JAPS MARSHALED FOR NEW ATTACK

Coordination Of Chinese And British Imperial Troops Reported To Be Under Consideration

By DANIEL DE LUCE Mandalay, Burma, March 19.—(AP)—The big battle of the Prome road—key to Burma's Yenangyuang oil fields—seemed today ready to burst momentarily as Japanese troops streamed up the Irrawaddy valley for an assault on the new British defense positions.

Reuters said unofficially advices from Burma reported that British Imperial forces had withdrawn from Tharrawaddy, 60 miles north of Rangoon and almost half way to Prome up the asphalt-paved western branch of the road to Mandalay.

Marshaling their forces for the new attack, the Japanese were moving up the broad Irrawaddy by boat, up their old by motor columns and cross-country by mule train.

There are no natural obstacles along the lowland road to help defense. Swathes which will be deep with flood waters during the mid-May monsoon now are dry and can be crossed by tanks.

Other strong Japanese forces are moving northward along the east branch of the Mandalay road toward Toungoo. A sharp clash between British and Japanese advance troops on this road occurred yesterday south of Kaniyutkin 40 miles south of Toungoo.

Most observers here now are convinced that whether an Allied foothold can be retained in Burma depends in large measure upon the Chinese troops which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek sent into the Shan states at the northern flank of the Japanese drive.

Chinese and British commanders are known to be discussing the coordination of these veterans from China with the British, who since early January have fought here against odds of two or three to one.

The British rarely have mentioned the activities of the Chinese troops who so far apparently have been engaged only in border patrol work.

The Chinese recently repulsed Japanese sorties into the southern Shan states, particularly near Moulung, across the border from northern Thailand. It was believed that the Japanese intended these patrol attacks to discourage the Chinese command from dispersing its troops to help the British farther south.

As the war edged deeper into central Burma an Indian refugee migration with a high civil official estimated at 750,000 men, women and children, choked the roads out of Burma, with starvation and thirst taking a heavy toll of the marchers.

The official said there was suffering on a scale hard to imagine despite efforts to care for the refugees in temporary camps along the way.

Driven by fear from the land where they provided the chief labor in oil fields, mills, railway, and on the Irrawaddy's ships and docks, the Indian laborers and their families set out for the vast trek with little or no food and with all their goods bundled in cotton cloth.

Two More Ships

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—The navy announced today that a Yugoslavian freighter, the Trepana, had been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast and that a large Norwegian merchant vessel, otherwise unidentified, had been torpedoed off the southeast United States coast.

The torpedoing of the Norwegian vessel occurred several days ago, the navy said.

In the case of the Trepana, naval officials explained, the complete identity of the ship was given out contrary to the navy's usual policy of not announcing names by authority of the United States coast.

MacArthur's Trip

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Small but fast motor torpedo boats carried General Douglas MacArthur, his wife and child, and a small group of aides on the perilous first leg of their journey from Bataan peninsula to Australia, according to a copyrighted Melbourne dispatch published today by the New York Herald Tribune.

The correspondent, Allen Raymond, learned that the MacArthur party left Bataan by night on March 11 and traveled south along the coast of the Philippine islands for two nights, riding in bayous during the daylight hours, to reach the rendezvous with the big planes which carried the group to Australia.

Three days of the one-week journey was spent in waiting for the planes, it was said.

The point of their arrival in Australia, Raymond wrote, naturally is secret, but the planes which landed the MacArthurs and their party in Australia on March 17 kept clear of Darwin, northern Australian port which has been under repeated air attack.

MACARTHUR AIM IS DISCLOSED

Hopes To Build Offensive; Yanks are Well Received

By VERN HAUGLAND Melbourne, Australia, March 19.—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur made it plain today that his paramount purpose as supreme commander in the southwest Pacific is to smash Japan and at the same time relieve his beleaguered troops in the Philippines.

MacArthur outlined his purpose to his old friend and former war department associate, Brigadier General Patrick Jay Hurley, now minister of New Zealand, who told a press conference.

"General MacArthur breathes the very spirit of victory. He speaks as a victor, and he still is in command of the Philippine situation and has the utmost confidence that he will again be back on Filipino soil."

At least one American soldier has carried out for himself the United States army tradition of getting things done quickly. He has wooed and wed an Australian girl since his arrival.

One of his companions is engaged.

There are so many United States airmen in one section of Sydney that it is called "Yanktown."

The Americans have some definite opinions: Australia—"Sweet, its beer—"okay," its girls—"grand."

One editorial, hailing MacArthur's appointment as a new-forged Australian-American alliance, declared that "we are too dangerously close to losing this war to permit quibbles—henceforth the point at issue must not be who issues the order but whether the order is the right one."

Former Prime Minister Arthur W. Fadden observed that the United States aid stands as an answer to Japanese Premier General Hideki Tojo's statement to the Diet last month "that Australia should not rely on Britain and the United States."

Lieutenant General George H. Brett, MacArthur's chief and deputy commander, said American fliers outdid themselves on Java despite extreme handicaps and shot down better than three planes for one.

"Those boys drove themselves to the very limit," he said. "Our doctors actually had to pull some of them out of the planes."

25 Planes Downed New Delhi, India, March 19.—(AP)—American volunteer group and British pilots possibly destroyed 25 enemy planes in attacks on Japanese-held airbases in southern Burma yesterday, a communique from British headquarters in Burma reported today.

Location Of Large Sector Not Disclosed, But Speculation Turns To Baltic State Of Estonia; New Soviet Appeal Made To United States And Britain To Open Up New Offensive

By EDDY GILMORE Moscow, March 19.—(AP)—Soviet guerrilla forces reported today to Pravda that they had wrested back control of some 6,000 square miles, a section as large as Rhode Island and Connecticut together, behind the German lines of Leningrad, and were so strong that the Germans could not come into the area.

(Although this report published in the Communist party newspaper did not otherwise identify the section, the Baltic state of Estonia lies just west of the Leningrad front. Six thousand square miles would be a third of the area of that Sovietized Baltic republic which the Germans overran in their drive against Leningrad.)

A renewed Soviet appeal to Britain and the United States for opening of an offensive against Germany was sounded meanwhile.

The Moscow news, English-language organ published in Kuibyshev, advocated simultaneous attacks with all the forces and resources of the anti-Hitler coalition to capitalize on gains made by the Red army through the icy winter. "Hitler has the Anti-Hitler front can and must determine the future progress of the war," the newspaper said. "This cannot be achieved by invocations and inconsequential speculation about the future organization of the world."

"Stepped-up bombings to involve both British and United States forces in the southwest Pacific are indicated by a sustained diversion program in western Europe, although military experts regard a summer invasion of German-occupied Norway and German-allied Finland from the Arctic sea as a logical possibility.

"War supply aid for Russia is officially stressed. Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington, declared in a speech February 26 that the 3,500,000 regular and home-guard troops stationed in Britain were needed for defense against invasion.

Possibly referring to the previously reported encirclement of Khatk, German-garrisoned city on the Moscow-Smolensk highway 103 miles west of the Capital, the Soviet information bureau said about 3,000 Germans had been killed in a five day battle on a sector of the central front.

Dispatches from the southwestern front declared that German troops had recently killed 16,000 Kharkov civilians, bringing to 30,000 the total slain in that industrial city since the Nazi occupation began last October.

Winchell Is Sued By Mrs. Patterson

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, owner and publisher of the Washington Times Herald, has filed a complaint in District court for $200,000 damages against Walter Winchell, columnist and radio commentator; the Andrew Jergens company, sponsor of Winchell's radio program, and the National Broadcasting Company.

The complaint "to recover damages for defamation" asked $100,000 compensation and an additional $100,000 to be awarded as a punishment against Winchell individually.

Mrs. Patterson alleged that Winchell referred to an editorial which was published in her paper in "false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory words." The editorial, Mrs. Patterson said in her complaint, was inserted in the Congressional Record by the late Farmer-Labor senator from Minnesota, Ernest Lundeen, and dealt with foreign policies of the United States.

N.C.S. Professor Dies. Raleigh, March 19 (AP)—Dr. Harry Tucker, 52, associate member of the State Utilities Commission and for 30 years a member of the N. C. He was granted a leave to go with the Utilities Commission.

Hitler Calls Aides Who Resigned Or Were Removed

OTHER SIGNS OF NAZI OFFENSIVE

Goering Calls On The Farmers For Utmost Production; Plans Apparently Dropped

Bern, Switzerland, March 19.—(AP)—Hitler has called back nearly all top officers who resigned or were removed last winter to map a gigantic offensive expected to be launched soon on the Russian front, a Berlin dispatch to the Swiss newspaper Basel National Zeitung reported today.

Among them, it said, was Field Marshal Walter Von Brauchitsch, who was displaced by the Fuehrer himself as the German army chief when the drive toward Moscow bogged down last December. Von Brauchitsch was said to be still ill, officially, but available in Berlin for consultation.

Others named were Field Marshals Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt and Fedor Von Bock, both of whom have been reported out of favor with Hitler for failures in the Russian campaign; and Erwin Rommel, who Rommel's presence—in view of his exploits in north Africa.

The dispatch said the meeting was in session now and most signs pointed toward plans to concentrate on the eastern front, possibly—in a surprise also in Libya.

Berlin dispatches in the past few days have quoted informed sources as saying the Nazis are planning new, surprising methods far different from what they have shown so far in Russia.

The German army leaders supposedly in disfavor were said by the National Zeitung to have been shown in German newsreels arriving at Hitler's headquarters.

It said Rommel had been on the streets of Berlin.

Two other significant steps possibly denoting spring activity were cited in the newspaper Basler Nachrichten.

There was an appeal by Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering to farmers to concentrate as never before on utmost production.

The other, taken in some quarters to mean that any plans against Turkey have been sidetracked for the time being, was the report that Franz Von Pappen, German Ambassador to Ankara, will not make an expected visit to Berlin.

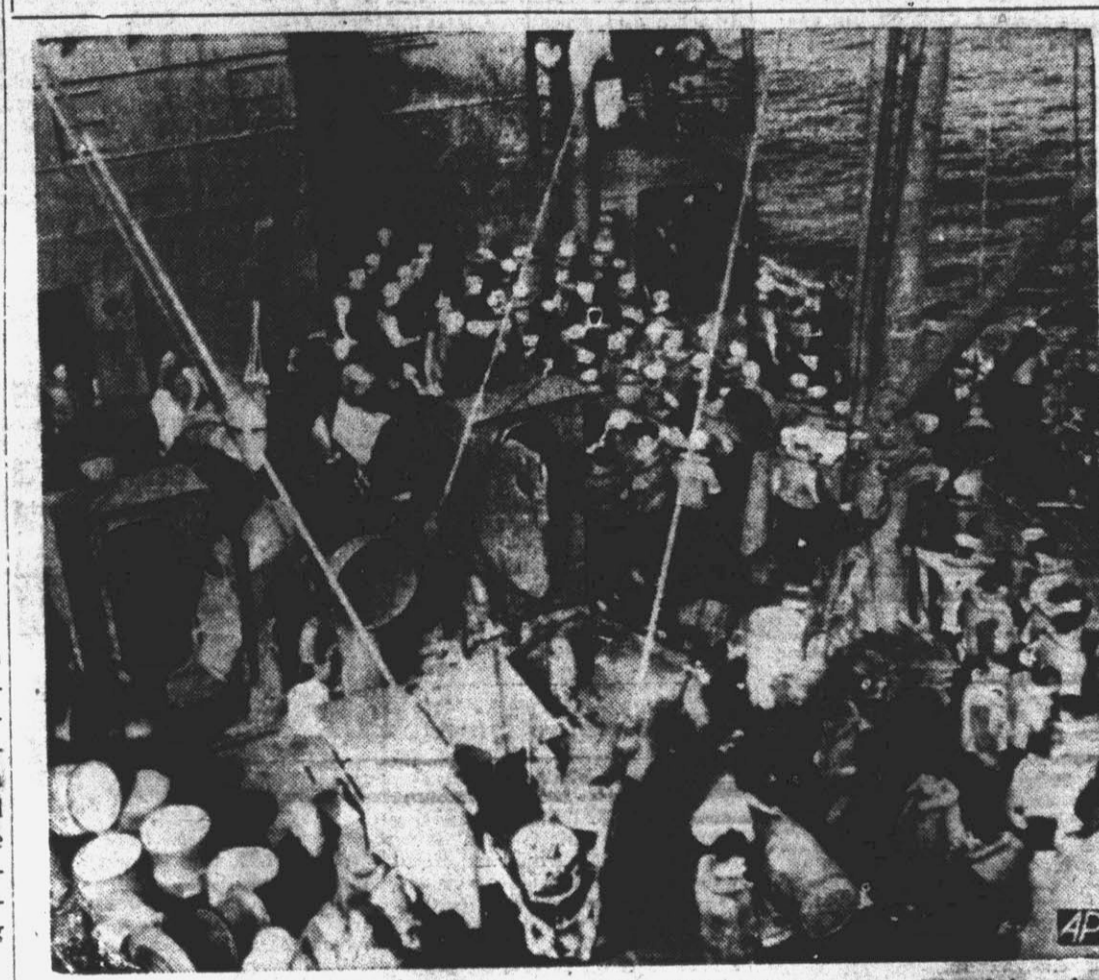

A Berlin dispatch to the Swiss Socialist Paper Die Tat said German military circles made clear that the Nazis did not expect to have strong forces cut off from their main body of troops on the Soviet front.

These units, "some of regimental and some of divisional strength, are entrenched in areas accessible with difficulty and are supplied from the air with clothes and munitions," it said.

But, it added, the Germans apparently consider such forces behind the Russian lines as a danger to the Red Army and contend that they have been organized in recent weeks "to play a definite role" in the coming fighting.

The Germans, it said, hope these isolated units can be developed to act as parts of the main army.

REVEALS PLAN TO RATION GAS

Coupons to Be Issued Motorists In About Six Weeks

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes announced today a rigid gasoline rationing system would be instituted in the east and Pacific northwest as soon as the cards can be printed—which he estimated would be within six weeks.

The card rationing would supplant the curtailment program instituted over the same area today through reduction by 20 per cent in the supplies of gasoline delivered to filling stations.

Ickes said he could not say now whether the more rigid system would be severer than the present one-fifth cut in consumption, but expressed the hope that the card system might be instituted quickly because of the increasing urgency of the supply situation in the two coastal areas caused by the sinking and war diversion of tanker ships.

"We will go on a card rationing system as soon as Mr. Henderson, the price administrator, can get around to it," the petroleum coordinator said. "He will do the rationing."

Operations of approximately 100,000 filling stations in the area were limited to a 12-hour day, six-day week.

Supplementing this war-time action, the office of price administration froze the retail gasoline prices in the area at the levels prevailing last Friday and made violations punishable by a maximum $5,000 fine or one year imprisonment.

The freezing order, which will be in force for at least 60 days, becomes legally effective on Monday, March 23. In issuing the order, Acting Price Administrator John E. Hamm disclosed last night that "serious consideration" was being given to the licensing of all filling stations in the curtailment area, as a further measure to guarantee observance of the price regulations.

Like the reduced gasoline consumption, the freezing order applied to the retail market.

The Russian military report that the Nazis have slain 30,000 civilians in the strategic southwestern city of Kharkov since the occupation of October 24.

The conclusion must be that, if these barbarities happened as charged, the Axis powers are deliberately resorting to savagery in an effort to win by these means a war which they have been unable to win by arms and which very definitely is slipping away from them. This naturally gives rise to the thought that the nearer the Axis comes to defeat, the greater may be the employment of terrorism.

ROLE IS CEDED TO AUSTRALIA

Unusual Recognition Announced By Churchill

London, March 19.—(AP)—Britain smashed all precedent today by choosing Richard O. Casey, Australian minister to Washington, as minister of state to represent the war cabinet in the Middle East.

The announcement that for the first time in the empire's history a dominion statesman is to become a member of the home government, and be entrusted with a vital post was made by Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons and won a prompt welcome from its members.

Churchill gave no explanation for the surprising move, a recognition of Australia's own critical role in the war. But sections of the British press have expressed alarm over Australia's recent tendency to carry her troubles to Washington rather than to London.

During the first world war, David Lloyd George was assisted as Prime Minister by an Imperial war cabinet, but no dominion representative became a member of the government itself.

The spokesman said Casey would conclude his affairs at Washington, including conferences with recently arrived Australian representatives, then come to London for consultation before going to Cairo.

There his job will be one of coordinating all the Middle East war efforts aside from actual military operations.

Although dominions have been called upon to make contributions of men and materials and have been consulted on conduct of the war, the war cabinet of the United Kingdom has been for all practical purposes supreme in the direction of strategy.

GEN. STILWELL HEADS CHINESE

U.S. Army Man To Command Armies In Burma

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—The War Department announced today that Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell of the United States Army had been put in command of the fifth and sixth Chinese armies operating in Burma against the Japanese.

The action was taken by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, a brief communique said.

General Stilwell went to China a few weeks ago and served initially as Chiang's chief of staff.

The communique, No. 151, covering reports received until 10 a. m. today, said:

"Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has placed Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, United States Army, in command of the fifth and sixth Chinese armies, operating in conjunction with the British forces in Burma.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Military officials expressed belief Gen. Stilwell's appointment represented the first time that an American army officer had been given command of a major body of Chinese troops, although American adventurers have commanded Chinese.

Stilwell, a native of Palatka, Fla., and 59 years old today, was promoted to lieutenant general last month. A 1904 graduate of the Military Academy, he holds the Distinguished Service Medal for service in France in the first World War during the St. Mihiel offensive.

He has had wide experience in China, beginning with a four-year period as a language student in 1918-1922. He served with the 15th infantry at Tientsin in 1928-29 and again was in China in 1932-39 as military attache at Peiping.

Students Register For Spring Term Registration for the spring term at East Carolina Teachers College was held today. No figures are yet available as to the number enrolled.

The size of the student body is to be somewhat below normal for a spring quarter, though enrollment at this college has been affected less so far than that at most other colleges and universities. According to statistics released by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the average loss in enrollment for the fall term in institutions of higher education was approximately 15 per cent. For E. C. T. C., the decrease was only about one per cent in the fall. In winter it was larger, probably somewhat nearer the average for the country.

Battle Is Off North'n Tip In New Fury

German Missionaries And Their Nazified Natives Declared To Be Leading Invaders Westward From Lae On Overland Invasion Of New Guinea; Bombers On Both Sides Busy Engaged

By VERN HAUGLAND Melbourne, March 19.—(AP)—The battle about Australia's northern tip broke into new fury today with Allied air attacks on the Japanese at several island points, Japanese raids on northern Australia and the Solomon Islands, and sensational reports that German missionaries are leading an overland Japanese invasion in New Guinea.

Messages from Port Moresby, on southern New Guinea, said the German missionaries and their Nazified native pupils were guiding the Japanese in a drive from the north coast.

The Germans were declared to have maintained secret radio transmitters and a factory for making swastika regalia and flags at their missions around Finschhafen and Aitape.

Australian authorities recently smashed one transmitter and seized more than 400 Nazi flags.

(Northeast New Guinea was a German colony before the World War. A 1939 census showed 473 Germans there.)

The missionaries were said to be leading the Japanese westward from Lae, on the east coast, through the Markham valley. It was believed this intended to take over a system of good airports in the valley, although it might develop into a southward swing toward Port Moresby.

The Japanese launched their first air attack, reportedly without damage, on Cape York across Torres Strait from Port Moresby, struck again at Darwin, and bombed Tulagi, Florida Island, in the Solomons.

Meanwhile Allied aircraft attacked Koepang, Dutch Timor, and damaged a heavy Japanese cruiser at Rabaul, New Britain Island, to add to the score of 23 ships sunk or damaged off New Guinea.

The New Japanese bombing blows today against Port Moresby and the mainland city of Darwin were officially minimized.

"A Berlin radio report quoted by the British Exchange Telegraph Agency, said the Japanese advancing overland in New Guinea had occupied about 30 air fields in the south of the island and had put them 'into working order for operations against the Australian mainland.'"

There were no reports of new action today by or against Japanese war vessels and transports. It was assumed that Japan's invasion fleets were reorganizing after one had been wrecked on the New Guinea sea approach to Australia and another crippled yesterday with a direct hit on a heavy cruiser at Rabaul, New Britain.

At Port Moresby anti-aircraft fire directed the aim of the Japanese bombers and at Darwin the raid was said to have been directed not at naval facilities but at residential quarters.

The Chatham Book Club held a most enjoyable meeting on March 17 at the home of Mrs. Frank Beadall. The Bendall home was lovely with colorful spring flowers. Upon arrival the guests were served a delicious sweet course with coffee, nuts and candy.

After the business was concluded the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Rufus Stark who introduced Mrs. R. S. Neal. Mrs. Neal's subject, "Outstanding Women Rulers of History," was most interesting. She chose Cleopatra, Katherine the Great of Russia, and the Dowager Empress of China. She sketched their lives, giving many interesting details.

Clio Book Club.
On Tuesday afternoon the Clio Book Club was delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Jane Hadley. Upon arrival of the members the meeting was turned over to the president, Miss Hadley, who introduced the club speaker, Miss Annie Shields VanDyke. Miss VanDyke gave a most interesting and enlightening book review "Nostradamus Sees All" translated and interpreted by Andre Lamont.

There are several translations of the works of Nostradamus on the market, but none of the authors are more capable of handling the vast material left by this astrologer and prophet than Andre Lamont. To translate a book from one language to another not only requires a complete knowledge of the two languages but a familiarity with the methods of expression of the author.

Misses Mary Jewel Porter and Martha Rachel Fleming returned to E. C. T. C. today after spending the spring holidays with their parents.

Mrs. Dan White was a business visitor in Greenville Wednesday morning.

Carlton Williams of Greenville, spent the day here yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Williams.

Mrs. W. F. Galloway and Mrs. T. R. Rotse were among the shoppers in Greenville Wednesday.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
Thursday, March 19, 1942

The days and nights are about the same length.

Some of the boys are practicing baseball on the grounds, near the oil tank.

The matter of granting pardon to criminals ought to be taken out of the hands of one man, and a pardoning board should be created to deal with measures of clemency. It would no doubt save the governor much anxiety and annoyance as well as be safer for the public.

By birth and education Lamont is more than capable of performing this task.

Due to the conditions of the time Nostradamus was forced to hide the true meaning of his prophecies. He does so by the use of symbolism, anagrams and his knowledge of the stars. For example in making his forecasts for world affairs he mentions epochs, which consist of 36 years. It is interesting that the epoch 1909-1944, through which we are passing is that of Mars, in which we have had several depressions, major earthquakes, and amidst numerous conflicts, we have suffered the horrors of World War I and II (the second just gathering momentum).

At the conclusion of the program a short business meeting was held. New officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. S. Bost; vice-president, Mrs. J. R. Moyer II; secretary, Mrs. Ed Wilkerson; treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Hawes.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

P. T. A. Elects Officers
The Grimesland Parent-Teacher Association held its regular meeting Tuesday night, March 17, at eight o'clock. One of the most important business meetings of the year was held. At this time, Mr. J. L. Outlaw was elected a delegate to go to the annual P. T. A. convention to be held in Greensboro April 8-10.

An installation service will be held at the April meeting. The following officers will be installed: President, Mrs. T. P. Fleming; vice-president, G. P. Carr; secretary, Mrs. R. H. Galloway; treasurer, Mrs. Otis Ange.

Mr. G. P. Carr, principal of the school, made several important announcements concerning the 12th grade and other school projects. He also made a short talk on the present world war.

After adjournment, the Hospital-ity committee served delicious refreshments.

forces" while the Darwin raiders were a "small force."

The threat to Port Moresby, which the Japanese would like to turn into a springboard for invasion of Australia proper, was emphasized by a dispatch in the Sydney Sun from its Port Moresby correspondent—a report that a considerable force of Japanese was advancing overland toward that city over difficult terrain from Lae to the north.

The correspondent said that Port Moresby's defenders were confident they could hold off any such backdoor attack. He added that the Japanese goal was the flat country just north of Port Moresby on which the enemy might establish air bases.

Meanwhile, in the latest counter-stroke reported against the Japanese sea strength massed and massing in the arc of islands north of Australia, a direct hit was declared to have left a Japanese heavy cruiser plumed with smoke at Rabaul, New Britain, and near misses were claimed on two other large vessels. The harbor of Rabaul is on the left wing of the Japanese drive into the southwest Pacific and the raid occurred at daybreak yesterday, presumably the combined work of United States and Australian airplanes.

The Australian radio quoted an announcement by Prime Minister John Curtin that a small force of Japanese heavy bombers struck again today at Darwin, naval station on the northern Australia mainland—a raid which Curtin said was directed against residential areas.

About 25 "anti-personnel bombs" were dropped, but damage and casualties were slight, said the broadcast.

The Rabaul said established a score of at least 26 invasion ships announced as blasted in the last two days. The Navy Department at Washington yesterday announced the sinking or damaging of 23 vessels in air attacks at Salamau and Lae, New Guinea, north of Port Moresby.

Neither damage nor casualties were reported at Port Moresby, capital of New Guinea, 300 miles from the Australian mainland. The raiders, it was said, were "greatly hampered" by anti-aircraft fire.

The Aussie gunners, now well-seasoned to attack, seemed to keep the raiders too high for effective bombing.

In about a half-hour the attackers made three runs over the harbor installations and shipping at Port Moresby which is a strong point the Japanese must reduce before invading Australia.

After the first run, one formation broke up and fled the battle. The remainder left soon afterward, at great height, the communique said.

The communique identified the attackers of Rabaul only as "our aircraft" but presumably they were American and Australian units now welded into one under the supreme command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Girls Quit Posts At Duke Hospital

Durham, March 19 (AP)—Eighteen girl employees of the Duke hospital dietetics department quit their jobs yesterday in protest against failure to receive wage increases.

Most of them had good prospects of other work, they said, and did not consider the move a strike, especially since they had no intention of returning to their jobs. They said that by quitting, they might help other employees of the hospital.

petroleum industry warned that only "the fullest cooperation of every consumer" in the program could prevent drastic rationing by coupon books.

The reduction effective today—through a one-fifth cut in supplies delivered to service stations—was ordered by the War Production Board on recommendation of Petroleum Coordinator Ickes who said the condition of petroleum stocks in the areas had become acute due to submarine sinkings and war demands on tanker ships which normally supply these coastal states.

Ickes issued a statement saying "automobile drivers can help their country" and advising: drive carefully. Don't use your car unnecessarily. Share rides with friends and neighbors. Conserve gasoline and oil. That means rubber, too.

"Remember—Oil is ammunition, use it wisely!"

Under the limitation system effective today, each filling station will receive 20 per cent less gasoline from his supplying company, and the individual station operator will have the responsibility of distributing the available motor fuel equitably among his customers.

There was nothing to prevent a motorist going from station-to-station until his tank was filled, except the appeals by Ickes and the petroleum industry and a threat of rigid rationing if the present program fails by an inequity in the apportionment of the short supplies among all motorists.

While all filling stations in the affected area must confine their operations to 12 hours daily and six days a week, the individual operator can choose any 12 hours a day and any day of the week he wishes to lock up his pumps.

by causing the hospital to realize the feeling against the wage scale. Superintendent P. V. Altwater of the hospital said the girls' salaries could not be raised without increasing charges to patients, which he said did not seem advisable. He said he knew their wages did not compare with those in the general business offices. Most of the girls received $40 a month, from which was deducted 30 cents monthly for insurance. Their meals, uniforms and laundering of uniforms were free.

Movie Magn Dies.
New York, March 19 (AP)—Sidney E. Kent, 56, midwestern farm boy who became president of one of the nation's largest motion picture companies, 20th Century-Fox, died early today at his home.

His second wife, Mrs. Lillian Kent, was the only relative present. Kent had been active yesterday. His daughter by a former marriage, Peggy Ann Kent, wife of a radio announcer, was at her home in Hollywood.

Kent saved the old Fox Film Corp. from bankruptcy and merged it with Twentieth Century to form one of the industry's leading companies.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

GOOD CHEER IS PRICELESS

A man died recently and left twenty-five hundred dollars to a man he scarcely knew. "Because," he said, "every time I passed him on the street he spoke to me and gave me a cheerful smile." Twenty-five hundred dollars may appear a very high figure for a daily smile. But if you can imagine yourself living in a world where no one has a smile for you, a bank full of money would not, under such circumstances, be much of a comfort.

There are some things that are priceless, and good cheer is one of them. In fact, good cheer is a religious virtue. The Bible has much to say about good cheer, and makes it plain that without such a spirit orthodoxy of belief is in vain.

We may not have much to subscribe to good causes; we may not have a great deal of money to spend on friends and loved ones, bringing them a host of advantages we wish they might have, but at least we can say the cheerful word, and smile. The person with a set smile on his face is designed to drive his associates to violence, but the person who, when the clouds are lowering and everyone about him is on the point of grabbing his nearest neighbor by the throat, can say the word of cheer which relieves the tension of the situation and smiles in a way that brings light into the encircling gloom is worth at least twenty-five hundred dollars every time he performs such a service.

It takes unselfishness and self-forgetfulness to call forth a smile and the cheerful word when everything is going dead wrong. But the world appreciates the unselfishness which such a situation involves. Try it out on friends, family, and associates, and you will find how highly people value such imponderables.

IT'S UP TO EACH OF US

Tuesday we were heartened by the news that General MacArthur had arrived in Australia to assume supreme command of the Allied forces. Yesterday the good news was that the Allies had been successful in the sinking or damaging of 23 Japanese ships. Such news is of course welcome to our people, but let us not forget that the harder each of us try to do our individual part in our country's war effort the more abundant will be the good news in the days and months to come. This is no time to spend our time rejoicing over a few small successes. Complete victory for the Allies is necessary if freedom in the world is to be preserved.

DEMAND ACTION NOW

Just how far Senator Smith, of Virginia, will get with his bill in Congress that would do away with the closed shop and double-time pay and put a limit on profits during the emergency, cannot be forecast, for as usual, there is no telling what Congress will do. But to our way of thinking, there is a growing demand on the part of the American people that Congress act immediately to put aside everything that is at present hindering production of war materials and see to it that we lose no more time in going ahead at full speed to win the war. With the time near at hand when every member of the House of Representatives and one-third of the members of the Senate must face the voters, is a good time for the folks back home to get busy and write letters to their Senators and Congressmen and let them know that the people are looking to them for quick and definite action toward speeding up the production that is necessary to win the war.

SAMARITANS ARE SAFER

By L. M. THOMPSON, M.D.

Assistant Director First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention Service of the American National Red Cross

Shock, The Unknown Quantity

Few persons outside of hospitals realize the seriousness of shock. It is present to some degree in virtually every case of injury, and it is often the result of nervous and emotional upsets.

Even to the medical profession shock is something of an enigma, for a vast amount of experimental work has failed to reveal all that takes place. However, a great deal is known; the symptoms are readily apparent, and effective First Aid measures are available.

Shock varies greatly in severity. In mild cases, such as might be caused by a minor injury or near escape from accident, it may be confined to an "all gone" feeling which passes quickly. Serious cases involve great distress, unconsciousness, or even death. The condition, in some instances, does not occur until hours after the situation which has caused it, and a person with an easily upset nervous system may suffer severe shock as the result of an accident or other situation that would cause scarcely any disturbance in another.

In general, the term shock is used to indicate a condition in which all the activities of the body are depressed. Especially characteristic are listlessness, dulling of sensibility, weak and rapid pulse with considerable lowering of the blood pressure, subnormal temperature, and irregular, gasping breathing. Cold perspiration is likely to appear, particularly on the forehead and the palms of the hands. The face may become pale with an anxious expression, and nausea and vomiting are often present. In severe cases the lips, fingernails and ears have a bluish tinge; the eyelids droop; the lusterless eyes may be fixed in a vacant and glassy expression, and the pulse may be so weak that it cannot be felt at the wrist. In some instances a severe chill develops.

Shock cannot always be prevented from developing, but its severity can often be greatly limited or reduced. The first aid measures used for the prevention and for the reduction of shock are the same. They are:

1. Heat. This is the most important.
 2. Position. Second in importance.
 3. Stimulants. Important in mild cases, but a poor third in serious cases.
- No amount of printed information on this subject can be as valuable as a Red Cross First Aid course. But there are certain facts which three heads which may well be mentioned.
- Keeping the body warm is of the utmost importance. In many cases all that can be done immediately in this direction is to wrap the victim, underneath as well as on top, to prevent further loss of body heat. Blankets, coats, robes or anything of the kind may be used.

Position is a relatively simple matter. Since there is a stagnation of blood in the vessels of the abdomen and there is an insufficient supply particularly to the heart and the brain, the most logical thing to do is to place the shock victim on his back, with the head low, so that gravity will help the flow of blood to these parts. If the victim is resting on a bed or something which can be inclined it is well to raise the foot about 18 inches.

Above all, do not have the victim sit up, except in cases of chest injury or severe nose bleed. And if the skull is fractured or there is other serious head injury, keep the victim level instead of elevating his feet.

Stimulants are often helpful in cases of mild shock. The best stimulants are strong hot tea or coffee, or aromatic spirits of ammonia, a teaspoon to a half a glass of water. But do not give a stimulant in cases of severe bleeding, whether internal or external, until the bleeding has been checked. And remember that alcohol is not a stimulant and should never be used as such.

The WAR TODAY

foreign office, and set forth a story of barbaric brutality. The government alleges, and produces documentary evidence and affidavits in support, that 200,000 people have been murdered in cold blood; that 1,000,000 more have been driven from their homes; that there have been many instances of collective rape; that countless Polish girls have been sent to brothels in Germany.

This comes on the heels of the sensational charge made in the British House of Commons a few days ago by Foreign Secretary Eden that the Japanese had been guilty of wholesale atrocities in occupied Hongkong. Captain Eden said that fifty British officers and men had been bound hand and foot and then bayoneted to death. Women were raped and murdered. These things, he said, were confirmed by eyewitnesses.

"Their testimony," declared Eden, "established the fact that the Japanese army at Hongkong perpetrated against their helpless military prisoners and civil population without distinction of race or color the same kind of barbarities which aroused the horror of the civilized world at the time of the Nanking massacres of 1937."

The Japanese government has denied all these charges.

There is another class of atrocity which is being conducted so openly that the whole world can see it plainly. That is the starvation of entire populations through the shipping of their countries of food. To me this is much more terrible than the infliction of quick death by the bayonet which, compared with the slow torture of hunger, is a humane act.

Mass starvation is widespread throughout Europe because countries have been robbed of their food supplies, but the example most often cited is that of poor Greece. Greek officials in Cairo on Monday estimated that starvation, exposure and executions had taken a toll of 150,000 to 200,000 lives in Greece in less than a year of German-Italian occupation. In February deaths in the city of Athens alone reportedly reached 1,500 daily.

It is shocking to think of major powers turning to such brutality in this day of civilization. Still, if that's the color of the beast, it's best that we know it now, for it gives fair warning of what we might expect if the Axis should conquer us—which it won't.

SEES NO NEED FOR NEW LAWS

Nelson Says Force Is Not Needed For Full Production

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board took the stand today that new war labor legislation was not needed, that "we can get increased production without use of force."

Nelson's view, expressed before a senate subcommittee, contrasted with that of Rep. Smith (D-Va.) who, in urging House Naval Committee approval of his bill to limit profits and abolish extra pay for overtime, said members of Congress were "feeling the lash of the whip" from constituents clamoring for such legislation.

"I want to see labor and management given a chance to carry out their promises," Nelson told reporters after a two-hour appearance before the senate group which has been considering demands for labor law changes.

The war production chief said he had explained in detail to the senators, in an executive session, ways by which he believed that war production might be increased as much as 25 per cent with existing equipment.

Undersecretary of War Patterson testified to the House Committee that a violent change in dealing with labor might result in "deterioration, rather than an improvement of labor relations."

"Such a violent change would be wrought by the provision of this bill," he said, "and Smith's measure."

Patterson reported the war department was making progress in eliminating double-time pay rates for work on Sunday and holidays, saying that "most labor leaders were in favor of dropping it" for the duration of the war.

While administration leaders sought to have Sunday double time pay suspended for the duration through mutual consent of management and labor in war industries, Smith went much farther, appearing before the House Naval Committee in behalf of his measure which would:

1. Limit profits on war contracts to a maximum of six per cent of cost.
2. Suspend federal maximum hour legislation on work done under Navy contracts for the duration of the war.
3. Do away also with overtime and double time pay, and with the closed shop on these contracts.

"The country wants to know where it stands, whether congress is running the war effort, or labor."

INDIANS HAVE A WILL TO WIN

Cleveland Decides to Play Ball For Boy Manager

By GAYLE TALBOT
Clearwater, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—After having worried himself sleepless most of the winter, Lou Bourdeau, the new "boy" manager of the Cleveland Indians, has discovered to his obvious astonishment and delight that he didn't have a thing to worry about.

The same sullen, hard-bitten crew that made life miserable for Oscar Vitt two seasons ago and which failed to respond to Roger Peckinpaugh last year suddenly has decided to play baseball for a smiling 24-year-old ex-collegian. There is harmony in the Cleveland camp. Roy Weatherly is in probably the best shape of his career and is full of vim. The tough part is that it has come too late.

"It's the greatest thrill I've ever had," says Bourdeau, who will be the youngest regular in his team's lineup. "I didn't know how some of the fellows would like taking orders from me. They are hustling so hard for me that I scarcely know how to express my appreciation. I still don't quite understand it, but it's great."

It is unfortunate the same spirit didn't prevail in either of the last two years, when the Indians appeared to have everything except the will to win. Bobby Feller, greatest of present day pitchers, is in the service; Hal Trosky, slugging first baseman, is on the temporary retired list; "Gee" Walker, star right-fielder, is running his drug store at Orlando, Fla., and apparently is deadly serious about refusing a salary cut. Instead of a pennant contender, Cleveland is just another ball club.

"I'm setting my sights for fourth place," Bourdeau said. "If we finish that high I'll be satisfied. I can't see much hope of breaking into the first three against the Yankees, the Red Sox and the White Sox."

With Feller gone, the Indians' pitching staff consists, broadly speaking, of Al Smith and Al Milnar and a hope for the rest.

Sticklers for accuracy might claim that the club is short on catchers, than anything else since Rollie Hemsley was sold to Cincinnati but they would be splitting hairs. Gene Desautels, who hit 201 in 66 games last year, still remains, and there is rookie Otto Danning.

The team has one of the better lineups, with Bourdeau, himself, at short, Ken Keltner on third, Ray Mack at second and a robust 190-pound teamowner named Les Fleming, up from Nashville, taking Trosky's job at first. Fleming hit 414 for Nashville last year and drove in 103 runs. The Indians also have a couple of rookie outfielders from Nashville named Oris Hockett and Charles Workman who clouted 330 and 334, respectively.

Jeff Heath, whose great feat of hitting 340 and driving across 123 runs generally was unappreciated, is back in left field, and Weatherly looks set for a good year in center. The third job, if Walker doesn't get, probably belongs to Henry Edwards, a six-foot, 190-pound rookie who blasted the ball at a .364 rate last season for Cedar Rapids.

Training Camp Briefs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deland, Fla. — There'll be no easing up for the St. Louis Browns, even when weather conditions interfere with exhibition games. "We can't afford to ease up now for we are just getting to the point where condition means everything," said Manager Luke Sewell, who has his Browns doing leg work yesterday despite the enforced cancellation of a date with Washington.

Clearwater, Fla. — There is always something to plague a baseball manager, but Mel Ott of the New York Giants is getting his in double doses. As if Johnny Mize's arm trouble weren't enough, Bill Werber went on the hospital list yesterday when the knee which had bothered him in Cincinnati last year became swollen overnight.

Decrease Is Noted In Highway Deaths

Raleigh, March 19.—(AP)—Highway fatalities in North Carolina continued to decrease last month, with only 70 per sons killed as against 90 in February, 1941.

The monthly report of the Highway Safety Division, released today, indicated that North Carolinians are reducing their driving speeds.

There also was a decrease in the number of highway deaths during January, and the combined total for the first two months of the year now stands at 145, compared with 182 in January and February of 1941.

Seven counties accounted for 52 of the 145 deaths during the two months. They are Cumberland, 20; Davidson and Gaston, 6 each; Alamance, Northampton, Robeson and Wake, 5 each. Cumberland, which heads the list, is the site of Fort Bragg.

Band In Contest.
The Greenville High School band will participate in the district music contest to be held here March 27-28 and the omission of the band from the list of entries in yesterday's Reflector is regretted. The contest will be conducted at the Robert H. Wright building and the Austin auditorium.

Athletics' pitching staff.
Los Angeles — Pitcher Vallie Eaves of the Chicago Cubs is so eager to go a full nine innings Manager Jimmy Wilson says he will get the chance soon—against the Cubs' old rivals, the Chicago White Sox.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees expressed satisfaction with the form Lefty Gomez showed in his four innings of mound duty against the Detroit Tigers. "Lefty worked smoothly without letting himself out and looked all right," declared McCarthy.

Pasadena, Calif. — Veterans of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff, among the best in the American League last year, have allowed seven runs, two of them unearned, in four exhibition games in which they have shared shifts, and have given up 21 hits.

Miami Beach, Fla. — Burt Hodge, for whom Manager Hans Lohert of the Philadelphia Philis has mapped a versatile future, awaited the doctor's word today about a twisted ankle. He was injured going after a ground ball in practice.

1 A TO 3 A—Controversy over his draft reclassification—from class 1A to 3A—follows Ted Williams, 25, American league batting champ, right down to the Red Sox camp at Sarasota, Fla. He hit .486 last year. Williams, who joined Boston in 1939, says he wants to play this year to help his mother and to pay out on some annuities. Current salary is reported at $30,000.

Dr. Meadows to Talk In Johnston Tonight

Tonight in Smithfield at a dinner meeting of the Johnston county chapter of the East Carolina Teachers College Alumni, Dr. Leon R. Meadows of the college will be the speaker. He has been asked to speak on the growth of the college in recent years.

Accompanying him are Mrs. Meadows and Miss Estelle McClees, alumni secretary.

Propose 50-Hour Week With Extra Pay Going In Taxes

PLAN OFFERED BY N.Y. LAWYER

Return To 40-Hour Week Would Come After War

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—A tax program based on adding 10 hours to the present 40 hour work week with the government taking the cash overtime payments as income taxes was presented to the House Ways and Means committee today by Joseph E. Goodbar, a New York lawyer.

The witness told the committee that under his plan persons unable or unwilling to perform extra work in most cases would pay an equivalent tax in cash equal to 25 per cent of net income. Management would rearrange all non-war working schedules to permit overtime for all workers.

"Restoration of the standard 40 hour week when peace comes will open up jobs again to as many as were released for war activities," Goodbar said, "and peace will in this way lose one of its present terrors of magnified unemployment. About 10,000,000 workers will be freed for war work."

Goodbar contended that his program would make 25,000,000,000 man hours available for war production and would "more than achieve the President's program of plane and tank construction."

The extra hours, he added, would be enough to provide 165,000 tanks, 240,000 planes and 3,250,000 automatic rifles. He cited these three advantages of such a scheme:

1. $25,000,000,000 in extra revenue to balance the budget and stop inflation.
2. 25,000,000,000 extra man hours to produce war munitions without much shrinkage in consumer goods or standards of living.
3. "Preservation of our private enterprise against the time when it will be needed to provide jobs again."

Secretary Morgenthau meanwhile said at a press conference that a treasury decision on a proposal to require employers to pay overtime wages in defense bonds instead of cash would be postponed until about July 1.

He explained that the plan came so close to "enforced buying," that it could be considered only in connection with abandonment of the present voluntary system of defense bond sales.

"If you made workers take their overtime in defense bonds, you couldn't expect them to buy many more voluntarily," Morgenthau said.

Tarboro Fire.—Tarboro, March 19 (AP)—Damage estimated at $260,000 was caused yesterday by fire in the Edgecombe Bonded Warehouse, where 2,800 bales of cotton were stored.

GERALD A. SPEEDY
Assistant National Director of Cubbing, Boy Scouts of America

Gerald A. Speedy, assistant director of Cubbing, Boy Scouts of America, will be in Greenville Saturday, March 21, to confer with local Scouters and citizens interested in the younger boy program of Scouting. The meeting will be held at the Proctor hotel at 7 p. m., and it will be a dinner. Institutions interested in a youth program are especially invited, and after hearing the presentation of Mr. Speedy an open forum will be held.

Cubbing is unique among younger boy programs of the world in that it is home-centered and neighborhood-directed. It is a program for boys 9 to 11 years of age and their parents to enjoy together.

Cubbing is the fastest growing youth program in America, increasing its membership during 1941 by 30 per cent, and Mr. Speedy is to a great extent responsible for this growth. Mr. Speedy has done considerable writing on boys' work and cubbing subjects and his articles have appeared in several magazines. In 1933 he compiled the "How Book of Cubbing" published by the Boy Scouts of America.

Before entering Scouting professionally Mr. Speedy served for seven years a director of boys' work at Pillsbury Settlement House of Minneapolis, Minn., where cubbing and scouting were made an important part of the Settlement activities.

In Oratorical Contest

James R. Worsley, Jr., of this city will represent the Pitt county post of the American Legion in the district oratorical contest to be held in Weldon tomorrow night. The program is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filaments which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, tired and don't work right at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, "hem of pep and energy," swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chapter Ten Warning For Dolores

"Did you get settled comfortably? Like your quarters?" Rand asked her lightly.

"Oh yes—very much," she answered him eagerly. "I love the view of the river. I've always been friends with Old Al and I love having him so close."

"Old Al?" repeated Dolores, puzzled.

"That's what river people call the Mississippi," Randy explained quickly.

"I thought they called him 'Old Man River,'" answered Dolores carelessly.

"That's only the name of a song," said Melissa quietly, "written by a man who wasn't a river man."

"But he did all right as a musician," said Dolores, and smiled as though Melissa had been a small and not very bright child.

"He wrote beautiful music and my mother sang it on the stage," Melissa answered quietly. "It was the first music I ever learned to sing."

"Oh," said Dolores, and her eyebrows went up a little in swift displeasure, as she turned to Randy.

"Now see here, Ace, fun's fun—and it's a drag along any pretty little piece of goods that strikes your fancy! But when you let her start singing any of my music—that's out!"

Melissa caught her breath, for Dolores wasn't nearly so lovely now and her voice was almost strident.

Randy looked straight at Dolores and his eyes were cold. "Who said anything about her singing your music?" he demanded curiously. "Melissa is not the torch-singer type—or hadn't you noticed?"

For a moment Dolores' eyes tangled with his. Then she dug a fork viciously into the food on her plate and said through her teeth, "I suppose you are right. She's more of the 'Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt' type—and what you're going to do with her in a night-club show I'm afraid I wouldn't know."

"That's just it, Ducky," said Randy, and though the words were light and pleasant, his tone was still taut. "And isn't it nice you don't have to know? That's for the boys in the band to figure out—which is exactly what we are going to do, right after lunch."

He grinned at Melissa, and her heart stirred a little and came to life and stopped hurting quite so badly; and the lump in her throat slid down a bit so that she realized she was hungry and that the food being served to her was delicious.

Dolores finished her luncheon in an ugly silence which the others at the table pretended not to notice. Alice and Hugh had their heads together with one of the boys in the orchestra, and their laughter made a pleasant, friendly sort of sound.

After lunch, when the tables had been cleared by the two negro waiters in their white coats, the orchestra assembled beneath the edge of the stage.

The six old-young men with their worldly-wise, cynical expressions vanished; Alice and Hugh, Randy and Dolores settled themselves to listen to Melissa's audition. And Melissa stood on the stage facing them, hoping desperately that her knees did not visibly tremble.

Bob, who led the orchestra, said with a friendly, heartening smile, "What would you like to sing, Miss Marlowe?"

"Try 'Lonesome Road,' Melissa," said Randy.

"In a night-club? Ace, have you lost your mind?" demanded Dolores sharply.

"I don't think so," answered Randy, and nodded to the orchestra. "Hit it, boys. You can play it straight and then we'll see if we can 'swing' it."

Not So Good

Melissa set her teeth hard while the orchestra ran through the number. And then she lifted her head, thrust out her pretty chin and sang it. She knew, before she was halfway through it, that she was doing it very badly and that Dolores was laughing at her, sneering at her—

When the last note died away she looked swiftly at Randy and saw his downcast expression, and her heart slid away down to her heels. One of the old-young men sneaked from the dimness of the back of the room.

"Couldn't hear a peep back here, boss," he reported.

"O. K., Tim—thanks," said Randy, and the man went out.

Bob said unexpectedly, "Look, why don't we use a 'mike' and let her sing into it? Her voice is not bad—it's just small and parlor-sized. But it's kinda warm and soft. Couldn't we try a 'mike'?"

"Any singer who has to have a microphone to sing in a place this size would be much better off back on her river farm, lighting lamps for the river-pilots," stated Dolores firmly.

"Look," said Randy, and his voice was taut with the sting of a lash in it. "How'd it be if you just ran along and played by yourself for a while? This must be boring you quite a bit—"

Dolores stood up swiftly, her teeth set hard. She flung Melissa a vitriolic look and her heels clicked as she talked out of the room.

"Now," said Randy, as though relieved, her separate, "let's see about that 'mike' business."

Melissa came out into the auditorium and sat down at a table while Joe and the boys in the band, with Randy's assistance, set up the microphone.

Alice said in Melissa's ear, "Keep your chin up, kid. You weren't bad at all—and I'm for you strong. If you can just put a crimp in Dolores you are my pal for life. And you hadn't been very good, you wouldn't have got under her skin."

Randy turned and said curiously, "All right, Melissa, let's run

ing the show—and the sky's the limit."

He turned to Melissa and held out his hand to help her down from the stage.

"Was I—was I all right?" she stammered eagerly. The others had said she was. But she had to hear him say it.

"You heard that applause, didn't you?" asked Randy. "Well, that came from probably the toughest audience you'll ever have—the boys who work upstairs in the game rooms. That's a part of the show boat, you're never to know anything about, incidentally. I am forbidding you now ever to climb those stairs—see them? Well, the boat is yours with the exception of those stairs and what lies above them! Remember that, youngster."

Suddenly she was resentful of his insistence upon her youth, "I'm not an infant," she told him haughtily.

Randy grinned at her.

"You're about five years old in worldly wisdom," he told her flatly. "And that's the way I want you to stay. I promised Grand I'd see that you were taken care of—that I wouldn't let you be hurt—and it's a promise I intend to keep. So you stay out of the upper reaches of the show boat, mind you!"

Melissa stared at him, wide-eyed. "You promised Grand? But of course, she thought I'd be imagining myself in love with you, and that you'd forget all about me the minute you left the Point."

"Only," stated Randy grimly, his eyes holding hers with a curious intensity.

Flushed, excited, her heart trembling with eager hope, Melissa looked down at Randy, who was staring up at her as though the effect of the microphone on her voice had amazed him. And she knew that her voice had sounded well; there was a warmth, a mellowness, a throbbing, faintly husky note that the microphone brought out and amplified so that it caught the ear and caressed it.

Old South

"Look boss," said Bob, excited and eager now. "You've got something here. You want to build up the show boat atmosphere. Dolores and Alice and Hugh are all good entertainers—but why don't you 'spot' Melissa here in hooskirts and a Tunny little bonnet, like the 'eals' wore 'in 'Gone With the Wind' and sort of build her up? A girl of the Old South, singing old Southern songs and all that stuff? You saw she plunks a guitar—well, that's swell. It all adds up. Sav, we can build up her number into a sensation."

"Shoot the works, Bob, my boy," said Randy happily. "You're stag-ness that made her breath come very fast. "I did not forget you, you know."

"Yes," said Melissa, meeting his eyes, reading him read whatever he cared to read in the depths of her dark eyes lifted to his. "You did remember me. Thank you for remembering me."

A little later, from the porthole above her bunk, she saw him driving away in the handsome black roadster. And Dolores, very smart-looking in sheer black with a frosty white collar and a trig little white feather turban perched nonchalantly above one blue eye, sat beside him.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Sometimes I wonder how mankind survived from the Stone Age down, without knowing about vitamins! Perhaps it is because the relation between vitamins and delicious foods is closer than a brother. Well-planned meals, well-cooked, are bound to have vitamins. Bound to be relished, too.

George Rector
Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

In our Homemakers' Associated Testing Kitchen, we've worked out so many tasty recipes for left-over ham that as friend to friend we advise you to buy enough ham to make sure there'll be some left over.

HER FAMILY TOO SMALL
So—one of our homemakers, who prefers to buy a whole ham, has her dealer cut several thick center slices from it. These, she broils. She bakes the butt-end, saving the shank for later.

She reports: "I've found even the shank meat of Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham so tender and so mild it can be fried or baked exactly as you would the butt. Other times, because my husband hails from New England, I simmer the shank with potatoes, beans and carrots."

SUGARLESS HAM GLAZE
Follow my baking recipe packed with every Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham (in the Bright Orange wrapper). When ham is done, remove the skin, cover fat with 1/2 cup of corn syrup mixed with 1/2 cup of fruit juice. Return the ham to the oven and bake and bake to a proud glaze.
Make the flowers of pineapple; the leaves of cucumber rind.

Put thin slices from your baked Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham in a baking dish. Pour over them your favorite corn-bread batter and bake. Serve upside down on a hot platter.
Boiled onions shining with hot, cream sauce seasoned with mace go well with this.
Or try Ham Pie topped with parsley biscuits, or Ham-Spinach Dumplings steamed on top of chicken broth.

HURRY-UP SCHOOL LUNCH
Wilson's Certified Beef Stew on whole wheat toast, Raisin-Carrot-Cabbage Slaw, Hot Cocoa, Apple Sauce, Cookies.

You'll like Wilson's Certified Beef Stew, Nice, tender beef with a rich meaty sauce.

Opposes Boost In Taxes On Tobacco

Raleigh, March 19.—(AP)—Governor Broughton today expressed opposition to proposals now under consideration in Washington which would increase existing federal taxes on tobacco and gasoline.

He said in an interview that he was against a heavier tobacco tax because tobacco "already is bearing a very heavy levy, and any increase would ultimately have to be borne by the grower."

Rationing of tires and automobiles will greatly reduce highway receipts, he said, and an increase in the federal gas tax "would further reduce revenues because gasoline already has reached the saturation point insofar as taxes are concerned."

In other words, he said, if the tax on gas were raised, less gasoline would be bought, and tax receipts actually would be smaller instead of larger.

Winthrop's Girls Carry Their Point

Rock Hill, S. C., March 19.—(AP)—Winthrop College girls, who loudly protested last night to a new college policy of placing food on tables only after blessing had been sung, apparently won their point today.

When the students, who charged last night that the policy resulted in food being served cold, marched into the dining room this morning a piping hot breakfast was on the tables. They sang the blessing, a short stanza, sat down and enjoyed the hot food.

The authorities had instituted the new after-blessing-service rule because, they said, some girls nibbled during grace.

certainly gratifying. Words are inadequate to express personal appreciation for the courtesies shown in the 23 meetings held in the county during the past month. In the untired path before us we gathered strength by the cooperation of leaders and clients. A survey will show that 98 per cent of the county has been contacted and leaders are working zealously.

Among the community and neighborhood leaders we find men and women working as though a great object lay before them. Others who could not be leaders because of so many others are holding up their hands ready to help in any way they can because it is in the defense of our country—Dennis Dupree, Negro County Agent.
