PORT MORESBY AGAIN ATTACKED BY JAPS

HITLER SENDS NAZI RESERVES INTO CONFLICT TO CHECK REDS

Fuehrer Desperately Seeking To Stem Offensive

LONDON WARNED FEAR INVASION

Mussolini Claims A Damaging Blow Inflicted On British Warships In Eastern Mediterranean

By The Associated Press
Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, desperately seeking to check Russia's great winter offensive, was reported today to have thrown masses of reserves into the long battlefront from regions as far away as Yugoslavia and Norway, while Britons were officially warned anew of a possible German attempt to invade the British Isles this spring.

In London, a government spokesman disclosed that "invasion committees" had been set up in many parts of the island kingdom to combat any Nazi cross-channel thrust, and told the nation it must do everything possible "to drive out and destroy the enemy."

London, March 24.—(AP)—Reinforced by hastily-trained reserves from fresh levies from the Balkan states, the German armies were reported on the move today in massive thrusts aimed at liberating nearly-isolated key points in their winter line which have borne the brunt of the Russian offensive.

It was asserted, however, that despite these efforts the Germans were suffering heavy losses, and that the 290th infantry division had been all but wiped out.

At sea, Premier Mussolini's high command asserted that Axis torpedoes had sunk, damaged or hit 19 British warships and merchant vessels in air-sea battles ranging from North Africa into the eastern Mediterranean toward Malta.

The Fascist high command said that Italian planes sank a cruiser, an unidentified naval unit and a 10,000-ton merchant ship, in the attack on the convoy and that German bombers sent another merchant ship to the bottom.

Three cruisers, a destroyer and five merchant ships were listed as damaged in aerial attacks; Italian warships were credited with scoring hits on a cruiser, two destroyers and a "naval unit."

The Italian communiqué declared that these blows were delivered in the Gulf of Sirte, off the Libyan coast, and that in subsequent attacks on a British naval squadron "probably returning from the battle area," Fascist planes hit a cruiser with two torpedoes and hit a large destroyer.

The German high command, describing the British convoy as sailing toward Malta, said three merchant ships were sunk and three other merchantmen, a cruiser and a destroyer damaged.

London quarters acknowledged some British ships had been hit but declared none had been sunk.

Charges Union

On the stand before the House judiciary committee in Washington to testify on a bill which would require registration of labor unions and trade associations, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold (above) accused organized labor with "injuring and destroying" independent business.

NELSON WOULD DELAY ACTION ON DOUBLE PAY

Asks For 30 Days To Seek Voluntary Suspension

UPHOLDS WORK'R FOR PATRIOTISM

WPB Chieftian Intervenes After Sen. George Says Public Demand To Force Drastic Action

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—War Production Chief Donald Nelson asked Congress today to give him a 30-day time-limit to obtain voluntary suspension of double pay for overtime through agreement with leaders of organized labor before enacting legislation on the matter.

He promised the House Naval Committee that he would ask for legislation himself then if he was unable to obtain that agreement, but simultaneously entered opposition to suspension of federal minimum hour legislation and a ban against closed shops in industries handling army and navy contracts.

"The men at the bench are just patriotic as you or I," he told Jimman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the committee, who with Rep. Smith (D-Va.) drafted the far-reaching measure.

"The present law does not prevent men from working more than 40 hours a week," he said. "It has not set the pattern for the length of our work week in our war industries. It governs wages rather than the hours in which a man may work."

He told the committee that men in the "highly strategic" machine tool industry now were working an average of 55 hours, that those in the shipbuilding industry averaged 48 hours, and those in aircraft plants 40.

Senator George (D-Ga.) earlier had predicted that public demand would force drastic and perhaps "unwise" legislative curbs on labor unless the administration acted promptly to seek a modification of the 40-hour week law.

Discussing proposals to abolish the 40-hour week by law, Nelson expressed the opinion such action would "make labor relations in general worse, rather than better."

He entered opposition to the provision to limit war profits to a maximum of six per cent, although pressing his conviction that excessive profits should be curbed and his belief that six per cent "is plenty in the average case."

But the war production chief argued that the mandatory barriers against higher than six per cent would impede the conversion of small business to war work.

Heavy Jap Bombing Attack Carried Out On Positions On Bataan And Corregidor

Fifty-Four Japanese Planes Reported To Have Participated In Assault, But Damage Declared To Have Been Only Slight; Three Bombers Brought Down In Raid On Bataan

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—A heavy bombing attack on the fortress of Corregidor and American positions in Bataan by 54 Japanese heavy bombers was reported today by the War Department, which said only slight damage was inflicted.

Several sharp encounters occurred there, the department said. Three of the enemy bombers were shot down by anti-aircraft fire. American artillery also laid down a heavy fire on enemy positions in Bataan, and the department said Japanese losses were believed to be considerable.

The text of the communiqué, number 158, based on reports received up to 10:30 a. m. eastern war time.

"The fortified island of Corregidor and our positions in Bataan were heavily bombed this morning by 54 Japanese heavy bombers of a new type. Damage inflicted on our military installations was of slight consequence. At least three enemy airplanes were shot down by our anti-aircraft artillery.

"Several sharp encounters occurred in Bataan between hostile ground forces. Our artillery laid down a concentrated fire on enemy positions. Japanese losses are believed to have been considerable while our own casualties were slight.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

LEAF OUTLOOK REPORT ISSUED

First of Year Prepared By Local Sales Supervisor

The first report of the year on the tobacco crop outlook for Pitt and surrounding counties was issued today by R. C. Rankin, sales supervisor of the Greenville tobacco market, declaring that the warm March weather, following a cold January and February proved favorable and tobacco plants showed good progress.

The report also said that the plentiful rainfall in early March helped the plants.

U. S. U-Boats Credited With Sinking 25 Ships

Ten More Japanese Vessels Probably Sunk and Six Others Damaged; Six Vessels Reported Attacked In Japanese Waters

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—Far-ranging United States submarines were credited in naval records today with having sunk 25 Japanese ships, probably having sunk 10 more and done damage to six others.

This was the known bag for the subs including the six ships reported last night as having been sunk or damaged in Japanese waters.

Previously a total of 22 enemy vessels had been reported sunk by submarine action in the western Pacific and last night's report of three destroyed raised this total to 25.

Nine had been reported probably sunk and last night's one raised this to 10.

Four had previously been reported damaged and this figure was increased to a total of six by last night's report.

The latest claims were that three more Japanese merchant ships, a 7,000-ton tanker, a 6,000-ton ship and a 5,000-ton freighter, were sunk; an enemy destroyer or anti-submarine vessel was probably sunk; and two 2,000-ton freighters were damaged.

All the actions announced in last night's communiqué occurred "in Japanese waters."

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—Disclosure of huge bonuses paid out under government contracts by Jack & Heintz, Inc., Cleveland, airplane parts company, prompted a demand on the House floor today that those responsible for such contracts be prosecuted.

Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.), leading a series of 15-minute speeches for legislation to speed war production, made the demand after calling attention to the story as related to the House Naval subcommittee yesterday.

"The responsible parties should be promptly dealt with as criminals," Andresen declared, adding: "If this is a sample of government efficiency the war will cost twice as much as it should. If these stories are true I don't blame labor for demanding higher wages."

Rep. Young (D-Ohio), also referring to the Jack & Heintz case, told the House that unless Congress acts to limit war profits "the war will produce more millionaires than World War I."

All profits over 3 per cent should be taken by the government in taxation," he urged.

Congress was amazed at the disclosure of war orders so lucrative the lady secretary of a manufacturer has been drawing salary and extras at the rate of $95,108 a year.

The manufacturer, W. S. Jack, president of Jack and Heintz, Inc., contended in a statement that the bonus system under which the secretary was paid actually decreases costs, he told the House Naval committee yesterday that the firm which makes airplane parts, had given out $600,000 in bonuses last year.

JAP ADVANCES ON BURMA LINE ACKNOWLEDG'D

Second Raid On Outpost In Two Days

Vigorous Fighting Is Reported South of Toungoo

NIPPON PLANES BOMBING SECTOR

American Volunteer Group, However, Is Reported To Be Attacking Japanese-Held Areas

London, March 24.—(AP)—A considerable Japanese advance against the Chinese-held left flank of the Allied lines in Burma was acknowledged today in a Chinese communiqué reporting "vigorous fighting" only seven miles south of Toungoo, one of the two key points in the British-Chinese position.

In the last official report on this sector, action was located along the Pyu river, which flows into the Sittang some 30 miles below Toungoo.

Meanwhile, the All-India radio reported American volunteer group squadrons have carried out "two powerful and simultaneous attacks" on Japanese-held air fields in Thailand.

Following yesterday's strong attack in which 19 heavy bombers dropped 67 bombs about the Port Moresby airdrome, it appeared the Japanese were concentrating their remaining air strength in the northeastern island area to knocking out this objective.

German broadcasts of Japanese reports declared Port Moresby harbor had been made useless for embarkation purposes by yesterday's bombing.

Three transports leaving the harbor were declared to have been sunk, two capsizing immediately and the third turning over soon afterward.

Port Moresby, on the south coast of New Guinea, is about 300 miles across dangerous Torres Strait from the bleak Cape York peninsula of the Australian mainland.

It is a sort of northern anchor of the great barrier reef defenses of northeastern Australia. These coral reefs, which skirt the Australian coast at a distance varying from a few miles to about 125 miles, reach for more than 1,200 miles from north of Sydney almost to the Fly river mouth in New Guinea.

The narrow, dangerous passages through the reefs have been reported mined, and as long as the Australians and Americans hold Port Moresby with strong air forces, passage around the northern end for an attack on the northern Australian coast from the east by sea is barred.

The Japanese, from their landing places at Lae, Salamau and Finshaven on the northeastern New Guinea coast, have been reported moving inland up the Markham river, possibly for an attempted land attack on Port Moresby from the north, but there still was no further word of this expedition today.

Canadian Contingent Arrives In England

An East Coast Canadian Port, March 24 (AP)—The safe arrival in Britain of a new force of Canadian soldiers and airmen was announced today.

The latest contingent was made up for the most part of air force personnel, but also included a number of veterans of the first World War, a complete field hospital unit, and about 50 army nurses.

Packed in many a knapsack were silk stockings and packages of sugar to help the soldiers get acquainted with the English girls.

Italy Claims U.S. Planes

Rome (from Italian broadcasts), March 24 (AP)—Italian fighter planes were credited by the high command today with having shot down five United States-built Curtiss planes and having machine-gunned "many others" in action against British bombing forces in the Maritima area of Italy.

Patrols In Libya

Cairo, March 24 (AP)—British patrols operating in the face of enemy artillery fire captured a number of Axis transport vehicles in the Libyan desert, a brief headquarters communiqué reported today.

Retreads

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—Nearly 500,000 retreaded tires will be made available next month for limited numbers of taxi drivers, defense workers, traveling salesmen and certain other civilians, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The April supply will represent the first release of tires for passenger cars other than those listed as eligible under rationing program for new tires.

In addition to 470,317 retreaded tires, the April quota will release 101,636 new tires for passenger cars.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE, Wide-World News Analyst

The journey of Bulgaria's King Boris to Germany for a conference with his master, Herr Hitler, and the trip of Nazi Ambassador Count Von Papen from Turkey for a similar purpose, strike me as boding no good for the Allies in general and for the Turks in particular.

These birds Boris and Papen may be taken as harbingers of the Fuehrer's spring offensive. And it's a safe bet that their summons to the seat of might means that the Nazi chief is getting ready to apply the heat to Turkey. His idea is to force that country to permit passage of German forces through its territory into the Middle East, where lies the oil and other supplies which he must have.

The part selected for Boris to play is stooge for Hitler. His Majesty's business is to make warlike gestures to convince the Turks that he is about to attack them. If they

Asserts Japanese At Peak Of Glory

Chungking, March 24 (AP)—A government spokesman declared today that Japan has "reached the peak of her military glory and the fortunes of war now will gradually turn in favor of the Allies."

"Chinese optimism has grown appreciably as a result of developments in the Pacific last week," the spokesman said.

Among the favorable factors cited were Gen. Douglas MacArthur's transfer to Australia, the successful voyage of United States convoys to Australia, the liaison of Chinese and British troops in Burma and the arrival of Sir Stafford Cripps in India in an attempt to smooth political differences.

Five paintings by the Indian artist, Red Robin, portray various tribal dances. For instant appeal and lasting charm, there is Lloyd Moyland's group of five little Mexican children in the "Missa de la Noche" story-telling game. And for the splendor of high hills, there is Charles Bunsell's "Up the Canyon" which forms the central piece of the group.

Garden Club Meets.
Miss Lucy Cherry Crisp, local director of the WPA Art Gallery, was guest speaker at the March meeting of the Greenville Garden Club. Miss Crisp's subject "Romance in the Garden," was particularly appropriate to the spring season—time of romance—and was treated in a most unique and pleasing manner. In her presentation Miss Crisp was assisted by two equally talented artists, Mrs. Guy Smith, and Mr. Clyde Carter.

From time immemorial man has been moved by the beauties of nature, many to the point of giving expression to their emotions in story and song. Miss Crisp with a truly artistic appreciation had gathered together a number of just such expressions and from these she read while Mr. Carter did the vocals and Mrs. Smith was at the piano. Many of the selections were familiar and longtime favorites while others were rare little bits chosen to give emphasis to some particular or seasonal emotion with the whole so blended as to prove the romance of the garden all the time—spring, summer, fall or winter. The three artists gave the club a most delightful and inspiring afternoon.

A short business meeting followed, with the president, Mrs. R. M. Garrett, presiding. Routine business was dispatched, all standing committees reporting. The State Garden Pilgrimage has been canceled but local gardens may perhaps be opened to the public at a later date. The club also decided against a Spring Flower Show. Particular attention was given to the lovely arrangements on display and to a named collection of specimen daffodils.

Increased Cigarette Sales Hint At Additional Levy

WOULD RETAIN PRICE CEILING

Increase In Income Shown By Leading Companies

Raleigh, March 24.—(AP)—A report on an investigation of the cigarette industry, which disclosed that current cigarette sales are running 20 per cent ahead of 1941 and which contained a hint of additional federal taxes on tobacco, was made public today by Acting Price Administrator John E. Hamm.

Although the OPA will continue its ceiling over manufacturers' prices at the levels of last December 26, Hamm issued an amendment which will allow manufacturers to revise temporary sales promotion programs and to adjust prices in the event of a tax boost.

The study revealed that the net income (before income taxes) of the certain leading manufacturers rose from 17 per cent of the average book value of their invested capital in the years 1936-1939 to over 21 per cent in 1941. The companies were American Tobacco, American Cigarette and Cigar, Liggett and Myers, P. Lorillard, Philip Morris and R. J. Reynolds.

Manufacturers' 1941 profits margins averaged 55 to 60 cents a thousand on standard-price cigarettes, the report said.

"It appears from the figures of the manufacturers investigated that in spite of the recent cost increase, the cigarette industry will continue to make very substantial profits," it added.

"Maintenance of present manufacturers' prices for cigarettes should not depress prices paid to tobacco growers.

Even in the depths of the depression, leading cigarette manufacturers average 9.5 per cent on their invested capital before taxes, and are now averaging over 21 per cent. In view of such profits, a cut in prices paid to tobacco growers cannot be justified on grounds of necessity," the report continued.

A break-down of producing costs of 1,000 standard price cigarettes was made public in the report. The figures are termed "approximately true of the factory cost" of major companies:

Leaf tobacco cost, including interest on leaf, $1.10; casing material, .03; wrapping material, .16; labor, .07; factory overhead, .07; freight, .07; administrative and selling, .25; revenue stamps $3.25; total $5.16.

The OPA issued a table showing net income as per cent of invested capital (after interest, but before income taxes). The first figure is the percentage of income in the years 1936-39 (average), the second figure the actual 1941 earnings:

- American tobacco, Inc., 14.05 and 20.97;
- Liggett and Myers, 17.58 and 19.30;
- Lorillard, 9.39 and 11.47;
- Philip Morris, 34.45; Reynolds, 23.31 and 26.86.

SHOW BOAT GIRL

By ROBERTA COURTLAND

Chapter 14 Double Cross

Jimmy said, in a tone lightly touched with awe, "Well, I'll be darned! Who'd ever have thought it? A girl who presents a casual kiss as though it had been a deliberate insult! Melissa, you're absolutely unique."

"I suppose that means I'm not a lady. Well, I never claimed to be," Melissa said hotly. "I'm just a backwoods—"

"You're just a lovely, very attractive young thing who's probably going to rob me of many a good night's sleep and set the world upside down for me," said Jimmy grinning. "Some ways I'm glad you socked me, and I'm very much afraid I'm going to fall in love with you—and what had you planned to do about that?"

"Nothing," said Melissa a trifle grimly, "because I know it isn't going to happen. You're just surprised because I slapped you. That may make me a novelty to you for a little while, but you'll soon get tired of me."

Jimmy said harshly, "You think so, do you?"

"I think so," answered Melissa sturdily.

Jimmy put the car in motion again with a little grunt, as he said grimly, "God knows I hope you're right. But well, we'll see."

Meanwhile, in the roadster, Dolores was saying sweetly, "But, Ace, darling, why should you mind if Melissa and Jimmy stop for a little petting party? After all, they're young—and in love—"

"Don't talk like a fool! Randy cut in savagely. "She barely knows the lug—"

"Well, just how long, my wise bozo, do you think it takes a smart girl to fall in love with a man who's young, good-looking, and rich?" demanded Dolores curtly.

He hesitated, his jaw hardening, and before he could speak, Dolores went swiftly on. "Look, Ace—be reasonable about this. Melissa's crazy about Jimmy—she told me so this afternoon. And he likes her. He's rich, and he could give her the sort of life any sane woman yearns for—a home, kiddies, all the rest of it. Why should you try to interfere? After all, you're not the marrying kind—you've said so yourself a thousand times."

She all but held her breath for his answer, and when it didn't come she went on hastily, as though to cover the fact that she had been waiting for it. "Of course, I don't know whether Jimmy's family would be willing for him to marry her—a show boat girl—"

"Jimmy Marston would be the luckiest lug that ever lived if she would marry him. She hasn't been a show boat girl long, and if it comes to that, what's wrong with her being a show boat girl? You happen to be one yourself—or had you forgotten that?" Randy cut in sharply.

Self-Control

Dolores set her teeth hard for a moment to fight down the resentment that surged through her. But too much was at stake. She couldn't afford to lose her temper. If she played her cards right she might happen to be the only rival who had ever seriously challenged her hold on Randy. And so after a moment she said sweetly:

"There's no use flying off the handle about it, my pet. I admit it—I hate the sight of the girl. I could cheerfully and happily wring her pretty neck for her—and I'd like nothing better! But that's because she's well, she's younger and prettier than I am and her act goes over better. I'm a spiteful jealous cat, but I'm a woman and I'd like to see her get along. And she's doing all right for herself. If you'll let her alone."

It had cost Dolores something to be so frank and so pitilessly honest, and somehow that frankness touched Randy.

He helped her out of the car, his hand beneath her elbow, drawing her close to him with a little friendly, almost caressing gesture, bending his head to look down at her lifted face—just as Jimmy's car came around the bend and for a moment illuminated the scene, so that Melissa saw the little intimate scene and read into it far more than an impulse of understanding and sympathy.

For just a moment she sat very still, her breath hung suspended. And then as Jimmy brought the car to a halt she turned to him and said impulsively:

"It's been a lot of fun. And I'm sorry I slapped you. And I'd love to see your plantation some time."

"Some time's much too indefinite—how about Sunday?" suggested Jimmy instantly. "I'll bring a note from Mother inviting you to spend the day with us at Enderlie. You'll like it. It's a beautiful place. And it will like you, too—because you're such a darling."

Melissa's smile was warm and sweet, and if the tears in her eyes were because of the scene between Randy and Dolores, Jimmy had no way of knowing that.

Randy and Dolores waited for Melissa at the edge of the tiny pier. As she came toward them through the twilight she nudged off her hat and ran her hand through her curls, loosening them a little about her face so that they could only guess at her expression in the dusk.

"Well," said Dolores, and her voice was gay and friendly, "did you have fun?"

"Lots of fun," answered Melissa, and would not meet Randy's eyes. "Jimmy's swell. I'm going to spend the day with him at Enderlie, his family's plantation on Sunday."

Dolores led the way along the pier to the River Queen. Melissa directly behind her. Randy behind Melissa. And his jaw was set and hard, his eyes bleak and somehow forlorn-looking.

Later, in her tiny cabin after dinner, Melissa was changing for her first number when there was a light tap at the door and Dolores came in, all smiles, gay and friendly, though there was a wary look in her frosty blue eyes.

"I just came in to tell you what good work you did this afternoon," she said, smiling. "Ace is tickled pink that you like Jimmy and are going to be nice to him. There's only one small hitch. You are going to have to convince him that you are playing around with Jimmy because you are helping Ace. He's an awfully stiff-necked guy—that infernal pride of his."

Melissa nodded, unsmiling.

"I do like Jimmy—and I'll never let Randy know that I am trying to help him," she said quietly. And then, because she could not control the impulse that bade her speak the words, she blurted out: "Did — did he see—Jimmy kiss me?"

Dolores chuckled wickedly. "And how!" she answered coolly. "It seemed to clinch the thought I planted in his mind, which was that you were pretty crazy about Jimmy. He was very much relieved."

"Oh," said Melissa a trifle flatly. Dolores laughed a little as she took herself off.

For a long moment Melissa stood very still there, in her billowing crinolined frock, her hands locked tightly together, while great tears filled her eyes. But when she turned to the mirror—she raised a hand and angrily brushed them away.

"Do you have to be a sap?" she demanded of herself furiously. "You've known all along he isn't in love with you. Why do you have to go on imagining things? Anyway, you've got a chance to help him. Isn't that enough?"

Off To Enderlie

On Friday evening Jimmy

brought a note from his mother cordially inviting Melissa to be their guest for the coming Sunday at Enderlie. The note was friendly, courteous, entirely cordial. There was obviously no reason why she should not go. And so on Sunday morning, immediately after a late, lazy breakfast aboard the River Queen, she dressed and waited for Jimmy.

Alice, in the inevitable slacks and shirt that was her every morning garb, looked Melissa over from head to foot and nodded approval.

"Smart gal," said Alice lazily. "White is superb with that copper-colored hair of yours, and it's always in good taste, especially a sports dress like that. Have fun, dearie, and klock the sassiest gals for a loop."

"I'll do my darndest," Melissa promised, laughing a little as she saw Jimmy's car on the road beyond the pier and ran to join him. Jimmy heaved her into the car, beaming. "What a day," he said happily, as though the glorious blue and golden day had been made to order according to his specifications. "And what a gal! Boy, are you easy on the eyes?"

"Meaning I look nice?" asked Melissa demurely.

"Meaning you look so beautiful that I am exercising abnormal self-control not to stop right here in the middle of the road and kiss you to pieces," said Jimmy, and despite the lightness of his tone there was a light in his eyes, a tensing of his jaw, a tightening of his hands on the wheel that made her, for the moment, uneasy.

"No!" she said firmly.

Jimmy chuckled, and Melissa looked at him uneasily. Instantly Jimmy sobered. "Don't be scared, angel," he said, and his voice was vibrant with tenderness, a verbal caress. "There's nothing to be scared of, ever! I give you my solemn word of honor I'll never kiss you again—until you ask me to!"

"Which I never shall!" said Melissa, hotly resenting the implication.

Jimmy grinned. "Want to bet on that?" he asked mildly.

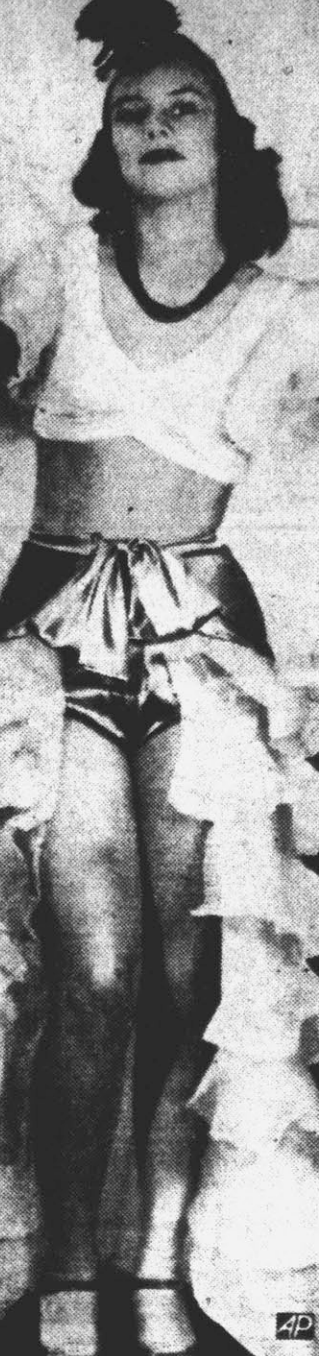

"Of course! Make the stakes whatever you like," answered Melissa recklessly and rashly.

Jimmy nodded, and some of the teasing laughter left his face.

"O K. have it your own way," he said, still mildly, though there was a hint of sternness in his voice now. "But you're my girl."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

NOT OUR OWN MANAGERS

Most of our failures arise from the fact that we try to manage our affairs without taking God into consideration. Man proposes but God disposes. We work out very ambitious schemes for the fulfilling of our lives but if these plans do not fit in with the plans of the Most High, we can be sure that somewhere along the line we shall experience defeat. In fact, if we did go on to triumph the plans which are contrary to the will of God, it would be worse for us than if we suffered ignominious defeat.

We should always bear in mind that life is not what we make it but what we allow God to make it. The Almighty has a plan for the life of every individual, and this plan deals not just with generalities but with things specific. Not a sparrow falls but God notes the circumstance. As Jesus told us, the very hairs of our head are numbered. God holds the universe in His hands and the planets traverse their courses under His direction. Likewise, His living presence is manifested in the atom. From the great spaces across which we sweep the telescope to the finest particles which we examine under the microscope, God is in complete control.

What we need to do is not to strive to put our own plans into operation, but to try so to plan our lives every day that the will of God may operate through us. Life is not what we make it, but what we allow God to make it.

DEMAND ACTION TO INCREASE WAR PRODUCTION

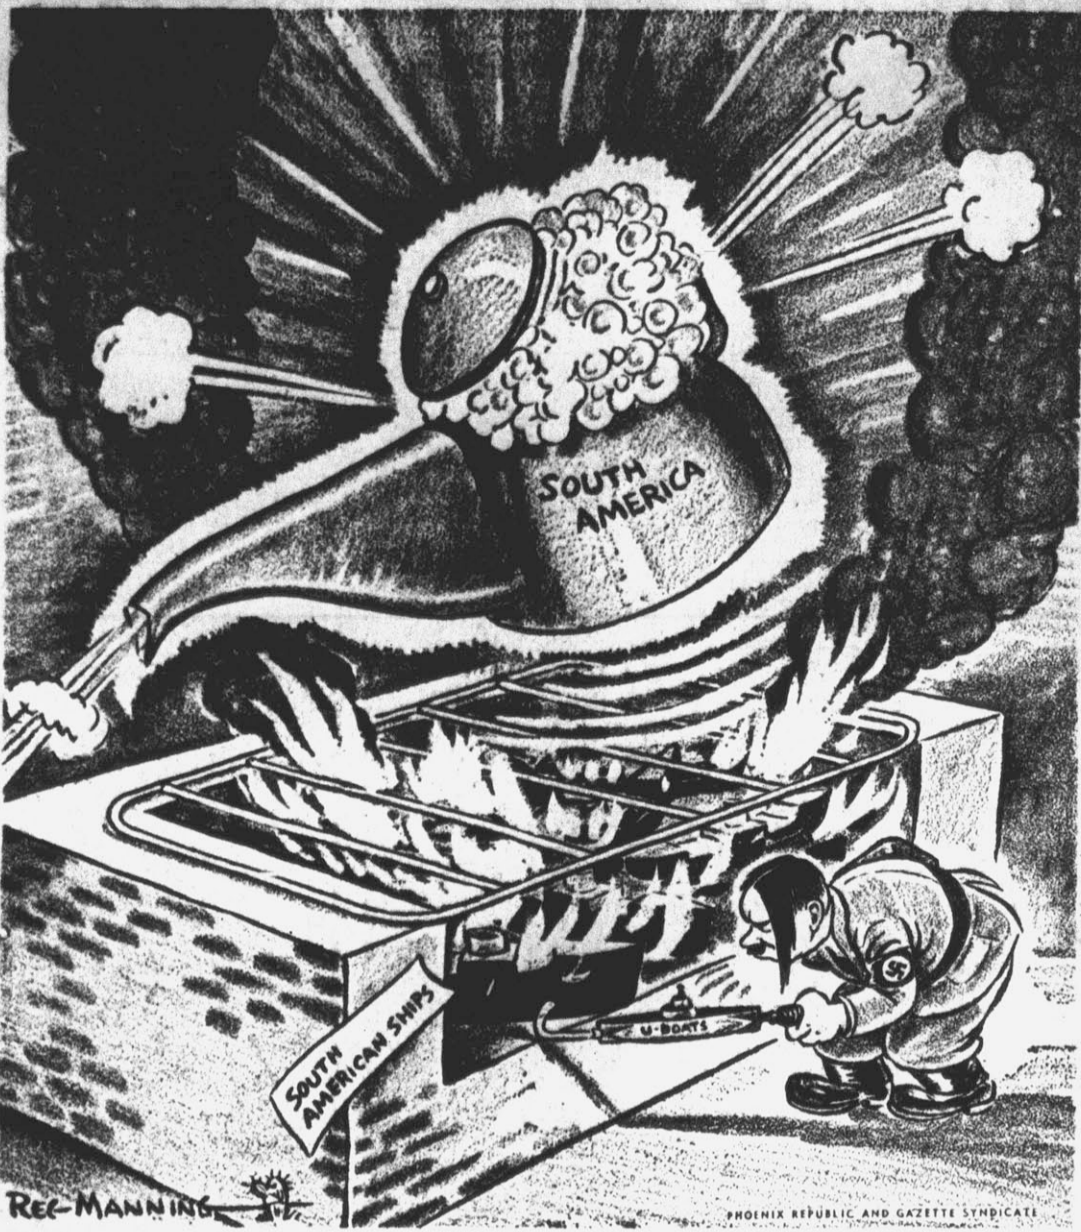

(Scottish Rite News)

Fortified by a Gallup Poll which showed that nine out of ten United States citizens wanted strikes in defense industries outlawed and by a flood of angry letters and telegrams against strikes, the forty-hour week, and excess profits, Congress made preparations last week to prevent internal bickerings from sabotaging war production.

Less than a week after Donald M. Nelson, head of the War Production Board, told a nation-wide radio audience that time-and-a-half and double-time pay were among the factors preventing full production, leaders in the House of Representatives started their campaign. A bill drawn by Representatives Howard W. Smith of Virginia and Carl Vinson of Georgia was introduced, on March 16th, that would limit profits to 6 per cent, suspend the 40-hour week and closed shop in war work, and eliminate overtime pay in the war industries.

Mr. Nelson's picture of war industry as it is now operating profoundly shocked the United States public. Led to believe that great strides had been taken in recent weeks, it was a stunning blow to learn that 77 plants surveyed in northern New Jersey were averaging less than 50 per cent of their full productive capacity, that only 22 out of 77 plants were operating on Sunday and 25 on Saturday.

President Roosevelt spoke in defense of the forty-hour week, saying it was possible to retain it and still reach full production. He suggested that the time-and-a-half pay for any work in excess of forty hours per week should still be observed, but agreed that the double-time for Sunday should be abolished. The President strongly favored production on a seven-day week basis, but hoped that hours would be staggered so that workers would labor only six days each week. Any who were forced by the war crisis to work seven days each week should receive double-time for the extra day.

However, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg seemed to voice the sentiment of Congress when he said: "Congress must soon realize that we can no more win this war with a forty-hour week in the arsenal of democracy than we could with a forty-hour week in the foxholes of Bataan." Judging from the letters received by Congressmen, the people at home shared his view.

The people needed no experts to tell them that a war on the scale of the present one could not be won in this manner. While production was up in many war industries, they demanded that their elected representatives see that vital plants were pushed to the limit of their productive capacity and that nothing stand in the way of reaching this goal. Congressmen stated that all had received literally hundreds of letters and telegrams from all parts of the country demanding that they get all-out production under way immediately.

Observers pointed out that German and Japanese factories were working long hours, with pay scales considerably lower than in the United States, and that laborers in the occupied countries were being forced to work ten and twelve hours per day for a mere subsistence. Obviously, the United States could not compete with the dictators unless it forgot about the forty-hour week and kept pay scales within reason.

War profiteers will also be hard hit in the proposed Smith-Vinson Bill. War contractors would be required to pay back to the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy all profits in excess of 6 per cent. This money would be placed in the general funds of the Treasury.

Public reaction to Mr. Nelson's disclosures was another indication that United States citizens were prepared to go the limit to win the war. In taking his case to the people, Mr. Nelson received support that immediately reached the ears of Congress. Angry demands for full war production will be satisfied only when public officials can show that this production is a reality.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington — The burst of economy sentiment in Congress is getting close to home in a way that is a little embarrassing to some senators.

Ever since the clamor about "frivolity" and "ordinators of coordinators" started echoing around Capitol Hill, senators and congressmen have been making speeches about the mountains of protest mail they have been receiving from the folks at home.

Senator Tydings (D-Md.) saw what was coming—a demand for more secretarial help to take care of the mail. Last year it was proposed that each senator be allowed an additional $4,500-a-year assistant, but the bill was defeated after sharp debate.

As chairman of the Legislative Appropriations subcommittee which recommends how much should be spent for secretaries, Tyding made up a table showing how many letters each senator received from Jan. 8 to Feb. 28, inclusive—51 days. He inserted the table into the Congressional Record.

His object, he drily informed the Senate, was to "show what senators claim they are receiving in the way of mail and what they have actually received." He hoped to "evolve a system which will be fair to all and which will bring the greatest amount of relief to those who have been overburdened with mail."

Tydings granted that senatorial mailbags have been bulkier since voters really warmed up to the subjects of labor, war effort and economy, but he suggested that even so some of his colleagues may have been letting their imaginations run.

What did the table show? Well, here are the first ten (not necessarily the ones who have been doing the most talking):

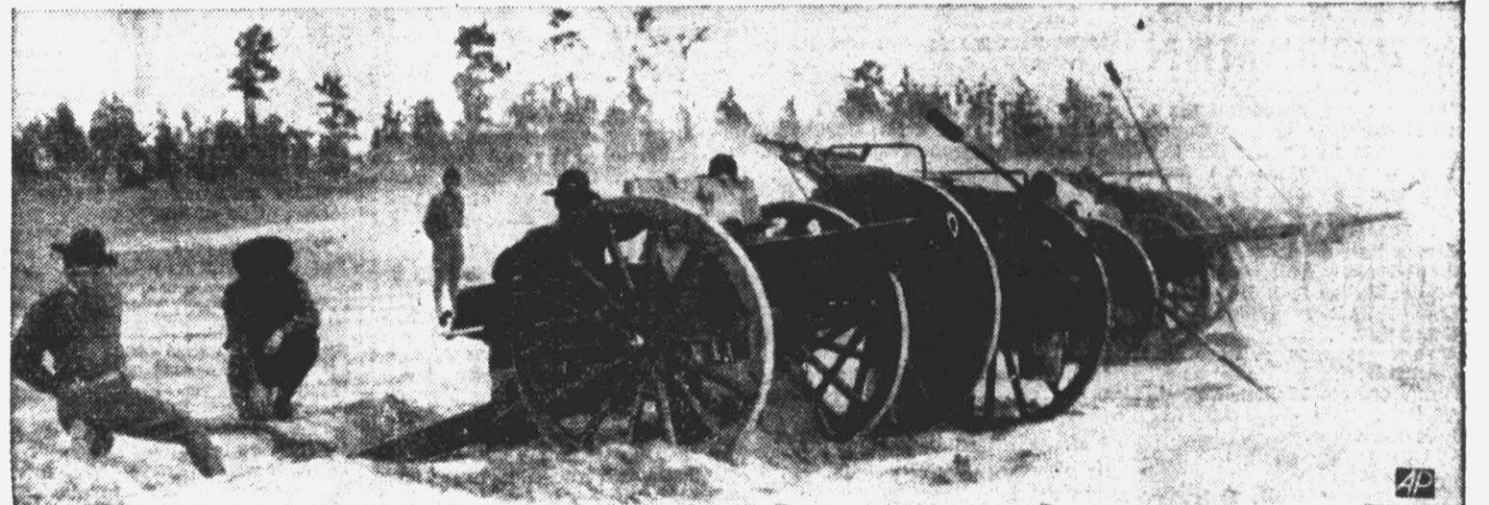

1. Senator Brooks (R-Ill.) average of 407 letters a day.
2. Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) 260.
3. Senator Connally (D-Tex.) 219.
4. Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.) 204.
5. Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) 184.
6. Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) 180.
7. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) 173.
8. Senator Tydings (D-Md.) 163.

Buck Newsom Finds Himself In Embarrassing Position

IS LAST AMONG BIG HOLDOUTS

Buck At One Time Played On Greenville Team

Lakeland, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Our old and esteemed pal Buck Newsom—one of the greatest pitchers that ever lived, on his own admission—finds himself in a position that might embarrass the average here at the training camp of the Detroit Tigers. It even has Buck a trifle disconcerted.

Last of the important baseball holdouts, the big fellow from South Carolina is being permitted to work out to his heart's content. He is running and sweating and pitching to the batters. He is in surprisingly good condition, some 20 pounds lighter than he was a year ago when, as the beaten hero of the 1940 World Series, he was tooting around grandly in a car whose horn played "Hold That Tiger."

The only thing is, this time, that Buck doesn't have a contract to play for the Tigers and is being pointedly ignored by officials of the club.

It is tough stuff for the big man who pitched the Tigers to a pennant only two seasons ago, with 21 victories and 5 defeats, and who proudly proclaimed last year that he was making the largest salary of any pitcher in the game—$32,500. The club has offered him $12,500 this time. Buck is so rebellious that it looks doubtful they ever can get together.

It seems more likely he will be with another club when the season opens. That will suit Buck, he makes it more than clear. In the clubhouse, streaming with honest perspiration, he kept saying: "I'll either pitch for 'em or agin 'em. But whoever I pitch for will pay old Buck the salary he wants—not what they want to pay."

Buck feels, and perhaps with some reason, that he is being unjustly penalized for the fact that he won only 12 games last year while losing 20. He claims it wasn't that he was any less great a pitcher, but that the Tigers simply had lost the services of Hank Greenberg to the army. Hank's big bat, he points out dispassionately, made the difference between winning or losing those 1-0 and 2-1 games.

"No pitcher, and I don't care how great he is, can win unless he gets a few hits behind him," said Buck. "I had my stuff last year and I still got it. Ask any of these fellows that tried to hit me today."

Newsom was asked how close he had come to getting together with Jack Zeller, general manager of the Tigers, on the salary debate. How much difference was there in their respective figures? "A right smart," he snorted. "Hell they're trying to cut me more than most players make. No, I won't split the difference between what they're offerin' and what I want. I've already made enough concession. Whoever I pitch for is going to pay me my figure."

Buck's figure is thought to be around $25,000. Anyone looking for a rugged right hander, not yet 33 and a good draft risk, who thinks he can win 30 games and probably can, at that, win 20, is invited to inquire of Zeller.

EASTERN CAROLINA GOLF PLAY TO OPEN ON APRIL 15

FOUR MEMBERS ARE ENTERED IN EAST LOOP

Championship Tournament Set For Wilson June 10

The four-member Eastern Carolina Golf League will begin regular play on April 15 and the season will run through June 9 with the championship play scheduled for Wilson June 10.

The four clubs in the league this year are Greenville Goldsboro Wilson and Tarboro Henderson. Formville and Winston were in the league last year but dropped out this season.

The season's schedule follows:

- April 15 Goldsboro at Greenville; Wilson at Tarboro.
- April 22 Tarboro at Goldsboro; Greenville at Wilson.
- April 29 All clubs play at Wilson.
- May 6 Tarboro at Greenville; Wilson at Goldsboro.
- May 13 Greenville at Tarboro; Goldsboro at Wilson.
- May 20 All clubs play in Goldsboro.
- May 27 Wilson at Greenville; Tarboro at Goldsboro.
- June 3 Greenville at Goldsboro; Tarboro at Wilson.
- June 10, Championship in Wilson.

valued in the deal for Arby Vaughan and now leads the club in runs driven in with 10. It is tied for home run honors at three with Vince DiMascio and is hitting .251. Last season he batted .129 for the Dodgers.

Sanford, Fla.—Manager Casey Stengel says it looks as if the veteran Tony Cucinello will start at second base for the Boston Braves and stay there as long as he can hold out. "Tony looks like the best we have got and he may match the comebacks of Jim Cooney and Dick Bartell," said Stengel.

Joe To Miss Aide In Friday's Fight

Port Dix, N. J. March 24 (AP)—It probably is asking a bit too much for Joe Louis to knock Abe Simon all the way from Madison Square Garden in a Chinese banquet hall, but the spirit will be there just the same.

Because out there in that banquet hall Joe Blackburn has been with a real combination of enthusiasm, strategy and a real thing with meanness. Well he misleads from Joe's corner Friday night for the first time since the bomber tossed his first bomb. And Joe feels it deeply.

"So this one," the bomber explained today, "is for chance. I only win this one for him."

Buck Detroit Joe says Champions had more to do than even himself in making him the boss-man. And let to be on the safe side he'll get last-minute instruction from Blackburn in a phone call tomorrow night or Thursday.

Football Dropped By WCTC For War

Wilmington, March 24.—(AP)—Western North Carolina Teachers College has dropped football for the duration of the war and Coach James Whittier, former All-American from Alabama, will go into the Naval Reserve.

C. E. Dodson, chairman of the Athletic Committee, said that "conditions of war, the decrease in the number of male students and our plan to do our part in the war effort warrant such action."

Whittier, to report April 28 at Norfolk, Va., probably will be succeeded as athletic director by Marlon McDonald, member of the North State conference, will continue its baseball and basketball participation.

FAST COMPANY IN GOLF MEET

Chick Harbert, Surprise Find of Season, Hopeful

By FRITZ LITTLETON

Pinhurst N. C. March 24 (AP)—If Melvin (Chick) Harbert, 21-year-old surprise find of the winter golf season, can win the North and South open golfers here today he will earn a reputation as probably the finest young competitor in the game.

This tournament means much more than two he already has won this season at Beaufort and San Antonio, Tex. If he wins he will have to win the hard way. He will have to beat the fastest field of the season including open champion Chris Wood making his first real bid of the year after missing in the coast-to-coast tour. All the other stars are here, including defending champion Sammy Snead, who drove all night coming in from Florida and then played an 18-hole practice round yesterday; Ben Hogan, the 1946 winner, currently leading Snead for top money honors; and even former champion Byron Nelson, who had a two-under-par 70 practice round.

Harbert is suffering from a throat ailment and his doctor advised him not to play but the strapping battler from Battle Creek, Mich., has his heart set on this one.

He finished 13th here last year and he knows he has improved. He wants another crack at the $20,000-$25,000 prize fund before the critical creek-side galleries that follow this 40-year-old meeting, oldest of all the winter tournaments.

same training a Battalion as his son. Private Wallace Wade, Jr. Parental authority will be strengthened by the respect due a superior officer in a military organization.

Major Wade, former football coach at Duke University, is well known in North Carolina, southern and national sports circles, having taken several teams to the Rose Bowl, and the winner of a considerable number of Big Five and Southern Conference football championships.

Hartford Bees Outline Spring Training Plans

Team To Arrive Here April 1st For Training

Men in uniform will be admitted to all exhibition games to be played here by the Hartford Bees during that team's spring training period here.

This was disclosed in a letter received here by Ty Wagner from Charles Blossfield, club secretary who wrote that the team would arrive April 1 and probably start work the following day. The secretary added "we won't waste any time."

With nine exhibition games

Confident but not cocky, 26-year-old Harbert says he can hit the ball as far as anybody in the game, including siege-gun Jimmy Thomson, and the No. 2 championship course demands long hitting. Harbert batted out a 70 on his practice round, tying Nelson.

The field, about 100 strong, will play 18 holes today, 18 tomorrow and 36 Thursday for $5,000 prize money.

scheduled, the club secretary wrote that he would like to schedule others and added that if any service teams in this section desired games, his club would be glad to play them.

Exhibition games scheduled to date follow: April 9, Elmira, here; April 10, Elmira at Tarboro; April 11, Binghamton, here; April 12, Hagerstown, here; April 15, Binghamton at Edenton; April 16, Springfield, here; April 23, Hagerstown at Rocky Mount; April 25, Binghamton here; April 26, Binghamton at Edenton.

Training Camp Briefs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(By The Associated Press) Daytona Beach, Fla.—Purchase of Stanley (Frenchy) Bordagaray by the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday increased the rumors of a possible trade between the National League champions and the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers are trying to peddle Louis (Bobo) Newsom, holdout pitcher on whom all American League clubs except Washington have waived.

Brooklyn is expected to offer Joe Medwick, former star St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, whose place in the Brooklyn outer garden has been usurped by Augie Galan.

Bordagaray's purchase from the New York Yankees hinges the number of Dodger outfielders to nine.

Tampa, Fla.—Outfielder Harry Craft got into his first Grapefruit League game of the season yesterday, singling and scoring Cincinnati's first run in the game with the St. Louis Cardinals. An eye infection kept him on the bench until now.

Anaheim, Calif.—Big Jim Castella former Georgetown athlete who came west as the Philadelphia Athletics' bullpen catcher, is making Connie Mack think of offering him a regular contract.

Orlando, Fla.—Clark Griffith is trying to interest the St. Louis Browns in a deal for one of their outfielders but so far his offers have been ignored.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Rumors persist that the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phils will pull a four-man trade with Joe Oringo, one of three shortstops in the Giant camp, going to the Phils.

Miami, Fla.—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants today announced the benching of the entire first team in an effort to break a losing streak that now stands at six and a record of only two triumphs in 13 starts.

Hollywood—Lou Novikoff worked his way back to the Chicago Cub varsity yesterday when he drove in six runs with a homer, a double and a single. Manager Jimmy Wilson has taken a liking to rookie hurler Jesse Flores, slim Mexican right hander.

Deland, Fla.—Manager Luke Sewell is wearing a broad grin, trimmed with crossed fingers, as his current spring training costume.

His St. Louis Browns have combined power and tight pitching in chalking up six wins in eight exhibition starts.

Los Angeles—The Chicago White Sox expect the arrival today of Luke Appling, their stubborn holdout shortstop.

Los Angeles—Pittsburgh Pirate supporters are tabbing Pete Coscarat as the find of the spring training season. He came to the Pirates as one of four Brooklyn players in-

RAID MADE ON BRITISH COAST

Invaders Driven Off After Leaving Many Dead

London, March 24.—(AP)—German dive-bombers hit destructively at three areas of the southeast English coast by dusk and moonlight last night in their heaviest attack since the major raids of 1941. A number of persons were killed.

British anti-aircraft batteries and night fighters challenged them with heavy fire and finally drove them back across the English channel.

The weather, however, was said to have kept the RAF's bomber squadron inactive again, for the 10th successive night.

One town was attacked by re-lays of dive-bombers. A shelter was hit squarely. A whole stick of bombs blasted a street. Several other areas were struck by high explosives. There were a number of fatalities.

Hundreds of residents of another town watched bombs spew from four raiders which sped in low from the sea at dusk. Three persons were killed and seven injured.

At a third community, home guardsmen found their exercises suddenly turned into real warfare. They blasted away at attacking planes and expressed belief they hit one, helping the regular defenders to bring it down.

Hog Market

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 24.—(AP)—A boiling market in secondary rail bonds—the turnover was one of the largest since 1937—today helped selected stocks to absorb a little of the rising steam.

Dealings picked up on the early recovery push but slowed later.

Transfers of around 400,000 shares, however, were the best in a week.

Easter Seals put on sale by the Pitt county chapter of the North Carolina Crippled Children's Committee will be mailed to people this year. K. T. Futrelle, chairman of the county chapter, announced today. Everyone is to use the seals they receive and a donation to be made if they wish to.

"Every child wear a bunny" is the slogan among the school children at Easter Seals sale time. Every school in the county has been provided with seals. The children always respond.

The Greenville Lion's club through the cooperation of Walker, manager of the local theaters, is presenting a movie short to the public about the work of the Easter seals money. The Lions are sponsoring the Greenville Seal Sale this year, it has already been announced.

The effort to place the stamps in the hands of the public will be from March 26th to Easter Sunday, Re-

New Construction On Park Delayed

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—The National Park Service reported today it contemplated no new construction on the Blue Ridge and Natchez Trace parkways during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Estimates presented to the House Appropriations committee in testimony made public today called for only $300,000 for the two scenic highways.

A. E. Demaray, associate director of the park service, said this was the "minimum amount which will be required for the salaries of Washington office and field personnel furnishing fiscal and technical services for projects in progress, for administration and protection of completed sections of the parkways, and for surveys of right of way requirements that states must acquire, and to a limited extent for surveys, plans and specifications to cover sections of the parkways scheduled for construction after the present war period, in accordance with the administration's on-the-shelf program to provide post-war employment."

Owen J. Duffy, 84 Claimed By Death

Owens J. Duffy, age 84, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. W. Wilson, near Fleming's Cross Roads, last night at 11:30 o'clock after several weeks illness. Funeral services will be conducted from the graveside of the Providence church cemetery near Lexington, S. C. on Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, by Rev. R. A. Thompson, pastor of the Baptist church of Brooklyn, S. C.

Mr. Duffy was born and reared in Lexington, S. C., and lived in various parts of Tennessee and North Carolina working as a carpenter. He lived in Fayetteville 12 years prior to his coming to Greenville about two years ago. He was a member of the First Baptist church of Fayetteville.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Wilson of Fleming's Cross Roads, Mrs. W. A. Cahoon of New Bern; two sons, J. W. Duffy of Lexington, S. C., and C. G. Duffy of Bristol, Va.; 17 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Polls To Operate On So-Called War Time

Raleigh, March 24.—(AP)—A ruling from the attorney general's office said today that "eastern standard time today in North Carolina is the so-called war time" and "the hours polls should remain open would be from 6:30 a. m., to 6:30 p. m., eastern war time."

The state board of elections had been puzzled over when to open and close the polls under war time.

TWO AGENCIES UPHELD BY FDR

Move to Abolish NYA and CCC Meets Disapproval

Washington, March 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today opposed a bill to abolish the National Youth Administration and the Civilian Conservation Corps and said the Agencies should be continued as a part of the country's war effort.

Paul V. McNutt, social security administrator, gave to the Senate Labor committee, which is studying the bill, a letter from the President which said:

"I feel that the youth agencies have a definite place in the all-out war effort. The 1943 program of the National Youth Administration to train approximately 600,000 youth for war industries and for other essential work will be a definite and necessary contribution to our expanding labor requirements. The Civilian Conservation Corps work on Army reservations is needed to prepare those reservations for full utilization. Likewise, the re-forestation projects of the corps which are now limited to those essential to the various phases of our war effort and so located as to provide protective services in vital areas should not be discontinued at this time.

"It is unfortunate that it is not generally known that the employment of these youth in some cases releases soldiers for active duty and in others involves tasks which would require the employment of adult civilians. I also feel that it should be made clear to all our citizens that by far the greater number of those on the rolls are of pre-military age and that the training which they receive is preparing them for such service as they may be called upon to perform when they become of military age."

"In view of the above, I cannot agree with those who take the position that these agencies should be terminated and, accordingly, you are advised that S. 2295 does not meet with my approval."

McNutt said the NYA was the greatest single producer of trained war workers. He reported that it was operating 1,997 shops with a total of 44,128 work stations.

He said the CCC was now devoted entirely to construction work at military reservations and protection and development of natural resources.

longer spans of life. The scientific presentation of good health, according to the speaker, is the prevention of disease rather than the cure. He stated that a diseased mouth and bad teeth are a menace to good health and explained how the dental clinics conducted by the State Department of Health help promote good health in North Carolina.

Dr. Alfred Schultz had charge of the program and gave his experience in working with the State Department of Health.

Floyd Hendrix, county agent and a new member of the club, was recognized and extended a cordial welcome by the club.

Dr. N. T. Ennett, F. C. Harding and Dr. Karl Pace were appointed on a committee to draft resolutions expressing the club's recognition and appreciation to Rev. W. A. Ryan for his outstanding service to the community.

Visiting Rotarians were J. Y. Monk and Everett McAdams, Farmville. Chief Petty Officer Hanley located at the NYA center was also a guest at the meeting.

Winterville Church To Conduct Revival

Revival services will begin in the Winterville Baptist church next Sunday evening, March 29, and will continue through the following week.

The services are being planned with this theme in mind: "The need and concern for Christ in every-day living."

They will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. Arthur Francis. Morning services will be held at 9:30 o'clock for the purpose of deepening the spiritual life of church people. Evening services will be held at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

The three merchant vessels definitely checked off as destroyed were a 7,000-ton tanker, a 6,000-ton ship and a 5,000-ton freighter. The new victories brought the official American tally of Japanese ships destroyed or damaged to 118 since the start of the war. The tolling blows were struck by the navy's surface ships, submarines and planes. In addition, Australian forces have accounted for 65 Jap vessels, and the Dutch have taken a toll as yet undetermined.

New Hat

Last week Alice Jones, the rich recluse who lives in a tumble-down tenement in New York, was robbed of $10,000 she had hidden away. Now she is deluged with offers and advice on how to spend the other $70,000 she has left in 14 different banks. But the only spending spree she has permitted herself was for the new spring hat she admires in the mirror of her purse.

"From our report of April 1, 1941 (for comparison): Weather in Eastern Carolina has been some warmer and several good rains have fallen during the past two weeks, but plants have grown slowly and are still very small. The largest range from the size of a dime to a quarter, and the present outlook is for a planting season about two weeks late, possibly a little later depending on seasons. Planting should begin about May 1. Plant bed conditions vary. Scattered reports come from Martin, Pitt, Beaufort, Craven, Onslow, Duplin, and
