Pursuit Planes Attack Strong Jap Force in Java

LOSE ONE SHIP BUT DOWN TWO

Washington Communique Reports Lull in Fighting On Bataan; Nothing New From Other Areas

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—U. S. Army pursuit planes attacked a greatly superior force of Japanese bombers and fighting planes in Java, shooting down one enemy bomber and one enemy pursuit ship, the War Department announced today.

One American plane is missing. The American planes were P-40 fighters, and this was the first indication that planes of this type piloted by American Army fliers had reached The Netherlands East Indies.

There was a lull in the fighting on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines in the last 24 hours, the Department said, with combat limited to minor patrol actions.

The text of the communique, No. 92 of the war, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., is as follows:

1. Philippine theater: "There was a lull in the battle of Bataan during the past 24 hours. Combat was limited to relatively minor patrol actions, which lacked the savage character of the fighting which has been almost continuous during the past two weeks. The Japanese troops confronting our right sector are under the command of Lieut. General Akira Nagata, and those facing our left are under Lieut. Gen. Naoki Kimura. There was no marked activity in either sector.

2. Netherlands Indies: "Over Java a small formation of American Army P-40 fighting planes encountered a greatly superior force of Japanese bombers, escorted by pursuit aircraft. In the ensuing combat one enemy bomber and one enemy pursuit plane were shot down. One of our planes is missing.

3. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Housing Shortage In Defense Areas

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A critical housing shortage is indicated in almost all of the nation's key defense areas, and residential vacancies were found to be below normal in nine-tenths of such areas, the Works Progress Administration reported today.

The agency said it surveyed 287 defense areas and that in all but 25 the excess number of vacant family dwelling units was less than 5 per cent, the figure considered "normal" and in most cases less than half the vacant dwellings were habitable.

In 111 areas, the report disclosed, the vacancy ratio was less than two per cent, indicating a "critical" housing shortage.

The federal government now has under way programs calling for expenditure of approximately $500,000,000 for housing facilities in defense areas.

Ultimate Penalty

London, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Admiralty asserted today that several Italian submarines had "paid the ultimate penalty" after having been sent to help the Germans' submarine campaign in the Atlantic.

One of these, the Admiralty said, was the Ferraris, an 880-ton craft armed with eight torpedoes, two 3.9-inch guns, which was sunk late in 1941 after having been damaged by a United States-built Catalina flying boat.

The Admiralty said the Ferraris had had an "eventful but unsuccessful" history. "She was one of four Italian submarines which escaped from Massaua, Eritrea, on the Red Sea, when Italy left her East Africa empire and which made a 14,000-mile voyage back to Europe without incident. Such a cruise was made possible by meeting with a German supply ship which was sailing under the stars and stripes."

Declares Russia To Regain Areas

Soviet President Asserts That The Time Is Near When All Lost Republics Will Again Be United With Mother Country

Moscow, Feb. 5.—(AP)—President Michael Kalinin in a message to the Soviet people today proclaimed that "the hour is near when all the occupied republics (of Russia) will return to the family" of the Soviet Union.

Closer and closer each day, he said, the Red army is approaching the borders of White Russia, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania.

"Every day," he went on, "more occupied places in the Ukraine return to their country (Russia)." His message spread across the main pages of the newspapers, said that although the Germans were fighting for every inch of ground the Russians had driven the invaders back as far as 175 miles in some places.

Kalinin said that the Red army had learned much while it was being pushed back by the German offensive, and that it also made preparations for its own counter-attack while it was withdrawing.

"The Germans never will recapture from the Red army the initiative which now has been gained," he declared.

Premier Josef Stalin's call to the army and the people gave tremendous impetus to the Russian attack and seemed to double the Soviet forces, Kalinin said.

The president asserted that Hitler had sacrificed everything in trying to realize his dream of occupying Moscow, and that now that dream was pursuing him like a shadow. The German Fuehrer paid a lot for it and will pay more, Kalinin added.

While the world awaited the fall of Moscow, he declared, "the Red army command laid plans to defeat him at the gates of the capital."

To Open Bids For New Coastal Road

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Bids for the construction of a new road across the Camden causeway, east of Elizabeth City, will probably be opened in March, Ben Prince, chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, announced today.

A survey for the new road has been made and W. S. Winslow, hydrographic engineer of the department, will turn it over to draftsmen soon. The drafting department normally requires about 30 days to prepare plans after receiving a survey. The plans must be completed before bids are requested.

Meanwhile, Prince said, steps are being taken to repair heavy damage done to the old causeway, long famous as the "floating road" of Camden.

Highway officials here have estimated it will take two years to build the road.

HOSPITAL SHIP RAIDED AT SEA

Wounded From Philippines Reach Port, However

Melbourne, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Nurses and wounded men from the Philippines who have reached an Australian port, described today how the Japanese raided their hospital ship nine times between midday to late afternoon on January 8.

One of the wounded in the party—all of whom were Americans—said: "The fighters and bombers came over like swarms of flies. But all the wounded were cheerful and declared that their only wish was to get well and have another crack at the Japs."

A nurse said that the bombing gave her "butterfly stomachs" and added "we tried to grin and bear it and carried on the best we could but the bomb crashes made our stomachs act as though butterflies were flying about inside."

The hospital ship conveyed the wounded from Manila where it sailed within 50 hours after being chartered by the American Red Cross.

On January 15 the U. S. Army announced that the Army hospital ship Macian, 2,067 tons, had arrived safely at Darwin, Australia, with soldiers and sailors wounded in the Philippines. She sailed from Manila just before the new year.

War Not To Halt Missionary Work

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—A policy of continuing church work in the Philippines and in Japan despite the war was declared here today by the Episcopal church through its house of bishops.

The policy was determined when the house, composed of nearly 100 bishops from all parts of the nation, decided it would elect a new bishop of the Philippines and designate another bishop to look after interests of the Episcopal church having relations with Japan.

The house elected the Rt. Rev. Norman Binsted of Manila, former American bishop of one of the Episcopal church's dioceses in Japan, as bishop of the Philippine Islands. When last heard from, he was carrying on his work in the Manila area. He succeeds the late Bishop G. F. Mosher.

Reds Pressing Winter Campaign To Break Nazis Before Spring Offensive Can Be Launched; News On African Front Not So Encouraging, However, With Axis Claiming Further Advances

(By The Associated Press) Soviet Russia's winter campaign, designed to cripple the Nazis and break their spring offensive before it can get under way, pressed steadily forward today, with the Soviets reporting the capture of centers of resistance at a cost to the Germans of at least 8,000 officers and soldiers killed and wounded.

On the North African front, British headquarters declared Imperial mobile columns and patrols were active "along the whole of our front," but gave no details of the fighting.

Premier Mussolini's high command said Axis troops had swept beyond Derna, 95 miles west of Tobruk, and were "continuing to pursue the enemy eastward."

This meant that the Axis counter-offensive had already rolled back within 175 miles of the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, regaining half the ground lost in the British thrust which drove Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces to El Agheila on the border of Tripolitania.

Coupled with the Axis resurgence in Libya, Moscow newspapers warned Turkey to "keep its eyes open" because Hitler "is up to something in the Balkans."

A Soviet commentator said Hitler planned to seize the Turkish-controlled Dardanelles as a gateway to the oil-rich Caucasus and the Eastern Mediterranean, and cited three reasons for the warning to Turkey:

1. The arrival of Nazi Field Marshal Wilhelm List at Salonika, Greece.

2. The return to Berlin of Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey.

3. The charge by German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels that Britain had given Russia a free hand in the Dardanelles.

Foreign military experts at Bern, Switzerland, said the Russian-German campaign had entered a critical phase which would determine how strong a spring offensive Germany could launch when the winter breaks.

These quarters said the Russians might well cripple the Germans if they could capture the key bases of Novgorod, south of Leningrad; Vyazma, on the Smolensk highway; and Orel and Kharkov, south of Moscow.

Russian war reports indicated the Red army was pressing hardest in three salients—west of Moscow toward Smolensk; in the south-central front between Kursk and Kharkov; and in the Donets basin.

The front ran roughly from below Leningrad through the Novgorod sector, thence around Lake Ilmen and toward Velikie Luki; back around Rzhhev, then down to a point west of Kirov.

FINAL ACTION COMPLETED ON TWO WAR BILLS

Naval Supply and Aid To China Measures Passed

BOTH ARE SENT TO WHITE HOUSE

Senate Passes Supply Bill In 5 Minutes After Acting Promptly On Measure To Aid China

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Senate completed legislative action in five minutes today on a $26,495,265,474 naval supply bill, boosting Congress' total military appropriations to approximately $39,000,000,000 in the first month of this session.

This action followed swiftly on a 74 to 0 vote by which it passed and sent to the White House a measure making $500,000,000 in financial aid available to China, the fund to be administered by the Secretary of the treasury under direction of the President.

The huge naval bill, largest measure of its kind ever to win final approval of a legislative body, now goes to President Roosevelt for his expected early signature. Congress previously had voted and the President approved a $12,550,000,000 army airplane appropriation.

As finally approved, the navy measure carried approximately $8,000,000,000 in cash and contract authority to produce 25,063 additional airplanes and equipment for the navy in the next six months.

Ship construction would entail expenditures of $8,206,000, fleet operations would cost $6,223,000,000 and $1,339,000,000 would go to ordnance and personal payments.

Only 20 minutes of debate preceded Senate passage of the China aid measure.

Passed yesterday by the House, the bill was approved speedily by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after about two hours of testimony during which Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Secretary of Commerce Jones supported its provisions.

Committee members said the money to be made available could be used for a direct loan, the establishment of credit for China in this country and for the support of the Chinese currency. This aid would be in addition to lease-lend help, they explained.

Scouts Here Plan Father-Son Fete

The week of February 8-14 will be celebrated all over the world as "Boy Scout Week." The Pitt county district of the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate this occasion by holding its annual Father and Son Banquet at the Woman's club Thursday evening, February 12 with dinner starting at 6:30.

Tickets for this banquet are priced at 60 cents each and are now in the hands of scout troop leaders and Pitt county scout directors.

All Scouts and fathers who expect to attend this dinner are urged to buy their tickets at once as the committee in charge must know exactly how many will attend the banquet by Monday, February 9.

A full program is now being planned with each group participating. The court of honor will climax the evening.

Who Stole My Buggy Wheels?

Reality of the current rubber shortage is emphasized in an important manner to Walter Scott (above) of Calago, who can't quite understand why—on his second birthday, of all days—somebody stole all four rubber-tired wheels from his buggy. Walter's mother, Mrs. Harold C. Henson, said the wheels were taken when burglars ransacked her home.

FRENCH TOLD YANKS COMING

RAF Bombers Dropping U.S. Pamphlets over France

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—RAF bombers, doubling as delivery boys for the U.S.A., are strewn occupied France with pamphlets by the millions, proclaiming the gigantic scope of America's war plans and conveying to a conquered people the implicit message: "The Yanks are coming."

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early made known the newest series of pamphlet raids today, and disclosed that the leaflet bombardment was particularly intense on the Brittany Peninsula.

The same ports and towns were the first to see the doughboys a quarter of a century ago, and that maritime section of France would be one of the first likely theatres of action whenever the United Nations are ready to open a major invasion campaign to regain the continent.

Early, who reported that a total of 1,417,500 pamphlets had been dropped in the latest raids, said he had been told that operations to date constituted "the biggest leaflet bombing job ever done." More than 2,000,000 pamphlets were dropped in the initial raids a month ago.

Significant or not, the Brittany area was the first and only section to date to be blanketed with a new pamphlet—one which contains President Roosevelt's pledge that the United States will "put the weapons of war at the proper time into the hands of those men in the conquered nations, who stand ready to seize the first opportunity to revolt."

The intensive pamphlet bombing served notice that the United States which used ideological weapons with telling success against Kaiser Wilhelm's reich, was neglecting no fronts in the total war campaign it had planned for a long-pull victory.

In the current struggle, however, it will be some time before the Nazis themselves are pelted with American printed matter. "The first pamphlets they get from this country," remarked one highly placed official, "will be bombs."

Saboteurs Active In South Africa

Capetown, Union of South Africa, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Wire-cutting saboteurs caused serious disruption of telegraph and telephone communications in South Africa last night.

Capetown was cut off from Johannesburg for three and one-half hours and Johannesburg cable traffic was delayed.

Invaders Hesitate, However, To Risk Direct Land Drive as Flaming Artillery Duel Rages Across Narrow Strait; British Acknowledge Threat Of Direct Nippon Thrust On Raigoon

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor Japan's siege armies still hesitated to gamble on a direct assault against Singapore amid flaming artillery duels across the mile-wide Johore Strait today, while Japanese warplanes again attacked the big Dutch naval base at Soerabaja, Java, and Port Moresby, New Guinea.

British headquarters said Singapore's defense guns silenced Japanese batteries and raked Japanese transports in the Johore Bahru area directly across from the beleaguered island.

Overhead, RAF fighters battled Japanese warplanes which had inflicted nearly 300 casualties in two days—63 killed and 228 wounded.

A Tokyo broadcast said Japanese siege guns had been thundering across Johore strait since 6 p. m. yesterday, Singapore time, pouring a steady stream of fire into British troops in a grove of rubber trees near the head of the dynamited causeway to the Malay mainland.

RAF scout planes said a heavy movement of Japanese troops southward through Johore state was still progressing.

In the Indies, a Dutch commander reported that despite violent bombing attacks the spirit of his troops "remains like red peppers and we will be indomitable."

Four-engine Japanese flying boats attacked Port Moresby before dawn, dropping 30 bombs and blazing a way with cannon and machinegun fire in the second raid there in three days.

Port Moresby is the Capital of Papua, in southeastern New Guinea, 300 miles from Cape York, Australia.

An N.E.I. communique acknowledged fires were set and material damage inflicted in the Japanese assault on Soerabaja this morning, following up Tuesday's initial raid in which 70 to 80 Rising Sun bombers with a strong fighter escort attacked the vital base.

The Japanese claimed they had shot down or destroyed on the ground 85 planes in Tuesday's raid. The Dutch admitted "very considerable" losses in aircraft.

Other developments in the worldwide conflict included: American front—The German high command asserted that Nazi U-boats operating off the Atlantic coast had sunk six more merchant ships totaling 47,000 tons, including a 25,000-ton oil ship.

The British acknowledged that Japanese patrols had crossed the lower Salween river at a number of points, creating the threat of a direct thrust against Raigoon, the Burmese capital.

British artillery had previously held the Japanese at bay on the east bank of the Salween, forcing the invaders to turn north instead of swinging around the Gulf of Martaban for a drive against Raigoon.

The British also acknowledged that Japanese forces had captured Paan, 30 miles above Moumein. (Continued on page six)

UAWA Demands

Detroit, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers (UAW) announced today the union had drawn up six demands, including a union shop clause and a $1 daily increase, for submission to General Motors Corporation in forthcoming wage negotiations.

The proposals, said Walter P. Reuther, director of the union's G. M. department, will be acted upon Saturday and Sunday by the G. M. council representing 190,000 workers in 90 corporation plants.

Under terms of the union's agreement with General Motors which expires in April, other party may reopen negotiations on 60 days' notice.

Reuther said that wage increases obtained a year ago by the UAW-CIO in corporation plants and amounting to 15 cents an hour "have been offset entirely by rising living costs."

Start Rationing New Autos Feb. 26

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(AP)—State Civilian Defense Director T. S. Johnson said today that general rationing of new automobiles would not start before February 26.

New automobile business will open again February 12, he said, but deliveries will be confined to purchases made before January 1 and undelivered because of frozen stocks.

Johnson said all such transactions must be completed by February 26. After then, no cars may be purchased without priority certificates issued by rationing boards.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wyatt Brown and Mrs. Wiley Brown have returned from a visit in Miami, Fla. Mrs. Wiley Brown has been in Florida since the first of January.

Miss Kathryn Youngblood is recuperating from a week of illness.

Ernest Griffin, assistant pharmacist at Bissett's, has given up his work to assume military duties.

Inter Se Book Club.—"North Carolinians have been writing poetry for a long time and several of them have found their way into the best anthologies," said Richard "Wesley" in his talk on "North Carolina Poetry," before the Inter Se Book Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vance Perkins.

Mr. Wesley began with the appearance of verse in North Carolina prior to the Revolutionary War—early as this type of literature appeared in America—and brought the history up to date. He mentioned outstanding poets along the way and especially emphasized the works of John Charles McNeill, 1874-1907, James Loftin Pearson, Olive Thilford Dargatzis and Anne Blackwell Payne. From his recently published book "North Carolina Poetry," Mr. Wesley in a very charming and interpretative fashion, read selections by these authors. He told why and how he first became interested in collecting North Carolina poetry and interspersed the historical sketches with delightful human interest stories gathered from personal interviews with North Carolina poets while his book was in the making. His talk was both entertaining and informative and one that his audience will long remember.

Mrs. Bob Lang was a special guest for this occasion.

Mrs. Perkins served a delicious sweet course with coffee.

Mrs. Marvin Blount, president of the club, presided over a short business session before Mr. Walter's address.

Miss Frances Carson Honored.—Mrs. Ralph Carson and Mrs. W. H. Rogerson entertained Miss Frances Carson at a lovely shower and reception, at the home of Mrs. G. Whitehurst in Bethel on Thursday night.

Mrs. Clara Roberson greeted the guests at the door, and introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carson, Mrs. W. H. Rogerson, Mrs. Huldah Carson, mother of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Whitehurst and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thomas.

The guests were then directed to the dining room by Mrs. G. R. Whitehurst, where they were served ice cream, cake, nuts and mints, using the bridal motif of green and white.

The dining room was decorated with carnations and narcissus. Gladioli were used throughout the house.

Miss Ruby D. Manning, Miss Marjorie Williamson, Mrs. Robert Whitehurst and Miss Frances Taylor assisted in serving.

Following refreshments, guests were directed to the register, which was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Faust Johnson. Mrs. B. C. Manning of Greenville directed them to the gift room, where Mrs. J. D. Hammingway, Mrs. Bob Martin and Mrs. Wadie Carson presided.

Mrs. Joe Bowers and Mrs. Sam Whitehurst rendered lovely piano selections throughout the evening. About one hundred guests called.

Cllo Club Meets.—The members of the Cllo Club met Tuesday afternoon, February 3 at the home of Mrs. W. S. Bost. Following the regular routine of business, Mrs. Dink James read a very interesting paper "Sculpture" which had been prepared by Mrs. Fred Haar. She stated that from the time the first man broke away from the ground, he was carving a branch and smoothed the surface for a weapon until the present time, when delicate likenesses are reproduced, man has expressed some idea, some feeling or some experience in sculpture. She gave illustrations and showed pictures of pieces of sculpture from various periods.

During the "Golden Age" in Greece, the Greek sculptor finally gave full expression to his genius and from that day to this, no one has ever surpassed the beauty or the artistry of statues he carved out of native rock or cast in bronze. In this period Myron, famous for the "Discus Thrower," Polyctatus, for the "Spear Bearer" and Phidias, for his direction in decorating the Parthenon stand out.

With John Quincy Adams Ward, the first truly American sculptor began. The Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial, by Gutzon Borglum, is a type this country has produced. The beautiful Brookgreen Gardens near Georgetown, S. C., is a sanctuary for sculpture. The gardens were presented to the state of South Carolina by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Huntington and Anna Hyatt Huntington, has a great many of their own works there.

During a delightful social hour, the hostess served a salad course with coffee.

Undergoes Operation.
Little Miss Barbara Nobles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Nobles, is getting along nicely following a tonsilectomy Wednesday.

Veazey-Ricks.
Mr. and Mrs. William Hyman Ricks announce the marriage of their daughter Imogene to Mr. Carl Edwin Veazey on Thursday, February fifth. Nineteen hundred and forty-two Richmond, Virginia.

Miss Imogene Ricks of Greenville and Mr. Carl Edwin Veazey of Wilmington, were united in marriage in an impressive private ceremony at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in Ginter Park Baptist Church, in Richmond, Virginia. Dr. T. Rupert Coleman, pastor of the church, officiated in the ceremony.

The bride and bridegroom entered the church together and were unattended.

The bride wore a Dusty Rose crepe dress with matching hat and accessories of Turf tan. Her corsage was of Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Veazey is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hyman Ricks of Greenville. She received her education in the Greenville city schools, St. Margaret's School for Girls in Tappanhook, Va., Chatham Hall at Chatham, Va., and East Carolina Teachers College in Greenville. For the past five years she has been assistant secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association.

Mr. Veazey is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Veazey of Wilmington. He attended Oak Ridge Military Academy and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is a representative of the Cawthorne Paper Company of Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Veazey will be at home in Greenville and Wilmington.

At noon today Miss Ricks and Mr. Veazey, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ricks, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ricks and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Mangum of Durham, were luncheon guests of Dr. and Mrs. T. Rupert Coleman in Richmond. Dr. Coleman is a cousin of Mr. Veazey.

Last evening, Mrs. V. C. Staton, Sr., Mrs. Phillip Kramer and Mrs. James Keel entertained informally at the home of Mrs. Staton, honoring Miss Ricks and Mr. Veazey.

The home was attractively decorated for the occasion with gladioli, narcissi and fern.

In the dining room a Valentine motif was observed. The table was covered with a cloth of lace and centered with a bowl of red gladioli and white narcissi. Red and white candles burned at either side of the centerpiece.

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Bill Swindell, served ice cream and cake, candy hearts and nuts.

The honor guests were presented a shower of crystal from the friends present.

The guests for the evening were intimate friends of the bride.

College Assembly Program.
At the college assembly Tuesday, Miss Louise Williams, president of the A. A. U. W., and Chilton Britton, of the college Chi Pi Players, who is directing "Little Black Sambo and the Tigers," told the college students why this children's play was to be given at the college and how much there is in it for adults to enjoy.

The play is being sponsored by the American Association of University Women, said Miss Williams, to help bring joy and beauty and laughter to children, a thing that is always of importance and never more so than now, when children, too, are feeling "war nerves."

The children will enjoy the play, she told the college students, because of its realism and at the same time, its make-believe. You will enjoy the artistry of the sets and the bits of philosophy scattered through it.

Britton talked of the acting in the play and the points of technical interest, such as the problem of getting the tigers to turn into "a pool of melted butter."

Children saw the play this afternoon. It will be repeated tonight at 3 o'clock for the pleasure of an adult audience as well as any children who wish to come then.

Dance Sponsor

Miss Mary Eaker, of the seven attractive sponsors of Interform-Grail dances to be held Friday and Saturday nights at the University of North Carolina. When meat scientists produced the new tasty, spiced luncheon meat, it was now a familiar canned food in millions of homes, they performed a service that may be specially valuable to those who observe Lenten fast days.

One great advantage of these products, in addition to the speed with which it may be prepared and served, is the fact that a can serves a family of four adequately and leaves no left-overs as refrigerator temptations on ensuing fast days.

"Mor" is made from carefully selected pork shoulder meat, cured and spiced just right to bring out the full meat flavor.

It can be served "quick as a wink" as a cold plate, or in sandwiches for factory, or school lunch boxes. It can be prepared as a hot dinner dish in ten minutes by placing in a moderate oven at 350 degrees F. It may be fried to serve with eggs, waffles or pancakes.

On bread or toast, it may be fashioned into dainty appetizers. It may be diced for salads and omelettes.

If taxes and rising living costs are straining your family budget, spiced luncheon meats in the 12-ounce tin will save money on the meat course, while providing valuable vitamin content for vitality requirements.

Downstream, however, the Japanese succeeded in recapturing the town of Poklo, on the main road, 10 miles below Waichow.

On both sides of the Chang river, in the Nanchang area, the Chinese reported they slaughtered or wounded 2,600 Japanese, wiping out a garrison at a railroad town on the east bank.

Five hundred soldiers of the Nanking puppet regime who recently deserted the Japanese and joined Chiang Kai-Shek are being reorganized behind the Chinese lines, the Chinese reported.

A Chinese army spokesman said at a press conference today that five Japanese divisions totaling about 100,000 men had been withdrawn from China since the Pacific war began.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

"Working every single day May be new to all the other Workers in this U. S. A. But it's old, old stuff to Mother."

So runs a new jingle. But, seriously, who puts in longer hours than the homemaker? Who makes a more vital daily contribution to our nation's great health-for-defense program?

George Rector
Food Consultant for Wilson & Co.

MEAT THRIFT TIPS
It is the well-informed shopper who gets the most for her food money.

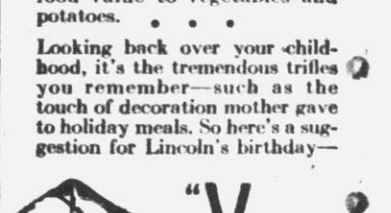

For example, in buying ham, remember that the longer meat must be baked, the more it shrinks. You pay for those wasted pounds. But you can't see them.

HOW TO PREVENT THIS WASTE
Ask your dealer for a Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham. It comes ready to serve. Or you can serve it hot and juicy by heating it in your oven for only five minutes to the pound. Thus there's no wasteful shrinkage—more meat to serve.

EACH POUND COSTS LESS
A whole ham costs less per pound. Buy it whenever you can. Make money-saving dishes like creamed ham, ham hash, ham loaf. Use the bone for delicious dried pea or bean soup. Use the richly-flavored fat to add interest and food value to vegetables and potatoes.

Looking back over your childhood, it's the tremendous trifles you remember—such as the touch of decoration mother gave to holiday meals. So here's a suggestion for Lincoln's birthday—

Follow my recipe enclosed with Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham (the ham you cut with a fork—and only Wilson & Co. makes it).

When the ham is done, remove the skin. Stick cloves in the fat to make an American flag. Melt red jelly in a double boiler. Pour it over the ham and return to the oven to glaze. Some feast, this!

A DOLLAR DINNER TO SERVE FOUR
Casserole of Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages with sauerkraut, seasoned with caraway seeds.

Potato Dumplings
Carrot and Cabbage Salad
Apple Brown Betty

SAUSAGE HINTS
Choose the ones that are made of all choice pork (no cereal filling) and where the seasoning is a perfect blend of spices. Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages fill this bill exactly.

Simmer sausage links for five minutes in water before browning them. (Keeps 'em plump.)

BUY DEFENSE BONDS

Rector Recommends... Short ribs of Wilson's Gela Sealed Beef. It requires no imagination to grasp why Gela Sealed Beef, Lamb and Veal (which have had all their fresh goodness sealed in with a coating of edible gelatine) are super-clean, super-fine in flavor, super-fresh.

See you next week. G. R.

Chapter Seven

On The Terrace

"What will you have, Stafford?" Mr. Goodwin asked as, a moment later, Tom and the Countess joined them.

The sturdy man's drink for the sturdy "masculine" Tom, Sharon found herself thinking. Quite a new angle for an undercover agent to take. Mr. Goodwin was clever to have penetrated this college-graduate approach so quickly. But Harvey Goodwin could outwit Tom with his eyes blindfolded, she thought proudly. She'd never known a man so absolutely the master of any situation.

Even here, she glanced around the friends gathered in his drawing room—people who in themselves were a compliment to his good taste, his charming personality—even among this distinguished company, Goodwin was outstanding.

Glancing at him, she found his eyes on her and flushed, hoping her face hadn't betrayed her thoughts. And then, woman-fashion, wished they had. Surely some day he'd know how much she admired him—if he didn't know it already. Admired and was just a little afraid of him too. Afraid that those dark eyes of his would find her lacking, uncover her inexperience.

"Harvey, darling," the Countess was saying when Sharon's thoughts came back to the conversation. "Since Mr. Stafford is such an ardent duck hunter, why don't you show him your gun collection?"

"I'd like to very much," Goodwin replied eagerly. "It's an old hobby of mine—picking up old firearms. If you'd really be interested—"

"I would, very much," Tom assured him. "But—" he hesitated, turned toward Sharon and the Countess.

"Oh, you're excused," the Countess laughed graciously. "Nothing would bore me more. I'm frightened to death of guns."

Goodwin smiled. "She is, at that. Even an old musket that has to be loaded from a powder horn unnerves her. Take Miss Doyle out onto the terrace, why don't you, Edna? She's never seen that view."

The Countess turned that lovely smile toward Sharon and once again Sharon was aware of veiled antagonism. "I'd be charmed."

Probably she was only being overly sensitive, Sharon told herself as she followed the Countess out onto the shadowed, flag-stoned terrace. It was all so new, so terribly exciting. And the Countess had been so clever in helping Mr. Goodwin carry Tom off to his study for a little private interview. Not that Tom would know he was being interviewed!

The Countess stood now against a bricked wall, her beautiful dark head thrown back as she gazed out across the bay. Her sleek black hair was pulled back, Madonna fashion, into a smooth knot at the nape of her neck. Outlined by the light behind her, her profile was cameo line, delicate. She was very beautiful, Sharon thought. Beautiful and clever and—with a little pang—a perfect match for Harvey Goodwin.

Suddenly, Sharon was conscious that the Countess had not spoken. Her heart racing, she tried to put a label on the little tears that rushed at her out of the strange silence. When the Countess' voice finally broke that silence, the words came, carefully low, steel-cold.

"I think we were not noticed," she said, glancing toward the lighted drawing room. "I think we are not overheard. So listen carefully. Earlier this evening, Mr. Goodwin gave me an important document. A very important document. It contained information so vital that should it fall into enemy hands—we are ruined. Unfortunately, that document has been—shall we say—misplaced. It must be found. I have reason to believe it was dropped accidentally here on the terrace. You are to search here until you find it. Do you understand?"

Chilled by the tone of the Countess' command, she stood numb for a moment, trying to believe her ears weren't deceiving her. "I—I am to find—"

"The document is contained in a long blue envelope," the Countess went on relentlessly. "I must not stay here lest someone observe and wonder about my absence. You will not be missed—at least for the present. Harvey will keep your friend occupied. But you must be quick. And the letter must be found!"

"I'll—try," Sharon whispered. But the Countess had turned away, was moving serenely back to the drawing room. Sharon's glimpse of her as she stepped into the room caught the Countess' lovely smile, tranquil as if nothing had happened.

Just what Sharon thought wildly was it all about? Why should she be held responsible for something the Countess had "misplaced"? And who would notice or care that the Countess lingered on the terrace? More than that—she looked nervously about the deeply shadowed roof garden—where should she begin to look for a long blue envelope!

The wind from the bay tugged at Sharon's hair, laid chilly fingers against her cheek. But the shiver that raced through her body was less from the cold than from a strange premonition of danger. The terrace, only half-lighted by the open windows, was fringed by deep shadows of the potted trees, the thick shrubs. There were hundreds of places a letter might lie unseen. Surely the Countess couldn't really expect her to find it now—in the dark.

And several times, Sharon gave up the search only to try once more. It seemed so hopeless a task, so much as if the Countess had deliberately imposed it out of some unreasonable motive of her own. Still, if the letter really were important, Sharon must do her best to find it.

Sounded Warning

Private Joseph L. Lockard (above) of Williamsport, Pa., has been recommended to President Roosevelt for citation after the War Department identified him as the soldier who detected the approach of Japanese planes before their attack on Pearl Harbor December 7. His report to a superior was disregarded. He heard the ships while working with plane detector.

When her fingers finally did close over a bulky paper package, it was sheerly by accident. Stumbling in the dark, Sharon had tripped over a low cocktail table, clutched vainly at a shaggy palm, gone down in a heap. Cursing her own clumsiness, Sharon sat there a moment, rubbing her bumped knee. Then as she reached up to the heavy jardiniere beside her to pull herself up, her hand closed over the envelope.

Trembling, Sharon scrambled to her feet, studied the long packet carefully in the half light. There was no doubt. This was the precious envelope. And it had never been "misplaced" in that jardiniere. You didn't mislay important papers in the most inaccessible place you could find, Sharon decided, and rubbed her shin reminiscently.

She must find a way to get this to Harvey Goodwin at once. Turning, she became aware that someone stood just behind her!

"Oh!" the gasp escaped as she whirled to face the shadowy figure. "What in the devil are you doing out here all by yourself?"

It was Tom! Holding the fateful envelope behind her she let it slip to the floor, contrived to push it under a bench with the toe of her slipper.

"Just—just hunting for my bag," she fibbed, praying he hadn't heard that faint whisper as the envelope hit the stone floor. Then, leading him farther and farther from the danger point, she pretended to search the cushioned chairs, the parapet where she and the Countess had stood. I had it when I came out—or at least I thought I did— she chattered on, desperately.

Just how long had he been standing there. Had he seen her discovery of that envelope? Was he too, now just pretending to believe her excuses?

"Little white pearl affair, wasn't it?" he asked, and joined the search with such vigorous uprooting of chairs and tables that Sharon could have wept with relief. Obviously he suspected nothing.

"Yes. Nothing of any value, though. It really doesn't matter—"

"Sure it matters. It was a cute bag. I noticed it."

"Please," she begged. "It really isn't worth all this bother. Perhaps I left it in the guest room after all. Suppose I just go see to be sure."

Familiar Ground Tom looked at her sharply. "If you had it when you came out here, you'd remember wouldn't you?"

"Well—yes. Maybe. I mean, I don't know," Sharon stammered. "I'm so scatter-brain tonight, I can't remember anything." She tried to hide her confusion behind a laugh. "I'd lose my head, I guess, if it weren't attached."

Tom smiled, pulled her arm through his as they went back into the drawing room. "Just don't go losing your heart around here," he teased. "I'm just warning you."

Back on safe ground, Sharon smiled archly. "I'm sure I don't know what you're talking about."

"I wish I could believe that. Now go see if your bag's safe," he suggested.

Grateful for the ready-made excuse to get away for a moment, Sharon nodded. "All right. Since you're so distressed about it—"

Outside the door of the guest room, she hesitated, looked back to be sure Tom could not see her. Satisfied she fled on down the hall trying to guess which door might be the one to Harvey's study. Then, through a half-opened door, she heard his voice. A lovely book-lined room full of deep, inviting leather chairs, a broad desk, carved cabinet full of guns. And Harvey, at his desk, speaking into the telephone.

He smiled as she came in, motioned to her to sit down. Then, when he'd put down the phone, "Having a good time?"

"That brought her back to her errand instantly."

"Listen, please," and pushed away from him a little. "I found the blue envelope. It hadn't been misplaced. I'm sure. I couldn't bring it in. Tom found me. I dropped it under the bench. But I know exactly where it is."

Harvey Goodwin's smile vanished. "What are you talking about?"

Startled, she stared at him a moment. "But—don't you know?" And then swiftly she repeated her concluded archly. "I'm sure I don't know what you're talking about."

"I wish I could believe that. Now go see if your bag's safe," he suggested.

BAND CONCERT SET FOR CITY

Pfohl to Conduct All-State Concert At ECTC

The highlight of the two-day band clinic being held in Greenville this week-end will come on Friday night, February 6, when James C. Pfohl, director of music at Davidson College, will conduct the North Carolina All-State High School Band in a public concert. The concert, which begins at 8 p. m., will be held in the Wright Memorial auditorium. There is no charge for this affair and the public is cordially invited.

Mr. Pfohl is known as an excellent and well-qualified bandmaster throughout the southern part of the United States. Some of his outstanding work is displayed by the Davidson College band. This band is currently touring the South.

Members of the Greenville High Band will act as hosts to the visiting bandmen. Representing the GHS band will be Layton Clark, baritone, Billy Sugg, cornet, Pat Waldrop, French horn, H. R. Goodall, bass drum, and Billy Horne, flute.

is recognized as one of the finest marching and concert bands in this state. The Davidson College Glee club, also under Mr. Pfohl, ranks very high among college glee clubs.

The All-State Band is composed of musicians from high schools in eastern Carolina. The band clinic is an annual affair, with one being held in both the eastern and western part of North Carolina. Organizing chairman for this all-state band is Mr. H. A. McDougle, director of the Greenville High School band.

On Saturday morning Mr. Pfohl will conduct what is known as a band clinic. In this clinic members of the various bands will have a chance to learn how their contest music for this spring should be played.

Members of the Greenville High Band will act as hosts to the visiting bandmen. Representing the GHS band will be Layton Clark, baritone, Billy Sugg, cornet, Pat Waldrop, French horn, H. R. Goodall, bass drum, and Billy Horne, flute.

Guard Veterans Captain Arthur B. Co. of the local unit of the State Guard disclosed today there were vacancies in the unit for six men and urged anyone wishing to enlist in the organization to get in touch with him immediately.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

CHRISTIANITY MET THE CRUCIAL TEST

The most amazing feature in Christianity is the fact that it survived the death of its founder. Almost no movement in the world has succeeded in overcoming such an obstacle. Alexander the Great died and upon his death the whole of his empire fell apart. Had Napoleon Bonaparte died undefeated, there can be little doubt that his vast empire would have broken up into its component parts. The worst blow any movement can ever receive is to have its outstanding protagonist removed.

And yet Christianity not only did not collapse with the death of Jesus; it was from His death and because of His death that what up to that time had been a local movement became a world-conquering religion. The early disciples did not try to hide the death of Christ or to explain away the cross: They took what under ordinary conditions would be the most damaging circumstances imaginable, namely, the ignominious death of the founder of their religion, and made His death the center of glorious exhortation.

Christianity challenges human life and peremptorily summons it to give an account of itself. The cross is its greatest challenge. When we accept that and take it to our hearts as the eternal symbol of salvation, we begin to understand what our Lord's ministry among men really meant.

EXACTLY RIGHT

We agree heartily with Governor Broughton in his refusal yesterday to grant a pardon or parole to a convicted person who had not even begun the serving of the sentence imposed upon him by the courts. Governor Broughton was exactly right in declaring that intervention in such cases before the service of even a part of the sentence "would constitute an invasion of the province of the court." There would be little need for the courts if convicted persons could appeal to the governor and obtain revocation of the court's action without receiving any punishment whatever for their crimes.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Throughout the nation tomorrow begins a week of celebration in observance of the thirty-second birthday of the Boy Scouts of America. Scouting builds men and develops character and citizenship which is one of the greatest assets of any democracy. Greenville, like other sections of the country, is proud of its Boy Scouts and we are sure that all our citizens join us in extending felicitations to the organization during this celebration of another birthday of a great movement that has meant much to America.

MEDALS FOR STRIKERS

Despite the fact that we are engaged in war, and every hour lost in our industrial production is a help to our enemies, there are in progress or in the process of settlement at this time,

For Service Rendered

three strikes in this country, and others are threatened. As we have stated many times in this column, there is little sense in drafting the young men of our nation into military service while labor racketeers are permitted to block the all-out production program needed in this country if we are to win the war. As set forth in Reg Manning's cartoon today the strikers are indeed entitled to medals from our enemies, for in truth they are serving those forces that would destroy America.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington — This story might be called "And a little child shall lead them, etc." Because if the United States is ever subjected to air raids, some of the defense may well be attributed to the nation's 2,000,000 or so model airplane builders.

A plan is afoot now, sponsored by the National Aeronautics Association and the Navy, and approved by the Army Air Corps, to turn these youngsters with a hobby into builders of model enemy aircraft. From these models, the Navy and Civilian Air Defense Corps (the Army has its own project) may learn everything there is to know about spotting. The project belongs primarily to the National Aeronautics Association, which recently consolidated with the Air Youth of America. This brought under direct control of the NAA more than 700 affiliated model clubs, with a quarter of a million members, and more than 12,000 licensed model builders.

From among model builders have come such men as the late Capt. Colin P. Kelly, Jr., the Wright Brothers, Glenn L. Martin, Donald W. Douglas, Igor Sikorski, and William B. Stout.

Civilian Air Defense, the Army and Navy are suddenly faced with the problem of teaching thousands to recognize the silhouettes of our own and enemy planes as far distant as powerful field glasses can pick them up. Just how the Army is handling this is its secret, but how the Navy and Civilian Defense plan to handle it is a bow and a scrape to what a few years ago was considered merely a childish hobby.

One of the largest model airplane companies has placed its staff at the disposal of the government and these draughtsmen and model engineers, working on a 24-hour-a-day schedule are turning out designs and master models of every known plane.

These will not be designs for flying models. They will be specifications and master models of "silhouettes" which will be rushed out to the hundreds of model clubs and millions of model builders for immediate reproduction. These little silhouette planes will be turned over to civilian defense and the navy, so that every plane spotter can acquaint himself with them from every angle.

At the moment, the NAA is primarily interested in coordinating this silhouette model building program with its own aeromodel club, elementary and high school manual training classes directed by the United States Office of Education, and the thousands of unaffiliated model building fans.

The WAR TODAY

The outcome of the now unequal struggle at Singapore must depend on whether Britain and America can get sufficient reinforcements there in time to save the day. Allied Generalissimo Wavell has announced that "great reinforcements" of American and British forces are on the way, and he has called upon his men to stand firm until this aid arrives.

The least we can say is that the defense has a mighty task on its hands. If the allies possessed adequate air strength they probably could walk away with the show, but as it is the Japs swarm the sky and — well, we shall just have to wait and see what happens.

Strange though it seems, the present strain on the defending troops probably is much greater than if they were at close grips with the Japs on the mainland. It's the waiting and uncertainty, especially under heavy bombardment, that's hard to bear. The thing troops most dislike is the bombing because the great explosives come hurtling out of the sky from any and all directions, like a swarm of hornets which leave you pretty helpless because you don't know which way to turn. There's nothing fickle about gunfire, however, for once you have located the enemy battery you at least know the direction from which your spot of bother is coming.

The actual invasion attempt is bound to produce some terrific fighting. Presumably the Japs will employ parachute troops, as was done at Crete which succumbed to the German assault from the air. However, the Nipponese also may be expected to try to transport troops across the three-quarter mile strait and land them on the shore of Singapore. If that happens we shall have miniature pre-view of Hitler's projected invasion of the British Isles, perhaps lacking the big Naval display.

The Battle Of Singapore Gets Under Way

British Imperial troops in Malaya withdrew to Singapore Island and the commanding officer declared "the battle of Singapore has started." The Royal Navy and Royal Air Force destroyed the 60-foot-wide causeway (1) from the state of Johore to the island and the defenders ranged heavy guns along a mile-wide strip (shaded area) to combat an expected Japanese attempt to storm across the narrow Johore Strait.

SPIES FOILED BY FBI AGENTS

Operations Hampered By Mass Arrests In 1941

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—An F. B. I. roundup of German spies in the summer of 1941 was said by a witness in Federal court today to have hampered the operations of several members of another alleged espionage ring.

One man fled to a mountain hideout and a woman made plans to leave for Japan with information on defense industries, army camps and the huge Douglas B-19 bomber, the witness said.

Eighteen-year-old Lucy Boehmler, who has pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to violate the espionage act, testified for the third day at the trial of six men and one woman.

Miss Boehmler testified that after the 1941 roundup—which resulted in 32 convictions—Kurt Frederick Ludwig, named by the government as leader of the defendants now on trial, fled to a Pocono mountain hideout.

She said that she, Mrs. Helen Pauline Mayer, Hans Helmuth Pangel and Karl Mueller, defendants, and her uncle, Oscar Huttenlauch, visited Ludwig there in July, 1941.

The witness said that Ludwig learned from Mrs. Mayer that she had received two cablegrams from her husband, Walter Mayer, from Japan, one saying that he was seriously ill and for her to come to him immediately; the other, sent to a different address, informing her that he was well and believed it best for her to leave the United States.

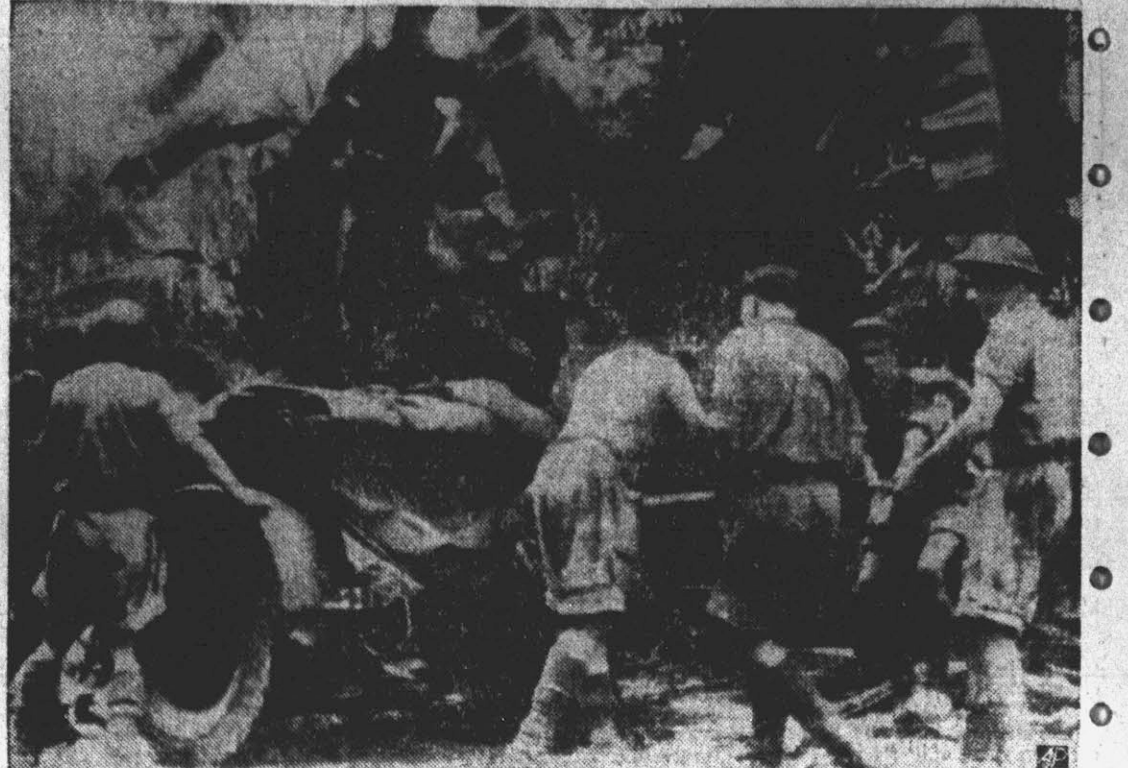

Ludwig, Miss Boehmler said, told Mrs. Mayer how to obtain a passport, and gave her a series of instructions and information on defense industries, army camps and Douglas bombers.

"Don't write it down, try to remember it and give it to the right people in German," the witness quoted Ludwig as saying to Mrs. Mayer.

Mrs. Mayer, the witness said, told Ludwig at the time that the situation was getting "too dangerous" and that she couldn't help him any more.

Ludwig told the group, Miss Boehmler testified, that he was going to leave shortly for the west.

Giant Jap Pincers Threaten Island Of Java

The siege of Singapore is but one incident in the broad Japanese plan of conquest in the southwest Pacific — a plan which presents this map-picture of Nipponese thrusts aimed mainly at invasion of the fabulously-rich Dutch island of Java. Meanwhile, to the west the Japanese push into Burma and eastward continue threats to the islands north of Australia.

Ludwig was arrested by Federal agents in the state of Washington in September 1941.

On the stand yesterday, Miss Boehmler, an attractive German-born blonde, testified that no less an authority than Heinrich Himmler, Nazi Gestapo chief, received information on identities, cargoes, origins and likely sailing plans of ships in New York harbor as well as data on Eastern seaboard forts and plane factories.

Oppose Theatre Plan To Admit Negro Race

A petition is being circulated throughout the city by W. L. Patrick at the request of residents and property holders in the vicinity of the State Theatre, protesting the admission of Negroes to the balcony of the theatre, which began Monday of this week.

The petition will be presented to the Board of Aldermen at its regular session tonight, along with a request that the board take some action in the matter. Mr. Patrick declared it was apparent that there were large numbers of both races who felt that it was a mistake for members of both races to attend the same theatre.

Tigers Due For Much Trouble Over Cuts In Salaries

MOST PLAYERS TO FEEL SLASH

Last Year's Payroll Said To Be Highest In Baseball

By WATSON SPOLSTRA
 Detroit, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers traditionally prefer to solve their salary troubles in deep silence, but if they get by this year's drastic curtailment of their enormous payroll without a blow-off they ought to qualify for some sort of peace prize.

The Detroit management yesterday slipped into the mails 1942 contracts for 33 players. How deeply the club cut into the purses of the fallen American League champions was a closely guarded secret, but a clue may be found eventually in the volume of noise from Hartsville, S. C., where the voluble Bobo Newsom spends his winters.

Well informed sources say the Tiger payroll last year following the surprising pennant victory of 1940 was the highest in baseball history. Hank Greenberg topped the list with a reported $55,000 salary (his pay stopped the day he entered the army), and Newsom was next in line with a reputed $37,500 figure.

"If other big league owners could see the size of this payroll," said one front office affiliate, "they would put on the biggest swooning act imaginable."

Because he won a few games and lost much favor last year, Newsom's impending pay cut was as plain as the nose on Ernie Lombardi's face. The Tigers are known to have chipped down other salaries with few exceptions. The latter probably including big Al Benton, who became the club's best pitcher, and Barney McCosky, top batter.

"We have to fit the cloth to the pattern," General Manager Jack Zeller said recently while engaged in salary affairs. He pointed to war-time economy, a 400,000 decrease in home attendance last year and a tie for fourth place in the league standings.

The only signed player is second baseman Jimmy Bloodworth, whose contract was transferred from Washington in the winter deal Manager Del Baker and Coaches Mervyn Shea and Charley Gehring are in the fold, however.

Aged N. C. Woman Sets Links Record

Haw River, N. C., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Laid up with her back in a cast two years ago, 72 year old Mrs. J. A. Long now shoots golf in the 80's "when the weather's good."

When a septuagenarian plays golf luckily enough to make hole in one (as Mrs. Long did on Burlington's Piedmont course) and consistently good enough to best her tournament playing-banker husband on two out of every nine holes, she hasn't enough time to worry about "growing old gracefully."

Two years ago Mrs. Long fractured a vertebra and a wrist when she fell down some steps. For three months she was in a cast and then wore a steel brace for seven months. But when she got out of the brace Mrs. Long returned to her golf—a game she did not take up until she was 55 years old. She began golf when her husband's old foursome was broken up.

Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night in the Greenville High School auditorium there will be a junior and senior basketball game between the Goldsboro Earthquakes and the Green Phantoms. The preliminary junior battle will start at 7 o'clock. Being the feature clash, the senior game will probably be the climaxing tilt of the season for the locals. Goldsboro and Greenville stand on even terms in North-eastern conference standings with one loss each. The Greenies, who invaded the Earthquakes' stronghold in the first loop game of the season, were handed their only loss by a score of 26-21. Goldsboro's loss came when the underdogged team of Elizabeth City handed them an upset a few weeks ago.

Starting lineup for the locals: Troy Riddle, center; Larry Brown and John Spearman, forwards; and Gene Johnson and Hubert Musselwhite, guards.

New Military Camps To Tax State Dairies

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The dairy producing capacity of North Carolina will be strained when two new military camps, accommodating between 30,000 and 40,000 men, are completed in the state, John A. Arcey, dairy specialist of the extension service of N. C. State College, predicted today.

Consequently, dairymen are being requested to increase their milk production from 1,462,000,000 pounds in 1941 to 1,520,000,000 pounds this year.

Deacons Wage Battle For Tournament Berth

Really Upsetting The Dope After Shaky Start

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Deacons of Wake Forest have started a five-man campaign to make certain that their team will be one of the eight invited to play in the Southern Conference basketball tournament here early in March.

After a slow and shaky start that brought them to mid-season with three wins and three losses, the Deacons have begun to go places and do things—and they don't seem to give a hang whom they do it to. In the last week, they've come from behind to score stunning upsets over teams that had been considered among the best in the Conference. Last week they tackled North Carolina's mighty Midgets, and before the evening was over they had done a thoroughly convincing job of reviving the old saw about "how the mighty have fallen."

The Deacons will try to make their two-game Virginia invasion end as successful as it began against VMI at Lexington tonight. While Wake Forest was improving its conference standing at the General's expense, the Duke Blue Devils were showing the Davidson Wildcats again just why they're the class of the Conference and the Big Five. In a game at Durham, the Blue Devils trounced Davidson 73-37. Coach Eddie Cameron ran in three teams, and not until the third outfit arrived was Davidson able to hold its own.

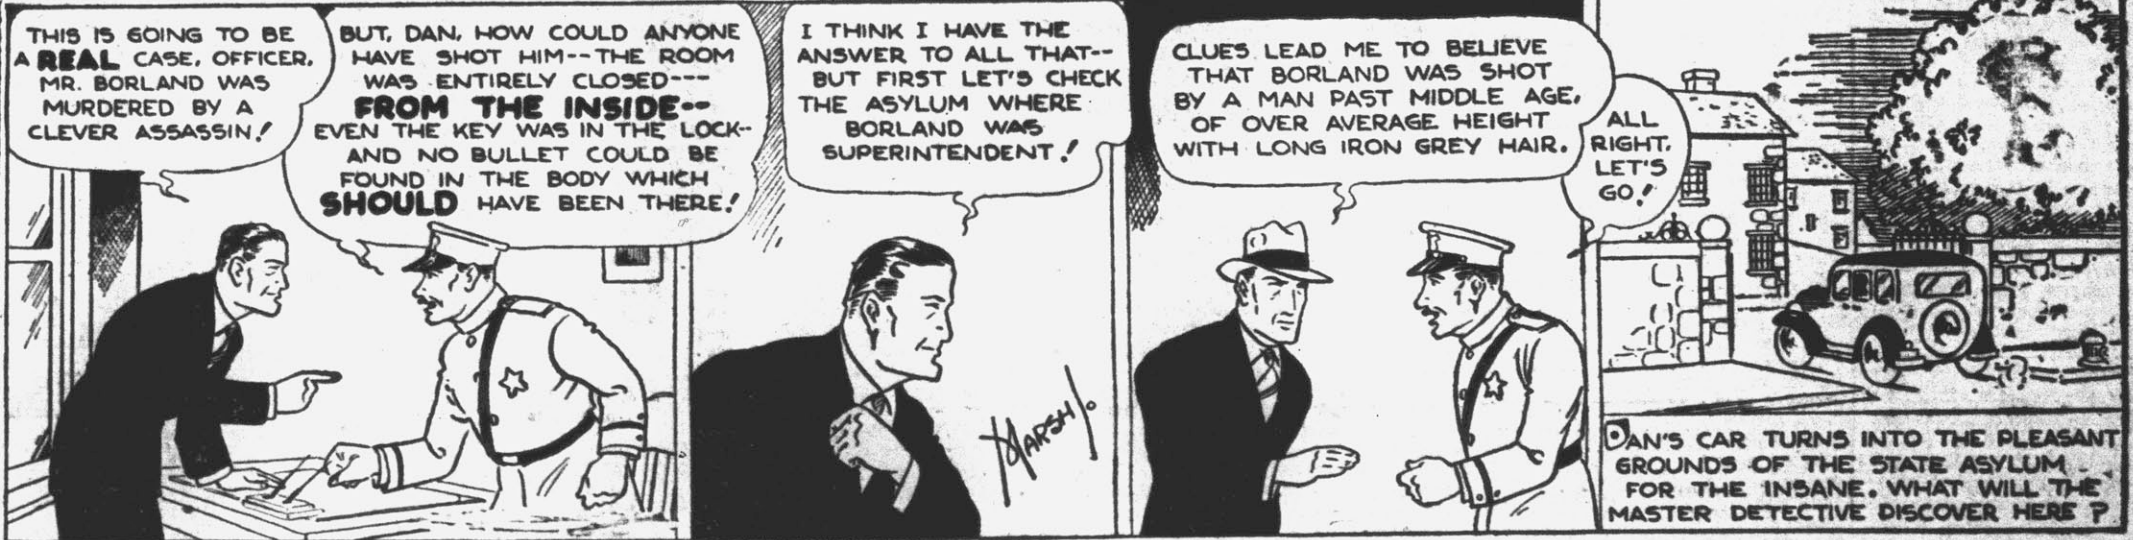

Wake Forest will return home for a game with N. C. State Friday night, and Duke will travel over to

GREENVILLE IS POPULAR CITY

Its Hospitality Recognized By Service Men

The following article was written by Ty Wagner, head of the Greenville Organization for Service Men. Mr. Wagner has taken an active part in the program and is familiar with its various phases.

By TY WAGNER
The city of Greenville is fast becoming the most attractive city in Eastern Carolina according to word received from the armed forces of Uncle Sam now quartered in camps close by.
Boys who have visited in Greenville these past few week-ends have written numerous letters back to their hostesses advising them that they had never been treated so well anywhere and assured them of their deep appreciation.
The boys were also generous in their praise of the entertainment provided by the Greenville organization for Service Men which holds open house each Saturday at the Greenville Woman's club.
The Eastern Carolina Teachers' College also was applauded for the fine spirit which is being shown by permitting so many of the boys to attend college dances and functions.
This all adds up to the fact that Greenville seems to be taking its just place in providing entertainment and also indicates that we may well expect to see increasing numbers of service men in our town each week-end.

Since most authorities expect the war to last several years, the problem of providing entertainment for our men is becoming increasingly acute. Let's all do our share each week-end and any other time to see that somebody's son in our armed forces is made a bit happier by our hospitality in Greenville.

Government Jobs Open For Radio Positions

James W. Choate, representative of the Fourth U. S. Civil Service district, will be in Greenville tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m., for the purpose of interviewing persons with experience or schooling in the operation of radio who desire to enter government work.
The representative will be located at Selective Service Board No. One located on the second floor of the Municipal building. Persons should enter through the police station entrance.
Any person who has had experience or training as a radio operator, radio mechanics, electricians, technicians, etc. is urged to contact Mr. Choate if they are interested in a government position.

Goering Goes Home After Visit To Rome

Berlin (From Broadcasts), Feb. 5.—(AP)—Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering left Rome by special train last night to return to Germany after an eight-day visit in Italy during which he conferred with Premier Mussolini and inspected German air units operating from Italian territory.
Together Goering and II Duce inspected Italian air units earlier yesterday, and just before leaving for Germany Goering exchanged views with Italian Air Secretary Fougier on matters concerning the air forces of the two countries.

Officers of Strong Dairy Organization

These men are officers of the North Carolina Dairy Products Association for 1942. W. L. Clevenger, dairy manufacturing specialist of the State College Extension Service, says this strong organization is wholeheartedly behind the "Food for Victory" program, through which increased production of milk and other essential foods is sought for the armed forces, industrial ner, vice president of the Tar Heel Suppliers' Association; L. E. Corning, Jr., of Hamlet, director; and Ralph Scott of Burlington, treasurer. Other officers not present for the picture are: George L. H. White of Raleigh, director; T. C. Reid of Greensboro, director; and Sam N. Mann of Raleigh, assistant secretary.

UNITED FORCES STRENGTHENED

Kuibyshev Says Initial Losses To Be Made Up

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Kuibyshev, Russia, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The United Nations' forces in the Pacific battle arena are growing and "one can assume that in the not too distant future they will make up for initial losses both at sea and on land," Soviet Military Commentator Colonel S. Gurov declared today in an article in the Moscow News.
"So far the Japanese armed forces have had the upper hand," Gurov wrote in the English-language newspaper now being published at Kuibyshev. "Yet, judging by the latest messages from Britain and America the British and American troops are beginning to intensify their operations. The Japanese already have suffered heavy losses at sea."

CREW OF SHIP SPARED BY SUB

Captain Of Sunken San Gil Grateful to Commander

Lewes, Del., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Captain Walter W. Koch, whose ship was torpedoed without warning off the Maryland coast, felt grateful today for the actions of a submarine commander "in sparing our lives."
The United Fruit freighter San Gil, 3,598-ton, went down early yesterday after an enemy submarine pumped two torpedoes and about 11 shells into her. Two of the crew were killed when the first torpedo exploded in the boiler room, but 39 others and one passenger were picked up after seven hours adrift in lifeboats and landed here.
The Panama registered ship was the 15th officially reported lost off the Atlantic coast through enemy action within the past three weeks.
"The commander and crew of the submarine permitted us to launch the lifeboats before they began to shell the ship," the 44-year-old skipper recounted.
"They could have sent us and our lifeboats to the bottom at any moment they wished. We wouldn't have had a chance. But they allowed us to get clear of the boat and we were 50 feet away when the shelling began."
Eleven of 15 shots fired from a deck gun plunked into the ship he said, and then the undersea craft submerged, maneuvered into position, "and let the second torpedo go."
"The San Gil jumped and blew up in mid-air. Her 10-foot mast just seemed to dissolve. She went down stern first and she must have been broken in half by the last explosion."
Koch praised the ingenuity of Radio Operator Robert L. Throp, 41, of East Orange, N. J., and passenger Stuart Condon of Boston who hurriedly erected a make-shift antenna after the first torpedo ex-

Nippons Delay . . .

A military spokesman said the British command intended to hold Rangoon "at all costs, but if Rangoon should go, it would not mean the end of Burma or of the Burma road."
Japanese raiders twice bombed Rangoon before dawn this morning. A German broadcast said the Rangoon radio station had been destroyed.

Stressing the gravity of the situation in Burma, gateway to India and back-door route of China's war supplies, the Chinese newspaper Takungpao declared:
"Although Chinese troops have been steadily pouring into Burma, they thus far have not received orders to attack the enemy. This is regrettable."
Dutch East Indies — A Dutch communique reported that the commander and part of the Dutch garrison at Balikpapan, Japanese occupied oil port on the east coast of Borneo, had escaped through Japanese lines and that fighting was still continuing in the area.

Singapore — Japanese warplanes renewed high level, dive-bombing and machine-gunning attacks on the island's 750,000 populace and pounded shipping in the harbor.
As the death toll mounted, with 41 killed and 138 wounded in yesterday's attack, Singapore's ranking air warden urged authorities to tunnel hills around the city to provide "shelter for the poorer Asiatic community who have no protection."
