Miss Vernie Lang Jones of Farmville, was a Greenville visitor today.

Miss Rosalie Brown has returned from Newport News, Va.

Mrs. A. D. McPhay of Washington, was here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Vincent have returned from Denver, Colo., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Warren.

Engagement Announced. Mr. and Mrs. William Hyman Ricks announce the engagement of their daughter, Inopene, to Mr. Carl Edwin Veazy of Wilmington, North Carolina. The wedding will take place in February.

Fidels Class To Meet. The Fidels Class of Memorial Baptist Church will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock with Mrs. H. L. Andrews on Fifth street.

Basketball Game. Greenville's Junior High basketball team will play the Kinston Junior High team tonight at seven o'clock in the high school auditorium. After the Junior High game the Senior High will play Kinston's Senior High.

Stokes Book Club Meets. The Jane Austen Book Club of Stokes met with Mrs. W. C. Latham on Thursday afternoon, January 15. After a short business session, Mrs. T. G. Hainlight, Sr., took charge of the program. She gave a very interesting talk on her travels in Europe just before the beginning of the war. She stressed the quietness and dignity of London, the quaintness of Belgium and Holland, and the music and beauty of Paris.

During the social hour the hostess served a delicious sweet course in the colors of red, white and blue. Those present included Mrs. Joe Tyson, as a guest, and the following members: Mesdames T. G. Hainlight, Sr., W. E. Cherry, G. H. Roebuck, Sr., J. A. Womble, J. S. Gray, W. C. Congleton, W. P. Stokes, W. C. Latham and Miss Kate Roebuck.

Training School P. T. A. Meets. The Parent-Teacher Association Training school held its regular meeting in the school auditorium on Wednesday, January 14. Mrs. W. P. Young, the president, presented Miss Hazel Elsom and a group of Girl Scouts who sang for us "God Bless America" and "America the Beautiful."

Mrs. Young introduced Rev. W. A. Ryan, who spoke in behalf of the Red Cross. He said it is only the first chapter of its drive that has just closed and that some have not yet contributed to this cause. Not only are we asked to conserve old paper blades, tin cans, paper and other things which may be used for defense, and to provide new knitted garments, clothes and food, but we are also asked for gifts of money for medical supplies and many other needs. Time, talent, money, and goods are needed by the Red Cross.

Mrs. Rose then spoke briefly concerning civilian defense which he said is a non-spectacular thing. He urged parents and teachers to stay where they are and to do their jobs better than ever before placing special emphasis on maintaining good health for themselves and their families. He suggested that spare time be spent in attending home-nursing and first-aid courses. The importance of keeping a united point of view and a proper sense of perspective was stressed.

The president presided over the business meeting. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A New Year's card from the district director was read by the secretary, Mrs. Spruill Spain.

Miss Nulken reported for the Welfare committee that twenty-three children need attention to their throats and others need attention to their eyes. She made a motion that the Welfare committee be made a rotating committee of three, with one new member going on each year and with each member serving three years. That one member be appointed immediately to take the place of the member who will go off the committee next year, in order that this new member may be learning the work. The motion was carried.

The meeting was adjourned until Wednesday, February 11. —Reported.

Garden Club Meets.
The Greenville Garden Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Woman's Club Friday, January 16.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. M. Garrett, Mrs. James T. Little presided. Mrs. Little, as chairman of the Christmas Show, which was held in the Woman's Club December 5 and 6, read a full and most interesting account of the show. Mrs. Little quoted Mrs. Bennett of Rocky Mount, a visitor at the show, as saying that the Greenville Christmas Show was the best she ever attended.

The Garden Club gave Mrs. Little and her committee a rising vote of thanks for their splendid work.

Mrs. S. M. Crisp introduced the guest speakers, Mrs. T. F. Wilkinson and Mrs. James Coggins of Cary. The subject of Mrs. Wilkinson's talk was "Planting and Harvesting Gourds." Her talk was interesting and instructive. There was an exhibition hard shell and soft shell gourds of all sizes and shapes and colors. Mrs. Wilkinson recommended a gourd project as a year round hobby.

Stuart McArthur of Rocky Mount, was home Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Davis and son had dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans of the Red Oak community.

Mrs. Richard Nichols and daughters visited Mr. H. J. Mills and others in the community Saturday.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
Tuesday, January 20, 1902

The dry spell got all wet up today. The Italian band left Monday evening for Kingston.

It became so dark part of today that lamps had to be lighted in several places.

Miss Annie Kitchen of Scotland Neck, came in Monday evening to visit Miss Rosalind Rountree.

The first of the slot machine cases was tried in court Monday afternoon and the jury returned a verdict of guilty against the defendants. We hope this means that the slot machines must go out of Greenville.

This is the glorious season of the year when you wear an overcoat one day, a linen duster the second, a porous plaster the third and a doctor's bill the fourth.

Practice Student in Goldsboro. For the first time since its beginning East Carolina Teachers College will have one of its students practice teaching in the Goldsboro high school, Miss Bessie Anderson, commerce and mathematics major, having left this morning for Goldsboro with Miss Zita Bellamy, college supervisor of commerce practice teaching.

Miss Anderson will teach the five classes previously taught by Jerome Donaldson, a 1941 graduate, who has been called to the Navy and who leaves on January 22 for a period of training on an old battleship in New York.

AN APPRECIATION
The War Fund drive is now complete. And the work was so well done. This success has crowned our efforts. And Victory has been won.

This did not come as if by chance. For such cannot be done; It came from hard and arduous toil On the part of every one.

All of us had a part to play. When the Zero hour was known. And hundreds of men and women Battled, as for their own.

Day by day were advances made. In spite of wind and weather. And complete success has been achieved. By pulling well together.

To all of you who had a share In measure great or small, My heartfelt thanks go out right now. My thanks—to one and all.

BELL ARTHUR NEWS

Mrs. Earl Hemby and Mrs. Roy Nichols were hostesses to the Missionary Society Saturday, at the home of the latter.

Both circles met together. Twenty-six members and three visitors were present. Mrs. Annie Flanagan, leader of Circle 1, conducted the devotional, and Mrs. G. T. Tyson presented several chapters on the stewardship study. Mrs. H. H. Settle is a very effective speaker, presenting in a very effective manner the two great programs being launched now.

"The Emergency Million" and a five-year program of advance with special emphasis on efforts to reach the millions of unchurched in our land. After the business, a most enjoyable social hour was enjoyed, during which the hostesses served a delicious sweet course.

Stuart McArthur of Rocky Mount, was home Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Davis and son had dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans of the Red Oak community.

Army vs. Navy. Miss Buchanan's home room has divided up into two teams, Army and Navy. The teams will race to see which team can buy the most Defense Stamps. Mary Elizabeth Austin is captain of the Army team, while Frances Kittrell leads the Navy.

Student Council. The student council met last night in room 21. They discussed the possibility of familiarizing the teachers with the council and its work. It was decided that the beginning of next year would be the best time for this movement.

The home room representatives were asked to get a vote from their home room if the students wanted any more movies this year. "That Certain Age" cannot be had by the council and as it was the students' choice they wish to know if the pupils will attend other pictures.

Ten 10c and two 25c Savings Stamps will be given to the home room representatives to sell in their home rooms.

Go-Ahead Flashed For County Fairs

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The North Carolina Association of Agricultural Fairs yesterday elected Howard Brantley of Spring Hope, president; Norman Y. Chambliss of Rocky Mount and Waldo C. Cheek of Ashboro, vice presidents; and W. H. Dunn of Wilson, renamed secretary-treasurer.

Governor Broughton gave the State Fair and county fairs a "go ahead" signal for 1942 by announcing that he believed the expositions should continue despite the war.

The fairs, he said, do a national and state service by giving growers an opportunity to display their agricultural products.

His views were shared by W. Kerr Scott, North Carolina commissioner of agriculture, and Thad Eure, secretary of state.

May Secure Funds To Purchase Seed

The emergency crop and feed loans are now available to farmers in Pitt county who are interested in securing such loans for 1942.

Application for these loans are being taken in the Agricultural building at Greenville. They may be secured on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 8:30 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

Anyone interested should make application as soon as possible so as to avoid delay in payment.

Money will be loaned to meet the applicant's necessary cash needs for preparing and cultivating his crops or for purchasing or producing feed for livestock.

Borrowers who obtain loans for production of cash crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crops financed and, in case of loans for the purchasing of feed for livestock, a first lien on the livestock to be fed.

HELD HERE ON CHECK CHARGE

Chief Clark Says that Checks Apparently Stolen

A young Fayetteville man identified as W. C. Spears, about 24 years of age, was taken in custody by Greenville police today and is being held pending further investigation in connection with several checks drawn on the Atlantic Greyhound Company and allegedly stolen, possibly from the Fayetteville post office, which were found on him.

U.S. Sub Gets 3 Enemy Ships

The Navy announced in Washington that a United States submarine had sunk three enemy merchant ships off Tokyo bay (wireless). A number of days previously, Japs had said one of their ships had been torpedoed within 100 miles of Tokyo.

Spears, who was married in November and whose wife also is in Greenville, according to Chief Clark, went to the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company this morning and offered one of the several checks for collection. The teller, asking for identification, was shown several more checks and was told by Spears that he worked for the Greyhound Company and that he had other checks to deliver to Greyhound employees. The teller conferred with the cashier and payment was refused.

Spears then allegedly went to a local department store, made a purchase and tendered a check in payment. After giving the man the change store officials checked up on the check and found that it was one of many stolen, presumably from the mails.

Officers were notified and given a description of the man, who was soon "picked up" on the streets.

Among the several checks drawn on and signed by the Greyhound Company was one for $300 made out to the Spartan Bus Company of Spartanburg, S. C.

Preliminary Work On Drive Started

E. L. Hinton, consultant engineer, Typhus Control unit, State Board of Health, arrived this morning and with the assistance of J. T. Welch, city sanitarian, immediately began a ven stoppage survey in the business area of the city.

The matter of this survey was presented to the city officials about two weeks ago by the local health officer, Dr. Ennett, and the city officials approved the survey.

Vent stoppage, or stopping up rat holes, is an important step in a rat control program and it is hoped that the business men of the city will give full cooperation to Mr. Hinton in his work.

Course Is Open In Sheet Metal Work

If there are sufficient people interested in training as airplane sheet metal workers, the local Defense Advisory committee will request the establishment of a course of this kind in Greenville. The Glen L. Martin Company in Baltimore and other airplane builders throughout the country are in need of trained and untrained workers. North Carolina is helping to supply trained workers in this field wherever possible and several courses are already under way.

Greenville may be able to secure such a course if enough local people desire the training.

J. H. Rose, Civilian Defense head, has asked the committee to consider the course with a view to offsetting unemployment caused by closing or curtailment of many normal business activities in this area due to the defense program. E. M. Burris, Arnold Barwick and Wallace Bourne composing the committee, are ready to act as soon as the need becomes evident. All persons interested in learning airplane sheet metal work, whether they have previous sheet metal experience or not, should contact one of these men, or call the U. S. Employment office, Dial 2531, between 8:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Big Japanese Toll Bagged By Dutch

London, Jan. 20.—(AP)—An official summary credited the East Indies' defenders today with having sunk or destroyed two Japanese cruisers, four destroyers, 11 transports, three tankers, one merchantman, two lighters or invasion barges and one other vessel from December 13 to January 16.

The Netherlands Government Information Bureau, which issued the figures, said they were based on Indies communications.

It said three Japanese cruisers, three transports, one aircraft carrier and one other ship had been heavily damaged and two other transports possibly damaged.

To Hold Gas Price At Nov. 7th Level

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Retail dealers in all grades of gasoline received notice from price administrators, Leon Henderson, today that their prices must remain at or below the level of last November 7, or a price ceiling will be imposed.

The warning was contained in a general letter to producers, refiners and distributors of petroleum products clarifying price questions on petroleum and a list of specified petroleum products which temporarily are pegged at the November 7 level.

While gasoline sold at service stations, curbside pumps, marine service stations and other retail outlets was not formally included in the list of affected products, Henderson's letter said:

"It must be understood, however, that these prices should remain substantially at or below November 7 levels. If they do not, a formal ceiling order will be promulgated placing them under full control."

NO TIME FOR LOVE

By WATKINS E. WRIGHT

Chapter 18 Divinely Happy

The time flew. Rod looked at his watch, and was amazed to see how late it was.

"Two nights of being up late is a record for me," he said. "I'm supposed to retire early and get up ditto." He drew Lavinia out to the porch. "I'd like to dance with you until dawn—but the bunk in which I tuck myself is calling."

"It's been fun, hasn't it?" said Lavinia.

"More than that," said Rod softly. "It's been beautiful. You're a wonderful girl, Lavinia. And I've enjoyed the evening thoroughly. Thank you from the bottom of my heart."

"I'll walk you to the edge of the lawn," Lavinia said.

"Careful of those fragile slippers!" Rod cautioned. He looked down at the girl beside him. "I thought the crimson gown you wore the night I met you was extremely becoming—but this yellow one is even more so."

"Thanks!" Lavinia was pleased. "It's nice that you notice the things I wear. Lots of men don't, you know."

"They moved down the steps, and across the lawn. Presently, screened by a hedge, they stood looking out across the moonlit water.

"How long's your vacation to be?" Rod asked.

"I'm given two weeks with pay," said Lavinia, "and an optional week without pay. I've been here eight days, I think."

"Are you going to take the optional week?"

"I hadn't planned to, no. I'm a practical person, as you know—and a week without pay doesn't appeal to me." Lavinia waited a second or two, and then asked: "How long is your vacation?"

"That's indefinite," Rod answered. "So much depends on—"

He stopped short. "When do we have another lesson in bridge?" he asked. Then, grinning, he said: "You'll probably be rushed, after the sensation you made tonight. Men waiting to dance with you—have you for a partner at bridge, and all that!"

"I doubt it," said Lavinia.

"Anyway, you won't neglect me entirely, will you?"

"Of course not."

Silence. Two attractive people standing there, looking out to sea—a little tense, not knowing just why.

"Lavinia."

"Yes, Rod?"

"You are sweet."

"Thank you. And I remind you of your cousin, Elaine, over in England. Yes, I know."

"Surely you don't think that's why I have kept on seeing you, and missing you when you were not near?"

"Sometimes," said Lavinia quite simply. "I don't know just what to think. Sometimes I get a little mixed up. Sometimes I even wish I hadn't come on this vacation."

"Why?"

"I don't know. Please don't ask me. Let's not talk about it any more."

And then it happened.

The Kiss

Lavinia was in Rod's arms. Rod was kissing her, whispering endearments against her mouth. And Lavinia was clinging to him, giving him kiss for kiss—thrilled, divinely happy. So this was love! So this was the way it happened—sweeping you off your feet, making you forget everything else. This is the way it felt when you loved a man—when he kissed you. She wanted to laugh. She wanted to cry! Dinosauria and Dinotherium—when love was in the world! Planning to die in lost cities and shoot lions—when men like Roderick Elliott lived and breathed, and held you in their arms!

"Rod—darling," Lavinia said.

Then as quickly as he had caught her to him, Rod released her. He stepped back, brushed his hand across his eyes. It was almost as though he had been in a trance and had been suddenly shocked out of it—shocked back into consciousness again.

"I shouldn't have done that!" he said a little wildly.

"But Rod, I—I—"

"I had no right. Forgive me, Lavinia—please. Forget that I was so so—thoughtless."

Lavinia stared at him.

"But there's nothing to forgive, Rod," she said.

Rod looked at her, distress in his every feature.

"Good-night, Lavinia," he said. "And—God bless you."

He then turned and strode off into the night.

Lavinia, left alone, stood like one turned to stone. This couldn't be happening to her. It couldn't. The first kiss she had ever responded to—the first time she had realized what a man's love could really mean to a woman—and now Rod asked forgiveness for having kissed her, asked her to forget how thoughtless he had been. It didn't make sense. Nothing made sense any more. Rod, taking her in his arms, kissing her, holding her close, convincing her of his love, and then—and then—

She felt horribly humiliated and ashamed. She had been an utter fool. Laughing at romance all her life, and then falling head over heels for the first man who acted romantically toward her. "Oh, you fool, you fool!" she said half aloud.

It took her several minutes to get hold of herself. Then, trying to look as though nothing had happened to her, she went back to the Inn. She found a chair upon the porch and sank down in it. It was as though the bottom had dropped out of everything. It was as though she had been blissfully sailing along high up in the air, and then had fallen. It was horrible. It was heartbreaking.

Too Gay

She was still sitting there upon the porch half an hour later when Pat found her.

"Hello!" he said. "Now that Mr. Elliott's departed, how about giving some of the rest of us a chance?"

"Lavinia looked up at him, forcing herself to smile.

"Meaning you are actually willing to risk dancing with me again?" she said.

"Meaning," said Pat, "that there's no risk whatsoever. It was all my fault. I was trying to show off that other time—convince you of my ability to create steps."

"That's very generous of you, taking the blame like that," said Lavinia. "But I was pretty terrible, and know it." She hesitated a moment. She fought back the longing to cry. She thought of her wounded pride. "Very well," she finally went on. "I'll have a waltz with you. Later, perhaps, you can teach me some of those impressive steps of yours."

"I'd love to do that!" said Pat as though he really meant it.

They went back to the ballroom. And soon they were dancing. Lavinia threw back her head and chattered away like a magpie. No one was going to suspect her of having a broken heart if she could help it. And the way to keep from knowing the horrible truth was to be gay—dance—sing—laugh—chatter. Even take a cocktail now and then.

"Would you join me in a cocktail at the bar?" she said to Pat.

"You bet I would," said Pat. "Only you are joining me."

In the bar they were joined by the young man who had urged Pat to introduce him to Lavinia. He was introduced to her now. He asked for a dance. Lavinia accepted.

"Didn't you hear about me?" she said, when they were dancing.

"What do you mean?" he wanted to know.

"Didn't you hear about how I was a dud at bridge and a terror at dancing?"

The man shook his head. "I'm afraid I'm a bad listener," he said. "I'd rather use my eyes. And I saw that you were not a terror at dancing." He tightened the arm that was about Lavinia's waist. "I like the way you waltz."

"You're not bad yourself!" said Lavinia.

Other men danced with her. One o'clock came. Two o'clock. Lavinia danced on and on. It wasn't until the orchestra stopped that Lavinia realized the lateness of the hour. She was suddenly tired, and let down.

"If I don't get some sleep," she said to the man with her, "I shall be a wreck."

Aubrey Williams Leads Youth Workers

Learning a Job By Doing It

RALEIGH — (Special) — Every thirty days North Carolina NYA supplies 997 of the national total of 36,400 shop-trained NYA youth who join the battle of production behind the men behind U. S. guns, according to a report just made public by Aubrey Williams, administrator of the National Youth Administration. "Under the defense program the NYA makes available practical shop experience to youth between 17 and 24 years of age," the report states. "Emphasis is placed on preparation of workers to do the jobs required in ship building, aviation, machine tools and the mechanized branches of the armed forces. Young men are groomed for war production jobs by doing similar jobs on NYA projects. From February 1, 1941, to December 1, 1941, a total of 8,245 North Carolina youth have gone from NYA projects to jobs in private industry." The report indicates a complete streamlining of the NYA program throughout the country with emphasis on quick basic training along lines where a scarcity of defense workers may be expected in the immediate future. "According to Administrator Williams, a grand total of 374,451 youth went from the NYA program to jobs in private industry from February to December of this year. Total number of youth at present employed nationally in NYA work experience shops and resident centers is 242,000.

Greenville Teams To Take On Kinston Fives Tonight

PROGRAM SET START AT 7:00

Both Senior And Junior Teams To See Action

Tonight in the GHS auditorium at 7 o'clock Kinston's junior and senior teams and Greenville's two Phantom teams will clash. Every year the Red Devils provide stiff opposition for the Phantoms on the hardwood, and certainly this year is expected to be no exception.

After dropping three games the locals landed in the win column by sweeping over Elizabeth City by a score of 48-14. Last Friday night the Phantoms came back from Tarboro holding a 17-8 victory, after a rough-and-tumble game with the Serpents.

Coach Farley's starting combination for tonight's senior tilt will be Gene Johnson and Hubert Musselwhite as guards; Larry Brown and John Spearman as forwards; and Lanky Troy Riddle at the center position. The Phantoms have a capable supply of reserves to replace the starters. Among these will be James and Leonard Briley; Bill Turner, John Horn, Henry Andrews and Dennis Bailey.

Local fans will be keeping their eyes on Troy Riddle and Larry Brown, who so far are offensive standouts for the locals this season. Riddle has scored 38 points in five games.

No reports have been received on Kinston's previous scores or players, but expectations are that they will bring a good team.

Gehring Closes Career As Player

Detroit, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Charley Gehring, the distinguished Detroit Tiger infielder, finally has reached the end of the baseball trail as an active player.

With the signing of a contract as coach he brought to an end a 16-year major league career on second base that had few parallels.

For the last three seasons his back troubled him and it has taken him longer to get into condition. The strain of years of fielding an amazing amount of territory began to take its toll. Last year his batting average at the plate fell to .220 as compared to a life-time mark of .321.

Last week the Detroit management, in announcing the 1942 roster, omitted Gehring's name, but left the way open for him to remain as coach. Yesterday Gehring, as he has done for years past, was the first to sign a contract, accepting the club's offer.

Gehring, who will be 39 years old, may become a Tiger regular in 1942.

PACIFIC SPORT NOT CURTAIL'D

Even Expansion Seen For Present War-Time Aim

By RUSSELL NEWLAND
San Francisco, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Expansion, rather than curtailment, of college athletics is the present wartime program of schools on the Pacific slope, a declared danger zone already vitally affected by blackouts, air raid alarms and military alertness.

The picture may change by next football season but at this time the emphasis is on increased sports ac-

To Meet In All-Important Contest at Hill Tonight

Chapel Hill, Jan. 20.—Carolina and N. C. State will clash here tonight in the first of two Big Five basketball games scheduled for this week.

A freshman contest starting at 7 o'clock will precede the varsity encounter scheduled to begin at 8:30. In the only other Big Five tilt on this week's slate, Duke will play host to Wake Forest Saturday.

Tonight's feature here will pit State's high-scoring machine against a Carolina quint adept in speedy ball-handling and tight defense. Particular interest will be attracted by the tussle at the center spot between the Terrors' Bones McKinney, who has scored 112 points in seven games this season, and Carolina's Captain Bob Rose sparkling of the Phantoms' attack.

State will be out to avenge the one-sided defeat suffered last year at Carolina's hands. The Terrors, presenting an improved team, will enter the fray bolstered by a four-game winning streak. They also boast of an undefeated record in Southern Conference competition.

In its two Big Five starts this season, the Phantoms displayed a versatile brand of court play to defeat Davidson 37-22 and Wake Forest 51-30. The Terrors, in their debut appearance, overwhelmed Davidson 71-48.

State's undefeated freshman team will meet a real test in the preliminary. Carolina has a strong fresh quint and is due to give the tchlets a stiff battle.

activities, especially in an intramural sense.

Spring and early summer intercollegiate schedules, arranged about the time the Japs were setting fire to the Pacific, will be carried out, barring new emergencies. Physical fitness is the keynote and the military services regarded it on the basis of the more the better.

The University of California is considering returning to compulsory physical education. Another suggestion is to retain the voluntary program but encourage it by increasing credits for participation.

The entire sports program will be carried through, at least to the May 31 budget set-up, and the future depends entirely on the 1942 football receipts. Some 3,000 students engage in intramural sports and approximately 1,600 athletes are in intercollegiate competition during the school year.

Carole Lombard's Body Recovered From Plane

Wrapped in a blanket, the body of Carole Lombard, the moving picture actress and wife of Clark Gable, is lowered down the steep, snow-covered side of the mountain near Las Vegas, Nev., into which a transport plane crashed with her and 21 others aboard. All were killed. Wispes of blonde hair helped the rescue workers identify Miss Lombard's body.

The University of Southern California's trend is toward increased minor sports activity and a mass physical education program. The University of California at Los Angeles is proceeding along similar lines as are Washington State College and the University of Idaho.

Football Coach Edwin "Babe" Horrell of U. C. L. A., looks for a huge spring turnout in keeping with Army and Navy recommendations of the sport as a developer of contact fitness. Idaho track coach Mike Ryan has a standing invitation to all men, athletes or not, to work out with the track and field teams there.

The Universities of Washington and Oregon and Oregon State College, Rose Bowl football champion, contemplate no changes. There is a possibility Oregon State will make physical education a compulsory four-year course.

Major independent colleges as well as the bulk of the minor schools are carrying out programs of normal tempo. Star athletes in numbers are either in the military service or on the brink.

FIRMER ALLIED STAND SOUGHT

Australia Joins China In Asking For Action

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin expressed hope today that China's representations, "added to our own will result in the British government becoming aware of the intense gravity of the Pacific situation."

Commenting on a statement by Sun Fo—son of Sun Yet-Sen, founder of the Chinese republic—that China might make a separate peace with Japan if the Allies did not take a more positive line, Curtin said: "If China sued for a separate peace it would completely end our chances of Russian participation in the Pacific."

Minneapolis, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Huh Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, declared in an interview today that it was inconceivable that China might make a separate peace with Japan.

He was commenting on statements credited to Sun Fo, son of Sun Yet-Sen, founder of the Chinese republic, that China might make a separate peace with Japan if the Allies did not take a more positive line in the Far East.

The ambassador labeled the statement "impatient and impetuous." Dissatisfied voices in China over the defensive type of war being fought by the Allies in the Far East are but the natural reaction of a people who have been fighting for five years, he added, "do not reflect any unfriendliness."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Ralls negotiated another mild recovery excursion in today's stock market but many leaders in other groups were side-tracked after a fairly good start.

Gains, running to a point or so for favorites in the afternoon, were shaved in many cases later. While fractional advances were well distributed at the close, numerous pivots were a trifle under water or at a standstill.

Coleman L. Blease Dies In Columbia
Columbia, S. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Coleman L. Blease, 73, who as governor issued nearly 3,000 pardons and as U. S. senator was unrelentingly opposed to the League of Nations, died last night.

From 1890 to 1938 Blease was a perennial candidate for public office. He often said that he was elected to more posts than any other man of his time, but his political enemies said he was defeated more than any other man.

Governor for two two-year terms until 1915, his free use of pardon power brought him national-wide notoriety. One of the last acts of his administration was a blanket pardon for many hundreds of persons free on parole.

As senator he told his colleagues with reference to the pardons, particularly those given negroes, that "they were poor and helpless, with no one to speak for them, no money to hire lawyers, no money to circulate petitions, no money to have friends come into the governor's office and make appeals for them. Some of them served for years and years for the very smallest offenses."

He served in that office from 1925 to 1931.

Final Rites Held For Griffon Man
Patrick D. McCotter died at his home in Griffon yesterday morning at about 4 o'clock. Death was caused by a heart attack. Mr. McCotter had apparently been in good health and death was a shock to the entire community.

Mr. McCotter was 36 years old. He was a son of the late Jacob and Myrtle Cox McCotter. He was a life-time resident of Griffon. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sallie Rose McCotter, one daughter, Betty; two brothers, Robert B. and Dorman McCotter of Griffon and Mrs. Lucille Wilson of Tarboro.

Funeral services were held from the home today.

Defenders of the Atlantic Seaboard on the Job

Protection for military and civilian centers on the Atlantic seaboard of the United States is being given around the clock by U. S. army coast artillery units manning a wide variety of arms. Camouflage hides the six-inch gun and crew at top, or left, located somewhere along the coast. Fur caps and heavy dress are worn by soldiers at northern-most points (upper right). Constant drill is the daily routine of the crew of the three-inch anti-aircraft gun at lower left. Sand-bagged barricades protect the 30-calibre anti-aircraft machine gun crew (lower right) at another coastal point.

Army Fliers Lost
Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A medium army bomber carried three fliers to their deaths in a crash a mile from its McChord Field base yesterday. The plane burned.

Transient Facing Charge Of Murder
Smithfield, N. C., Jan. 20 (AP)—A formal charge of first degree murder was lodged today against a transient who, police said, confessed to the hammer-slaying of a Salvation Army supervisor who fed and clothed him.

The warrant was sworn out this morning after a hearing by Mayor W. J. Huntley of Smithfield in the death of Mrs. Bessie Brewer, 46, who was beaten to death while she was eating dinner at her home yesterday.

The transient surrendered to Raleigh police late yesterday afternoon. Detective Sergeants O. C. Jordan and H. L. Peebles said he identified himself as Joseph James Ellis, 23, of Jersey City, N. J.

Civic Club Hears Rev. R. L. Landeck
Rev. Robert L. Landeck, pastor of the Greenville Lutheran church, was guest speaker at last night's meeting of the Rotary club. Rev. Landeck spoke on the subject "Pastor Looks at Life."

"Pastors are ambassadors of God and it is their business to teach people the word of God," Rev. Landeck said. He pointed out that ministers are in contact with the problems of life which confront people today and that the ministers have two tools to work with, the word of God and also common sense.

The fact that Christianity does work is proved by the lives of people who have given Christianity an opportunity to affect their daily living. Rev. Landeck declared. The pastor and the church have the common objective of helping people live Christian lives even during times like these we are now experiencing, he concluded.

Maynard Fletcher, member of the Washington club, was a guest at the meeting. Other guests were Rev. W. A. Ryan, Jack Spain, R. V. Keel, Greenville; Dr. Peck, Raleigh; L. C. Reid, Cheraw, S. C.; and John T. Richardson, Raleigh.

Rites Held Today For Mrs. Garner, 76
Mrs. Miranda Garner, 76, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lena Garner, at Newport, Monday morning at 10:20. Funeral services were conducted from the late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Hill Edwards, Primitive Baptist minister of Jacksonville. Burial followed in Cedar Grove cemetery.

She was a member of the Primitive Baptist church.

Mrs. Garner is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lena Garner and Mrs. Etta Worthington of Newport; two sons, D. C. Garner, Newport, and A. F. Garner, Morehead City; one half sister, Mrs. Anna Watkins; one half brother, Spencer Hill; 27 grandchildren, 32 great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild.

Pitt Students On ECTC Honor Roll
Out of the 1278 students who were enrolled for full time work at East Carolina Teachers College during the fall term, 195, or approximately 16 per cent were listed on the honor roll just announced by Registrar H. J. McGinnis. Special students were not included on the list.

Seniors and sophomores furnished practically the same number of names and uniors and freshmen nearly the same—there being 51 seniors, 52 sophomores, 42 uniors and 45 freshmen on the roll. Five of the number were full time graduate students or students not classified.

Below is the list from Pitt county: Alice Leigh Blow, Lydia Brices, Mrs. Lowell Broome, Mrs. Margaret S. Brown, Virginia A. Cook, Mary Agnes Deal, Doris Duvall, Hazel G. Evans, Kate Foley, W. B. Harris, Laura Hearn, Betsy Hobbs, Mattie B. Hollivay, Sidney Johnson, Daisy King Mayo, Ben Miller, Mary Sue Moore, Maribelle Robertson, Russell Rogerson, Virginia Rouse, Jane Scoville, Merle V. Jefferson, Mary Emma Jefferson, and Mervie Smith of Fountain; Mervie Prior of Griffon; and Charissa Edwards of Winterville.

Employees Strike At Fisher Plant
Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Some 1,500 employees of the Fisher body plant walked from their jobs today and demonstrated on the state capitol grounds in what leaders of the United Auto Workers (CIO) said was a protest against failure of the General Motors Corporation to provide sufficient work for the plant in which they are employed here.

They abandoned plans to send a delegation to the governor's office after learning that Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner was ill at his home with a minor throat ailment and disbanded after Mayor Sam Street Hughes mounted a truck platform and told them in a speech that he would launch conferences today to deal with their problems.

Approve Fund For Shore Facilities

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Without a dissenting vote and with a minimum of debate, the House passed and sent to the Senate today legislation authorizing the Navy to undertake a $450,000,000 shore facilities development program.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Naval committee, explained the program would be devoted chiefly to expansion of existing yards and docks and did not contemplate extensive new construction. He said the legislation was "absolutely essential" to "meet the war emergency."

Christian Movie Is To Be Shown Here
"The Power of God," a feature motion picture filmed in sound, is scheduled for a one-night stand in Greenville. This Christian film which tells a power-packed story of the might of God at work in the up-and-down lives of modern people, will be shown at the Austin building of East Carolina Teachers College on Monday evening, January 26, at 7 o'clock.

Produced on the R. K. O. Pathé lot by Roland Reed Productions "The Power of God" is the first in a series of Christian films to be made under the direction of the Lutheran Hour, which is heard each week over 333 stations, is successfully utilizing the facilities of radio, so it is expected that this film will be the forerunner of many positive Christian motion pictures.

Locally, the showing of "The Power of God" will be sponsored by the Lutheran church of Greenville. There will be no admission charge but a free-will offering will be received.

True Bills Found In Murder Cases

Four Negroes face trial on murder charges during the current criminal session of Pitt Superior court, true bills having been brought in by the Grand Jury in each of the cases.

The four are James Harper, accused of killing Willie Darden; Robert Preddy, accused of killing his wife, Mary L. Preddy; Annie Boyd, accused of killing her husband, James Boyd; Ivy Watson, accused of killing Frank Johnson.

Cases disposed of by the tribunal yesterday afternoon and this morning were: Raymond Suggs, colored hit and run, three to four years; Frank Byrd, a parolee, aiding in prison escape, 18 months sentence to begin following completion of sentence now being served as result of revocation of parole; Thomas P. Salter, driving carelessly and assault with a deadly weapon, acquitted; James A.
