Paris War Plants Hard Hit By RAF

Goodrich Rubber Works And Gnome-Aero Plant Blasted And Left In Flames; Air Battles Over France Continue Today; British Lose Six Planes; Nazis Bomb Norwich

By RUSSELL C. LANDSTROM
London, April 30.—(AP) The RAF blasted and set fire to the Goodrich Rubber Works and the Gnome-Rhone Aero plant in the Paris suburb of Gennevilliers last night in vigorous renewal of the campaign to destroy captive French factories contributing to the German war arsenal.

The Air Ministry said both plants were left aflame by low-level aircraft defenses strengthened since the raid on the Gnome-Rhone factory April 5-6.

Six British planes were listed as missing in the night's operations, which also included blows at the docks of Ostend, airmen in the low countries, and mine-laying in enemy waters.

Shortly after dawn Allied airmen swept out over the channel again.

Folkestone, England, April 30.—(AP)—A gigantic air battle between the RAF and the Nazis was fought out this afternoon 25,000 feet over the northern French coast.

Watchers on the cliffs at Folkestone followed the dog-fights high above Cap Gris Nez and Boulogne by the twisting throng of smoke trails. Heavy engines and propellers, heavy struts and landing gear, were visible.

It was impossible to count the planes participating, but at one point the vapor streaks extended over an area of several miles.

to strafe shipping and airdromes. The Germans acknowledged that considerable damage was done to buildings at Gennevilliers, 10 miles from the heart of Paris, and said the RAF also raided the north German coast.

Reuters, British news agency, said the Vichy radio reported 52 persons killed and about 100 injured in Gennevilliers. It was the fifth raid in less than two months on factories in the Paris area.

PROFIT, LABOR MEASURE DEAD FOR PRESENT

Senate Committee Tables Proposed Action By 13 to 12 Vote

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—By a single vote margin, the House Naval Committee tabled today a measure to limit war profits, lift the statutory work week limit from 40 to 48 hours and freeze the status quo of closed and open shops for the duration of the war.

The vote was 13 to 12, and came shortly after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) told the members that "the American people are going to have something to say about this racketeering in war plants and in labor unions in every congressional district in the nation in the November elections."

The action, climax of two months of stormy hearings on the profiteer-labor issue, backed up President Roosevelt's message to Congress earlier this week that no labor legislation was necessary at this time.

Simultaneously, it left the question of limiting war profits up to the Ways and Means committee, now studying the chief executive's suggestion for a $25,000 ceiling on individual incomes after payment of taxes, along with other proposals for sharp increases in the excess profits levy.

The motion to table the measure was made by Rep. Bradley (D-Pa.). Bradley then moved to reconsider the tabling motion and his second motion was tabled 16 to 9, which Chairman Vinson explained meant that the Naval Committee could only consider the legislation again under unanimous consent which to all purposes killed the measure.

One informed member of the Senate who declined to be quoted by name predicted that no action would be taken on the bill until after the election in November. Other Senate advocates of labor legislation, while expressing doubt that any action could be expected in view of lack of administration support, declared they had not abandoned the fight.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters that despite lack of recommendations from the President, legislation was needed "to prevent the possibility of labor trouble and disunity."

Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board, to which President Roosevelt has left the settlement of wage disputes, declared at a press conference that he did not believe it was the President's intention to "freeze" wages, but rather to adjust them to the cost of living.

"I interpret the President's message very definitely to leave the field open to collective bargaining," Davis said.

Nazi Manpower, Aerial Losses In Russia Heavy

Seventy-Five Planes Destroyed Tuesday; Moscow Radio Offers Peace To Finland

Kuibyshev, Russia, April 30.—(AP)—Soviet government agencies stressed reports of German manpower and aerial losses on the Russian front today, although troop positions were said to be essentially unchanged.

The Moscow radio said several regiments of the Nazi 5th division, termed "the spring division," were slashed to pieces by the Red army 12 hours after they entered the front lines.

The Soviet information bureau said Russian troops "wiped out about 1,000 enemy officers and men" in two days of fighting on a sector of the central front, the Smolensk zone.

Seventy-five German planes were reported destroyed Tuesday, against a loss of 14 Soviet aircraft, a ratio of better than five-for-one.

Fourteen German transport planes flying reserves from Koenigsberg, East Prussia, were shot down in a day, the Moscow radio said. Koenigsberg has been used as a base for reinforcement of the 16th German army encircled at Staraya Russa, on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow.

Helsinki, Finland, April 30.—(AP)—Coinciding with increased Russian pressure along the Finnish front, the Moscow radio has renewed urgings that Finland make a separate peace.

"Logic does not appear to be one of the strong points of the activity by the Kremlin's agents," one Finnish newspaper remarked.

It said that the Moscow radio had offered peace at assertedly favorable terms but that the same time threatened to exact reparations beyond the Finnish ability even to compute.

The fiercest fighting continued in the neighborhood of Louhi Station on the Murmansk railway, according to dispatches from the front. Many hundreds of Russians were said to have fallen there yesterday.

BRIG. GENERAL AND NEWSMAN DIE IN CRASH

Gov't Announces Distinguished Service Medal for MacArthur Aide

Allied Headquarters, Australia, April 30.—(AP)—The death in an airplane crash of Brig. Gen. Harold H. George of the United States army air force was announced today by allied headquarters.

Also killed in the crash was Melville Jacoby, Time and Life magazine correspondent who came to Australia from Bataan last month with his wife and living with the beleaguered U. S. and Filipino forces defending the peninsula against the Japanese invaders.

One of the brilliant staff of officers who served with General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, Brig. Gen. George accompanied MacArthur to Australia in his epic journey last month from Bataan peninsula.

His distinguished service in the Philippines gained him his promotion to Brigadier General last January.

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—Award of a distinguished service medal to Brigadier General Harold H. George, who met death in an air crash in the southwest Pacific, was announced today by the War Department.

The award was announced in a communique which reported the death of the former chief of staff of the Far Eastern air force and commander of all air corps troops in the Philippines from December 21 to March 11, he directed all air defenses of the Bataan peninsula and the besieged fortress of Corregidor, the communique noted.

The citation said General George had "brilliant strategical and tactical concepts," and fighting against overwhelming enemy air forces "demonstrated outstanding capacity for command."

"His personal courage and devotion to duty, his ingenuity in improvising when normal means were lacking, and his inspiring leadership in the execution of seemingly impossible tasks kept his force intact and effective in spite of all enemy efforts and contributed immeasurably to the defense effort of the entire command," the citation said.

Japanese Capture Strategic Lashio

Burmese Back Door to China Falls; British And Chinese Defenders Cut Off; Stillwell's Forces Fighting Desperately; Flying Tigers Down 22 Jap Planes

By SUENCER MOOSA
Chungking, China, April 30.—(AP)—Lashio, the Burmese back door to China, fell to the Japanese Wednesday after a battle in which both sides suffered heavy casualties, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

Both old and new Lashio have fallen, but a battle still is continuing in the vicinity of Lashio, a communique said. Twelve Japanese tanks were listed as destroyed.

The loss of Lashio menaced the entire British-Chinese defense of Burma.

The threat to bomb-ruined and now outflanked Mandalay never was graver.

Fierce fires were reported raging at Lashio, indicating that Burmese fifth column incendiaries had risen there, that the Japanese actually had penetrated the town from cutting positions, or that the Allies themselves, giving Lashio up for lost, were putting the place to the torch.

At least some of the lease-lend supplies which the Burma road's overburdened truck transport had failed to come on into China were known to have been destroyed.

A Chinese spokesman said this was the fate of supplies remaining after the bulk had been carried on.

A well-informed London source said that the Japanese actually were outside the Burma road, evidently north of Lashio, separating the bulk of Chinese fighters in Burma from the British Imperials and Chinese reinforcements which have been fighting on the western flank.

He said the British must now withdraw rapidly northward to escape envelopment and to guard the way to India. Meanwhile, he added, the Allies might try to reunite through desperate counter-attacks, the British by thrusting from the northward and the Chinese from the northeast.

58 SURVIVORS ARRIVE IN PORT

Twenty-Five Had Spent Eight Days In Lifeboats

New York, April 30.—(AP)—Twenty-five men from a torpedoed American freighter, whose sinking was announced today by the Navy, lived eight days in an open boat on rations of two hard crackers and a cup of water per man each day, they disclosed on their arrival here. Many suffered from injuries and exposure at sea.

Officers of the medium-sized ship, which had a crew of 38, said supplies were rationed carefully to make certain the food and water would last until rescue came. The boat was picked up by an American vessel on the eighth day, and the men taken to a port in Bermuda.

Chief Officer Phillip Curran of Boston, declared that a torpedo "struck directly in the engine room and killed three of the crew. The ship broke in two pretty rapidly, and sank fast."

Thirty-three survivors of a torpedoed Swedish steamer, the second torpedoing of the Atlantic coast to be announced during the day, also arrived here. They included seven young ambulance drivers of the American Field Service, who eagerly asked for the latest baseball scores and shrugged off their experience at sea.

Thirteen members of the crew of the American ship and six of the crew of the Swedish ship were reported missing.

Curran said some of the 13 men on the American ship managed to toss a life raft overboard, but the lifeboat was unable to turn back to aid them "because two subs were silhouetted on the horizon—there was a regular wolf pack around us."

ALLIES WRECK 20 JAP PLANES

Fliers Stage Series Of Raids On Japanese Bases

Allied Headquarters, Australia, April 30.—(AP)—Allied planes destroyed or damaged 20 Japanese planes on the ground and started large fires in an attack yesterday on an enemy air base at Lae, New Guinea. It was announced officially today.

The assault was disclosed in an Allied communique which also reported that Japanese planes had attacked Port Moresby, New Guinea, three times yesterday but had done only minor damage.

In addition to the attack on Lae, Allied planes also made a relatively light raid on the Japanese base at Koepang, capital of Dutch Timor, the bulletin said.

Reporting the situation in the Philippines, Allied headquarters said the Japanese had landed reinforcements from five transports at Parang on the west shore of Mindanao island—apparently in a determined effort to crush the small American and Filipino forces which still are maintaining gallant resistance there.

The Tokyo radio reported today that Japanese forces had completed occupation of both Parang and Cotabato, a short distance south.

PLEASED WITH AMERICAN AID

Flow Of Supplies To Russia Up To Commitments

By EDDY GILMORE
Kuibyshev, April 30.—(AP)—Ambassador William H. Standley declared today that the flow of United States war supplies to Russia was up to commitments as of the end of April, and said Premier Joseph Stalin had expressed satisfaction with the deliveries.

The United States ambassador, just returned from Moscow, told a press conference that he conferred with Stalin and Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov for half an hour, mostly concerning the American supply of war material for the armies of Russia.

He said the internment of the crew of a United States bomber which landed in Siberia after the air raids on Japan reported April 18 also was discussed.

The ambassador added that there was nothing new to disclose beyond the fact that the airmen were all right and were receiving treatment in accord with international law.

"Stalin has confidence in victory," said Standley, "but he does not underestimate the problem before Russia."

DEATH TOLL 13 FROM TORNADO

Two Kansas Farm Families Wiped Out

Oberlin, Kas., April 30.—(AP)—A tornado ripped through a rural section of southern Decatur county late last night, killing thirteen persons and injuring 25 others.

Two entire families were wiped out by the storm.

The small hospital here was jammed and other injured were taken to McCook, Neb., hospitals.

The city, itself, escaped damage. The furious blast carried away livestock and leveled farm buildings through an area half mile wide. In several instances not a trace of the buildings remained. In others, only splintered boards showed where homes and stock barns formerly stood.

One of the victims, Mrs. Dale Padlock, was found on a crash bank, her head and shoulders driven into the ground by the twister. Her son vanished, her husband, the third member of the family was killed also.

Club Endorses Clean-Up Drive

Clean Up Drive Near Final Week

As the clean-up campaign sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club nears its final week of May 4-9, certain objectives are being specially pressed. One in particular, with which the club is meeting cooperation, is the work on the alleys behind stores in Greenville. The merchants are being requested to build heavy wooden containers with lids and also preferably with locks. In which to dump their refuse. On a tour conducted this week by a committee from the club, it was found that the alleys downtown were in a very disorderly and unsightly condition. The Merchants' Association has heartily endorsed the club's petition to remedy this situation by the erection of adequate trash facilities.

Another objective on which the club urges cooperation from the housewives is the use of tightly covered garbage containers around the home. It is doubtful whether new garbage cans can be obtained now, but each housewife can help a great deal by seeing that the trash container that she uses has a cover of some sort. Another aid to beauty and to health would be the keeping of the space around the garbage can clean.

Among the clubs and organizations in Greenville which have heartily endorsed the petition presented to them by the Junior Woman's Club in its clean-up drive are the following: Senior Woman's Club, Merchants Association, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Lions Club, Rotary Club and the public schools, both white and colored.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

"Please give us some low-cost but nutritious meat dishes which don't take too long to fix," writes a member of our Homemakers group. In answer to this and similar requests, I hope you find help for your particular problem in this column.

BUSY DAY DINNER (Serves 4)
BAKED WILSON'S MOR ON RICE WITH GOLDEN FRUIT SAUCE
VEGETABLE SALAD BOWL
CRUSTY PARSNIP
BUTTERED ROLLS
HOT GINGERBREAD COFFEE

THE RECIPE
Boil one cup of rice. Open a can of Wilson's MOR. Put contents on oven platter. Place the rice around the MOR loaf. Make a fruit sauce as follows: To one No. 2 can of fruit cocktail (2 1/2 c.), add: the segments of 2 oranges
1 tablespoon of grated orange rind
2 tablespoons of lemon juice
2 tablespoons of corn syrup

Then blend 1 teaspoon of cornstarch with a little of the fruit juice. Combine this with the fruit mixture. Bring it to a boil and boil for one minute. Pour it, golden and juicy, over the cooked rice and MOR. Cover the casserole and bake in 350° F. oven for 30 minutes.

A fragrant dish, this, to charm the eye and tempt the appetite.

THE THRIFT MEAT FOR EVERY OCCASION
You'll get a menu-lift for breakfast, lunch or dinner from Wilson's MOR—choice pork cured to tender goodness, just the mellow richness you'd expect from the folks who make Wilson's Tender Made Ham. Not a bit overcooked, tender as spring vegetables!

MOR
"Quick as a wink" to prepare.

"MOR" Easy Tricks
Slice MOR very thin, roll each slice around 4 tips of fresh cooked asparagus. Top with a cheese sauce made with Wilson's Certified American Cheese and bake.
Or brush MOR slices with melted Clear Brook Butter and broil, together with peach halves.

"Down-South" CORNED BEEF HASH
Mince a half tablespoon of onion in 2 tablespoons of Clear Brook Butter. Add the contents of one can or glass of Wilson's Certified Corned Beef Hash. As it browns, add slowly 2 tablespoons of cream. When a rich brown crust has formed underneath, fold over like an omelet and serve on a hot platter. Toast points and applesauce belong here.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

BWARE OF TRUTH
A returned missionary tells the story of a Mohammedan boy attending one of our Christian schools who, when he went to chapel, always put cotton in his ears. Attendance at chapel was compulsory but listening was not. He would be there with his body, but to make sure that he heard none of these dangerous doctrines that Christ had expounded long ago, he saw to it that he had plenty of cotton wadding in his ears.

Not a few people today attend divine service in a like mood. They may not stuff cotton into their ears before they leave the house, but they see to it that no exhortation which would separate them from comfort or indulgence gets much farther than the outer ear. Certainly it never gets so far as the inner heart. If a truth is the least unpleasant, they thrust it aside as unreasonable, unsound, or fanatical. They may take their bodies to church, but they do not intend that any disconcerting truth or any moral challenge shall go into their ears and stay there to make them uncomfortable.

The end of the story about the Mohammedan boy was that the truth at last caught up with him and he was converted. This sometimes happens to those who try to evade the truth, as young Ali did in a far-away mission station. The truth is a very dangerous thing, and stopped ears and closed minds are often scant protection against it.

CHILD HEALTH DAY

Tomorrow, May 1, is Child Health Day and it is not amiss to ask the parents of this community if they are really taking the necessary steps for the health of their children. Each year thousands of children are victims of diseases such as diphtheria, whooping cough and typhoid which are preventable if children are immunized against them. Do you have small children who have not been given preventative treatments for these and other preventable diseases? Another great factor in child health is that of safety, which applies to the larger children as well as the small ones. As a parent, are you giving your children the safety training they should have, are you placing all possible safeguards about them in an effort to keep them free from the loss of life or limb as the result of accident?

Tomorrow is Child Health Day and a good time for parents to really give all possible thought to the health and safety of their children.

WE CAN AND WE WILL
In today's assignment of War Bond quotas for May, Pitt County's total purchases for the month must be $109,100 if we are to do what is considered our part in raising the necessary $600,000,000 for our nation's war effort. The figure sounds big when compared to our average monthly purchases of $76,516 from last July through January of this year, but the problem faced by our nation today is indeed a big one and it is up to each of us to do everything we can to help overcome it. For the past several days local citizens have given of their time and effort laying plans for the drive next week to get every person in this community to sign a pledge to invest at least ten per cent of his or her earnings in War Stamps or Bonds each pay day. You might think that you cannot afford to do without spending this ten per cent for your own immediate needs, but frankly you cannot afford not to try to do your part to win this war. Our country today faces the gravest crisis in its history but we will win if all our people will put their shoulders to the wheel and do their part.

Pitt County has never failed when called upon and we are sure that we not only CAN but that we WILL go over the top in May and every month thereafter as long as our country needs our financial aid to win this war.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinson

Washington—The Capital in wartime:

It probably has no significance whatever so far as major strategy in this war is concerned, but unofficial Washington is tossing a lot more verbal venom at the Japs these days than at any other of our enemies.

Typical is the story that came out of the District of Columbia dog-bite investigator's office the other day. All dog bites, like traffic accidents, are supposed to be reported. Also, all rodent bites are supposed to be reported; but since the latter are so few the reports are made on dog-bite forms.

This one had to do with a rat bite. The victim came to that spot in the questionnaire where he was asked: "Owner of the dog." He simply scratched out "dog," wrote "rat" in its place and answered the question: "Admiral Tojo, Tokyo, Japan."

Just when you think that the war and its prominence in world affairs is causing Washington to outgrow its knee-pants, the nation's capital kicks off its booties and goes wading in a purely Main Street controversy.

For example, the District Physical Education association had as a guest speaker a Columbia Teachers college professor of health education. In the course of her address, the said CTC professor deplored that there "is a lot of drinking going on in Washington."

An official of the district school system countered with: "I am disturbed to have any one from New York come down here and tell us we drink."

The controversy that really has gotten under way—with readers to the editors, and Department of Agriculture officials being called upon to dodge the issue as best they can—is whether pressure cookers destroy or preserve to the nth degree the vitamins in vegetables.

Misdemeanors and traffic violations certainly are keeping pace with Washington's wartime expansion. The police courts are proud to report that this year they are going to do better than a $1,000,000 business in fines collected—almost $200,000 more than that boom year of 1941.

There has been a lot of talk (and I've contributed my share) about the staggering volume of new employees that are flocking to Washington daily, but hardly any one ever mentions the equally staggering labor supply that seems to be lurking about in the shadows of the Washington monument.

The other day, Civil Service opened applications for examinations for junior clerkships. More than 29,000 persons applied—all within commuting distance of Washington or in the city itself.

The WAR TODAY

dangerous position by threatening them with development. However, word from the headquarters of Lieut. General Stilwell, American commander of the Chinese forces, is that he is prepared to fight for every inch of territory. He is getting the help from the American volunteer "Flying Tigers" who have continued to give the Japanese heavy punishment.

The persistence of the Japanese in this major drive through Burma makes it clear that they are bent on completing their conquest of China as an integral part of their scheme for a new order in eastern Asia. The Chinese military position now is more serious than ever, owing to the severance of supplies through Burma, the loss of the Burmese petroleum fields upon which they were dependent for the oil without which no fighting machine can run successfully, and the menace of invasion of southwest China over the Burma road, should the Japanese succeed in getting an army into this rich portion of China upon which Chiang depends so much for food and minerals, the great generalissimo's cup certainly would be full to overflowing.

In this hour of peril the Chinese have announced staunchly that they will continue the fight. They have no intention of quitting. In taking this stand, which is so typical of the brave battle they have waged for long against an invader who has been far better equipped, they must get much encouragement from the message which President Roosevelt broadcast Tuesday night in his fire-side chat.

"The Japanese may cut the Burma road," said the President, "but I want to say to the gallant people of China that no matter what advances the Japanese may make, plans will be found to deliver air-planes and munitions of war to the armies of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek."

Mr. Roosevelt wasn't more specific, but one was left to the conclusion that presumably air transport would play a major role in providing supplies.

China's great task now is to hold on until the allies can bring relief. Our striking power in the Orient is steadily increasing, and there is no reason to despair over the Chinese position, grave though it be.

Orders BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 19
GRI In Fear
An opportunity to see Kurt presented itself much more easily than Stephanie could, in her wildest dreams, have anticipated. Back at Headquarters that same afternoon, she heard that Mrs. Daubney, head of the Motor Corps, put in a call for the hospital, talk long and earnestly. Stephanie, eavesdropping shamelessly, only pretended to be checking the long list of addresses on her desk.

"But we have no more room for wounded in our city hospitals, now you know," Mrs. Daubney spoke into the telephone.

A moment later, Stephanie's heart picked up tempo.

"I suppose we could move some of them—those who are recuperating. To private homes, if necessary." Stephanie blessed the fact that it was after five and the long, barn-like room practically deserted. Gathering every shred of control, "I couldn't help overhearing your conversation, Mrs. Daubney. Does it mean that some of the wounded will have to be moved to make room for more from the Islands?"

"Looks like it. We'll send those who can travel at all, inland. Others who can be moved, will be taken to private homes at least temporarily," the older woman told her. "You wouldn't like to take the responsibility of locating homes for them, would you?"

"Of course," and felt as though the wings of her Guardian Angel had brushed her cheek.

Henri called after dinner, invited both girls to a symphony concert.

"You go, Vicky," Stephanie urged when her cousin came flying up to the bedroom where Stephanie was already deep in the pillows of her chaise-longue and the intricacies of a detective story. "I'm too tired. Besides, Dad wrote that he might be in either tonight or tomorrow morning. I wouldn't want to miss him."

"Okay. See you later," Vicky agreed easily. Then, as she tilted a precious black chip of a hat over one eye, "You know, Henri, I think Henri is actually interested—seriously. Do you know that he has been here every day but one since we moved over?"

"Another notch on your gun, huh, partner?" Stephanie teased. "At that—Mrs. Henri Francois de la Plagerie isn't a bad name."

"Don't be silly. Anyway—I like Henri. He's different." She slipped into a silver fox jacket and the result was enchanting. "Wish you were coming with us."

"No you don't. Skip now and let me solve my murder."

But she was destined not to solve the murder—not that one. She drove Henri's car roll out of the driveway, Tsang making his nightly round of the doors and windows on the first floor, carefully checking locks. Then finally the front door closed and old Tsang was off to his weekly visit with his friends somewhere in the heart of old Chinatown.

She settled down over the spacious old house, a silence that she had a cutting down into her pillows and trying not to hear the stairs creak, an attic window rattling. She was used to the rheumatic complaints of the old home, or should be, she added smiling. Still, she'd be glad when Aunt Allison got back from her bridge party.

The wind began to nag at a loosened window latch. Stephanie gave up after a moment, pulled up the blind, refastened the lock. As she did, something in the darkness of her bed below caught her attention. A figure moved quickly out of the drive into the pool of shadow under the oak tree. She watched, puzzled. It had looked like a small boy.

That was silly. Small boys wouldn't be prowling about this time of night. Still, she was sure she had seen someone.

When she heard the sound of someone running on the gravel, she jerked erect. There was someone out there! Before she could get up, the footsteps clicked up the steps, across the porch. Then the old-fashioned pull-bell clanged furiously.

"Snapping on lights as she went, Stephanie ran down the long hall, the gracefully curving staircase, to the front door.

"Who is it?" she called, her hand on the knob as precaution caught up with her.

"It is I, Miss Stephanie. Liu. Please—let me in."

Stephanie flung open the door, stood back as the girl half-sprang, half-fell past her. "Liu! What in the world—"

Gasping for breath, Liu sagged onto the clawfooted mahogany hall chair. "Forgive me, for—bursting in—like this. But I was so frightened."

Stephanie reached for the girl's trembling hands, tried to warm their iciness with her own. "But—frightened of what, Liu?"

"If I knew what it was, maybe I would not be so frightened," she said, her pretty face white now.

Many sufferers refuse to give up their favorite foods because they are so tired. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and wastes out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

her eyes wide with fear. "But I have had a feeling all day that I was being observed."

"What do you mean?"

"I came back from doing some shopping, and I felt sure that the man in the street car was watching me strangely," she said, her words spilling rapidly. "He got off at the same street. He turned up the hill when I did. He followed scarcely half a block behind me all the way home. When I went into the house, he walked across the street for a long time before he went away."

"Strange, all right. That was this afternoon?"

"About four o'clock. Then just before dinner, the telephone rang and it was for me. A very strange voice that just said if I wanted to see Hajami, I must go to 45th Faris street at nine o'clock."

"Oh, Liu. You didn't go!" Stephanie gasped, horrified.

The girl nodded. "I knew it was foolish. But I thought perhaps it really was a friend of Hajami's and that perhaps I could help him."

"Go on. What happened?"

The girl drew a long, sobbing breath. "I was there a little before nine. Of course I did not tell my family. They would have forbidden it. But, I had to go, Miss Stephanie. I had to."

The girl's eyes filled with tears and for a moment she fought for self-control.

Stephanie patted her hand gently. "Of course you did. Tell me what you found."

"I found that there was no such number. I became alarmed when I saw the same man—or someone who looked like the same man—standing in a doorway not far from me. I was not sure he saw me, but I did not dare go home then. We live so far from the car line and the street is so dark, you know. So—I came here to my grandfather. Then, as I came up the hill, he was following me again!"

"Hil! Who?"

"That man. I know it was. I looked around just as he passed under a street light. I walked faster. So did he. When I began to run, he ran too. That's why I could not wait to go around to the back door, Miss Stephanie, why is he following me? I have done nothing is it because of Hajami?"

Stephanie frowned, tried to think straight through the tangle of her emotions. "Probably. But—you're safe now. You stay here for the night."

But as she crept, shivering, back to her own room a little later, she wasn't so confident. Something sinister lurked in the garden around the old house.

THIS is to men who want a mild whisky. Yet who want the flavor of an extra rich bourbon.

That flavor is now made more delicate by combining with high-const grain neutral spirits, by a unique method that protects flavor, and makes this remarkable blend extra light and smooth.

We blend this whisky with the extra rich sour-mash Bourbon made at Bardstown—use "continuous blending" as with rare old wines and brandies.

Please try this delicate flavor and midness.

Cleveland Indians Run Winning Streak To Ten Games

DODGERS TAKE 5TH STRAIGHT

Fifteen Teams Call On Bull Pen For Help

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Relief pitchers get little consideration from their own clubs, yet they are the wheel horses who pull the bleakest lads in the major league.

Yesterday 15 of the 16 teams had to call for help from the bull pen.

The Cleveland Indians ran their winning streak to ten games with an 11-6 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. This sounds like a big hitting spree and it was—25 hits. But the A's were put out of commission for the last 5-2-3 innings by Joe Heving after they had routed Al Milnar in the fourth.

The Indians, on the other hand, remained on the warpath. Roy Weatherly hit a home run, a triple and a double to account for four of the team's victories.

The Brooklyn Dodgers bagged their fifth straight victory in a ten-inning affair at Cincinnati. Dolph Camilli hit his fourth home run of the year, and second in two days, after two were out in the ninth to force the game into overtime. Then the Dodgers banded three runs on three hits off Buck Walters to win in the tenth.

Kirby Hiebe gave way to a ninth-hitter in the eighth, Newt Kimball and Johnny Allen paired in pitching three no-hit innings for the Dodgers. Altogether the Reds made only four hits, one of them Frank McCormick's fourth homer of the season in the second inning.

The Boston Braves crushed the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and all eyes were on Frolan (Nann) Fernandez, the rookie batting sensation, who hit a homer, a double and two singles to extend his personal hitting streak to eight games. Another rookie, Johnny Sain, took charge on the mound when Al Javery was knocked out in the fifth and allowed only one hit in the last 4-1-3 innings.

At Pittsburgh the Pirates gave Luke Hamlin an early four run lead over the Philadelphia Phils, but neither he nor John Lanning could hold it. Finally rookie John Barrett set of a two-run ninth inning ral-

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLETON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, April 30.—The war may be rough on the minor leagues, but apparently baseball will keep right on going. For example, when the class "C" Arizona-Texas league folded up, Tucson, Ariz., organized an eight-club semi-pro circuit. Season will start May 5 (Mexico's Independence Day) and run for 18 weeks with four night games weekly. The league includes two army teams and the ball park is practically on one of the posts, which should provide plenty of customers at ten cents a throw for men in uniform. And Michigan towns are replacing the Michigan State league with a non-professional loop that may take in twelve clubs. Auburn's freshman footballers, allowed three games by Southeastern Conference rules, will take on Mississippi State in a charity game then play two service teams.

Wrong Number
When Bron C. Bacevich, coach at St. Bede's Academy of Peru, Ill., read that Aquinas High School of Chicago had been admitted to the Illinois High School Association, he wrote there suggesting a football game. He received this reply: "Dear Mr. Bacevich: We have 466 lovely young ladies at our Dominican High School. If you still are interested in a football game, please let me know—Miss Elsie Bergman, coach."

Service Dept.
Roland Logan, the "Kickapoo Kid" who used to train the army teams at West Point, is in the second class of naval aviation V-8 instructors going through a month's indoctrination course at Annapolis. Another guy in the same class who left soldiering behind is Jack Gray, Texas U. basketball coach, formerly a second Looney in the Texas National Guard. Set Farmer Seale, former Selma (Ala.) Times-Journal and Birmingham Post sports writer, is heading back from San Diego, Calif., to Birmingham to get some recruits for the Marines. Clemson College could dig up enough service talent from last year's football squad to give Uncle Sam a complete team without even shifting any player from his regular position—and what hurt is that most of them had a year's varsity eligibility left. Rudy Mucha, ex-blocking back of the Cleveland Rams, now at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, reports: "There is nothing in football comparable to the shock of falling out of a navy hammock and landing flat on one's puss while sound asleep."

with two out and Boyle Yankees, the cleanup hitter, went in to bat himself. He took himself off the spot by socking the third pitch for a game-winning double. The Newark Bears apparently have given up their 4 p. m. weekday starting time (dictated by a shortage of bus transportation) and will go back to 3 p. m. (dictated by a shortage of fans). Joe Engel was talking this spring about changing the nickname of his Chattanooga ball club from "Lookouts" to "Choo-choos." But after his youthful players had won a few games, the Scribes took things in hand and tabbed them the "whiz kids."

Demi-Nicknames
Charles Grimm used to call Dominic Dallesandro of the Cubs "Dim-Dom"; now Coach Dick Spalding has nicknamed him "Bubbles." Dallesandro says: "I don't care what you call me, just so you call me at meal times."

Returns To Cardinals
Roxboro, April 30.—(AP)—Enos Slaughter returned to the St. Louis Cardinals today, still in class 1-A and waiting further word from his draft board.

The 26-year-old rightfielder appeared before the board yesterday. His petition was tabled.

Portsmouth Takes Second From Bulls

Charlotte, April 30.—(AP)—Their hitting and pitching machinery clicking perfectly, the Greensboro Red Sox moved to an 8-0 victory over Asheville last night to prove themselves one of the most dangerous crews in the circuit.

Ken Johnson, Tourist starter, yielded 13 hits but the Sox had difficulty in solving the offerings of his successors, Bakkelund and Simomini. Joe Ostrowski, a lefthander, won his third game of the season by limiting the Tourists to only four hits.

Portsmouth whined Durham again, this time 8-6. The Cubs chalked up seven runs in the second. Henry Behrman, relief pitcher for the Bulls, did a nice job but the Portsmouth advantage could not be overcome and the league champs marked up another in the lost column.

In the only other game played in the loop, Charlotte trounced Winston-Salem, 9-4. Gil Torres gave up 10 hits to the Twins but went the distance. Leftfielder Frye of the Hornets got five for five, including a triple and brought in two runs.

To Hold Debates At The College

The debate team of East Carolina Teachers College will open a series of two debates with the debaters from Presbyterian Junior College tonight in the Austin Auditorium at eight o'clock. The second debate will take place tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in room 200 of the Austin Building. Each of the two debates will deal with the labor problem in the United States.

Miss Doris E. Williams and Mr. James R. Worslev, Jr. will represent the Teachers College by upholding the affirmative in one of the debates. In the other debate, Miss Mildred Beverly and Mr. Charles Cox will oppose the Presbyterians by defending the negative side of the proposition.

"The mereResolved, that the Federal Government should Revoke All Labor Unions" was selected by the National Association of Teachers of Speech because of the increasing belief that evil existing in connection with labor unions are of a sufficiently serious nature to demand federal intervention" states Dr. M. N. Prosev, coach of the East Carolina debaters. Interest in this problem has been particularly increased by recent strikes in defense industries according to public opinion polls.

"The debaters wish to extend a special invitation to all local citizens who may be interested in the labor question, which is so vital to the American people during the present emergency," explains Miss Mildred Beverly, president of the Forensic Club.

Today's Guest Star

Kenneth Jones, Peoria (Ill.) Journal Transcript: "There is some slight agitation to have Joe Louis try his hand against some southern pitcher (Melio Bettina, a southerner, being the chief agitator."

Minor Matters
Bill Diehl of the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch casts avote for Manager Buzz Boyle of the Norfolk Tars for plain courage. The other day Norfolk and Portsmouth went into the 12th inning with the score tied 1-1. The Tars loaded the bases ly with a single and he hit another in the tenth to drive in the run that won 7-6.

The St. Louis Cardinals, blanked for eight innings, drove old Carl Hubbell off the mound with a three-run rally that tied the New York Giants in the ninth. Then Ace Adams came out of the bull pen for the eighth time in 15 games and put out the fire. After the Giants sneaked a run across in the tenth on a single, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and a fielder's choice, Adams allowed no hits to save the 4-3 margin.

Sid Hudson, although allowing only four hits, held a four run lead Washington gave him over the Chicago White Sox and was replaced by Bill Zuber in the sixth. Zuber pitched no-hit ball for 3 2-3 innings and the Senators got up steam again to win 10-4.

At Boston Yank Terry was within one batter of a shutout and suddenly lost control. He came two walks and two singles to let Detroit tie the Red Sox at 2-all. Then Mace Brown, who used to be a great relief specialist, gave two more singles and the Tigers won 4-2.

The only pitcher to go the route was Dennis Galehouse of the St. Louis Browns, who beat the New York Yankees again 11-6 to knock last year's world champions into third place in the American league. Galehouse allowed eight hits, but his mates pelted four New York pitchers for 11, including two homers by W. J. Judnich and one by Glenn McQuillen.

Killed In Wreck
Tarboro, April 30 - (AP) - Hugh Jones of Tarboro, employed by a Norfolk shipyard, was killed today in a collision between his automobile and a heavily-laden lumber truck on a highway near here.

The accident occurred in a heavy fog. Both vehicles were destroyed by fire after the collision.

American Spirit
Washington, April 30 - (AP) - They're still buying American war bonds on Manila bay.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today made public a telegram from the naval commandant in the Manila bay area, presumably on Corregidor island, saying: "U. S. navy personnel Manila bay area have purchased war bonds totaling $407,000 to date. Amount will presently exceed $500,000."

Ancient sculptures reveal that the umbrella was in use in ancient Egypt.

Many Collections . . .

There are four collections of dolls which belong to Mary Rose Crisp Eleanor James, Rachel Fleming, and Lou White Winstead. Outstanding in these are dolls of many nations (one from the island of Ball, two made by the Indians of Colorado and one woven doll from Mexico which was made by a native).

The school exhibit shows much ingenuity among the students. The "Flags of the nations" arranged around the walls immediately catch the eye. These were made by the Home Economics and Art students at the high school. The free hand posters and easel paintings done by the pupils of the grammar grades show real talent. The seventh grade scrap book from Third Street school shows a unique arrangement of current events.

Among the most interesting hobby collections being shown is the shell display of Mrs. J. H. B. Moore and that of Miss Lucy Nulton. Mrs. Moore's assortment includes a spiny oyster from Tarpon Springs, the Chambered Nautilus, Australian snail and Pen shell from Sanibel Island. This island is the finest place near the American continent for gathering shells. She has two types of Lignis shells which are found growing on the trees of the Florida Keys.

Miss Nulton's collection shows shells from the Red Sea, Philippines, Indian Ocean, East Indies, Gulf of Mexico, Florida and California.

A beautiful collection of buttons owned by Mrs. J. H. B. Moore exhibits many classics such as "Cupid at Rest," "The House by the Side of the Road," "Cherub Riding the Lion" and others. She has lovely jet buttons and many French enamel ones.

Noteworthy is the WPA Art Gallery's display. Especially the busts of Beethoven and Chopin, done by Mr. Clyde Carter. These are truly excellent pieces of clay modeling and would do credit to a professional.

The college museum staff has an excellent display of painted paper mache casts of fish from plaster molds - also plaster casts from paraffin molds.

The collection of prize winning photographs exhibited by Mr. Charles Bissette shows what wonderful effects of lighting expression and naturalness can be achieved by the modern camera.

Almost every size and variety of pitcher is exhibited in the collection by Mrs. B. M. Garrett. One hundred and seventy-five, to be exact.

Members of the Aeroplane Club who have made quite a hobby of model airplane building, have an interesting exhibit showing different types of planes. Members of this club have won two silver cups which are also on display.

The Hobby Show would not be complete without mentioning the fine new portrait of Mrs. J. F. Young, completed only a few months ago by our own artist, Mrs. Georgiã Pearsall Hearne. This is very lovely.

One cannot write about the Hobby Show and do it justice. The club invites everyone to see it. There is no charge and a treat awaits you. It will be open until Friday night.
