NAZI CLAIM BRITISH INVASION SMASHED

Indications Of Impending Battle For India

Report Bloody Losses Inflicted At St. Nazaire

BRITISH NAVAL FORCE SIGHTED

Report From Rome That Major British Armada Sighted En Route To Indian Ocean Comes Within 24 Hours Of Announcement Japs Active In Area; Burmese Situation Looks Brighter

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor) Signs of a great impending battle for India increased today as the Rome radio reported that a major British force had been sighted en route to the Indian ocean within 24 hours after Japanese fleet units were reported in those waters.

The broadcast said a British force which passed the Cape of Good Hope, in southernmost Africa, included two large battleships, two aircraft carriers, several cruisers and smaller ships.

Japanese warships were reported near the enemy-captured Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal, within striking distance of Calcutta or Ceylon, and at Rangoon, Burma.

Allied prospects were brightened momentarily in the battle of Burma today by courageous Chinese counter-attacks which wiped out an invading Japanese force on the air field at Toungoo, eastern base of a defense line before the threshold of India.

Chinese authorities said the tough war-wise veterans sent south by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek their morale boosted by reinforcements, had liquidated the Japanese detachment at the air field and continue to counter-attack Japanese reinforcements moving upon the city.

British withdrawals were implied, however, in the rich Irrawaddy river valley to the west. The New Delhi communique said "our lines had to be straightened on the Irrawaddy front in consequence of recent developments in the Toungoo area."

General Sir Thomas Blamey, new commander in chief of the Allied land forces in Australia, said it was highly probable the Japanese would launch a big offensive against India as soon as they could consolidate the positions they already have won.

On the diplomatic front in India, Sir Stafford Cripps said he was "entirely satisfied with talks so far" with Indian leaders on Britain's offer of further autonomy.

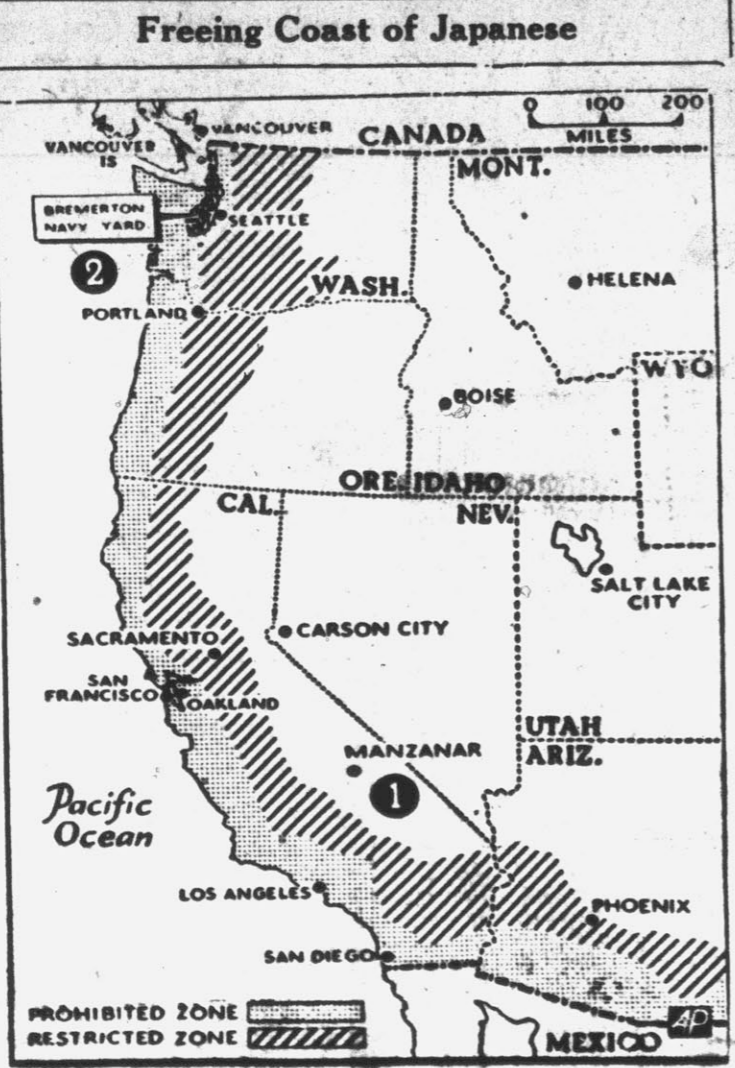

Fresh aerial action was reported in the south Pacific. Allied bombers fired a Japanese vessel in a raid yesterday on shipping at Koepang, capital of Dutch Timor, the second attack there in (Continued on Page Six)

Vichy Be Represented In Germany By Civilians

First Such Recognition Since Outbreak of War

Vichy, Unoccupied France, March 28.—(AP)—The French government announced today establishment of the first civilian representation in Germany since diplomatic relations were broken at the outbreak of war in 1939.

Eight civilian employees will be sent to Germany to open a "department of French labor in Germany" to deal with problems connected with the employment of French workmen in German factories.

(Official German sources have set at approximately 100,000 the number of French workmen engaged under voluntary contracts to replace German technicians called for army duty.)

The only previous representation in Germany, since the armistice in 1940, has been the embassy—without diplomatic status—for prisoners of war, headed by George Scapini, and the French delegation to the armistice commission at Wiesbaden.

Announcement of the civilian office came on the heels of Axis inspired reports from Bern that Pierre Laval, former vice premier, was expected in Berlin next week to discuss efforts for greater French-German collaboration after interviews with Marshal Petain and Vice Premier Jean Dorian.)

The WAR TODAY

The rapidly swelling intensity of preparations for the spring battle of the Russian steppes leaves small doubt that this will be the greatest and bloodiest engagement of the war to date, which means the most terrible of all time.

NAZIS PLACED ON DEFENSIVE AT MURMANSK

Hard Pressed By Russian Landing Parties

REDS SUPPORTED BY AIR AND SEA

Soviet Sub Activities Declared To Have Cost Enemy Big Toll In Naval Losses

Moscow, March 28.—(AP)—Pressure by Russian landing parties from Arctic beachheads behind the left invasion flank, combined with Soviet sea and air attacks, was reported today to be making the position of the German Alpine army before Murmansk extremely difficult.

Lieut. Gen. Eduard Dietl 51-year-old Bavarian whom Adolf Hitler decorated for his defense of Narvik in 1940, was identified by the army newspaper Red Star as the enemy commander.

"Now Dietl has been forced on the defensive and his Australians (mountain troops) are being steadily pressed," it said.

The surprise landing of a Russian seaborne force on Axis-occupied soil

Moscow, March 28 (AP)—German troops, encircled and besieged by strong Russian forces, are counter-attacking all along the eastern front in an effort to shake off the Soviet army for their own spring offensive, an authoritative foreign military source said today.

"The Germans are striving mightily to capture the initiative but it still is definitely Russian," he added.

The Germans have changed their strategy to open-field fighting, he declared, instead of clinging to fortified villages and cities because of fear of encirclement and outflanking.

Dispatches from the south described violent fighting while the encircled 16th German army in the Staraya Russa sector also was seeking to break through the Red Army ring.

both of the Murmansk coast, designed both to clear allied supply lines and imperil the invaders from the rear, was announced last night. The operation, however, apparently was initiated some time ago, with Red ships and planes in full support.

A Red Star dispatch said one German offensive had been blocked after a month-long struggle (Murmansk, which lies 175 miles north of the arctic circle, is Russia's major Barents sea port and communications center. Its population in 1926 was 8,777.)

Submarine operations connected with Russian troop movement was said to have cost the Germans at least 10 transports and a Red Star dispatch said hydroplanes and dive-bombers recently sank a German destroyer and damaged another which attacked Soviet fishing boats.

Russian fighter squadrons on the Kalinin front, which includes the Staraya Russa defenses of the 16th German army, were credited by the Moscow radio with shooting down 15 Nazi craft in an air fight from which only nine flew away.

Successful Raids Made By Philippine Defenders

NAZI INVASION IS PREDICTED Would Be Aimed At Power Stations, Gas Dumps

London, March 28 (AP)—The German high command is preparing to "sacrifice 200,000 airborne troops" in a spring smash against British power stations and gasoline dumps, a responsible London observer said today.

"It will not be the sort of invasion the public has learned to expect," he added. "Hitler will see to that. He is still a smart fellow."

If such a force, comparatively small for an invasion, were to damage vital centers such as power plants and gasoline deposits, this informant declared, the German high command would feel the investment in men, transport planes and gliders well worthwhile.

"To win his war, Hitler must stop British supplies from reaching the Russians and get the hard hitting British blitzes off his back," he continued. "The surest gamble for him now is an airborne invasion."

Information reaching London from the continent supported the air attack theory, citing three reports:

- 1. Large numbers of troop-carrying gliders are being made in Netherlands factories.
- 2. The Paris plant of the Renault Works, which was recently bombed by the RAF, is turning out gliders as well as tanks.
- 3. Poison gas is being manufactured extensively in German-occupied Belgium.

Many observers felt that Hitler probably would use gas.

RAF Raids Area In Low Countries

London, March 28 (AP)—British bombers attacked airbases in the occupied low countries last night but bad weather prevented large scale raids over the enemy territory, the Air Ministry announced today.

The Ministry said mines were laid at several points during the night. Four planes were reported missing.

The bad weather put a damper on RAF operations after two successive heavy night raids on vital German war industries in the Ruhr.

Falls To Death. Denver, March 28 (AP)—Admiral John R. Y. Blakely fell to his death today from the fifth floor of Fitzsimons General hospital. He was 69 years old.

U. S. Sub Toll

London, March 28.—(AP)—The London Star's Sydney correspondent said today that American submarines in the Pacific had sunk five Japanese destroyers, an air craft carrier, and about 30 transports and supply ships in the last two or three weeks.

Five cruisers, another aircraft carrier and 30 transports, and supply ships were damaged, the paper said, adding that all the sinking occurred "around Australia."

The correspondent said he had gained his information from "authoritative sources."

Another Star correspondent reported from Brisbane the arrival of a full Netherlands Indies infantry division, well armed and eager to fight.

ASKS PROBE OF GAS INDUSTRY

Full-Scale Investigation Warranted by Evidence

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—The Senate investigating committee has uncovered evidence warranting an investigation of the whole wartime aviation gasoline program, Chairman Truman (D-Mo) disclosed today.

He said the committee was studying testimony that Standard Oil of New Jersey had helped establish gasoline refining plants in pre-war Germany. In addition, Truman said, the committee has received information that while several major companies, including the Standard Oil group, had received government contracts to produce the 100 octane fuel used in American warplanes, independent firms were not sharing in this business.

"We have reports," Truman told reporters, "that the big companies have been given the inside track and that they probably will be able to pay for the plants the government is building for them out of the profits they make on the sale of gasoline to the government."

Truman said he expected the committee to look into this matter after it had concluded its current investigation into the synthetic rubber program.

As a part of that inquiry the committee heard testimony from Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, yesterday that a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey had cooperated with Nazi government interests in the construction of an aviation gasoline plant in Germany in 1938, before the war broke out.

Characterizing this as a contribution toward Germany's later productive success, Arnold said it was an example of "simple minded people following the dictates of a foreign government" by participating in the German autarchy program.

Meanwhile batteries on Corregidor and adjacent fortified islands shelled enemy gun emplacements on the south shore of Manila bay.

Red Dive Bombers Claim Destroyer

New York, March 28 (AP)—The British radio said today that Russian dive bombers had sunk one German destroyer in the northern Arctic and damaged another. The broadcast was recorded by CBS.

BBC, reporting further details of the recent Russian landing at the German rear on the Murmansk front, said that Russian fighting planes shot down 13 German dive bombers of the waves of Stukas which attempted to thwart the Russian move.

The remainder of the Stukas were said to have been driven off without inflicting any losses among the Russians' Stormovik and Hurricane fighter force.

Small Cities And Towns They Will Benefit From Rationing

Babson Park, Mass., March 28.—I am greatly interested in our small cities and towns throughout the country. Due to the decentralization of industry which is now going on and to other factors, they have a great future. Now, with tire rationing, they should immediately benefit provided the local merchants wake up. This is a clear case of one man's poison being another man's meat!

The Back To The Farm Bug are looking for small good farms. Even the suburbanites are moving "further out." The motives are: A desire to "get away from it all," a wish to live more simply, to cut expenses and to bring up the children in a healthier environment. Certainly, our children and grandchildren miss much in wholesome training which many of us oldsters received from doing the simple chores which farm life provides.

Nazi High Command Acknowledges That Troops Landed At Key Nazi U-Boat Offensive Base, but Asserts Entire Force Routed; London Reports Only "Small Raid" Without Details

By The Associated Press A spectacular British seaborne attempt to wreck the port of St. Nazaire on the French coast, key base for Germany's U-boat offensive in the battle of the Atlantic, was declared by the German high command today to have been crushed with "high bloody losses" and the capture of 100 prisoners.

In a special bulletin, the Nazi high command acknowledged that the British succeeded in landing troops in the attack last night but asserted they were routed in an attempt to storm the big St. Nazaire shipyard and to penetrate the town itself.

The communique said a former American destroyer, laden with explosives, blew up under the fire of German shore batteries as the British sought to ram it against the gates of the harbor locks in an attempt to destroy them.

"The mass of enemy motor torpedo-boats and assault boats was also destroyed or heavily damaged by artillery," the communique declared.

"On the German side, not one warcraft was lost," the Nazi bulletin asserted. "Also, in the submarine base no damage whatever occurred."

"After dawn, German torpedo boats encountered a superior British destroyer formation which broke off the engagement after having received several hits."

The German high command said a destroyer, four large torpedo-boats and nine smaller ones were destroyed by Nazi defense forces in besting off the assault.

A British communique said units of the army, navy and air forces made a "small raid" on St. Nazaire early today and announced that a further report would be issued "as soon as our forces return."

DNB, the German news agency, said British "aviation units"—presumably parachute troops—also participated in the attack.

St. Nazaire is a German U-boat base. Adolf Hitler's high command declared in a special communique that (Continued on Page Six)

Different Ways

A South Pacific Port, March 28 (AP)—A Netherlands navy unified command today that the United Nations naval forces under the Dutch vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich had to be dissolved after the first big engagement in the Java Sea Feb. 27 when Allied ships withdrew to different refuel ports.

"It is to be regretted," Ansett, Netherlands navy agency quoted him as saying, "that after the incident the Allied force went to different refuel ports, because the next day it had become impossible to concentrate again and form a new squadron that should have had a better chance to break through the enemy, even though he had superior forces."

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR Saturday, March 28, 1902

There are a number of enterprising men in Greenville, so far as individual matters go, but as a whole the town has been very negligent in availing itself of opportunities that would tend to advance the interest of the entire community. Enterprises that might have been easily secured here have been allowed to go elsewhere just because of a want of interest and cooperation. Surely there ought to be an awakening and working together for the advancement of the town. Individual enterprise is good, but a concentration of effort is better.

owbrook Chapel and the First Church will be held. A special service will be featured and all members of the three congregations are urged to be present and hear what the young people are doing.

Unrepealing for the several episodes and linking them together are passages given by a historian, who will again be Bessie Fay Hunt, a junior from Wilmington. The material of the whole pageant is simply but dramatically presented, in the spirit of worship.

The YWCA president, Virginia Whitley of Nashville, and the acting YWCA president, Sammy Cranford of Stokes are in charge of general preparations for the service.

The troop was taken to the Carolina Dairy to inspect the ice cream and milk plant. Mr. Webb appointed one of his men to explain the plant to the little girls.

Nelson Tells Labor What's Wanted

Donald Nelson (left), War Production Board director, and Philip Murray (right), CIO president, were snapped in these two formal pictures as they discussed the war-labor situation at a meeting of CIO officials addressed by Nelson in Washington. Asking suspension of double pay for Sun days and holidays, Nelson said he would not use the war "to whitewash the labor situation."

Twenty-five Brownies and two Girl Scout helpers, Eleanor James and Mary Rose Crisp, were present.

The members of Troops 1, 2 and 8 will begin a first aid class Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Girl Scout office. Miss Louise Turner, from E. C. T. C., will conduct the class. Miss Marjorie Perkins, Mrs. Ed Anthony and Miss Lillian B. Watts are the leaders of these troops.

The members of Troop 3 will begin a first aid course Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 at the Y but of E. C. T. C. Mrs. Charles Shurt will be the instructor for this class. Mrs. L. R. Meadows, Mrs. Robert Getchell and Miss Rosalie Brown are the leaders of this troop.

Troop 4 will have its meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Nell Currie and will have an egg hunt.

Troop 10 will have an investiture ceremony Thursday afternoon at 3:30 at the West Greenville school. Mrs. J. D. Collins, Jr., executive secretary, will invest the troop.

Attention to our radio audience: Our weekly program beginning this week will come on Wednesday afternoon at 5:25 instead of Tuesday. This week the program will be directed by Mrs. Ed Anthony, leader of Troop 8, and will be a "Baby Sitters, Incorporated." The cast will be made up of girls from different troops in the city.

An outdoor cooking course will begin Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the Girl Scout office for all leaders and troop committee members in Greenville. The first session will be held in the office and the other three will be at the grill at ECTC. All leaders are urged to come.

FIRE WARDENS BEGIN DUTIES

Officials of the local Auxiliary Fire Force are rapidly completing plans to cope with any emergency and the first class has completed a special course prescribed under the Civilian Defense program.

Officials of the local organization are Fire Chief George Gardner, Fire Warden J. Key Brown, Fire Warden J. D. Murphy and H. W. Martin.

Following is a statement issued by the officials:

If and when we are subjected to aerial warfare, it is the opinion of experts that incendiary bombs instead of high explosives will be used, as an airplane, with a capacity of 2,000 pounds, could carry 1,000 incendiary bombs and cause from 100 to 200 separate fires which would likely cause a conflagration, whereas four 500-pound bombs would destroy only about four city blocks.

This is why we are asking all citizens to become acquainted with the methods used in the handling of this type of bomb. It is the duty of each household to combat this 2-pound bomb and it can be done as has been proven in England. You, auxiliary and regular firemen will be glad to help you with your plans of how and what to do if you will ask them, but it is your duty to combat these incendiary bombs when they first hit your home. It would be impossible for the regular and auxiliary firemen to handle 100 or 200 small fires at once as they will be busy with larger ones. This is why everyone must become a fire-fighter.

The 2-pound incendiary bomb must be left alone for the first minute, as you can't get close enough to handle it because of the molten metal flying in all directions. This also gives it a chance to explode should there be an explosive in it. After the magnetism ignites (it is set off by the thermite which burns out in about a minute), it is safe to spray it with a fine spray of water, but be sure and don't let a solid stream of water strike it as a mild explosion would occur which would be very dangerous to anyone near it. You can cover the bomb with sand to kill the heat, use a shovel to pick it up and put it in a bucket that has two inches of sand in the bottom, and carry it out of the house. Be sure at all times to first stop the spread of fire caused by the bomb as the sole purpose of the bomb is to destroy your home. Families not damaged must help those that are.

The following list is recommended for use in combating these bombs:

100 pounds of dry sand in containers of about 25 pounds each, to be properly placed inside the home. One large metal bucket in each home.

Two square face shovels to each city block.

One pair of tough gloves.

We are asking every home to check their garden hose and see that it will reach every part of the house, including the far corners of the attic. A threaded spigot could be used inside of the house for convenience.

The above equipment is sufficient so long as high explosives are not used to destroy the water system. Should the water main be broken, the garden hose would be useless and the only thing that could be used would be the sturriest pumps, a pump tank hand extinguisher, or dipper and buckets with water that had been drawn in bath tubs or other containers prior to the raid. A 2-pound bomb will burn from 10 to 20 minutes and if sprayed with water it will burn up in two or three minutes.

There will be a picture here soon that will show the incendiary bombs in action and how to handle them. We urge all citizens to see it. It will be shown at the high school and the public will be notified of the date in advance.

The following have completed the first course prescribed for Auxiliary Firemen:

W. Z. Morton, Milo H. Smith, J. Key Brown, J. D. Murphy, Henry Martin, W. S. Stafford, Ralph Fleming, A. L. Tucker, W. G. Garner, W. B. Wilson, H. B. Neal, Herman Hardee, F. W. Brown, B. B. Drum, Robt. A. Darr, L. T. Jones, H. G. Baker, Herman Andrews, Carlton Cozart, Jesse Moye, Jno. Askew, W. C. Taylor, H. R. Joyner, J. A. Karsnak, Ed. H. Foley, J. W. Foley, R. H. Strum, Vernon Carawan, Carl Morris, J. G. Forrest, Gilbert Peel, G. E. Staples, Jack Howell, Karl Cahoon, Yank Howell, Frank Park, Jr., Chas. D. Laughinghouse, P. O. Allen, Ray Nichols, J. D. Murphy, E. A. Fuller, L. C. Mason, G. B. Rise, Sam Northrop, S. L. Roland, Lyman Eason, Dick Everett, Lester Jones, E. C. Hollar, N. S. Beard, ham Register, C. B. West, Jr.

Hits Reported In Raids On Moscow

Berlin (from German broadcasts) March 28 (AP)—Important military objectives in Moscow were attacked last night in the first bombing of the Soviet capital in recent weeks, a German communiqué said today.

Twenty-one Russian planes were said to have been shot down yesterday and 35 tanks put out of action. Strong, tank-supported attacks by the Red Army on the central and northern fronts were reported today by the German high command which said the onslaught proved unsuccessful.

A communiqué said the Russians still were attacking in the Kerch Peninsula of the Crimea, at the southern flank of the battlefield.

Here, the way bulletin said, the attacks were on a "fairly weak" scale. They were reported repulsed.

Instructor Course Is Being Offered

On Wednesday night, April 1, from 7:30 to 9:30 in the court room of the Municipal building the Red Cross first aid instruction will be started for civilian defense workers.

This group is to include all auxiliary firemen, air raid wardens, auxiliary policemen, etc.

If you have volunteered your services for any part in civilian defense work you are urged to attend Wednesday night. Twenty hours of Red Cross first aid training are required for workers on rescue squads, stretcher teams, nurses' aides and orderlies.

This training will entitle students to the regular Red Cross first aid certificate.

The hours of Red Cross first aid training is a minimum requirement for the following corps working on civilian defense: air raid wardens staff corps, drivers corps, messengers, auxiliary policemen and firemen, decontamination and bomb squads.

This ten hour course does not entitle these workers to the Red Cross certificate but the course may be completed up to 20 hours for those who wish to complete the training. Anyone wishing to attend night class for R. C. P. A. training may supplies of Easter Seals. The Winterville and Stokes communities have each been back for more seals.

Claims RAF Bombers

Berlin (from German broadcasts) March 28 (AP)—German night fighters shot down five British bombers which attempted to fly over Heligoland Bight, the Berlin radio said today.

Nazi bombing crews were said to have obtained valuable information on scouting flights yesterday over the British Isles.

No More School Buses

Raleigh, March 28 (AP)—North Carolina, it seems, will have to do without new school buses for the duration. W. Z. Betts, director of the state division of purchase and contract, says there is virtually no prospect the state will be able to obtain any.

Elizabeth City Air Base To Be Commissioned Wedn'd'y

TO MAKE WAR ON AXIS SUBS

First Such Base Constructed South Of Lakehurst

Elizabeth City, March 28.—(AP)—The navy's new $6,000,000 base for lighter-than-air craft at Elizabeth City, described by officers as "a potent warning to enemy submarines on patrol in recent months in coastal waters," will be commissioned next Wednesday.

The new base, first to be constructed on the coast south of Lakehurst, N. J., includes railroad facilities, a giant hangar, personnel quarters and administration and recreation buildings. Construction was authorized by contracts signed July 25, 1941, by the Bureau of Yards and Docks and now almost complete. The station covers several hundred acres.

War restrictions will bar the general public from the grounds but the commissioning ceremonies will be broadcast over a regional hook-up.

Dignitaries who will attend include Governor J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina, Rear Admiral Kanley H. Simons, commander of the fifth naval district, and his chief of staff, Capt. Allan S. Farquhar, and Capt. Charles E. Rosendahl, commanding officer of a similar station at Lakehurst.

Command of the base will be turned over to Comdr. J. M. Thornton during the ceremonies, which will begin at 2 p. m. The Norfolk Naval training station band will render honors to Governor Broughton, the watch will be set on order of the commanding officer and addresses will be made by the honorees.

The ceremonies will be preceded by a luncheon in the administration building and will be followed by a reception in the bachelor officers' quarters.

Edwards Is Heard At Robersonville

Robersonville, March 28.—Jack Edwards of Greenville, candidate for Congress from the First District, told the Robersonville Rotary club in an address last night that even now while we are in war Americans must strive to keep alive their precious rights and liberties.

"The hard hours now before us sweep on to a destiny we cannot foresee," Mr. Edwards said. "While the people should realize that we must exert every effort and make every sacrifice to win the war, there must also be a democratic regeneration in spirit. The power lies in the people to preserve our heritage of free democracy, to cherish and protect our rights against the forces of corruption and favoritism. The great voice and power of America does not come from what we might call the inner circle. It comes in an undertone from the woods and farms and factories and stores and filling stations and places of business. It flows from the sea of masses of men and women rolling and gaining volume until it comes to us from the homes of all the people. These selfish men commonly known as barons of wealth or war profiteers, conceive that money is power and they would have it so by their vicious propaganda under the guise of democracy.

They even go so far as to serve the people with their whispering propaganda that a man without wealth cannot be elected to democratic office. They would make men forget their common origins, forget their inborn sympathies, forget their respect for each other, and join a class—and no class can ever serve America. We here in America hold a sublime privilege—the right to govern ourselves—and this right should not be treated indifferently at any time, much less in time of war. We hold the hope of the world but shame and dishonor will be ours if we merely build a greater country but continue to permit the infamy of unjustly divided material prosperity."

Revival To Close On Sunday Night

The series of evangelistic messages which Dr. Marshall Mott of Winston-Salem has been presenting each night the past week at the Memorial Baptist church will be brought to a close Sunday night at 8 o'clock when Dr. Mott will preach on the text "What Are You Waiting For?" Following that sermon the ordinance of baptism will be administered to those who have presented themselves for church membership by letter or by profession of faith in Christ.

Chorus Will Present Program Sunday Nite

The Greenville Symphonic Chorus will present its annual Easter program at the local Methodist church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The chorus is directed by Lewis Sidney Bullock. The public is invited to attend.

Broadside For The Japs On Wake Island

The main battery of a United States cruiser lets go at Japanese-occupied Wake Island in the Pacific during the recent attack disclosed by the Navy March 25. The attack by a Navy task force destroyed enemy small boats, seaplanes and numerous shore installations on Wake and Marcus islands. Striking within 950 miles of Tokyo, the attacks so alarmed the Japs that Tokyo was reported blacked out for several nights.

SHOW BOAT GIRL By ROBERTA COURTLAND

Chapter 18
Ditching Jimmy
Randy found Melissa on deck one afternoon, lounging in a canvas deck-chair, an unread magazine on her lap. He paused, looked down at her for a moment, and then, as though he had come to some decision, asked baldly, "See here, Melissa, have you and Jimmy Marston been unwell? I don't seem to see him around any more."

Melissa caught her breath and was silent for a moment. Was Jimmy complaining of her behavior to his father? Was Mr. Marston silly enough and old-fashioned enough to want to punish, even indirectly, anybody who fell afoul of Jimmy's bad temper?

"Why, no, of course we haven't been quarrelling. What an idea!" she stammered hastily, and added hurriedly, "I imagine he's—well, busy in town. Maybe that's why he hasn't been out."

"Maybe," agreed Randy, and studied her again for a moment before he turned and looked out over the shore line. "Melissa, are you in love with Jimmy?" he demanded.

Melissa was hurtled away from her face until she had time to compose her features after the unexpectedness of that.

"Of course not," she answered as lightly as she could. "I like him, of course—he's fun and all that—but I'm not in love with him."

Randy turned then and looked down at her. His hands sunk deeply into his pockets, his mouth a little grim.

"I'm afraid you're not a very good liar, Melissa," he accused. "Everything about you gives you away, and I'm sorry because—well, I'm afraid Jimmy Marston is going to hurt you pretty badly. He's rather a careless youngster, and the women haven't been hard for him to get, and so—well, he can be pretty brutal."

Melissa laughed, letting him see deeply into her eyes, meeting his startled gaze bravely, directly, serenely.

"Let him be just as brutal as he likes—it wouldn't worry me in the least, because I'm not one single tiny scrap in love with him," she said lightly and impulsively, before she could control herself. "And anyway, if I were in love with him—he's asked me to marry him and refused to take 'no' for an answer."

"Oh," said Randy, and straightened as though she had struck him. His jaw set hard and his eyes narrowed a little. And when he spoke his voice was dry and taut.

"Oh, well," he said after a tense moment. "In that case just pretend I didn't say anything, that I kept my mouth shut. I would have except that I promised your Gran not to let you be hurt if I could help it. But it looks as though you were doing all right for yourself with no help from me. So just forget it, will you?"

And without waiting for her to answer him, he went swiftly along the deck and a few minutes later she saw him in his car driving toward New Orleans.

Christmas Present
For a few weeks things moved swiftly and pleasantly. Business improved steadily. Every night the River Queen blazed with lights and the parking space provided was packed with sleek, handsome cars.

Dolores kept her temper with a great deal of effort during those nights, but with Jimmy Marston still calling frequently, still taking Melissa in to town for dinner, for the movies, for an occasional road show matinee, she forced herself to watch her tongue.

tra, and even, to her surprised and child-like delight, from the wise-eyed, cynical old-young men who were the gambling room attendants.

And from Randy a wrist-watch, a simple, tiny thing in a narrow band. She had never owned one before, of course, and her eager delight had been almost touching when she found it in a tissue-wrapped package on her plate.

About noon Jimmy arrived, coming aboard with his usual slightly swaggering, gaily self-assured air of a conquering hero. Under one arm he carried a box which could obviously hold nothing more than flowers, and these he laid in Melissa's lap where she sat in her favorite steamer chair. He perched on the stool next to her and dug a small package from his pocket.

"Give me the left paw, angel," he said cheerfully. And on her third finger he slipped a ring against her protesting, beautiful square-cut stone the sunlight twinkled and found glorious gleams of fire.

Melissa stared at the ring, wide-eyed, breathless, for a moment speechless.

"Now, according to all the movies I've seen," said Jimmy, grinning a little, "you're supposed to gasp to say, 'Oh, Jimmy, in a tone of awe, and then kiss the ring.'"

But Melissa was tugging off the ring, handing it back to him, saying swiftly, distressed, "Oh, Jimmy—no, I can't take it! I've told you over and over again, Jimmy—I don't love you—I can't marry you."

Jimmy made a little impatient gesture, refusing the ring, saying annoyed, "Oh, for Pete's sake, stop playing hard to get. I'm yours—hog-tied, roped and bound to your chariot wheels—so for the love of Mike, break down and stop being so blasted coy—"

"I'm not being coy, Jimmy. I'm trying my damndest to be honest, only you won't let me," snapped Melissa, on the verge of helpless tears. "I'm not playing hard to get—I'm just telling you the truth, which is that I don't want to marry you and I don't intend to and that's that."

"Well, I'll be darned!" said Jimmy, turning the beautiful ring about in his hand as though he had never seen it before. "And all the time I thought you were just egging me on—I never for a moment thought you meant it."

Melissa said shakily, "I'm sorry Jimmy—truly!"

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

FAITH BEGETS JOY
A man who has delved deeply into the things of the spirit, recently wrote these words: "The solemn people are those who are still searching for the deep things of the spirit."

"When people really 'get religion' they are no longer solemn but indescribably happy. They have found something so precious that the treasures of the world are as nothing compared with it. They are free from anxiety because they know that God rules the universe and therefore they can with confidence leave the issues of their lives in His loving hand. They have courage because they know that nothing can essentially damage the destiny of believing men. There is a song in their heart every day because through faith they have reached out beyond the world that is seen and heard the majestic singing of the unnumbered multitude in a realm that is not seen. The solemn man is not quite sure of his faith. He blames his own lack of spiritual achievement on the wickedness of the people round about him. He judges his fellows harshly and wants to wipe out evil with a strong hand. He deals with symptoms, not with a disease itself; with effects, not causes; with things that are external and not with the heart of the matter.

He is still at the frontiers of true spiritual experience. He has not had faith enough yet to step across and make the precious land his own.

THE NEW SCHOOL BUS

It was a happy group of students at the high school yesterday morning when the new bus to be used for extra-curricular activities was presented to the school. The bus has been needed for a long time but now that private vehicles are not available the bus was essential. The school students are to be congratulated for the fine spirit they showed in providing more than half the funds for the purchase of the bus and the citizens who had a part in contributing the balance, and the committee who made the solicitations are likewise to be congratulated for their interest in the of their interest in the schools.

JUST A SIDESHOW

Frankly we don't agree with Governor Broughton in his "blow-off" about the submarine menace on the North Carolina coast and his demands that the government do something about it. To begin with, the statement that enemy subs come to the surface in full view of Fort Macon to chat with each other and that they play about in the water like dolphins seems to us a little far-fetched.

It must be remembered that Hitler's submarine attacks along the Atlantic coast cannot win the war for the Nazis, but not doubt the campaign was launched with a view to bringing about such demands on the government for protection of coastal shipping that naval vessels would be transferred from the all-important task of conveying materials and supplies to England and Russia to that of guarding shipping along the coast.

America's big task right now is to see to the safe transport of its men and materials to the fighting fronts across the oceans and in the meantime the submarine attacks on coastal shipping must remain a sideshow. We cannot afford to let our attention be diverted from the main issue.

Washington Daybook

Washington.—The other night I sat across the table from a man who is considered one of the great news editors of these turbulent times.

"Aside from the big battles on this front or that," he said, "the biggest stories of this month and probably the next and the next are those which concern extravaganzas, waste and chiseling on the part of labor, management and government."

Why? Because letters, telegrams and editorials from you and you have got congress a few months away from electing in the whole House and part of the Senate) in a fine state of jitters.

No one who has been around Congress very long is going to be too much perturbed about a deluge of mail on any specific issue. It's easy to arouse the pressure groups without arousing the real voters in ordinary times. A lobby for some cause gets hot up about some pending legislation. The word goes back down the line until it reaches the little people—and they write their Congressmen.

Ordinarily the Congressmen thumb through this mail, answer it (just for fear it might be a voter), make some notation of it in the Congressional Record, and unless it assumes bandwagon proportions, go on about their business.

This time it's different. In the first place, it can't be determined that any of the mail demanding economies, an end to boondoggling or a punishment—through new laws of labor and management who step out of the war production line, is coming from any of the old organized pressure groups.

millions of board feet of scrap lumber owned by the government, had been burned up on government agents' orders, while hundreds of citizens nearby scoured the countryside for mesquite and other brush to combat their shortage of fuel and keep them from freezing to death.

It has been a long time since this country was aroused to such a consistent 22 of writing its Congressmen. That fact and the nearness of election has a lot of them jumping when the postman only rings once.

plies as soon as possible. Uncle Sam intends to do better than his best.

That will be glad news in Moscow, which has been urging an all-out effort by the Allies in this emergency. Both Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador to London, and his colleague in Washington, Ambassador Litvinoff, have been hammering persistently on this theme.

In all fairness it must be said that both Washington and London have been laboring under vast handicaps. Anyway, help is being rushed to the Red front.

Hitler is alive to this, for his air force, stirring from its long weeks of overhauling and repair, is beginning to strike again, and the most feasible Russian gateway for supplies—Murmansk, up in the Arctic—has been heavily bombed.

Meantime the Fuehrer is said to have commanded his armies in Russia to hold their present positions at all costs, to give him strategic bases from which to launch his counter-offensive. In order to ensure this he has flung at least 600,000 fresh troops into the line to support the weary, frost-bitten veterans who have been fighting and retreating, retreating and fighting, through the fierce, sub-zero winter.

The Nazi chief is combing every British and by-way of Europe for additional troops and is even stripping his war factories of young workers. He is turning the thumbscrews on Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria to the breaking point.

While all this is going on, the Japs have extended their operations in Burma and the Indian ocean. It is too soon to say that this is calculated to support Hitler by putting pressure on American and British operations in the Middle East, but it might be that. Certainly it has the effect of increasing the threat to the Allied bases in that theatre at a very trying moment.

To The Editor:
I read a news item in your paper a few days ago in which Mr. R. Flake Shaw, executive secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, was quoted as saying, that our North Carolina Congressmen "were not up to par with Congressmen of other states, when it came to working for agriculture in North Carolina."

Most of us in Pitt County have not had sufficient opportunity to compare Congressmen, and are not in a position to judge the truth or falsity of this charge. Admittedly it is a serious charge, and admittedly Pitt County has every reason to complain of its representation in the National Congress. However, if the charge is true, the fault lies in the voters. Certainly no one can truthfully say that we are short on congressional material in North Carolina. Here in the East we are vitally interested in agriculture, and we have plenty of good men who are well qualified to represent us in the National Congress.

It seems to me that Mr. Shaw's charge is a "call to arms" and especially to the people in Pitt County, to take stock of what they want; what they are entitled to; and what they have been getting from their national representatives.

considerable economic significance. Many city people who purchase farm properties will bid prices up and get royally stuck. Furthermore, they are apt to think the first coat is the last. They will miss the modern conveniences of their former homes and, in the majority of instances, put far more into their farm than they will ever be able to take out. They will find mortgage money hard to get; not because local banks do not want to lend, but because the average "going farm" is spoiled by too many improvements. If a bank is obliged to foreclose, it usually finds the property useless for the practical working farmer and must wait its chance to resell to another "city chick."

Transportation A Factor

This country is so full of enterprise and inventive genius that when one industry or process goes out of business, two or more rise to take its place. Washington thought that slapping down on tires would conserve gasoline. It will to some extent but we won't go without transportation. Already one of my friends has announced a new process for making tires that uses only two per cent of rubber. I cannot imagine this small amount of crude or reprocessed rubber being refused to him. My prediction is that plenty of new tires of some kind will come on the market and be available to everyone. If for no other reason, they will come because they are needed by our 48,000 small cities and towns which are without other means of transportation.

Our city cousins are okay on transportation anyway. After all they have street cars, busses, and subway, elevated and steam railroads to ride on. Furthermore their shopping centers are mainly within walking distances and they can do with the exercise. In Boston, apartments are now being opened in office buildings in the heart of the financial and insurance district. For families without children, there is a growing tendency to live as close to the job as possible. This is nothing new to farm and country folks. But this latter group have acquired the bad habit of shopping out of town. This bids fair to change.

Local Storekeepers To Benefit

While we may soon have plenty of tires, their quality will be poor and their cost will be high. Hence, country people will have to conserve their tires even more than city residents who at least gain the benefits of smooth pavements for driving. No longer will rural residents drive to the large centers to trade. Instead, they will again patronize the nearest store where they used to buy before they went "high hat." I am certainly bullish on the little local general store. It should take on a new lease of life and again be the center of activity in its community.

I hope that the owners of such stores will stock up, brush up, and wake up! They have an opportunity now to give such good service as will enable them to hold their trade after World War II is over! Certainly, there will be changes in rural buying habits which merchants can cash in on. I am not speaking only of grocery stores, but of every type of small-town retail business. Such establishments should now increase and diversify their lines. Above all, where a local paper exists, they should do some advertising.

Simon And His Manager Protest 6th Round Knockout

RECORD HOLDS JUST THE SAME

Losers Claims He Was Up At The Count Of Ten

By WHITNEY MARTIN
New York, March 25—(AP)—Massive Abe Simon and his mite of a pilot, Jimmy Johnston, still were prattling about the injustice of it all today, but the army emergency relief fund heavyweight championship bout at Madison Square Garden last night goes down in the records as a knockout victory for Joe Louis in 16 seconds of the sixth round.

Not that there was even one regretful individual in the crowd of 18,220 fans who expected a different ending. The fans, who contributed a gross gate of $132,430.41 knew that eventually Abe's lumpy torso would be stretched out on the soiled canvas.

The champion, donating his entire purse for the second time, was expected to reduce the great mass of a man to a great mess of a man even before six rounds.

But when the end did come, Abe was not stretched out. He painfully was hoisting himself erect at the count of 10, and he and Johnston vehemently claim Abe beat the count. It probably made no difference, Abe was a beaten man.

He had gone down twice before, in the second and fifth rounds. The bell stopping the count each time.

Louis just walked out to start the sixth, swung a left hook and a crushing right, and Abe went down. He crawled to the ropes, and referee Eddie Joseph ruled the giant still was down at 10.

Abe wavered disconsolately about the ring voicing protests, and Johnston is threatening to demand that Joseph's license be revoked when the commission meets next Tuesday.

For ability to absorb punishment and willingness to mind ahead Simon won the admiration of all.

But he was up against the ten man, a soldier who is a champion in more ways than one. A man who bought $4,000 worth of tickets to his own fight, for which he received nothing to show for his buddies.

It was Louis' 21st title defense, and his weight was his heaviest—207½. Simon weighed 255½. In an earlier meeting Simon went out in the 13th round.

Private Louis is resting today. Monday he will be back at camp on Long Island getting ready for another fight—the big fight.

PIPES NOT OF PEACE—At Manzanar in the Owens river valley area of California, pipes for use in construction of a camp for the housing of Japanese aliens arrive. GOLF TOURNEY HAS ITS FREAK

It Had To Be Something At Greensboro Meet

By FRITZ LITTLETON
Greensboro, March 25—(AP)—Everything happens in the Greensboro Open Golf tournament, a growing, steadily increasing five-year-old event that now plays for $5,500.

Three years ago Lawson Little had a 12 on the record hole. Now no one has 12's. The next year was the year of the great crop that held on the marks for days. Yesterday the weather was not perfect but it could easily have been worse.

Last year some of the greens were a trifle rough one player complained that he had lost a ball of a green and another claiming he had fallen into a hole and broken a leg. This year the greens are fine.

And yesterday the event maintained its reputation for providing the unusual for this golf-conference city of 60,000 that turns out galleries of 12,000 greenside fans.

The tournament turned on today with an 18-hole leader who played right-handed but with the left hand that didn't include Benny Hogan, Sam Snead or Benji Nelson.

The left-handed mite was Red Munday, a remarkable sample of persistence and golf brains. A golfer's golfer he has a wonderful game from tee to green but he could never putt and he did something about it.

He turned around. And yesterday he made everyone of the 13 short putts hurried, from one to five feet in length.

As a result he was out in front with a course record-saving 66 five under way as the field swung into the second round today.

Back of him came Jimmy Hines and Jimmy Thompson at 67 Lawson Little and Rut Coffe of Haverhill, Md., at 68.

Snead was low man among the regular winners at 69. Hogan had 71 and Nelson, the defending champion, 72.

The season will begin to swing into action next week.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 28—(AP)—Selling subsided in the stock market's blue chips today but bidding still was too timid to make much of an impression on recovery.

Minor gains and losses were pretty well divided at the start and a definite trend was lacking at the close. Numerous leaders never opened or held at Friday's final levels.

Spring weather caused many customers to avoid the boardrooms, but a long week-end and this resulted in one of the most sluggish sessions since last May. Transfers for the two hours approximated 125,000 shares.

SCHOOL TAKES LONG STRIDES

Much Progress Shown At Pactolus In Two Years

By MRS. W. F. LITTLE
Rapid progress has been made in the last two years toward the improvement of the Pactolus school according to a report made by Principal H. L. Hart at the last local P. T. A. meeting.

Three outstanding additions to the school are the lunch room, the Industrial Arts shop and the Home Economics department. Other improvements are: the building up of the library to standard requirements, the equipping of the rooms with storage cabinets and first aid cabinets, the latter fully equipped to last a year or more; the purchasing of new athletic equipment including new uniforms for girls. For these two years the total cost of equipment amounted to $583.33, the greater part of which was added this year.

Approximately $100 worth of lumber for the lunch room, which was added last year, was furnished by the county. The building was constructed by the county with part of the work being done by the Industrial Arts boys. This project was backed by the P. T. A. and women of the community who canned food and donated utensils. Some people in Greenville also aided by donating utensils. The lunch room building and equipment is valued at $370.54. One hundred students can now be served at one time.

The Industrial Arts shop, which was also added last year, is well equipped. The storage cabinets, book cases, moving picture blackout screens for auditorium windows, the Industrial Arts shop itself, the Home Economics building and many other things used in and around the school were built by the Industrial Arts class. Several hundred feet of lumber used in the cabinets and book cases was donated by Mr. A. R. Barnhill.

The Home Economics department was added this year and is well equipped. The county donated the lumber at a cost of about $90 and gave two sewing machines. Part of the utensils were donated by people of the township, and the silverware was a gift of the present senior class, following the tradition that each senior class leave a gift at the school.

Additions to the library included eight sets, 20 copies to the set, of supplementary readers for the elementary grades at a cost of $100. The large unabridged dictionary was donated by the senior class of last year. The total additions to the school plant are valued at $1,361.53.

Methodist Church Plans Holy Week

By WYATT BROWN
Jarvis Memorial Methodist church will have services Monday through Friday night at eight o'clock next week it has been announced. Reverend George W. Perry will do the preaching.

Thursday night will be the occasion for the receiving of new members. The service of that evening will culminate in the celebration of the Holy Communion. Mr. Perry indicated in making the announcement that he considered the eve of the Crucifixion as a propitious Easter occasion for such a service. Thus, he said, Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday will be preserved for regular worship services without undue prolongation.

In commenting on the Holy Week services to be held every night next week Mr. Perry said he wanted to urge everyone interested to attend to enjoy the privilege of religious emphasis between Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday. He further said he wanted to urge as many as would to attend.

These night services will be in addition to the customary pre-Easter services held by the churches of Greenville each morning at Jarvis Memorial with local pastors of the different churches alternating in delivering the early morning 8 a. m. messages. The morning services last only thirty minutes to enable school children to attend. Many people in Greenville have grown to enjoy the early morning service and a large number of worshippers are expected as in past years.

Each afternoon at 4 o'clock thru Holy Week, there will be a class led by Reverend George W. Perry in the pastor's office for all those children and adults who are considering joining the church through the Easter season. The class is for the purpose of discussing the matter of church membership both from an informative and inspirational point of view, Mr. Perry stated.

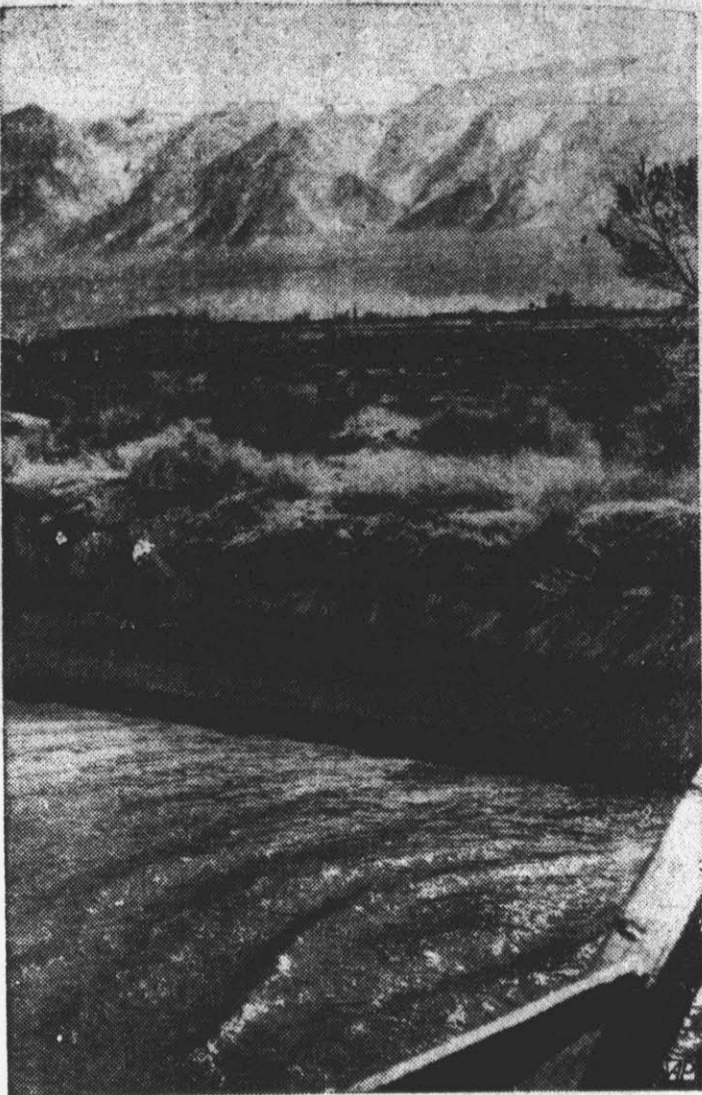

Mr. Perry said he was especially anxious to have the parents of children who contemplate membership to attend the class with their children.

"When the mad mob gets in motion make sure that they dig all the blood-sucking gangsters out from under their pile of rock and steel. Line them up against a wall and shoot them. See that they run down all the political parasites. Don't miss a single politician, big or little. Just hang them to the nearest tree or lamp-post. Drive the moral lepers out of our prostitute press into a pest house and burn them."

Among other things, the department charged, he told the soldiers they were "suckers" and were not fighting for democracy.
