meeting with Mrs. Erskine Duff on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Marvin Blount, who was presented to the club, gave a simple and concise explanation of what National Defense Bonds represent.

Mrs. Marvin Blount presided over the meeting and introduced Mrs. A. E. Stallworth and Mrs. William Taft, who gave consecutive papers on the Rockefeller Foundation. Mrs. Stallworth's paper showed the background and organization of the foundation. She pictured the growth of the work in medical research which goes to the four corners of the world.

Mrs. Taft's paper dealt with the phase of International Health division of the Rockefeller Foundation. Full details about research and results in medicine and how we as individuals have benefited.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR Thursday, October 23, 1901

Congressman John H. Small, who has been very active in securing rural free delivery routes in his district, writes us that the three routes from Grifton will go into operation November 1. He is to be congratulated upon being able to secure an order putting these routes into effect so early, while in other sections of the state the beginning of the routes has been postponed until the first of next year.

Members of the Round Table were delightedly entertained at the home of Mrs. S. J. Everett on Tuesday afternoon. On entering the library the hostess presented Mrs. A. C. Liverman of Scotland Neck, and Mrs. C. C. Christian of Richmond, house guest of Mrs. E. B. Higgs, to the members. The president, Mrs. J. E. Winslow, presided. Books were exchanged, which was followed by a brief business session. The president then announced Mrs. H. H. Duncan, whose topic for the afternoon was "Meet Latin America."

Mrs. Duncan introduced Dr. W. A. Browne of the college, who had traveled extensively in Latin America. Dr. Browne covered his entire tour in the form of a travelogue, accompanied by colored slides thrown on a screen. His varied collection of pictures proved both interesting and entertaining.

During the social hour the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Higgs, served a delicious salad plate.

The officers of the five classes of the young people's department served fruit punch and cakes to the guests in one of the rooms which was attractively decorated in patriotic color scheme. Forming a background for the table were large American and Christian flags. Magnolia cones, ivy, and blue candles completed the decorations, which were designed by a group of the young people.

Climaxing the evening's program was a devotional period conducted by Miss Mary Lee Ernest, Baptist student secretary, who introduced Miss McConnell, wearing Chinese costume, as a returned missionary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board. Miss McConnell spoke of her work among the students of Shanghai, China, telling how the Christian youth of China give their best to God's work in that land. A quartet number "Give of Your Best to the Master," was sung by Misses Maribelle Robertson, pianist of the department, Sara Cox, Carol Lee Humphries and Dorothy Sasser.

Last Sunday afternoon a group of young people from Memorial Baptist Church conducted a religious service at the county prison camp. The young people's department, under the leadership of Mrs. J. D. Simons, has taken as regular personal service assignment, the conducting of worship services at the camp every third Sunday in each month.

Strength For The Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

TAKE PRECAUTIONS EARLY

Just before going on her vacation,
a lady discovered to her great dismay that she had put off spraying the woolen garments in her house until it was too late. She thought it was only necessary to spray them before the folks left for their vacation, but when she started the undertaking, she discovered that a number of garments had little moth holes in them. Then someone appraised her of the fact that the time to spray for moths is April, not July —before they get started, not after they have eaten holes in expensive garments.

The time to stop any evil is before it gets started. If we can get into the nest of anything wrong and destroy the eggs before they hatch out, we have saved ourselves a lot of trouble. If France and England had had the courage to stop Hitler
when he marched into the Rhineland, millions of lives would have been saved. If someone had thrown into the fire the little mass of vegetation which the Japanese beetle was first brought into this country, we would have saved ourselves
several transcontinental highways.

Stop the moth evil before the moths hatch out. Stop every evil in life before it has a chance to get under headway. The whole teaching of the Bible is that evil acts spring from desires which in our waywardness and self-indulgence
we allow to grow up like noxious weeds in the mind and spirit.

VOTE NO OR DON'T KICK

Next year the American people will pay the heaviest taxes in our history. They will pay willingly every dime that is needed for real defense. But they will resent being forced to pay now for government "luxuries" and non-essentials.

Political spending for unnecessary activities is nothing short of a disgrace. For instance, costly non-essential projects have again been given official approval. And that is done at a time when the cost of defense will be a great hardship on small incomes, no less than big, and when we are told business
cannot continue as usual,
and when all must "sacrifice."

It has been reliably estimated that the normal cost of government could be cut by a billion or more dollars a year without imperiling or eliminating any essential activity. But Congress won't move a single step in the direction of economy until the people demand it through their action at the polls. So don't kick at waste until you are ready to vote an emphatic "No" against individuals and agencies that countenance waste.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett
Washington — Strange things happen in Washington, but there is no recurrent phenomenon stranger than the facts packed into the treasury's "conscience fund."
Just 130 years ago, President

Serbs Him Right!

Madison received a letter enclosing $5 and explaining that the sender wanted to pay up what he had cheated the government out of.
Since then nearly $700,000 has rolled into Uncle Sam's coffers in just this way.

It can't be said positively yet that world conditions and the national defense effort have had any effect on these conscientious donors,
but 1941 has brought in sums running into the thousands and several have been inspired by government needs for defense funds.

A farm woman, living near Wichita, Kas., mails in a money order for $5.80, saying this is "to run the government in peace. It is not to be used for war to kill people."

A man from Milwaukee, Wis., comes up with this: "Enclosed you will find $500 I owe to our government for a period of years for income tax. Our government is very badly in need of money and my conscience (that's the way he spelled it, has been bothering me for some time. I am very sorry for the wrong
I have done and thank God I may straighten it out this way. Many thanks."

The largest contribution to the conscience fund in recent months was from a nurse who has spent many years in Peking, China, and who visits her home in Charleston, S. C., once every seven years. She sent a check for $1,678, "the same being a year's salary plus interest which I do not now want to accept."

An investigation by secret service disclosed the nurse once had worked for the government (she refused to say where or in what department). She insisted that she idled away that year and didn't really earn the salary which she returned.

The Treasury's first conscience fund receipt from a soldier in the new army in training, came from Fort Benning, Ga. It was quite a change folded in a blank sheet of paper in the sum of $4.61. There was no explanation.

Often there is no explanation.
There was the letter enclosing 24
cents with the simple, scrawled sentence: "I owe this to Uncle Sam.
A Friend." And with a $100 bill from Sioux Falls, S. D., an almost illegible line, "For taxes to the government."

From Maywood, N. J., came a money order for $6.86 from a man on WPA. "I think everybody should pay taxes," he wrote, "and the percentage amount is one per cent of my year's wages from WPA."

Another $500 came from a deathbed. A pioneer North Dakotan's last request was that his daughter send the treasury $500. For many years he had had a wheat farm in Canada, and had run his grain across the line for sale in the United States without paying duty. He did not want to die with that cheat on his conscience.

The money doesn't always come directly to the Treasury. A large part of it is sent to the President with such varying salutations as
"Dear F. D. R." and "Dear Mr.
President. Your Highness."

Where the Treasury can investigate, it does and occasionally the money goes back. An upstate New Yorker sent in $100. An investigation disclosed he was under observation in an institution for the insane. His obsession was that he owed everybody money and the $100 sent to Uncle Sam was only one of many payments he had made. The Treasury Department's check went to his wife, who was struggling to make a living for herself and a six-month-old baby.

Another Treasury check went back to an old Kansas pioneer. Although living on nothing but the old age pensions paid him and his wife, he had scraped together $20 to reimburse the government "for driftwood and hay which I sold off river land adjoining a claim I settled in Kansas in 1864."

Short Shots

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Ceremonies at the recent opening of the Glenville hydro-electric power project have served to center attention on the fact that there are approximately half a dozen such plants in western North Carolina from which the power goes to Tennessee industry—notably the Aluminum Company of America's big business at Alcoa, in the Volunteer state.

Not only that, but the big Nan-tahala dam, when completed in the next few months will likewise be used to generate power for this same Tennessee company.

In the same section are the Calderwood, the Cheat and the Santeethah dams; and here again it is into Tennessee that the power goes.
These projects have been spotlighted lately because of the great surplus over power and the power shortage which is already plaguing
the southeast and will plague it worse unless it rains before many more weeks are up.

This same drought and power
shortage have caused North Carolina to lose prospective industries of late, according to reliable reports.
There was a few concern which produces magnesium products, for instance. It had about decided that North Carolina offered every inducement to locate expansion; but in view of the likelihood of a power famine, the company decided against the move. And, as already said, if it doesn't rain, the power companies of this state are going to be hit hard from all sides; principally because they will be called on to provide juice to keep Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama defense projects running.

THE HIGH SCHOOL

To the Editor:
Please allow me space in your paper to express my views on the proposed new building at the High School.

I have the greatest respect for Mr.
Rose and all members of the faculty. I do not think that the town affords a finer man than the chairman of the School Board, Col. E.
G. Flanagan, and all members of the School Board, I believe, are my friends and I am sure that they want to do the right thing, or might I say the best thing, for the children in our community. As all good men love all children and strive to do what is best for them.

Just a few things that I would like to point out to you are: First,
we built our swimming pool in the wrong place, as everyone knows;
second, we built our armory in the wrong place, as everyone knows,
since grilling grounds are needed by every armory.

Now with all the land we have in our fair city, please let's not make another mistake by building down in a hole. If we do, we will then not have to list this as a third mistake?

We are all very proud of our fair
city and especially of our college, which we list as one of our town's greatest assets, and it affords us a great deal of pleasure to show our visitors points of interest here. We would not want them to laugh at our choice of a site for our new school building.

Do the scriptures not tell us to place a lighted candle on top of the basket instead of under it, so that it might be seen? Therefore, let's not pick out the deepest ravine to be found anywhere within the radius of miles and build in it.

I am sure that we will not be able to build for years perhaps, with this country in such a perilous condition as it is in today, which will give us plenty of time to think it over and over in order that we may not make another mistake.

Please let me say that I am for schools at all times and at almost any cost. My father was chairman of the School Board for a long period of years and his children have all tried to give their children just as much education as they could be persuaded to take; therefore I am in sympathy with the problems of the school board and their efforts to meet the local needs in building the most attractive and most adequate buildings we can afford.

The majority of people with whom I have talked want whatever buildings we plan to construct to be up where they can be seen, where air can strike them and where light will be plentiful, for God's light is the best light there is.

Next Tuesday, October 28, is voting day on this school bond issue.
If you are registered, please cast your vote for the bond issue. But, before building a new school, please let us consider these points which I have tried to bring to your attention.

Respectfully submitted,
J. C. WALDROP.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Who benefits most from purchase of Defense Savings Bonds?

A. The buyer. He has only lent his money to the government and can get it back should he need it.
His bonds will increase in value.
He is laying by future spending power against a time of need.

Q. Has labor voiced any objections to the participation of union members in pay-roll allotment
plans for the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds?

A. On the contrary, voluntary pay-roll allotment plans have been endorsed by the leadership of the
A. F. of L., the C. I. O., and the Railroad Brotherhoods, as well as by many unions at national conventions.

Note — To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States,
Washington, D. C. Also Stamps
are now on sale at retail stores.

Chapter Nine Picnic

Now as she picked up the cake from the table and started back to the house, she experienced a feeling of eagerness, which was unreasonable after all her conclusions. She found herself looking forward to the evening. She made herself believe that it was to please Ginny she had given her consent to go on the picnic.

She found Johnny seated on the porch step, with his brown head tipped back against one of the great columns and his eyes gazing up into the green, shadowy foliage of the magnolia overhead.

He had a fine face. His profile stood out clearly against the white column. He heard her step and spring to his feet.

"I'm falling under the spell of you," he said, and laughed and held out his hand for the basket which she carried.

"What spell?" But she knew. It was the sweet-scented southern air and the southern moon just rising over the distant tretops and the shell of box and the great columns of the portico. It was all this and more. The traditions which went with all this, the century of gracious living which had gone on in the house behind them. It was part of herself and she understood it and the sudden softening in her feeling toward Johnny, because he understood, made her angry with herself and him.

"The spell of the South," he answered. She said bluntly, "Don't let it get you."

Johnny Harris touched her hand. "It has me already. You know that, don't you, Sue Ellen?"

But she only laughed and moved away from him down the brick-paved walk which led to the gate. Message From Riv Sue Ellen Fairhope returned from the Sunday evening picnic at Haller Hollow and stood for a long time at her bedroom window gazing out into the November night. This evening had changed her relations with Johnny Harris. She had been unsuccessful in turning aside his determination to tell her quite frankly that he loved her. She had tried to convince him that she was engaged to Riv Moore and that they planned to marry in June, and he had stubbornly replied: "A great deal can happen between November and June. A great deal will happen to you—and to me."

"That's true," agreed Sue Ellen. "We may be in the war and that will take you halfway across the country. But as for me—nothing can change between Riv and myself."

Back at Magnolia House, Aunt Car announced that Riv had called shortly after eight and had been greatly upset because she was not at home.

Sue Ellen paused, halfway up the stairway, her hat dangling from her topcoat over her arm, her hair dark and dusky under the overhead lights, her eyes eager. After this she would be kinder to Riv. She would show everyone that Riv belonged to her. This afternoon had been a mistake and one she did not intend to repeat.

"What did he say?" she asked now. "That he must see you as soon as possible. That he had something to tell you."

It was unusual for Riv to be so insistent and she felt a slight uneasiness. Possibly her late whim had been a mistake; but after all she owed her first loyalty to him.

"He went off this afternoon with Deedora Waller," she told her aunt slowly.

"In my day an engagement meant something," Aunt Car's soft mouth tightened. "Why should Riv want to be with any other girl but you?"

"He doesn't love Deedora," she amuses him.

Aunt Car shook her head. "I don't like it. If he loves you—"

Sue Ellen smiled and turned to mount the stairs. "You forget, things are quite different now than in your day."

"Love isn't different," said Aunt Car stoutly.

Was Aunt Car right? Was love the same in every age and did she fool herself when she imagined that what Riv felt for her and what she felt for Riv was love—real love?

A nice thought for a bride-to-be, she told herself.

What had Riv wanted that was so important? Could he have decided to carry out their first plan for a December wedding? She wished that might be the reason why he wished to see her—that Riv's message might hurry up their wedding. Then she would go away from Mississippi and never hear anything more about Camp Shelby. She would never meet Johnny Harris again.

She went to bed hoping that Riv's message would be glad news, although convinced in spite of herself that it was not good news.

What could it be? A longer postponement?

She would refuse to consent to that. She would tell Riv that she could not bear to be separated from him and would persuade him to hasten instead of postpone their wedding.

She ran over in her mind the clothes she would have to buy and how they could be managed. She would call Riv in the morning. She would profit by Johnny Harris's example and announce that she would not do this or that—she would have things her way.

"Some day you will belong to me," Johnny had said. She tried to forget the words and to erase the picture of him standing with the fireglow bright on his thin face, as he told her he loved her.

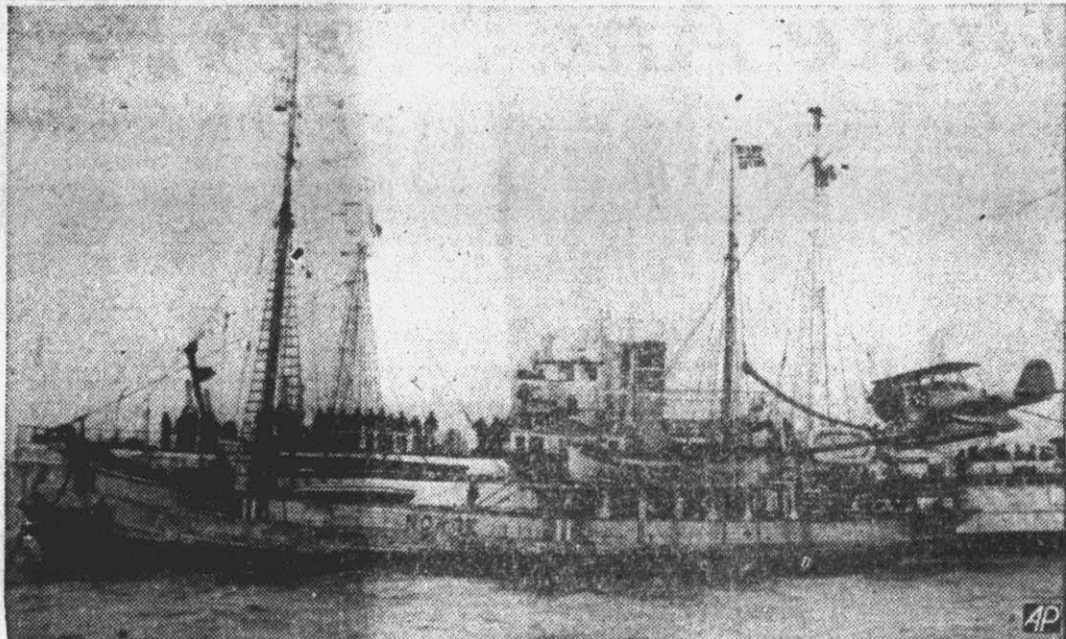

"I belong to Riv," she said to herself over and over, and tried to believe the words, only to find the thought slipping away from her and the thought Johnny repeated so insistently taking its place.

"Some day you'll belong to me." Note From Riv

She awoke with a start to find that it was late in the morning. Rain beat against her window and drifted across the faded velvet carpet.

She ran across the room in her bare feet to pull down the window, and through the broad magnolia leaves caught a glimpse of a car standing at the gate.

It was Riv's car, but before she could snatch up her housecoat and slide into slippers, she heard the car pull away.

The 60-ton Husko (foreground), a dirty, weather-beaten vessel of Norwegian registry which was seized off Greenland by the United States navy on grounds that she had been used by a German Gestapo agent for setting up a secret wireless station, enters Boston harbor in tow of the U. S. navy ship Bear (background). Members of the Husko's crew and others found aboard her line the deck of the Bear at left. A prize crew of 10 U. S. sailors was aboard the Husko which has the name "Norge" painted on her side.

Halfway down the stairs, she saw Aunt Pleas disappearing in the direction of the pantry.

At Sue Ellen's call, she raised her head. "Riv called. His father wants him in Washington immediately. He called, but you were not up, so he left a note."

She held the note in her hand and Sue Ellen ran down the winding staircase to take it from her. She carried it back to her room, sat down on the bed and tore open the envelope.

"Sue Dear," it began. "Sorry to have to rush off like this, especially as there is something you should know and I don't want to discuss it in a letter. I hope it will not interfere with our wedding in the spring. I could not lose you, darling. I love you always. Please—please do not think too badly of me if you should hear any unpleasant gossip before I can see you and explain—Riv."

The letter fell to the floor. She picked it up and re-read it. What did Riv mean? What must he explain? Could it be the something she had caught in Ginny's glance? In Johnny Harris's startling statement that eventually she would marry him?

After reading Riv's note several times, Sue Ellen forced herself to believe that she was reading all sorts of mysterious things into his letter which simply told her that he had been called to Washington to meet the Colonel. Naturally there would be things for them to discuss upon his return. Naturally he owed her an apology for going with Deedora on Sunday afternoon. She dressed and went down to breakfast. A morning telephone call brought all her doubts flocking back. Ginny called. She said: "Listen, I think you should know that Riv took Deedora Waller with him to Washington this morning."

"I know—he left a note to tell me!"

That being but a half truth, Sue Ellen hastily chanced the subject, although her thoughts were not upon Ginny's chatter about the picnic

the night before, but upon this new fact which required an explanation. Possibly it was necessary for Deedora to go to Washington and the trip was made upon the Colonel's request. She framed excuses for Riv and at the same time read into Riv's note the reason for his demand that she should not think ill of him. He had come to talk with her, for she had seen him outside in his car. She convinced Ginny, if not herself, that there was nothing unreasonable in one's fiancée acting as escort to another girl.

"Anything wrong?" asked Aunt Car, as Sue Ellen hung up the receiver and, crossing the room, sank down into a chair.

"No—only I wish Riv were not so ready to run about doing things for Deedora Waller. It causes a lot of unpleasant gossip and explanation. I trust Riv," she added hurriedly, as her aunt's face betrayed a rising uneasiness; "it's just that he is impulsive and easily influenced. When we are married things will be different."

Aunt Car neither affirmed nor denied this, but bent over her tapestry.

"After I'm married things will be different, won't they, Aunt Car?" she repeated.

"I've had no experience," reminded Aunt Car briefly. From the rear of the house came the haunting strains of an old negro spiritual. "I ain't goin' to study wash no moah," Aunt Jennie sang mournfully. Aunt Jennie's mood was always set to music.

Wake Forest, Duke And State Favored In Grid Contests

DEACONS MEET TAR HEEL BOYS

Duke Off To Play Pitt; Newberry At N.C. State

Wake Forest, Oct. 23.—This business of sitting in the favorites' position for their game with North Carolina's Tar Heels here Saturday afternoon isn't so pleasing to the Deacons of Wake Forest.

It was hard enough for the Deacons to go into Saturday's encounter without any psychological disadvantages, but when this is so, as is the case this week, there's nothing ahead but a double-tough football game, for them.

The Tar Heels aren't any too happy about their game with Wake Forest last week and no doubt, aren't relishing the memory of that 12-0 defeat handed them last year by the Deacons. From the Wake Forest side of the picture it seems that everything is adding up against the Deacons and they'll find it very hard to overcome these odds Saturday.

Durham, Oct. 23.—Duke University's football party—including 34 players—left here this morning for Pittsburgh, where the Blue Devils have an inter-sectional engagement with the Pitt Panthers on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The entourage, headed by Coach Wallace Wade, was scheduled to go by bus at 11:45 a. m. today to Henderson, entering there for the Smoky City at 1:13 p. m. The Blue Devils will arrive in Pittsburgh early Friday morning and set up their headquarters at the Hotel Schenley. They will wind-up their pre-game preparations with a light workout in Pitt stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Squad members making the trip were: Al Pisecky, Jim Smith, Bob Gantt, Ernest Beamer, Weddie Huffman, and Ralph Morgan, ends; Bob McDonough, Mike Karmazin, Paul Thompson, Clyde Redding, Thoburn Snyder, Bob Nanni and Bob Dawson, tackles; Pete Goodard, Tom Burns, Jimmy Lipscomb, Harry Troxell, Jake Poole, and Blake Fawcett, guards; Bob Barnett, Aubrey Gill and Bob Beatty, centers; and Tommy Prothro, George Bokinsky, Walter Griffith, Steve Lach, Moffat Storer, Bill Wartman, Al Hoover, Tom Davis, Bobby Rute, Winston Siegfried, Leo Long and Jim Wolfe, backs.

Injured in the Colgate game, Luther Dempsey, junior end from Greensboro, was forced to remain behind. Dempsey has been confined to Duke hospital with a serious knee strain and may not be in shape to play for another week.

Dempsey's place in the starting line-up Saturday will be occupied by Jim Smith, a Hamilton, Ohio, youngster who has played a consistent end for the Blue Devils in their first four games. Coach Wade indicated that he would stand pat on the rest of his first team, with Pisecky on the other flank; Karmazin and McDonough at tackles; Burns and Goodard at guards; Captain Barnett at center; Bokinsky at quarterback; Davis and Lach at halfbacks; and Long at full.

A Duke band of about 85 pieces will leave for Pittsburgh tomorrow to join the squad. Robert B. Fearling, director of instrumental music, will be in charge of the group.

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—North Carolina State is the overwhelming favorite against Newberry when it meets the Indians in Riddick Stadium Saturday night, but the Wolfpack expects to get a lot more than a good workout against the South Carolinians.

Billy Laval is the coach of the Newberry club and he will bring to Raleigh one of the finest small college teams in the country. The Indians hold a weight advantage over State with their two starting tackles being the largest the Wolfpack will face this season.

Newberry is a typical Laval-coached team with a flashy, deceptive attack which will keep the State defense on the alert. Laval is a pioneer in hidden ball tactics and his Indians are adept at carrying out the "House of Magic" style.

State also hopes to show an offense which will click better than it has so far this season. Coach Doc Newton has indicated that the usual starting backfield, which is composed of tested seniors, will have to show considerable improvement if it is to get the first string call

Three Cogs In Pirates Grid Eleven

Bull Roberson, above left, and Jack Young, above right, are East Carolina's two big senior tackles. These boys were regulars all last year and did much to account for the success of the Pirate eleven. They are a big factor in the great showing being made by that stand-out teacher line of 1941, both are probable starters in what will be their last game with ECTC against the Portsmouth Naval Hospital here tomorrow afternoon. Wilson Schuerholz, left, has been an outstanding member of the Pirate backfield for two years, running from tailback last year and playing at spinback this season. Schuerholz is a clutch runner as well as a power driver.

PIRATES FACE TOUGH ELEVEN

To Play Portsmouth Naval Team Friday Afternoon

Greenville football fans will have their last opportunity to see the unusual East Carolina Teachers College football team in action at home this season, when the Pirates tangle with the Portsmouth Naval Hospital here Friday afternoon. Kickoff for this final home game is set for 3 o'clock at Wright field.

Although communications as to the strength of the Naval team reaching here have been meager, it is to be expected that the Teachers will have a busy afternoon in racking up their fourth victory of the 1941 campaign. To date ECTC has decisively defeated Tusculum, the Portsmouth Naval Apprentices and WCTC.

In their first three games the East Carolina backs, working behind a solid forward wall of defense, racked up 14 touchdowns for 89 points against the one touchdown and six points for the opposing team. That opposing score came on a 49-yard pass in last week's contest with WCTC.

That impregnable line of the pirates has been dented for a net of only 41 yards in three games to date, and the Teachers have never been threatened on the ground route.

Directing the play of the East Carolina team on the field has been Quarterback Dan Waddell, senior who has been at the tiller for the Pirates for the past two years. Dan has lived up to Coach John Christenbury's faith in his ability by leading the Buccaneers to eight victories against three setbacks in two seasons so far and to three triumphs without a mistake this year.

Starters in the Pirate backfield Friday will be Waddell, Floyd Wobby, Wilson Schuerholz and Marshal Teague. Bob Miller and Don Marriott, who have been on the injured list during part of this week, will be ready for reserve action, as will Adrian Brown and Nick Zuras.

In that so far impenetrable ECTC line will be ends Billy Greene and Charlie Craven, tackles Russel Rogerson and Jerome Butler or Jack Young, guards Bill Lucas and Captain Jimmie Gianakos, and center Stuart Tripp. All of these boys have proved their outstanding ability throughout the year.

On reserve for the starting line and rated as practically as good as the starters will be ends Bill Graft, Walter Mallard and Fred Cooper, tackles Bull Roberson and Young or

High School Coach And One Of Stars

Coach Bo Farley, above left, will be depending on his Greenville Phantoms to turn back a powerful Kinston high team tomorrow night in the third Eastern conference encounter for the locals. Farley's squad has been drilling all week in preparation for the game and are out to avenge a 14-13 score of last year. H. R. Goodall, right, is one of eleven good reasons why Kinston will have to play heads-up when the kickoff comes at 8 o'clock. Goodall is a veteran at center and plans to attend UNC after graduating this year.

Butler, guards Paul Scott and Wiley Brown and center Everett Hudson.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC RENTING
On Monday, the third day of November, 1941, and at 12 o'clock noon, the undersigned Guardian will rent at public renting before the Court House door in Greenville, N. C. for the year 1942, the following described tract of land:

What is known as the John F. Crawford land, lying and being in Beaver Dam Township, Pitt County, and adjoining lands of Mrs. Jennie Nichols and others, and containing 87 acres, more or less, and of which there are 33 acres of cleared land or cultivatable land. The tobacco allotment for 1941 has been 6.7 acres and the cotton allotment has been 5 acres, and it is assumed that it will be the same for 1942.

Mrs. Novella Crawford will continue to live in the house in which she is now living for and during the year 1942 and have the use of the yard and garden.

KINSTON HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Phantoms To Meet Red Raiders At Smith Park

Coach Frank L. Mock's Kinston high school Red Devils will invade Guy Smith Park tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock, in an all out effort to crumble the mighty Greenville Phantoms into submission and ruin the locals' chances in the Eastern conference game. Outside of the Washington game, the classic of the Eastern conference, tomorrow night's hottest football encounter for both Greenville and Kinston.

Mock plans to cut loose with a terrifying passing attack that will upset the Phantom's apparatus. The aerial offensive of the Devils has already netted them a 9-0 score with Elizabeth City, winners of the conference crown last season; an easy victory over New Bern and La-Grange and a walkoff over Beaufort.

Kinston managed to conquer the Phantoms last season by a 14-13 score. This was the first Kinston victory over a GHS team in 15 seasons and gives the locals something to tussle for this year. Kinston's lineup will probably be Grady and Hood, ends; Aboud and Kilpatrick, tackles; Gardner and Carnevale, guards; Shackelford, center, and in the backfield: Branton, Oglesby, right halfback; and Moore, fullback. Moore will bark signals.

Over in Bo Farley's Greenville camp we find the G-men recovering from injuries suffered in their 13-7 victory over Tarboro last Friday night. Greenville has won over the Tigers, but lost a 6-0 heart-breaker to Goldsboro. They have also packed away three non-conference wins.

ahead of the sophomores and reserves.

Everyone is praising the State team for holding back the Wake Forest Deacons with a lone touchdown, but it has been obvious that some changes in the offense are needed. Emphasis on attack will feature most of the practice sessions in the next few weeks.

Thousands of high school seniors from all parts of the State will be on the campus Saturday and will be admitted to the game as guests of the College. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

HERE TO STUDY N. C. NOT FREE PAROLE SETUP OF LABOR ROW

S. C. Probation Head Has Its Own Jurisdictional Union Dispute

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Oct. 22.—South Carolina's paroles and probation commissioner is due here today to make a study of North Carolina's setup for those two important divisions.

The visitor is Jake Todd, who will more readily be recognized by most Tar Heels when it is added that he is the Jake Todd who for years and years has been coach of Erskine athletic teams.

The South Carolina paroles and probation commission has just been legally born. It was provided for by this year's Palmetto state legislature, but Governor Burnet Maybank did not sign the bill until late last week. He has just named Mr. Todd as head of the new unit.

According to word from Governor J. Melville Broughton and Probation Commissioner Harry Sample, Todd plans to devote most of his stay here (which is indefinite in duration, as far as information is available to the North Carolina officials) to study of the probation commission.

Mr. Sample himself went through the process of setting up a brand new unit just four years ago and seems, therefore, peculiarly well fitted to give Mr. Todd very valuable advice. Parole Commissioner Edwin Gill has served long in that capacity and ought to be able to aid Mr. Todd no little in study of the parole part of his duties.

The establishment of a probation commission in South Carolina will make Mr. Sample's job here in North Carolina just a little bit easier in some ways, harder in others.

There is the matter of supervision of North Carolina probationers who want to live somewhere in the state to the south. The new South Carolina unit will simplify that a great deal. At present the North Carolina commission is using everything from the federal probation officers down to local chiefs of police as supervisors of Tar Heel probationers.

Under the new setup there will almost certainly be complete reciprocity, with North Carolina practically turning its probationers in South Carolina over to Mr. Todd and his officers. That, of course, will be easier than having to find someone willing to take charge of any given probationer.

On the other hand with South Carolina courts putting convicted persons on probation there are going to be some who will live in North Carolina. Of these, the Tar Heel probation officers will have to assume charge.

While adoption of a probation law in South Carolina, two of North Carolina's neighbors have statewide systems—the other being Tennessee.

On the other hand Virginia and Georgia have no statewide probation setups, though in cities of both states there are local systems of conceded excellence—notably in Atlanta and in Richmond.

Mr. Sample says he has only one

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Oct. 22.—There is at least one indication from the Piedmont that North Carolina isn't altogether free of the jurisdictional labor rows which have afflicted many sections of the country with great virulence.

The Tar Heel disturbance isn't a clash of CIO and AFL affiliates, however, but a battle between two groups within the AFL—the Upholsterers International and the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Thomasville is the field of battle, with hostilities having gone to the point where representatives of the Upholsterers are alleged to have "beaten up" C. and J. officials.

The trouble arises over organization of furniture workers in Thomasville. The Carpenters and Joiners think that the Upholsterers unit should take in only those workers actually engaged in upholstery work.

Actually, it seems that the two unions sought to "divide up" the Upholsterers leaving High Point's furniture mills to the C. and J's, and expecting the latter to leave Thomasville for them. This, it seems, the C. and J's haven't done.

As a result George Walker, organizer for the Upholsterers is said to have asserted that a strike of Thomasville workers is the only solution. There are unconfirmed reports that $75,000 has been deposited in a Thomasville bank to feed strikers when they are called out.

While this storm is brewing within AFL ranks, the lost CIO unit in the Greensboro section has surrendered its charter. The TWU at the Cone mills has quit the CIO in disgust at an alleged inactivity of the national organization. This local is applying for an AFL charter.

WANTED:

The cooperation of every citizen of North Carolina in the work of the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee. The brewing industry's vigorous "Clean-Up or Close-Up" campaign is supported by every law-abiding beer retailer in the state. That means the great majority is solidly behind the work of this Committee. You can help by patronizing only those dealers who sell beer strictly according to the law.

REWARD:

Great economic benefits from beer in this state. Since 1933, more than $8,500,000 in taxes has been collected by the state, cities, towns and counties of North Carolina. This money has been used by the state for the welfare of its citizens.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The most favorable argument in today's stock market was that, while bidding timidity was pronounced, sellers were notably reluctant to unload. An early recovery attempt encountered opposition, but fractional advances were well distributed near the fourth hour. Numerous issues were unchanged or a shade in arrears. Dealings, except in a few "penny" stocks, were sluggish.

Mrs. Nelson Hunsicker of Winterville, visited her mother, Mrs. Verna Crawford, Tuesday afternoon.

New Pictures Shown At Art Gallery Here

The new show opening at the local WPA Art Gallery today is a group of water colors done by artists from many sections of the United States, localities as far apart as California, Arizona, New York, Minnesota, and Ohio being represented in the list. And the subjects of the paintings are as varied as their locale—"Jersey Lighthouse," "Rag Man's Horse," "Texas Revere," "Seasorbill Express," "Evening Mist" and "Rosalia," to quote only a few. Along with the water colors there are several paintings done in tempera and gouache, and one very colorful presentation of a "Copper Camp Road" done in oil on paper, rather than on canvas that is ordinarily used by artists who paint in oils. Gallery hours are from 2 to 6 p. m., Mondays through Fridays; 7 to 9 p. m., on Tuesdays. There is never any charge for admission. The gallery director will be glad to arrange for groups from schools or other organizations in the community to come in at morning hours for special study of this exhibit. It is one not to be missed, and the general public is cordially invited to come in and enjoy it while it is in our local gallery.

Alabama coal mine operators met last night with representatives of the CIO-United Mine Workers for a discussion of the union's demands: an increase of 40 cents a day above the present basic wage of $5.50, paid vacations, and changes in the methods of computing coal weight loss because of washing operations.

The Defense Mediation Board had recommended a wage increase of 25 cents a day, retroactive to May 1, with an additional 15-cent increase to be granted when conditions warrant.

Students Of College Present Play Oct. 31

The dramatics program at East Carolina Teachers College this year, which has already begun, with a cast at work on the melodrama "On the Bridge at Midnight," is being planned to give even more students a chance to participate than last year, when something like three hundred took part in plays in various capacities. The melodrama will be presented on October 31. It is being directed by Miss Lena Ellis, adviser to the Chi Pi Players, and has a cast composed of Hazel Willford, Virginia Cook and Sidney Johnson of Greenville, Rita Mesick and Donald Perry of Washington, Eugenia Marshall of Rocky Mount, Grace Johnson of Kinston, Charles Marks of Whitakers, Annie Sue Perry of Merry Hill, Martha Wheelers of Louisville, Lois Sessoms of Ashokle, and Charles Cushman of Fayetteville.

Sambo," will be performed in January through the joint efforts of the Chi Pi Players and the Greenville branch of the A. A. U. W., which last year brought the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre to Greenville. The cast for this will be drawn largely from students planning to teach in the elementary school, to give them the experience in the production of a drama for children.

A faculty-student production of Isben's "Doll's House" will be sponsored by the Chi Pi Players for two performances in late February.

The YWCA-YMC Easter pageant drama "Victory Over Death," given for the first time last Eastern, will again be one of the outstanding productions of the year. It will come on April 5 and 6.

According to the present plan, the senior play, the "First Lady" by Katherine Dayton and George Kauffman, scheduled for May 15 and 16, will close the year.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Million of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 million of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels. Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, usually by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
