HITLER ENVISAGES SUB CAMPAIGN ON U. S.

Japs Now Within 18 Miles Of Singapore

Says Nazis Free To Act Now That Japs In War

BATTLE NEARS THORE STRAIT

Dutch Maintain Ship-A-Day Pace With A Toll of 54 in 54 Days Of War; Only Light Fighting Reported On Batan Peninsula; Jap Bombers Again Strike at Rangoon and Claim Five Planes

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)
Japan's invasion hordes stormed within 18 miles of Singapore today, hurling 90,000 troops into a bloody, climactic assault to snatch at the $400,000,000 "Crown Jewel" of Britain's far Pacific stronghold.

As the battle thundered nearer to the mile-wide Johore Strait, separating Singapore Island from the Malay peninsula, British headquarters acknowledged the gravity of the situation.

In the center, there is contact with the enemy about Kuala, a communication said tersely. Kuala, 18 miles north of the great naval base, lies on a broad highway leading to the Singapore causeway at Johore Bahru. The causeway already has been mined for demolition.

Across the South China Sea, the Dutch troops were reported locked in bitter fighting with other Japanese invaders in four widely-separated zones of the Indies archipelago—at Balikpapan, on the east Borneo coast, in northern Celebes Island and around Kendari in south-eastern Celebes.

"Fighting continues not only near Balikpapan but in the town itself," a Dutch bulletin said.

Indies troops previously had destroyed Balikpapan's rich oil fields before the Japanese landed.

The hard-hitting Dutch, fighting brilliantly with the small forces at their command, reported that 54 Japanese ships have been sunk or heavily damaged by the N. E. I. Navy and Air Force in the 54-day-old war.

In the Philippines, a War Department bulletin reported only light fighting on Batan peninsula in the last 24 hours, but added: "The arrival of fresh Japanese troops at the front and movements behind the lines indicate preparations by the enemy for the resumption of a large-scale offensive."

More than 200,000 Japanese troops including an entire army, have now besieged Gen. Douglas MacArthur's little defense force on Batan for 28 days.

On the Malay front, the Japanese agency Domei said Japanese troops reached Kuala after capturing the railroad town of Sedenak, eight miles north, last night.

British reports last night indicated that Imperial troops were fiercely opposing the Japanese on a line roughly 30 to 40 miles north of the strait, through Rengit, Layang-Layang, and Ulu Sedili from left flank to right.

A 9 p. m. curfew was imposed by Lieut. Gen. A. E. Percival, commander in Malaya and administrator of martial law in Singapore, as a precautionary step to ease patrol work and curb fifth column activity on the fortified island.

Japanese air raiders struck again by night and by day. Their toll Wednesday was officially listed at 105 killed, 243 injured.

Rangoon, Burmese capital protected by American volunteer group pilots known as "Flying Tigers" and British pilots was raided again by the Japanese last night and five Allied planes were downed, a Domei report declared.

Domei's Tokyo broadcast did not mention Japanese losses, but the Allied squadrons have claimed a total of at least 111 of the raiders (Continued on page three)

Reds Score Spectacular Gains Against Germans; Bengasi Lost By British

Moscow Chooses Anniversary of Hitler's Regime To Reveal Gain Of 93 Miles In Donets River Basin With Heavy Loss To Foe; British Making New Withdrawals in Entire Libyan Combat Area

(By The Associated Press)
The ninth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's elevation as Chancellor of Germany was chosen by Soviet Russia for announcement of details today of the most spectacular Red Army gain in the Donets Basin—a 93-mile drive in which 25,000 Germans were reported slain.

Hitler, the supreme commander of armies buffeted in retreat across Russian wastes for two months, arranged to broadcast an anniversary speech.

On the North African front, British headquarters acknowledged that Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel's "greatly superior" forces had recaptured the port of Bengasi, as announced yesterday in Berlin and Rome.

Twice stressing the Axis numerical superiority, a British communique conceded that British troops were making fresh withdrawals in the entire combat area of Western Libya, before heavy attacks.

An authoritative British source declared that all British forces were removed from the Libyan port before it was occupied by the Axis African army, and military quarters said most British ammunition dumps and supplies were destroyed before the withdrawal.

A military commentator had said earlier some British forces might have been removed by sea, since there was no intention of making Bengasi "another Tobruk."

Bengasi has changed hands four times in the zig-zag desert warfare. Premier Mussolini's high command said that "numerous" prisoners had been captured at Bengasi and that an entire Indian Imperial battalion surrendered in another sector.

In Russia, Soviet dispatches reported that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies had passed the big steel city of Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh" of the Ukraine and now threatened German forces there with encirclement.

The Soviet Information Bureau announced in a special communique that Red Army men paced by Cossack cavalry squadrons had smashed three German divisions and three regiments, pulverizing 50 timber and earth bastions in the process, to capture Lozovaya, only 70 miles northwest of the Dnieper river's big bend in the Ukraine.

Probably 50,000 men made up the routed units and parts of five other divisions were declared to have suffered considerably.

Battle trophies captured in 10 days of fighting were said to include such items as 658 field guns, 40 tanks and armored cars, 843 machine-guns, 6,013 automobiles, 438 supply trucks, 2,400 cars and 2,300 horses.

German flanks are menaced both above and below the penetration to Kharkov, 70 miles to the north; at Stalino and Taganrog and Mariupol, in German-held Ukrainian territory to the south.

FDR REQUESTS ANOTHER HUGE SUM FOR NAVY

Asks Congress to Add Six Billion To Measure
SEEK ADDITIONAL NAVAL AIRCRAFT
President Also Asks For Authority To Transfer Ships If Deemed Safety To U.S. Defense

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today asked Congress to add $6,016,300,000 to the record-breaking Navy appropriation bill already passed by the House.

The President made the request a short time before signing a bill appropriating $12,555,000,000, including funds for 23,000 combat planes and 10,000 training planes for the army. The army air corps would get about $9,000,000,000.

The measure, largest single appropriation ever passed by Congress for one military arm, also carried $30,000,000 for construction of the Douglas dam on the French Broad river in TVA territory.

The new estimates were received by a senate appropriations subcommittee after Chairman Overton (R-La.) announced that he would try to put an additional $4,000,000,000 in the huge bill for additional naval aircraft.

The new requests from the budget bureau would push the bill to a total of $25,894,285,474, compared with the $19,777,965,474 voted by the House when it speeded approval of the history-making fund.

The new estimates asked $5,401,300,000 additional cash for the navy during the present 1942 fiscal year and $615,000,000 cash for the new fiscal year of 1943 that begins July 1.

The President asked that $4,176,000,000 be made immediately available for naval aviation under the bureau of aeronautics; $869,300,000 for the bureau of ordnance; and $329,000,000 for the bureau of ships.

For the next fiscal year he asked $615,000,000 additional for the bureau of ships to bring its 1943 total to $588,978,925.

The chief executive also asked Congress to insert a provision in the huge bill granting him the right to transfer any ships to nations whose safety was deemed vital to the defense of the United States.

The immediate intent of this provision, containing phrases used in the "lend-lease act," was not clear but congressional clerks said they believed it would remove previous congressional restrictions on the amount of this aid.

The provision was asked to apply on all navy appropriations since March 11, 1941.

Overton, talking before the budget request arrived, said "without supremacy in the air, even the strongest navy and army forces are at a disadvantage."

Greenville Is The State's Agricultural Capital

U. S. OBSERVES FDR BIRTHDAY

President In Fine Physical Shape for Man Of 60

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The House paused today to pay its respects to President Roosevelt on his sixtieth birthday anniversary with speakers praising him as a wise leader and courageous fighter.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts, declaring that Mr. Roosevelt was "one of the great men of all times," asked that the Lord watch over him and protect him in the trying days to come.

In the present crisis, said Rep. Doughton (D-N.C.), Mr. Roosevelt has shown the same wisdom, courage and spirit which has endeared him to the American people and never, in my opinion, have we had a more powerful leader.

The Senate, not in session today, paid its birthday tributes yesterday. From the Republican side of the House came a tribute, too, Rep. Canfield (R-N.J.) said that never before has a president carried such a burden, and asserted that all America wished him well.

Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) said that "we all pledge our devotion, confidence, loyalty and best service" and added: "Fate has said to him: 'I find thee worthy. Do this thing for me.'"

"We must follow the President's lead and 'march solidly, honestly and fearlessly' behind him, Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) said.

Rep. Starnes (D-Ala.), characterizing Mr. Roosevelt as a "great humanitarian," said that "out of his physical suffering has come a compassion for the weak and suffering."

From Rep. Palmer (D-Tex.) came a statement that the President was "loved, even worshipped, by those writhing under the despotic heel."

Although 60 today, Mr. Roosevelt in some respects doesn't act it.

Blackout Signals

The signal for starting the blackout here Monday night will be short blasts on the fire alarm system and other whistles that can be heard throughout the city. The all-clear signal, advising citizens they may cut their lights back off will be a long blast by whistles, but not by the fire alarm, which is not mechanically constructed for long blasts.

At first it was announced that the blackout signal would be 55 on the fire alarm, but this was decided against because of the possibility of someone getting confused and thinking that it was a fire alarm, such as from box 54 or 56.

The blackout was ordered by the U. S. Army, which already has called for blackouts in several counties, including Wayne, Carteret and Lenoir.

While Greenville has not passed any ordinance providing a penalty for persons not blacking-out, local officials feel there is no need for such a law and that the citizens will cooperate in helping make the test a complete success.

Persons are advised against smoking in the open during the blackout, as the light from a match can be seen for long distances when everything else is dark.

Attacks Expected To Be Stepped Up In Atlantic

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Three and perhaps four Axis submarines were sighted today close to the New Jersey coast, the Third Naval District headquarters announced.

Naval officials said they could not comment on any action taken by these U-boats.

They said it could be assumed that strong counter-offensive measures were being taken.

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A new wave of U-boat attacks on Atlantic coast shipping was considered likely today despite the increasing effectiveness of American counter measures which already have sunk or damaged at least 20 Axis submarines.

The Navy warned that "enemy submarines continue to operate off the East coast of the United States and are reported as far south as Florida," but no new coastal attacks have been announced since the sinking of the Francis E. Powell was discovered on Wednesday.

German tactics in past submarine campaigns have been to maintain attacks in chosen areas by keeping up a constant flow of replacements. Following the same system in the present warfare, U-boats fresh from Germany would now be replacing those which made the first attacks on coastal shipping in the week of Jan. 12 and whose torpedoes or fuel would have been expended.

There was speculation that the Germans might try to keep more than a score of U-boats off the Atlantic coast in an attempt to force the Navy to divert warships from the North Atlantic convoy route to meet the new menace.

The Navy added another submarine to the toll of those previously reported sunk by making public the report of a petty-officer plane pilot.

"Sighted sub sank same," said the report. Impressed by the pungency of the message, officials relaxed the rule of secrecy on anti-submarine successes and gave it to the country. They furnished no details.

Five Japanese submarines have been reported sunk in the Pacific, and Secretary Knox disclosed on Dec. 21 that at least 14 Axis submarines had been sunk or damaged in the Atlantic. The only official statement of counteraction against the current Atlantic raids, which have cost the Allies 14 merchant ships, was that some of the Axis submarines would not return home.

A Navy announcement at Los Angeles said an enemy submarine was sighted off the harbor there yesterday and was attacked by depth bombs without apparent result.

Ecuador Acts. Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Official sources disclosed this afternoon that a notice of Ecuador's severance of diplomatic relations with the Axis powers had been delivered to the State Department at 11 a. m.

Fuehrer, In First Address Since U.S. Became Involved In War, Says He Does Not Know Whether War To End This Year; Describes Roosevelt As Right Hand Of Wilson, Churchill As Warmonger

Berlin (From German Broadcasts) Jan. 30.—(AP) Adolf Hitler in the first speech since his declaration of war against the United States told his people today that "America's war with Japan made us free to act" and "now we shall see what our U-boats may achieve."

He declared that "I do not know whether the war will end this year," but said "we are armed against everything, from the north to the south."

Hitler declared that on the Eastern front the armies of the Reich were on the defensive against the weather—not the Russians, and claimed that the front there had finally been stabilized.

He said of the Russian war thus far that "in the East we fought a struggle which one day will be the glory of our nation."

Chiefs greeted his statement that in North Africa Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel "turned around the moment that our enemies thought he was beaten and drove the British before him."

"The most difficult part is behind us," he asserted.

He declared that winter had been the great hope of Germany's enemies in the East, but that this hope never would be fulfilled.

"The winter will break in the south and the ice will melt," he said, "and the hour will come when the ground will be hard and firm again—and when our armies will storm ahead again."

Then, he said, would come the revenge of "those who have now become the victims of frost."

Although he said he did not know whether the war would end in 1942, Hitler declared he was confident, however, that "where we meet the enemy we will beat him."

At one juncture he shouted: "We shall see who wins this war—those who have nothing to lose and everything to gain or those who have everything to lose and nothing to gain."

He told his audience of Axis representatives, party leaders and soldiers—many of them wounded—that Germany's number of submarines had been increased greatly and that their activities would make themselves felt as a factor in the war.

He concluded his one hour, 53-minute speech with an appeal to the German nation to produce arms and munitions for the battlefield to ensure that "this will be another year of great victories."

Speaking for the first time since his declaration of war against the United States, Hitler assailed President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and declared that, excepting his Axis partners, Germany is fighting a new world war against her same old foes.

Most of the address was a reiteration of Hitler's long standing arguments that Germany was persecuted.

BUNDY IS OUT FOR SOLICITOR

Formally Enters Race For District Office

W. J. Bundy, local attorney, announced today that he is a candidate for solicitor of the Fifth Judicial District, in the primary to be held Saturday, May 30. It has been generally reported for sometime that Mr. Bundy would be a candidate for this office, but no public announcement had yet been made.

"The present Solicitor, at the end of this term, will have held the position for sixteen years," said Mr. Bundy. "I think it is time to give another man a chance. If one man is Solicitor for life, no young man will ever get a chance. The incumbent has been Solicitor for four terms. Other things being equal, it is time for some younger man to have his chance as Solicitor."

When asked how he proposed to conduct the office of Solicitor, if nominated and elected, Mr. Bundy stated, "The Solicitor is the head of law enforcement in his district. The proper enforcement of the law should motivate his conduct of the office. If nominated and elected, I promise to prosecute the docket fairly, impartially and vigorously."

"Another thing that I propose to do, and it badly needs to be done," Mr. Bundy also stated, "is to save the taxpayers money in the operation of the criminal court. This can be done by a systematic arrangement of the docket, and following the docket. I have seen witnesses on both sides sit through three or four terms of court before their case was tried. This is expensive and burdensome to witnesses and litigants, besides piling up an enormous cost bill. This can be avoided and ought to be avoided, and if nominated and elected, I promise to work toward that end. The docket can be so arranged and tried that enough court cost can be saved to (Continued on Page Three)

Congratulations were dispatched to Washington by King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE (World-wide News Analyst)

With the Japanese only 18 miles from Singapore, and still driving forward against the bayonets of numerically inferior forces, the position of this great naval base and its city of three-quarters of a million today was increasingly grave, for the test of whether it could withstand invasion seemed imminent.

Surely history must search far among its yellowed leaves to find another such amazing conflict as this battle for Singapore and the Dutch East, Indies, in which the Japs continue to mushroom their way forward, like a huge octopus spreading and reaching for its prey, with the allies tearing bloody

Forty-Three Ships Claimed By Nazis

Berlin—(From German Broadcasts)—Jan. 30.—(AP)—A special communique preceded on the German radio by a fanfare of trumpets today reported that U-boats operating off the United States and Canada had sunk 43 ships totaling 302,000 tons since the beginning of the war with the United States.

The special announcement added 13 ships totaling 74,000 tons to the previous total claimed by the Germans.

The communique, introduced by the announcer as coming straight from the Fuehrer's headquarters, said: "German submarines in continuing attacks on enemy supply shipping in American and Canadian territorial waters have sunk a further 13 ships with a tonnage of 74,000 registered tons."

In these operations the submarine commanded by Lieut. Kalk particularly distinguished itself.

"Since their first appearance off the American coast our U-boats have sunk 43 enemy merchant ships with a total tonnage of 302,000."

Hosts Needed

Greenville citizens are urged to provide accommodations this week-end for the service men visiting here.

Many visitors are expected and anyone interested in entertaining the men over night or for dinner on Sunday are urged to call Mrs. Cora Powell or Willard T. Kizer. After 2 p. m. on Saturday call 3115.

Fruit cocktails were served the guests on arrival, this being followed by a tasty and typically southern neighbor's dinner. Mrs. E. G. Flanagan and Mrs. O. L. Joyner, Sr., seated at either end of the colorful dining room table, served the guests, who in turn found their way to card tables in the reception room. Brilliant colors and lighted candles were used in setting each table. This color theme was repeated in other decorations of the home.
The after-dinner entertainment was brilliant, it being none other than Dick Walsler's finished dramas, tees in person. Jimmy Warren,

The Canadian National Steamship Company's liner, Lady Hawkins (above) was sunk by an Axis submarine January 19 in American waters and 250 persons, including Americans, are reported dead or missing. Seventy-one persons, the only known survivors, were picked up at sea by the steamer Coamo and landed at San Juan, Puerto Rico, January 28. They had been adrift in a life boat five days.

The high prices of meat and meal should convince the southern farmer of the prime importance of raising his own supplies. The farmer is always best off when he fills his smokehouse and barn from his hog pen and his field than when he does so from Chicago.

Leonard Ernest, Charlotte Robertson and Tom Rowlette starred in the play, "Why I Am a Bachelor." Several guests and especially the husbands, voiced the opinion that the play had come too late to be helpful but was nevertheless most enjoyable.

Many club members were also good actors. Music from the land of our southern neighbors was furnished and the party turned into a Rio De Janeiro festival.
Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Joyner, Jr., and Mrs. O. L. Joyner, Sr.

Symphonic Trio Gives Program.
A group of young musicians known as the Symphonic Trio were heard last night by a moderate-sized audience in the Wright auditorium on the college campus. The trio consisted of Orlin Witcraft, tenor; Harriet Henning, soprano, and Ralph Sunden, pianist.

The program was not in the regular subscription series but was scheduled a few days ago by the entertainment committee as an extra courtesy. Although the concert was not of high musical standard the audience by their applause, indicated that they enjoyed hearing well known favorites. The program was as follows:
"O Paradise" from the opera "L'Africaine"; Meyerbeer; "Aubade" from the opera "L'roi d'ys"; Lala—Mr. Witcraft.
"Nocturne in F Sharp Major"; Chopin; "To Spring"; Grieg—Mr. Sunden.
"Ti Bacio"; Arditi; "Ave Maria"; for ocean steamers for 2,300 miles.

March of Dimes
Greenville High has contributed well over $125 to the March of Dimes drive. Six homerooms have contributed one hundred per cent to the drive. They are: Miss Evelyn Buchanan's algebra class; Mr. H. H. Cunningham's Modern History group; Mr. R. G. Walsler's senior English class; Mrs. Maude Bowen's eighth grade English; Mrs. Howard Mims' Spanish class, and Miss Laura Bell's typing class.

James Crawford, Dorothy Davenport and Jean Harrington are the leaders of the students in the drive of getting the most money for this campaign.
The pupils of Mr. Cunningham's and Miss Shindler's classes gave the most dimes.

Play Day
Rocky Mount and Wilson basketball girls arrived this afternoon in time to register at 2:30 at the high school auditorium. They enjoyed such sports as basketball, shuffleboard, badminton and bowling. The entire affair was over about 5:30 this afternoon.

Advices Students On Ways To Help

By EVELYN SCHELLER
Declaring that waste paper conservation campaigns are invaluable to National Defense, Lee Krebs addressed the entire Greenville High student body Wednesday afternoon.
Mr. Krebs, Junior Red Cross, consultant for North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, stated "There are two ways in which school children may help in this present crisis. The first way is to enroll in first-aid courses as soon as they are offered. Students should be ready in any emergency, such as a fire or a possible bombing."

"The second way of helping is a regularity in saving waste paper, rubber, and old rags. These articles can absolutely be used by the government. There is no use whatsoever in saving any type of foil, either lead or aluminum, glass bottles and containers, or old tin cans. Glass articles and tin cans are considered a health hazard."

"Remember, if you are interested in helping your country, save paper, rubber, and old rags," he concluded.
Mr. Krebs addressed the Training school, West Greenville school and Third street school in the morning. He also attended a special luncheon in his honor, arranged by Mrs. J. B. James.

Dangerous Baggage

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

YESTERDAY: Sharon is a little flustered. She arrived at the office of Sierra Steel late, and Mr. Goodwin, whose private secretary she is, disapproves of lateness. And then a crash young man helps her find her key and demands a date right away. Sharon frowns him down—and then discovers that he is an expert sent from the eastern offices, and definitely a person of importance. Now Mr. Goodwin has rung for her.

Chapter Two
Date With The Boss
Mr. Goodwin smiled at Sharon across the polished expanse of his mahogany desk. Out of the corner of her eye, she was aware that Tom Stafford unfolded himself from the armchair as she came in.

"Miss Doyle will see that you have everything you need, Stafford," Mr. Goodwin said, apparently continuing a conversation. "Spare us no expense, no service that we can give to assist you."

"Thank you, sir. I'll do my best." "Temporarily, you'll share Miss Doyle's office." He turned to Sharon. "Have that vacant desk moved nearer the window and see that another telephone is installed at once."

"Yes, Mr. Goodwin." Nearer the window and practically elbowing her own desk. This was going to be just wonderful!

"And now I suppose you are anxious to get down to the plant to look things over," Mr. Goodwin said, smiling pleasantly.

Tom Stafford didn't look exactly as if he were straining at the leash. Sharon thought dryly, watching his easy, unhurried departure.

"Yes, I'll move along now," Tom reached for the door. "Miss Doyle, call my car for Mr. Stafford."

Sharon's fingers whirled the dial telephone. Even the boss' own chauffeur car at Mr. Stafford's services, if you please. Young cheer leader makes good!

"No need for that, thanks, Mr. Goodwin," Tom declined easily. "I've a jalopy I packed up in a used car lot this morning." Then, smiling deliberately at Sharon, "It hasn't much class but it'll get me around."

Ignoring the smile, Sharon replaced the receiver.

"We'll see you later then," Mr. Goodwin extended his hand.

As the door clicked behind Tom, Mr. Goodwin pushed back his chair, crossed to the window. For several minutes he stood, his back to Sharon, his eyes apparently intent on the Bay flung like a brilliant blue carpet at the edge of the buildings swarming back from the Embarcadero.

A long white vessel backed away from a pier, headed out toward the Gate; a tug-boats chuffing busily in her wake. The view was gorgeous this morning. The wind had swept the air so clear, the scudding clouds had a new-washed look. Even the grimy office buildings seemed brighter.

But Mr. Goodwin wasn't seeing the Bay nor the tug boat nor the wind-swept sky. She knew that from the tense concentration, the almost unnoticeable squaring of his shoulders under his perfect-fitting coat. Little signs by which she was already learning to interpret his moods.

He turned toward her suddenly. Instinctively Sharon straightened, opened her notebook.

Seeing the gesture, Goodwin relaxed suddenly, smiled at her. "You're a good secretary, Sharon. I'm lucky to have found you."

First Impression
Sharon felt her cheeks go crimson. If only she could master her tricky trick of blushing every time Harvey Goodwin looked at her. But this was the first praise she had had from him. "Thank you, Mr. Goodwin. I'm lucky to be here."

"I'm not so sure of that." Dropping into his heavily carved chair behind the desk, he leaned toward her. "You don't like our new engineer, do you?"

Sharon started. "Why—I—scarcely—?" Then meeting Goodwin's grey eyes intent upon her, she added more positively, "I didn't like my first impression. He appears young, inexperienced, and terribly irresponsible. But that is probably as untrue as most first impressions."

"Yes, probably. That nonchalance is deliberate camouflage."

"Camouflage?" "Look here, Sharon. I really meant what I said about your having luncheon with me. Can you make it?"

Could she make it? Sharon felt thrill mushrooming inside. Hadn't she been daydreaming about this moment ever since her first interview with Harvey Goodwin nearly a year ago! Right then she'd promised herself she wouldn't even wish that some day these dark eyes would see her as something more than a stenographer. Because wishing wouldn't make it so. But of course she hadn't kept that promise.

"Why—yes. Thank you," she managed quietly, and prayed he couldn't hear her heart hammering. "I've got to go uptown this morning but I'll meet you at—"

He glanced at the handsome watch on his wrist, "say about noon at the Trader's Hut."

"Good." He turned to the sheaf of letters she had laid on his desk. "Get a wire off, in code, to the East saying that Stafford had arrived. And phone the plant foreman to expect him. Take any long distance message that comes for me. That's all."

Deflated a little by the curtness of her dismissal, Sharon went back to her own desk. She stood a moment at the window, pressing her flushed cheek against the cold pane. Today was the day. Her first date with Harvey Goodwin. If only she could trust herself to be casual but charming, friendly but not presuming. It would be a test to keep her thrilled delight hidden, to keep her mind alert to the challenge of Mr. Goodwin's keen conversation. She must make him see her as a charming woman and companion as well as an efficient piece of office machinery. It was hitching her ambitions to a kite, she told herself wryly. But then, she was twenty and it was Spring, and there was no tax on ambitions!

She went to the wall safe, took out the code book. Strange that Mr. Goodwin had wanted this telegram sent in code. After all, nothing very secret about the arrival of someone you'd been told to expect. Still, hers not to reason why, but hers to wonder how she'd happened to choose this morning of all the others to wear her new suit—the first really good outfit she'd ever had! Maybe she should make a habit of breaking mirrors!

Lunch With Glamour
The Trader's Hut was one of San Francisco's smart new spots. Sharon had passed it dozens of times on the street car and read about it in the society chat columns. Now, trembling, she pushed her way into the crowded foyer, trying hard not to stare at the pretty women, at their rich furs, their expensively ridiculous hats, their good-looking escorts.

Mr. Goodwin was waiting—tall, superbly erect, his rather sternly handsome face made him outstanding even in this smart crowd. Sharon was aware of a new thrill as, catching sight of her, he smiled, made his way toward her, obviously eager.

"Hello. I hoped you wouldn't forget." He caught her hand, pressed it lightly, tucked it under his arm. Forget! Her eyes flared with a smile. "How could I? This is a very special treat."

She glanced toward the softly lighted dining room beyond Hawaiian beach scenes and seascapes splashed lavishly on the walls with blue and silver paint. Lush hibiscus blossoms and verdantly green palms like huge bouquets separating the low bamboo tables and chairs. An Hawaiian orchestra strumming romantic island music.

DUBLIN STILL KEEN ON PEACE

Concerned, However, Lest Allies Take Her Bases

By WILLIAM KING
Dublin, Eire, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Official concern is felt here that the arrival of United States troops in neighboring Ulster may be preliminary to seizure of Eire's naval bases which the allies need badly for the battle of the Atlantic, an informed source said today.

"We are so keen on peace," said one Irishman, "that we will fight like hell for it."

"Although I don't think it will come to that, any attack by Germany would not necessarily mean that we would call for help from anyone. Foreign troops would automatically walk in to fight beside Eire's army."

This neutrality of Eire is strongly expressed both by officials and by the man on Dublin's streets—but of course it is also apparent that the average Irishman does not realize the critical situation he has been placed in by Eire's geography. The newspapers made only scant mention of the U. S. troops arriving, and consistent British press demands that Eire turn over bases to the allies have seen little light in the censored press.

The whole partition question of course is that root of Eire's attitude, and many declare that if Britain would permit Northern Ireland to join Eire's government—something Ulster emphatically refuses to do—then Britain and a United Ireland could work out a mutual defense.

Hitler Envisages . . .
He said that even in the last war Prime Minister Churchill was among the English "warmongers" and that President Roosevelt was the right hand of Woodrow Wilson, whom he described as "the man who caused the greatest harm to the German people."

Addressing party members, soldiers and representatives of other Axis powers in Berlin, he declared: "All of us who can remember the last war will remember that Mr. Churchill was already then one of the meanest warmongers. It is the same powers we fought then which we are fighting today."

He was introduced by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels who complimented the Fuehrer for looking "so fresh and healthy."

Hitler declared that "at the time of the last war Germany was a monarchy and war was forced upon her."

"Today," he said, "Germany is not monarchy but our enemies say that it is the system that they are fighting.

"We have not wished to force our system upon others, and therefore we must ask what is the actual reason why our system is being fought."

"England which claims to be a democracy has forced her rule upon 380,000,000 Indians. England has throughout the centuries subjugated one people after another."

Ever since it has been England's principal aim to maintain her rule by preventing any other nation in Europe from rising."

Hitler declared England's aim had been to maintain the balance of power in Europe, and declared "they wanted a Europe divided against itself."

Hitler said that "when the last war was over the conditions for war were not removed, nor were the instruments of war abolished."

The speech was relayed by all German radio stations as well as those through Italy, Finland, Rumania, Croatia and Manchoukuo.

Also relayed was the introduction of Hitler in which Dr. Goebbels said "victory was once for us a matter of faith—that is, of faith in your person. What at one time was a matter of faith is today for us a certainty."

Hitler said the present conflict was properly called a second World war.

When bad weather drives the farmer indoors, it is a fine time to make inventory and see what has been done on the farm. Check everything and see if you are accomplishing anything. A lot of checking up, studying and reading will certainly help you with your work and keep you from going in the dark.

It was certainly encouraging to see 21 Negro farmers receive certificates signed by our Governor for growing the required amount of food and feed for 1941. It is hoped that others who saw this will go and do likewise. Make room for the next program that is about to be launched, the "Victory Garden." Every 4-H club member can take part as well as every farmer, laborer and all walks of life to help get this needed program to the end of the road, so we can grow feed and food for defense needs.

Quite a number of farm men and women from Pitt and adjacent counties attended the meeting of the Greenville Production Credit Association. During this meeting pictures were shown how eggs and milk can be dried, packed and shipped.

When we pause to think that man has been selected to bridge those forces of nature which God has created, this thought enables us to see that the beauty of our lives lie in its usefulness. It is hoped that every farmer will join the program of producing more eggs and milk to be dried, packed and sent to those who are at the front, or else give it in its raw stage to help the Red Cross, and buy Defense Bonds. "In as much as you have done it unto one of the least of these."

Twelve 4-H clubs have been re-organized in the county by the agent and home agent, with the help of teachers. These clubs are getting off to a good start for a good year's work.

Dennis Dupree, Negro County Agent.

The lunch rooms of the county schools are contributing much to the better nutrition program. The WPA lunch room workers in their spotless white uniforms are preparing hot lunches for the children in the schools each day. There are 41 Negro schools in the county with lunch rooms and 119 workers in them. Mrs. Mattie Hooker, lunch room supervisor, conducted group meetings for workers and in these meetings they learn how to prepare wholesome dishes from the commodities provided. This month they are studying how to make good bread. They learn how to use the milk also in making a hot drink and other things where milk can be used. In groups of seven these workers met January 16 at the Bethel school, January 27 at the Grifton school and January 29 at the Simpson school. They will meet February 10 at the Fifth street school, February 12 at the Pitt county Training school and February 17 at the Farmville school.

TOLL CLAIMED BY ACCIDENTS

Total of 100,500 Killed in Nation Last Year

Chicago, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Accidents rolled up this toll in the United States last year:
Killed—101,500 (including 40,000 traffic deaths, an all-time high).
Injured—9,300,000.
The cost—$3,750,000,000.

The National Safety Council, which announced the figures today, gave this illustration of how they affect the nation's war effort:
Fatalities in the 20-45 year Selective Service age bracket totaled 26,000—equal to the destruction of nearly two army divisions.

Approximately 18,000 workers died in occupational accidents, and another 29,000 were killed in off-the-job accidents—a loss of manpower labor sufficient to build 20 battleships, 200 destroyers and 7,000 heavy bombers.

Traffic accident deaths alone were greater in each of nine months in 1941 than total casualties in the Pearl Harbor attacks.

The death toll was the third largest on record and 5 per cent above the 96,885 deaths in 1940. There were 110,952 accident deaths in 1936 and 105,205 in 1937.

"Increased activity in all fields—largely attributable to the ever increasing tempo of national defense—was the key to the greater accident toll," the council said.

The record of 40,000 deaths in motor vehicle accident was 16 per cent above the 34,501 figure in 1940 and 357 above the previous high of 39,643 in 1937. Traffic accidents also resulted in approximately 1,400 school.

The meeting at the Simpson school was attended by the home agent and the Jeanes teacher. The Simpson school has undergone improvements since the beginning of school. The inside of all the classrooms and the kitchen have been painted and the work done by the boys of the school under the supervision and assistance of the principal, E. S. Parker. The school has been improved also and a school garden started. The home agent has organized a group in the community. The pupils of the grammar grades have pledged themselves to buy Defense Stamps and Bonds with their pennies.

The Bethel high school will act as host to the teachers and the public for the Birthday Bell for infantile paralysis drive. The new auditorium is being made ready for the occasion. A birthday party is being held in most of the smaller schools, giving the young people a night of fun and also helping the drive.

Those who are planning to take the home nursing course being offered by the Red Cross are asked to meet in the Fleming street school at 7:30 in the home economics department. The extension course is beginning the second half of the term and those desiring the course are asked to meet at 5 o'clock in the Fleming street school. European History will be taught. Credit will be given on this course whether working for ad degree or not and teachers who want to learn more will be able to benefit by the course. Mr. A. Claiborne from Elizabeth City Teachers College, is the instructor. Both of these meetings will be held in the Fleming street school and both can be attended by those desiring to take both.

400,000 non-fatal injuries, about 110,000 of which caused permanent disability. Direct economic loss was estimated at $1,800,000,000. With deaths from this cause up 16 per cent and travel only 11 per cent greater, the mileage death rate rose 4 per cent.

Occupational fatalities climbed 6 per cent from 17,000 in 1940 to 18,000. Home accident deaths dropped 3 per cent from 33,000 to 32,000 and public fatalities (excluding traffic) declined 3 per cent from 15,000 to 14,500.

The total of 9,300,000 injured in accidents was about 200,000 greater than in 1940 and meant that one out of every 14 persons in the United States suffered a disabling injury.

Strength FOR THE DAY
By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHAT IS TRUE WISDOM?
President Woodrow Wilson once wrote: "No nation can ever survive its own follies that does not indoctrinate its children in the word of God; for the righteousness of nations like the righteousness of men, must take its sources from these fountains of inspiration."

Are we not becoming increasingly aware of what is happening in our country? A generation of youth is growing up about us which knows little about the ways and teachings of God. The young people are not to blame. They do not know the Bible and conduct of schools; they do not know what they are taught. And if they are taught everything else under the sun but are not taught the duties which God requires of man and the moral obligations we have one to another because we are all children of the Heavenly Father, when they have not learned the best truth of all . . .

PUBLIC WASTE MUST BE STOPPED

(Industrial News Review)
The most telling criticism of the newly proposed Federal budget deals with projected expenditures for non-war activities. The budget calls for a cut of about $1,000,000,000 a year in this direction. Many economists and high government officials are convinced that a reduction of at least double this amount can be made.

The taxpayers are being called upon to accept a financial burden unparalleled in our history. Last year's record-breaking income tax bill is supposed to produce an increase in tax revenue of some $3,500,000,000 a year. This year, plans call for another bill to produce around $9,000,000,000 additional. Every possible source of revenue will be tapped to the limit. With such a staggering sum to be raised for the nation's protection and survival, every conscientious citizen should protest the pending of a solitary tax nickel for any non-defense purpose which can be elimicovered "the Hill" set out the other day to try to find some new bill that didn't have a thing to do with the war. After diligent search he came on "A bill to appropriate funds to provide for the educational attainment of persons 17 years of age or over, having less than a fourth grade education." His shout of "Eureka" died on his lips for the bill's purpose was "for the purpose of facilitating the National Defense." It is, too, it's a measure designed to raise the educational status of boys who have been deferred in the draft for failure to meet its comparatively mild educational standards.

Wallace hired him sight unseen to help in putting over the big farm program. He has been at it ever since and always on the up and up.

Washington is going through another case of transportation jitters, brought on principally by the curtailment of car and tire sales. From clerks to cabinet members, capitalists depend heavily on their taxis.

In spite of the plaints of taxi drivers a few months ago that they couldn't make a dime out of the business, there has been a noticeable lack of hacks during rush hours of late. Now they are talking about a pick-up jitney service during those hours.

The idea is to help newcomers to Washington, particularly government employees, get located. For some time now it has employed 20 persons and it is locating homes

lem is to interpose as much delay as possible so that help may arrive from America across the vast Pacific and from Britain over the long route via the Middle East. The magnificent fight against great odds by MacArthur and his men in the Philippines, and by our allies in neighboring bases, is having its effect, for reinforcements are beginning to reach the battle zone.

Still the octopus slithers forward, fighting against time and disorienting his wounds, to try to cut distance other reinforcements. Out of this has developed the struggle of Macassar strait into which the persistent Japs thrust an air-courted armada of troop transports and warships estimated by some observers at 100 vessels. Of these maybe two score or more have been sunk or damaged by American warships and their allies, cooperating with our gallant Dutch allies. Perhaps 25,000 Japs have lost their lives in green waters which boil with sharks.

Still, at latest reports the armada presses on towards occupation of fresh bases, and we don't know whether the attack of the United Nations continues. The fate of Singapore and the East Indies may depend in considerable measure on what happens to the great Japanese fleet still intact, with maybe 150,000 troops and full equipment aboard.

And here we must note that the Japanese task is becoming more difficult because of ever extending lines of communication. They are operating far from their home bases, which increases their vulnerability. Macassar strait demonstrates that point.

The Americans and the Dutch in this historic engagement presumably have been far outnumbered in every way, and especially in the air. Still we can say that warplane for warplane, warship for warship man for man, the allies were so vastly superior that it's a shame to make comparison. And if that sounds like bragging, why let it go

Japs May Have To Risk Great Loss For Indies

Part Of Main Fleet May Be Used To Back Invasion

By JOHN E. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Jan. 29 (AP)—The great naval war of the South Pacific appeared near the point today where Japan must risk — and even sacrifice — parts of her main fleet to save her invasion of the Indies from piecemeal disaster in shark-infested seas.

While there was no doubt among experts here that the enemy could establish beachheads on some Indies islands, the question whether reinforcements can be brought up in sufficient numbers for a real invasion was said to depend entirely on the naval strength the enemy is willing to risk to protect future convoys.

In view of the terrific toll taken of the huge transport armada in Macassar strait by American and Dutch naval and air forces, the belief was that henceforth protection for major convoys would have to be considerable in both surface and air craft. The escorts, it was said, would have to include numerous destroyers, cruisers and plane carriers and such shore-based aircraft as can be brought into operation over the invasion lanes.

For the Japanese have now come face to face with a new geographical-defense situation, and the naval shambles of Macassar strait may be but the first of a series in store for them.

As strategists here understand this situation, two principal factors are working to the disadvantage of the invaders:
1. The island-strewn Southwest Pacific is ideal for hit-and-run raids by submarines, destroyers or aircraft. Once such forays establish that the enemy is vulnerable, they may be turned into continuing and devastating attacks. That seems to have been the strategy employed in Macassar strait, where estimates of Japanese losses there run as high as 46 ships of all types sunk or damaged.

2. Dutch and American forces have been concentrated in these waters and operate close to their bases, making possible shore based aircraft action in force.

One of the most unorthodox characteristics of Japanese strategy to date is, in fact, in the opinion of military experts here, is the way in which they have scattered their blows and lightened their supply routes. Their lines of communication now reach out from Japan like the slender tentacles of a huge octopus to the Philippines and the Japanese mandated islands beyond, to small islands Northeast of Australia, to Borneo, to Malaya and Indo-China and Thailand, and to China and Manchukuo.

This means a spreading not only of naval and air strength but also of land forces, experts pointed out. How long the spreading process can go on is a question that only the future can answer decisively, but in military quarters here there is a widely-held belief that the Japanese are very definitely limited to the amount of modern war supplies they can throw into the battles.

They are said to have several million trained and semi-trained men available for military service, but it is considered doubtful whether they have equipment for more than 2,000,000.

Greenville Is The . . .

during the morning. Other directors include: L. H. McKay of Hendersonville, vice president; B. B. Everett of Palmira, R. V. Knight of Tarboro, W. L. Lyerly of Woodleaf, W. A. Short of Greensboro, Tom Cornwell of Shelby, John Calhoun of Newland, and Fred N. Colvard of West Jefferson. Meeting with them was Dr. Gordon K. Middleton of State College, director-in-charge of the Association, and A. D. Stuart, Extension seed specialist and treasurer of the organization.

The first formal program open to the general public was held this afternoon, starting with a welcome from Mayor B. B. Sugg. Highlights of this session included a talk on the "Victory Garden" program by Lewis P. Watson, Extension horticulturist, and a discussion of peanut and soybean varieties suitable for war-time oil production, by Dr. Middleton and J. A. Rigney, another State College agronomist.

Also on this program was a report by Dr. Landis S. Bennett, State College seed specialist, that the Crop Improvement Association certified 271,778 bushels of seeds in 1941. He said that the volume of certified wheat, barley and oats made substantial gains. A comparison with the 42,626 bushels of seed certified in 1929, the first year of the crop improvement activities, denoted the growth of the work.

Dr. Paul Harvey, corn-breeding agronomist of the State College Experiment Station, reported that hybrid corn is an actuality in North Carolina. He said that the volume of certified wheat, barley and oats made substantial gains. A comparison with the 42,626 bushels of seed certified in 1929, the first year of the crop improvement activities, denoted the growth of the work.

that way. It's a fair guess that if the allies had possessed a reasonable air strength they would have sunk the whole armada.

Carolina. He said this new corn gives promise of increasing the value of the State's farm income by seven and one-half million dollars annually.

H. F. Robinson of the college agronomy department explained the Official Variety Testing Program which the Experiment Station has started, with tests located at Rocky Mount, and in Jones and Hope counties in this section.

Others who appeared on the afternoon program were J. W. Woodside, botanist in charge of the State Seed Laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture, with a discussion of "Federal and State Seed Laws"; and Howard Garris, plant pathologist, and J. O. Howell, entomologist, of the Extension Service, with talks on disease and insect control, respectively, in the production of good seed. Treasurer Stuart made his annual report.

Horticulturist Watson explained that the "Victory Garden" program is one of the important new war-time campaigns, based on: (1) Patriotism, (2) economic needs, and (3) food security. Every farm yard being asked to grow a home garden to release food supplies and transportation facilities for the armed forces and industrial workers of the Nation. The campaign will open February 9 with a special "Victory Garden Week."

Watson also reported that some types of garden seed will be "short" this year, especially turnip, pig, mustard and cabbage seeds. He urged farm people to buy their garden seed immediately.

Because of war-time conditions, greatly increased production of peanuts and soybeans for oil is demanded, according to Middleton and Rigney. They recommended varieties of these crops which yield the highest oil content. Dr. Middleton suggested that soybean runner types of peanuts be grown and Rigney said that the highest oil-yielding varieties of soybeans are Herman, Mammoth Yellow, Tokio and Biloxi.

Tomorrow's program will open with crops judging contests for 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America teams starting at 8 o'clock. Several hundred youngsters are expected to be here from throughout the State to compete in the contests. The awards to the winning teams and individual judges will be presented at the luncheon by L. R. Harrill, State 4-H Club leader, and R. J. Peeler of the Vocational Agricultural Department.

At 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning another general meeting will be held in the Seed Show exhibit hall, with Dr. L. D. Baver, director of the N. C. Experiment Station, talking on "The Agricultural Research Program for National Defense," and Dean I. O. Schaub of State College, director of the Extension Service, speaking on "Farm Production Problems Under War Conditions."

F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor of State College, will be toastmaster at the luncheon. Another feature of this program will be the presentation of sweepstakes awards for the best farmers' seed exhibits. More than $300 in cash prizes were offered at a North Carolina seed show.

This year's seed show is possible through the cooperation of Willard T. Kyzer, secretary, and other leaders of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce who worked with Farm Agent R. R. Bennett and Crop Improvement Association officials in arranging for the event.

Judges of the seed exhibits included: Prof. W. H. Darr of the State Department of Agriculture, small grain, soybeans, cowpeas, crochalaria, rye grass, crimson clover; Prof. F. H. Kline of State College, cotton, soybeans, cowpeas, crochalaria, crimson clover and rye grass; L. T. Weeks, Extension specialist, tobacco; J. W. Woodside, specialist, and Prof. M. E. Gardner, head of the State College horticulture department, and Robert Schmidt, Experiment Station horticulturist, Irish and sweet potatoes.

Scores of attractive educational and commercial exhibits lined the walls of the exhibit hall. The one that attracted the most attention was a demonstration presented by Miss Sallie Brooks, assistant Extension nutritionist, and Miss Veronica Lee Joyner, Pitt County home demonstration agent, in which they ground wheat with a small hand-operated flour mill, and then proceeded to make biscuits, cookies and breakfast cereals from the whole wheat flour.

Another attractive booth was arranged by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, with E. H. Meacham, Extension soil conservationist of State College, in charge. It shows the devastating effects of erosion.

There are also exhibits of the Extension Service's various divisions, the Experiment Station, the State Department of Agriculture, the N.Y.A. Future Farmers of America, American Cotton Council, Crop Improvement Association, and others.

The entire exposition, with the exception of the luncheon tomorrow afternoon, is free.

Advice To Farmer Given By Dr. Poe

Advice To Farmer Given By Dr. Poe

Raleigh, Jan. 30 (AP)—Loss of a great part of the foreign market for cotton and tobacco will force the southern farmer to approach a more proper balance between crops and livestock, in the belief of Dr. Clarence A. Poe, of Raleigh.

"Since we have lost a great part of our foreign market for cotton and tobacco," he told the annual Veterinary Conference at N. C. State College here, "we have to look to new uses for the land that formerly grew these major crops."

"Since there are no other crops that can replace them at the present time, our one chance seems to be a return to livestock, dairying, and poultry. Only in this way can farm labor be kept making money in the cold half-year from October to April as well as in the warm half-year from April to October."

Phantoms Get Hot In Second Half And Beat Pam Pack

WIN 32 TO 26 OVER OLD FOE

Locals Held Mere 2-Point Lead at Half Time Rest

By PERCY WELLS

In one of the fastest and roughest cage meets ever to be played in the Eastern conference the Phantoms came back after the half period that showed them barely nipping the opponents 17-15 and fought through the last two quarters filled with fouls and dogged determination from both teams until they had set the Washington Pam Pack back to the score of 32-26 when the final whistle blew.

This tilt, which was played in the Parish House Recreation center last night, was the seventh conference battle for the locals and of these, the sixth consecutive engagement they have won.

The results of the preliminary game, between the Junior Phantoms and the Junior Pam Pack in a game very similar to the feature clash, showed the locals holding a 28-21 victory.

Troy Riddle, lanky center for the Greens, was the offensive spark-plug for the locals with a total of 15 points tallied by his left-handed hook shots. Larry Brown followed with 7. Johnson, Musselwhite and the Briley twins showed up well on defense for Greenville.

Best for Washington in the senior game were Forwards Taylor and Edwards and Guard Howard. Taylor led the scoring for the home team with 10 markers.

Leaders in the junior tilt were

Sweetheart And Parents Talk With Henke

Across 6,000 miles of land and sea, radio waves carried the conversation of Miss Lola Christensen (second from left) of Hutchinson, Minn., and her soldier sweetheart, Private Milburn Henke, first American soldier to land in Northern Ireland. Also talking to Henke from Minneapolis were his German-born father, Carl Henke (left), cafe operator, and the soldier's mother (right). Second from right is a radio station announcer, Peter Lyman.

Much Speculation On New Chairman

Raleigh, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Speculation grew here today regarding a successor to Emery B. Denny of Gastonia as State Democratic chairman in the wake of his appointment as an associate justice of the State Supreme Court.

Denny, a lawyer, was named to the bench yesterday by Governor J. M. Broughton to fill out the vacancy caused by the death of Associate Justice Heriot Clarkson. Denny was manager of the governor's campaign in the 1940 Democratic primary.

The term runs until January 1, 1943. Denny will probably seek reelection in the campaign this year along with two other members of the Supreme Court. Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy and Associate Justice Michael Schenck.

Among those mentioned for the State Democratic chairmanship were D. Hicken Ramsey of Asheville, Monroe Redden of Hendersonville, Mayor Dick Reynolds of Winston-Salem and Jonathan Daniels of Raleigh.

Sentenced to Death

Mrs. Sue Logue (above), of Edgefield, S. C., was sentenced to death in court at nearby Lexington after conviction of having been an accessory in the killing of Davis Timmerman, a merchant of her neighborhood. Clarence Bagwell of Spartanburg, convicted of the actual slaying, and Mrs. Logue's brother-in-law, George R. Logue, found guilty of being an accessory, also were sentenced to death.

Potatoes To Be Higher

Raleigh, Jan. 30 (AP)—Due to increased consumer demand, the State Department of Agriculture reported today, potatoes are expected to bring higher prices in North Carolina in 1942.

Present prospects, however, it was said, indicate a slight decrease in the planting of potatoes.

TAR HEEL FIVE FACES CADETS

Coach Hopes Foe Not Versed In WFC Brand of Play

Raleigh, Jan. 30 (AP)—Coach Bill Lange of North Carolina probably is praying today that the cadets of Virginia Military Institute don't know anything about the basketball zone defense.

Coach Lange's Tar Heels and the Cadets will play at Chapel Hill tonight.

Most basketball teams in this section use the man-to-man defense, but Coach Murray Greason of Wake Forest decided that it might be a good idea to shift from the man-to-man to the zone defense for the Deacons' game with Carolina last Tuesday night.

It worked like a charm. The fast-breaking Tar Heels just could not penetrate Wake Forest's version of the zone defense, and when it was all over North Carolina had suffered its first big five and its second Southern Conference defeat of the season to the tune of 36-20.

So you can understand why Coach Lange is praying that the Cadets have never even heard of the zone defense. Anyway, it would be safe to wage that he has been giving his once mighty midgets a few lessons in tackling the zone style of play.

The game tonight will be the 7th Southern Conference contest for the Tar Heels. In addition to the loss to Wake Forest they were nosed out by South Carolina, but have chalked up victories over Wake Forest, Clemson, Davidson and State. VMI has won one conference game and lost two. One of their defeats was by a 52-47 score to Duke, but the Blue Devils had to come from behind in the last five minutes.

Duke and N. C. State will mix in the only other Big Five battle scheduled this week-end. The game will be played in Durham Saturday night.

Edgecombe Fatality.
Tarboro, Jan. 30 (AP)—Passers-by found Edward J. Fennell of Fairmont pinned under his car in a ditch five miles east of here yesterday. They brought him to Tarboro but he died enroute. He was on his way from Fairmont to Newport News, Va., where he worked.

WILL ATTEMPT LEARN TO SWIM

Newsman With British Fleet Now On Furlough

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Through all the hair-breadth escapes and hair-raising experiences that go with traveling nearly 100,000 miles aboard British battlewagons at war, Larry Allen, the AP's most-traveled seagoing correspondent, was painfully aware that he lacked one vital accomplishment.

He couldn't swim.
But today, on furlough from reporting the British Mediterranean fleet's activities for readers back home in the U. S. A., Allen took a solemn pledge with the sole idea it may save his life, which he almost lost when the British cruiser Galatea was sunk under him by Axis torpedoes.
"I'm going to try," he said, "to learn to swim."
For the war isn't over by a long shot, he added, and neither is his part in it.

"We'll be in this war for a long time," Allen predicted on his arrival here yesterday. "At a minimum, three years, at a maximum five years. I expect to get back into it, and I want to."

He based this forecast on the belief that while the Italian Navy had fallen in the Mediterranean, the Germans were still formidable—and the British as well.
"The morale of the British fleet is excellent," he said. "They are the most courageous people I have ever seen. They never count the potential loss when going into battle, or the chances they are taking. Neither the Germans nor the Italians—especially the Italians—can match them at sea."
"The Italians have an excellent ship fleet, but they won't come out to fight. They have five battle-ships, 14 to 16 cruisers, 30 to 40 destroyers, 70 to 80 submarines, but most of them hug their ports. The British shoot straighter and think quicker."
"German morale is still excellent. The German U-boat prisoners I have seen and talked to recently remain hearty and confident."

Grain Market

Chicago, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Grain and soybeans advanced in early trading here today but then gave up much or all of the gains following the President's statement expressing dissatisfaction with the provisions of the new price control law which would permit farm prices to rise to 110 per cent of parity.
Wheat closed 1/8-3/4 higher than yesterday, May $1.31 1/2, July $1.32 1/2; corn 1/8-1/4 higher, May 88-3/4, July 90-1/2; oats 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher; rye 1-1/2 up, May 87-1/2; soybeans 1/4 higher.

Allen In Hospital

Larry Allen, Associated Press war correspondent who was rescued from the Mediterranean after the British cruiser Galatea was sunk in mid-December, is shown in bed in a hospital at Alexandria, Egypt, as he typed out the story of his experience which capped his eye-witness account of every major battle fought by the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

PRICE CONTROL BILL IS SIGNED

Roosevelt, However, Sees Danger In Concessions

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed the price control bill today and told reporters that it was good in many respects but that provisions applying to farm prices offered a danger.
These provisions, he said, provide a real danger in that no farm price could be stabilized below 110 per cent of parity.
For eight years, he said, the administration has sought to work toward parity prices for farmers and the bill, he added, represents a very definite violation of that objective.
The measure, with the farm provisions, he said, provides a threat to the cost of living.
Nevertheless, he said, the bill is certainly worth having and is the best that could be obtained at this time.
The chief executive asserted that undoubtedly the toes of a great many people must be stepped on in administering it.
He said he hoped that the administration of the bill would be vigorous and suggested that later on gaps in the legislation could be filled in and if necessary, amendments requested.
If need be, he said, Congress will be asked to correct the 110 per cent of parity sections.

250,000 Japanese Reported Engaged

London, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A British military commentator today estimated the total Japanese strength in Malaya, the Philippines, Borneo and New Guinea at about 250,000 men.
He divided these forces as follows:
Malaya—Six divisions totaling about 100,000 men.
Philippines—Four divisions.
(American officials put the Japanese Philippine force at 200,000.)
Borneo and adjacent islands—Two divisions.
New Guinea—One division.

15 Per Cent Tax On Wages Talked

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A 15 per cent payroll tax on all salaries above $1,000 a year was reported under discussion in administration circles today as evidence developed that congressional and treasury officials thus far had failed to agree on fundamental principles of the new revenue bill.
Treasury experts, faced with the necessity of raising $7,000,000,000 in general taxes if they are to meet President Roosevelt's request, were said to have renewed their suggestions of last year for a 15 per cent levy on payrolls, withheld at the source.
They were understood to have won some influential converts to this proposal, despite what other legislators described as mounting sentiment in Congress for imposition of a retail sales tax. The House Ways and Means Committee informally rejected the withholding tax proposal last year and a substantial number of members indicated recently they favored, instead, a sales levy.

Ball To Conclude Annual Campaign

The March of Dimes campaign which was concluded today, was unofficially declared to have been the most successful ever conducted in the city and throughout the county.
No tabulation has been made, but officials said that all indications were that the amount raised through this medium would exceed any previous figure.
The Birthday Ball to be held at the college tonight will bring to a climax the campaign to raise funds for infantile paralysis work. Three hundred service men have been invited to be special guests at tonight's dance, which also will feature a floor show. The public is urged to cooperate with the movement by attending the dance as spectators or participants.

General M'Arthur Sends Greetings

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Fighting has been light on Batan peninsula in the last 24 hours, the War Department reported today but the arrival of fresh Japanese troops at the front and movements behind the lines indicated the enemy was preparing to resume a large scale offensive against General Douglas MacArthur's positions.
General MacArthur today sent the following message to the President:
"Today, January 30, the anniversary of your birth, smoke-begrimed men, covered with the marks of battle, rise from the fox holes of Batan and the batteries of Corregidor to pray reverently that God may bless immeasurably the President of the United States."

Grimesland's PTA Has Good Record

The financial report of the Grimesland High School Parent-Teacher Association, which organization has recently purchased five $100 defense bonds, shows that the organization has a total cash balance of $914.32.
In addition to the $500 in defense bonds, the association has $39.32 deposited in the bank and $75 cash on hand.
Total receipts of the association as of date amount to $1,597.35, including $329.31 left over from 1940-41. The largest single item on the credit side of the ledger is $1,094.05 taken in from dances sponsored by the organization. Against this is only $361.82 paid out for the dance music.

The list of expenditures lists such items as laboratory supplies, building and ground improvements, song books, athletics, police duties at dances and supplementary books for the school.

In making public the report officials stated that this has been an unusual year for a school of 500 pupils and expressed appreciation to the untiring efforts of the Finance committee, which is responsible to a great degree for the success enjoyed. The committee is composed of Mrs. Heber Brooks, Mrs. F. A. Elks, Mrs. T. P. Fleming, M. H. Godley, Heber Brooks and J. L. Outlaw. The Refreshment Committee, which also aided much in the work, is composed of Mrs. Lela Hoell, Mrs. Dan White and Mrs. Dela Galloway.

Others specifically mentioned in the report were J. J. Elks, R. A. Fleming, Jennings Stokes, the school faculty, Jake and Eddie band, W. B. Paramore and Milan Tuten.
