HART RETIRES AS CHIEF OF ALLIED FLEET

Said To Have Asked Relief Because Of Health IS SUCCEEDED BY DUTCH ADMIRAL New Commander Becomes Acting Chief In Charge Of Allied Naval Operations In Pacific Area

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Navy announced today that Admiral Thomas C. Hart had been relieved of his assignment as chief of Allied naval forces in the western Pacific and that Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich of the Royal Netherlands Navy, had been designated as his successor.

The Navy said Hart was ill. Hart, 64, requested to be relieved from the all important naval command because of his health but no information as to the nature of the illness was given out.

Hart formerly was commander of the United States Asiatic fleet. This was reorganized last week, the reorganization being announced February 7, and at that time Hart became commander of the combined naval forces in the American-British-Dutch-Australian area.

EDITOR'S NOTE: "I am leaving"

That brief message, written at the end of a fragmentary but poignant dispatch telling of fearful air raids on Singapore during its last stand against the Japanese, was the last word received by the Associated Press from its staff reporter in Singapore, 32 years old, gray haired, C. Yates McDaniel.

McDaniel was the last American reporter to remain in the city. Instead of placing the routine time-slug at the beginning of his message, McDaniel marked it "definitely last."

NEGRO HISTORY WEEK

By O. A. Dupree

Our Commonwealth: The Negro's Contribution

Most of the material in today's article was taken from the book "Five North Carolina Negro Educators." Other North Carolina Negroes will be mentioned taken from other books and first hand information received by the writer through personal contact.

The above named book was published under the direction of the Division of Cooperation in Education and Race Relation, Cooperating Organizations, State Department of Public Instruction, University of North Carolina and Duke University. Material prepared under the direction of Dr. N. C. Newbold, director of the Division of Negro Education, Raleigh, published by the University of North Carolina Press in 1939.

The preface of this book was written by Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina. He said: "Negroes have received and assimilated the white man's civilization with characteristic good humor and fine appreciation, and have made distinctive contribution of their own. It is good time that we have school books with pictures, games, and the manner of life of Negro children. White children will read them with appreciation, interest and understanding as expressing much of a common childhood which after all is basic to a sense of a common humanity. In timely response to such needs and sentiments, the University of North Carolina Press has published "Tobe" the simple and vivid story of a Negro boy, and in the present volume publishes the biographies of five North Carolina Negro educators who are examples of the noble part Negroes are playing in the life, spirit, and upbuilding of our state."

Simon Green Atkins was the son of Allen and Eliza Atkins. He was born June 11, 1885, in Haywood, Chatham county, North Carolina. His parents were farmers, and much of his early childhood was spent in performing tasks on and about the farm. Here his daily work developed a physical hardihood which stood well the strain of nearly 40 years, for he never spared himself. He often spoke of the interest taken in him by his family's employer, Captain E. Bryan. His early schooling was acquired at Haywood. He received enough training to teach in the village school, but soon learned the need for more advanced education. In 1898 he entered the academic department of St. Augustine's Normal Collegiate Institute at Raleigh. After graduation he taught school at his home town. Later Dr. J. C. Price, president of Livingstone College secured him as a teacher at his college. He remained there for six years. He left there to take up the principalship of the school for Negroes in the city of Winston-Salem, where he was elevated to the presidency of Winston-Salem Teachers College.

James B. Dudley was born November 2, 1859. Dudley was born a slave. His father, John Bishop Dudley and mother, Annie Hatch Dudley, were owned by Governor Edward B. Dudley (1789-1835). His parents sent him to school early to private teachers. He learned fast and soon sent him to Philadelphia to enter the Institute for Colored Youth. Leaving there he entered Shaw University at Raleigh. He was elected principal of the Peabody School in Wilmington. While there he was elected as a member of the Trustee Board of A. and M. College, Greensboro. After the resignation of Prof. J. O. Crosby its first president, Prof. J. B. Dudley was made principal. Here he served for 29 years.

Other educators mentioned in this book are Annie W. Holland, state supervisor of Negro elementary schools; Peter W. Moore, president of the Elizabeth City State Normal School;

This photo shows John Gillis Magee, Jr., an American as he smilingly received his Royal Canadian Airforce wings prior to going to the battlefield. The young flier was recently killed but a poem written by him, "High Flight" will live on. The poem, just published, is ranked by Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress, with great poems of the first world war.

School; Ezekiel E. Smith, president of the Fayetteville State Normal School.

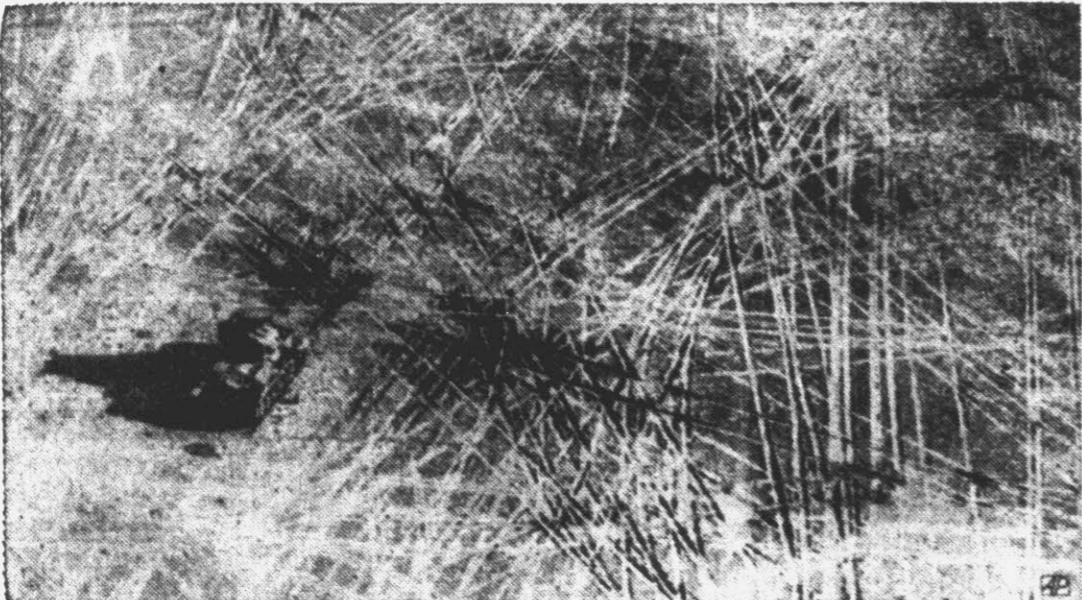

Last, but not wise least, I wish to mention our own Professor, Charles M. Epps, a name that is known from the mountains to the sea. He is not only known state-wide, but is known nationally. Prof. P. S. Jones of Washington, referred to him as not only an educator but a statesman. He was born December 25, 1857, in Halifax, N. C. He was born of noble parentage, his father being a politician. He attended the public school in Halifax. He later attended the Episcopal School in Raleigh, after which he entered Shaw University of the same city. His first position was that of principal of one of the city schools at Wilmington. He was later elected superintendent of the then State Normal School at Plymouth. He has also worked in the county schools in Wayne, Halifax, Nash and Edgecombe counties—the latter he served 16 years. He also served in the city schools of Tarboro before coming to Greenville October 7, 1903. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, later moving his membership to the A. M. E. Z. Church. He is an outstanding Mason, now serving as state deputy. He also has served in high positions in the Odd Fellows and Pythian lodges.

Prof. C. M. Epps has been classed along with Booker T. Washington as being an advocate of industrial education and racial good will. In spite of opposition Prof. Epps has maintained his philosophy of education and unlike Booker T. Washington has lived to see his philosophy coming to the front in American education. Prof. Epps still has unusual energy despite his age and young everywhere seek him for advice seasoned with experience.

ROADS WHERE YOU MAKE THEM—Roads in the war-racked Libyan desert follow no set pattern, as can be seen from the network of wheel and caterpillar tracks imprinted in the sands.

GUARDING A PRECIOUS SECRET—Armed guards with guns drawn escort aviation cadets carrying Uncle Sam's all-secret, all-powerful bomb sights (in the bags) out to the planes for bombing practice at the bombardier training air corps advanced flying school in Albuquerque, N. Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

GIVING UP BOOK OR BUSINESS
One of the great personalities in Cuba today is Senor Senti. He has established many new churches and set the feet of thousands of people in the pathway of faith.

When he was a young man, he ran a saloon and gambling hall. Some one gave him a Bible one day, and after reading it at home he took it with him to his place of business and put it into the cash drawer. The book fascinated him. Often when business lets up for a few minutes, he would open the cash drawer, read a few verses or perhaps a chapter, and then when business became brisk, push the book into the back of the drawer and go out among his customers.

Pretty soon he began to feel, however, that there was a tremendous conflict going on between this book and his business. What he read in the Bible didn't fit in with the kind of life he was leading and encouraging others to lead. The result was that he gave up his rather sordid business, settled down on a little piece of land, and in his spare time went about among his friends reading this marvelous book that he had recently discovered—or it would be better to say, the book that had recently discovered him.

Salvation of soul and peace of mind came to Senor Senti when he realized that he could not hold on both to that book and to his business. One or the other had to go.

ARE YOU ON A PAYROLL OF HONOR?

Our Country, Your Country, is at War.

We are at war because of a treacherous attack by a Totalitarian Nation opposed to every ideal Americans hold dear.

Democratic America is slow to arouse, but when we go to war we go in to win. We MUST win for we have our heritage of freedom, our legacy of independence at stake.

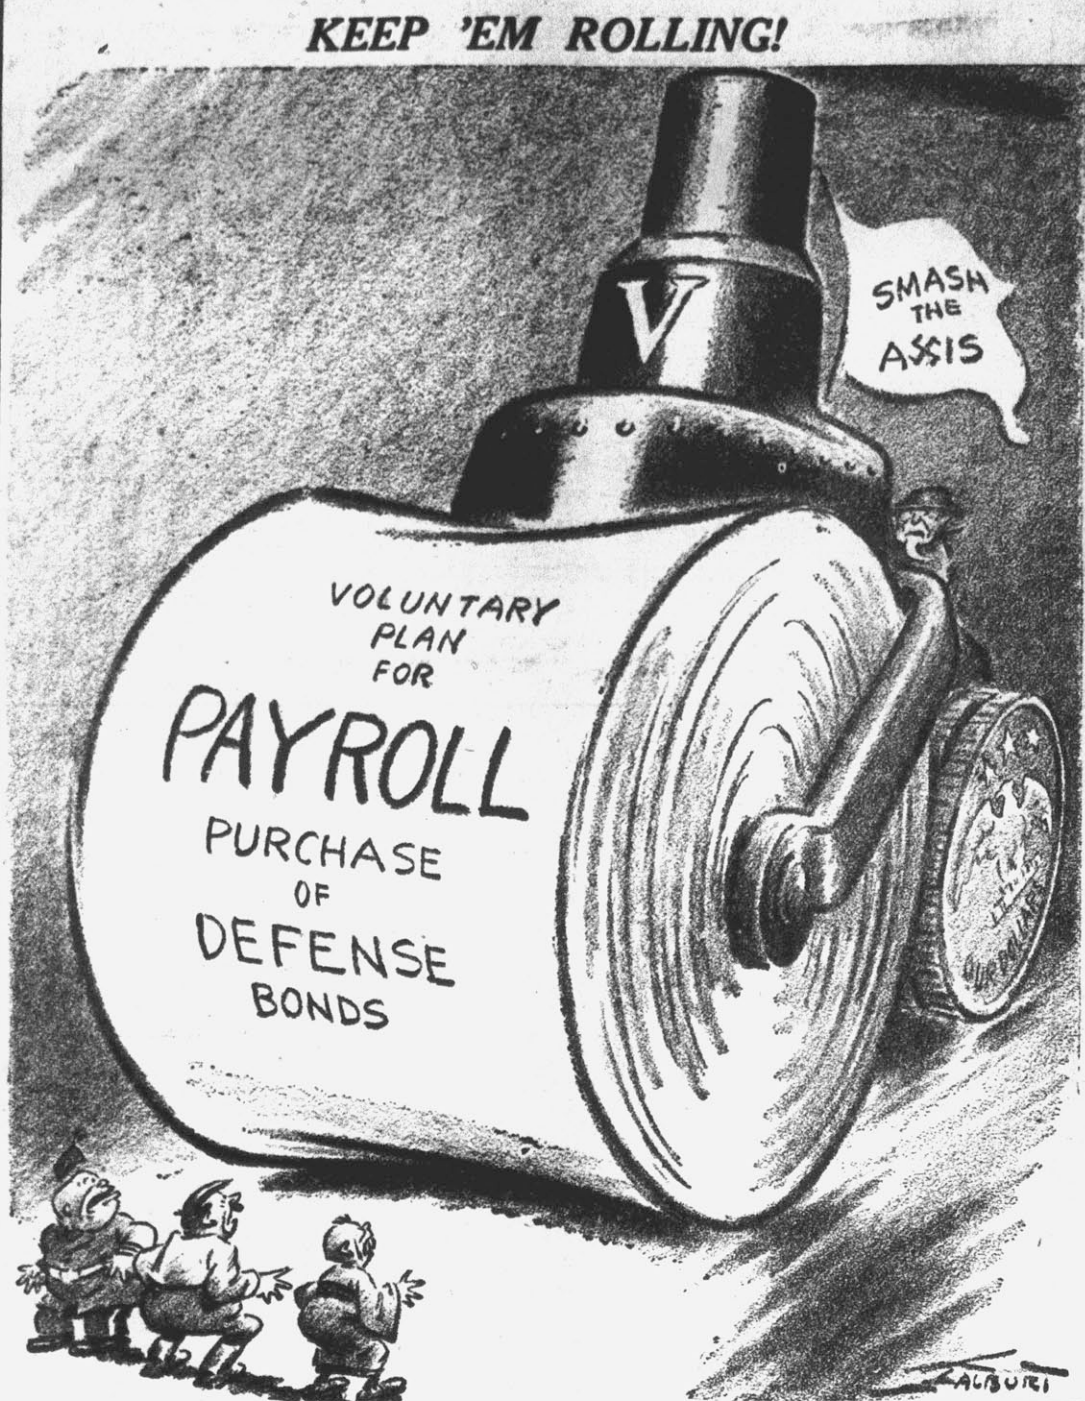

Moreover the freedom of men and women in all the Democracies of the world hangs in the balance in this war.

All-out war, total war, costs money. The price will be billions of dollars and those billions of dollars must come from the pockets of the American people, your pockets. No price is too dear for us Americans to pay for the right to live our way of life; no cost is too great for the defense of our sacred Bill of Rights.

Our Government has provided a method which will help provide the necessary funds to meet the cost of war, and in addition will give every man, woman and child who so invests, a comfortable savings nest egg for the future—the lending of our money through the sale of Defense Savings Bonds or Stamps.

For us it's either a question of Bonds or Bondage. Which do you prefer?

The American, and the Democratic, way is for the volunteer purchase of Deense Savings Bonds or Stamps, regularly, systematically, without pressure or coercion.

So let's do it the American way. The easiest, the most efficient and the most businesslike way is through some Payroll Savings Plan, whereby each pay day we authorize our employers to set aside a specified sum for the purchase of a Defense Savings Bond.

Systematic, universal Defense payroll savings from the 40,000,000 workers in America is the simplest, easiest method to reach this goal to provide the necessary money to defend adequately America by providing our fighting men with the supplies and equipment they need on the battle fronts.

So let's make every payroll in the Nation a Defense Savings payroll.

Let's make it a payroll of Honor.

Are you on such a payroll?

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington.—The capital in wartime:
Uncle Sam's nieces are in a stew. Rep. Earl Wilson (R-Ind.) has gone all out for a 11 p. m. curfew for girls in the government service.
The congressman argues that if the girls tucked themselves in an hour before midnight, they could be up for a good hearty breakfast the next morning, would have their make-up in place, would be at work on time, and do their full eight-hours without once murmuring: "Jeemine, am I dead!"

In the interests of national defense, every effort must be made to see that the girls working for the government are at the peak of efficiency.

The idea of an eleven p. m. curfew checked and double-checked by the landlord or landlady, who will report directly to the employing agency, has the girls screaming.
They say: "I'm always in before 11 on week nights but if it's lights out at that time how am I going to get my hair washed; how am I going to get letters written to the family; how am I ever going to manicure my nails; how am I going to get in mending buttons; la-rials, reading my table tennis, music lessons, Spanish, etc?"
So far as I'm concerned, the answer to all that is: "I don't know." If Congressman Wilson does, he may set some votes for his curfew law. If he gets enough, we would like to nominate him for the most unpopular man in Washington—the ballot by Uncle Sam's nieces.

Things happen funny in government. For instance, just when Washington was beginning to fret again about another rat epidemic, our pops a WPA item from Cleveland, O., telling all and sundry what a magnificent job the WPA boys had done on Cleveland rats.

Federal health officials estimate that a rat does $2 worth of damage to a community a year. In Cleveland the WPA boys set out 355,500 poison balls—cost about $9,000. Result, according to Cleveland health officials, 139,039 dead rats. Net profit, $191,000.

Some experts are willing to testify that Washington is the worst rat-infested city in the United States, but so far Congress has shown no inclination to save money for the District of Columbia by killing them off. Rat killing campaigns here now are carried on by the Boy Scouts, churches, and civic organizations.

The WAR TODAY

winners that an international cartel of French and German industrialists is reported to be organizing a campaign for a negotiated peace between Germany and the allies on business grounds. The argument is that the Japanese acquisition of territories rich in resources, coupled with cheap labor will enable them to dominate world markets if the western powers fight to a finish.
At first glance that does sound like a powerful threat, especially when we stop to consider the manner in which Japan already has been flooding the western world with products produced by near-slave labor. Western civilization can't compete against starvation wages.

However, if we pursue our analysis of the situation we soon discover that there is a joker in the pack. We mustn't forget that the battle of the Pacific, like its counterpart in Europe, is a war of resources, coupled with facilities for the transportation of those resources.
Resources without transportation aren't of much value. In order to profit by their brigandage the Japs must be able to carry away the goods to their own little islands of the rising sun. Oil in the Indies, tung lubricate, th emachinery of Oaka and rubber in Malaya will absorb no shocks for the backbones of Tokyo.

This means that the Nipponese must be able to maintain naval and air control over the vast expanse of waters surrounding their conquests, and possess a great fleet of cargo ships to move the resources which they have stolen. Japan in itself has few resources of any kind, is almost wholly dependent on sea-borne supplies.

And now just at this point in our argument along comes our Admiral Hetsert F. Leary and lands the vanguard of a United States naval force at Wellington, New Zealand. Now where does that take us? Already the Japs have suffered grievous naval losses as the result of American and Dutch attacks.

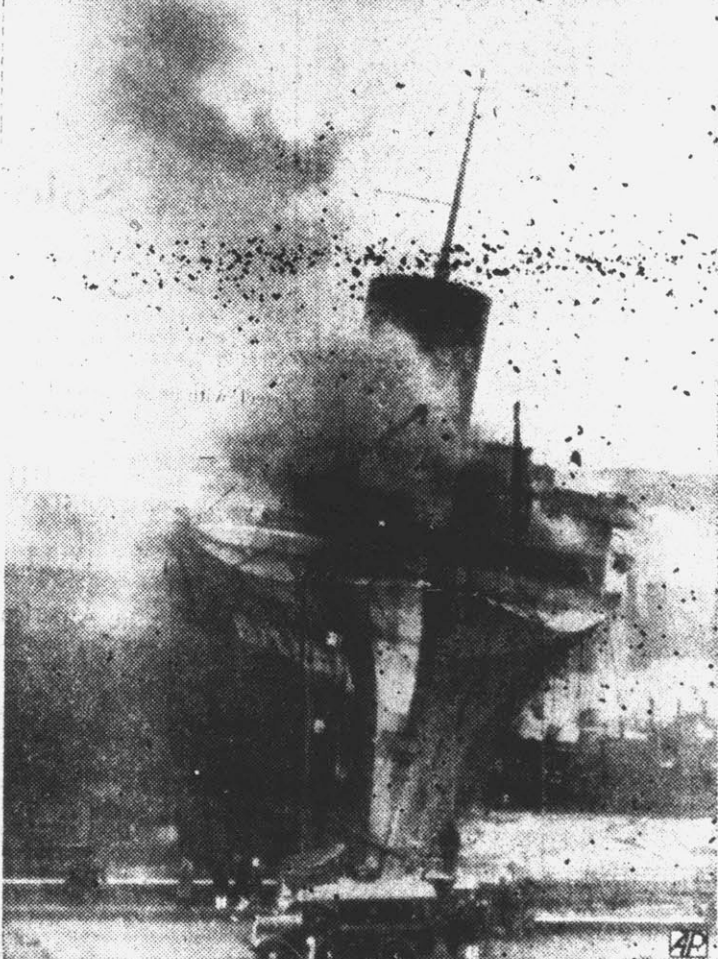

What the Japanese are going to be up against is a growing attack against their convoys in their long lines of communication by our surface and air-fleets. As we gain strength, so will the Japs gather knocks.
We have a tough war ahead of us in the Orient, but the loss of Singapore or the Philippines wouldn't make the Japs the winners. The allies certainly aren't negotiating any peace on the strength of Japanese successes.

Normandie Fire Casualties

These are a few of the casualties of the fire aboard the former French liner Normandie which blazed fiercely at her Hudson river pier in New York. Top, Joseph Centola, a fitter, suffered hand lams. Bottom, a doctor gives oxygen to James Clelland. The ship was being equipped for use as an auxiliary naval craft when fire broke out on deck.

Burning Liner Starts To List

With fireboats and firemen aboard her pouring tons of water on the burning former French liner Normandie, the vessel started to list slightly to port. Huge billows of smoke pour from the elevated highway.

WHAT ABOUT PENSIONS FOR CONGRESSMEN?

I guess the fellows in Congress who are sponsoring and voting for this bill feel like we voters just won't pay any attention to a little thing, say $4,100 a year pension for a congressman, since we are all now thinking in terms of billions, and no man onearth even has an idea of what a billion dollars is. But I think these fellows are wrong who think we are not going to notice this pension business.

I for one think that as a whole, the Congressmen and Senators are paid considerably more than they are worth. Now I am talking about the pay to them as a whole, and not the pay each receives individually. I think Representative Doughton of our own good Old North State is worth considerably more than the $10,000 which he receives a year. And too I am quite sure Senator George of Georgia's salary of $10,000 per year is mighty small for the services he renders. But, folks, you know our own Play Boy Bob Reynolds gets just as much as Senator George and I am quite sure the Mayor of Monkey Den is rendering the nation a better service than is Our Bob. So you will see what I mean by saying Congressmen and Senators are paid too much as a whole. I imagine about 10 per cent of the members of each house actually do the thinking for the whole hundred per cent, while the other 90 per cent are engaged in pork barrel rolling and in the mailing out of speeches which they had inserted in the Congressional Record and if made at all were made to empty chairs.

Voters we will soon have the privilege of voting again for both a Congressman and Senator. Let's try to pick a man that we think is going to be worth the money. And of all things, let us do the picking ourselves and not have the picking done for us.

Pretty soon lots of you will be receiving mail from candidates for offices. Some of this mail will have a good U. S. postage stamp on it, but on some of it you will see in the right hand corner of the envelope these words "Penalty for Private Use $300," and no stamp. The postage was paid by the sender if the words "Penalty, etc.," appear instead of a stamp. Our Uncle Sam needs money pretty bad right now to help buy those uniforms and guns our boys are going to need. Don't you think he ought not have to pay postage on a candidate's mail? The late Will Rogers would have probably said "Uncle Sam ain't running for no office. Let the guy that's doing the running pay his own postage bill!"

MAYOR TO QUIT OCD POSITION

Mrs. Roosevelt Invited To Relinquish Office

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Mayor LaGuardia is quitting as head of the Civilian Defense setup and Mrs. Roosevelt, his chief aid, has been invited by a senator to quit.

President Roosevelt announced at his press conference late yesterday that LaGuardia, who has headed the OCD since its establishment last fall, was leaving immediately and that James M. Landis, Harvard law dean and present executive director, was taking his place.

The president explained that the New York mayor never had received a formal appointment but had been requested to organize the office and was leaving now that the job had been done.

Meanwhile Senator Butler (R-Neb) urged that LaGuardia and Mrs. Roosevelt "remove themselves immediately from the OCD so that the real work can go forward." He added that "if the communities wish to organize dancing and calisthenics, I am sure they can do it themselves without direction from the throne."

This was a thrust at Mayris Chaney, blonde dancer friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, and OCD director of children's activities at $4,800 a year. The senate appropriations subcommittee took up today the $100,000 appropriation for the OCD which the house passed Monday with a prohibition against use of any part of the fund for instructions in physical fitness, for fan dancing, street shows and the like.

The restrictions were made after protests arose in the house over the appointment of Miss Chaney and of Screen Actor Melvyn Douglas as head of an OCD "arts" division.

Some committeemen, including Senator Thomas (D-Okla), predicted that the restrictions would be stricken because they had no actual bearing on the purpose of the bill.

The committee apparently will await a formal request from Mrs. Roosevelt if she wishes a committee hearing to answer congressional critics of the OCD activities.

Nazi Leader Dead

Maj. Gen. Fritz Todt, German engineer who built the Siegfried line and directed German munitions manufacturing, was reported in Nazi broadcasts to have been killed in an air accident.

In Full Accord With Drive On Stray Dogs

The Pitt county health officer, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, advises that he is thoroughly in sympathy with Chief of Police Clark's item in yesterday's paper in which he is quoted as saying with reference to dogs running at large, "We are going to get these dogs off the streets if we have to kill them."

The health officer states that he loves dogs but loves children more and he called attention to the danger of mad dogs, citing the fact that two persons were bitten last week in Raleigh and were now under anti-rabic treatment. He also stated that it was fortunate for the citizens of Pitt county that the anti-rabic vaccination state law had been rigidly enforced for several years. He reminded the citizens, however, that vaccination of a dog does not give 100 per cent protection.

He stated that the stray dog, aside from the question of rabies, created an additional health problem and that was by the spreading of disease through the overturning of garbage cans, leaving garbage exposed to rats and flies.

Dr. Ennett expressed the hope that all citizens owning dogs would keep them confined or on leash, and should it become necessary for the chief of police to destroy a dog, the citizen should not blame the chief, but understand that he was simply performing his duty in carrying out the city ordinance.

Japanese Force Landing On Singapore Island

It makes me ashamed of myself, sitting here with my heart beating faster than their old motors, when I think what chance those lads have of getting back in their antiquated machines.

If ever brave men earned undying glory, those RAF pilots have this tragic morning.

There are many other brave men in Singapore today.

Not far away are anti-aircraft batteries in open spaces—they must be to have a clear field of fire.

Please overlook the break in continuity but a packet of bombs just landed so close I had to duck behind a wall which I hoped would—and did—screen the blast.

But those gun crews keep on fighting, their guns peppering smoke into the limited ceiling every time Japanese planes come near—that, almost constantly.

The air clear has just sounded—what a joke!

From the window I can see three Japanese planes flying low not a mile away.

A few minutes ago I heard a tragic two-way telephone conversation.

Eric Davis, director of the Malayan Broadcasting Corporation, urged Governor Sir Shenton Thomas for permission to destroy the outlying broadcasting station. The governor demurred, saying the situation was not too bad, and refused to issue a direct order.

Davis telephoned the station in question, instructing the staff to keep on the air but to stand by for urgent orders.

We tuned in on its wavelength. In the middle of a broadcast in Malayan, urging the people of Singapore to stand firm, the station went dead.

I am leaving now in a car which I swear I will put into forward gear and head straight into the straits of Malacca.

I left one car for the Japanese in Nanking in 1937 but never again. Don't expect to hear from me for many days but please inform Mrs. McDaniel, Hotel Preanger, Bandung, Java, that I have left this land of the living and the dying.

Winterville Club In Monthly Meet

The Winterville Ruritan club held its regular monthly meeting last night at the Home Economics building on the Winterville High School Campus.

In the absence of "Punk" T. Ray Oglesby the president, who was sick, the meeting was presided over by "Agrico" J. H. Mobley, vice-president.

Reports of special committees revealed considerable activity on the part of the club.

The program was in charge of the committee on Civilian Defense "Sport" R. E. Davenport, a member of the committee, presented the guest speaker of the evening, Supt. J. H. Rose of Greenville, chairman of Civilian Defense for Pitt county. Supt. Rose made a splendid talk on what could and should be done by civilians to help win the war. He turned the meeting into an open forum and many questions were asked and answered. The club promised fullest cooperation.

M. Brown Hodges of Grifton was a welcomed guest of the club.

The ladies of the Woman's club of Winterville prepared a splendid chicken dinner for the club.

British Still . . .

Dispatches from the beleaguered island said waves of Risin Sun planes subjected the city to almost constant raids this morning.

Anti-aircraft guns kept up a strong fire, but the planes flew over the city.

The German radio quoted Tokyo reports that Japanese troops already had penetrated the western part of the city.

Simultaneously, London quarters said Singapore's out-numbered defenders were counter-attacking furiously, and a Singapore radio broadcast declared the city was still holding out.

"Heavy fighting was in progress on Singapore island this morning," the broadcast said tersely.

Dispatches from Batavia said the British and Netherlands Royal Navies were rushing in and out of Singapore harbor to evacuate women and children, ignoring the peril of incessant air and land bombardment and lurking submarines.

All useful stores and installations at the great Singapore naval base were reported blown up to prevent them from falling into the hands of the invaders.

World-wide reaction to the disaster included:

Washington—Military quarters agreed that the fall of the $400,000,000 British defense citadel would add at least a year to the Far Pacific conflict.

Australia—An atmosphere of shock and gloom pervaded. "It is difficult to believe official assurances only a few days ago that Singapore would be held can so quickly be disproved," said the Sydney Morning Herald.

London—Some quarters predicted that the present cabinet could not survive the fall of Singapore, and that even Prime Minister Churchill would fail to silence the clamor against certain of his ministers. Support was lacking, however, for reports that Churchill's leadership would be crucially challenged.

Japan—a Tokyo commentator declared the fall of Singapore would pave the way for a meeting of Japanese, German and Italian armies in the Middle East.

Making a Soldier of Sugar

As we have sent men abroad to fight for America—as we have sent money—as we have drafted steel, with other commodities, into fighting-service or enlisted wheat and other fighting-foods—so we must make a soldier of sugar.

Nutrition for the nations at war is as vital to the outcome as the powder that feeds the guns. A great nutrient in time of peace—in war a veritable sinew—sugar is now called upon to play a heroic part, to supply the peoples of our Allies—whose strength is ours.

To whip up sugar in the American flag, so to speak, and put it into the fight becomes a duty of loyalty. It will be borne cheerfully by every industry, every dealer, and every individual it falls upon. Upon the certain industries it falls heavily—and especially on the workers who derive their living from them. Yet the American civilian is in this war with the soldier. American business great and small, American capital from Wall Street to the remotest country bank, is with the Government every step of the way. The U. S. means U. S. All of us, are in the fight with everything we have.

This company regards it a privilege to contribute to the war effort. It is our duty to do so. We are proud to be a part of the solution.

At the end of conservation we pledge our efforts in every direction that opportunity may disclose, in manufacture as well as beyond the scope of our immediate interests; and in this effort generally we bespeak the co-operation of dealers and consumers everywhere.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY
ATLANTA, GA.

WORLD WAR I 1917

The United States Government restricted the use of sugar in World War I. The response of The Coca-Cola Company was expressed in the newspaper advertisement reproduced at the left.

Again, Sugar enlists for Victory

WORLD WAR II 1942

History repeats itself in World War II. Sugar has been called to war again. Our government has restricted the use of sugar for all. Naturally, that includes Coca-Cola.

You'll continue to find Coca-Cola around the corner from anywhere, though we regret that you won't be able to enjoy the pause that refreshes as often as you might like. Our volume has been reduced. But this we pledge: the character of Coca-Cola will be unimpaired. The American people can continue to trust its quality.

As in 1917, we count upon the patience of dealers everywhere. Conserving sugar is another step toward Victory. Whatever any of us may have, or may not have, Victory we must have above all else!

Court of Honor, Rev. W. A. Ryan; Scout oath, Scout Eustace Conway.

J. G. Moye Funeral Widely Attended

Funeral services for Joseph George Moye, prominent Greenville citizen who died at his home here Sunday night, were conducted yesterday morning with a large number of friends and relatives present.

Among the out-of-town persons here for the services were Mrs. William S. Moye and Joe Moye of Raleigh; Mrs. W. H. Cosart and Mrs. Fannie Moye Tarkington of Wilson; Mrs. W. O. Howard, Mrs. Norman Lee Harden, Charles W. Gold, Jr., and Howard Gold of Greensboro; Mrs. W. R. Mann and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown of Whitakers; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moye and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Moye of Maury; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Moye, and Mrs. Aubrey Shackell of Tarboro; Mr. and Mrs. John Stator of Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stokes of Stokes; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Satterthwaite and Mrs. Henrietta Moye Williamson of Farmville; Mrs. R. E. Lancaster and Miss Beulah Lancaster of Louisburg; Dr. and Mrs. Eagles of Saratoga.

Sam Hudson, Four, Claimed By Death

Sam Windley Hudson, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fenner E. Hudson of the Vanceboro community, died at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hudson of near Vanceboro, at 9:25 Tuesday night, after four weeks of illness.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of L. E. Hudson at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and burial followed in the Lewis family cemetery nearby.

Surviving are his parents, one brother, William T. Hudson of the home, his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hudson, and his maternal grandfather, Alonza Tripp of Grifton.

Green Phantoms Score Second Win Over Eliz. City

WIN BY SCORE OF 42 TO 26

Locals In Lead Most of Way with Brown Out In Front

By PERCY WELLS

Last night after a fast and tight half period, the Greenville Phantoms came back on the hardwood and rolled over the Yellow Jackets, 42-26. The game was played at Elizabeth City.

This was the second win of the season over the Jacket cagers for the Greenville boys, who displayed a fine brand of ball handling in downing the locals.

Larry Brown, former stellar forward who sparked the visitors as a guard, led the winners' offensive with 13 points. Connor Merritt and Ben Harrison followed with 9 and 7 markers, respectively.

At the end of the first half the scoreboard showed a score of 19-15 with the Phantoms taking the edge. In the last half it was the Greensies all the way that took control of the scoring fireworks.

Leaders for the losing Jackets were McMullan, who topped all scoring with 16 points, and Brinson, 6.

DUKE IS AFTER CLEAN RECORD

May Enter Conference Tourney without A Loss

By NOEL YANCEY

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Don't be surprised if the Duke Blue Devils arrive at the Southern Conference basketball tournament here the first week in March with a record of no defeats in conference play.

The Blue Devils are in striking distance of that goal already. Defeated but once so far this season—an affair with non-conference Temple—they have won nine conference games and have seven to go. And Duke already holds victories over six of those seven teams.

Here are the Blue Devils' opponents for the remainder of the season and the scores they won by in previous games: Washington and Lee 63-34; N. C. State, 40-28; Wake Forest, 60-39; George Washington, 38-37; Maryland, 37-33; V. P. I., no previous game; and North Carolina, 52-40.

The Blue Devils got off to a rather slow start, and won some of their early games by hair-breadth margins. But they've been going great guns of late. Last week they surprised their most optimistic supporters by the decisive manner in which they trounced North Carolina. Last night they were even more impressive in drubbing Washington and Lee 63-34. The Generals have been a power in the Southern Conference for years and before their game with the Devils were the fourth-ranking conference team with five wins and two losses.

While Duke was walloping Washington and Lee last night, N. C. State was taking the only Mr. Easy on the hard road it has to travel to qualify for conference play—only the top eight teams are invited and State was No. 9 before last night's 64-40 victory over the Citadel.

Perhaps it's changing the subject a little, but the Davidson Wildcats won another game last night. They took Guilford college the armed force.

Ample dormitory space for both men and women will be available, and Cotten Hall will be reserved for married couples who wish to attend the summer sessions.

Citation Asked For His Report on Japs

A citation for private Joseph L. Lockard, shown here at a radio outfit, has been asked of President Roosevelt. Lockard was practicing with a radio listening device on the morning of December 7 near Honolulu when he heard unidentified planes approaching. He promptly reported his information to an officer on duty, but his warning was disregarded—and the planes proved to be Japanese roaring to the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Twin City Gets Tourney

Winston-Salem, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Old Town club here has been awarded the annual Southern Conference golf tournament.

The 36-hole medal event will be May 9 and the college golfers will gather a day earlier for practice and several team matches. Duke will meet North Carolina in one of the team matches.

Fourth Term Plan Not New To ECTC

Since East Carolina Teachers College has for many years considered its summer session an integral part of the college year, and not just a side issue, it is already in line with the suggestions being urged by governmental agencies that the summer term be made a real part of the college year and that the college training be speeded up by encouraging attendance four quarters a year instead of the customary three. The two summer terms this year at the College here will run from Thursday, June 4, to Wednesday July 15, and from Thursday, July 16, to Saturday, August 22. The summer teaching staff will come from the regular college faculty.

Every effort will be made, with the teaching staff available, to see that students of the regular year who may wish to study this summer, find courses that will fit in with their schedules. There will also be special effort made to meet the needs of those wanting defense courses and those working toward the Master's certificate.

In general, the organization and courses offered will be similar to those of the past several summers. In addition to the usual courses, however, there will be a number in science, home economics, industrial arts, health, and other fields related to defense activities. Men students will be interested in mathematics courses that are required for admission to certain branches of the armed forces.

Ample dormitory space for both men and women will be available, and Cotten Hall will be reserved for married couples who wish to attend the summer sessions.

Chapter 12
The Countess Again

Pavlo appeared then, bearing a silver tray, cocktail shaker, glasses. "Here we are," Goodwin filled a glass, handed it to Sharon. "We'll drink to your success."

Trembling, she accepted the glass, stared into the depths of the clear amber liquid as if it were a crystal and she might read there what the future held for her.

"Fardon, sir," Pavlo said. "The doorman phoned that Countess Cayetuna is on her way up."

"Show her in as soon as she arrives. That's all, Pavlo."

The Countess again. Sharon stiffened, half-rose in response to an instinct that prompted her to leave.

"Sit still, Sharon," Goodwin interrupted her. "I want you to know the Countess better. You'll learn a lot from her. She's very clever."

Sharon sank back, tried to be sure Goodwin wasn't being sarcastic, surely he must have seen how intensely the Countess disliked her. Or, man-fashion, was he blind to the feminine brand of strategy. Or—more likely still—had she let her imagination run loose again!

But she was not imagining the frost in the Countess' greeting.

"Good evening, Miss Doyle. What a pleasant surprise to find you here again." Then to Harvey. "I had no idea I would be in the way."

"You're not. Sit down, Edda. Have a drink." He filled another thin-stemmed glass. "We've just had a shock this evening."

"A shock?" The Countess raised her dark brows. "Tell me."

She sank gracefully into a deep chair. Her dark hair wound coronet fashion around her head, the black velvet of her dinner dress made a jewel case setting for her dramatic beauty.

Sharon couldn't smother the pang of jealousy that pierced her newfound joy in Goodwin's renewed confidence. Why, she reasoned miserably, would he ever have time for a nobody when a woman as fascinating, as beautiful, as worldly as the Countess was so obviously interested in him?

Sharon watched him now as he spoke rapidly, succinctly of the events of the afternoon. Cool, clear-thinking, he seemed complete master of the situation, completely confident of his ability to meet this new turn of events. The Countess appreciated that competence too.

"Harvey, you're so terribly clever," she smiled at him over the rim of her cocktail glass. "Who but you would be able to see through a plot so clever?"

"And who but you, Edda darling, would flatter me so obviously," he retorted, dryly. "Now Sharon here argued with me until I had proved it to her—and, incidentally, to myself."

Antagonist

Instantly, Sharon sensed the Countess' antagonism.

"Which was, of course," the Countess murmured with a kind of languorous indifference which wasn't, Sharon knew, indifference at all, "much more subtle flattery than mine! I know Miss Doyle will be a very great help to you, Harvey."

And suddenly Sharon was frightened. None of Harvey Goodwin's warnings, her own realization of risks involved, nothing gave her the sensation of real terror that this woman's unmistakable hostility aroused. Countess Edda Cayetuna, for some reason known only to herself, hated and feared Sharon.

Sharon's wits, like stragglers, fell into line.

What had she done to arouse that antagonism? Surely the Countess couldn't seriously envy Sharon's claim to Harvey's attention.

"Darling," she was saying now, trailing long, slim fingers possessively along the brocade lapel of his coat. "had you forgotten you promised me a symphony concert to-night?"

"Did I?" Harvey looked startled. "I'm sorry. I'd completely forgotten."

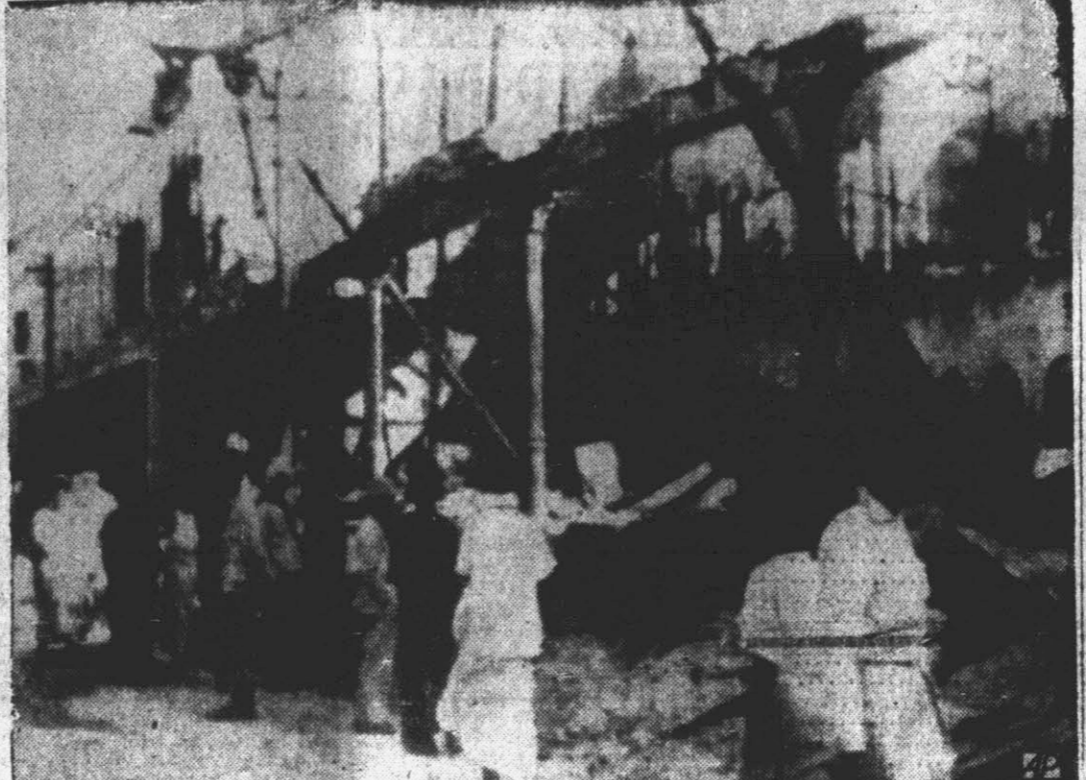

"If we hurry, we can still hear part of the Beethoven Fifth. That is—"

"Darling," she was saying now, suddenly her concern might easily have passed for genuine. "If Miss Doyle will be kind enough to excuse you."

Sharon rose immediately. "Of course."

"Why not go with us, Sharon? You like good music, don't you?"

galley slave, either.

Sharon perched on the kitchen table. "Tell me all about it."

"Don't know too much to tell yet. But I've been down there all day looking over the building and meeting all the guys and everything. Smart fellows, all right. And they're all in the dough. Every one of them drives a fancy car and—"

"Working in a warehouse and driving fancy cars?" Sharon interrupted.

"Sure. Why not? We get good pay. Ten bucks a day and a neat cut on the stiff that goes through the warehouse."

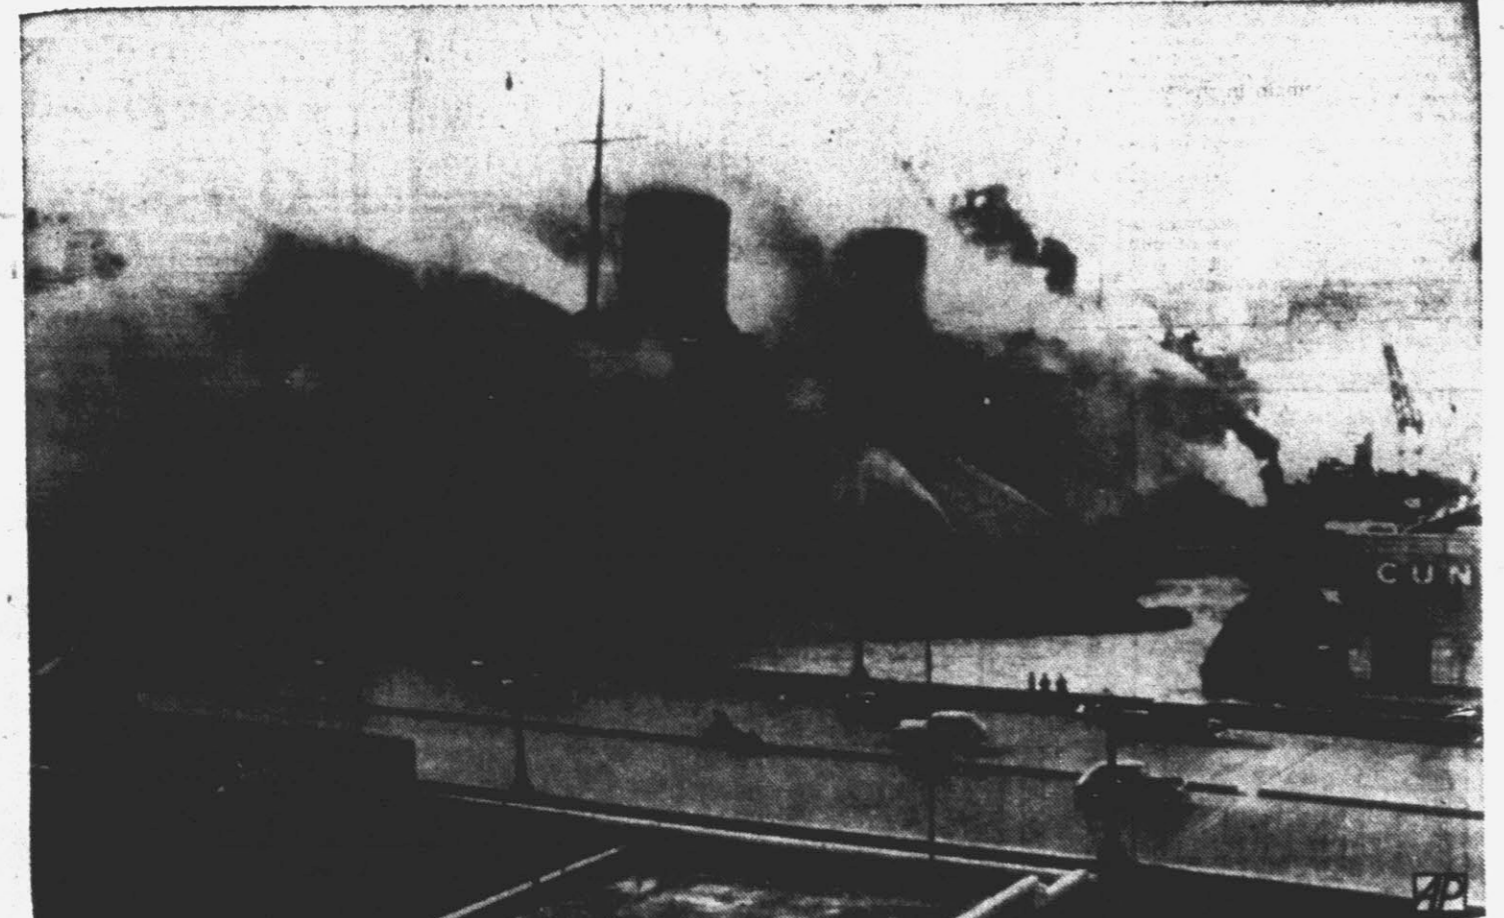

"A cut? What for?"

"Hell, I don't know what for. But boy, I'm not asking any questions. He broke an egg into the frying pan. And I'm buying me a fancy coupe with my first pay-check."

Giant Liner Normandie Burns At Hudson River Pier

Fire boats pour thousands of tons of water on the former French liner Normandie as she blazes at her Hudson river pier in New York. With reportedly 200 workmen trapped below decks. According to a statement authorized by the Third Naval District, the fire started when a welder's torch ignited some inflammable material on the promenade deck. Fear was expressed the giant liner might capsize because of the amount of water being poured into her.

Smoke shrouds Manhattan's skyscrapers as fire ravages the former French liner Normandie at her Hudson river pier, where she caught fire while being equipped for use as an auxiliary naval craft. At least 170 of the 2,000 persons on board the vessel were injured.

Farmers Guests Of Local Civic Club

At the regular weekly meeting at their club building the Greenville Rotary club entertained leading farmers of Pitt county.

The rural-urban acquaintance committee had charge of the program. J. Knott Proctor, chairman of this committee, turned the program over to J. E. Winslow, who introduced the guests and speaker, W. H. Woodard, banking representative on the Farm Bureau, emphasized the importance of farming in eastern Carolina. All other business is dependent upon agriculture either directly or indirectly for its success.

B. B. Sugg, mayor of Greenville and local warehouseman, praised J. E. Winslow and other local farm leaders for the unselfish manner in which they have devoted their time to the cause of bettering local farming conditions.

Dr. M. T. Frizer, of Ayden pointed out the importance of having more Pitt county farmers become members of the Farm Bureau. He reasoned that farmers have never organized to sell their products even though they buy all of their needs from well organized business interests.

Other farmers friends who attended the meeting were Roy Venters, G. S. Parker, Clayton House, Henry Pittman, L. T. Hardy, J. B. Barnhill, Wyatt Highsmith, M. O. Speight.

The meeting was one of the best presented to the Rotary club in some time.

Plans were made for the annual ladies night next Monday night at the regular weekly meeting.

Grain Market

Chicago, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Grain prices retreated today as the market mirrored general trade nervousness blamed on war news and the government's program for disposal of old stocks of wheat and corn.

Wheat Closed 1/4-3/4 cent lower than yesterday, May $1.28 1/2-$1.29, July $1.30 1/2-$1.31, corn 1/4-3/4 cent down, May 86 1/2, July 88 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/4 cent down; rye 1/4-1/2 cent lower; soybeans 1/4-3/4 cent down. Beans were off about 2 cents at one time and as much as a cent net higher later.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—(NCDA) Hog prices gained 15 cents on both the Richmond and the Rocky Mount markets today. Top prices were $11.85 at Richmond and $11.60 at Rocky Mount.

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 25 to 65 cents a bale lower.

Midway prices were 10 to 35 cents a bale lower; March 18.31; July 18.58; October 18.65.

Futures closed 40 to 50 cents a bale lower.

Chief Executive Seeks No Pension

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The White House asserted today that President Roosevelt had no intention of seeking a pension either from the Federal Government or from New York state and said that some of the stories resulting from the chief executive's discussion of pensions at a press conference yesterday were too serious.

Mr. Roosevelt said then that a friend had informed him that, by paying in a few dollars annually for the next three years, he could retire on a federal pension of $37,500 a year. This could be done under a new law permitting pensions for government officials and members of Congress.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early told reporters that the President, in talking about the pension system yesterday, "was speaking facetiously and without any idea of accepting a pension either from the government of the United States or the state of New York."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Selling burdens were lighter in today's stock market permitting some departments a minor recovery but numerous leaders continued their retreat.

Coppers and rubbers managed to retain modest gains but in other important groups fractional losses were the rule. This mixed picture continued to the close.

ALLIES SMASH AT JAP BASE

Chinese Reported To Be Fighting In Burma Defense

Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 11.—(AP) British bombers have smashed at Japanese concentrations at Chiengrai in the far north of Thailand, where the Japanese have been gathering presumably for an attack on the section of the Burma road defended by Chinese troops, it was announced today.

An RAF communique said British bombers, with fighter escorts, also lashed at "enemy positions in the Martaban sector." (This may be an implicit British confirmation of yesterday's Tokyo report that the Japanese had forced a crossing of the lower Salween river and occupied Martaban, on the west bank.)

Dispatches from Chungking, quoting Maj. Gen. Lancelot E. Denny, head of the British military mission in China, said the Chinese army which has moved into the Shan states of Burma crashed for the first time with Japanese invaders.

"The location of the encounter was not given, but earlier dispatches from Chungking said the Japanese had concentrated at least two divisions at Chiengrai, a railroad about 100 miles from the Burma border, and were moving their forces northeastward to Chiengrai, almost directly on the border, for a smash through the barren 10,000-foot peaks of Tenen Taung Zyl mountains. Chiengrai is about 30 miles from the border, between Chiengmai and Chiengsen.)

Other RAF planes carried out reconnaissance flights over enemy territory, while the only Japanese air action reported was an attack on Thaton, about 40 miles north of Martaban. "There are no details yet regarding casualties or damage," said the RAF.

Drafted, Martin gave up a $48,000 a year job, then declined to take advantage of the law which would have released him as being older than 28.

William McChesney Martin, Jr., former head of the New York Stock Exchange, plus a second lieutenant's bar to his shoulder strap at Army general headquarters in Washington.

Pro-Nazi Offices Bombed In Vichy

Vichy, unoccupied France, Feb. 11 (AP)—Two dynamite attacks against offices of an extreme rightist organization which favors collaboration with Germany were reported today from the occupied zone of France.

A bomb exploded at the headquarters of the "social revolutionary movement" at Sevres while another explosion occurred at the offices of the same organization at Chavay-ville. Both towns are near Paris.

Both blasts caused property damage but no injuries to persons were reported.

At the same time it was learned that a bomb exploded at a German officers' mess last night in the requisitioned Holland House of Paris.

The Nazi officers, who were eating dinner, were reported to have heard the click of the infernal machine and to have thrown themselves flat on the floor just in time to escape injury.

Many Positions Open At Employ't Office

The United States Employment Service has openings for well qualified workers in the following occupations:

Engineers, Draftsmen, Machinists, Electricians, Plumbers, Stenographers, Typists, Cement Finishers, Pipe Fitters, Pipe Caulkers, Sheet Metal Workers, Radio Mechanics, Cooks, Welders, Shovel and Crane Operators.

Only persons of proven experience and ability can be considered. For complete information, go to the local office of the United States Employment Service, 815 Dickinson avenue.

New Restrictions Imposed On Jews

Vichy, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Germans, in one of their most drastic anti-Semitic measures, forbade all Jews in occupied France today to go out of doors or leave their homes between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Jews also were forbidden to change their place of residence.

Violations of the unexplained new order by Gen. Otto Von Stuepelnagle, military administrator of German-occupied France, would be punishable by internment in concentration camps, imprisonment or fines.

The order was made effective immediately.

Vichy Irate Over Normandie Blaze

Vichy, unoccupied France, Feb. 11 (AP)—The French Line maintains full claims to indemnity for the loss of the burning of the Normandie, it was authoritatively stated today, as the news of the mishap to the liner for the second day in succession crowded all war news off the front pages.

Doubts were expressed here over American optimism that the huge ship can be salvaged and restored, in view of French failures on similar occasions with warships and the liner Paris which sank in Le Havre Harbor. Since the liner was in American hands when she was burned, America will be expected to indemnify it, was said.

Some circles were openly bitter over the loss of the ship of which France was as proud as Canada is of the quinquets. "Some of our greatest artists participated in her construction and she evidently was not meant for war work or we would have converted her ourselves," one source said.

Concede Fall...

If the United Nations had been able to gain that much time to concentrate air power in the East Indies, it would have been a relatively simple matter to strengthen Singapore not only in the air but on the ground.

As long as Singapore was securely in allied hands, the Japanese were prevented from using elsewhere the forces committed to the Malay peninsula campaign. That was one of the two main strategic reasons for continuing to defend the British fortress even after its value as a naval base had been virtually destroyed some weeks ago.

The other reason was that Singapore was needed as a base for offensive operations of the future.

Once its naval power had been restored, it could have been used both in backing at Japan's supply lines and as Britain's oridehead in the entire western Pacific area.

Now if it is ever to be used it will have to be recaptured at great cost because—so experts here say—Japan may well be able to defend it with more manpower than Britain has been able to concentrate there.

The manpower now released to the Japanese for attack in other theaters may be used, as authorities here view the possibilities, either in stepping up the drive aimed at the Burma road into China, in expanding the campaign against the Dutch East Indies, or in increasing the odds against General Douglas MacArthur's valient forces in the Philippines.
