

Reds Reveal New Gains On Land, Sea

Two German Vessels Sunk; Germans Call Up New Reserves But Give Up Offensive; Reds Destroy Planes And Trucks; Melting Snow Reveals Thousands Of Dead Nazis

By EDDY GILMORE
Kuibyshev, Russia, April 23.—(AP)—Battered heavily by Soviet divisions in recent weeks, the German armies on the southern front were reported today to have abandoned their counter-attacks and changed their tactics to a defense of fortified positions.

A front-line dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star said that "only in a few sectors do the Fascist troops make futile attempts to strike at our units," and reported the partial annihilation and rout of a strong Italian detachment which was cut off by a Soviet pincer attack attempting to outflank the Russian positions.

Fighting in other sectors apparently was limited to violent skirmishing; two Nazi counter-attacks beaten off in the southwest, where Soviet artillery smashed a pontoon bridge to block a German attempt to cross an unnamed river; Soviet units moving up through German wooden log defenses to widen the wedge driven into the invaders' lines on the Bryansk front below Smolensk; 200 Germans killed in the course of five unsuccessful attacks in a central front sector.

At Yuhnov, according to a Pravda correspondent, thousands of Nazi bodies were found when the melting snows uncovered a huge pit in the central sector of the front. Soviet units have sunk two more Axis vessels in an Arctic maritime campaign to Red army drives against German-Finnish positions on the northern front, the Russians also announced.

"Our ships sank a 5,000-ton German tanker and a 4,000-ton transport in the Barents Sea," the Soviet Information Bureau said.

The Moscow News reported yesterday that 92 German vessels totaling 456,400 tons had been sent to the bottom of the Barents sea by Russian naval patrols during the winter and spring through April 10.

The Information Bureau's mid-night communique, broadcast by the Moscow radio, said Soviet airmen Tuesday destroyed 32 German planes, demolished or damaged 35 German trucks with troops and supplies, 12 guns and eight trench mortars and "dispersed and partly annihilated about one company of enemy infantry."

"Our losses were 15 planes," it said.

Although Red army dispatches reported reinforced Karelian combat units were pushing through two breaks in the Finnish lines and that four German thrusts had been pinched off in Arctic territory to the north, the bureau reported that "nothing of importance took place at the front during April 22."

More than 400 Germans were said to have been slain within the last few days on the Karelian front sector in fighting marked by the destruction of eight Nazi trench positions, three artillery and two trench mortar batteries.

By mustering 1,900,000 reserves made up of workers in vital industries, boys as young as 17 and 18 and men from the conquered lands, the German army has concentrated nine-tenths of its fighting force on the Russian front, a Soviet spokesman said today.

He would not say, however, that this disposition of German power justified creation of a second European front by the United Nations.

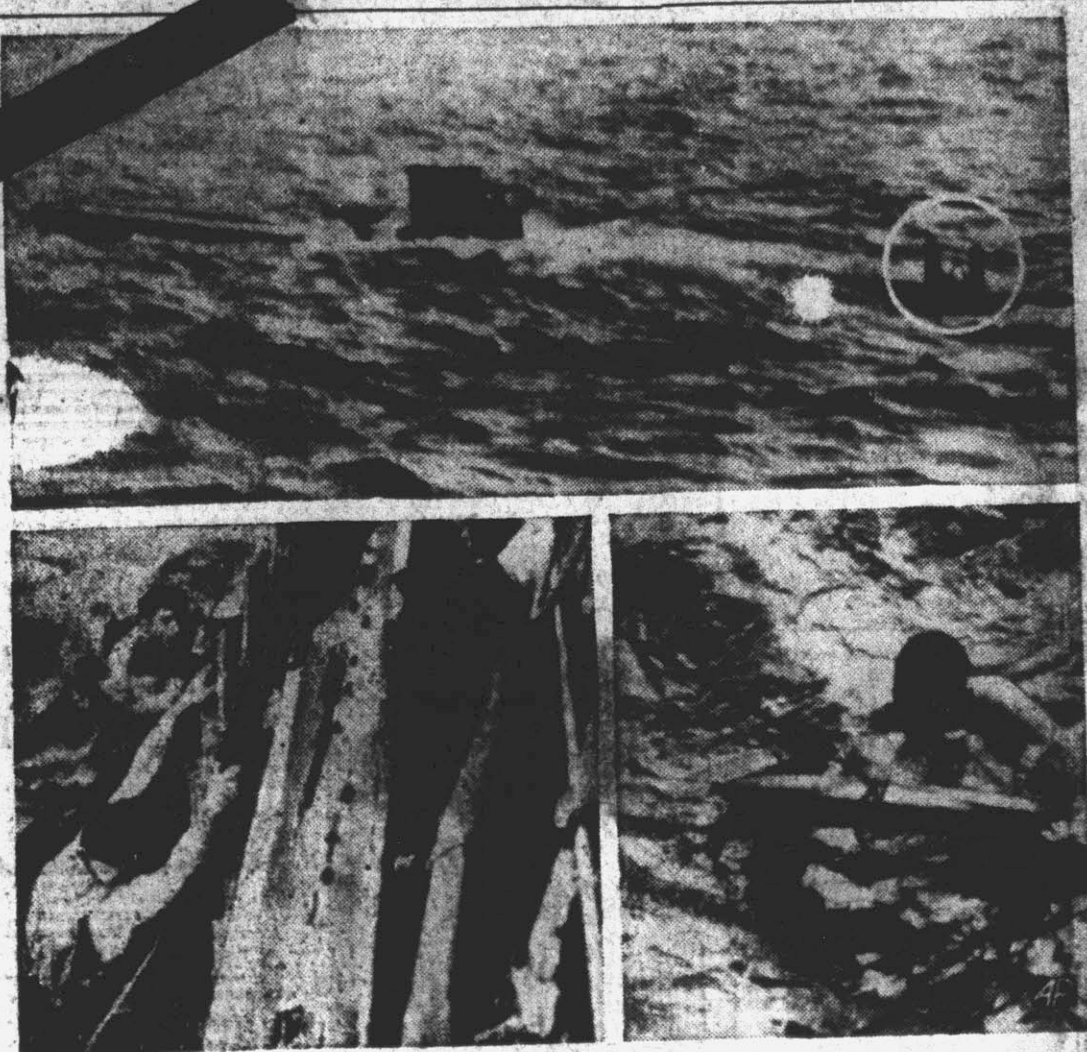

He did say that despite this mighty massing of Nazi troops, the Red army, itself being bolstered by fresh forces, has enough reserve power to drive the invaders from Soviet soil.

The spokesman, S. A. Lovozovsky, Vice Commissar of Foreign Affairs, told a press conference that the latest call of German reserves included 900,000 in two new military classes—youths of 17 and 18 years.

The remainder of the 1,900,000 reserves was said to be made up of a half-million men from the subjugated countries and 500,000 drawn from vital German industries.

Lovozovsky said that the German (Continued on Page Eight)

Lone Flier Tried To Stop Japanese Drive On Bataan

By CLARK LEE
Allied Headquarters, Australia, April 23.—(AP)—The United States army air force fought to the end on Bataan peninsula and, with the Japanese only a few miles away, sent its last flyable plane into the air to attack and attempt to check the enemy's final advance.

The plane was flown by Lieut. Jack Delahon of Tulsa, Okla., who has arrived safely in Australia. He told this story of his flight:

"On April 8 the Japanese completed their break-through along the shores of Manila bay and were driving rapidly toward our last airfield at the southeastern tip of Bataan. We had a single plane left."

"It was decided to make an effort to check the Japanese and I was chosen to fly the plane, a pursuit plane."

"I loaded the ship with light fragmentation bombs, filled the guns with ammunition, and hopped off in the early evening. Flying up the eastern (Manila bay) shore of the peninsula, I was over the Japanese position within a few minutes."

"I located the enemy advancing on foot and in vehicles down the coast road and dove on the columns, letting go my bombs at a low al-

Fear Allies Will In- vade Western Europe

By WILLIAM J. HUMPHREYS
London, April 23.—(AP)—Following close upon yesterday morning's Commando raid at Boulogne, dispatches from Stockholm, where Berlin news is assiduously sifted for war trends, reported today that the German expectancy of and preparations for Allied invasion in western Europe had increased considerably.

British sources here counseled correspondents at the same time to "remember von Rundstedt," Field Marshal General Karl Rodolf Gers von Rundstedt, whose name generally is associated with the German army's offensive operations, was reported a week ago to have moved into France.

Older reports were that von Rundstedt had gone there to strengthen defenses of that German-dominated country against invasion but current advice were that he went there with parachute troops.

Despite the German offensive suggestion in this latest report on the game of nerves—who's going to invade whom and where?—it appeared that the Germans were more (Continued on page eight)

RAF BOMBERS RENEW RAIDS ON RHINELAND

Bombing Flight Follows Raids on Coast Yesterday

London, April 23.—(AP)—British bombers, reopening their weather-interrupted air offensive, last night attacked objectives in the Rhineland and docks at Le Havre, the Air Ministry announced today.

Four of the attacking aircraft are missing, it said.

The raids followed the two-hour smasher on Boulogne by commandos early yesterday and the spirit of attack marked England's celebration of the day of her patron saint, St. George.

A Berlin radio broadcast quoting DNB said British planes struck at western and southwestern Germany last night, damaging residential areas and causing civilian casualties. It said three raiders were shot down.

Heavy guns on the English channel coast—emplaced both to counter German long-range artillery and challenge German shipping—boomed across Dover Strait about midnight and continued firing at frequent intervals for about 30 minutes.

Anti-aircraft and aerial machine-gun fire sounded briefly along the Thames estuary early this morning and a few Nazi planes flew over a southern English coastal area last night, but reports indicated that there was no bomb damage in either incident.

Today marks both the feast day of St. George, the patron saint of England, and the 24th anniversary of the British naval raids which temporarily blocked the Zebruge entrance of the Bruges canal to Kaiser Wilhelm's Flanders submarine flotilla in the world war.

Newspapers stressed the commando raid on Boulogne and carried many pictures of St. George's legendary fight with a dragon. A year ago England was being attacked night after night by powerful German squadrons; Plymouth and London were hard hit.

The Daily Express commented editorially on the change.

"Not so long ago we gnawed with anxiety at the French coast, so near and so bristling with threatening German invaders," it said.

"Now we look at the same coast and brandish our fists. We are full of the spirit of attack instead of defense."

The new archbishop of Canterbury to be enthroned today at Canterbury—r. William Temple—asked for dedication of ourselves, our nation and our church to God and his service."

There were traditional services by the Royal Society of St. George.

Local Restaurant Blacklisted By College Students

Members of the student body of East Carolina Teachers College "blacklisted" and boycotted the Olde Towne Inn, local restaurant, last night in mass meeting.

The resolution which was passed unanimously by the students, reads as follows:

"Whereas certain printed matter bearing the name of the Olde Towne Inn has been circulated in military camps and elsewhere, that printed matter reading as follows:

"Whereas we believe the false implications involved in this method of advertising is harmful to the college and to the town of Greenville; we the students of East Carolina Teachers College do hereby resolve:

"1. That the Olde Towne Inn be 'blacklisted' and boycotted.

"2. That any student enrolled at E. C. T. C. (male or female, dormitory or day student), who enters the Olde Towne Inn, for any purpose, will be suspended from the college."

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Wide-World News Analyst

The significance of the astonishing British Commando raid on the coast of France in the neighborhood of the important channel port of Boulogne is the fact that the Britons encountered so little Nazi resistance that they were able to scout about for two hours and then withdraw without losing a man.

Now it would be rash to rush into sweeping conclusions on the strength of this circumstance, but it does tend to confirm recent reports that, because of the urgent demand for troops on the Russian front, the Germans haven't been holding this vitally strategic channel coast in full strength. The Boulogne area is of the utmost military importance, and one would expect it to be about the last place the Nazis would leave with light protection, in view of their obvious fears that the allies are preparing for invasion.

The fact that the commandos found this sector fairly easy of access gives to wonder what the situation (Continued on Page Four)

Ickes Declares Proposed Gasoline Cut Too Drastic

Sees No Need For Battle To Halt
Such Short
Rations
Dies Committee

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes declared today there was "no justification" for anticipating that eastern motorists would be limited to as little as 2½ to 5 gallons of gasoline a week.

Such figures had been mentioned as likely under the card rationing system announced yesterday by Price Administrator Leon Henderson to be effective May 15 but Ickes told his press conference, "If we are able to carry out our plans there will be no such cut." He added:

"We refuse to believe that people will be put on such short rations. Our objective is to supply as much gasoline as possible."

Ickes said he knew of no such figures having been discussed and noted that Henderson's announcement of the card rationing plan did not contain the 2½ to 5 gallon figure.

Semi-official estimates of the probable ration allowances indicated a figure to 25 gallons a month. Some OPA sources, not speaking officially, still cling today to 2½ to 5 estimate and said it might well be less, Ickes, however, declined to forecast what the official figure would be, remarking that "we (Continued on page eight)

The site administrator for Greenville township is Wallace Greene. The advisory board of Greenville township is composed of Joe Moyer, T. Kizer, and L. M. Buchanan.

All the above named persons who will aid in the registration are requested to meet in the office of D. H. Conley, in the court house, Friday afternoon at four o'clock to receive final instructions.

Clash Between De- Gaullists And Laval- ists; Believe Vichy Will Give Isle To Japs; Few Defend- ers Still Hold Out In Panay; British And Chinese Fall Back in Burma

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

A virtual reign of terror on the key French island of Madagascar, with the arrest of hundreds of DeGaullists, was reported today amid quickening speculation that France's new pro-German Premier, Pierre Laval, may be planning to turn the island over to Japan.

The world's fourth largest island, Madagascar lies off the east coast of Africa at vital Allied lines of communication with India.

"Madagascar is not being defended against Japanese infiltration, and it cannot be defended against Japanese invasion," said dispatches reaching London.

Chungking, April 23.—(AP)—Japanese troops driving up the Salween river valley in eastern Burma captured the key town of Lashaw from Chinese defenders on Tuesday evening, a Chinese army communique announced tonight.

New Delhi, India, April 23.—(AP)—British troops have withdrawn from Yangmawngyi on the central Burma front. It was announced today.

France's new role in the war, particularly her collaboration with the Axis, was sharply emphasized today by a series of developments:

1. The Union of South Africa, part of the British empire, which would probably be given the task of dealing with Madagascar, broke off relations with Vichy.

It is about 600 miles from Durban, South Africa, to Madagascar.

2. In London, a British spokesman said "it is now reported that 50,000 tons of French shipping have been taken over by Japan."

3. High ranking United States diplomats, it was disclosed, have been newly transferred to Brazzaville, in Free French West Africa, and to Nigeria and Liberia in an evident move to strengthen the U. S. diplomatic front in Africa.

Observers said these stations are usually assigned to newcomers.

4. In Vichy, Premier Laval himself received the Japanese ambassador-designate, Takonobu Mitsu.

5. The Vichy government went the length of issuing an official denial of Moscow radio reports that German sailors were arriving at the French Mediterranean naval base of Toulon, and that French warships were being turned over to Germany.

The statement also denied reports "of a fight between French and German sailors."

Advices reaching London said the mass arrests of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French followers on Madagascar, including members of the island administration, were carried out on orders from Laval.

Agents of the Vichy regime were said to be rounding up all sympathizers of the Free French movement on the island.

In Washington, informed sources again suggested the possibility of a complete diplomatic rupture between the United States and France.

In the Philippines, a Tokyo broadcast reported that between 500 and 600 American-Filipino troops were still holding out in the jungles of Mount Balo, the highest peak of Panay island, while other last-ditch Allied defenders continued to fight on Timor island in the Dutch East Indies.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia said Australian and Dutch forces were still battling the Japanese in the interior of the half-Dutch, half-Portuguese island of Timor, 400 miles northwest of Australia. No other details were given.

A Tokyo broadcast also asserted that Japanese troops had complete occupation of Panay island, in the central Philippines, but an Allied communique declared:

Mills-Allen. Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Mills announce the marriage of their daughter Marjorie to

Mr. James Sydney Allen on Monday, the sixth of April. Nineteen hundred and forty-two. Dillon, South Carolina

Last Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. James Sydney Allen, who were recently married, were entertained at a miscellaneous shower by Mesdames W. C. Pollard, F. L. Allen, B. L. Tyson and Mrs. James Allen, mother of the groom, at the Red Oak community building.

The club house was never more attractive than it was with its lovely arrangement of dogwood, bridal-wreath, spirea and white iris.

The bride's table, at one end of the room, was centered with a large tiered white wedding cake in the shape of a four-leaf clover. White spirea and iris surrounded the cake, which was flanked on either side by crystal candle holders with white candles and crystal bowls of spirea, iris and narcissus.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mesdames F. L. Allen and W. S. Pollard, and registered in the bride's book which was presided over by Mrs. L. W. Edwards.

Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Tyson rendered several piano selections with the guests joining in singing some old-fashioned tunes.

Miss Inez Allen led in some enjoyable games and contests. Chicken salad, sandwiches and tea were served to the one hundred guests who were present, after which the bride cut the wedding cake. Much merriment was caused when the symbols were found and their meaning read.

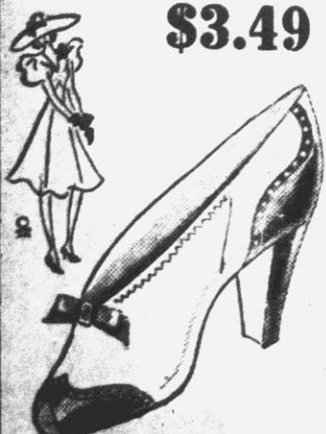

The large number of useful gifts received showed the high esteem in which this popular young couple is held.

Library Purchases Paintings.

The Sheppard Memorial Library has recently purchased a series of forty celebrated historical paintings by the distinguished artist, J. L. G. Ferris, master painter of scenes from American history. The series, entitled "The Pageant of a Nation," tells the story of America in glowing terms of color making the outstanding periods in American history a thrilling and enduring experience. Among the subjects included are: Discovery and Settlement; Revolution and Construction; Washington Group; Nation Builders and Women in Our History's Background.

The artist devoted his life to painting scenes from American history and through untiring and diligent research he acquired a profound knowledge of the custom, dress, architecture and accessories of our ancestors. Mr. Ferris painted about 75 subjects which he kept intact. In 1931 this entire group of paintings was placed in the Smithsonian Institution where they will be a permanent part of this national institution.

The historical applications of the pictures are written by David S. Muzzey, Ph.D., widely known historian and graduate professor of American history at Columbia University.

The library is well aware that there is no more fitting time than now to review America's rise to her present status and this is well portrayed in the selective group of paintings representing "The Pageant of a Nation."

Winterville High School Play.

The Winterville high school will present its annual high school play Friday night, April 24, at 8:30 o'clock. "Clover Time," a comedy in three acts, will be played by: Simmons Hill as "Stumpy Smith;" Grady Cox, "Peter West;" Elizabeth Worthington, "Sally West;" Josephine Vincent, "Fanny Flint;" Blaine Moye, "John Flint;" Edwards Davenport, "Harry Flint;" Lila Worthington, "Katherine Flint;" Elaine Forrest, "Emmaline;" Blanche Jackson, "Caroline;" Tiema Jones, "Margoline."

The scene is at Marysville in Virginia and the plot centers around a checker game. The public is invited to attend.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
Thursday, April 23, 1902

The seines have been catching a few rock fish.

There came near being a shower this morning.

A season now would mark the setting out of tobacco plants.

Vegetation has progressed rapidly under the general warmth of the last few days.

There is dust enough for the street sprinkler, but the sprinkler so far stands idle.

Do not be in too much hurry to discard heavy underwear. There will be a cool spell or two yet.

What will Greenville and Pitt county do about securing a hospital? That is an important question just now.

The Round Table Meets.

The Ladies of the Round Table met on April 21 with Mrs. G. W. Perry at her lovely home on East Tenth street. Mixed spring flowers including dogwood blossoms, added to the beauty of the living room. Special guests for the meeting were Mrs. K. W. Cobb and Mrs. C. C. Christian of Richmond, Va., house guest of Mrs. E. B. Higgs.

The president, Mrs. J. E. Winslow, presided. The roll was called and minutes read by the secretary Mrs. H. H. Duncan. The attractive new year-books were distributed by the committee. The order of the meeting was reversed, having the program first. The speaker was Mrs. J. C. Wooten, who delighted her listeners with an excellent paper on "Latin American Waterways, Highways and Airways." Mrs. Felix E. Snider added interesting news about the main theme of study, Mrs. C. T. Munford, pronunciation referee, added a lively lilt with her choice selections.

A short business session was held. Books were passed.

A number of additional guests called during the social hour. Mrs. K. B. Pace welcomed these as they entered. Mrs. J. Key Brown assisted the hostess in the living room. Mrs. J. H. Waldrop and Mrs. H. L. Ormond invited the guests into the dining room. From a beautifully decorated table, Mrs. K. W. Cobb and Mrs. H. L. Rivers served delicious punch, dainty sandwiches, nuts and cakes.

Helen Jepson Concert Tomorrow.

Miss Helen Jepson, the famous Metropolitan Opera soprano who will give a concert at East Carolina Teachers College tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock, is scheduled to arrive in Greenville this evening. She is one prima donna who does not like to arrive at the last minute and live under nervous tension. While on a concert tour, she manages to lead a normal life, even in hotels and on trains.

Her program tomorrow evening will open with a group of English songs, lovely unhackneyed airs, which her audiences all over the country have been delighted with. She will sing at least two of the great arias from roles associated with her splendid artistry at the Metropolitan Opera, one of which will be the famous "Jewel Song" from Faust.

Two groups will be German lieder and French songs, which exemplify her ability to put over the story and mood of a song, whether it be tragic, dramatic, or humorous.

American and English songs from the best of contemporary American and English composers form the last group. Two of these are from manuscript.

"The public," she says, "whether it be in New York or in a small Texas town, still has taste and appreciation, and is entitled to hear the best a singer has to offer. I try to give it to them."

Kittens With Two Mamas

Kitty meow and Kitty Hawk, surprised their owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Langford of Atlanta, by turning up as mothers at the same time with a collective total of five kittens. Unable to decide which kittens belonged to which mother, the Langfords gave up and left the matter to the cats, with the result that the cats decided to take turns. One stands guard while the other does the nursing, then they swap jobs. Just to complete the confusing picture, skippy the dog appointed himself as general overseer.

Orchestra Concert At College.

The Music Education department of the college last night presented its 25-piece student-faculty orchestra in the fifth music concert of the year, in a program that included both groups that called for a great deal of technical skill and some of more popular nature. A. L. Dittmer, head of the department, directed the orchestra and Miss Hazel Elsom, as concert mistress, led the violins.

The difficult Hayden "Clock Symphony," in which Misses Edna Mitchell and Maribelle Robertson divided honors as accompanist, was unusually well done.

Among the lighter selections, the "Spanish Serenade" of Victor Herbert seemed to be the favorite of the audience.

Iphigenia in Aulis Overture, by Gluck; Allegro-Moderato (Unfinished Symphony No. 8 in B Minor) by Schubert.

Symphony No. 101 in D Major (Clock Symphony) by Haydn; Allegro; Andante—Miss Edna Mitchell, pianist; Miss Maribelle Robertson, pianist.

Allegro (Violin Concerto No. 3 in G, Minor), by Seitz—Mr. Merle V. Slater, Violinist; Miss Jewel Slater, Accompanist.

Triumphal March (sifurd Jorsalfar) by Grieg; Largo (Kerxes), by Handel; Spanish Serenade (Suite of Serenades), Victor Herbert; March of the Little Lead Soldiers, by Pierre.

Sanders-Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hart of Ayden, announce the engagement of their daughter, Velma Harriet, to Robert Ennis Sanders of Baltimore, Maryland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sanders of Rocky Mount. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE LITTLE RUSTY KEY

Frances Willard used to tell of a dream she had had in her youth. She seemed to be standing before the throne of God offering her life and all her capacities to the Most High. She held a bunch of keys in her hand, and these keys unlocked every secret place of mind and heart. With joy she delivered the keys into God's hands—all except one key. When the Lord inquired about the one key, her answer was, "It is only a rusty little key, Lord, for which you would have no use."

But all the keys were handed back to her again. Later the dream re-appeared, and this time she was ready to hand over all the keys. "Are they all here?" inquired the Lord. "The little rusty key as well as the others?" "Yes, Lord, all the keys," "Then let me have the rusty key," replied the Lord, "and you may have all the rest."

The one little thing we refuse to give up is the thing that at last destroys our character. We may give up everything except our hatred for one person, or our desire for one certain indulgence. We are willing to give up all weaknesses but one. Beware of the little rusty key to which you cling in the hour of consecration. Keep it, and it will ruin the spiritual life; give it up, and all other keys will be yours.

DO YOUR PART

Remember it's going to take money to supply the needed materials to win the war and since it's part your war the duty to provide the money is partly yours. Purchase of war savings bonds and stamps out of every pay envelope you receive will not only help win the war but will provide a mighty good "nest egg" for you when the depression that is likely to follow the war strikes.

WISE ACTION

Frankly we approve of the action taken by the student body of the college last night in "blacklisting" the Old Towne Inn for college students as a result of advertising matter reported to have been circulated by the restaurant at nearby Marine camps. We are not in position to, and do not, make any charges as to what goes on at the restaurant, but we agree with the college students that the advertising matter carried implications reflecting on the morals of this community.

Greenville holds out a cordial welcome for all service men who want to visit this city and enjoy wholesome entertainment, but there are numbers of our local citizens who have registered complaints, this week regarding the type of invitation extended by the management of the Old Towne Inn in the advertising material in question.

The college student body was within its rights to take action in the matter for the protection of all the students from any semblance or suspicion of having anything to do with an establishment so advertised.

O Son of Heaven, How D'Ya Like them Apples?

Washington Daybook

By Jack Silvers

Washington.—Take some thousands of people, set them down in Washington, far from their homes, and you might expect them to lose track of their former way of life.

But the habits of a lifetime don't die quickly. Here's a story that proves folks remain pretty much the same folks, even in a hurly-burly war-distraught city like this: About a month ago, the Reserve Division of the adjutant-general office in the war department was put on a seven-day week. This was quite a blow to those employees scheduled to work on Sunday. Many of them were steady church-goers. It happens that the office of the Chief of Chaplains is right in the same building, one of the new temporary structures along the grassy bank of the Potomac.

The employees sent one of their number upstairs to talk to the chief, Gen. William R. Arnold, who happens to be a Roman Catholic priest. One chaplain is kept on duty in the office every Sunday, and the delegate asked Gen. Arnold if this chaplain couldn't take time to conduct a brief service during lunch hour. Gen. Arnold passed the idea on to Chaplain Glenn J. Witherspoon, a Congregationalist, who was to be on duty the following Sunday.

Chaplain Witherspoon, of course agreed and suggested they use a little room in the chaplains' department, holding perhaps 35 people. The employees' delegate said he didn't think that would be large enough, and he was right.

The 15-minute informal service was held in a room about 50 by 170 feet, and the space around the desks was packed with some 300 persons. "I believe, everybody enjoyed it," one employee told me. "There were Roman Catholics and Protestants—even quite a few Jewish people. They all found it worthwhile to spend half of their lunch hour there. But then you know, army chaplains have to be able to talk to all sects. When they're out on post they minister to all, and nobody asks what church they belong to."

The next week, Chaplain Arthur S. Dorgson, a Baptist, led another 300 in a few hymns, prayers, and read from the Scriptures. The next week, Lutheran Chaplain Herman H. Heuer was on duty. Attendance was about the same.

The following week, the Reserve Division decided to keep only a skeleton staff of about 73 on duty. Out of that group more than 50 showed up. Of the remaining 25, some probably were Roman Catholics who had been to early mass, some were guards who couldn't leave the doors. That leaves maybe eight or ten "backsliders" who didn't come to hear Chaplain Albert N. Copenning, another Baptist, preach on the first known recorded words of Jesus, spoken as he stood among the doctors in the temple: "How is it that ye have sought me? Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?"

ation may be a less important point along the French and Belgian coasts. That is a point which the allies are bound to be investigating in their search for an opening to get at the master gangster.

One of the great values of such a raid, of course, is to stimulate the Nazi fear of an invasion. A constant prodding of the coast by the commandos certainly would compel the Nazis to man the defenses strongly, from Norway right down the French coast to Brest, for fear that one of these black-faced expeditions might be the spear-head for a major landing.

This would have the effect of making Hitler defend two fronts at once—something which every commander dreads and which the Nazis especially fear in view of the terrific pressure from the Red army. In other words, the commandos are helping to create a pseudo-invasion which will force the Fuehrer to maintain on the western continental coast strong forces which he desperately needs in Russia.

One would expect to see emerge a real invasion of western Europe by British and American fighting men. That it will come sooner or later there can be small doubt, and we are safe in saying that it will be at the earliest feasible moment.

Complete Term Criminal Court

The second week of Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases ended here yesterday afternoon when the docket was completed and Judge J. J. Burney dismissed the jury from further duty. The judge remained in the city however to hear some civil matters scheduled to come before him this afternoon.

Cases disposed of in the final sessions of the court were as follows:

Frank Wilson, white man from Chicod township was found guilty of aiding and abetting in prostitution and assignment and was sentenced to six months on the roads; Dennis Anderson was found not guilty on a charge of drunken driving; A. J. Bullock was also found not guilty on a drunken driving charge; Walter Stepp plead guilty to assault with a deadly weapon but had judgment suspended upon payment of costs, payment of $10 for the benefit of the man assaulted and remain on good behavior for two years; L. B. Dixon, was ordered to pay the costs for trespass; Wilson Barrow, was found not guilty on a charge of letting a drunk person drive his car; Herbert Bowen was found not guilty on a charge of careless and reckless driving.

Damaged Vessels Brought To Port

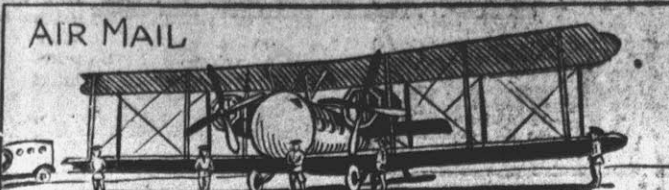

Brunswick, Ga., April 23.—(AP).—Two merchant vessels, torpedoed off the coast on April 8 with the loss of 21 lives, were brought into port here by salvage boats and will be sent to another port for reconditioning. Sixteen bodies were recovered from one of the ships and two were missing. Two bodies were found aboard the other vessel and one was still missing. Thirty five men were rescued from one of the ships and 19 from the other at the time of the attack.

Dry Cleaning Plant To Move Monday

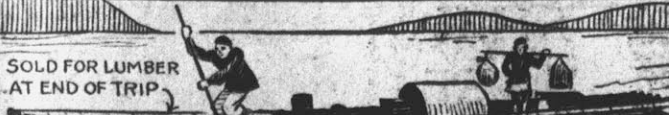

Scott's Dry Cleaners will be closed all day Monday while the establishment is being moved to a new location according to announcement made by Paul A. Scott today. The plant which for a number of years has been located on the southeast corner of East Third and Cotanche streets, is moving across the street to the northwest corner into the building recently vacated by the Carolina Sales Corporation. Mr. Scott said that the move was being made in order to afford larger quarters in order to render more efficient service to his customers.

Postal Oddities

THE UNCONQUERABLE CHINESE STILL ISSUE ORDERS TO POSTAL EMPLOYEES IN CITIES INVADDED AND TAKEN OVER BY JAPANESE

BAMBOO RAFTS ARE OFTEN USED TO FLOAT MAIL DOWN RIVERS—OFTEN THROUGH DANGEROUS RAPIDS

THIS LETTER WAS A POSER FOR CHINESE AUTHORITIES BUT IT WAS DELIVERED TO MISS THOMASON ALTHOUGH THE NAME OF THE CITY WAS NOT GIVEN

When the Japanese invade Chinese cities they take over all governmental activities except the postal service. Knowing that it will be operated at a large loss they ignore the Chinese branch. Chinese letter carriers are permitted to travel unmolested through Japanese lines. Both sides respect his neutrality. This is, perhaps, the most unusual happening in the world's postal history.

Merchant Ships To Use Pigeons

Elizabeth City, April 23.—(AP).—Pigeons trained by the 13 members of the Elizabeth City Boys Club may be carried aboard merchant ships operating off the eastern seaboard.

Hal C. Stephens, club director, said he planned to suggest to government officials that the pigeons trained by the club members for several months be taken aboard the merchantmen.

"When a ship is torpedoed and its radio put out of commission," he said, "a pigeon could be used advantageously to report the sinking."

Stephens said that the carrying of pigeons on the merchant ships could be his answer to a recent letter from President Roosevelt in which the chief executive wrote: "Each of us has a job to do. This war brings added responsibilities to those of your young people who make up the membership of the Boys Club and to those who guide their work. The training of your members, not only for their present tasks in this community but for their future roles as leaders of democracy is a vivid recognition of this paramount fact."

Summer Welles is a distant relative of President Roosevelt.

Snow reflects about 70 per cent of the sunlight falling on it.

More Information Bible Study Course

This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the proposed plan for the providing of religious instruction in the public schools of Greenville. We who are interested in this project realize that it is a project of great potential worth but also one which contains elements of potential danger. Our public schools are attended by boys and girls from all churches and from no church. The homes and the churches from which they come hold widely differing opinions concerning the things which they deem to be of vital religious importance. To teach religion to such a mixed group of pupils requires more than academic proficiency; more even than a religious concern for and interest in the pupil. It requires, among other things, a teacher with specialized training for this specific type of teaching. Also, it requires source material which will be acceptable to all religious groups. Fortunately, the giving of religious instruction in the public schools is no new thing. For a whole generation it has been increasingly used in the cities and towns of our country, and as the use has increased, knowledge and material have increased, until today we have available instructors trained to do this work in as capable a way as are those trained for any other specialized tasks. Through such interdenominational organizations as the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and the International Council of Religious Education text books and other materials are available which have been compiled by committees composed of representatives of most of the denominational groups, and which eliminate, as far as may be possible, controversial subject matter which might prove objectionable to certain groups. There are still great elements of truth in all religious groups hold in common—not sectarian interpretations but great Biblical truths which transcend denominational differences. This is the kind of teaching that is proposed for Greenville schools. The committee charged with the selection of an instructor and of the source material to be used will be composed of the ministers of the various churches and a layman from each congregation. Any selection will be made on the decision of this group. We are certain that some of our citizens have questions which they would like to ask concerning this proposed plan, and the committee is anxious to have such questions that it may know, not only the temper and attitude of the community toward this subject, but also that it may assist in the clearing up of any misunderstanding which may exist. Readers are asked to send their questions, in writing, to Mr. Ryan and either he or some other member of the committee will endeavor to answer them.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They are a happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chicod Finals Start Tuesday

Commencement exercises of Chicod High School will get under way with the baccalaureate sermon at 8:30 Tuesday night by Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, of this city, and will conclude with commencement Friday night featured by an address by P. H. Jeter, Agricultural Editor of State College Extension Service. Others on Friday night's program will include D. H. Conley, superintendent of Pitt county schools, and J. H. Harrell, attorney, of this city.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

The Private Laws of the General Assembly of North Carolina, Session 1937, as amended by the Session 1941, require that an election for the selection of four members of the Board of Aldermen, one from the second ward, one from the third ward, one from the fourth ward and one from the fifth ward of the City of Greenville, shall be held on the first Monday, the 4th of May, 1942; that the books for registration of voters who are not already registered for Municipal Elections of who have transferred from one ward to another since last election, shall be kept open for 10 days, exclusive of Sunday, preceding the first Monday in May and that all candidates for Aldermen shall register their candidacy and shall deposit for registration the sum of $1.00; that there shall be two voting places, to-wit: The County Court House and the new City Hall; that all qualified voters residing in ward two shall vote at the County Court House and that all qualified voters residing in wards three, four and five shall vote at the new City Hall; that all persons registering to vote shall be registered according to wards in which they reside and that all tickets to be voted shall contain the names of properly registered candidates which shall be supplied by the Clerk of the City of Greenville; that all qualified voters within wards Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 will be allowed to register and vote in eligible under the State Laws governing County Primaries said qualifications being one year's residence within the State and two months' residence within the Ward. By order of the Board of Aldermen at meeting March 5, 1942.

From the front, the Miller house was darkened. As Stephanie stood up the steps, she heard Henri following, cursing under his breath as he missed a step and bumped a shin smartly.

She stabbed at the bell, heard its ring echo from the back of the house. She rang several times, insistently. No answer. Then she released the heavy old bronze knocker, thumped it sonorously.

Modern HOMES ARE BRICK Homes

Priceless Advantages Are Yours....

When you build your home of BRICK, you'll have a livable, weather-proof home that is both beautiful and permanent. No other home investment can give you so much pride and pleasure. Remember—brick is plentiful and economical—brick lends itself to any style of architecture—brick insulates your home against heat and cold.

Prospective home-builders may obtain valuable information and suggestions about BRICK, by writing or calling: Engineering Department, Virginia-Carolina Clays, Inc., Statesville, North Carolina.

Build for the years with BRICK

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA CLAYS, INC.

"That's enough to rouse the whole neighborhood," she said, but still no one responded.

"Probably gone out for the evening," Henri suggested.

"Servants too?" and went on knocking.

Finally a sound of shuffling footsteps as of one fumbling blindly. Then silence.

Stephanie called then. "Hello there. Turn off your lights. And pound the door again. Turn off your lights, I say."

"Aren't you rather making yourself ridiculous?" Henri protested finally.

"Ridiculous or not," she muttered and ran down the steps, around to a side door.

As she ran she looked up to the third story again. Still a blazing light like a beckoning finger. No light could miss that. The side door was locked too. But this time she had more success. Her frantic knocking finally brought old Mr. Miller himself.

"Well—what is this?" he demanded, peering at her through the darkness.

"It's a blackout, Mr. Miller. And there are lights in the attic. Have them put out, at once."

He hesitated. "Lights? In my house? Well—tak, tak—we must attend to that. Come in, young lady. Who?"

Stephanie stepped closer. "Stephanie Merrill—you remember—I live next door."

"Oh, of course." His manner became instantly friendly. "I see you now. Come in."

"No. Thank you. But you will please get that light off, won't you?"

The old gentleman nodded. "Yes, indeed. Certainly."

She said good night, then, and went back to where Henri was waiting, not at all sure that she shouldn't have offered to go to the side herself and get those lights off. Because apparently the servants were not on duty.

And the light still burned minutes after she had returned to her own porch.

"Well, after all, Stephanie, give the man time to climb two flights of stairs," Henri protested.

"What's become of his whole retinue of servants?" Stephanie wondered aloud.

Henri laughed. "Probably all frightened out of their wits."

All clear!

She shook her head. "Henri, I have a feeling that there is something strangely unnatural about that set-up over there."

"Have you, really? What makes you think that?"

"I don't know. Just have a hunch."

He laughed again. "You and your hunches. You are tired, my dear and over-wrought. I assure Mr. Miller is as trustworthy as any other loyal American citizen."

Still skeptical, Stephanie shrugged. "If he's so loyal an American, how come he lived most of his life in other countries?"

"Circumstances required that. After all, it was his career that took him away."

A long clear blast rode across the strangely silent city and was followed almost instantly by the returning flicker of lights.

"The all-clear," sounded. Stephanie jumped to her feet. "It's over!"

Behind her, the lights of her own home snapped on and a moment later, Guy burst out the front door.

"Oh hello, chicken. Glad you were home through this." He nodded coolly at Henri, went on pulling on his driving gloves. "I'm going out of town, now, dear. I'll be back."

UNIFORM—Full combat uniform in use by Maj. Gen. Willis D. Crittenden, commanding general of Second Armored Division, now at Ft. Benning, Ga., in the school.

"Oh, Daddy, not to Titan tonight!"

His scowl relaxed. Her instantly why couldn't she remember to stand guard over her tongue?

"Let me go with you, Daddy," she urged. "You're tired. I could drive for you, please."

He hesitated. "All right. But hurry up. I'm leaving right now."

Stephanie turned to Henri. "Good night, Henri. Thanks for bringing me home."

"Are you sure I can be of no service? I will gladly accompany you if you feel I might be useful."

"Thank you, no. Guy refused. Come, Stephanie."

Henri took his abrupt dismissal courteously like the smooth diplomat he seemed to be. But Stephanie smarted under the embarrassment long after she'd backed her father's car out of the drive, turned it cautiously down a steep hill.

"Sorry to let you down, Stevie, but I can't tolerate Pagerie. And don't go bringing him home for a son-in-law, either, young lady. Not if you want my blessing."

The Car Behind.

He leaned back, pulled his hat down over his eyes, and a moment later began to breathe more heavily. Stephanie settled back for the long drive, forcing herself to relax taut muscles as much as she could.

And for as long as they followed the main highway route north and the continuous stream of traffic challenged her skill and concentration, she had no time to think. But when an hour later, she turned into the narrow, little-traveled road across rolling foothills to Titan, she felt anxiety overtake her.

The night was dark and heavily overcast. The car's headlights slashed a way through the pitch dark ahead but beyond the path of light, the deserted barren hills and the deep-shadowed valleys seemed to lie in wait. It was ridiculous to be so nervous, she kept telling herself. But when she realized that the car following her slowed down when she slowed, picked up speed as she did, kept a discreet distance that never increased nor shortened, her premonition of danger seemed well founded.

GALLEY TWO—SECRET ORDER

For a while, she couldn't be sure. But when she deliberately slowed to a snail's pace—the car behind dropped back. When she stepped hard on the accelerator, sent the car swiftly ahead, the lights behind came on steadily. About twenty miles out of Titan, she tried once more to lose that persistent follower. The old road into the plant went steeply over the hill, winding a tortuous way around the curves. As she came to the fork, she speeded up until for an instant the lights behind dipped out of sight, then swerved quickly into the abandoned route, twisting away from the new road into a dark tunnel of overhanging trees.

She stopped her car abruptly switched off the lights, the motor. Silence poured around them for the few moments before a car fled past, behind them, disappeared into the new cut between the hills.

"What's the matter?" Guy said, rousing himself quickly.

Stephanie started the motor. "I just had a notion we were being followed so I ducked in here to let them go on past."

"Good idea," Guy nodded. "Can't be too careful these days."

He sounded quite matter-of-fact, but Stephanie caught the over-tone of anxiety. Danger stalked Guy Merrill hourly. But why?

The man who succeeds in the man who reads. We are submitting the following book report, hoping that some of those who have not yet availed themselves of the wonderful opportunity to secure wholesome reading material at the Carver Library may be interested enough to read it too.

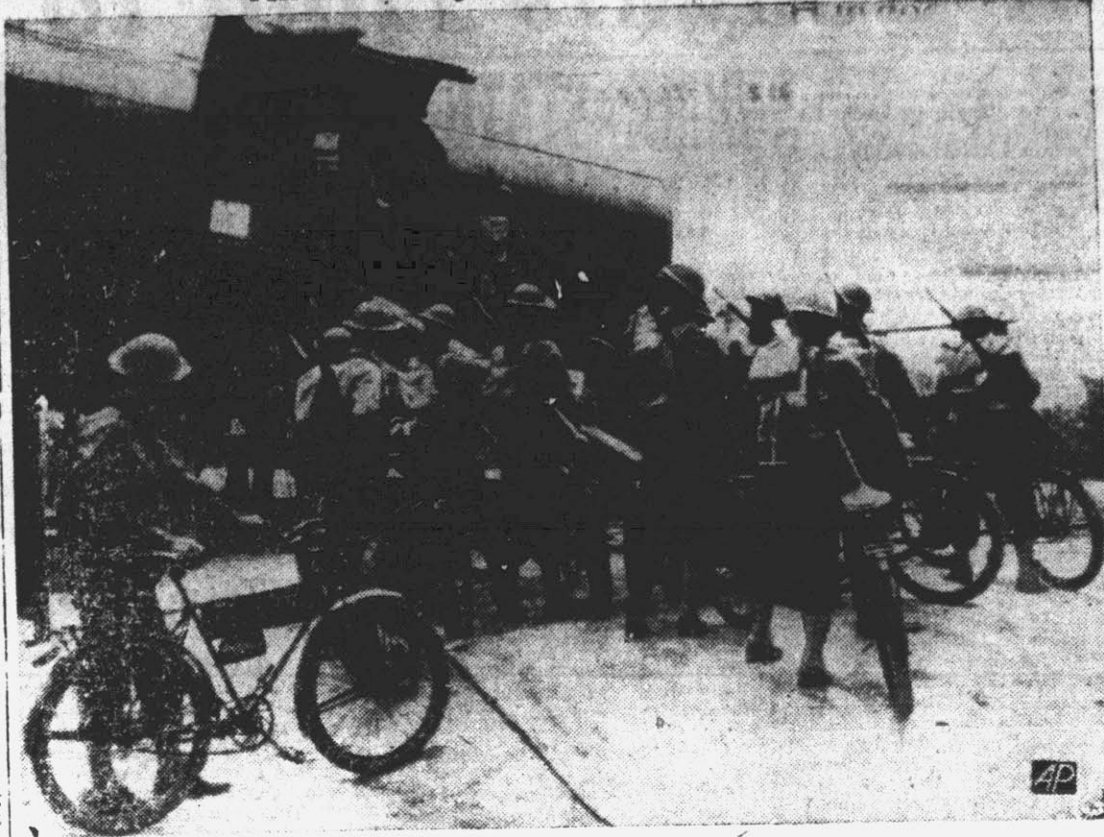

"Michael's Girl," by Sophie Kerr—One of the most refreshing characters to step out of the pages of recent fiction is Michael Rodo—a Spanish Irish gentleman unmarred by book learning, and blessed with a mature man's philosophy and a child's delight in the world around him.

The day that Michael and his small daughter, Lettie, walked through Elin Bryant's hedge gate and Michael talked himself into the role of gardener, the Bryant garden was in a deplorable state, and the Bryant marriage was languishing, too. Phillip Bryant's sudden hunger for ostentatious wealth was absorbing his whole life, leaving no room for his wife and their son, Van, whose happiness was as necessary to Elin as Lettie's was to Michael. But something of the gayety and simple decency of Michael and his laughing daughter slipped into Elin's heart and gave her the incentive to fight for Van's security.

Sophie Kerr is sure and deft in "Michael's Girl," a grand story about people who take an honest joy in living.

We were very pleased to have the following recent visitors: Miss Elizabeth Flynn and Miss Ella M. Gaylord of Williamston, Mr. Ralph Collins of Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. D.

Economy Baked Ham Shank with Golden Glaze

We've been busy in our own kitchens working out a new ham recipe. We call it "Golden Swirled Ham Shank" (or butt).

And as you can see by the illustration, economical though it is, it makes a magnificent looking company dish.

Bake a ham shank? Of course! If it's Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham. For the secret Wilson Process leaves every morsel of meat from shank to butt just as juicy and tender as the choice center slices.

THE "EASY" RECIPE

Remove the skin of a 4 to 5 pound Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham shank (or butt). Place the ham cut side down and score the fat round and up to the top in a spiral swirl. Then score the swirls into diamonds. Rub with mustard, brush with diluted beaten egg and sprinkle with crumbs. Place in an open roasting pan. Heat in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 50 minutes or until nicely browned.

VICTORY with VITAMINS

Let the family feast on the mellow "smoked" goodness of Wilson's Certified Braunschweiger Liver Sausage—a storehouse of minerals and vitamins. I use it to make the following very tasty dish:

STUFFED VEAL BIRDS

Order 2 pounds of Wilson's Gela Seald Veal cut 1/2 inch thick from leg. Pound to 1/4 inch thick. Cut in pieces 4 inches x 5 inches. Spread with Wilson's Certified Braunschweiger Liver Sausage. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Wrap with a slice of Wilson's Certified Bacon. Fasten with toothpick. Brown, then add 1/2 cup water. Cover. Cook 50 minutes. Serves 6.

Why do I specify Wilson's Gela Seald Veal? Because this exclusive Wilson process gives you meat at its best. The edible gelatin coating helps preserve all the original freshness, juiciness and flavor!

Rector Recommends... Wilson's Gela Seald Lamb Stew.

YANKS-BOSTON TIE FOR LEAD

Cardinals Again Are Victorious Over Reds

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The prize experiment of the year in the Major leagues may turn out to be the transfer of Robert Irving Elliott from the outfield to third base by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Manager Frank Frisch shuffled his lineup almost every day "just for luck." But the shift that brought the Frisco Kid in from the outfield was born of necessity.

Last winter Lee (Jeep) Handley was in an automobile accident, when he reported at training camp in California he suddenly discovered his arm was "dead."

In desperation Frisch canvassed his squad and came upon the 25-year-old Elliott, who six years ago, when he was breaking into organized ball played part time third base for Savannah in the South Atlantic league.

Observers remained skeptical on Elliott, however, until the season actually was underway. Since then he has made everybody sit up and take notice. In nine games he has hit three home runs, to lead the league, and two triples, to tie for the lead.

His batting average is a gaudy .342 and he has knocked in eight runs. Moreover his fielding and throwing have bordered on the sensational after a nervous debut.

Yesterday he contributed a two-run homer to Pittsburgh's 9-1 win over the Chicago Cubs, whose coach, Kiki Cuyler, said, "we've played both the Cardinals and Reds and I rate Pittsburgh ahead of them so far." In beating the Cubs the Pirates received seven-hit pitching by Luke Hamlin, the former Dodger star, and really looked formidable.

However, the Brooklyn Dodgers retained their grip on the National league lead by beating the Boston Braves 4-0 in 12 innings. Whitlow Wyatt made his first start of the season after only seven innings of exhibition work. He kept the Braves scoreless for nine innings although touched for ten hits. Then Hugh Casey kept them hitless and spotless the rest of the way. Jim Tobin held the Dodgers to four hits in 11 innings, but in the 12th Peeewe Reese singled with the bases loaded and the party ended promptly.

The St. Louis Cardinals ribbled Cincinnati's Elmer Riddle with 11 hits in seven stanzas and triumphed 6-1 on the seven-hit hurling of Harry Gumbert, who allowed no runs until the ninth.

Rookie Dave Koza, a southpaw, shut out the Phils 3-0 for the New York Giants with six-hit pitching.

The American league saw some more big hitting. The New York Yankees collected 13 safeties, including a home run and two triples by Joe Dimaggio, to overpower the Philadelphia Athletics 11-5 and the Boston Red Sox rolled up 17 hits in wallowing the Washington Senators 13-4.

The Cleveland Indians captured their fourth straight victory 3-2 off the St. Louis Browns, who were held to five safeties by their former teammate, Vernon Kennedy. The Chicago White Sox muzzled the Detroit Tigers 3-1 with Don Kolloway getting a double and two singles to figure in all Chicago's scoring.

DUKE-STATE CLASH TODAY

Tar Heels On Out-of-State Baseball Tour

Raleigh, April 22.—(AP)—The N. C. State College baseball team may have lost to both Wake Forest and Chapel Hill, but that doesn't mean that Duke university's nine will have an easy time with the Wolfpack in Durham today.

State is capable of beating Duke, Wake Forest or Carolina. It's close games with the Deacons and the Tar Heels proved that.

But that's the oldest story known to collegiate sports fans of the old North State. The Wolfpack always is a potential winner, but it never seems to actually don the laurel leaves.

Maybe things will be different today.

Indications are that the two mound aces of the opposing teams—Ray Hardee of State and Bill "Plaster Hair" McCahan of Duke—will get the pitching assignments.

In other games today, Wake Forest will play Wilson of the Bi-State league, in Wilson; and the University of North Carolina opens a three-day invasion of Virginia and Maryland by playing the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

Yesterday was a quiet day in the Big Five, but in other ball yards around the state, Lenoir Rhyne staged a track meet around the bases to rout Western Carolina teachers college 16-1, in a game played at Hickory. It was the sixth win against no defeats for the Old North State league team.

In a different type of baseball exhibition, Mon College defeated Guilford College, 3-2, at Guilford.

Pitcher Molly Craft won his own game in the 11th with a fielder's choice blow that scored Charley Robbins ahead of him with the winning run. Craft allowed his opponents only two hits and struck out 17 men.

Incidentally, James Parker, on the mound of Guilford, didn't do badly himself. He fanned 10 and issued only five hits.

WILSON WINS OVER LOCALS

Golf Team Loses Match By Score of 40 To 27

The golf team of the Greenville Country Club lost to Wilson in that place yesterday by a score of 40 to 27 in the second matches of the Eastern Carolina spring tournament. This was Greenville's first defeat, the team having defeated Goldsboro here yesterday. On next Wednesday all four clubs in the tournament, Greenville, Goldsboro, Tarboro and Wilson will meet in Wilson for four-way matches.

The ruggedness of the Wilson course proved somewhat difficult for the Greenville players yesterday with the result that higher scores than usual were turned in.

Medallists for the day were Massey, of Greenville, and Anderson and Crute, of Wilson, in a three tie with a total score of 78.

Greenville scores were as follows: Massey 76; Allen 85; Smoot 85; J. H. Waldrop 85; Barrett 86; Dr. Brown 85; Keck 93; Ruffin 88; Cosby 92; Rawl 88; Glass 87; Edwards 86; Proctor 84; Duff 87; Aycock 92; Tyson Bilbro 84; Harvey 91; Kilgo 91; Bill Taft 91; Cecil Bilbro 92; Howard Waldrop 94; Feiner 94, and Childs 92.

Recaptured

Raleigh, April 22.—(AP)—Three white men who escaped from the Orange county prison camp Monday were recaptured today in Richmond, Va., Prison Director Oscar Pitts announced.

Kyle Matthews, chief prison inspector, said he was confident the men had stolen a car in Burlington and driven to Richmond. Previously, he said, they had taken an automobile in Hillsboro and abandoned it in Gibsonville.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, April 22.—This week's tear-jerker: While Ed Dudley was attending a dinner thrown for him by Philadelphia golf pros the other night, someone who didn't have the best interests of golf at heart swiped the front wheels from his car. Just before retiring as president of the Los Angeles ball club, Dave Fleming ordered a set of 1942 uniforms for the club to make sure the boys wouldn't be attired in those knitted affairs the Cubs wear. The Navy will spend $22,000 for a new $7m and $15,000 for a boxing pavilion at St. Mary's College, which already has pretty good athletic facilities. That ought to give you an idea of what part sports will have in preparing the boys to become filers.

Since he quit baseball, Hack Wilson has shed 30 pounds.

Prattman's Paragraph
A correspondent from Lexington, Ky. (We think he'd be safer to remain anonymous) professes to be worried about one possible effect of the dropping of football by many small colleges. . . . Where, he asks will Tennessee find "breather" opponents to play every other Saturday? . . . And Frank Farrington of the Pegasus Falls (Minn.) Journal suggests that the retirement of very ample Abe Simon unquestionably leaves a large vacancy in heavyweight boxing circles.

Service Department
Maybe polo will survive the war. When the famous Essex troop of New Jersey was mechanized its commander and polo captain, Major Donald MacGrath, and Captain Ralph Stoddard and Charles Brady, both well known in horse show circles, were transferred to horse troops. . . . Charles Peterson, the billiard star who has been touring army camps, reports: "The morale of the American soldier is marvelous. I've never heard a squawk about the food or anything that would indicate that they're dissatisfied." . . . Rusty Covart, former Texas Christian U. quarterback and catcher who roomed with Bob Feller at Norfolk, writes home that Bob expects to be transferred to the Great Lakes, Ill., training station by the middle of May. . . . Eight Chicago boys with the A. E. F. in England formed an athletic club and wrote to Gene Kessler of the Chicago Times saying they needed equipment. The White Sox promptly contributed a dozen baseballs. Tony Zale sent a pair of training gloves and De Paul U. gave basketballs and uniforms.

Today's Guest Star
Henry Vance, Birmingham Age-Herald: "Some of our pitchers are so young that umpires won't be allowed to deal with 'em. If they get naughty the ump's will have to turn them over to the juvenile court."

One-Minute Sports Page
Paul Memon of the Baltimore Evening Sun comes out in favor of a racing "Czar" with powers like those Judge Landis holds in baseball. And he suggests snatching Alf Vanderbilt away from the navy to handle the job. The New York Boxing Commission is holding up its approval of a Chalky Wright-Lulu Costantino act until Chalky arranges to put his title on the line against Sal Barolo at some early date.

Publicity men of the Southeastern conference colleges have formed an "interpretative public relations committee." . . . Wonder if they'll interpret each other's alibis? . . . Vic Fleming, the trotting hess trainer, had to recall his son Charley from W. N. Reynolds' North Carolina stable to help handle his string when the other two Fleming boys, Bill and Jimmie, went to work for Uncle Sam.

Last Laugh
When Roy Cochran, the former Indiana U. flier, reported back to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station after his triumphs in the winter track meets he was welcomed by Admiral John Downes, who remarked: "Congratulations. I wouldn't like to have you running after me." Replied Cochran: "Sir, I'd hate to have you after me!"

WAR AFFECTS ECONOMICS OF SOUTH AMERICA

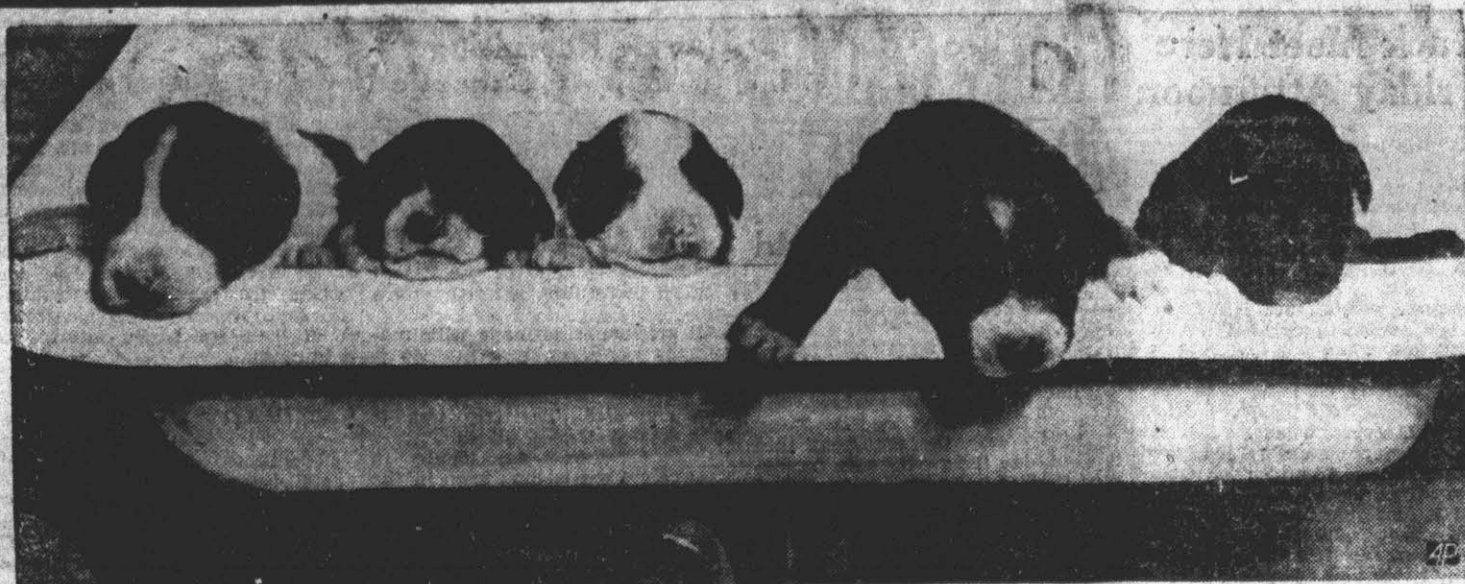

Eggs Sell As High As Dollar A Dozen; Everything Is Rationed

Radio De Janeiro, April 23.—(Wide World)—The effects of the war which long ago have been commonplace in Europe and which are becoming familiar to Americans are beginning to make themselves felt in the daily lives of South Americans, although they are not active belligerents.

Eggs sell as high as a dollar a dozen in Panama and most foods have doubled the United States price.

Fuel is rationed at the approach of winter in Argentina. An Argentine must have a priority to get a new car. He is plagued by a rubber and tire shortage. Buenos Aires' downtown brilliance is dimmed at night to save electricity. Theaters are required to close early to save fuel.

Argentine newspapers are shrinking for lack of newsprint. Argentine telephone companies have long waiting lists of subscribers because they are unable to get materials to expand facilities. Stores still are well-stocked but have little prospect of replenishing many varieties of cotton and silk and many other imported wares.

Great piles of unsalable wheat and corn, whose export to Europe once formed a pillar of Argentine economy, are the visible evidence of the strain. Inflation is threatened because there is an influx of refugee funds and a dearth of commodities.

The plight of Argentina is typical. The shortage of shipping, priorities and conversion of consumer industries to war production in the United States has cut off the import of manufactured goods and the cost of living is soaring.

Many of the agricultural products which South America formerly sent to Europe and North America are now considered luxuries which the warring countries cannot afford or cannot take home. South America is being asked to produce minerals, rubber and other war materials, long left locked in her jungles and mountains.

But South America is handicapped now by the same shortages in getting the mining machinery, the railroads, the ships and the skilled labor needed to develop her resources and make the necessary shifts in her economy.

While the boom in strategic war materials helps, it affects only a part of the population and fails to reach the majority engaged in agricultural pursuits.

The east coast of North America is almost directly north of the west coast of South America.

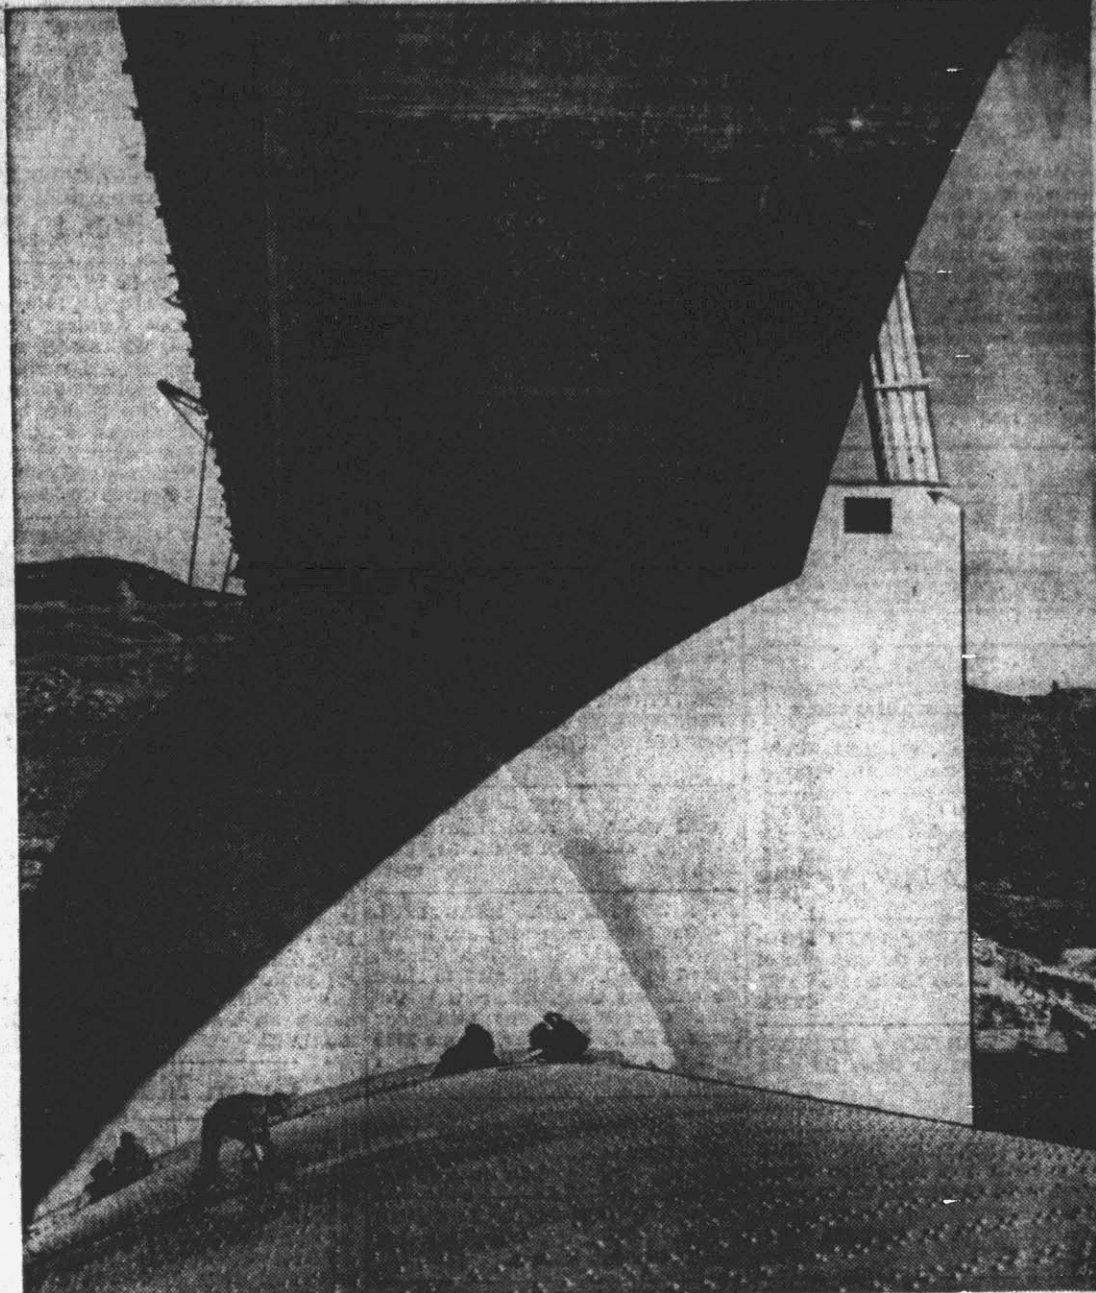

Kerch is called Russia's Pompeii because of its wealth of tombs and relics.

How Do You Score?

In connection with the clean-up campaign sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, the following questionnaire is submitted so that you can check up on some points on which the club is working.

Score yourself 10 points for each question that you can answer yes. A score of 90-100 is excellent; 80-90 good; 70-80 fair; below 70, you need to clean up.

1. Does your garbage can have a tight cover?
2. Is the space around your garbage can kept clean?
3. Is your yard cleared of stray cans, paper, wood and other debris?
4. Have you cleaned out your garage lately?
5. Is your back alley, if you have one, kept presentable?
6. Do you have good drainage for all outdoor spigots?
7. Are your screen windows and doors kept in good condition?
8. Are you careful not to throw paper and other litter on the street?
9. Do you rake up and burn dead leaves, grass, weeds, etc.?
10. Do you honestly try to make Greenville a cleaner place in which to live?

Track Meet Here Friday Afternoon

For the second consecutive year the eastern track meet will be held at the Guy Smith stadium tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rocky Mount, winner of last year's meet, along with seven other eastern Carolina cities, which are Durham, Fayetteville, Raleigh, Kinston, Goldsboro, Wilson, and Greenville, will be represented. Early information favors Durham and Fayetteville while loyal Phantom supporters rely chiefly on John Spearman and Leonard and James Briley along with several others.

This cinder classic is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Greenville, who also sponsored it last year. It will be a division meet which precedes the state meet at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, April 30 to May 2.

This spectacular sports affair will offer some of North Carolina's best track stars who are able to reel off top notch performances. The public is urged to be on hand to witness this outstanding sports event.

Hog Market
Raleigh, April 23—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices steady. Tops of $13.25 at Rocky Mount.

Poultry and Eggs
Raleigh, April 23—(AP)—(NCDA)—Eggs and poultry markets steady here. U. S. extras large (clean white) eggs 27 to 29. Colored hens 18 to 20.

Washington—Eggs slightly stronger; poultry steady. U. S. extras large (white graded) 32 to 33. Mostly 32. Colored fowls 22 to 23, mostly 22.

Grain Market
Chicago, April 23—(AP)—Losses of a cent a bushel or more in grain futures and about 3 cents in soybeans today brought to an abrupt halt the market's slow recovery during the first half of the week.

Wheat closed 1-1/2¢ lower than yesterday, May $1.20-$1.20 1/2. July $1.24 1/2. Corn 1-1/2¢ down. May 85 1/2-3/4. July 88 1/2. Oats 1/2 lower. Soybeans 2 1/4-3/4 lower. May old $1.81 1/2. Rye 1-1/4 down. Soybeans were the lowest since early in the year.

New York Cotton
New York, April 23—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 15 to 25 cents a bale higher.

At noon prices were 15 cents a bale lower. May 19.42; July 19.50; December 19.84.

Futures closed 40 to 60 cents a bale lower.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, April 23—(AP)—Pressure on the stock market was renewed today and leaders generally gave up a substantial part of the gains recorded on the recent rally from nine-year lows.

Prices were down from the start in virtually all departments. Light selling persisted throughout and near the close declines ranged from fractions to around 2 points were widely distributed. Volume was around 400,000 shares, a fair increase over yesterday's small dealings.
